Our Chilton County Christian Harmony Singing Convention will be held at Pates Chapel the first Sunday in August, which is next Sunday, 3 miles west of Thorsby. We invite everybody who loves the old book singing to come and be with us on that date. We will not have any singing on Saturday. The convention will last only one day this time. We will begin at 9 o'clock.—Yours for a great day, J. N. Scott.

R. C. Davis, a subscriber of The Union-Banner in Elmore County, was a visitor to Clanton last Saturday. Mr. Davis is a Chilton County man who operates a farm on the property of the Alabama Power Company, near Jordan Dam.

The Boyhood of Famous Americans

By J. V. Fitzgerald

James A. Farrell

White collar jobs were not easy for boys to get fifty years ago. A youngser had to take what was offered him and at a small wage, too. He worked long hours and he generally did what the boys of today would consider a man's work. James A. Farrell was no different from the run of job seeking boys of his time.

He wasn't quite sixteen when he had to go to work. His father lost his life at sea and the lad's earnings were needed at home. He was husky for his age. He had no trouble getting a job as a laborer in the plant of the New Haven Wire company. He was paid $4.65 a week for twelve hours daily of back-breaking work.

Such a life didn't fit in with the plans young Farrell had made when he was attending grammar school in New Haven, Conn. He was born in that city in 1863, the son of a ship owner who skippered his own craft. His father was in comfortable circumstances. He counted on giving his son the benefit of a college education.

But the elder Farrell met with reverses and went down at sea with his ship before he was able to get his son started in life with the advantages of a higher education. The youngster didn't brood over his changed circumstances. He went out and got a job. He couldn't have found a much harder one. With his sturdy body and good health he was able to hold his end up with the grown men with whom he worked. Tired as he was when he returned home at night he studied and read good books. He wasn't going to be cheated of an education even if he did have to work as a day laborer.

He made such progress in his work that he became a mechanic when he was seventeen years old. Here again he showed an ability to work long, hard and intelligently. By the time he was nineteen he was a foreman over 300 workmen and earning $30 a month.

As a boy he had made several voyages with his father. These trips aroused his interest in geography. He poured over the maps of far away places when he studied at night after a hard day in the mills. He would memorize his self-taught lessons and then draw the maps from memory, filling in the important cities, rivers mountains and seaports.

In this way he cultivated a memory that was to serve him in good stead later in life. His associates say that he never forgets an important matter that he once files away in his head. Early in his career he was able to call off fact and figures without having to refer to books or statements.

The boy found it hard at first to cultivate a good memory, but he kept doggedly at his plan to remember the facts he thought he might need. Soon the task came easy to him

He had been quite a trader when he was a little fellow. He swapped marbles, jack-knives and other treasures of boyhood with his playmates. He seldom got the worst of a deal. He had the instincts of a good salesman before he entered the steel business as a lad of fifteen.

It was natural enough that he turn to salesmanship after he learned the iron and steel industry from the ground up. When his chance came to sell steel products he made a notable record. He wasn't the hail-fellow-well-met type, a mixer and a back slapper. But he knew his goods and he was later to gain the title of America's greatest international salesman.

The future head of the United States Steel corporation had a long and hard row to hoe before he became a salesman and fulfill the promise of his schoolboy days as a smart trader. After nine years' work in New Haven he went to Pittsburgh. He had made up his mind to learn all there was to know about the steel business. He was convinced that Pittsburgh, the seat of the industry, held an opportunity for him.

Future events proved the wisdom of his change. He was soon assistant superintendent of a mill after having worked in the white hot heat of the blast furnaces and toiled bare to the waist, in the rolling plant. He was promoted to the superintendency and later was made general manager. He was learning how to make steel and not forgetting a thing he had learned in the past.

His company finally put him in charge of sales for the United States with headquarters in New York. He was so successful that the steel corporation hired him and sent him to Europe in charge of sales. Here his knowledge of foreign conditions, that had its beginning in his study of foreign geography as a boy, helped him to establish a sales record.

That success brought the boy who started as a laborer at $4.65 a week the presidency of the Steel corporation, one of the world's greatest industrial positions.

Joe Calloway was in Talladega Sunday for the opening of the State Convention of American Legion.

WADESONIAN

PROGRAMS

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday

JULY 30TH, 31ST, AND AUGUST 1ST

Buck Jones, In

"THE DAWN TRAIL"—All Talking

Serial—"THE INDIANS ARE COMING"

All Talking

Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday

AUGUST 3RD, 4TH, AND 5TH

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Lorretta Young, and Chester Morris, In

"FAST LIFE"—All Talking

COMEDY—All Talking

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday

AUGUST 6TH, 7TH, AND 8TH

Ken Maynard, In

"SONG OF THE CABALLERO"—Talking

Serial—"INDIANS ARE COMING"

All Talking

CHILTON COUNTY W. M. U. MEET

The quarterly meeting of the Chilton County W. M. U. was held with Bethsalem Church on July 23, with superintendent, Mrs. Donald Merchant, in charge. We had a beautiful day, good program, and a large crowd, with a splendid message on "Cooperation," by Rev. Stucky at the morning address. While the work moves on slowly we are made to feel that God is with us and helping us reclaim the old, and enlisting new ones into his work that he left for us to do.

We were glad indeed to have Rev. Faulkner and wife, and Mrs. Martin of Birmingham with us.

Friends, when we try to do our work that He left for us to do, and hear such messages as Rev. Stucky's and others, we feel lifted up on higher plains, and with more courage to go forward in His work.—Mrs. W. H. Raybon, Secretary.

Lewis T. Dennis of Mt. Creek was in Clanton Saturday. He says that he is in better health than he was some few years ago.

BUY FRUIT TREES

Get Away From Cotton

I have been in the fruit growing business 30 years, and was one of the original fruit growers at Thorsby. I am in position to sell you any kind of fruit trees—Peach, Pear, Plum, Apple, Pecan—and give you reliable instructions how to cultivate them for profit. Place your orders with me now. Write me or call to see me at Thorsby.

Fred Howard

Thorsby, Ala.

IT'S TRUE!

That we have reduced prices on several household articles. Take for instance our stock of

PERFECTION Oil Stoves

with or without the Perfection Oven. Prices on these stoves are real low now.

Then there is

Our stock of metal refrigerators. Get our low price on these and you will really be surprised to learn you can buy one now such a saving

We will not try to give you a list of prices on the various needed items to be found at this store

BUT

We will tell you, we believe you will be pleased with the low prices you can take advantage of at this time on articles you need around your home, farm, office, and store.

MAJESTIC RADIOS
Attractive Cabinet Style and Midgets

PAINTS OF ALL KINDS

Farmers Hardware Co.

THE WINCHESTER STORE

Clanton, Ala.

Headache! Everybody has it once in a while. It may be due to a thousand and one different causes.

The way to cure a Headache is to find and remove the cause. Suppose it takes days or weeks to find the cause—what will you do in the meantime? Continue to suffer?

Why should you, when you can get

DR. MILES' ANTI-PAIN PILLS

They relieve quickly.

Use them for muscular pains and functional pains even when these pains are so severe that you think you are suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago.

Get them at your Drug Store.

25 for 25 cents 125 for $1.00

J. MELL MARTIN

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA

Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service

Flowers for all Occasions

L. D. EASTERLING OPENING CAFE IN OLD P. O. BUILDING

Next Saturday is the opening day for the new cafe in the old postoffice building just north of Dief's Service Station. It will be owned and operated by L. D. Easterling and will be known as DeWitt's Cafe.

In regard to the opening Mr. Easterling says: "I will serve regular dinners, short orders, and everything good to eat usually found in a first class restaurant. On opening day we will serve good coffee and iced tea free. Our menu will contain fried chicken, the best of western meats, home made pies, etc. Special prices will prevail on everything opening day. I want my friends to come and see me, and I want to get acquainted with other friends too."

Mr. Easterling also asks all to watch the papers every week for the naming of guests to eat dinner with him every Sunday. This will be a weekly feature. Read the official announcement of his opening in his adv. elsewhere in The Union-Banner.

BIG MEETINGS GOING ON AT SEVERAL PLACES NOW

This week there are a number of protracted meetings in progress in the vicinity of Clanton. Friendship is the nearest, and there are others at Thorsby Baptist, New Salem, Poplar Springs and Pleasant Valley.

Rev. B. F. Dykes of Louisville, Ky., has been in Clanton off and on for the past week or so. He is preaching this week at New Salem. Last week he was in a revival meeting at Collins Chapel.

STANTON NEWS

Clyde Cook of Birmingham is spending a few days with home folks.

LaGrange Rasberry of Birmingham is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ruddick.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Connell of Notasulga are visiting Mrs. W. H. Connell.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Cates went to Selma Sunday to see their sister, Elizabeth Thrash, who is ill in Kings Memorial Hospital.

The revival meeting closed here Sunday with fourteen members for baptism.

Mrs. Walter Hand of Birmingham spent the week end here with home folks.

Miss Melbadine Osborne of Selma is visiting friends and relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ruddick of Cordova visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ruddick, Sunday.

C. E. Cagle and family went to Talladega Tuesday to attend an American Legion meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Shoults of Birmingham visited relatives here this week.

PRATTVILLE MAN KILLED IN CRASH

Wife Has Suspect Held After Husband's Death

Prattville, Ala., July 28.—Found with a fractured skull in a wrecked auto late Monday, J. D. Searles, 39, of Prattville, died in a Montgomery hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. Searles, wife of the victim, swore out a warrant for the arrest of Eugene Tatum, charging assault with intent to murder.

Sheriff G. D. Chambliss said Searles' death automatically changed the charge to murder. Tatum was arrested Monday night and held in Autauga County jail.

Mrs. Searles told Sheriff Chambliss she expected to prove her husband was struck over the head just before the car was wrecked.

Searles was unconscious when taken from the wreckage. Officers said he had not made a statement when he died.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

WANTED AT ONCE—A few good men for nearby territory. We furnish the capital, you furnish the time. Forty-two years honest service behind our line. Write McConnon & Co., Dept. U. B., Memphis, Tenn., or see G. W. Moates, Route 2, Clanton, Ala. 7-16-4t-ch.

WANTED CROSS TIES—Forked leaf hill red oak, forked leaf hill sap white oak, sap chestnut oak, and sap post oak; either hewn or sawn, must be nice, smooth and regular; sizes 7 x 9 and 7 x 8, eight feet, six inches in length.—R. A. Teel, Clanton, Ala. 7-23-3p.

LOST—Red hound puppy; 3 months old. Left home July 21. Any information will be appreciated by J. M. Parrish, Clanton R 1. 7-30-tf.

FOR SALE—Or Exchange, a good grist mill outfit; good location; good business. Trade for 8 or 10 acres of farm land on the Highway, or on a public road. See me at Hubbard's Grist Mill, Clanton, Ala.—C. W. Hubbard. 7.30-2p.

STRAYED—Two bird dogs, 1 female, white with liver and tick spots, named Nell; 1 male, white with liver spots on head and hips, named Mack. Reward.—Joe Higgins, Clanton, Ala. 7-30-2p.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Billingsley of Clanton were guests at the home of Mrs. Billingsley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin of Thorsby last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bean and Miss Jessie Mims were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mims.

Miss Ruby Connatser was hostess Thursday evening to quilt. A number of Thorsby young people were present. They are as follows, Mary Sue Robinson, Virginia Bice Hubert Reinhardt, Wilma and Verlon Goodgame, Loyd and Ella Howard, L. C. Lowery, Dorothy Vaughn, Katheryn Lenoir, Katheryn and Edith Foss, and Mary Sue Porter.

Mrs. Homer Adams of Birmingham visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Adams, of Thorsby.

Mrs. Harry Thompson of Birmingham spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Thornburgh in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Langville and daughter, Vivian, of Birmingham spent Monday in Thorsby. On returning home they took with them Mrs. Langville's mother, Mrs. Martha Grothe.

Miss Annie Werniss of Birmingham is spending her vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Grothe.

Arthur Villadsen and Henry Robinson spent the week end in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walker had as their guests on Friday, Mrs. H. C. Cowart of Deatsville, and Mrs. D. M. Pyron of Calera.

The Misses Lois and Sally Thompson gave a picnic party last Friday night, going to Yamakita, by truck. The guests were Linnie B. Reinhardt, Dorothy Franklin, Miradeen Martin, Edna Lee Wilder, Ershel Martin, Ollice Littleton, L. C. Lowery, Conway Thornburgh, J. C. O'Bar, Herman Robinson, Leo Spivey, Loyd Howard, Hubert Reinhardt. Dancing was enjoyed by all, and the boys had swimming also for their enjoyment. Mr. and Mrs. Turner Gamble chaparoned the party.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walker had as their guests Wednesday, Mrs. Peter Nixon and daughter, Rena Bell.

Mary Sue Robinson leaves Thursday for Lincoln, Ala., where she will visit Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Villadsen. Mr. Vlladsen s engaged in State highway work.

Mr. J. L. Mixon of the Bank of Thorsby, returned home Wednesday from a two weeks vacation. Mrs. Mixon and children returned Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Mixon's mother, Mrs. Swanson, and her daughter, Gene.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith of Clanton were at the Martin home for the wedding.

Mr. Sydney Davenport of Verbena visited home folks Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Billingsley of Clanton attended the Adams-Martin wedding Sunday night.

Rev. E. W. Butler, accompained by Miss Margurite Davidson attended a Congregational district conference at Headland over the week end.

Doris and Orville Freeman entertained at a card party last Wednesday night, those present were Katheryn and Edith Foss, Dorothy Butler, Loyd and Ella Howard, Sally Thompson, Edith Johnson, Oliver Lyon, Bill Gray, Charles Derwin, John Adams and Hershel Martin.

Mrs. G. F. Harper returned home from a visit to her sister at Defuniak Springs, Fla.

Harry Peterson and family were visitors at the Carl C. Peterson home for the week end. Rachel Peterson, who is taking a nurse's course at the Norwood hospital is spending her two week's vacation with the Carl Peterson family.

Mrs. Horsley White and Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway of Clanton spent Wednesday with Mrs. Relius Franklin.

Mrs. Anna Phalen and son, Thomas, and Mrs. Anna Kane, with the Misses Helen and Lois Kane, all of Tuscaloosa, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard.

Last Sunday afternoon there was a family surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt in Thorsby, in celebration of a birthday anniversary of Mr. Reinhardt's mother, Mrs. J. C. Reinhardt, who was visiting her son and his family. Some out of-town guests were mother Reinhardt's daughters, Mrs. E. M. Young and family of Columbiana, Mrs. W. F. Smith and family of West Virginia her two sons, J. H. Reinhardt and family, T. M. Reinhardt and family of Wilsonville, another son, Searle Reinhardt of Whatley.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan and her sister, Mrs. Anna Thorson, accompanied Miss Naemi Turnquist, their sister, to her home in Selma, where they will spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Relius Franklin with Peggy Mims and Mrs. C. M. Gray spent Thursday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Barnes, formerly Rosa Nelson, have returned to Mobile after a delightful trip to Pensacola, Camp Walton and Panama City, Fla.

Revival meetings are now in progress at Thorsby Bapist Church, conducted by Rev. Barnes, who held such meetings here last year. The meetings will probably continue on through next week.

Mr. W. T. Blood, of Birmingham, for eight years with Southern Bell Telephone Company, now an auto accessories agent, has bought the Thorsby Local Telephone, and installed his wife, whom we understood to have long been a Southern Bell operator.

Last Thursday night will be long and pleasantly remembered among Thorsby Boy Scouts, Scouters, (men Scout Officials) and all others who assembled at the Congregational Church to hear and meet Mr. John J. Sigwald of Opelika, head of the Scout activities for a large Alabama district. In fact so large that with a good car to get around in, he is only able to visit Chilton County once a month, and even at that he cannnot visit all the Scout Troops in the County.

Arriving in Thorsby about 5:30 p. m. where he was an overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Norton; arrangements had been made for him to have an early meeting with Thorsby Troop of Scouts at their room in the Masonic building, that he might get acquainted with the boys and their environment. He quickly had them in action in true Scout style, "learning by doing."

At the proper time the meeting adjourned to the church where a short opening program was put on before the meeting was turned over to Mr. Sigwald whose subject was "Teaching by the Patrol System", a patrol means a few boy scouts, not more than eight, one of whom has been appointed patrol leader. Thorsby Troop No. 43 has the nucleus of two patrols and two leaders, a full Troop is four patrols or 32 scouts.

As a starter Mr. Sigwald divided the boys into two bunches under their patrol leaders, and made the starting announcemnt that he would teach them a new language in 20 minutes.

He started in by taking the two patrol leaders and teaching them six or eight letters of the alphabet as deaf and dumb people use in conversation, when they knew them they taught them to their boys and to make it more interesting, everybody in the audience was invited to join them. In this manner the whole alphabet was learned in just twenty minutes, and how well it was learned was manifested when everybody under his leadership began spelling words and sentences, as if deaf and dumb.

Then followed open forum, Mr. Sigwald explaining Boy Scout activities, and any who desired asking questions which he answered.

There is already evidence that the Boy scout movement has been greatly stimulated among our boys and people who heard Mr. Sigwald.

A letter from him states that he greatly enjoyed his visit in Thorsby and is very favorably impressed with what he found here.

Another feature of his visit is that it will result in a closer contact with other scouts in the local district, under Mr. Stapp, which includes the boy scout movement in Clanton.

Mr. D. H. Gentry, who was reported in a serious condition last week is now said to be somewhat improved.

The sale of the local telephone exchange has caused a scattering temporarily at least, of the Dudley Thompson family, who occubied the building. Mrs. Thompson has gone to live with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson in the Jim Mims cottage on Michigan Ave., while Sally Thompson is now making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Gamble, her sister, in the house across the street from the J. M. Bosworth home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Littleton and little daughter, Jimmie, returned home Sunday from a week's visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Littleton in Selma.

Mr. Norwood Johnson is much improved from a light attack of appendicitis since Saturday night.

Mrs. Hattie Johnson has returned from Birmingham for a few weeks stay with her son, Mr. N. Johnson. She will go to Greenville, Ala. for a few days visit with friends, and then to Cario, Ga., to make her home indefinitely with her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Deave.

Miss Mabel Johnson has been attending her first singing school at Collins Chapel for the past two weeks.

Mrs. J. W. Littleton and Arnold of Selma, spent Sunday with Mrs. J. H. Collins.

Master Jack Mitchell of Bessemer is spending a couple of weeks with Arthur Nelson.

The W. M. S. met at the church on Tuesday afternoon, a good program was rendered.

The Y. W. A. will meet with Dorothy Franklin Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, a good crowd is very much desired.

The Baptist Sunday school was well attended Sunday, we hope to have it that way every Sunday. We had quite a number of visitors whom we also invite back.

Mrs. W. H. Raybon, Phares and Ruby Raybon, went by Clanton and carried Mrs. Josie Askins with them across the river near Weogulfka last Friday and spent the day with J. W. Prim, bringing Mrs. M. J. Prim home after 3 weeks stay with her son.

Mrs. Arthur Villadsen has returned to her home in Lincoln, after spending several weeks with her mother, Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

Mr. A. P. Villadsen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson Friday.

Miss Margaret Butler spent the week end with her folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan and family of Wylam were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg last Sunday.

Quite a goodly number of her neighbors and friends helped Mrs. Martha Goothy celebrate her 82nd birthday. Mr. N. Laurell, our new townsman, also celebrated his 70th birthday the same day. Mr. Laurell is still holding a responsible position at the Philips High School, Birmingham.

Mr. H. V. Thompson made a trip to Birmingham Monday.

We are glad to report that Miss Caroline Skinner, who has been sick at the home of M. J. Sobergh, for a couple of months, is on the road to improvement at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Gibbons and baby are spending several weeks at the home of his mother, Mrs. J. P. Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead spent the week end in Birmingham.

Mr. Ham Lewis took his wife to Hillman Hospital in Birmingham Sunday morning. Mrs. Lewis has been very sick for a month with sinus trouble and other complications.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Sarbor of Elmore County were visitors in Thorsby last Tuesday.

ADAMS-MARTIN MARRIAGE

The many friends of Miss Ruth Martin, of Thorsby, will be interested in her marriage to Mr. Herbert E. Adams, which was solemnized Sunday evening, July 26, at the Thorsby Baptist Church, Rev. J. W. Jones, pastor of the church, officiating.

The altar of the church was banked with a profusion of ferns, interspersed with pink crepe myrtle and gladioli with pink tulle streamers marking the reserved seats for relatives.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Lois Thompson sang "At Dawning," and Miss Agnes Leary sang "O Promise Me." They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Marvin Davenport.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride entered with her uncle, W. J. Billingsley, of Clanton, by whom she was given in marriage, the groom entering with Marion S. Smith, of Clanton, as best man.

The bride was lovely in a chic ensemble of blue flat crepe with eggshell accessories in harmony. Her bouquet was of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Adams is the daughter of Mrs. Leila Martin of Thorsby, and has been a teacher in the Thorsby Junior High School for a period of five years. The groom is the son of P. M. Adams of Collinsville, Alabama, and holds a responsible position with the Gulf States Steel Plant of Gadsden.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Gadsden where they will make their future home.

VERBENA 4-H CLUB

The 4-H Club of Verbena will meet Friday night, July 31. The meeting will be held at the Verbena Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock. Members are urged to attend, and visitors are invited. Special business matters must be attended to.—Reporter, J. A. Scott.

Mr. S. V. Miller made a trip to Birmingham last Tuesday.

DEATH OF MRS. HUGH REEVES

Mrs. Hugh Reeves (Gemma Gardner) age 21 years, died at a Birmingham infirmary last Sunday, July 26th. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gardner. She had been sick about a month.

The body was sent to Verbena by Vice, where funeral services were held at the Verbena Baptist Church at ten o'clock Tuesday, conducted by Rev. L. T. Reeves, of Birmingham, assisted by Rev. J. W. Jones, of Thorsby. Special music was rendered by the Verbena choir. Burial was in charge of Mell Martin, of Clanton.

Mrs. Reeves is survived by her husband; a sister, Miss Sarah Mae Gardner, of Prattville; half sister, Dell Gardner, and half brother, Chas. Gardner, Jr.

The ballbearers were Morris Pinson, Lloyd Pinson, Hugh Hamilton, Carl Stewart, Edward Reeves, Guy Reeves. Honorary pallbearers were J. C. Courtney, Geo. M. Bragan, Greer Culver, Jim Gardner, J. E. Perryman, Iremus Stewart.

Mrs. Reeves was reared in Birmingham. After finishing school she taught in Anniston, where she was married and resided.

The many beautiful floral offerings at the funeral bore testimony of the deep sympathy and love of many friends and relatives.

YOU ARE INVITED to attend

A BIG SPECIAL TAILORING DISPLAY

and

EXHIBIT OF FINE WOOLENS

from

E. V. PRICE & CO.

Chicago

The choicest fabrics of the season will be shown in the full piece, and a representative from this nationally known house will be with us to give you first hand information regarding the new styles and fashions.

A BIG EVENT

Don't miss this opportunity of selecting and having your Autumn and Winter clothes requirements tailored to individual order at money saving prices.

JULY 31 and AUGUST 1

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Chicago Sales Co.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

ANOTHER Big 1c Sale

And another wonderful opportunity to stock your pantry with popular foods and household needs at great savings.

The splendid response given our last 1c Sale—and the many requests from our customers to repeat the great buying event—prompts us to again feature a big 1c Sale.

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

No goods sold to Merchants at these prices

All Purchases at these Prices must be made in same quantities indicated in last column.	BUY AT REGULAR PRICE	PAY 1 CENT MORE AND GET
WHITEHOUSE MILK TALL CANS	4 for 30c	5 for 31c
ALABAMA GIRL PICKLES 26-OZ JARS	2 for 50c	3 for 51c
ENCORE Spaghetti 15¾-OZ CANS	2 for 15c	3 for 16c
NECTAR — ORANGE PEKOE TEA ¼-LB PKGS	2 for 30c	3 for 31c
QUAKER MAID BEANS 16-OZ CANS	3 for 20c	4 for 21c
SATSUMA TOMATO CATSUP 14-OZ BOTTLES	2 for 24c	3 for 25c
RAJAH SALAD DRESSING 8½-OZ JARS	2 for 30c	3 for 31c
GELATIN DESSERT SPARKLE	2 for 15c	3 for 16c
DIAMOND CRYSTAL SALT 1¼-LB PKGS	3 for 10c	4 for 11c
NBC 5c CAKES AND CRACKERS	3 for 15c	4 for 16c
ENCORE MACARONI OR Spaghetti ½-LB PKGS	5 for 25c	6 for 26c
PACIFIC TOILET TISSUE	6 for 25c	7 for 26c
OCTAGON SOAP LARGE BARS	5 for 28c	6 for 29c
PALMOLIVE SOAP	4 for 30c	5 for 31c
SUNBRITE CLEANSER	3 for 15c	4 for 16c

FLOUR

Sunnyfield Plain or Selfrising

12-lb BAG 35c 24-lb BAG 69c 48-lb BAG $1.35

24-lb RAINBOW 50c

48-lb RAINBOW $1.00

LEMONS, per dozen 17c

10 lbs. SUGAR 50c

PEACHES

$1.00 Per Bushel

At Orchard

E. E. PLIER

Clanton, Ala., R 1

Chilton County
the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON
Alabama
Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXVIII.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1931 NUMBER 15

SCHOOL TRUSTEES CALLED FRIDAY

Will Meet With County School Board at Couny Courthouse, Aug. 7

The trustees of all the schools in Chilton County have been called to meet in joint session with the County Board of Education at the courthouse Friday, August 7th, at 10:00 o'clock.

In asking the trustees to attend this meeting Superintendent Lawrence has sent out the following letter:

To the Trustees of Chilton County:

The time has come that we must set a date for the opening of our schools. The law provides that the County Board shall set a uniform date for the opening of all schools but at our meeting last Friday we decided that we did not wish to do this until after the trustees of the county had had an opportunity to express their wishes in the matter. It is our earnest desire to meet your wishes just as far as we possibly can, and I am writing to ask that if possible you meet me at the courthouse in Clanton on Friday, August 7th, at 10:00 o'clock in order that we may have an opportunity to talk over the matter.

Let me ask that if you have any other suggestions about the administration of the schools of the county that would be of assistance to us in giving better service that you feel perfectly free to make such suggestions. It is our problem in the sense that it is the responsibility of every citizen to do his or her part in giving the children the best possible service. We want you to feel that you are a part of the school system and ask that you at any and all times be free to make any suggestions whatever that would give better service.

Trusting that I may have the pleasure of seeing you at the meeting Friday, I am, very truly yours,

B. LAWRENCE,
County Supt. Education.

Devaughn Closes Successful Music School

Last Friday afternoon came to a close the singing school of Prof. W. M. Devaughn at Collins Chapel. The school had been running for eighteen days, and was a very successful one. There were sixty-nine pupils on roll. The closing day consisted principally of singing until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the entire school went on a picnic over to Mineral Sbrings. The girls had prepared sandwiches and the boys furnished lemonade, and all had two hours of good wholesome enjoyment out in the open.

WRECK ON HIGHWAY LAST MONDAY NIGHT

An automobile wreck occurred on the highway near the Reynolds Swimming Pool Monday night. One car, a big Buick, was being driven by a Dr. Sellers, who was on his way to Montgomery. The other car was a Ford driven by a negro.

No accurate information could be obtained about the details. So far as we are able to learn, the damage was confined to the wrecking of the cars, with no serious physical injuries to the occupants.

Equipment Is Acquired By Judson College

Judson College acquired some valuable equipment recently when the Baptist State Board disposed of the property of Newton Institute, Newton, Alabama. Several microscopes, a large amount of furniture for the dormitories, and a number of books were received.

In addition to the equipment which was given it, the colloge has secured complete new laboratory equipment for the courses in commercial education whcih will be added next year.

Extensive repairs and renovations to the present college plant are also being made. The science laboratories, the business offices, and the parlors are being altered and redecorated. Several of the buildings have been repainted. In a few weeks a complete cleaning will be given the buildings in preparation for the opening of the ninety-fourth session, September 15.

Methodist Church

The heat is terrific but there is no break in our worship. If you take a vacation in breathing, you can afford to take a vacation in church attendance. I attended a funeral not long since and it had to occur because the one in the casket had taken a vacation in breathing. Worship is the Christian's breath and if you live you must keep up your worship. There must be some folks who are religiously dead even while they live. I heard a good woman say not long since: "Going to church with me it just like breathing." It was a big part of her Christian life.

Sunday school at 9:45; preaching by the pastor at 11:00 a. m.

Leagues meet at 7:15; and preaching at 8:00 p. m.

SINGING AT WALNUT CREEK

The Central Singing Society will meet next Sunday afternoon at Walnut Creek at 2 o'clock. All singers are invited.

Last Sunday afternoon the society met at Chestnut Creek, Coopers. The class was not so large but everyone seemed to enjoy the singing very much.

ORCHESTRA LEADER URGES REVIVAL OF OLD "HITS"

A good tune is always a good tune, whether it was composed yesterday or a decade ago, according to B. A. Rolfe, director of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, who is constantly reviving popular songs of past years and presenting them in their original form on his radio programs.

"A melody, which at one time was good enough to claim the attention of a nation, should not be permitted to pass completely into oblivon," believes Rolfe, whose orchestra's claim to fame has largely been through its distinctive rendition of the "tunes that made Broadway, Broadway." To perpetuate these old "hits" and to provide a dependable and representative source for his selections, Rolfe said that he had compiled a musical library, containing more than 6,000 orchestrations of numbers written since 1900, with each orchestration accompanied by a chart containing full data on the degree of popularity it had attained.

Mrs. Edmund Lakeman of Lay Dam was carried to South Highlands Infirmary in Birmingham Tuesday, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

PILOT CLUB WAS KIWANIS GUESTS

Joint Meeting Held At Methodist Church Thursday Night

The members of the Pilot Club of Clanton were guests of the Kiwanis Club at a joint session last Thursday night at the Methodist Church. J. Mell Martin, president of Kiwanis Club, presided at the meeting.

The program for the meeting was rendered by the Pilot Club, directed by Mrs. C. E. Stapp, president of the Pilot Club of Clanton.

A number of visitors from the Pilot Club of Selma were guests, and rendered interesting program numbers.

The principal speaker of the occasion was Miss McSwain, of the Selma Club. Her subject was "Activity," as applied to the service club.

Several musical numbers were rendered by Misses Helen and Jane Roberts.

The attendance prize, a baby rattle, was awarded to Maurice Lande.

A delightful dinner was served by the ladies of the Methodist Church.

The clubs considered the matter of sending a young lady from Clanton to Pensacola to be entered in the bathing beauty contest.

A bunch of lovely roses were presented to Miss Barlow for her faithful efforts in securing the organization of the Pilot Club in Clanton.

Mrs. Volley Mims and children of Mobile are spending a short vacation with her mother and father, of Jemison and other relatives of Thorsby.

Mrs. John R. Boyd, accompanied Mr. J. B. Marlar and Mrs. Annie Thacker of Clanton on a visit to Birmingham.

Chilton County Singing Convention To Be Held At Verbena Third Sunday In September

The executive committee of the Chilton County singing convention, Jasper R. Robinson, committee chairman, met at Clanton last Saturday afternoon and decided on a place and date for the fall or regular session of the convention. Only three members of the committee were present in the persons of Willie L. Mims, A. H. Glasscock and J. R. Robinson. Two places had invited the convention—Jemison and Verbena, and the latter was selected, and the third Sunday in September was chosen as the time. The convention will assemble at 10 o'clock in the Verbena High School building. It is expected now that 1932 books will be used, either the Stamps or Henson, and probably both of them.

It is hoped and expected that all the singers of the county will cooperate with the committee and officers of the convention in making this the best ever held in the county. There will be some big singers present as well as some good quartets, and of course, practically all of the talent of the county will be there. There will not be a public dinner, however promise is made that the visiting singers will be cared for. Everybody come and bring enough dinner to feed yourself and one or two besides.

Cotton and Corn Field Guessing Contest

At 10 o'clock a. m., Saturday, August 15th, there will be a cotton and corn field guessing contest held on Mr. W. C. Robinson's farm on the highway near Coopers, now farmed by Mr. Hilyer.

At 3 p. m. the same day a similar contest will be held on the farms of Mr. A. F. Mims and Mr. Cecil Baggett just south of Thorsby, on the old highway. Mr. Stapp announces that some five dollar gold pieces will be awarded.

Comparisons of vetch and no vetch, nitrate of soda and no soda, etc., will be made at each place, and it is expected that a large number of farmers will take part in the contest.

Mr. Stapp will have a meeting at Maplesville in interest of strawberries that afternoon, and can't attend the contest on Mims's and Baggett's farms, but Mr. Montgomery, vocational teacher at Jemison, will be on hand to conduct the contest.

Alabama Declares War On Mad Dogs

To lesson the number of mad dogs in Alabama each year and to protect the state against rabies, the Alabama State Board of Agriculture has ruled that "all dogs moved into Alabama shall have been given one or more immunizing injections of anti-rabies vaccine within six months prior to the time of movement into Alabama." This was recommended by Dr. C. A. McCary, state veterinarian.

Members of the Board of Agriculture which passed this regulation are:

Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of Agriculture, chairman; M. J. Funchess, director of the experiment station, Auburn; R. J. Goode, Gastonburg; Glenn Foster, Tuscaloosa; W. F. Garth,, Huntsville; J. Lloyd Abbott, Spring Hill and J. H. Witherington, Dothan.

ALABAMA MERCHANTS TO CONVENE IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 3.—Interest of every retail and wholesale merchant in Alabama will turn to Birmingham September 3 and 4, when the fifteenth annual convention of the Alabama Merchants Association will be held in that city.

Later this month 15,000 invitations to the convention will be mailed by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce to every merchant in the State.

An elaborate program of business meetings and entertainment is now being planned by the Wholesale Merchants and Manufacturers Division of the Chamber of Commerce for the two day session.

W. A. Currie is general chairman of all convention plans, and has made up a staff of several of the most prominent business men of Birmingham to plan for the merchants' meeting.

The entertainment plans include baseball games, dances, vaudeville shows, a swimming and diving exhibition, wrestling match and other similar features. A noted speaker, whose name has not yet been announced, will address the gathering on a topic of vital interest to every merchant on the last night of the convention.

Cash prizes in gold will be given holders of lucky numbers which will be attached to registration blanks.

Thousands of windshield stickers, mail stickers and small buttons advertising the event have been forwarded to merchants all over the State.

Salesmen of practically every wholesale house and manufacturing concern in Birmingham met last week at the Tutwiler Hotel and formed a permanent organization for the purpose of generally exploiting the convention throughout the State, and lending their concerted effort in making this 1931 convention the biggest ever held by the state merchants.

Rev. W.J.Ruddick Died

Long and Useful Life of Baptist Minister Ends Suddenly

The sudden death of Rev. W. J. Ruddick, at his home at Stanton last Thursday, brought to an end the life of one of Chilton County's most honored, useful, and beloved citizens. It is stated that the aged minister was in his normal condition of health, enjoying the association of friends and members of his family. He had eaten of some watermelon, and arose to dispose of the rinds. When he started across the yard, he complained of turning blind, and sat down on the steps. He died in a few minutes.

Mr. Ruddick was born in Ireland in 1854. He landed in New York in May, 1871, coming to Alabama in March, 1872. He joined the Baptist church at Shady Grove, in October, 1872. He was ordained to the ministry at Randolph in October, 1878.

Since entering the ministry, Rev. Ruddick has been very active in the Missionary Baptist work. During his career he was pastor of 27 different churches scattered over Chilton, Bibb, Autauga, Dallas, and Perry Counties. He was Clerk of the Unity Baptist Association from 1888 to 1919. He was Moderator of the Association in the years 1920, 1921, and 1922.

Rev. Ruddick was a prominent Mason. He affiliated with the lodge at Randolph in his early years. When the Masonic lodge at Stanton was organized, he was a charter member. During the 44 years of the existence of the Stanton lodge, he was Worshipful Master forty years. At the time of his death he was a member of Maplesville Lodge. He was also a member of Clanton Chapter.

On may 18, 1873, Rev. Ruddick was married to Miss Lucy Alice Smitherman. They had ten children, all of whom lived to maturity. Mrs. Ruddick and seven children survive him. The children are Mrs. Alice Milan, of Riderwood; Mrs. Ella Melton, of Lisman; Mrs. Clemmie Osborne, of Selma; U. T. Ruddick, of Birmingham; W. C. Ruddick, of Cordova; W. L. Ruddick, of Stanton; J. S. Ruddick, of Mississippi. There are 36 grandchildren, and 27 great grandchildren.

The body of the deceased was buried at Stanton Saturday, August 1st. At his request his mother's Bible was buried with him. This was a precious treasure of his life, as he often said, it was the Bible of his mother that led him to Christ. His funeral was conducted by Rev. Buford Lawrence, assisted by Rev. J. W. Mitchell, Rev. G. G. Williams, and Rev. Paul Oden.

Baptist Church

The Pastor, Rev. S. J. Ezell, will return from his vacation in South Carolina this week. The regular order of services will be resumed next Sunday, with preaching morning and evening.

Everybody is urged to come. Sunday school is on the up-grade now, making favorable progress. You are invited to come and help swell the totals.

Miss Mary Ellis announces that ther will be some special musical numbers by the choir at the morning service next Sunday. For the evening service, the young people's choir will render the music and it promises to be unusually good.

Don't fail to be at Sunday school and hear the reports from the sheep and the goats. These reports will be made by H. T. Pipes and Uncle George Willis.

W. O. W. WILL UNVEIL MONUMENT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

There will be a Woodmen of the World monument unveiling of the monument to the late Clinton Culp, at Shiloh Church, next Sunday, August ninth, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Maplesville Camp will be in charge of the ceremony, with drill teams and uniform rank from Clanton, Maplesville, and Pletcher camps, assisting. District manager, C. E. Evans, will be orator for the occasion.

All Woodmen of the county are invited to be present and assist. The public is cordially invited.

POLK BROTHERS MAKE OFFER OF INTEREST TO BOYS

Polk Brothers Motor Company, Inc., local Chevrolet dealers, offer baseball equipment to boys between the ages of 12 and 16 years, who will join their Junior League, and assist them in their World Series Campaign during the month of August.

This is a novel idea being sponsored by Chevrolet Motor Company throughout the entire State during the month of August, and W. M. Polk, of Polk Brothers Motor Co., says he expects to give baseball mits, gloves, bats, and league balls to Chilton County boys who will spend a few hours time in their respective communities delivering literature and soliciting prospects.

Mr. Polk requests all boys in the county who are interested in winning baseball equipment to call to see him or see one of his Chevrolet salesmen.

FARM MEETINGS WILL BE HELD

County Agent Stapp Will Push Campaign For Winter Legumes

County Agent Stapp is anxious to see every farmer in Chilton County plant at least 5 acres of Austrian winter peas or vetch per plow. While in attendance at the meeting at Auburn in June, Mr. Stapp made plans for an extensive soil-building campaign this fall. He has already sent out four circular letters pertaining to the campaign. He has offered nice prizes to the club boys who are most active in the campaign. The banks of the county are cooperating in a splendid way. In an effort to reach as many people personally as possible, and discuss with them the great importance of Austrian peas and vetch as soil building crops, Mr. Stapp has arranged the following series of meetings:

Fairview, Thursday, August 6, 7:00 p. m.

Sardis, Friday, August, 7, 7:00 p. m.

Isabella, Monday, August 10, 7:00 p. m.

Baker, Tuesday, August 11, 7:00 p. m.

Jackson Chapel, Monday, August 17, 7:00 p. m.

Union Grove, Tuesday, August 18, 7:00 p. m.

Freeman, Wednesday, August 19, 7:00 p. m.

Pinedale, Thursday, August 20, 7:00 p. m.

Verbena, Friday, August 21, 7:00 p. m.

Mr. Stapp regrets that he will not be able to visit every schoolhouse in the county, but feels that practically everyone in the county can easily teach one of the above schools. At these meetings Mr. Stapp will give the latest recommendations of the experiment station.

DEKALB BALLOT ORDER IS MADE

Court Tells County Officials To Send Ballots To Washington

Gadsden, Ala., Aug. 3—DeKalb County Monday afternoon was ordered by Judge W. I. Grubb to turn over ballots of the 1930 election in that County to Harrison Smith, repres-tative of the Senate Investigation Committee, which has charge of the Heflin-Bankhead Senate election contest. The order was issued by Judge Grubb at the close of a short hearing here.

The court instructed Smith to give DeKalb County officials a receipt for the ballots and to inform them the ballots would be returned as soon as the Senate investigators are through with them. A United States deputy marshal, it was specified, should accompany Smith to Fort Payne on his trip after the ballots.

W. V. Jacovay, Democratic Executive Committee chairman for DeKalb testifying at the hearing Monday, said the Republican officials of DeKalb were the ones who had refused to accede to the request o fthe Senate body for the custody of the ballots.

The Democratic leader said members of both parties have been afraid that, if the ballots were sent to Washington, they would not be returned in time to serve as evidence in the Democratic contest of the county election, which is to be heard in the Circuit Court this fall. The election being contested by the Democrats in DeKalb include that of the sheriff, tax collector, license inspector and county commissioners, a total of seven officers.

The DeKalb County officials agreed to surrender the ballots after Judge Grubb had assured them of the ballot's early return.

Truck To Carry Produce To Birmingham

The Jemison Fruit nad Truck Growers Association is sponsoring a charity movement to be carried out Friday of this week.

Until about noon of the above day they will have a truck at Mr. Shaw's place in Jemison, which they are asking the members of the Association to load with produce of different kinds—watermelons, fruits, corn meal, meat, and anything they can furnish from the farm. Have it there by noon, as the truck will leave shortly thereafter.

A large banner will be displayed on the truck stating to what charitable organization the stuff is being carried.

J. JOHNSTON MOORE DEAD

J. Johnston Moore, for many years prominent in Montgomery business and political circles, died suddenly while eating supper in a Montgomery cafe Tuesday night. It was said his death was caused by a heart attack.

Mr. Moore entered the cafe, ate a banana, and ordered a cup of coffee. He had drank about half his coffee when he collapsed and fell from his chair. He was rushed to a hospital, but was dead when the ambulance arrived.

Three Arrested For Distilling, Saturday

Sheriff W. H. Gillespie and his deputies raided a distilling outfit up near the county line, a short distance southwest of South Calera, last Thursday, and brought back three white man. One other white man was said to have gotten away after they were flushed.

The still was a 200-gallon outfit and was full of beer, which together with five gallons of liquor were destroyed by the officers.

Two white men were arrested during the past few days charged with disturbing public worship.

Dr. Samuel E. Johnson of the United States Navy arrived in Clanton last week to spend a few days' vacation with home folks.

More than forty people were baptized at New Salem last Sunday by Rev. Zac Appleton. They were converts who joined the churches at New Salem and Collins Chapel during recent revival meetings.

Plant Austrian Peas October First

Practically As Dangerous—Askum: "Ever been surrounded by wolves?"

Bascom: "No, but I know the sensation. I used to open the dining room doors at a summer boarding house."

I. G. A. Specials This Week-End

COFFEE — ALWAYS FRESH

"I" Blend	lb. pkg.	33c
"G" Blend	lb. pkg.	25c
"A" Blend	lb. pkg.	21c

TEA, I. G. A. Quarter-pound pkg. 21c
Finest Orange Pekoe

CALIFORNIA LEMONS, dozen 21c
Sour and Juicy

POST'S BRAN FLAKES, pkg. 10c

SALAD DRESSING Pearsall's, pint jar 19c

PEARS, I. G. A. Fancy Bartlett, large can .. 27c

GRAPE JUICE, I. G. A, pint bottle 21c

VINEGAR, I. G. A. Pure Apple quart water bottle 21c

CORNED BEEF HASH or COOKED BRAINS, I. G. A., small cans 9c

FAIRY SOAP 5 bars 19c

LAUNDRY SOAP, I. G. A., White, 5 bars 19c

SLICED BACON Sunlight Rindless pound 27c

FLOUR, I. G. A. Plain or Self Rising 24 lb bag 85c

FLOUR, Duchess Self Rising or Columbia Plain 24 lb bag 65c

At All I.G.A. Stores

BATTEN REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Batten's heart was made to rejoice last Friday, July 24, when all their children reached home for a glad reunion. The last reunion was just four years ago on July 4.

The children are widely scattered. W. M. lives at Powderly, F. P. at Fayette. The daughters, Mrs. C. C. Gay, just one mile from the old home. T. E. at Silsbee, Texas; H. G. at Tempson, Texas; J. F. at Tulsa, Oklahoma; and J. D. at Bessemer, Alabama.

All the children spent the night at home with their parents for the first time in nearly a score of years, and when the supper bell rang for supper, the children filed in to the table and sat at their accustomed places, where they sat when at home together as they grew up. The only addition to this union was a little granddaughter, four years of age, which sat at the corner of the table between her father and auntie. The daughters-in-law and other grandchildren waiting and eating at the second table.

On Saturday, July 25, we had a family barbecue near the house, where the children used to play under the shade of the trees. Pork and kid were barbecued by the son-in-law, Mr. C. C. Gay, for this dinner. I will say Mr. Gay sure knows how to barbecue meat.

The invited guests for the occasion were Mr. J. W. Gay and family, brother to the son-in-law; Mr. W. H. Harris's family, Mrs. Harris being a cousin to the Batten children; also Ann and Joe Gandy of Kentucky, who were visiting Mrs. Harris, and who are also cousins to the Batten children; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Letcher, who are special friends to the Batten family.

It is always nice to have good relatives to come to the reunion for the nice picnic baskets are always acceptable to go along with the meat, bread, pie, pickles, etc.

When dinner was over, before leaving the table T. E. spoke in behalf of the glad reunion, the good dinner, and well-barbecued meat; the joy of having another reunion and the pleasure of having the relatives and friends with us for the reunion dinner of the day, and the reunion of four years ago; and asked the brothers if they were willing to have the next reunion with their sister as they only had one sister. It was readily agreed by all of the boys that the next reunion will be just one mile from the old home, with their sister, Mrs. C. C. Gay. And let me say here, the boys were asked to be sure and come home next year, so they could have another reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Batten are getting real feeble; one being 76, and the other one will be in a few days.

After dinner pictures were made of the crowd and groups of the family.

The writer wishes for the family, happiness, health, and many more reunions.

Soul of Industry—Applicant—(for postiion of office boy)—"I may say I'm pretty smart. I've won several prizes in crossword and word picture competitions lately."

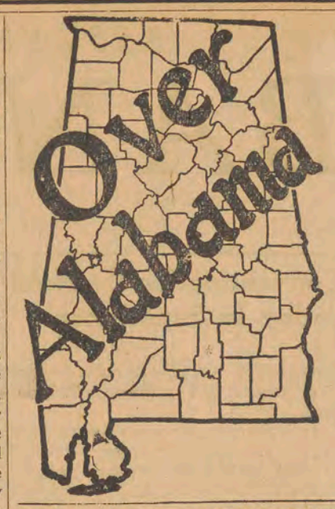
Employer—"Yes, but I want some one who can be smart during office hours."

"This was during office hours."—Epworth Herald.

Making Good—"My mother will be surprised when she gets my letter. 'August,' she used to say, 'you are so stupid that you will never get a job,' and in the last month I have had six."—Nagels Lustige Welt (Berlin).

THANK YOU

Since I opened my filling station, a great many of my friends have bought gasoline from me, and they have been coming back regularly for more. In every case the customer has told me that he is well pleased with the results.



I want to thank each and every one for your kind expressions of satisfaction. I shall continue to sell the very best gasoline at the lowest possible prices. If you will stick to me, I will stick to you, and make it possible for you to save money on your gasoline.

YOUR PATRONAGE WILL BE APPRECIATED

W. A. REYNOLDS

BROWNIE'S PLACE

Between Clanton and South Clanton

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Seventeen acts of the Legislature which adjourned last Sunday morning, July 26, became law Thursday as Gov. B. M. Miller signed them.

Struck by lightning while playing golf here, G. S. Jackson, 51, was killed instantly Sunday afternoon, July 26, on the Dothan Country Club golf course.

Taylor Parsons, 40, Route No. 2, Pratt City, was shot and slightly wounded when police said he resisted arrest by J. L. Johnson, Pratt City constable.

The harvest song will be sung to the tramp of many feet next month as an industrious army of cotton pickers begins its annual march on the snow white fields of Alabama.

The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Sunday, by a vote of 260 to 101, requested Dr. Trevor Mordecai, pastor, not to accede to requests for his resignation.

Southern Railway System Wednesday said it had no present intention of cutting wages and accompanied this with an announcement of a voluntary reduction in salaries by its officers.

J. S. Yates, manager of a Hill grocery in Birmingham, was slugged and robbed of $30 by a negro who fled before persons in the neighborhood were aroused by Yates' shouts for help.

Police have found no trace of Cecile Swick, 17, of Theodore, Ala., who has been reported missing since March. The girl had been living with relatives at 2225 Ninth Avenue, South, Birmingham.

The Waterman Steamship Corporation, operating a line of vessels in foreign trade out of Mobile, has increased its capital stock from $100,000 to $1,000,000, according to a statement filed in the Probate Court at Mobile.

Elton Cline, of Huffman, has been released from Southside Jail at Birmingham where he was held following his arrest last week by officers investigating the bombing of the Pure Milk Company plant the night of July 10.

Jim Curry, negro, was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,500 bond by Judge H. B. Abernethy on a statutory charge in connection with an attack upon a white woman at her home at Mineral Springs the night of July 5.

Preliminary hearings for 34 negroes held on various charges in connection with the Camp Hill disorders, in which one person was killed and five were wounded, were postponed on agreement of counsel for the state and defendants.

Health officials from Harvard University, Athens, Greece, and Budapest, Hungary, conferred with Dr. J. N. Baker, state health official, and obtained permission to make a three-week study of malaria control methods in Alabama.

Whether or not property owners in Jefferson County will be forced to pay taxes on reassessments on improvements not listed on the tax books over a period of five years will be decided by several hundred cases appealed to the Circuit Court.

Gov. Miller Monday night, July 27, signed the Tunstall bill, raising the state tax on gasoline from four to five cents, the levy classed as an "excise tax" with all funds to be paid into the State Highway Department's treasury until Oct. 1, 1932.

Repairs on Lock 8, on the Warrior, will be followed by other needed repairs following the War Department's annual allotment of $530,000 for maintenance on the stream, it is reported in Birmingham . The wooden floor of Lock 8 is being replaced by a concrete one.

The fourth annual reunion of the Huddleston family in Alabama was held Sunday, Aug. 1, at the home of W. J. Huddleston, on the Springville Highway. Congressman George Huddleston, a member of the family, attended the gathering and delivered an address.

The faculty of Florence State Teachers College enjoyed a picnic Saturday afternoon, July 25, at Killen Camp, a beautiful spot on the Lee Highway.

Sixty Alabama counties were represented in the first roll call at Farmers Week opening at Alabama Polytechnic Institute Monday, July 27.

A finding of justifiable homicide was returned by Gip M. Evans, investigator for the Jefferson County Commission, Monday afternoon in the death of Ted Hill, 30, who was wounded during a struggle with Patrolman H. B. George.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By John Hix

Solving the Farm Problem—In the days before oil was discovered in Texas, a traveling man stopped for the night at a dryland ranch.

As he discussed the affairs of the country with his host, he became more and more puzzled as to how the little ranch paid its way. At last he ventured the question:

"How in the world do you make a go of things at all?"

Indicating the hired man, who was sitting at the far end of the supper table, the host replied:

"You see that feller there? Well, he works for me, and I can't pay him. In two years he gits the ranch. Then I work for him till I git it back."—Hudson Star.

A Fit For Furs—Dorothy—"When will you get your new fur coat, Mamma?"

Mother—"Your dad says it can't be done."

Dorothy—"Say, Momsie, have you ever tried throwing yourself on the floor and kicking your feet the way I do?"—Richmond Christian Advocate.

Crooked Stuff—Mergers have hit the cross roads.

In Big Pine, California, a large sign announces:

"Permanent Waving and Fish Worms."—Variety.

Young Bride: "Now, dearie, what will I get if I cook a dinner like that for you every day this year?"

Young Groom: "My life insurance."

GEORGE WASHINGTON AS TIMBER CRUISER

George Washington, one of the first great farmers of America, was also one of the first foresters. Judging from his writings, though he never said himself, the first president was also a competent timber cruiser.

He surveyed timberlands cut and sold timber and gave estimates on the values. After the manner of the present-day forest engineer, he calculated the cost of removal and transportation to market of certain stands of trees.

The timber cruiser in the 19th century was constantly traveling here and there through the woods, guided by his compass, hence the title "cruiser." The estimates he gave his employees were often reached in a haphazard way. Washington's methods in the 18th century were probably as good as those in the 19th century for Washington used scientific surveying methods as well as native good judgment of the pioneer.

Of a tract in Hampshire County, near Paw Paw, Va., he writes in section "e" of his will:

"This tract though small is extra valuable. It lies on the Potomac River, about twelve miles from the town of Bath (or Warm Springs) and is in the shape of a horseshoe the river running almost around it. Two hundred acres of it is rich low land, with the greatest abundance of the largest and finest walnut trees, which with the production of the soil might (by means of improved navigation of the Potomoc) be brought to a shipping point with more ease and at smaller expense than that which is transported 30 miles by land."

Mrs. Gerthia Snow and daughter, Christine, have returned to their home in Parrish after a delightful visit to Mrs. Snow's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Odum, in West Clanton.

Miss Pauline Veazey from Isabella spent Friday night as the guest of Mrs. Willie Bean.

Little Frances and Billie Bean returned home Sunday, after spending a few days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wright, west of Jemison.

John Newell of Birmingham was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday of this week.

INDIAN GRAVE NEWS

Mrs. Gladys Herrod has returned from Demopolis where she has been visiting her son.

Mr. Carson Williams is spending this week with his parents in Billingsley.

The revival meeting is now going on at Indian Grave. Everybody come and we are sure you will receive a blessing. Rev. Luther Gaines of Brent is helping in the meeting and he is real good.

Rev. Gaines and Rev. Bentley, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gaines were dinner guests at Mrs. J. C. Traywick's Monday, August 3rd.

Miss Maggie Jones visited Mrs. Barney Green Sunday afternoon.

Anyway, Wifey Helped—Governor—(to recaptured convict)—"Out with it, man. How did you effect your escape?"

Distressed Convict—"Well, sir, me young wife sent me a file concealed in a cake, and I'm not sure now whether I ate the cake and sawed me way out with the file or ate the file and sawed me way out with the cake."—Dublin Opinion.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Watson and son, Donald, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hampton, and children, Jack and Bobby, have just returned from a two weeks visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baltzer and children, and Mr. R. V. Watson in Akron, Ohio. They visited many interesting places while there and on the way back stopped by to see Mammoth Cave. All report an enjoyable trip; making the trip without any car trouble at all.

Mr. J. B. Tiffin has purchased the new Crowson home in Reynolds Addition, Clanton, and is now living out there. We are glad to have such men as Mr. Tiffin as landowners in our town.

Misses Susye and Elizabeth Griffin are in Montgomery this week spending part of their vacation with relatives and friends. They expect to go to Atlanta and other parts of Georgia the latter part of the week.

FOX'S BARGAINS

POCKET KNIFE brass lined	15c
WATER BUCKET 12-quart heavy .... galvanized	30c
POCKET KNIFE Boy Scout	36c
COMPLETE LAMP Ready to light	49c
MILK COOLERS Each	50c
CLOTHES PINS 72 for	20c
MILK BOTTLE CAPS 1,000 for	48c
BOTTLE CAPS per dozen	2c
TEA SPOONS set of 6 for	15c
TABLE SPOONS 3 for	20c

W. W. FOX

A FEW FURNITURE BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK-END

Philco and Crosley Radios on easy payments.
Guaranteed Ranges .... $24.50 ($1.00 week)

Phonographs, low as .... $5.00 ($1.00 week)

Kitchen Cabinets .... $7.50 to $49.50 ($1.00 week)

Iron Beds ..... $2.50 to $6.50 (50c week)

6 x 9 Floor Coverings .... $2.95 (50c week)

One 3-piece Davinet Set ..... $34.50 ($1.00 week)

Red Cedar Chest, low as $9.95 ($1.00 week)

One 3-piece new Porch Set ..... $8.95 ($1.00 week)

Good new Oak Swings .. $2.95 (50c week)

TIFFIN - KLINNER FURNITURE CO.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic

West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered Druggist
THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

RED MITES

(By Prof. H. D. Munroe)

Many times during the summer we have poultry troubles that seem to be unanswerable. No worms, no coccidiosis—the birds don't eat well. We think of all the mysterious diseases we ever heard about and start treating the birds for everything. Many times it is not the birds we should work on.

A flock of poultry, living in a hen house infested with mites, will not do well. The poultry mite is a blood sucker. They work at night when the birds are on the roost. They are the bed bug of the chicken. Fight them continually all summer.

Painting the roost every two weeks with used crank-case oil will eliminate this source of trouble. Don't dilute this oil with kerosene. Put it on thick. There are many commercial preparations on the market that will do a good job and will not have to be used as often.

ISABELLA 4-H CLUB MEETS

There will be a meeting of the Isabella 4-H Club Thursday, August 6, at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Stapp will be at the Isabella school house August 10, at 7:30 p. m.. All members are urged to attend both these meetings.

Miss Callie Watts of the Watts Hat Shoppe, will leave this week on her buying trip. She will visit different markets and style centers to select new fall and winter merchandise.

69c SALE

These Fair Prices

For Saturday, Aug. 8th Only

DRUID LL

Sheeting 10 yds 69c

PRINTS 7 yds 69c

Chambray 8 yds 69c

Overalls 220 Blue Denim 69c

Mens Blue Work Shirts 69c

1 Lot Ladies Hats 69c

Ladies $1.50 Dresses 69c

Ladies Hose Full Fashion $1.00 value 69c

Lilly Thread 8 spools 69c

GUARANTEED RUN PROOF

Ladies $1 Bloomers 69c

1 Lot Children's Dresses 69c

Voile 3 yds 36-in 69c

3 yd 9-4 Sheeting 69c

Absorbo 3 BOXES 25c Value 69c

Boys Overalls 220 Denim 69c

TWO-TONE

Window Shades 3x7 69c

THE FAIR STORE

CLANTON, ALABAMA

IMPORTANT FACTS ON FARMING WERE TAUGHT

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3.—Many important facts about farming in Alabama were taught and demonstrated at the annual gathering of farm people in Auburn, July 27-31. Among them were:

1. That farmers of the state need to give more attention to their soils, and make and keep them rich with winter legumes, summer legumes, livestock, and betetr farming in general.

2. That livestock and other crops should be produced in conjunction with cotton for safer farming, lower costs, and better returns.

3. That adequate machinery is needed on each farm for efficiency of labor and low-cost production.

4. That cooperation amng farm peple is conducive to better business in buying and selling and also to better social life, as well as many other advantages.

More than one thousand people were in Auburn during the week. As a part of the program the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation and the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs held their annual meetings in Auburn, each lasting two days.

Practically every county in the state was represented. Men and women were present in about equal numbers. The county farm agents and the county home agents were present also.

Prof. L. N. Duncan, director of the extension service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, was general chairman of the program of the week.

MACEDONIA CEMETERY

All who are interested in the cemetery at Macedonia are asked to meet Saturday, August 8, with tools to clean off same.—Mrs. W. L. Nix.

SAYS BOARD RAISED PRICE 1930 COTTON

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3.—In the opinion of the largest unprejudiced cotton shippers of the country, farmers got $5.00 to $7.50 more per bale for their last crop of cotton than they would have received had there been no cooperative marketing association working through the American Cotton Coperative Association with the support of the Federal Farm Board, according to Chas. G. Alvord, field representative of the Federal Farm Board, addressing the tenth annual convention of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

Mr. Alvord made this statement after urging all farmers present to return to their homes and see that every farmer in the state is told of the plan of the Federal Farm Board to assist farmers through their cooperative marketing associations.

He declared that the board assisted cooperative marketing associations to efficiently finance and manage their associations and place them upon a business basis.

He told the farmers that the government can help them through organization but "unorganized it cannot be of assistancee."

Referring to the present deepression, Mr. Alvord advised the farmers to adjust themselves to a low price level for at least another year. He presented facts to show that the country had come out of the previous depressions within about thirty months.

NEW SALEM

All members of the social club are requested to be present on Thursday afternoon before the third Sunday. This is time to elect new officers for the coming year; also our 12th anniversary. Everyone is invited.—Mrs. L. B. Popwell.

The Boyhood of Famous Americans

By J. V. Fitzgerald

Henry Morgenthau

The English language was not easy for the ten-year-old boy who had just come to this country from southern Germany. He had his greatest difficulty pronouncing the dipthong "th". So he said over and over again, day in and out for weeks: "Theophilus Thistle, the great thistle sifter, sifted one sieve-full of unsifted thistles through the thick of his thumb," in order to overcome the handicap.

This method, together with hard and conscientious study, enabled him to gain a command of the language rapidly and to keep up with his class in the New York public schools. It was characteristic of Henry Morgenthau as a boy to do things thoroughly and leave nothing in his power undone that he might master his immediate task.

The trait helped him in gaining a fine education in the land of his adoption, to become a commanding figure in the real estate and financial worlds and to achieve a signal success as a diplomat when he was named as ambassador to Turkey.

He was born in Mannheim, Germany, in 1856. He little thought, when as a youngster he was thrilled at song festivals and exhibitions of gymnasts, that he would grow to man's estate and gain fame in a country across the sea. His father was a wealthy cigar manufacturer and the boy, Henry, was the ninth of eleven living children.

He was a good student as a lad in Germany, helped in his studies by a cultured mother and father. He knew the works of Schiller and Goethe as a little fellow. But perhaps his greatest achievement in the place of his birth, in his own opinion at the time, was when he successfully passed the swimming test tried by youngsters of athletic tendencies. He breasted the Rhine current for half an hour in qualifying for the coveted title of "Rhine Swimmer."

Not long after this the elder Morgenthau's prosperous business met with reverses through an American tariff law. The family came to this country. The Morgenthaus arrived in 1866, after an eleven-day trip. They took up their residence in Brooklyn. A few months later they moved to Manhattan.

The young newcomer to America soon grasped the intricacies of the language of his adopted country, thanks to his perseverence and his novel methods. He had a natural aptitude for arithmetic and by strict application to his studies he was able to reach the highest class in his school in short order. Then he qualified for admission to the City college, standing well up among 300 successful candidates in the group of 900 applicants.

He got his first job as an errand boy in a law office during the vacation months. The pay was $4 a week. Part of his duties consisted of copying and serving papers. He joined a good library, took special courses in debating and elocution, devoted much time to grammar and composition and read widely of good literature.

He didn't finish his course at City college. His father had met with further financial reverses in this country and young Henry had to put his shoulder to the wheel, helping the family as much as he could financially. His father wanted him to enter a civil engineer's office and study that profession, but the fifteen-year-old boy was convinced that he lacked proper foundation in mathematics to make a go of it.

So he became an office boy, agreeing to help with the books, in an insurance office in 1871. Here he drew a weekly wage of $6. After a few months he went to work in a wholesale house at $10 a week. The next year saw him back in a law office.

By this time his mind was made up to become a lawyer. He systematized his life so as to get in a maximum amount of work and still have time for study and exercise. His recreation consisted of walking and reading.

He was up every morning at six o'clock and took a walk, or exercised at home. Then he rode on a horse car to reach his work. The journey to downtown New York from his home was a slow one. The lad devoted the time to the reading of good books.

He kept accounts of his expenses in those days. A typical entry was: "Car fare, 10 cents; dinner, 15 cents; sundries, 2 cents."

He was nineteen years old when he entered the Columbia university law school in 1875. He got a job teaching night school at $15 a week. He spent all the time he could spare in libraries. He attended as many lectures as he could and listened to the famous preachers of the day. He made notes on what he heard. He was a wide reader of the newspapers.

He was admitted to the bar in 1877. Later he became interested in real estate and did much to develop New York into the metropolis it is today. He has given liberally of his wealth to social service and other philanthropies.

©, by The North American Newspaper Alliance.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Powell of Decatur are here visiting friends and relatives.

A REAL SINGING

There will be an all day singing at the Weogufka Methodist Church, Weogufka, Alabama, Sunday, August 9, 1931.

We certainly wish to invite all singers and quartetts of Chilton County to be with us.

Bring your new book and come to Weogufka the second Sunday. Come by Lock 12, it is only ten miles from there to the big singing.—Grady Jones.

DR. WOOD IN B'HAM HOSPITAL

Dr. S. C. Wood is expected home to resume his practice within the next week, from the Highland Avenue Baptist Hospital, where he underwent an operation on July 24. Dr. Marcus and Dr. McNeil are taking care of his practice during his absence.

Locals

Miss Myrtle Rowe of Enterprise, Alabama is the guest of Miss Mary Goodwyn Jones.

Misses Nell and Janett Sumner have returned after a visit to points in Florida.

Clarence Evans of Corinth, Miss., spent the week end here with his mother, Mrs. J. E. Evans.

Mrs. J. T. McMurray is visiting relatives in Birmingham this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammack of Mumford, Ala., are spending their vacation here with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds.

Chas. Moore who is taking a summer course at the University of Alabama spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Watts Moore.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade is spending this week in Wetumpka.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Inzer, accompanied by Misses Elizabeth McSwain and Pauline Plyler spent Sunday in Leeds, Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Mullins of Eufaula were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Reese Mullins.

Mrs. John Mullins is spending this week in Huntsville with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott.

Mrs. Willard Norton left Sunday for her home in Attalla after a fortnight spent with Mrs. E. W. Danforth.

Reedy Taylor, Mrs. Calistta Williams, and Miss Kate Aldridge left Sunday for St. Louis markets, where Mr. Taylor will purchase his fall stock, including ladies' ready to wear, millinery, etc.

Mrs. Grady Heflin and children are spending this week in Moulton, Alabama.

Mrs. Amzi Gowan and daughters, Mildred and Sarah Frances, left the early part of this week for their home in Brewton, Alabama.

Slow Freight—Old Lady—"Where did those large rocks come from?"

Tired Guide — "The glaciers brought them down."

"But where are the glaciers?"

"They've gone back after more rocks."—Stray Stories.

Precious Hooter—Customer—"Haven't you anything you could guarantee to awaken me early in the mornings?"

Assistant—"Yes, but I don't think his mother would like parting with him."

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Fairview school house, Saturday night, August 8. Proceeds will go for benefit of Pleasant Grove Church. Everybody is invited to come.—Melvin Devaughn.

AFTER WEAKENING SICKNESS

If you are run-down, or suffer from a weakened condition,—take Cardui, a medicine used by women for over fifty years. As your health improves, you will share the enthusiasm of thousands of others who have praised Cardui for the benefits they have felt after taking it.

"I had a spell of sickness which left me very run-down and weak," writes Mrs. D. L. Beckner, of Ellis-ton, Va. "I was not able to do my housework. I ached all over my body. My back and sides gave me a lot of trouble. A friend of mine told me to try Cardui. I took it for several months and I got strong and well."

Sold at all good drug stores. FM-18

CARDUI Helps Women

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at Farmers Hardware Co.

A Clear Skin is glorious..be happy, too, with NEW STRENGTH in the Blood

Surprise yourself and be the envy of others . . . look better . . . feel better! Blood is Life! Build more red cells in the Blood—thence will come Sturdy Health!!! Countless thousands know this to be a fact. Just take S.S.S. and prove it yourself. You, too, will enjoy your food . . . have firmer flesh . . . sleep sounder . . . your nerves will be calmer . . . your skin will clear up . . . you will possess a greater resistance to infection and disease! S.S.S. is the world's best blood medicine. It is composed of freshly gathered medicinal roots and herbs—a gift from Mother Nature. Successful for over 100 years. It works safely . . . surely . . . swiftly! Make a note of your condition today—then compare the difference six to eight weeks hence.

A clear skin comes from within

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again.

S.S.S. Purifies and Enriches the Blood

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Circuit Court In Equity:

Maudie Bullard, Complainant, vs. A. J. Bullard, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Omar L. Reynolds that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said A. J. Bullard to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 16th day of August, 1931, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 9th day of July, 1931.

W. D. SPIGENER, Register.

7-16-4t-ch.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Estate of W. F. Maddox, Deceased:

Letters of administration upon the estate of W. F. Maddox, deceased, having been granted on the 7th day of July, 1931, by the Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama, notice is hereby given, that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or same will be barred.

ALEX MADDOX, Administrator.

7-23-3t-ch.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

666

LIQUID OR TABLETS

Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.

666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS

Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

Collins Chapel Community

(Fifty Years Ago)

WARREN MARTIN

Fifty years ago Warren Martin lived near Salem Church. He reared a family of three boys and five girls. The first son was B. N. (Nute) who lived and died near what is now Collins Chapel. He reared a large family.

The second son was William, who yet lives on or near the old home place of Warren Martin, his father. He is well known and has a large family. Monroe, the last son of Warren Martin, moved to Jefferson County, and died there several years ago.

None of the daughters of Warren Martin are living now. The oldest was the wife of Walker Sorrell. One of them married Robert Hill, who died several years ago. Later she married Warren Maddox. Her third marriage was to A. P. (Dock) Bean, who died in Shelby County. Then she married the fourth time to Geo. Hill. She died in Jefferson County several years ago.

The last of Warren Martin's daughters was the wife of Joe Burnett. She has been dead for several years.

NUTE MARTIN

Nute Martin, who is mentioned above as the first son of Warren Martin, was married to Ellen Bean. They reared a large family of seven sons and three daughters. Both have been dead several years.

Robert (Bob), the oldest of the sons of Nute Martin, lives at Thorsby, and is well known. Flem, the second son, is now living with one of his daughters in Shelby County. Cary Martin lived and died at Thorsby. He was the father of Mrs. Marion S. Smith (Jewel Martin) who has been secretary in the office of the County Superintendent of Education of Chilton County for several years. Leonard Martin, who was once deputy sheriff of this county, now lives in Jefferson County. Luncy lives at Thorsby and Lonnie lives at Jemison.

BUNG BURNETT

Bung Burnett, son of Jim Burnett, married Malinda Bean. Several years ago he moved out on the county line of Chilton and Bibb. Both Mr. Burnett and his wife died there. They reared a family of four sons and four daughters.

The sons were Billie, Zed, Alonza, and Neelie. Billie, the oldest boy, will be remembered by many on account of his being blind. He lived to be about forty years old. Zed now lives in Bibb County. Alonza is now one of the members of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County. His home is at Stanton. Neelie lives near the county line in West Chilton.

Mattie, the oldest daughter, married Bird Cooper, and now lives in Shelby County. Mollie married Monroe Martin, and now lives in Shelby County. Nannie married a Mr. Green, and now lives in Bibb County. Ammer married Jim Green, and they live near the county line.

CHRISTIAN HARMONY SINGING

There will be an all day singing in the Christian Harmony books on the third Sunday in August at New Hope Church, better known as Smith School House, 9 miles east of Jemison. Everybody is invited to come, especially those who sing in the old books, or like to hear the good old songs sung. So come and be with us, and everybody ask the Lord to come and meet with us, and if we can get Him there in the person of the holy spirit, we will have a glorious day, such as we have not had in many years.—J. N. Scott.

The Experiment—A young man whose knowledge of cards was extremely visionary was roped in to complete a bridge four. After a few moments he committed his first mistake by playing a king on a trick already taken by his opponent's ace. "Good heavens," bellowed the young man's partner, stung to wrath by the dreadful sight. "A king doesn't usually beat an ace, you know."

"I know," stammered the wretched beginner, "but I thought I'd let it have a try."—The Outspan.

Consulting the Oracle—Gentleman (at the police station)—"Could I see the man who was arrested for robbing our house last night?"

Desk Sergeant—"This is very irregular. Why do you want to see him?"

Gentleman—"I don't mind telling you. I only want to ask him how he got in the house without awakening my wife."—Harvard Lampoon.

Stalking His Chow—Patient—"Is the doctor in?"

Attendant—"No, he stepped out for lunch."

Patient—"Will he be in after lunch."

Attendant—"Why, no, that's what he went out after."—Boston Transcript.

A stranger applied at the police station for a lodging, and when asked his name replied that it was Smith.

"Give me your real name," he was ordered.

"Well," said the applicant, "put me down as William Shakespeare."

"That's better," the officer told him. "You can't bluff me with that Smith stuff."—Tit-Bits.

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Ala., as Second Class Mail Matter, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

New Line of Defense—What with Germany's new vest-pocket cruiser, what we will need in the next war instead of admirals and all that sort of thing is a good pickpocket squad.—New York Post.

Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, tells women everywhere to spend all they can and not mind what their husbands say. The women will now ask Mr. Schwab: "But what are we going to use for money?'—The Hamilton (Ontario) Spectator.

The best way to get rid of the farm surplus is to make fat women fashionable again. The reason father doesn't eat so much wheat and corn products as usual is that mother doesn't prepare 'em any more on account of the calories.

One of our morose bachelor friends says he doesn't see how a married man expects to have any vacation when he takes his wife along.

Dictator Stalin says he is going to revise the rules of communism and pay different wages for different kinds of work. Under this rule, of course, he can raise his own salary.

Motoro manufacturers are said to be searching for new ways to increase their output. That's easy. Have Congress pass a law making automobile riding illegal.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

Reports from Europe are to the effect that an agreement among the nations for a program to help Germany out of her present financial plight has been retarded by the mixing of political considerations with financial necessities. For instance, we have been told in certain dispatches that France is only willing to help Germany under the condition that Germany dismantle the pocket battleship which she is building, renounce her trade agreement with Austria and give up all protests against the so-called Polish corridor. We have been told, on the other hand, that Germany will not accept these conditions, and would prefer to go into bankruptcy.

Of course, in critical times like these, it is a safe plan to follow the advice of the head of the Bank of England, given a few days ago, to the effect that it doesn't pay to believe all one hears. At the same time it is reassuring to learn through the State Department at Washington that the United States, while willing to help in the German crisis, will maintain its traditional policy and have nothing whatever to do with political bargaining in Europe. This is certainly a sane and constructive position to take, especially in view of the fact that the present crisis in Germany is financial and not political.

It is entirely true that the economic situation of the world will not improve until the German crisis has been solved. A collapse of Germany would set us back at least a year on the road to recovery, for as Germany goes, so will go several of the smaller nations of Central Europe. It would seem that in view of the seriousness of the crisis that political considerations should for the moment be forgotten, and the first step taken, be that of putting Germany's financial house in order. Political understandings and agreements might well come afterwards. Certainly it would not be for the financial benefit of France or any other nation of Europe, to have Germany collapse at this time.

The problem is of course mainly one for Europe. Germany must first do everything she can to put her finances in as good shape as possible, and then help must be forthcoming from the other nations. In providing this help, so long as it is free from political involvements, Uncle Sam will do his full share.

And it is to be remembered that in doing this Uncle Sam will be not only a good philanthropist, but a good business man as well. The American people have a big stake in Germany. The total American investments in Germany at this time are estimated to be more than two billion dollars, a part of which is represented by short term credits. The long term investment of American citizens in Germany amounts to nearly a billion and a half dollars. A part of this is represented by the ownership of German securieties, and a part by the investment of American business enterprises in the Reich. Then more than $175,000,000 of the total is invested in German government bonds floated under the so-called Dawes and Young plans. The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel well says:

"The United States has by far the largest stake of any country in Germany, with long-term investments (mostly made between 1924 and 1928) estimated at about one-third of all such investments in the Reich. Indeed, United States long-term investments in Germany today are greater than in any other country except Canada, which easily heads the list. In 1930, United States investors received about $429,000,000 from their long-term portfolio investments abroad; and of this sum, about $67,000,000 came from Germany. When it is considered that about one-half of one per cent of our entire national wealth is in long-term investments in Germany, it is clear that we have a direct monetary interest in preventing Germany's economic collapse."

No matter what we may think of the advisability or safety of European investments, these are the facts. It is not a theory which confronts us but a condition, and a serious one at that.

IMPORTED SHOES THAT SELL FOR 60 CENTS

Before Congress met last year we talked with a large shoe manufacturer who was opposed to a high tariff on shoes. It was his contention that such action might precipitate a high tariff on hides and in that event the shoe man would lose more than if he had to fight for local business against foreign importations.

Maybe that was sound reasoning, but in view of the tremendous influx of foreign-made footwear it would appear that the shoe industry needs not only high tariff protection but an embargo as well.

One Bata, nemesis of the shoe manufacturer in the low-price field, in a recent interview declared that his tremendous plants in Czechoslovakia would soon be turning out women's shoes to retail in this country at 60 cents a pair. That is a trade item for shoe manufacturers and shoe workers who oppose a high tariff to conjure with.

In the United States the labor cost alone of a typical pair of shoes is more than 60 cents.

Chain stores have for some time been selling boys' shoes around 60 cents a pair, that were imported from Bata's factories.—Indutsry and Labor.

What we would like to know is where those free traders who are making so much noise now, were back in the 1928 campaign.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

Not many weeks ago a salaried man in Montgomery drew his monthly check and carried the cash home with him. He had it in an envelope, and on entering the living room of his house, he placed the money in a pitcher that was sitting on the washstand. The good wife used the same pitcher for her discarded letters. The day after the money was placed in the pitcher, she decided to burn her letters, and the money was burned with them. The husband came in later in search of his month's salary, but it was too late. Not many people have money to burn, but lots of it is being burned. Sometimes through ignorance, but more often through carelessness and extravagence. The street lights in Clanton were burning last Sunday two hours after the sun was shining. Some one left the lights on in a Clanton church and they burned all night. It takes money to buy cigarattes, and yet many of them go with fire on one end and sucking lips on the other. Much money is burned uselessly on our public highways. We have no money to burn, but we are burning it. When we learn to put out the fire of extravagence we will then have money for necessities.

The next time you see a woman step before a mirror you keep your eyes open and see what you can see. You will observe that they never fail to start a vigorous fixing of themselves every time they see themselves in a glass. They find something wrong with their hair, something wrong with their clothes. When they see themselves as they are, they always want to fix themselves better. A woman is fascinated by a mirror, but a man is afraid of it. When a man sees himself in a mirror he wants to break the glass into a thousand pieces. I would that we could get men to see themselves as they are, and then, woman-like, go to work at once to fix themselves better than they are. Why is it that people do not go to church? One reason is because the gospel of Christ is a mirror, and they are not willing to stand before that mirror and see themselves as they are. How I wish that I could put a mirror before every heart in Chilton County and let you see yourself just as you are. Surely there would be much "fixing" taking place. When people see themselves as they are, they have a passion at once to fix themselves better.

Not many days ago I was in the fellowship of a man who had become apprehensive about his hearing. He was sure that he was losing his hearing, and he was doubly anxious. He went to specialists, he consulted all the expert skill that he could learn about. He was alarmed over the coming of deafness. My deepest sympathy goes out to anyone who is losing his hearing powers. I am equally alarmed over the coming of moral deafness among the people of Chilton County. Alas, for the man who puts a silencer on his conscience. Alas for the man who is not alarmed when he feels himself less conscious of the appeals of duty. It is tragic for men to lose their moral hearing. Men can get along without the senses of seeing, smelling, hearing, feeling, tasting, but when he loses his sense of right and wrong, his soul life must die. It is more tragic to be morally deaf than it is to be physically deaf.

Most any little thing will disturb public worship. The other night a leather winged bat found its way into the auditorium of the church, and there was no holding of the attention as long as that bat insisted on trying out its wing stunts in the room. I was preaching one day when a little dog came into the stand and turned facing the audience. He would glance at me, then open his mouth wide and bark. He evidently thought that he was preaching, whether he was or not. Anyway, he soon had the full attention. A friend of mine was preaching to five hundred people under a big camp ground shelter. A support came down over the stand, and while the preacher was at his best a green lizard came sliding down that support, and stopped within a foot of the preachers' bald head. The lizzard would swing out upon his legs and show his money, and threaten to leap to the doddling head of the preacher. The great crowd got to looking at the threatening lizzard, and ten minutes of the preacher's sermon was lost. Finally an old saint got up and said to the preacher: "Parson, let me run that lizzard back up that scantling."

I am sorry for anyone who stutters, but somehow they turn my tickle box completely up side down. This past week I saw a boy who stuttered hopelessly when he was excited. One day his mother discovered that her boy could sing anything without stuttering. It was told me that the boy discovered that the kitchen was on fire, he ran into the room where his mother was and tried to tell her of his discovery. His tongue rolled up and he had a terrible mouthful, but nothing would come out. The mother put her hands on his shoulder and said: "Son, sing it." The boy's tongue unrolled and his mouth flew open and he sang: "I wanted to tell you that the house is on fire." I knew a man who would stutter when he was talking to his friends, but when the preacher called on that man to lead in prayer, his tongue was loose and his language flowed like a pure stream. I am wondering if someone who reads this would not stutter hopelessly if you had to talk to God.

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

Yes, Sir, we have been getting along pretty well for the past week. Been pretty hot, but it takes some of the hot and the cold both to make up the weather, and when we sum up we find that we have a pretty well balanced weather menu. Most of us though are never satisfied with the weather as is. We either want it hot in the winter or cool in the summer. Quit your grumbling and forget about weather conditions and enjoy life as it comes and you will find the world much more rosy than you now think.

There has been nothing much to happen in and around Clanton for the past week. So we will maybe drift away from local topics before we have finished this little dissertation. But if we do, we sincerely hope to talk about something that will interest our readers, as much and possibly more, than would some local subject.

It is with considerable interest that The Sweeper learns of the plans now being formulated by the County Board of Education to complete the class room division of the Isabella High School building. This will enable the entire school work to be carried on in the new building, whereas for the past two sessions one or more classes have been forced to use the old building under considerable handicap. The patrons of Isabella school are to be congratulated on getting their building completed. It is indeed unfortunate, however, that it will not be possible for them to build the auditorium at this time. Isabella school has some fine talent and some very fine school plays together with other school functions are put on at different times, which would be far more impressive if the proper facilities as provided by a good auditorium were available.

The first of this month marked the closing of the office of our county attendance officer and child welfare worker, temporarily at least. It is indeed regrettable that such action has been taken by our Commissioner's Court that necessitates the closing down of this important phase of our county school work. We feel that the Court did not weigh as carefully as they should have, the value of the work being done by this office, before they voted to stop the county's share of the salary of the worker. We are of the opinion that had they done so, the salary cut would not have been made and the work of the office would not have been stopped, even temporaritly. The Sweeper certainly hopes that some plan may be worked out by the County Board of Education and the State Department whereby this work may be resumed at an early date.

In the passing of Rev. Ruddick, esteemed citizen of Stanton, last week, that community and Chilton County lost one of its spiritual bulwarks. The Sweeper has known Rev. Rudidck for a number of years and we knew him to be a minister of sterling faith and one who could ever be found at the battle front of life, doing what he could to make this world just a little better for his having lived herein. We offer sincere sympathy to the bereaved members of his family. Truly a good man has gone from among us.

Watermelons and peaches are plentiful and cheap—hence The Sweeper is enjoying them in plenty just now. With such a fine crop of these delicacies, it is to be regretted that prices are so low that it is not profitable to the farmers of this section to make an effort to put these fruits on the nearby city markets. Had prices for these crops been anyway near normal, Chilton County farmers would have realized a neat sum from their sale. This coupled with the return from our strawberry crop would have gone a long way toward bridging the huge gap that will result from a large cotton crop and a low price on that commodity. It looks like the poor farmer just can't hit it right at all. If farm products are high, he has none to sell—if he has them to sell they are low. There is something wrong with our marketing system somewhere. Our farmers should make a more comprehensive study of these things and then prepare himself to meet any such exigencies as may arise.

Farmers should cooperate and find the best markets for their produce and sell in that market. Oftentimes different sections and cities, although located so close that they are neighbors, may provide a wide difference in prices for farm produce. We have in mind a certain community which at present is paying 30 cents per dozen for eggs at retail—the producer receiving 22 cents for them, as against a price of 12 1-2 to 15 cents being paid the producer in our local market. We have no criticism to offer for the man who buys our produce as they of necessity must buy as cheaply as they can, but our argument is intended for the farmer. He should get every penny for his produce possible and to do this he must investigate the markets and then sell accordingly.

Racial Differences—Human races vary greatly in their susceptibility to disease. For example, scarlet fever mortality among the Japanese is 45 times greater, per 100,000 population, than among the Chinese.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of August 2, 1906

All the candidates were at the barbecue at Pilgrims Rest last Tuesday.

Friday evening the south-bound accomodation ran into the rear end of a freight here and demolished two cars; hurting the fireman on the passenger train.

Ad Wimbs, negro of Hale County, has announced himself as candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the Republican ticket.

Rollifee Bates has announced for Sheriff of Chilton County.

Bill Sartor has lost his bird dog.

Cotton is selling today in Clanton at 10c a pound.

Married this week: Jim Armstrong and Miss Ora Jackson, T. M. Strickland and Mrs. B. S. Russell.

T. B. Teel is now running a well boring and drilling machine.

GERMAN "RETALIATION"

In his interesting letters from Berlin describing conditions in Germany, Frederick Kuh punctures the theory that American foreign sales have fallen because of the American protective tariff. The decline in American exports, it may be said, has not been greater in proportion than the decline in exports of all other nations, this being partly due to a decreased consuming capacity throughout the world, and partly to a heavy decline in commodity prices.

Mr. Kuh says that Germany is actively engaged in building up her export trade, in her effort to pay reparations and maintain employment for her own people. Whereas two years ago Germany was exporting fifteen million dollars worth of goods to America, and importing from 30 to 35 million dollars worth of American goods, she is now exporting eleven and a half million dollars worth of goods to America, and importing about the same amount from this country.

In other words Germany, like every other country in a period of unemployment, is trying to buy less and sell more. This is a situation that has not been created nor greatly affected by our tariff. The drop in our exports would clearly have occurred regardless of whether we raised or lowered our tariff. By increasing our tariff we have, however, been able to keep more workers busy in the United States than would otherwise be possible. We are still buying abroad hundreds of millions of dollars worth of commodities we could produce at home, at a time when we have idle men and materials capable of producing them.

The Florida legislature refuses to pass a quick divorce bill. Having found through its land boom that too much hurrying often results in a headache, Florida is going to take things deliberately in the future.

Hard Work and Thrift—After all maybe the best way to coax prosperity back is to make ourselves prosperous by hard work and thrift.—W. G. Sibley in Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Sceientific tests are to be made to determine whether the American continent is moving toward or away from Europe. Statesmen have been trying to discover something of the kind for quite a spell.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

A Wisconsin woman eloped with two men the same day, but it seems one of them escaped.—Dayton Daily News.

A naturalist says that bees are stone deaf. Well they may be deaf but they certainly have sharp tongues, or something.

Just think of it. In a little over two months the world series will be on and everybody will be getting ready for the 1932 campaign. What a life.

Our internationalists are never going really to enjoy the Fourth of July until we spend the day apologizing to Europe for what we did back in 1776.

If the D. A. R. and Fred Libby's pacifists ever get into a real scrap we are going to put our money on the Daughters to win in less than one round.

There are two ways an ant can make a lazy man hustle. One is by example and the other is by crawling up his pants-leg.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

I am a blotter—A blotter is a very useful article. It generally picks up a copy of nearly everything that is written around where it stays, but it always happens to to be upside down. It doesn't say anything about the confidential things it knows, and is not supposed to. If anyone should happen to thy to find out by looking over the surface, he wouldn't get very far; he'd run into such a tangle, he wouldn't be able to get anything out of it at all. After all, a blotter just gets next to all that's said (or written) takes up all it can, and says nothing about it. That'll do for a beginner, and leads up to my next squib in a nice way.

Two Eyes, Two Ears, One Tongue—When man was created, a wonderful job was made of it. Everything was fixed just right. True, alterations have been made from time to time—some good and some not so good—but, just the same, the model was laid out right. Now, notice—Dame nature gave you two eyes, two ears, but only one tongue, and that tongue she tied on one end and placed behind a fence of teeth. Isn't that a bit significant? Seems like the good Dame meant for us to see and hear all we can, but have little to say.

Orders—A man went into a store not long ago and priced an article; when told the price he started out to see if he couldn't get a cut price on it, but the clerk wouldn't budge an inch. "If you can get the goods cheaper somewhere else, I would do it," he said, "but orders are orders, just like they always were, and I'll have to sell at the market price." When the man was gone, the proprietor, who had been listening in on the conversation, said: "Old fellow, all you told that fellow was right, except the orders part. Orders are orders, all right, but not like they always were. Nope, they're much smaller, now," and he walked away, leaving the clerk searching his noggin and trying to figure it all out.

"Hogs Is Hogs"—I read a book one time, the title of which was "Pigs Is Pigs." And Andy (of Amos 'n Andy fame) says "ten is ten—anybody knows dat." Now, I want to find out if you will agree with me again. Anybody who has ever driven an automobile knows that a cow thinks the proper thing to do when a car approaches is to turn her head just so her jaw will hang over where the fender is supposed to go; a chicken is always on the wrong side of the road, no matter which side that is; guineas and geese never can decide just which side is right, so they get all messed up and get on both sides AND middle. And I have just read in some paper another article which I believe is right. It says (in referring to auto drivers) that in America we drive on the right side of the road—in Europe they drive on the left side—and hogs take the middle. Come to think of it, that's just where a hog walks when he's in the road—right in the middle. How about that? And, by the way, the next time you meet somebody on the highway (or any other road) he'll be easy for you to classify. If he's on the right side he's an American—if he's on the left he hails from somewhere across the pond. But if he's in the middle and has little enough sense to hold it, HE'S a hog.

Hold Everything—Comes another good picture the title of which is "Hold Everything." And that makes me think again. For the last year or so that's been about all we could do. From time to time we have been directed to "hold"—hold your cotton for a better price; hold your horses, lest they run away; hold your spare cash, because there is a panic on; hold your pants, if your belt or suspenders are busted; and now comes the latest "hold" order—hold your breath, if you've had a little snort—you never know who you're talking to: and if you have an extra snort, don't hold that. Not long, any way.—The Man in the Moon.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

"Tell 'em my business is growing by leaps and bounds," said Daddy Fox as he reclined in his easy chair in front of his store Tuesday afternoon. I thought it was a joke, and when I began to smile, he said "I mean it, for it is a fact; my business has been getting better every day for the past month." Mr. Fox recently opened up a variety store in the building formerly occupied by the Nehi Bottling Company. He had a lot of odd sets and pieces of furniture which he has about closed out. He intends in the future to devote his entire attention to selling small household articles and light hardware items. Frank Massey is his salesman.

Fred Howard, of Thorsby, was here one day last week. He has been advertising fruit trees, advising people to grow fruit and get away from cotton. "Just as I began to advise people to grow more fruit and quit cotton," said Mr. Howard, "the country got so full of peaches we can't give them away." I have a notion that Mr. Howard's advice is good, anyhow, if he could get the farmers to carry it out in the right way. I know that there are good markets somewhere for the fine peaches that are grown here. As has been mentioned before, if our farmers had a uniform variety that would ripen all at the same time, they could ship them in car load lots, and I believe they would find it profitable.

Sam Ezell and family will return this week from a month's vacation spent at their old home in South Carolina. Brother Ezell said when he left here he anticipated having his tonsils removed while over there. Several have asked me if he had undergone the operation. So far as I know he has not. He has not mentioned tonsils in any of his letters. I think he has been so busy eating chicken he has not even thought of his tonsils. Yes, I believe he did mention it in one letter, saying they got well before he got to his doctor.

Dr. Samuel E. Johnson, of the United States Navy, has made his return to Clanton. I have not had a chance to talk to him yet. I have heard that he was retiring from the Navy and would make his future home here. I know this will be his home in the future, whether he stays here or goes somewhere else. As soon as I get a chance to talk with him, I will find out his plans, and tell you about it. Sam has many warm friends around here. Everybody likes him, and we all would be glad to know that he has got enough of rambling over the world, and has decided to be one of us again.

There is some talk of paving one or more of the residence streets in Clanton. We need much of this work, but the question that sticks out the biggest is how are we to pay for it now, with money so devilish hard to get hold of? Clanton needs some or all of its residence streets paved. The dirt is washing away, and it looks like some of our streets will soon be nothing more than big gullys. The matter under consideration is for asphalt and lime rock composition paving, instead of concrete. That is much cheaper, and for streets of light traffic, will serve just as well.

Speaking of money to pay for street paving and other things which require a medium of exchange, somebody suggests that we use watermelons for money. Well, there are, at least, plenty of melons. If money were as common and plentiful as watermelons, I don't know whether there would be much fun in having it or not. This reminds me of the story Pappy Bates used to tell how folks a long time ago in Coosa County used pumpkins for money. Did you ever hear him tell it?

Fenn Jones has exhibited a degree of interest in a couple or three azalea plants in the yard of his home. Rather uncommon, you say, for Mr. Jones to be interested in such things. Not uncommon at all, I think. Azaleas are pretty when they bloom, and Mr. Jones is a man of good taste. Here is what confounded me utterly. Somebody told me the other day that Mr. Jones was seen playing golf.

Clanton now has a white house. The upper portion of the new jail has been painted snow white. It is a good looking building, looking at it from the outside. Appearance would indicate that the building itself is about finished. The next step will be the installation of the steel caging or cells inside. As is the modern custom, it would seem that when it has been finished, the county jail will be about the best looking and most comfortable building in the city.

Baptists of Chilton and adjoining counties to the west of us will sadly miss Rev. W. J. Ruddick, who died last week. For a generation, Mr. Ruddick has been one of the cornerstones of the Baptist denomination and religious work in Unity Association and contiguous territory. He was a man of strong personality and intense religious convictions. He carried to the grave with him the Bible of his mother, which, he said, was the light that led him to the Christian life. His was a life of usefulness to his community. He gave much to his fellowman, and thereby has found a rich heritage in heaven.

At last we are able to enjoy the value and pleasure of a good road east and west through Central Alabama. Trips like this are easily made now: Attorney Grady Reynolds had some business to attend to in Alexander City Tuesday. He left here at eleven o'clock in the morning, and was back here by two-thirty in the afternoon. He went by way of the new ferry below Mitchell Dam. Travelers on the upper route from Clanton to Sylacauga, by way of Mims Ferry below Lay Dam, report that the road is good. It is easy to get to places in West Alabama, by the Selma Highway.

HILL'S
SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK-END
Friday & Saturday

Flour Split Silk 24-lb 55c
Per Barrel $3.95
Guaranteed to Please or Money Back

Soap O.K. 5 1-lb bars 23c

White Meat best quality lb 10c

LARD Pure Hog 8-lb 80c
Bring Your Pail

Flour Grandma's Wonder 24-lb 75c

Mayonnaise 8-oz Jar 15c

— FRUIT JARS —
pints doz 65c quarts doz 78c ½ gal doz $1.05

VINEGAR gal. 25c
BRING YOUR JUG

Shorts 100-lb $1.30

Chicken Feed 100-lb bag $1.90

Corn Flakes Two Boxes 15c

MILK All Brands 2 Large cans 15c

Tobacco Prince Albert 2 cans for 25c

Cigarettes All Brands pkg 16c

Snuff Bruton's 20c boxes 3 for 45c

BRING US YOUR CHICKENS
We Pay the HIGHEST CASH PRICES

Hill Grocery Co.
CLANTON, ALABAMA

PLANS TO BEAT UNEMPLOYMENT

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

SOME look upon unemployment as a social or political problem. For them the remedy is compulsory accumulation of reserve funds on the insurance principle through contributions from the government, the employers, the employees or all three. That will not meet the present emergency, since these reserve funds have not been built up and it would take years to do so. At best this plan could only become effective at some indefinite time in the future as against the return of another catastrophe of general unemployment. Others look upon unemployment as purely an economic problem, holding that the only fundamental preventive is in business stability.

R. C. STEPHENSON

It may well be asked whether either of these cures—namely, the creation of unemployment insurance funds on the one hand or the maintenance of everlasting business stability on the other—do not present in themselves bigger problems than the problems they seek to cure. However I am inclined to the belief that the more practical approach to the solution of such problems and the prevention of such situations as general unemployment presents is along the latter lines of economic foresight rather than along lines of social legislation.

National Foresight

Economic foresight is conceivable not only for the individual but for business as a whole. Millions of individuals and virtually all lines of industry failed to practice it during the last stages of the recent prosperity.

The public welfare of the United States demands that industry as a whole vigorously and sincerely devote itself to the development of plans of economic foresight, aimed to prevent repetitions of the present unemployment situation. The general outlines for such plans are clearly definable. They demand that industry adopt a long range viewpoint and lay out its production and distribution plans with the thought that it is far better to have a long period of good sound business activity than a short period of frantically over-competitive endeavor. This would tend to lessen over-production in various lines, to prevent over-expansion of plant capacity, to avoid over-stimulation of public buying and above all to avoid periods of slumps and stagnation following periods of over-stimulation with their disasters of unemployment.

For business, too, there is a part in such a conception of economic foresight. It should aim to cooperate with industry in its endeavor to avoid reckless over-production, over-stocking and over-selling the public.

In this picture of national economic prudence, banking and finance, too, have their place. Their effort should be to influence the use of credit and other financial facilities into channels of sound public economy consistent with the attitude I have already sketched for industry and trade. All finance, whether current commercial banking or industrial investment banking, should seek by their influence in granting or witholding credit to stimulate and build up a balanced economic situation.

The Individual Must Help

Finally, the individual too has a place in any such plan of a sounder economic future for the United States. It is the duty of the individual to make every effort to take care of himself and provide for himself. Neither government nor industry can do that for him. They can give him the opportunity to succeed but they can't succeed for him. He must out of his own initiative and effort earn and create his own means and defenses against the requirements and contingencies of life.

Individual determination to provide against sickness, accident and death by insurance before indulgences in extra comforts and luxuries are given place in the family budget, and individual responsibility to guard against the contingency of unemployment by means of a sound program of thrift and savings are to my mind the true foundation of economic stability for the United States as a whole.

John L. Davis, the famous Mergenthaler representative for this section, was in Clanton Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Davis has such a large territory now that it takes him about two months to make his round.

Birmingham Girl Slain By Negro

Two Others Abducted By Bandit Are Shot When They Resist Advances

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 4.—A prominent Birmingham society girl was fatally shot and two other girls, both also popular in society, were wounded tonight when they were fired on by a negro highwayman who had held them captive for more than four hours in a wooded section near the exclusive Mountain Brook residential section.

The dead girl is Miss Augusta Williams. The wounded are Miss Nell Williams, sister of the dead girl, shot in the right arm, and Miss Jennie Wood, shot in the spine and condition reported serious.

Miss Nell Williams, who escaped after being shot in the arm, made her way to a nearby residence and sounded the alarm. Two carloads of deputies sheriff and other officers immediately began a hunt for the girls' assailant.

Miss Augusta Williams died in a local hospital within a short time after her arrival. Her father, Clark Williams, a prominent Birmingham attorney, had arrived at the hospital only a few minutes before her death.

Miss Nell Williams told police that she and her sister and Miss Wood were driving along the Leeds Highway when a negro, armed with a pistol, jumped on the running board of their car and ordered them to turn down a lane off the highway.

After going about 100 yards from the highway, Miss Williams said the negro ordered them to stop the car.

She said the negro took a little money they had but refused to let them go.

After some time, she said the negro started to get "fresh" with them and told them "the white race made our race what it is today."

At this point, Miss Williams said she jumped on the negro and attempted to get away.

"He opened fire," Miss Williams said, "and shot me in the arm. He also shot Augusta and Jennie.

"I broke away, ran to the car, and drove away as fast as I could, for help. Finally I reached a house and ran inside to call for help.

"The woman at whose house I stopped, called police and an ambulance." With the alarm sounded, Mountain Brook police officers and deputies sheriff rushed to the scene.

Miss Wood was a debutante of two years ago. Both Miss Wood and Miss Nell Williams attended Birmingham-Southern College. Miss Augusta Williams, until six months ago, had been employed at the Birmingham Public Library.

Officers said they found a girl's pink hat and a shoe at the scene of the shooting, apparently lost by one of the girls during the struggle with the negro.

The shooting created a sensation throughout the Birmingham district and shortly after 11 p. m., the entire Shades Valley section was crowded with citizens on foot and in automobiles, looking for the negro.

TESTIMONY TAKEN IN BOMBING TRIAL

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 4.—Testimony of Burge Gilpin describing the bombing of the Pure Milk Company plant here the night of July 10 was followed by announcement of defense counsel today that R. A. Bridges would take the stand in his own defense in his trial on charges of murder growing out of the bombing.

Bridges, Gilpin, Eldridge, McCord, Mrs. Mabel Cline and Mrs. Mildred Chambers, all of near Huffman, Ala., were indicted on murder counts in connection with the deaths of two persons killed in the blast.

Gilpin, testifying for the State against Bridges, first of the group to be brought to trial, told how the bomb was constructed. He said Bridges tied the package, containing 25 sticks of dynamite and a brick, while he held it, and after they had driven to the plant that he attempted to dissuade Bridges from bombing it.

Gilpin said Bridges wrested the wheel from his grasp and swerved the automobile toward the curb. After lighting the fuse, he said, Bridges leaped from the car, and hurled the missle through the window of the plant. He said they then drove to a hospital to visit a patient as a precaution in the event an alibi was needed.

Several days later the witness testified Bridges warned him "that things were getting hot" and that they "had better keep separated."

McBRIDE SAYS PARTIES MUST TAKE DRY STAND

Washington, Aug. 4.—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said today that "half measures or attempts to straddle on prohibition will be suicidal on the part of the political party that attempts it."

"In the 1932 campaign," he said in a statement, "neither political party can afford to be neutral on this question either in its platform or in its candidates.

"While the plank sought in party platforms by the dry group will be one committing the party to enforcement of law, the attitude of the standard bearer of each party must be unequivocal on the prohibition question. The attitude of the candidate more than any other fact will determine the party's attitude.

RECORD POTATO YIELD IN BALDWIN REPORTED

The record yield for Baldwin County so far as can be ascertained was recorded in Loxley last week when Mr. H. T. Childress brought his crop to the Lacey & Lovell shipping platform.

The average yield reported was 182 7-12 sacks of 100 pounds each per acre. This figures 304 bushels per acre. The previous high yield record was reported from Robertsdale last year with 243 bushels per acre.

Mr. Childress stated that he purchased uncertified seed from the Silverhill Farmers' Association of Robertsdale and used Armour's 10-4-7 fertilizer.—Baldwin News.

Clarence Parrish, wife and children returned to their home in Birmingham Tuesday, after spending a few days with relatives and friends in Chilton County.

PROVIDENCE MEETING

The protracted meeting at Providence in Beat 16 will begin Saturday of this week and will continue on to the middle or latter part of next week. Rev. J. D. Hughes, the pastor, will do the preaching. The public has a cordial invitation to attend.

A meeting of farmers, bankers, and newspaper men of St. Croix County, Wisconsin, recently organized a drive to promote the growing of alfalfa in such quantity as to save the dairyman the expense of commercial feed, and insure greater dairy profits. It is planned in this campaign to have, within the next three years, at least one acre of alfalfa produced for each dairy cow in the county, or a total of about 40,000 acres.

Summer Problem—Those who worry about our physical well-being are always troubled about which is the more cooling, a hot drink or a cold one.

The jail house crew has not been working for the past two weeks, on account of lack of material. They expect the fence and cells to be here in a few days. The crushed marble is here for the floor as soon as the cells and steel work are placed inside.

48 Bills Die As Gov. Miller's Office Closes

Birmingham Commission, Fish Conservation, and Oyster Measures Killed

Gov. Miller sounded the death knell for 48 measures enacted by the last Legislature when he closed his office Tuesday afternoon without affixing his signature to them and including among them were a number of important measures such as the game and fish conservation bills, the Birmingham and Christopher bill which would have guaranteed to each county in the State $5,000 a year out of the educational equalization fund.

While Gov. Miller killed by pocket vetoes eight or ten important measures, the great majority of measures dying without his signature were made up of private relief bills.

Tuesday was the last day the Governor had to affix his signature to bills remaining on his desk after the adjournment of the Legislature. Under the Constitution, he had until midnight to sign measures but he closed the books at 5 o'clock and called it a day, thus ringing down the curtain on the last legislative session insofar as measures becoming laws are concerned.

Oyster Measure Dies

A statewide measure creating a board to regulate the practice of engineering in Alabama and creating a State board to carry out the provisions of the act died when the Governor failed to affix his signature. The oyster commission bill by Senator Craft of Mobile died without a signature. This measure would have set up an oyster commission, the members to be named by the State Conservation Commission.

When the Governor failed to sign the Birmingham City Commission bill, he closed a file which contained several hundred telegrams and letters, some asking that he sign the measure and some opposed to it. The purpose of the bill was to extend the terms of two members of the City Commission and it was termed in the House of Representatives during debate "a bill to extend the term of Horace Wilkinson." Mr. Wilkinson is an assistant city attorney of Birmingham, managed the Locke-Heflin campaign and is assisting Senator Heflin in his contest of the election of Senator John H. Bankhead.

Only one bill was signed among the 49 that lay on Gov. Miller's desk late today, the Green measure creating a Board of Plumbing Examiners to regulate the practice and licensing of master and journeymen plumbers in Jefferson County.

The vetoed bills included 26 Senate measures and 22 from the House, the majority of them minor relief bills.

H. B. Foster, J. H. Gentle and son, Crawford, of Haleyville stopped over in Clanton to see Tom Ogletree last Friday on their return home from Montgomery.

MR. CAR OWNER, DO YOU WANT TO SAVE $5.50

On the upkeep of your Car or Truck?
Come in and let us show you how you can save $5.50 of the money you have been spending on the Lubrication of your car.

WE INVITE YOU TO COME IN

And inspect the modern Lubrication Equipment we have just installed.

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.

SALES CHEVROLET SERVICE

THE GREAT AMERICAN VALUE
Clanton, Ala.

WE OVERHAUL All makes of Trucks and Cars---At Moderate Prices

WEST END GARAGE

West End PHONE 130 Clanton, Ala.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

1,371 BAGS OF FEEDS SUSPENDED FROM SALE

During the past 90 days the chemistry division of the Alabama Department of Agriculture has suspended from sale 1,371 bags of feeds because they failed to come up to the standard claimed by the manufacturers.

"Samples of all mixed feeds sold in Alabama are tested in the state laboratory, Montgomery. This is done to insure to the consumer feeds containing the feed constituent advertised by the manufacturer and to protect the consumer from the use of inferior or injurious feeds," writes Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of Agriculture.

"With the condemnation of unstandard feeds, together with prosecutions for violations of the law the standard and grade mixed feed in the state are kept on a high basis," he said.

REFORESTATION ADVANCED

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 3.—Approximately six million acres have become reforested in Alabama during the past eight years, according to data assembled by the State Commission of Forestry. All together there are about twenty-two and one-half million acres of actual and potential forest land in the state, some of which was in process of irregular and partial reforestation prior to the state's active promotion of forestry through a specialized forestry department, points out Colonel Page S. Bunker, State Forester. The six million acres referred to, however, comprise lands on which practically no forest reproduction had occurred.

Reforestation in Alabama is accomplished chiefly through the active efforts of the landowners themselves in cooperation with the State Commission of Forestry and the U. S. Forest Service. Planting is rarely resorted to, sincee natural reproduction of desirable species will usually ensue if the lands are given a reasonable degree of care and attention. Naturally, the trees on the six million acres of reforested land are still small, ranging from one year old seedlings up to small saplings from three to ten feet high, depending upon the species and the site quality. After the land is once restocked with the right kind of forest growth, there are a great many things to be done in order to make certain of a maximum and profitable yield. As the timber trees approach merchantable size, the most important consideration at the present time is moderation in cutting. In addition to this fire protection is very essential.

As a rule, the recently reforested areas are not found in large bodies, but rather comprise tracts of various sizes scattered over the entire state. The southwestern part of the state, however, contains a larger proportion of lands restored to forest growth, although notable success has been achieved in some parts of Central Alabama and in other sections.

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

PHILCO RADIOS

Buy your new Philco Now! Features of the new 1932 Philco—9 tubes, 4 screen grids; oversize improved; Electro-dynamic speaker; 4 point tune control, and static modifier, and many other new features.

BABY GRAND — Complete with tubes, installed in your home $79.50

Buy one on the easy terms.

TIFFIN-KLINNER FURNITURE CO.
CLANTON, ALABAMA

AUDITOR'S REPORT

Distribution of Each Dollar Paid From State Treasury During Year Ending Sept. 30, 1931

Health Department	.0131
Confederate Pensions	.0339
Convict Department	.1121
Eleemosynary Institutions	.0313
Highways and Bridges	.3857
Gas Taxes collected for Counties	.0735
All Educational Purposes	.2510
a. Primary, and secondary schools, teachers colleges, and all other educational purposes, except higher institutions of learning	.2092
b. Higher Institutions:
1. University of Alabama:
(a) Maintenance 0118
(b) Buildings 0026
	.0144
2. Alabama Polytechnic Institute:
(a) College Maintenance 0084
(b) Agricultural research 0033
(c) Agricultural extension 0049
(d) Buildings 0026
	.0192
3. Alabama College:
(a) Maintenance 0062
(b) Buildings 0020
	.0082
Total higher institutions	.0418
All other purposes	.0994
	$1.00

Less poultry on farms, reduced storage stocks of poultry and eggs, sustained consumption of poultry products, and cheaper feeds in relation to prices of poultry and eggs are the outstanding factors in the midsummer poultry outlook report issued today by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

KILLS Flies and Mosquitoes GULF Venom Roaches, Ants Bed-Bugs Moths

REMARKABLE CLUBBING OFFER

The Union-Banner, Weekly, one year
The Birmingham Post, Daily, one year

Both for $3.85

The price of The Post alone is $3.50
Here is an opportunity to procure your favorite local paper and a progressive independent daily newspaper at a very special price.

The Price of The Post alone is $3.50

The Union-Banner gives you all of the local news interestingly told. The Birmingham Post prints all the news of the state, nation and world and all the special features of metropolitan dailies.

Send $3.85 for this club today!

Send all orders to
The UNION-BANNER
Clanton, Ala.

STATE FARM BUREAU CLOSES ANNUAL MEET

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3.—At the tenth annual convention in Auburn, July 30-31, the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation elected J. Litt Edwards of Selma as president for next year. He succeeded R. F. Croom who became president in May when Edward A. O'Neal resigned to become president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

E. S. Pace of Eastaboga, Calhoun County, was elected first vice president, and W. H. Heseter, Russellville, second vice president.

The president, two vice president, and five others compose the executive committee, the five being H. F. Koonce, Florence; Dr. W. C. Braswell, Elba; L. M. Griffin, Moundville; J. H. Thompson, Fort Payne, and W. M. Harrison, Greenville.

E. L. Deal, secretary, was elected representative of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation at the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The organization adopted important resolutions. The income tax plan of taxation instead of the advalorem tax was endorsed and voters of the state urged to approve it when they go to the polls to vote on the proposals presented by the legislature at the recent session. The inheritance tax was endorsed also. Another resolution endorsed the Federal Farm Board and the agricultural marketing act creating the board. Operation of the government properties at Muscle Shoals for agriculture was endorsed also. Cooperation of the Farm Bureau with the industry of the state was endorsed as a permanent policy of the organization.

The meeting was largely attended by delegates who represented practically every county.

COTTON DRESSES WORN AT AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3.—Garments made from "King Cotton" were featured at the farmers' week exercises at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, July 27-31. Most of the clothes worn by men and women were made of cotton, it being cotton week as well as farmers' week. One day, Tuesday, was cotton sack day.

At one time 60 women appeared on the stage here wearing dresses which they had made from cotton bags. The cost per dress was only a few cents, the cash outlay in each instance being for thread, dye, buttons, and buckles.

One woman, Mrs. M. E. Bishop, Talladega County, said that within less than two years she had made 55 articles from cotton sacks at a cash expenditure of $1.90. Among these articles were dresses, hats, undergarments, pillow cases, and quilt tops. Her money was spent for dye, buttons, buckles, and thread.

As the women marched to the stage the audience sang "Let's Wear Cotton," a new song written by Mrs. Wilbur Hull of Limestone County, to the tune of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Their demonstration showed that dresses made of cotton are beautiful and stylish. They are also inexpensive; they are made of a product produced by southern farmers, thereby increasing the demand for it.

The program was presented under the direction of Miss Dorothy Dean, extension clothing specialist. It was cotton sack day as one feature of cotton week, which is being observed at Auburn throughout farmers' week, July 27-31.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES

While railroads of the country are endeavoring to get permission to increase freight rates 15 per cent the American Cotton Cooperative Association, with headquarters at New Orleans, is endeavoring to bring about a reduction in freight rates on cotton, according to recent press dispatches.

Speaking recently at a conference in Virginia, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York placed the responsibility for excessive taxes upon "too much local government." Facts presented by him revealed that local government in the United States is expensive to the extent of being very burdensome.

The annual production of tin in the United States is valued at $50,000 and amounts to less than one-twentieth of 1 per cent of the world's total output. Consumption in this country varies from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Steady progress toward the organization of a peanut-marketing association to serve growers in Alabama and other states is being made, according to G. W. Ray, extension marketing specialist of Auburn. The aim is to provide an efficient market for peanuts instead of the chaotic and unsatisfactory system which exists at present, Mr. Ray said.

He placed his arm around her waist, and on her lips a kiss; then sighed, "'Tis many a draught I've had, but not from a mug like this."

"What became of that clerk you had here?"

"I had to fire him. A man came with his bride to buy a book for reading on his honeymoon and the stupid offered him 'Travels With a Donkey'."

POULTRY

SUMMER LIGHTS

(By Prof. Paul G. Riley)

The demand for August, September and October eggs of good size and quality is always greater than the supply. Many poultrymen who get good production from their hens through these months report the greatest profit per hen of any period of the year.

The days are beginning to get short. The weather is hot, and it is difficult to keep total feed consumption of the laying flock at its height from now on until cool weather.

A great many poultrymen have discovered that the use of artificial light, beginning any time from August 1, to August 15, has been of real help in holding production. A generally accepted practice is to turn the lights on about two-thirty, to three o'clock in the morning and keep them running until daylight. The reason this gives increased production is not because it gives a longer working day, as the days are still fairly long, but it gets the birds up early in the morning, when the weather is cool. This seems to increase the total daily feed consumption.

If it is desirable to use these hens for breeders, the lights should be turned off not later than November 1, which, of course, will cause a complete moult in the entire group of hens. Or, if egg production is the only thing that is desired, the lights may be continued throughout the winter, gradually reducing the amount of light as the weather gets cool so that lights are going on at four o'clock in the morning.

A great many poultrymen have found that by using this practice they can maintain from thirty-five to sixty per cent production until well along in the winter and that this practice is profitable.

THEODORE SWANN TALKS TO FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., July 3.—To a large audience of farmers at Auburn for the tenth annual convention of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, July 31, Theodore Swann, president of the Swann Corporation of Birmingham, told how industry and agriculture are working together and pictured to them unlimited opportunities for the future.

The speaker saw in sweet potatoes, cottonseed hulls, and pine trees potentially great wealth as a result of research work, much of which has been done. As he told of achievements to date and pictured probable developments, farmers sat intensely interested and listened to the speaker.

The address was on the subject of cooperation between agriculture and industry. In referring to work with sweet potatoes, cottonseed hullts, and pine trees he was illustrating the vital connection between agriculture and industry, for these are agricultural products but they are also raw products for industry.

The speaker was enthusiastic about future developments for agriculture and industry in the southern states, especially in Alabama, where water power, climate, labor, and other conditions combine in favor of agricultural and industrial developments.

Mr. Swann praised the extension service and experiment station of Auburn for work done and being done; and also many others who are contributing to progress in Alabama.

ORGAGNIZED FARMERS SPEAK ON TAXATION

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3.—Representative R. J. Goode of Wilcox, said here during the annual meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation last week that the farm organization was the deciding factor in the fight for an income tax at the last legislature.

Delegates to the convention unanimously passed a resolution expressing appreciation to the legislature for submitting to the people an amendment to the Constitution "which, if ratified, will, as we understand, eliminate after October 1, 1932, all of the 6 1-2 mill state ad valorem taxes and substitute therefor an income tax.

"We urge that the people of Alabama vote favorably on this amendment, and thereby remove from Alabama the stigma of an antiquated and obsolete property tax system which places an inequitable burden upon all owners of property, especially farmers," the resolution continued.

"We believe that taxation should be based upon ability to pay and that this amendment, the ratification of which would result in a cut of about one-third in the property taxes of nearly all farmers, is within this principle," the resolution stated.

DAD GETS A BREAK

Emile: "Daddy is so pleased to hear you are a poet."

Don: "Fine. He likes poetry then?"

Emile: "Not at all. But the last boy friend of mine he tried to throw out was an amateur boxer."

And He Never Knew—Five Feet: "Might I have this dance?"

Six Feet: "Yes, you mite."

FEDERAL FARM BOARD ENEMIES ARE WANTED

Auburn, Ala., July 3.—"We farmers will fight to the last ditch in defense of the Federal Farm Board and the Agricultural Marketing Act."

This was the warning sounded here this week to selfish political and business interests who seek to destroy the farmers' governmental agency, by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in speaking to his farmer cohorts of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, who are here at their annual convention.

"The marketing act," said Mr. O'Neal, "is the concrete result of the American Farm Bureau Federation's ten year fight for equality for agriculture in America. It gives national recognition to the principles that farmers have a right to control the distribution of their crops. This principle is founded on the bed rock of human justice and it must be sound.

"The act provides a definite, practical way to handle our marketing problem," he continued, "but many short sighted persons are making considerable noise in opposition to it. Let them remember that the Farm Bureau was largely responsible for bringing the act into existence and the Farm Bureau will fight to the last ditch against any who would take from us what we have gained," he said.

He added, however, that this determination to support the act should not be taken to imply that that act cannot be improved in the future. "As experience develops a need for changes," he said, "the Farm Bureau intends to work for whatever seems desirable and well insist always that amendments to the act shall be made by its friends, never by its enemies."

CO-OP BUSINESS TOTALS $2,435,308

Auburn, Ala., July 3.—For the year ending, Alabama farmers did a business of cooperative buying and selling aggregating $2,435,308.25 through the Alabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association.

Of this $1,428,120.73 was in purchasing and $1,007,187.52 in marketing.

This was reported by A. N. Culver, treasurer, in his annual report made to the farmers at their annual meeting this week here, and compares with a total volume of business of this organization for the preceding year of $2,858,314.15.

The reduction in total volume of business handled was attributed mainly to a decided reduction in the use of fertilizer due to financial conditions, and to the fact that the price level on all products was lower than for the preceding year. Cooperative marketing through this organization showed a decided gain, the $1,007,187.52 comparing with $889,030,67 for 1929-30.

A report by J. B. Sylvest, head of the produce marketing department, described this phase of the business in more detail.

Most of the purchasing was in fertilizer, feeds, and seeds, and the marketing included turkeys, poultry, wool, livestock, eggs, strawberries, corn, cucumbers, and other products.

The first artificial hay drier in New York state is being used this year. It permits cutting green hay and storing it the same day even though the sun is behind clouds. In the Black Belt of Alabama these machines have been on tests two years.

MAPLESVILLE

Dr. H. M. Nix will be out of his office from August 5th to 15th.
7-30-2tch.

New Beauty Shoppe
In Johnson Building Over The Leader
Permanent Waves, $3.00, $3.50 and $5.00
These are Regular $8 and $10 Waves
White's Beauty Shop
Clanton, Ala.

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

WANTED

Four Hundred Farmers To Go To Auburn, Tuesday, August Eighteenth

County Agent C. E. Stapp is arranging for a trip to Auburn to visit the Experiment Station Tuesday, August 18th.

Mr. Stapp states that there are three or four experiments at Auburn, either one of which will be worth the trip of any farmer in the county.

By way of Wetumpka it is only 90 miles to Auburn. Ten or twelve gallons of gas and one quart of oil will be about the actual expense of the trip. Mr. Stapp suggests that four fellows to the car could get by on an expense of not more than $1.00 each, and he doesn't know any way the farmers of the county could spend $1.00 and one day's time to better advantage.

If you think it possible for you to join the party on the 18th, we urge you to notify Mr. Stapp at your earliest convenience.

NOTICE

Farmers in west side of county who are interested in growing strawberries are requested to meet County Agent Stapp and Earle Thomas at Maplesville school house, Saturday, August 15th, at 3:00 p. m.

"My wife is prolonging her visit. I need her at home, but it seems useless to write suggesting that she return."

"Get one of the neighbors to suggest it, my boy."

First Stranger (at the party): "Very dull, isn't it?"
Second: Yes, very."
First Stranger: "Let's go home."
Second: "I can't. Im the host."

"Children, I hope you peeled the apples before eating them?"

"Yes, mother dear."

"What have you done with the peelings?"

"Oh, we ate them."

Phone One-One-One
or Write
The James Sign Shop
CLANTON, ALA.
Outdoor
Painted Display Advertising

The YELLOW PENCIL with the RED BAND
EAGLE PENCIL CO.
EAGLE MIKADO

Foot Itch
Millions Have Athlete's Foot
Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itchings of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Hand Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.
Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES
Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at
The James Sign Shop
Clanton, Alabama

Bargains in Used Cars

CHEVROLET SEDAN—Looks and runs like new; fully equipped; good rubber; with spare tire. Special price this week $275

CHEVROLET SIX Convertible Sedan—Bring in your old car and trade it in on this modern six cylinder Chevrolet. You will be surprised to see such a high grade value that we offer in this at $300

1928 CHEVROLET COACH—The most popular 4 cylinder car ever built. A wonderful value in this one for only $175

CHEVROLET SIX COACH—Here's a buy at $50 below market in a modern six cylinder car. Let us demonstrate this one to you, and you will be convinced $285

1928 CHEVROLET COUPE—In good mechanical condition. Must be sold. Good tires. If you are looking for a bargain, here it is for only $175

CHEVROLET TOURING—In excellent condition throughout. Very low mileage. Good looking and clean inside and out $50

CHEVROLET TRUCK with Cab and Body—Just the truck for melon hauling. Good tires and in A-1 mechanical condition; new duco $185

CHEVROLET SIX Truck and Cab—Here is a truck with good rubber and will give thousands of miles of good transportation, that we are offering as is for only $135

CHEVROLET TRUCK CHASSIS—Good tires. New paint job. Good mechanical condition. Looks good, special price of only $125

MODEL "A" FORD TOURING—This one just traded in on a new Chevrolet Six and is a dandy. For quick sale only $150

INTERNATIONAL TRUCK WITH CAB—In perfect mechanical condition throughout; good looks; two new 32 x 6 tires. Only used 14 months. We believe this one our best truck bargains for only $300

MODEL A FORD COACH—Very low mileage. Clean as a pin. Treated as a family pet by original owner. Must be seen to be appreciated. Only $285

MODEL A FORD COUPE—Here's one of our best buys. Looks and runs like new. The owner of this one got enthusiastic about the new six. Quick sale price only $265

DURANT COACH 1928 MODEL—A good looking little car in good mechanical condition and good rubber at the very low price of $125

We invite you to inspect our lubrication equipment which we have just installed and which is the most modern design. Also let us explain to you our "Lubrication Service Agreement," which will save you $5.50 on each agreement. A dollar saved is a dollar made.

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.
Sales Service Clanton, Ala.

NOW $6.95
(13 PLATE) and up

for

Willard Batteries

Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging All Makes of Batteries

We Will Allow You One Dollar For Your Old Battery

BATES AUTO SHOP

On the Highway :-: Clanton, Ala.

THE BATTLE OF THE TEMPO

Two Orchestras Fight For Radio Audience's Approval

When the Lucky Strike Summer Party Orchestra went on the air recently, and played a program that featured slow tempos, deluxe announcers, three vocalists and the latest and smartest orchestral effects, a battle of music was started which promises to be one of the most novel and interesting "battles" ever waged. The other participant is the regular Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, with its famous lively tempo, no vocalists, and simple orchestrations. The Summer Party Orchestra is to be heard on Saturday evenings and the regular orchestra on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The object, as announced over the air, is to find which is the most popular, and as the loser will have to leave the field, it might well be described as a battle to the death.

When George W. Hill, president of the American Tobacco Company, formulated the stlye of the regular Lucky Dance Orchestra, he did not do so for any personal reasons, but only because analysis of the tastes of radio audiences clearly indicated such a preference. Nothing but the choruses of "songs that have made Broadway Broadway" were played. The tempo was bright, peppy, and no vocalists were used except in the signature song "Happy Days are Here Again." Recently there has been a trend toward a somewhat slower tempo. Mr. Hill, always on the lookout for any change in public tastes announced a "battle." A new orchestra, to be known as the Lucky Strike Summer Party Orchestra, with the smartest orchestrations, vocalists, and new instrumental groupings, was to take over the regular Saturday period of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra and play a great variety of tempos, with a generous portion of the program devoted to the slower rhythms. The regular Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra was to continue on Tuesdays and Thursdays, with its tempo as lively as ever, its brass as robust, and its orchestral effects free from frills and furbelows.

There is a grimness about the attitude of individual members of the competing orchestras that exceeds that ordinarly developed over questions of the arrangement, tempos and musical preferance. Actually, it was pointed out, jobs are at stake and in a large number of cases the outcome of the battle will determine the future employment of many of the musicians. The men are keenly contending and putting every ounce of energy and interest possible into their work, and the rivalry includes not only the musicians but also the arrangers, announcers, studio executives and staff men of the advertising agency.

"It is, of course, impossible," said Mr. Hill, "to arrive at a combination that will please everyone. We are striving to entertain the greatest possible majority, and with this in mind have instituted the present contest. We feel that one of these two orchestras will eventually represent with the radio audience, as a whole, desires in dance music. When it has been definitely established which one is the favorite the other will be abolished. We are not setting up arbitrary standards, but merely letting each orchestra employ a distinctive style as its weapon in the "battle." Time and the radio audience alone can decide the "victor."

D. O. Manning of Mulberry was in Clanton Monday.

LOCKHART WILL RUN REVIVAL AT MAPLE SPRINGS IN AUGUST

Rev. M. Lockhart, the pastor at Maple Springs, will run a revival at that place beginning the second Sunday in August. The first service will be held Saturday before the second Sunday, at 11 o'clock. Conference will be held following preaching, to take the place of the regular conference which would have been held at the regular meeting day.

Rev. Lockhart is a young Chilton County preacher, being a native of the Refuge community. The people of Maple Springs invite those of neighboring communities to attend as many of the services as they can.

ELDRIDGE BAPTIST ACADEMY TO OPEN ON AUGUST 24, 1931

Eldridge Baptist Academy, Eldridge, Alabama, will open the next session Monday, August 24, 1931. The enrollment is expected, from all indications, to exceed that of former years. Many applications have already been received by the principal. The enrollment of ministerial students is expected to exceed that of last year. The enrollment of last year was the largest within the last five years, and came from fourteen counties and two states.

Eldridge Baptist Academy is the only mountain missions school in Alabama, and, in fact, it is the only Baptist high school in the State. It has four beautiful buildings valued at $95,000.

It trains for Christian service and provides educational opportunities for poor boys and girls.

The following faculty has been selected for the year of 1931-32: Prof. A. B. Murphree, principal and field agent; Mr. J. W. Sutherland, science and coach; Miss Virginia Hill, history, Bible, music; Miss Ruby Tedder, home economics; Miss Jewell Gullet, English.

HAND FAMILY REUNION

The Hand family reunion will meet at Dargin Church, four miles north of Calera, on Friday, August 7th, at 9:30. Following is the program:

Business hour will begin at 9:30. The revival services at 11:00. Dinner at 12:00.

1:45 — Song service. "Home Sweet Home;" "The Home Over There;" "Where We'll Never Grow Old."

2:00—Special song by W. M. Devaughn, "My Old Cottage Home."

Sermon by Dr. Hodges of Dothan. Suggested subject. Lesson, Genesis, 46:28-34.

3:00—Round table talk.

We especially invite all relatives to meet with us. Also, the public is invited. Everybody bring lunch.—Rev. A. D. Huett, Mrs. Effie Huett, Mrs. Nora Hand, Committee.

Dr. Elam: "I'm sorry, but I'm out of gas."

Sweet Patients: "Ye gods, do dentists pull that old one too."

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 9

SAUL CONVERTED AND COMMISSIONED

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:1-19; I Timothy 1:12-14.

GOLDEN TEXT—Whereupon, O king Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Saul Chosen to Be a Missionary.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Saul Chosen a Missionary to the Gentiles.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Vision and a Response.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Saul's Conversion and Commission.

I. Saul's Violent Hatred of the Lord's Disciples (vv. 1, 2).

Saul knew full well that unless the movement set on foot by Jesus was stopped it would supersede Judaism. The noble display of faith by Stephen in sealing his testimony with his blood did not soften Saul's spirit, but rather intensified his hatred for the Lord and his disciples. It made him more determined than ever to stamp out the Nazarene heresy. The intensity of his madness and the extent of its operations are best set forth in his own words (Acts 22:4; 26:10-12 R. V.).

II. Saul Kicking Against the Pricks (vv. 3-9).

The figure here is that of the eastern ox driver following the ox with a sharp iron fixed to the end of a pole. The animal is prodded on with this instrument and if refractory, it kicks against the sharp iron and injures itself. This is a graphic picture of Saul as he was madly fighting against Jesus.

1. A light from heaven (vv. 3, 4). The time had come for the Lord to interfere. Saul was smitten with blindness and fell to the earth.

2. A voice from heaven (vv. 4, 5). This was the Lord's voice calling Saul by name and asking "Why persecutest thou me?" To this Saul replied, "Who art thou, Lord?" Then came the answer, "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest," as if to say that persecution of the disciples is persecution of Jesus.

3. Saul's inquiry (v. 6). "What wilt thou have me to do?" The Lord told him to go into the city where information would be given him as to what he must do.

4. Saul entering Damascus (vv. 7-9). The proud persecutor went humbly into Damascus, led by his attendants. For the space of three days he remained blind, and fasted. What went on in his soul in those days no mortal can know. Doubtless in this time he got hold of the truths which he later proclaimed to the world, for his conversion was the basal fact of his theology. The day is coming when all men shall behold the dazzling glory of the Son, either in salvation or in condemnation (Phil. 2:10, 11; Rev. 6:15-17).

III. Saul Ministered to by Ananias (vv. 10-19).

1. Ananias' vision (vv. 10-12). The Lord appeared to him and instructed him to go to Saul. He gave him the name of the streets and Saul's host, and informed him that Saul was now a praying man and that he had prepared Saul by a vision for the coming of Ananias. The Lord knows the name of the street and the number of the house in which his chosen live.

2. Ananias' fear and hesitancy (vv. 13-16). He knew of Saul's ministry and the authority by which he came. The Lord encouraged him to go, assuring him that Saul was no longer an enemy but a chosen vessel to bear his name before the Gentiles, kings and the children of Israel, and that the badge of his commission should be great suffering for Christ.

3. Ananias' obedience (v. 17). His fears being removed, Ananias went to the house where Saul was stopping, put his hand upon him and affectionately addressed him as brother. The hitherto savage persecutor is now a brother in Christ. Ananias informed him that the Lord had sent him with a twofold mission:

a. "That thou mightest receive thy sight."

b. "Be filled with the Holy Ghost." He received his sight forthwith.

4. Saul baptized (vv. 18, 19). After Saul received his sight, Ananias baptized him. The Lord bestows the gift of the Spirit upon whomsoever he will, and may designate anyone, whether occupying an official position or not, to lay hands upon individuals.

IV. Paul Put Into the Ministry (I Tim. 1:12-14).

He was commissioned for his work among the Gentiles by Jesus Christ. He did not enter the Christian ministry, but was placed there by the sovereign act of the Lord. He was transformed from a blasphemer and a persecutor through the abundant grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and made the apostle to the Gentiles.

The Gospel

The great commission does not bid us adapt the Gospel to every creature, but to preach the Gospel to every creature. The Gospel of the first century is the dynamic of God unto salvation in the Twentieth century.—Dr. F. W. Farr.

A Prayer

May God forgive the sins of which our tongues have not been guilty, but which have stained the purity of our minds.—Stuart Parker.

Rev. F. A. Ellison went to Birmingham last week.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

Our Sunday school is still progressing.

We have a nice crowd to attend Sunday morning, but still not as many as we would like to have with us to hear the word of God.

All of our Junior pupils went home with their teacher for lunch, and were served drinks and different things that makes the Junior pupils very interested in their work for the Lord.

Let's everybody come to Sunday school and church every Sunday, is my prayer.

That's All—"Anything new in the paper this morning?"

"No. Same old things—only happening to different people."—Answers.

CEMETERY CLEANING

Everyone interested in the cemetery at Macedonia (near Lay Dam) are asked to meet there at 8 o'clock Friday morning, August 7th, bringing necessary tools to clean off the cemetery.—James Baker.

SOUTHWEST CHILTON

Mr. J. R. Lovelady died Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. J. T. O'Neal's family and Miss Elsie Osborn were visitors at the home of Mr. C. C. Gay Sunday evening.

The meeting which just closed at Plantersville Baptist Church was one of the best we have had in our community for many years. The preaching was done by Bro. Stevens of the First Baptist Church of Bessemer. He received the cooperation of the entire town.

Mr. W. J. Apperson, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Herrod, Mr. Prude Perry and wife and mother, Mrs. C. C. Gay and family were the visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Batten Sunday afternoon.

Mr. T. A. Gay is very feeble at the home of his sons.

Mr. S. Osborn and family and Mr. Lowell Osborn and family spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. O'Neal Sunday.

Then there's the man with the artistic temperament who chews art gum after every meal.

UNION SPRINGS

There will be singing at Union Springs Church next Sunday afternoon, August 9, at 1:30 o'clock, in the new books. We cordially invite everyone who will to come and be with us.—A. R. Crumpton.

UNION GROVE

The United Singing Society will sing here next Sunday afternoon, August 9. We will use the new Crowning Hymn No. 12—The Morhis-Henson book. Everybody invited.

STANTON

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Williams and Miss Georgia Wood, of Decatur, are spending their 2-weeks vacation with friends and relatives in Clanton.

Mrs. E. F. Grear is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Tom Lowe, in Montgomery.

Mrs. Latham Ellis of Birmingham spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Mell Martin.

WADESONIAN
PROGRAMS

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday
August 6th, 7th, and 8th

Ken Maynard, In
"SONG OF CABALERRO"
An All-Talking Western

Serial—"THE INDIANS ARE COMING"
All Talking

Monday and Tuesday
August 10th and 11th

"MIN AND BILL"—All Talking
COMEDY—All Talking

Headache! Everybody has it once in a while. It may be due to a thousand and one different causes.

The way to cure a Headache is to find and remove the cause. Suppose it takes days or weeks to find the cause—what will you do in the meantime? Continue to suffer?

Why should you, when you can get

DR. MILES' ANTI-PAIN PILLS

They relieve quickly.

Use them for muscular pains and functional pains even when these pains are so severe that you think you are suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago.

Get them at your Drug Store.

25 for 25 cents 125 for $1.00

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR

CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA

Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service

Flowers for all Occasions

Women of fashion are women of common sense, too; in which case they realize that one's wardrobe may be maintained at relatively small cost by keeping garments freshly cleaned and pressed, for clothes treated by our expert process are almost like new.

CALL 119

CLANTON LAUNDRY AND CLEANING CO.

Clanton, Ala.

STANTON NEWS

Rev. William J. Ruddick, 77, widely known and beloved Baptist minister, died at his home here early Thursday afternoon, following a sudden attack of appoplexy. He had not been ill prior to the fatal stroke, and his sudden and unexpected death came as a severe blow to his family and to hundreds of friends over this section.

Mr. Ruddick, a native of Waterford, Ireland, where he was born May 9, 1954, came to Alabama in March, 1872, and had served the Baptist denomination since October, 1878. He had served 27 different churches in Dallas, Chilton, Autauga, Bibb, and Perry Counties, and was clerk of the Unity Baptist Association for 31 years, missing only two sessions in 47 years.

He was married in 1873 at Jemison to Miss Lucy Alice Smitherman of Bibb County, who survives. Their 58th wedding anniversary, the observance of Mr. Ruddick's birthday, and the anniversary of his 60th year of residence in the United States were jointly celebrated the past Mothers Day, on May 10, at the home of the beloved couple, where four generations of their family represented on that day.

Mr. Ruddick had been a Mason for 55 years, and was for 40 years Master of the Stanton lodge. He was widely beloved by all who knew him and his life exemplified the highest and noblest Christian teachings which he taught to others during his ministry.

Besides Mrs. Rudidck, seven children survive. These are Mrs.. A. L. Osburn of Selma; Mrs. J. M. Melton of Lisman; Mrs. N. T. Milan of Tuscaloosa; and W. L. Ruddick of Stanton; J. S. Ruddick of Columbus, Miss.; U. T. Ruddick of Birmingham; and W. C. Ruddick of Cordova.

There are also 36 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren.

Services were held at 10 o'clock Saturday, from the Baptist church, Buford Lawrence officiating. Interment was made in Ebenezer cemetery.

RICHARD LOVELADY DIED

Richard Lovelady, age 59, died unexpecedly at his home in West Chilton Sunday night. He lived on the Chilton and Bibb County line. Burial was at Chestnut Grove cemetery Tuesday. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Buford Lawrence.

Mr. Lovelady was a member of the Medline Baptist church, and a woodman. He is survived by his wife and five children.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

WANTED AT ONCE—A few good men for nearby territory. We furnish the capital, you furnish the time. Forty-two years honest service behind our line. Write McConnon & Co., Dept. U. B., Memphis, Tenn., or see G. W. Moates, Route 2, Clanton, Ala. 7-16-4t-ch.

WANTED CROSS TIES—Forked leaf hill red oak, forked leaf hill sap white oak, sap chestnut oak, and sap post oak; either hewn or sawn, must be nice, smooth and regular; sizes 7 x 9 and 7 x 8, eight feet, six inches in length.—R. A. Teel, Clanton, Ala. 7-23-3p.

FOR SALE—Or Exchange, a good grist mill outfit; good location; good business. Trade for 8 or 10 acres of farm land on the Highway, or on a public road. See me at Hubbard's Grist Mill, Clanton, Ala.—C. W. Hubbard. 7.30-2p.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meade and Helen Louise, with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Littleton and family, Freeman, Alton, and J. P., Uncle Charlie Littleton of Bessemer and Miss Eula Mae Riggins, of Birmingham, spent last week in Florida. Taking in several interesting things, the new bridge at Pensacola, that chosses the bay, which is four miles wide, was one of the sights. It takes you across an island to the Gulf of Mexico, where they are completing a wonderful building, called a casino.

On the shores of the Gulf of Mexico are choice sites for surf bathing, dancing, and dining. The pleasure drives about Pensacola and along the shimmering bays gives one miles of perfect highway that makes motoring a delight.

We also saw some steamships coming and going out, and lots of fishing boats unloading, which was very interesting. We then spent the other time in fishing and boat-riding. We all went out about two and one-half miles in Mobile Bay, fishing. Uncle Charlie Littleton breaking our record by catching a shark which weighed 40 pounds. He is only 75 years old, but gee, what a kick he got out of this sport. The total number of fish caught was 35.

There are lots of old forts, battlement, and quaint places of early periods which reminds one of history of old Spain. This was a trip that will be long remembered by these people.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall and Mrs. Clyde Meade and Helen Louise and Horace Bean spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Miss Voncile Gore, who has undergone an opedation at South Highland, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peterson (nee Jewell Bean) are spending a few weeks in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray and Frank Wood visited in Montgomery Sunday afternoon.

Whenever we make a mistake in our report on anything that might be understood as definitely wrong, we are always glad of an opportunity to correct it. In reference to the party of young people who went to Shelby Springs one evening last week, we said among other things, all enjoyed dancing. This should read, "all who danced enjoyed it." We are informed that only a few of the girls know how to dance, hence did not do it.

When we do anything we ought to be sorry for, we are willing to be forgiven.

Mr. Claus Carlson (Bachelor), for 25 years a resident of Thorsby, died at Rockford, Ill., Monday, July 27, of cancer. He leaves a brother, John, at Rockford, also a long time resident of Thorsby. Also a brother Eric, of Aurora, Ill. Mr. Carlson was a man respected by all who knew him, a quiet unassuming character, but kindly nature that made him a friend of all who knew him. We are told that he had a beautiful funeral.

A son of Isor Pate of near Pates Chapel is reported very ill with Pneumonia.

A young son of Glover Smith of Wilsonville, who is visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr and Mrs. Frank Mastin, is reported to be quiet ill.

Word has been received from the Each family, who have been on a vacation for a month, that they would be home Wednesday of this week.

From the appearance of watermelons coming in or passing through Thorsby, it would appear that the season has been unusually favorable for them, as they are not only abundant, but exceedingly large, however prices are very low.

Canteloupes have been abundant, of fine quality and cheap.

Arrangements are being made for some of our Thorsby Boy Scouts to attend the district honor court at Clanton next Friday morning to take tests of some things that make for advancement in grade scouts.

McDonald Pearson made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

For the benefit of those who may be waiting to know, we will say that Martin Peterson's Hale peaches are now ready for market. The crop is abundant and the quality is excellent.

Miss Edith Holley of Tallassee is a guest of Miss Willo Dean Bean of Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young and family of West Blocton visited Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Piper last week.

Arne F. Christensen with his wife and children, of Birmingham visited his mother, and brother of Thorsby for the week end. Mrs. Anna Villadsen entertained them at dinner on Monday.

Karl Carson's Concord Grapes are now ready and they are fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Buchi and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Terry of Birmingham visited with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Roberson, H. M. Reinhardt and two dauhgters, Linne Bell and Mary Louise, are visiting friends and relatives in Wilsonville.

Miss Sadie Shannon of Montgomery was a week end guest of her sister, Mrs. Nels Peterson, who gave a party Saturday afternoon in honor of Misses Shannon and Rachael Peterson those present were: Misses Katheryn and Edith Foss, Ella Howard, Doris Freeman, Edith Johnson, and Christina Bosworth, Messrs. Lloyd Howard, Wm. Each, Alton Connatser, Orville Freeman and Earl Leary.

Elizabeth Robinson of New York, spent Sunday at the Piper home in Thorsby.

In a base ball game Friday afternoon, Maplesville against Thorsby, Thorsby won 12 to 1.

Mrs. Charles S. Howard left Sunday a.m. with a load of fruit for Mrs. Howard's mother. The expect to return next Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard and Mrs. Boyd spent Friday in Clanton visiting Mr. G. B. Marlar and Mrs. Thacker.

Miss Gwindolyn Young has returned to Blocton after visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Piper.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Williams and children of Atlanta are visiting the C. M. Williams family. The two families were entertained at dinner Monday by Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Thomasson of Lay Dam.

Misses Naemi Turnquist and Christina Bosworth of Selma visited home folks Sunday, returning, they took Katheryn and Edith Foss with them .

Mr. and Mrs. Reagan made a trip to Birmingham Sunday.

The Nortons received a card from Miss Jenkins, dated at Brussels Belgium. Miss Jenkins was thoroughly enjoying the sights and experiences of the trip.

Willie Scott was a Sunday visitor with home folks, returning home in Montgomery that night.

Miss Opal Payne of Aldrich was a guest of Miss Doris Freeman last week. Mrs. Freeman had as her guest, Walter Mulkey.

Alice Washburn and Eloise Rasberry of Ensley were guests of Miss Dorothy Franklin.

Miss Winnie Garrick is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. M. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moody of Birmingham spent the week end with Mrs. Moody's mother, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald. Mrs. Moody remained a few days to improve the opportunity of canning some of Thorsby's fine peaches.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Martin and children of Bessemer spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin. Mrs. A. V. Martin and children of Lay Dam were also guests for a few days at the J. R. Martin home.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive spent the week end at the home of Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald. Mr. Sutlive is convalescing from an operation and may remain here for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead spent several days camping and fishing in Baldwin County last week.

Miss Mae Wood of Blocton is visiting her sister, Mrs. Piper.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Townsend visited friends in Thorsby Sunday, returning to Birmingham in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Higgins have as their guests their daughter, Mrs. L. C. Belter and children, of Newark, Ohio, and Mrs. Frank Higgins and children of Birmingham, who will remain for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas of Blocton were Sunday guests of the Pipers.

Bruce Lewshy from Way Cross, Georgia, is the guest of Mrs. T. N. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bentley left Sunday night for Florida, where they will visit Mrs. Clarence Bice. Mrs. R. M. Smith accompanied them.

Miss Virginia Bice has returned to her home in Palatha, Florida, after spending two months with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

Mrs. S. A. Thorson is spending a few days with her sister in Fairfield before returning to her home in Minn.

Last Wednesday C. R. Foss, accompanied by Andrew Franzen, and his daughters, Kathryn and Edith Foss, and Edith Johnson, went to have dinner with Lillian Franzen before her return to New Mexico.

Miss Odie Lee Arthur has returned to Thorsby to take up her work at Thorsby Institute, and will be in the office from eight to twelve each morning. Miss Arthur spent the first half of the summer in the Bowling Green College of Commerce where she is working toward a degree in commercial education.

Mrs. E. G. Collins and daughter, of Birmingham are the guests of Mrs. H. O. Bean and daughter.

Miss Edith Holley and Miss Willo Dean Bean were among the young folks who enjoyed the swimming from Aldrich at Heath's pool Friday night.

BAKER CHILD DIED

The two-months old baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Baker died Sunday night. The body was buried last Monday at Mt. Pisgah cemetery.

Mrs. E. L. Hartley of Montgomery spent last week with her sister, Mrs. J. Mell Martin.

NOTICE

The Chilton County Board of Education is asking for sealed bids on two reooms to be erected at Isabella according to plans and sepcifications furnished by the State Department of Education, said plans known as 6-1-F. The framing, storm sheathing and roof are already erected. The contract will be for the completion of the job. The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. These bids will be opened in my ofice on Saturday, August 15 at 2:00 p.m. A builder's bond or Cashier's check of $50.00 will be required on each bid.

B. LAWRENCE,
County Superintendent Education.

Trade With Me
and I will keep the price of Gas down

I was in two large towns this week where gas was selling at 20 cents. Neither of these towns had an independent gasoline dealer.

The big companies raised their prices in Clanton last week to 15 cents. I did not raise my price and they came back down.

Trade with me and I will be able to keep the price of gas down in Clanton.

YOUR PATRONAGE WILL BE APPRECIATED

W. A. REYNOLDS

BROWNIE'S PLACE

Between Clanton and South Clanton

Explosion Creates a New Process

Harry A. Clanton, shown above, World war veteran of North Carolina, has discovered a new glass decorating process which has been described as revolutionary. An accidental explosion of chemicals that spattered a container with a marvelous pattern of variegated colors enabled Clanton to work out the process. Three vases treated with the new coloring process were taken to Washington by the war veteran and submitted to Dr. Walter Hough, one of the curators of the Smithsonian institution, who declared he had never before seen anything like the color work on them. The designs are accidental and could not be copied.

ANCESTORS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

A genealogist with an imaginative and clever brain has recently demonstrated quite beyond question that anyone of English birth if he will pursue the investigation assiduously enough can readily trace his ancestry back to William the Conquerer — who wasn't such a worthy ancestor at best—and this ancestry would naturally include the riffraff that came over with the Pilgrim fathers and those ne'er-do-wells who ultimately developed into the first families of Virginia. I've never gone into the matter, but that's what he said, and I have no doubt that it is true, though I can't see that it is any credit to us.

I've never been interested in any great degree in my own ancestry. So far as I have known they were ordinary hard-working people all of whom escaped jail and the poorhouse, though the margin of safety, as they say in mechanics, was in some cases no doubt rather slight.

Jones, after two years of easy going in an eastern institution, has been "given the air," as the undergraduate puts it, and is asking admission to the institution with which I am connected. He has ancestors and he is proud of them, and he brings them forward at once a collateral. I am called up over the long-distance telephone. A lawyer of prominence is speaking to me.

"Young Jones," he tells me, "is applying for admission to the university. He's had a little trouble at Brown. He comes of a wonderful family. His grandfather was one of our most influential citizens. His father is president of the Jones Manufacturing company, and his mother, the daughter of the head of our leading bank here.

"And th boy?" I ask. "What about the boy?"

"Why, I don't know so much about the boy. I guess he's all right."

"But you see it's the boy we have to do business with; it isn't his ancestors."

"Well, I hope you'll give him a chance."

And the boy himself, though he has made a failure of a very easy job, some way feels that because his grandfather was a successful business man he should be given special consideration. He looked upon his ancestors as an asset and not as an obligation.

(© 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Dr. Sam Johnson is at home from foreign fields.

Mr. and Mrs. John DeRamus are visiting in Tuscaloosa this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Haskew attended the revival in Montgomery Wednesday.

Miss Zora Guy spent Sunday in Mt. Creek.

Miss Nora Wood has returned home after a 2-weeks vacation spent with relatives at Decatur.

Miss Sarah Frances Stapp, of Aliceville is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Cohen Stapp.

Miss Catherine Hays has returned from a visit of a few days with friends in Eutaw, Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Cohen Stapp made a trip to Birmingham Sunday afternoon.

BILLINGSLEY

Mrs. Sie Foshee and children, James and Betty Joe, of Clanton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Harrell the past week.

Misses Julie and Ellen Collie of Birmingham have returned to their home after an extended visit to relatives and friends of our town.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Carter of Clanton were Sunday guests of Mrs. Carter's mother, Mrs. Nummy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Wetumpka were guests of Mrs. Robinson's parents and sister last Sunday.

Mr. J. C. Vinson and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vinson attended preaching at Independence last Sunday.

Rev. J. M. Metcalf, assisted by the local pastor, Rev. E. E. Stafford, are conducting a revival at the Methodist Church this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Gaines and children of Birmingham were week end guests of relatives here.

Rev. S. A. Bentley is conducting a revival at Indian Grave this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Appleton had as their Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Harrell of Arabian Gap, Ga.

Judge L. H. Reynolds went to Birmingham Wednesday.

Monroe Parrish, of Beat 16, was in Clanton Wednesday. He reports that crops in his section have been seriously damaged by dry weather.

Mr. C. E. Stapp's sister is visiting here.

Edward Mullins and James Wade motored to Eutaw Sunday.

Miss Kathryn Hayes has returned from Eutaw.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade is spending this week in Wetumpka.

Mrs. Amzi Gowan and two daughters of Brewton, after having spent two weeks heer with her parents, has returned home.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON

State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Governor and Pardon Board of Alabama for the parole of Robert Wilson, convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, on April 3rd, 1925, of grand larceny.

8-6-2t-ch ROBERT WILSON.

$5.00 In Cash Prizes

SATURDAY, AUG. 8TH

We will give $3.00 for largest, and $2.00 for second largest watermelon grown from seeds purchased from us. Bring your melon any time Saturday between 6:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m., closing time for contest.

We have our fall shipment of turnip seeds in. Don't let fall catch you without something to eat.

SOUTHERN SEED & PLANT COMPANY

Clanton, Ala.

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXVIII.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1931 NUMBER 16

CONVICTS MOVED BACK TO PRISON

Retrenchment Of Highway Work Ordered By Governor

Immediate retrenchment in highway activities was ordered by Gov. Miller Thursday, following a conference with the heads of the State Board of Administration and the Highway Department, six convict road construction camps being closed and throwing 500 convicts, formerly working in these camps, back into the various state prisons. The order was the result of the failure of the legislature to provide funds for a continuation of highway work.

Ten highway camps will be left intact for the present, working in the main on Federal aid projects. These camps will be reinforced with labor from other camps to avoid as much Federal penalty as possible.

Under government orders, 1,000 convicts will be left on the highway projects in the 10 remaining camps until projects are completed. The 500 convicts who will be taken from road work will be divided among the already overcrowded State prisons including Kilby, Atmore, Speigner, Wetumpka and No. 4 farm.

Bills Outstanding

Bills outstanding against the Highway Department for material and supplies, some of them running for more than a year, amount to approximately $2,000,000. The Legislature which adjourned recently made no provisions for funds to retire these bills nor for funds adequate to continue highway construction by convicts.

Gov. Miller said he regarded the proper maintenance of roads already built of paramount importance in order to preserve the investment the people had already put into road building and that he directed the Highway director to maintain the roads to the best advantage limited funds would justify. Alabama has an investment in highways of over $70,000,000, embracing 5,000 miles completed and 300 more miles under construction of which approximately 1,100 miles are paved.

The governor also said he had directed the highway officials to place in line payment all past due claims in order that the creditors of the highway department might be relieved at the earliest possible moment.—Montgomery Advertiser.

A HEALING SQUASH

No, it does not mean that it will make sick folks well, but it means that the squash itself will get well, or heal up, if a part of it s cut off. Mr. Lewis Carroll, who farms with Cleve Wyatt on the Lock 12 road, brought in to The Banner office a long keen crooked gourd-looking product which he said was called a healing squash. Mr. Carroll said that he had been cutting off some of these squashes at the neck and that they invariably grew out and made another squash. It looks mighty like a gourd.

SERIOUS WRECK SUNDAY NIGHT

Paul Hawkins Of Birmingham In Hospital With Fractured Skull

A Chevrolet being driven by a man from Birmingham rain into a Buick near Lomax late Sunday night. The driver of the Chevrolet whose name we could not find out was seriously hurt when he was crushed against the steering wheel of the car he was driving. His companion, Paul W. Hawkins, of Birmingham, received a serious fracture of the skull. Hawkins was brought to the hospital in Clanton, where he is reported to be improving.

Hawkins and the man with whom he was travelling, were returning to Birmingham from Montgomery. The big Buick car, in which several negroes were travelling, was parked to repair some trouble. Hawkins and his companion met another car at the place where the Buick was stopped, and being blinded by the lights of the approaching car, the Chevrolet plunged into the Buick at full speed.

G. T. WILBANKS GETTING BETTER SINCE ACCIDENT

The many friends of Mr. G. T. Wilbanks will be pleased to learn that he is again able to be out and begins to look like himself. No doubt, he will, ere long, be entirely recovered.

About the first of last April, while putting out his commercial fertilizer, the wind blew some of the dust from the mixture into his eyes. His eyes inflamed and grew worse and worse, and he soon was confined to his home and bed. He took a hospital treatment in Montgomery, but his condition did not improve, then he went for treatment to a Birmingham clinic with about the same results. Returning he resigned himself to his fate.

For about four months he suffered untold agonies, but finally an improvement seemed to take place and now he looks almost himself again. He is very grateful to his friends for their kindness and sympathy and takes this method of telling them of his improvement and expressing his thanks.

CROP PROSPECTS ARE FLATTERING

"Crop prospects in Alabama on August 1 were on the whole flattering," declared F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician for the department of agriculture, in his monthly crop report.

"All food and feed crops, except sorghum syrup, gave promise of greater volumes of production than last year, and some of them much larger than in recent years. With larger acreages and favorable weather during July, the outlook took a turn for the better and nearly all crops improved during the month," he said.

BURNETT-GRANTHAM WEDDING

The following announcement has been received by friends of the contracting parties in Clanton:

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Grantham announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen Avis, to Mr. Barney William Burnette, on Saturday, August 8th, 1931, at Troy, Ala.

For the past few years Miss Grantham has been tecahing in the Clanton Grammar School. She has made a wide circle of friends during her residence here.

Mr. Burnett is a worthy young man of Clanton. For some years he has been connected with Polk Brothers Motor Co., in the capacity of bookkeeper.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnett will make their home in Clanton, after they return from their wedding trip this week. Their many friends join in extending hearty good wishes.

Mr. Thames Forsyth of Columbus Ga., is visiting his mother, who is ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fox are visiting Dr. Tucker in Centreville this week.

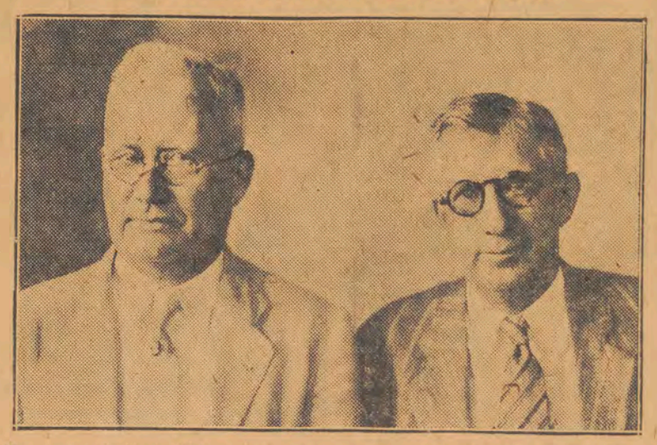
BEAUTY SHOPPE OPEN AGAIN AFTER ABSENCE OF OPERATOR

A card from Miss Mabel Howard mailed in Chicago says: Please put in The Union-Banner that my shop will be open again about the 13th of August, and I will be glad to serve my friends and customers again.—Mabel Howard.

Miss Howard has been in Chicago for the past two weeks attending the cosmetician's convention sponsored by the American Association of Cosmetics and Hair Artists.

OUTINGING IN PANAMA CITY

Mrs. Jean Wyatt and daughter, Eugenia Inez, went to Montgomery last Saturday evening, and early Sunday morning left for Panama City, Fla. They went in the car with Mrs. Oscar Eiland and children, all of whom intend to spend several days in the beautiful bay city. Mr. Eiland will be with them most of the time as he is now stationed at Dothan, where the firm he represents, the Alabama Machinery and Supply Company, operates a branch store. Dothan is only about 90 miles from Panama City.



NINE ARRESTED SUNDAY

The sheriff's office reports nine arrests last Sunday. There were three in one bunch and six in the other bunch, all for violating the prohibition law.

The officers brought in 32 bottles of home brew and one capper Tuesday morning. No arrests were made in the raid.

One white man was arrested for violating the prohibition law Tuesday.

W. A. Currie and U. G. White

Here are the two "big guns" who are leading preliminary plans for the 15th Annual Convention of the Alabama Mmrchants Association, to be held in Birmingham September 3-4. They are, left, W. A. Currie, general chairman of convention plans, and right, U. C. White, whose home is at Athens, Alabama, president of the association.

ARE YOU GOOD AT GUESSING?

Try Your Skill At Tom Hilyer Farm On Saturday August 15

Local farmers will have a good chance to show their ability at estimating crop yields at the field meeting scheduled in Tom Hilyer's field on W. C. Robinson's farm near Cooper, August 15, Saturday.

The meeting has been arranged by County Agent C. E. Stapp, to show the progress of the cotton fertilization demonstration at the Hilyer farm. The object of the demonstration is to show the importance of quick-acting nitrogen on local soils. The demonstration field is divided into two sections, both of which received the same amount of phosphate and potash at planting. One of the plots received in addition 50 pounds of Chilean nitrate of soda per acre at planting and 150 pounds of nitrate as a side dressing shortly after the crop was chopped.

When farmers visit the demonstration, they will be invited to estimate the yields of the two plots. Their names and estimates will be put on slips which will be held by the County Agent until the crop is harvested. A prize of $5.00 will be given the farmer whose estimate is closest to the yield.

The meeting will start at 10 a. m., according to the County Agent. An interesting program has been planned so that the visitors will see and hear much that can be applied on their own farms. Farmers of this section are urged to bring their families and make a good half day of the meeting.

Saturday afternoon at 3.00 p. m., August 15, there will also be an estimating contest on the farm of Mr. A. F. Mims, Thorsby. A five-dollar gold piece will be offered as the prize for the successful guesser.

SEVERAL BITTEN BY A MAD CAT

People Of West End Are Taking Shots To Prevent Rabies

The community of West End Heights experienced quite an exciting time last Friday and Saturday, and all on account of a half-grown cat, belonging to Mrs. Will Hayes.

The kitten was a friendly and playful little fellow, and was a favorite with all the kids living near to the home of Mrs. Hayes, and all of them played with it, more or less, daily.

The first thing that indicated that anything was wrong with the little cat, while its mistress was busy about the cooking, it suddenly ran up and bit her on the ankle. Mr. Hayes came in pretty soon and did not like the situation so he took the cat out and killed it, cut off the head and sent it to the health department at Montgomery, and in a little time received a telegram stating that the cat had hydrophobia.

Then things began to happen. Mothers called up their kids and soon began to learn that quite a number of them had been bitten or scratched in their play with the unfortunate cat.

A check-up was made and an order sent through Dr. Napoleon Johnson for the anti-toxin treatment and the following victims are now calling on Dr. Johnson daily for this shot: Mrs. Will Hayes, and sons, J. C. and William Lee; Mrs. Dr. Odum; Lonnie Jones, son of Mrs. Betty Jones; Nellie Jones, daughter of Mrs. Walter Jones; Ewart and Ethel Corley, son and daughter of Mrs. W. B. Corley, and little Earl Corley, his grandson.

A boy about 9 years of age, named Lonnie Little, was bitten by a small pet dog about 3 weeks ago. The family have moved across town and I just heard that the boy was sick with hydrophobia symptoms.

A. A. JACKSON ASKS QUESTIONS ABOUT ALABAMA LEGISLATURE

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me just a small space in your valuable paper to say a few words? Since our legislature has adjourned I have been reading what some of the journals and newspapers of Alabama have said about the work that was done by this law-making body.

One said that more laws are needed to reform and regulate the Alabama legislature than to regulate the citizenry of the State. He said: "Now let's look at this matter in an unbiased, unprejudiced light and see if you do not agree with us that the legislature of the State needs reforming." The Constitution says that the legislature shall sit for 50 days only. But under the present economy administration it remained in session nearly seven months at an expense to the people of nearly a half million dollars.

Never before in the history of this state has a legislature of the state cost the people this enormous amount. This legislature voted to pay themselves about $20,000 for nine days that they were not in session. By what right or by what law did they do these things? Never before in the history of the state has a legislature been paid for time that they did not serve.

Now I want to ask the Hon. Percy M. Pitts if the above statements are true, and whether or not he voted for them to receive about $20,000 for nine days they were not in session.

Was there a single law passed by this legislature that was a benefit to the farmers of Chilton County? If so tell the farmers what they were. Mr. Farmers, you had better wake up, and stay on good terms with the judge and commissioners, so that when you get through gathering cotton, corn, peas, potatoes, and all farm products and turn it over to the one it belongs to, you then can ask for admittance to the almshouse, where you can get more and better food and clothes than the average farmer of Chilton County gets. What fools we mortal farmers be. Will come again soon if this does not go to the waste basket. Yours in sympathy with the crushed farmer.—A. A. Jackson.

ALABAMA COTTON CROP ESTIMATED 1,263,000 BALES

Indications on August 1 were that Alabama farmers will this year harvest 1,263,000 bales of cotton, according to a cotton report released by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician for the department of agriculture.

"Conditions of cotton in Alabama on August 1 was found to be 70 per cent of normal, which is 7 points above the condition last year at the same time, but one point below the condition on August 1, 1929," Mr. Gist said.

"The condition given is interpreted to promise a yield of 180 pounds of lint per acre, which on the acreage growing indicates a crop of 1,263,000 bales. This compares with 1,473,000 bales last year, and 1,342,000 in 1929. The acreage this year was estimated a month ago to be 3,410,000, a reduction of 10 per cent from last year."

SUNDAY SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF CHILTON CO. ASSOCIATION

We, the Committee on Recommendations for the Chilton County Sunday School Association, make the following recommendations:

For president, Brother Howard Oden, Maplesville, Ala., Route 1; for vice president, Brother Johnnie Minor; for second vice president, Brother Donald Merchant, Thorsby, Ala.; for secretary, Brother Eugene Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

We also recommend that quarter time churches pay $1.25 per year for defraying the expenses of the president, postage, etc., $2.50 for half time churches, and $5 for full time churches.

Respectfully submitted by committee.—G. G. Williams, O. R. Robinson, G. H. Carroll.

CAMP FOR BAPTIST GIRLS

The Y. W. A. and G. A. Camp will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. We are hoping all Baptist girls above nine years of age are planning to come. A good time and a profitable time is being planned. All the girls are expected to be at the Clanton Baptist Church by nine o'clock Tuesday morning. Bring a pillow, quilt and light blanket, a cup, plate, spoon, knife and fork, as well as the food suggested. Bring picnic lunch for Tuesday, and anything good to eat for the next two days, and come. We believe you will not regret it.—Mrs. C. C. Traywick, young people's leader; Mrs. S. J. Ezell, superintendent of Unity Association.

BACK FROM AUBURN

Earle Thomas of Isabella and J. P. Montgomery of Jemison, vocational teachers, have returned from Auburn, where they spent three weeks in a training school for vocational teachers. They will get the M. S. degree by virtue of their work in the special course.

Mr. Montgomery was in Clanton Monday and stated that he has his program for activity for the next year all worked out and ready to start when school opens again next month.

Mr. William Hester left Sunday for Auburn to resume his studies.

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Elmroe are on a trip to Chicago.

ANOTHER VARIETY STORE

Clanton will have another variety store when Mr. Dewey Rockett gets the west half of his hardware store converted into that kind of business. In this department he will handle dishes, electrical fixtures, light hardware articles, and many things useful around the home. He will have it on foot in a week or so.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

The pastor is this week engaged in a revival at Bell's Landing, a few miles below Camden, but will be back for his pulpit next Sunday.

Sunday school at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m. Preaching again at 8 o'clock p. m.

We begin a revival meeting at Isabella Methodist church Sunday at 3:30 o'clock. We invite all who will to worship with us. Preaching each morning at 10:30, and each night at 8 o'clock. The revival will likely last through Friday night.

We have room and a welcome for all. If the Methodist pastor can serve you in your needs he will be happy to do so. Come to church that we may know each other close to God's altar.

CAPT. M. D. MIMS DIED TUESDAY

Former Chilton County Man Buried In Arlington Cemetery

Capt. Martin D. Mims, U. S. A. Medical Administrative Corps, retired, who died Tuesday morning at Colonial Beach, Va., after a long illness, will be buried this afternoon in Arlington National Cemetery with military honors following funeral services at the Tabler funeral home, 928 M street northwest, at 2 o'clock.

Capt. Mims entered the Army Medical Corps in 1905. At the outbreak of the World War he was commissioned a first lieutenant, and in January, 1928, was promoted to the rank of captain. In September, 1929, he was retired for disability incident to service.

Officers who will act as honorary pallbearers this afternoon are: Maj. Raymond A. Kelser, Veterinary Corps; Maj. J. B. Harrington, Dental Corps; Maj. Miner F. Felch, Medical Corps; Capt. F. O. Wells, Capt. B. R. Luscomb and Capt. E. B. Sykes, of Medical Administrative Corps.

The foregoing relative to the death and burial of Capt. Douglas Mims is a clipping from a Washington newspaper.

He was a native of Chilton County, having been born and reared in the Fairview Commuity. His father was George Mims, who died 39 years ago. His mother, Mrs. Laura Durbin Mims, lives in West End now.

He had three brothers. George died some years ago. Rufus and Ernest are living. Capt. Mims left here 26 years ago. In addition to his services with the United States Army during the World War in France, he saw four years service in Honolulu and four years in Porto Rico. Before leaving Chilton County he was a teacher in the rural schools. He was 49 years old at the time of his death.

WETUMPKA FIRST BALE SELLS FOR 25 CENTS

The year's first bale of cotton ginned in Wetumpka was brought yesterday by M. Hohenberg and Company, who for over 50 years have bought the first bale in Wetumpka.

The cotton was grown by J. F. Adair and brought 25 cents a pound, a premium paid by Hohenberg and Company for the first bale. The bale weighed 373 pounds and was ginned by Cantlou and Company.—Montgomery Advertiser.

FIRST OPEN BOLL

The first open boll of cotton of this year was brought to The Union-Banner last Saturday by Jodie Miner. It came from the farm of R. N. Connell, near Refuge. It was stated that cotton on the farm of Mr. Connell began opening on August 5th. He expects to begin picking in the next few days.

PRICE OF COTTON HIT THE BOTTOM

Values Drop To Lowest Level Recorded In 32 Years

A wave of excited selling Monday carried cotton to the lowest prices seen in more than thirty years, and resulted in one of the most drastic breaks in the history of the cotton market.

On the New York markets Monday October cotton closed at 6.98 to 6.99. The closing figures Saturday before the government report came out was 8.12 to 8.13.

The government report which sent cotton prices tumbling below the bottom, said the crop estimate for this year was 15,584,000 bales.

It is estimated that the market break of Monday meant a loss of $100,000,000 to Southern planters, and many millions more to corelated business.

The local cotton market in Montgomery Tuesday morning as quoted from the Montgomery Advertiser was strict middling 6.35; middling 6.00; strict low middling 5.50.

Plant Austrian Peas October First

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

1,000,000 BUSHELS OF SEED IS GIN DAY GOAL

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 11.—County demonstration agents and Alabama cotton growers have set their goal "one million bushels of pure planting seed for 1932" as a result of special gin days in the fall of 1931. In this way they expect to increase production per acre and improve the quality of cotton produced in Alabama for only cotton of the best varities will be ginned.

Last fall farmers in different counties of the state observed 128 special gin days at which 125,740 bushels of good seed cotton were saved and planted in the spring of 1931. Much of the cotton produced from these seed—and also from other plating seed—will be ginned in the same way this fall.

Gin days, as recorded by J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn, provide for ginning only one variety on a gin at a gin day. Before such ginning is started each gin will be freed from cottonseed of other varieties. All cotton of the variety will be ginned continuously until the job is finished.

Although there are few outstanding varieties of cotton for Alabama a recent survey showed that 40 more varieties are being grown. Many of these are inferior in that they produce undesirable staple and produce low yields per acre. Consequently, gin days are essential to pure seed.

By observing gin days and saving the seed, four objectives will be attained, said Mr. Lowery. They are (1) a supply of good seed for planting next year; (2) keeping money in the state and not sending it out to buy seed; (3) production of uniform cotton with a better staple; and (4) a better reputation for Alabama cotton, thereby increasing the demand.

HOW TO RECONDITION FURNITURE IS TOLD

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 11.—No good piece of furniture should be relegated to the attic or destroyed merely because it is apparently worn out. Even that antiquated horsehair sofa which figured in the courtship of "Ma and Pa" can be reconditioned and made into an artistic and serviceable piece of furniture, says Nell Pickens, extension service economist of Auburn, whose home improvement projects during the past year have been responsible for the reconditioning of 3,896 pieces of furniture in rural homes of Alabama.

But Miss Pickens warns Alabama housewives that "there are antiques and antiques." Some are worth saving and some are not. Merely the fact that Uncle Silas made it before the Civil War does not guarantee its being a good piece of furniture. It must have attractive lines, balanced portions, and it must possess some artistic qualities.

With very little cost, straight back chairs may be bottomed with twisted corn shucks, dried blades, hickory splints, or webbing made from feed sacks. When cleaned up, they may be enameled, varnished, or staned to match the color scheme of any front porch or room.

Antiquated straight chairs of good design may be dressed up with colored covers or pads for seats and backs, using scrap material or dyed feed sacks.

Living room suites may be cheaply and attractively upholstered, using home materials, such as sack webbing, long gray moss (correctly prepared) and cotton for padding.

Uncomfortable chairs may be made comfortable and attractive by using worn-out quilts for padding and by inserting a few round springs for the cushion.

ALABAMA FARM NEWS

Franklin County farmers have planted more than 2 carloads of Irish potato seed. County agent J. D. Wood said that this is 100 per cent increase over last year.

Randolph County farmers are giving a lot of attention to gardens. They are planting, cultivating, and fertilizing in order to have good gardens through the fall and winter, said L. M. Hollingsworth, county agent.

The Cullman County Farm Bureau which is said to be the third largest county organization of farmers in the United States, is erecting a new building to handle the business of the organization. It provides warehouse space and offices.

Since W. A. Cammack became the county agent of Wilcox county, four years ago, cotton production has increased from 11,000 bales in 1928 to 13,000 in 1929, and 16,000 in 1930. Before he began work annual production in that county was around 9,000 bales.

Henry County farmers are expected by C. S. Keller, county agent, to plant this fall, 200,000 pounds of Austrian peas. Henry was the leading winter legume county in the southeast Alabama last year and an effort is being made to retain this position.

Members of the Alabama-Florida wool growers association recently sold 55,000 pounds of wool for 16 cents per pound. Following this sale they are planning to add beef cattle to sheep and other livestock, said E. E. Hale, county agent, who hopes to place 50 bulls in the county this year.

POLLY CHILDRESS CEMETERY

All who are interested in the Polly Childress cemetery please meet Thursday week, August 20th, to clean the cemetery off.

OLD BOOK SINGING

Remember our annual all day singing convenes at Pilgrims Rest Church, south of Pletcher, on the fourth Sunday, August 23rd, beginning about 9:30 o'clock.

Also, don't forget to come to New Hope, east of Jemison, next Sunday. Everybody is invited to attend both of these singings. Bring your books and take part with us. Yours for a great day's service.—J. N. Scott.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

We are glad to say that our Sunday school is still improving, and we hope that by the Lord's help our Sunday school will continue to improve.

Our Sunday school opens every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. We have a nice attendance most every Sunday. May all who are not coming now, be with us soon and get interested in the work, and be with us every Sunday.

May those also who are hindered on account of sickness, soon be able to come back and be with us in God's work.

Let's everybody come to Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Everybody is cordially invited.

I. G. A. Specials This Week-End

TOILET SOAP, I. G. A. White Floating 5 bars 19c

BEAUTY SOAP I. G. A., 2 cakes 15c

LAUNDRY SOAP, I. G. A., White, 7 bars 25c

CLEANSER, I. G. A. can 5c

COFFEE — ALWAYS FRESH

"I" Blend	lb. pkg.	33c
"G" Blend	lb. pkg.	25c
"A" Blend	lb. pkg.	21c

TEA, I. G. A. Quarter-pound pkg. Finest Orange Pekoe 21c

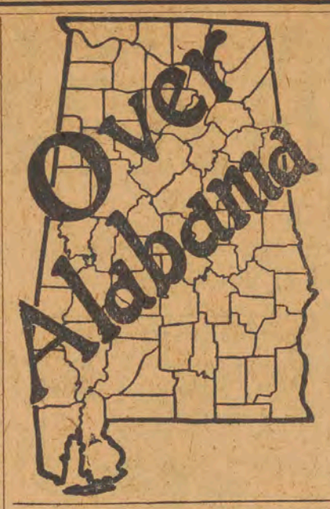
CALIFORNIA LEMONS, dozen 21c

PORK AND BEANS Campbell's, large can 8c

FANCY TINY PEAS I. G. A., Petit Pois large can 21c

RICE KRISPIES Kellogg's, 2 pkgs 25c

FANCY WHITE RICE, I. G. A. 3-lb. package 23c



PREMIUM CRACKERS, NBC, 2-lb. box 25c

SLICED BACON, Sunlight Rindless, lb. 25c

FLOUR, I. G. A. Plain or Self Rising 24 lb bag 85c

FLOUR, Duchess Self Rising or Columbia Plain 24 lb bag 65c

At All I. G. A. Stores

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Gadsden voted 361 to 60 to issue $175,000 bonds to retire a floating debt of like amount.

The Birmingham City Commission bill was killed by a pocket veto by Gov. B. M. Miller.

The State Secondary Agricultural School at Hamilton will open its Fall session on Monday, Aug. 17.

Governor B. M. Miller has appointed Leonard W. Price, Evergreen, as judge of probate for Conecuh County.

While drinking a cup of coffee in a restaurant, J. Johnston Moore, 52, Montgomery druggist, died suddenly.

Dates for the annual Madison County fair have been announced by the secretary, Miss Marie Dickinson, as Sept. 22-26.

The education club of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute held its annual meeting recently at Vaughan's Mill in Macon County.

Immediate retrenchment in all Highway Department activities has been ordered by Gov. B. M. Miller "due to inadequate funds."

Stricken while teaching a B. Y. P. U. class at Northport, Mrs. Ora Wise Hamner, 41, died three hours later in Druid City Hospital.

Paul H. Wilson, 24, Inglenook, was drowned in the Coosa River near Riverside, Ala., where he had gone with three companions on a fishing trip.

Ralph Guthrie, young white boy, was saved from drowning in Alabama River by his negro friend, Sol Goldsby, as Tommie Phillips, eight-year-old negro, drowned.

Dr. Douglas Cannon, administrative assistant of the State Department of Health, has appointed Dr. O. L. Chason, of Lee County, as field advisor in administrative practice.

Discovery of thousands of dollars worth of loot in their mountain home near Huntsville, caused the arrest of Dick Schrimsher, his wife and their son, Burt Schrimsher.

Birmingham was selected for the 1932 meeting of the Grand Lodge of Alabama of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at the 1931 meeting of the grand lodge in Bessemer.

The Advent Christian Churches of North Alabama and Northwest Georgia will hold a special conference at Cranford Chapel, three miles east of Gadsden, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 14 and 15.

The annual neighborhood barbecue at Hazel Green drew a big crowd despite the rainy weather. Senator Hugo Black and I. T. Quinn, state conservation commissioner, were the principal speakers.

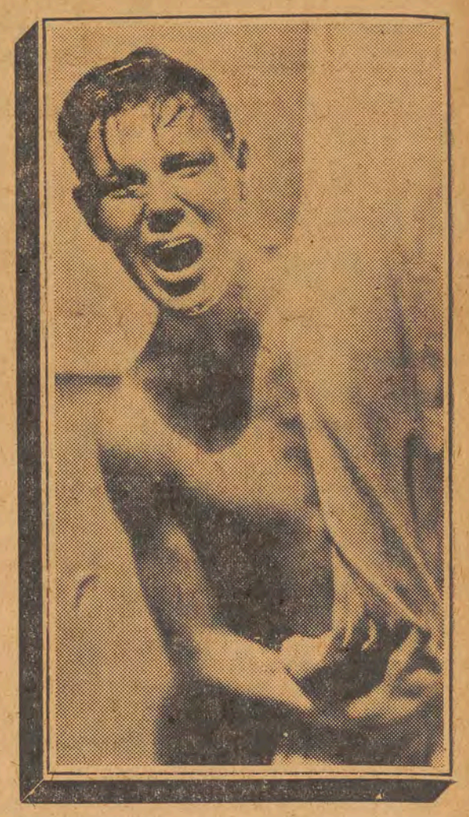
The Alabama Public Service Commission has set for hearing on Sept. 15 at Montgomery the petition of the city of Troy for lower rates on bulk current from the Alabama Utilities Company.

Miller I. Francis, of near Ohatchee, has received papers informing him that he is one of the 13 members of the Alabama civilian rifle team that will represent the state in the national rifle matches.

W. F. Barr, constable at Florence, was shot to death and Harris George Mitchell was shot in the hand when they were fired on by a negro whom Barr had placed under arrest on charges of robbery.

R. A. Bridges was convicted of murder in the first degree of Ned van Merkenstyn, who was killed in the dynamiting of the Pure Milk Company's plant in Birmingham July 10, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Edward Pettit, employe of Allied Engineers, Inc., was severely burned by an electric flash while repairing high tension wires at Gadsden. Hospital authorities said while he was seriously hurt, he was in no immediate danger.



A man giving his name as E. A. King, 31, Huntsville, has been placed in the Tuscaloosa County jail on charges of highway robbery in connection with an investigation of the holding up of M. V. Sutton near Coker, Ala.

Seth P. Storrs, state commissioner of agriculture and industries, announced he would not attend the cotton conference of Southern governors at Dallas, Texas, because the conference was "not vital to Alabama cotton growers."

W. W. Hudson has been stationed at Selma as federal prohibition agent for the northern district of the Southern District of Alabama, making his headquarters at the office of the county sheriff. He will serve the counties of Dallas, Perry, Hale, Marengo and Wilcox.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

"HOW ABOUT SOME HOT WATER" ?

WHAT a familiar sound! Evening papers or bridge games deserted for the second or third time to relight the heater. Isn't it easy to remember the countless times such a shout has echoed through the house—some night you'd intended to be so restful, or some rushed school morning when every second meant a minute? The logical solution to your hot water problem is an automatic electric water heater. It never has to be lighted—it will supply as much hot water as your family wants ANY TIME they want it

$20 For Your Old Heater

Terms: $5.00 Down and 30 Months to Pay

The average American family pays only about 9 cents per day or an average of 6 cents per kilowatt hour for electricity. In Alabama the average rate is only 5.05 cents per kilowatt hour, or about 17 per cent less than the national average.

ALABAMA POWER CO.

FARM MEETINGS WILL BE HELD

County Agent Stapp Will Push Campaign For Winter Legumes

County Agent Stapp is anxious to see every farmer in Chilton County plant at least 5 acres of Austrian winter peas or vetch per plow. While in attendance at the meeting at Auburn in June, Mr. Stapp made plans for an extensive soil-building campaign this fall. He has already sent out four circular letters pertaining to the campaign. He has offered nice prizes to the club boys who are most active in the campaign. The banks of the county are cooperating in a splendid way. In an effort to reach as many people personal-

Jackson Chapel, Monday, August 17, 7:00 p. m.

Union Grove, Tuesday, August 18, 7:00 p. m.

Freeman, Wednesday, August 19, 7:00 p. m.

Pinedale, Thursday, August 20, 7:00 p. m.

Verbena, Friday, August 21, 7:00 p. m.

Mr. Stapp regrets that he will not be able to visit every schoolhouse in the county, but feels that practically everyone in the county can easily teach one of the above schools. At these meetings Mr. Stapp will give the latest recommendations of the experiment station.

FOX'S BARGAINS

ICE CREAM FREEZERS ½-gallon size $1.25

WASH PANS Enamel 25c

COMPLETE LAMP Ready to light 49c

CLOTHES PINS 72 for 20c

BOTTLE CAPS per dozen 2c

TEA SPOONS set of 6 for 15c

TABLE SPOONS 3 for 20c

COFFEE PERCOLATORS ½-gallon size 87c

ALUMINUM KETTLES 2-gallon size $1.75

DISH PANS Enamel 80c

W. W. FOX
VARIETY STORE
Clanton - - Alabama

OAK HILL

We will begin our revival meeting at Oak Hill M. E. Church, two miles northeast of Jemison, on next Sunday, August 16th.

The preaching will be done by Rev. Wallace A. Murphree of Birmingham, Ala., who is district superintendent of the Birmingham district of the M. E. church.

Rev. Murphree is quite an able preacher and one of the best singers of the south. It will be a treat to hear him sing. So come out and hear him. Everyone has an invitaton to come out to the services at Oak Hill. And we especially invite the other denominations to come and worship with us, as we believe in a religion that will spread out over the world.—A. H. Glasscock.

J. R. LOVELADY DIED

Sunday night, August 2, 1931, at 8 o'clock, a gentle voice whispered "come" and the great spirit of Mr. J. R. Lovelady took its flight to be with God. He was a loyal member of Medline church. His character was never more manifest than during his last days. Each day was filled with loving devotion and cheerfulness towards his friends and family.

Funeral services were conducted by Bro. Buford Lawrence of Clanton. Scripture reading was from the 39 and 90th Psalms. Bro. Lawrence made a very touching talk, and the singing was touching by a special choir. Mr. Lovelady was a member of the Woodmen and the closing funeral services were conducted by the Woodmen fraternity. The body was laid to rest in Chestnut Hill cemetery, near his home.

Mr. Lovelady was born on May 2, 1872, was 59 years old. He married Miss Willie O'Neal and to this union was born ten children of which two sons and three daughters survive. He leaves his loving wife and these five children to sorrow for him.

Weep not, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away." Blessed be the name of the Lord.—A friend, Mrs. C. C. Gay.

Charles Wade is seriously ill with typhoid at his home in Calera.

Mr. Hawkins of Birmingham, father of the boy who was hurt in the wreck at Lomax Sunday night, was here to see his son, who is in the Central Alabama Hospital.

GULF Venom KILLS Flies and Mosquitoes Roaches, Ants Moths, Bed-Bugs

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered Druggist
THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

If you own an Insurance Policy

You owe it to yourself and to your dependents to give careful attention to the transportation problems that confront America today. You should protect your protection by patronizing the railroads, for the great life insurance companies of America have invested practically 20% of the money that you have paid them in premiums in railroad securities, and unless the railroads are restored to a sound earning basis, the value of these securities will be seriously lessened.

The magnitude of the investment by life insurance companies in rail securities may be appreciated when these facts are considered: Each man, woman and child in the United States is, on the average, protected to the extent of $900.00 by life insurance and each family to the extent of $3,900.00. At the time this announcement is being prepared there is an astounding total of one hundred and eight billion dollars worth of life insurance in effect in the United States, with a total of sixty-eight million individual policies. If you are one of these policy-holders, you are in reality a part owner of the railroads and therefore you should be exerting every effort to preserve the safety of your interests.

Railroad operation and earning capacity are being threatened by the unfair and poorly-regulated invasion of competitive transportation agencies. The railroads are not attacking any form of transportation, but are simply appealing to the fair-mindedness of the American people, so that all public carriers shall be operated under the same restrictions and regulations, and with equalization of taxation.

The Railroads Must Earn To Spend

¶ Travel by train, ship by train, patronize the steam railroads of America, and you will not only be getting the finest, safest and most satisfactory form of transportation the world has ever known, but you will also be protecting your protection, by assisting the railroads in earning a fair return on their properties.

The railroads built this nation. They must continue to be the backbone of its transportation system. See that they get a square deal.

L-3

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

WHEN HAMILTON SOUNDED OUT WASHINGTON ON THE PRESIDENCY

Politicians and statesmen of the newly founded nation, the United States of America, were busy in the late summer and fall of 1788, arranging to put the Constitution, which had recently been adopted, into effect. From 1781 to 1789, the United States was governed by the Articles of Confederation, a loose system of government which the jealousy and rivalry of the individual states made imperative. But now the nation was more ready for a more centralized form of government.

When New Hampshire ratified the Constitution on June 21, 1788, being the ninth state to approve the document, and consequently making the Constitution the law of the land, preparations were begun to get this new legal system into operation. Virginia ratified on June 26,1788, and New York followed exactly one month later. With the two largest states within the fold, the path was now smooth to change the machinery of the government.

Who was to be chosen president? That was the important question and the one which was being asked by both sides. George Washington, of course, was the outstanding man for the position. The honor was his if he would accept it.

But Washington was very happy as a farmer at Mount Vernon. He had served his country long and faithfully and was now desirous of enjoying the domestic tranquility which he had always longed for. True, he acted as presiding officer of the Constitutional Convention and exerted considerable influence in the struggle for ratification in Virginia. But as far as the presidency of the government was concerned, Washington honestly preferred that someone else take over the burden of leading the nation.

Alexander Hamilton, without a doubt, one of the greatest politicians ever produced in America, thought and felt differently. With Washington at the helm, Hamilton visualized a strong orderly government; should Washington refuse to be a candidate, Hamilton foresaw a big scramble for the office, with consequent bitter feelings.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pitts and children have returned after an extended trip through Florida and Georgia.

CONCORD — BILLINGSLEY

We were glad to have such a large crowd with us last Sunday afternoon at our singing, especially do we want to thank the visiting singers for their presence and help. We invite you to come every time possible and bring your friends with you.

Our Sunday school and Christian Endeavor is going on nicely although we are few in number, but we are trying to get more to come and help build up our Sunday school and C. E.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kynard of Selma spent Thursday with their daughter, Mrs. W. A. Williams.

Miss Virginia Little dined with Miss Bessie Williams last Sunday.

Mr. Lon Buzbee and daughters, Myrl and Inez, of Clanton, spent the past week end with friends and relatives here.

Mrs. J. P. Williams and little daughter, Mary Ulin, had dinner with Mrs. W. A. Williams Sunday.

Mrs. J. F. Shepard of Clanton spent the past week end with her mother, Mrs. W. W. Williams.

Miss Dorothy Kynard of Selma is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Williams.

Little Misses Etta and Charles Woodward Herod of Haynes spent the past week end with relatives here.

NOTICE

The Chilton County Board of Education is asking for sealed bids on two reooms to be erected at Isabella according to plans and sepcifications furnished by the State Department of Education, said plans known as 6-1-F. The framing, storm sheathing and roof are already erected. The contract will be for the completion of the job. The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. These bids will be opened in my ofice on Saturday, August 15 at 2:00 p.m. A builder's bond or Cashier's check of $50.00 will be required on each bid.

B. LAWRENCE,
County Superintendent Education.

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic

West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 16

SOWING AND REAPING
(Temperance Lesson.)

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 6:1-10
GOLDEN TEXT—Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying the Law.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Obeying the Law.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sowing and Reaping (Effects of Alcohol).
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Sowing and Reaping (Effects of Alcohol).

In chapters three and four Paul presented in a masterful way the heart of Christianity; namely, that justification is by faith in the atoning work of Christ rather than by the works of the law. In chapters five and six he made practical application of the doctrine to the affairs of life. Gracious justification by faith is the dynamic for right living. Those who are freely justified in Christ will manifest the fact by the following conduct:

I. Restore the Sinning Brother (v. 1).

1. Who he is. "The one overtaken in a fault." The idea expressed by the word "fault" is not to minimize the sin, but to show the suddenness of the temptation. One's spirituality is shown by his willingness to help in such a case.

2. What is to be done. He is to be "restored." Restore is a surgical term which means the placing back of a dislocated member to its normal place. Christians are members of the body of Christ. Therefore, the sinning of a brother should as really give us pain as the dislocation of a member of our body.

3. How it is to be done. "In a spirit of meekness." Harshness has no place in the life of a Christian. The fruit of the Spirit is love, meekness, etc. The believer must show his right to claim the life in the heavenlies by stooping down to help the brother crippled and besmeared in the dirt of earth.

4. The incentive. "Lest thou also be tempted." No one is immune from temptation. The surest way to be fortified against temptation is to go sympathetically to the rescue of the fallen.

II. Bear One Another's Burdens (v. 2).

Many are the burdens of life: burdens of weakness, temptations of a fallen nature, sorrow, suffering, and sin. Some have more temptations than others. Since believers are inseparably bound together, the strong should bear the infirmities of the weak. Christ is the supreme burden bearer. When we bear one another's burdens, we fulfill the law of Christ. Many have inherited the appetite for intoxicating liquors, and the spirit of burden bearing will move us to make our utmost endeavor to remove far away the temptation to strong drink.

III. Bear Our Own Burdens (vv. 3-5).

There are some burdens which can be borne alone by the individual. Personal responsibility cannot be escaped. In a most real sense every man lives his life alone. Helpful as is sympathy, human and divine, greatly as we need the helping hand of our brother, the individual must live his own life. The law of God which is in harmony with the law which controls the individual declares, "The soul that sinneth it shall die."

IV. Support Teachers of God's Word (vv. 6-8).

It is incumbent upon those who are taught in God's Word to give of their means for the support of the teacher. To repudiate this obligation is to mock God (v. 7), for God has ordained that they who preach the gospel shall live of the gospel (I Cor. 9:14). The declaration, "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap," sets forth a law which operates in all spheres of life.

V. Be Earnest in Well Doing (v. 9).

The harvest is sure. Sow good seed and patiently wait for the reward. The same unfailing law which evenuates in a harvest of corruption to those who sow to the flesh will bring life everlasting to those who sow to the Spirit.

VI. Work for the Good of All Men (v. 10).

The believer in Christ who realizes his freedom will have sympathies and interests as wide as the race. While especially endeavoring to help those in Christ, he will be reaching out to all men. He will be seeking to win them to Christ. This obligation to work for the good of all men applies in such matters as the abolition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

The Righteous

The righteous are as trees of life; the fruits of their piety and charity, their instructions, reproofs, examples and prayers, their interest in heaven and their influence on earth are like the fruits of that tree, precious and useful, contributing to the support and nourishment of the spiritual life in many.—Matthew Henry.

When Learning Is Useful

Education is useful, but when it ignores God it is destructive.—Babson.

Udah Curlee has returned from summer school at Jacksonville Teachers College.

CENTRAL SINGERS MET AT WALNUT CREEK LAST SUNDAY

Walnut Creek was the regular meeting place of the Central Singing Society last Sunday afternoon. The chairman and both vice chairmen being absent, the society was presided over by the secretary. There were not so many singers present, but the singing was very good and enjoyed by those present. Directors were: Willie Mims, S. V. Miller, R. E. Powell, Howard Wyatt, Rufus Miller, Chester Wyatt, Jesse Baker, C. H. Robinson, and W. G. Culp.

The question of buying new books was carried over to next Sunday afternoon, when it is hoped that more of the members will be present and express their views about it.

The society will meet with the Refuge class next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members of the society as well as the officers are urged to be present. Everyone that has a new 1932 Morris-Henson book, or if you have a supply of the books, have them on hand. It is expected that the society will purchase some of these books.

Mrs. R. D. Woodson of Lay Dam is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. George Ogdin (Martha Dobson) at Athens, Tenn.

BILIOUSNESS CLEARED UP

BILIOUSNESS may show itself by a coated tongue, bad breath, headache, spots before the eyes, dizziness, poor appetite, "dopiness," but prompt relief may be expected from taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

"When I got bilious, I had a bad taste in my mouth, and then severe headaches that put me to bed," writes Mrs. Anna Copeland, Anderson, S. C. "I found Black-Draught relieved this. I felt better after taking it. Black-Draught certainly is a good medicine."

It would not have been used so long, or by so many, if it wasn't really good. Get a 25¢ package at the drug store.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

For CONSTIPATION INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS

FNA-14

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at Farmers Hardware Co.

SINGING CONVENTION

The fall session of the sacred harp and the Christian harmony singing convention of Chilton County will meet at Lomax church on the first Sunday in September, and the Saturday before. All are invited.—Chairman.

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

The Christian Endeavor social which was had at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Chastine last Friday night was very good. We were very sorry that all could not attend, but on account of unfavorable weather there were only a few present, but they reported a nice time together.

We would like to speak a word in regard to our Junior Christian Endeavor society. They are doing a splendid work and have almost as many members as the Senior Society. They come every Sunday night and seem very much interested.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Williams and Miss Dorothy Kynard spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hicks and family of Billingsley.

Miss Sarah Weldon spent a few days the past week with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Weldon, of Shiloh community.

Miss Allie Williams spent the latter part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Williams and family of Shiloh community.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams were the Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Popwell, of near Thorsby.

Little Misses Elsie and Catherine Herrod of Haynes are spending the week with their grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Williams.

LIBERTY HILL

Rev. J. S. Holland filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday. The singing society met at 2:00 p. m. with a large crowd in attendance, and good singing.

Directors for the afternoon were: J. W. Lowery, F. I. Popwell, Herman Littlejohn, Dr. Williams, S. A. Henley, Mack Durbin. Pianists were F. I. Popwell, Miss Gertie Lee Lowery, and Mrs. Earl Williams.

We were proud to have the visitors with us, and invite them to come again. Prof. J. W. Lowery is teaching a singing school here.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON

State of Alabama, Chilton County:

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Governor and Pardon Board of Alabama for the parole of Robert Wilson, convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, on April 3rd, 1925, of grand larceny.

8-6-2t-ch ROBERT WILSON.

WEST CHILTON

The rains continue. The fruit crop is simply immense. Melons galore. Here we are in the midst of plenty. Yet from some viewpoints the situation is disparaging. But those who keep thinking, and keep trying are the ones who win.

By the way, are we going to fall down on diversification? We admit the present is not glowing with rose colors.

Dr. Moore of the health department at Montgomery, was here last week looking after vital statistics.

Revival services at Macedonia this week; Bro. Lawrence in charge.

Mrs. Allen Chapman was buried last Sunday at Shady Grove in Bibb County.

The authorities are looking after our roads over on this side. We hear that the road leading from Maplesville north is in a fine condition. This road, in former days, became really disagreeable.

We believe it is the "Man on the Corner" that admires the Crepe Myrtle. We know of no shrub more beautiful. Line the lanes and waste places with the myrtle, then what beauty would crown the countryside in the waning days of summer. Biblical lore, we believe, tells us the myrtle will supplant the brier. Let that be symbolic or literal, it implores a radical change and great beauty.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and relatives for their kindness shown during the short illness and sudden death of our dear father, Z. T. McMurray, on July 25th. May the Lord's blessings be with you all.—Jack McMurray and family.

CEDAR GROVE

There will be a working in the cemetery at this place next Wednesday week, August 19th. All interested parties are requested to be here early with tools to do the work. There will be a house cleaning also. —S. A. Eiland.

APPLICATION FOR PARDON OR PAROLE

Notice is hereby given that Eugene Davis (alias Dale) who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County on September 18, 1930, on a charge of burglary and grand larceny and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of 2 to 3 years, will make application for pardon or parole.—Eugene Davis (alias Dale) 8-13 2tc

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Mullins Academy, Beat 1	Oct. 5	Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17
Jemison, Beat 2	Oct. 6	Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19
Mars Hill, Beat 2	Oct. 7	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
		Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.

AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Ala., as Second Class Mail Matter, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

A New York youth was arrested for stealing a box full of soil from a park to grow flowers with. If you want to steal soil and get away with it, you want to do it on a big scale, like the soviets, for instance.

"Many go to the mountains for rest this year," says a summer travel note. And many more of us will have to be content with the molehills and let our imagination do the rest.

Two druggists were talking about one of their confreres.

"He is a great druggist," said one.

"He is," admitted the other. "But don't you think he makes his chicken salad a little too salty?"

A Los Angeles preacher took over that Washington sky pilot who talked continuously for twelve hours, and went him eight better. This sort of thing should not be permitted in ecclesiastical circles. It seems an infringement on Senatorial prerogatives.

"Good cook is offered splendid view from kitchen window of main thoroughfare with constant arrests, small accidents, ambulance calls, and other interesting incidents at all hours of the day and evening.—Ad in an English paper.

Judge (sternly)—"Well what is your alibi for speeding fifty miles an hour?"

George—"I had just heard, your honor, that the ladies of my wife's church were giving a rumage sale, and I was hurrying home to save my other pair of pants."

"Case dismissed."

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

The developments during the past few weeks in Europe have brought additional proof of the wisdom of Uncle Sam in keeping out of European political affairs. So complicated is the situation over there that there is no agreement as to how it got into its present acute stage, and it is so dangerous that there is no telling what will happen next. Predictions made for a period of longer than twenty-four hours as to what will happen in Europe is decidedly unsafe.

The only fact on which most of the international politicians and statesmen agree is that Germany is in bad shape financially, and that this condition may result in dangerous action. As to the cause of the Reich's present plight, there seems to be a great deal of disagreement. Twice since the armistice was signed, some of the world's so-called financial experts have met to solve the German problem and fix things up so Germany could pay reparations. Both of the programs adopted have come to grief. Germany, of course, blames her troubles to the great reparations load which she was compelled to assume, coupled with deep and dark machinations on the part of France. toms accord, which, so the Germans aver, The Germans say that the French are determined to destroy the Austro-German cuswas made in an effort to pull both countries out of the hole financially and which could be widened to take in other countries. They say that France, by financial manipulation, caused the bank crisis in Austria which shook the financial world a few weeks ago, and then after the Hoover moratorium, extended the crisis to Germany by undermining German credit and causing the withdrawal of foreign capital from Germany, the purpose being to destroy the customs agreement.

On the other hand the French declare that Germany's condition is due to bad financial management on the part of Germany herself. The French say that it has been so easy for Germany to get loans during the days of quasi-prosperity, that she became extravagant, and that in addition, she wasted money in an effort to show that she couldn't carry the reparations burden. The French do not deny their hostility to the Austro-German customs agreement, which, they say, is only preliminary to the annexation of Austria by Germany, which they, the French will permit. They also claim that by permitting the nationalist movement in Germany to flourish, suspicion has been aroused in France, and that it is Germany's fault that the two countries are growing farther apart.

And there you are. Just what the exact truth is, few if any people know, and they are not telling. Perhaps there is some fault on both sides. Certain it is that there has been hostility between the French and German people since the days of Caesar and even before that.

Other nations of Europe have various viewpoints on the situation. The nations associated with the allies in the great war with the exception of Italy and Russia, seem to sympathize with the French position, while nations sympathetic to Germany in the historic struggle, take the German standoint. In all the confusion and difference of opinion, what can Uncle Sam do? True it is that there will be no lasting peace in Europe until the German and French republics become friendly. But how to bring that about is a problem the solution of which has not yet been found. Certain it is that Uncle Sam wants no political involvements in a mess of this kind. The administration will have the confidence and support of ninety-eight per cent of the people of America, if it keeps out of the European political complications. All of the arguments of the statesmen who opposed our entering the League of Nations during the Wilson administration have been proved logical and sound by subsequent events. There could not be a less suspicious time than the present for taking a swim in the troubled political waters of Europe.

HAD YOU EVER THOUGHT ABOUT THIS?

Doubtless you are the owner of a life insurance policy. A vast majority of the business and professional men and women of America carry the protection of life insurance.

Had you ever thought about what relation of interest there is between your life insurance and the railroads of this country?

An advertisement by the L. & N. Railroad discusses this subject in a manner that should attract the serious consideration of every life insurance policy holder. It says:

"If you own an insurance policy, you owe it to yourself and to your dependents to give careful attention to the transportation problems that confront America today. You should protect your protection by patronizing the railroads, for the great life insurance companies of America have invested practically 20 per cent of the money that you have paid them in premiums in railroad securieties, and unless the railroads are restored to a sound earning basis, the value of these securities will be seriously lessened.

"The magnitude of the investment by life insurance companies in rail securities may be appreciated when these facts are considered: Each man, woman and child in the United States is, on the average, protected to the extent of $900.00 by life insurance and each family to the extent of $3,900.00. At the time this announcement is being prepared there is an astounding total of one hundred and eight billion dollars worth of life insurance in effect in the United States, with a total of sixty-eight million individual policies. If you are one of these policyholders. you are in reality a part owner of the railroads and therefore you should be exerting every effort to preserve the safety of your interests.

"Railroad operation and earning capacity are being threatened by the unfair and poorly-regulated invasion of competitive transportation agencies. The railroads are not attacking any form of transportation, but are simply appealing to the fairmindedness of the American people, so that all public carriers shall be operated under the same restrictions and regulations, and with equalization of taxation.

"Travel by train, ship by train, patronize the steam railroads of America, and you will not only be getting the finest, safest and most satisfactory form of transportation the world has ever known, but you will also be protecting your protection, by assisting the railroads in earning a fair return on their properties.

"The railroads built this nation. They must continue to be the backbone of its transportation system. See that they get a square deal."

WHAT PRICE POLITICS

Alabama has just emerged from a political campaign in which unscrupulous politicians villified and abused good American citizens for their allegiance to good government. Crookedness generally was practiced by those adulterated adherents to a party label who camouflaged themselves as "loyal" Democrats.

A partisan, prejudiced press has pandered to the prejudice of the people and suppressed news that was necessary to the formation of an intelligent opinion. And this kind of work has not been stopped. In some of its phases it is still being carried on.

What is the result?

Our women are paying the price of this despicable political trickery.

The law enforcement department was abolished as an offering to the lawless to line their vote up for "party loyalty."

The result: More crimes against women in eight months of the "Feagin" administration than in four years previous. Bombing, murder, rape, robbery and other felonies being committed by the wholesale. Alabama leading the world in the commission of crime.

The criminal knows he has nothing to fear from the helpless, hopeless, impossible, incompetent possessor of stolen political fruits who dances to every tune that Governor Feagin plays.

Former Sheriffs of Jefferson County, with the assistance of state law enforcement officers, have apprehended murderers and rapists, put them in jail and brought them before the courts. Without the assistance of the state law enforcement officers the present loyal administration in the sheriff's office is making a poor showing in apprehending the perpetrators of major crime.

Some way should be devised to make these loud-mouthed, hypocritical, selfish, selfseeking politicians, who are in a large measure responsible for the present deplorable conditions, suffer for the conditions which they have helped to create. It is a pity that innocent women have to pay the price of such despicable conduct.

If there ever was a time when judges, solicitors, sheriffs and every other person connected with the enforcement of law should abandon everything else but the business of enforcing the law, that time is now.

The program of the preachers of political hate has temporarily triumphed. "Loyallty" has been enthroned. Alabama is prostrate. Her women are at the mercy of fiends.

What price politics?

Only God can tell.

—The Birmingham Independent.

ONE OF THE JOYS OF THE PRIMARY

The ruling he was obliged to make in dismissing the contention by George A. Dingman, former drain commissioner in Wayne County, that he is entitled to his old office, now held by Harry I. Dingeman, provided Judge Fred S. Lamb with ample justification for his statement that the primary system is a "legal abortion." The characterization is vigorous, but not over-extreme.

The situation that brought about the discomfiture of Mr. Dingman through a confusion of similar names in the minds of the voters si familiar to the local public. Its ins and outs have been set forth many times, and it is unnecessary to set them forth here. Such a state of things could not have arisen under a sensible system of nominating and electing public officers. But under the primary system it is relatively frequent, and generally is produced with deliberate intent, as a political trick. Nor is there anything that can be done about it as long as the promary system is retained.

The only action to take is to get rid of the primary by returning to the methods and principles which were the foundation of the old convention system, that, in its worst days, was at least susceptible of quick reform whenever the voters of a party or community cared to assert themselves. With the primary things are different. because it is fundamentally wrong, and the abuses and weaknesses that arise under it are natural outgrowths of its monstrousness.—Detroit Free Press.

A musical critic says that the jazz age is over. Yes, all over everything.

Cheer Up—Gloom is a sheer waste of emotion and energy.

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

For the past few weeks we have been suffering from the intense heat of summer and wondering why the city does not have some sort of a park or esplanade where our people could go for congenial and educational recreation. There are several spots right close around town where such a park could well be developed and would certainly add to the attractiveness of the city. Here could be erected a municipal swimming pool, miniature golf links, skating rink and also have a considerable amount of playground equipment installed for the kiddies. Such an enterprise owned and operated by the city would furnish an outlet for a great amount of enthusiasm and sporting blood which is now held in check by the lack of adequate means of working off this stored up energy.

The Sweeper would like to see the city counsel get behind a movement that would give us such a park or recreational ground before another summer is upon us. We have just recently spent two weeks in our neighboring city—Prattville—and the convenience and pleasure to be derived from a visit to Pratt Park there is great indeed. After our visits to this splendid city park, we have felt that Clanton too, could have just such a place of amusement if the people would only get behind the thing.

If the city does not feel that it could put over such a program, we have several individuals who are able and in a position to sponsor such a development from a private enterprise angle. At any rate, let us have a park with such amusement features as above mentioned by next summer.

While there is some talk and possibly a lot of figuring being done among the officials and citizens of the city about the paving of some of the residential streets, we would again call attention to the need for some better lighting arrangement of the "down town" business section—some system which is in line with and produces as good results as does a white way. Of course a white way is somewhat expensive to install, the added beauty of the streets on which such a system is installed, together with the much more adequate lighting of said streets, will more than pay for the expense involved. First impressions, both of persons and cities and towns are usually the most lasting, and if we are to grow as a city located like Clanton is, then we must bend every effort to make our city attractive to the passerby. Additions to the population and new families do not just "happen." They are always people who are attracted to our city because of some special feature they have discovered which appealed to them sometime when just "passing thru."

No one likes to live in a city which is not up-to-date in every respect, and we know of nothing which reflects the progressiveness of a small city such as Clanton, than a well planned white way. We have the main business streets all paved and now all we need to add the finishing touches is a white way lighting system on these streets. And now while there is talk and figuring going on relative to the paving of residential streets, why not strain the point a little farther and include a white way in the program?

We would like to call attention to the widely diverging opinions of different classes and races of people. For the past few months the papers have been full of the efforts of numerous organizations for the prevention of this, or that; for the protection of some sect, creed or race; for the propogation of some fool stunt or other, to keep those six Scottsboro negroes from going to the electric chair for the murder of a white girl. This takes on an added interest when it is considered from the standpoint that in almost every instance these organizations which have been beseiging the courts in behalf of those negroes are made up of white people—or at least people who pass for or claim to belong to the white race. We are constrained to wonder when the foreign element of our country who are concerning themselves over the communistic movement will ever learn that the American people are competent to issue justice under such circumstances without the assistance of such organizations. Such organizations as these should take a lesson from the action of the several negro orders in Birmingham who have offered a cash reward and are bending their every effort to a conscientious assistance of the authorities in the capture of the negro who murdered Miss Augusta Williams in that city last week. Let them take a lesson from these negroes who want justice done, even to their own race, and keep their hands off our courts and quit trying to run this country their way.

One thing that seems to grow in all kinds of climate and under all weather conditions is the idle rumor.

What the French seem to want of the German government is a money-back guarantee.

When you hear about all these financial crises and revolutionary threats in Europe it makes you feel that the United States isn't such a bad place after all, even if we aren't going quite as fast as we used to.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of August 9, 1906

The Chilton County Rural Carriers Association met at the courthouse Saturday night. Officers elected were: W. J. Armstrong, president; T. S. Pyron, vice president; J. L. Wilson, secretary; D. W. Vines, treasurer.

Policeman Sam Fulton of Calera was shot by a negro hobo Tuesday night.

Wm. Kiser, the 15-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Colley, of Verbena, died on July 10th.

Miss Martha Dupree has just recovered from a severe spell of sickness.

Two hundred and forty-six voters have been added to the registration list of Chilton County.

Selma bought its first bale of cotton Tuesday at 17 1-2 cents a pound.

Miss Mary Delene Hayes is visiting friends in Bessemer.

CROP PROSPECTS

Over most of the middle west, on which the nation is dependent for vital agricultural products, crop prospects never were better. and rain has been blended salubriously thus far. Wheat, corn, pastures and truck gardens have plainly benfitted. If normal rainfall comes in the remainder of the growing and maturing season excellent crops may speed the business depression.

The depression has lasted so long that no favorable factors are being ignored by competent observers. Even though agricultural products are bringing the lowest prices in years abundant yields will cause optimism which may be immediately reflected in general business conditions. Good crops have been the forerunners of general good business recovery in the past. This is easily understood when proper importance is accorded to the facts that abundant yields increase the agricultural population's buying power, even when prices are low, and that extensive employment is necessary for crop movements.

An investigation by officials in New Jersey develops the fact that some of the funds given to needy families during the depression have been used by the girls to get waves in their hair. Well, if you don't believe that is a necessary expenditure, just ask any flapper.

Universal Ailment—Wheat isn't the only crop afflicted with an over-abundance; it's practically an epidemic.

Well, France sent us Lafayette and we sent them Andy Mellon, and we hope they are asappreciative as we were.

Remember the Fourth of July in the good old days when about the worst thing that could happen was a runaway horse?

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

How Do You Feel?—Great jumpin' Jupiter! I have just quit listening to a fellow belly-achin' his head off. He's got an idea that everybody and his brother has a special grudge against him in particular, as if the rest of us were all crooks and seeking a way to keep his nose to the grindstone all of the time, without a let-up. It's quite refreshing to listen to some of the opinions advanced from time to time by members of the B. A. U. (Belly Achers Union) as to what causes the hard times, and remedies therefor. These reasons range all the way down from the President to the lowly boll weevil, with side stops at Wall Street and over-production. I wouldn't even attempt to tell what causes them. If I did I'd only be quoting someone else, because all reasons possible have already been advanced. I'll tell you one thing, though—it won't do any good to wear a long face about it—that has already been tried out to the bottom, and I'll leave it to you as judge and jury if any good came of it. Maybe that's what started the whole business (or lack of it)—this grinning around and telling how bad we feel and how bad everyone looks like he feels. Let's try another plan, like this—if you feel bad, say nothing about it, and if you feel good, tell everybody about it.

A Golden Goose—See where a butcher bought a goose for a dollar, and when he cut the goose open he found 25 dimes and 11 pennies in the gizzard. That's where a man lost by not opening up a gizzard before he sold the owner of the gizzard. And, by the way, there might be a lesson in that—open up your gizzard—there might be something in it.

The Millionth Legionaire—The American Legion recently enrolled the millionth Legionaire on its list. The Legion now numbers 1,026,258 members. And here's a tip to the candidates—remember every last one of those fellows can vote—a pretty nice bunch for any candidate to have supporting him, and the wise or near-wise boy out for an office will do well to refrain from sneezing at the demands of such a force at the polls.

Civil War No. 2—Some of the fellows are getting to be a bit scared that the recent trouble with the negroes in Alabama will eventually lead to another Civil War. I don't think so, though. A few days ago, a young buck, embolded by the late attempts to stir up strife among the blacks, got busy and committed a crime of his own, just to give the busy-bodies something to defend, I suppose. But by the time those fellows got through with him there wasn't enough left to defend—about all that could be done was to bury him—considering the 32 bullet holes he had in him. Now, I wouldn't have anybody think I advocate violence, but, come to think of it, that WAS an easy way to save the State of Alabama a lot of expense in trying him, to say nothing of the trouble it saved the Communists in defending him. Besides, I have heard that an illustrated object lesson is the best way to make a strong impression. After all, he would have just been electrocuted—that'd make him dead, and that's the shape he's in, any way. Oh, will, maybe it was all for the best, the way it worked out.

The Golf Bug—There is a man in this neck of the woods who has a peculiar knack of saying funny things. It isn't so much what he says as how he says it. And the curious part of it is that he makes no special attempt to be funny—it's just naturally funny. A few days ago he was telling me about a round he took on the local golf course. About the time he finished telling about his golfing experience another guy came up, and here is the conversation which ensued: "Where is it you've been," asked the newcomer. "Playin' golf," responded the new golfer. "Oh, so the golf bug has bitten you, too, has it?" The late golfer reached down, scratched two or three spots on his shin, and came up with a grin. "Now, ain't that funny," he replied, "here I've been scratchin' the pesky things nearly a whole day without ever knowin' they were golf bugs. All my life I've been hearin' 'em called red bugs."

Keeping Them Down—I've often heard it said: "You can't keep a good man down." I reckon that's right. The Clanton Cash Store might furnish a pretty good example of that. For some time they have been busy, but saying nothing, and now, we find it (the store) getting too big for its walls and bustin' out on the back side. Don't tell me times aren't getting better when stores get so busy that two doors can't accommodate the customers and they have to open up another door on another street to handle the traffic.—Man in the Moon.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sighs He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

A citizen of Clanton asked me Monday morning what I thought of the plan under way to set up a commission form of government for Clanton instead of the aldermanic system which we have had in the past. Not knowing what was involved in the proposed change, I of course, was not able to tell the inquirer what I thought of it. As a matter of fact, that was the first I had heard of the proposition. Further inquiry developed the information that somebody in Clanton has been carrying around a petition asking for signers, which seems to be the first step in the direction of establishing a commission form of government under a new law.

During the course of our discussion, this same friend pulled out of the pigeonhole of his desk a water bill from the town. He said how does your water bill compare now with what it used to be? Here is mine, he said, for this month, and it is over five dollars. Never before has it been over two dollars. Yes, I had to admit, my water bill is more now than it used to be. Perhaps that is true of every case in town. I have heard of some who plan to install individual water systems for their homes and quit patronizing the city system. If they do that, I wonder if they will also cut loose from the city sewerage system. It would certainly be a nice town if all of us should take that kind of a notion.

Another question that arose was something like this: Do you know how much the town of Clanton owes on the waterworks plant? Do you know how much is the bonded indebtedness of the town? Do you know how much is the monthly operating expenses of the town of Clanton? These and several other very timely questions, none of which I could answer. I consider that this citizen has a perfect right to ask such questions, and also has a perfect right to know the answers thereto. They involve public matters which are a part of the business of every citizen of the town of Clanton.

Frankly, I will say that it is my opinion that the present system of government in Clanton is not fair to the men who are charged with the responsibility of managing the town affairs, and is therefore in the same measure not fair to the people of the town as a whole. In the first place it puts on the Mayor and Councilmen a whole batch of duties which will consume much of their time if they take the time to discharge them properly. And if they consume this time with the public affairs, they have lost that much time from their own business, for which they get no remuneration.

Then, right on the other hand, the business of the town must be looked after by somebody who is competent to do it and who has time to do it, if the town is ever to get out of debt, and get its business in orderly shape. Now, the question arises, what shall we do about it? Perhaps somebody has determined that the proper answer lies in the establishment of the commission form of government. I do not know whether that would get us any better administration of public affairs or not.

Concerning the waterworks matter, there is one thing I want to say again. I have said it heretofore, and I will keep on saying it. We should be proud of the condition of our city water as compared with the way it was before the filtering plant was installed. I am willing to pay higher water rates in order to have the advantages of better water. But when someone asks me the question, are the increased water rates being applied to pay the running expenses of the town, I am at my row's end, so to speak.

Before the discussion of town affairs ended Monday there were three of us in it. We concluded that the proper thing to do is to have a full and fair sifting of the proposed city commission matter before we step into it. Let us have some light on the subject. We may want it and need it, and we may not. If it is simply another form of political manuvering, I do not see where it will help us any. If it will not enable us to institute a system whereby we can employ competent men to devote their time to administering the affairs of our town government and pay them to do it, I do not see how we shall be benefitted any.

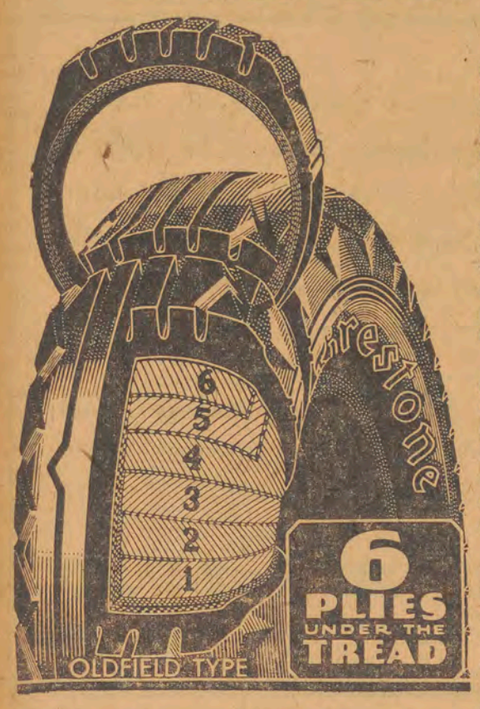
We have good men in charge of our city government. The only trouble is they have a burden on their shoulders which, if carried out as it should be done, would be a great sacrifice on their time and patience. I have no criticism to make against them. If somebody is starting the agitation for a change in our government system just because of some prejudice against the present city officials, I do not care to hear any more about the proposed change. We can get as good government out of our present city officials as we can out of any bunch of men operating under a similar system.

The only thing I can think of that might help the present situation is for the city officials to let the citizens of the town know more about some public questions, for instance, what does the town owe? What is the monthly operating revenue of the town? What is the monthly expenses of the town? What do we owe on the waterworks plant? These and perhaps some other public questions that might reasonably be asked.

Remember the old days when they used to recommend a thing by saying that it was " as good as old wheat in the mill?"

Well, Chicago seems to be getting through her financial crisis so maybe there is some hope for Germany yet.

The luckiest fellow we know of just now is the one who isn't even interested in the stock market page.



It's our candid opinion that if the politicians and statemen in Europe had known in 1914 what they know now, there wouldn't have been any World War.

Well, the world does move. Not one politician out of a hundred now even remembers who committed the crime of '73.

Wilbur Glen Voliva, according to press reports, is predicting many dire things in 1932 including the end of the Republican party. Well we hope that these predictions are not as true as some of his former ones. He said that the world was flat—and it sure is.

London is still one million greater in population than New York, but it doesn't extend so high in the air.

TIRE VALUES versus
TIRE DEFINITIONS

WE KNOW that car owners are interested in real TIRE VALUES, but are not particularly interested in tire definitions which manufacturers and distributors of special-brand mail-order tires had the National Better Business Bureau adopt that they could use to their advantage in their advertising.

When the National Better Business Bureau realized that the public was being misled—and an attempt was being made to keep the truth about real tire values from car owners, they issued a bulletin July 10th which in substance restracted their sponsorship of tire definitions. *

Firestone extra values are the result of great savings in buying—great savings in efficient and economical manufacturing and distributing, plus the patented process of Gum-Dipping—the patented two extra cord plies under the tread—and a more efficient non-skid tread, which makes them safer than any other tire.

We have sections cut from Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and Special-Brand Mail-Order Tires, and invite you to come in and judge for yourself the extra values we give you—values that you can see and understand instead of "definitions." Then we know you too will buy Firestone Tires as thousands of other car owners have done to the extent that during May, June and July they bought more Firestone Tires than during any like period in history—Drive in today!

*When the National Better Business Bureau realized that their Bulletin No. 634 was being taken advantage of by some advertisers they issued a Bulletin dated July 10th as follows:

"In our Bulletin No. 634 entitled 'Definitions of Terms Used in the Tire Industry' we published definitions of First Line—Second Line—Third Line—Heavy Duty and Super Heavy Duty Tires.

"Our definitions pointed out, 'Although each manufacturer's or distributor's first line tire may represent his best standard size 4 or 6 ply tire, there is not necessarily any equality of competitive first line tires as to materials, workmanship or price.' This interpretation also applies to all lines of tires.

"We therefore recommend that advertising to the consumer shall avoid the use of these terms for the purpose of comparing competitive products."

COMPARE
CONSTRUCTION and QUALITY

Firestone Gives You	4.75-19 Tire: Firestone Oldfield Type	4.75-19 Tire: ★A Special Brand Mail Order Tire	4.50-21 Tire: Firestone Sentinel Type	4.50-21 Tire: ★A Special Brand Mail Order Tire
More Weight, pounds	18.00	17.80	17.02	16.10
More Thickness, inches	.658	.605	.598	.561
More Non-Skid Depth, inches	.281	.250	.250	.234
More Plies Under Tread	6	5	6	5
Same Width, inches	5.20	5.20	4.75	4.75
Same Price	$6.65	$6.65	$4.85	$4.85

COMPARE PRICES

MAKE OF CAR	TIRE SIZE	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Per Pair	Firestone Sentinel Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Sentinel Type Cash Price Per Pair
Ford, Chevrolet	4.40-21	$4.98	$4.98	$9.60	$4.35	$4.35	$8.50
Chevrolet	4.50-20	5.60	5.60	10.90	4.78	4.78	9.26
Ford	4.50-21	5.69	5.69	11.10	4.85	4.85	9.40
Ford, Chevrolet, Whippet	4.75-19	6.65	6.65	12.90	5.68	5.68	11.14
Erskine, Plymouth	4.75-20	6.75	6.75	13.14	5.75	5.75	11.26
Chandler, DeSoto, Dodge, Durant, Graham-P., Pontiac, Roosevelt, Willys-K.	5.00-19	6.98	6.98	13.60	5.99	5.99	11.66
Essex, Nash	5.00-20	7.10	7.10	13.80	6.10	6.10	11.90
Essex, Nash, Oldsmobile	5.00-21	7.35	7.35	14.30	6.35	6.35	12.40
Buick	5.25-21	8.57	8.57	16.70	7.37	7.37	14.52
Buick-Mar., Oldsmobile	5.25-18	$7.90	$7.90	$15.30
Auburn, Jordan, Reo	5.50-18	8.75	8.75	17.00
Gardner, Marmon, Oakland, Peerless, Studebaker	5.50-19	8.90	8.90	17.30
Chrysler, Viking	6.00-18	11.20	11.20	21.70
Franklin, Hudson, Hupmobile	6.00-19	11.45	11.45	22.20
LaSalle, Packard	6.00-20	11.47	11.47	22.30
Pierce-Arrow	6.00-21	11.65	11.65	22.60
Stutz	6.50-20	13.45	13.45	25.40
Cadillac, Lincoln	7.00-20	15.35	15.35	29.80

TRUCK and BUS TIRES

SIZE	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Per Pair
30x5 H.D.	$17.95	$17.95	$34.90
32x6 H.D.	29.75	29.75	57.90
36x6 H.D.	32.95	32.95	63.70
6.00-20 H.D.	15.25	15.25	29.90

★A "Special Brand" tire is made by a manufacturer for distributors such as mail order houses, oil companies and others, under a name that does not identify the tire manufacturer to the public, usually because he builds his "best quality" tires under his own name. Firestone puts his name on EVERY tire he makes.

Double Guarantee — Every tire manufactured by Firestone bears the name "FIRESTONE" and carries Firestone's unlimited guarantee and ours. You are doubly protected.

Firestone Service Dealers and Service Stores
Save You Money and Serve You Better

Woco Service Station

G. M. WYATT, Mgr. CLANTON, ALABAMA

THE LUCKY STRIKE ORCHESTRA

Musical Arrangements Are Insured; Precautions Taken To Insure Uninterrupted Programs

So highly prized are the original musical arrangements for the numbers played by the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, that B. A. Rolfe, director of the orchestra, has had them heavily insured against loss by theft, fire, or accident. These extraordinary precautions have been made necessary, he pointed out, because of the difficulty there would be in duplicating these arrangements on short notice, in case of loss.

B. A. Rolfe maintains a staff of 15 persons whose sole duty is to prepart the arrangements for the selections played by the fifty musicians in the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra in its three weekly broadcasts. When these are completed, three arrangers immediately set to work making copies of the important selections. These copies are then carefully placed in a safe for call, in case of an emergency.

Although thus far this emergency has never arisen, Rolfe said, the precautionary measures are taken to insure as far as possible an uninterrupted flow of radio presentations, and it is in accordance with the views of Mr. George W. Hill, president of the American Tobacco Company, that every well regulated program should be run according to exact formula and by careful preparation against any chance slip-up.

NEGRO CHURCHES OF COUNTY AID BOOKER WASHINGTON HOME

The Booker Washington representative visited Flint Chappel Church, Clanton, Ala., the first Sunday in August. Quite an encouraging meeting was held, by having the deacons of the Baptist church present, both churches expressed their desire for raising their quota asked for by the Association. Rev. Bailey, pastor of Flint Chappell, stated that his church would do their whole duty. Flint Chappell made a liberal donation on said date.

Leaving Clanton at 1:45, arriving at Verbena, where we met Bapitsts and Methodists together at the Shady Grove Baptist Church. We are pleased to say that the Shady Grove Baptist Church began their contribution and will finish same the first Sunday in September. We are thankful to say that the Shady Grove Sunday school has donated $5.00; more than any other Sunday school in the county. Will be glad if every religious, fraternal, civic, and social organization make their donation at once, as we are in need of funds to meet the obligations on the home. We also thank the Pentecost Methodist church for their donation.

We hope those who have raised a part of their quota report at once. This will encourage the individual who has not contributed to contribute more readily. Our needs are money in large and small amounts; material of all kinds; furniture and all equiment; prayers of every Christian; cooperation of all races and denominations. Further information, please write Booker Washington Association, P. O. Box 1292, Montgomery, Ala.

STATE GAS TAX HEAVY

Alabama To Rank First In Burden Placed On Motorists

Alabama will have the highest gas tax in the United States when various taxes on gasoline and petroleum products imposed by the recent legislature are added to those already in force, it was pointed out by the Alabama Oil Men's Association when they met recently.

At the meeting, which was attended by oil dealers from all parts of the state, general opposition to all taxes, both state and local, were voiced. It was definitely concluded by the association to test the constitutionality of the bills passed.

Legal advisors of the various companies pointed out the weak spots in the bills. Just what grounds will be used by the association in attacking the measures were not disclosed.

Opposition was also voiced to the $25,000,000 highway bond issue on the grounds that the legislature had already many subdivisions of the state government benefiting from tax on the oil industry for purposes foreign to road building. viz: schools, purchase of free school books, seawalls, upkeep of state convicts, city halls, and various other projects totally unrelated to highway construction.

They brought out that these taxes will not only seriously affect the industry, but they will also impose a decided hardship upon owners and in many instances, entirely prohibit the people of less fortunate circumstances from driving.

Handle With CARE

You wouldn't allow your fine furniture to be roughlyhandled. Not less important are your clothes. We are trained to clean and launder all articles of clothing with the least possible wear and tear. It's so easy to keep your wearing apparel fresh and fit. Try it today by Calling

Phone 119
Clanton, Ala.

E. P. COOPER OPENING NEW STORE IN WEST END

Saturday of this week, August 15, is the opening day for the Cooper Grocery and Feed Store in West End, Clanton. The new business will be located just across Second Avenue in front of the Dick Edwards home, and will be owned by Mr. E. P. Cooper, the famous Rawleigh Products salesman. The business will be operated by Mr. Cooper's cousin, Welby Cooper.

Besides selling groceries and feed stuff, the Coopers will sell Texas gasoline and oils. The two young men have lots of friends and acquaintances over the county, and they hope that they may enjoy some trade from most of these friends.

CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE HELD THIRD SUNDAY IN SEPT.

The executive committee of the Chilton County singing convention, Jasper R. Robinson, committee chairman, met at Clanton last Saturday afternoon and decided on a place and date for the fall or regular session of the convention. Only three members of the committee were present in the persons of Willie L. Mims, A. H. Glasscock and J. R. Robinson. Two places had invited the convention—Jemison and Verbena, and the latter was selected, and the third Sunday in September was chosen as the time. The convention will assemble at 10 o'clock in the Verbena High School building. It is expected now that 1932 books will be used, either the Stamps or Henson, and probably both of them.

It is hoped and expected that all the singers of the county will cooperate with the committee and officers of the convention in making this the best ever held in the county. There will be some big singers present as well as some good quartets, and of course, practically all of the talent of the county will be there. There will not be a public dinner, however promise is made that the visiting singers will be cared for. Everybody come and bring enough dinner to feed yourself and one or two besides.

Mr. G. F. M. Easterling visited The Union-Banner Wednesday and brought the force a nice watermelon.

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Light delivery truck; first class condition; real good truck for $75

One 1925 Model FORD Touring—A bargain for $10

BATES AUTO SHOP
Clanton - - - Alabama

The Union-Banner is thankful to Mr. J. Dudley Collins of Friendshrip community for the nice yellow-meat melon brought to us last Saturday. Melons are plentiful this season, but you scarcely ever see one like Mr. Collins donated to us.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Parrish of Jordan Dam were in Clanton last Friday night.

Mrs. M. E. Powell and her granddaughter, Miss Ora Lee Bearden, of West Blocton, are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Mattie Mims, and Miss Leona Mims this week.

Mrs. Mattie Williams has bought half interest in The Dixie Cafe. Her son, Tera Parrish, will be associated with her in the conduct of the business. Leonard Easterling continues as half owner of the business.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at

The James Sign Shop
Clanton, Alabama

To Our FARMER FRIENDS

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATRONAGE IN THE PAST

As the ginning season approaches again, we invite you to continue your patronage with us this season.

We promise you the best service you can get anywhere, and also guarantee to make you the best sample possible from your cotton.

We will carry cottonseed meal and hulls to sell or exchange in any way that is practicable.

CLANTON MILL & GIN CO.
J. A. Maddox, Mgr. Clanton, Ala.

MINERALS IN CATTLE FEEDING

(By Dr. John M. Evvard)

In the fattening of cattle it has been our experimental experience that the feeding of properly selected minerals has been a paying proposition.

The addition of from one-half to an ounce or more of minerals per head daily, the allowance depending upon the weight of the cattle and character of ration fed, resulted in a greater daily gain, a more uniform feeding record with less "off feed" disturbances, a better finish at the end of the fattening period, a greater selling value per hundred weight, and a larger margin per head fed this, over and above feed costs.

Surely these advantages accruing from the feeding of a well compounded mineral mixture carrying the elements most likely to be lacking in cattle feeding rations, or namely: calcium, phosphorus, iron, copper, and iodine should appeal to even the hardest minded. After all, a great many so-called tough minded or conservative cattle feeders have in recent years tried out the "mineral way" of feeding, and a very large percentage of these farm experimenters have been won over to mineral feeding because of the good results secured.

In fact, considering all the phases of live stock production, the mineral feeders in cattle production are somewhat akin to the mineral feeders in swine raising, because both classes of feeders "stay put" that is, they "stay put with minerals in their feeding program." They have learned from the profitable experience that the feeding of properly selected minerals pays good dividends.

FOUR SINGING SCHOOLS UNITE LAST SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The singing school of Prof. O. L. Devaughn at Concord came to a close last Saturday afternoon, and the event was observed by three other schools meeting with that one in a joint singing. There were about 150 children present; the other three schools were: Poplar Springs, taught by Prof. W. M. Devaughn; Friendship, taught by Prof. L. T. Grant; and Mt. Pleasant, taught by Prof. Johnnie Minor.

Two hours of very fine singing were enjoyed by those gathered together. There were several visitors present.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hester and family attended the funeral of Mr. Hester's sister-in-law, Mrs. Jim Hester, in Montgomery Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Fraser and Mrs. Gene Jackson and children of Tuscaloosa spent the week end with Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

TUSCALOOSA MAN LOSES LIFE IN FALL OVER A CLIFF WHILE ON TOUR

Tuscaloosa, Aug 10.—The body of Luther Maxwell, 65, who was killed when he fell over a precipice in Canada, will be returned here for the funeral. Details have not been arranged.

Mr. Maxwell was killed Saturday afternoon, relatives here were informed. He and his wife, with his cousin, Miss Annie Mallory, and the latter's nephew, H. French Forbes, Birmingham, were making an automobile tour of the west, British Columbia and Alberta.

The accident happened near Lake Louise and Banff, Alberta. The party was inspecting a canyon when Mr. Maxwell slipped over the side.

For several years Mr. Maxwell was in the wholesale grocery business here with his brothers, Frederick and Williams Maxwell, but retired some years ago. A graduate of the University of Alabama, Mr. Maxwell was listed as the sixty-seventh oldest living alumnus at the recent centennial there. He was an elder in the Presbyterian Church and a donor to the Presbyterian Orphans Home in Tuscaloosa.

His widow was the former Miss Jessie Davis, Choccolocco. Besides the two brothers named, he is survived by a third, Thomas Maxwell, Tuscaloosa.

Mrs. G. L. Philips is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Ned Duke and Mrs. Lake Duncan of Prattville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Deramus have returned home from points in Florida.

Rev. D. W. Haskew is holding a revival at Bell's Landing this week.

DR. SAM JOHNSON TALKED TO KIWANIS

An interesting feature of the Kiwanis luncheon last Thursday was a talk made by Dr. Samuel E. Johnson, of the United States Navy, describing his travels of the past two years.

When he left here on his last trip he went to the Pacific Coast taking passage on a ship for the Orient. He spent some time in Japan the Philipines, China, India and Sumatra.

The trip was continued westward hrough the Red Sea and by way of he Suez Canal into the Mediterranean Sea. Visits were made into Egypt and the Holy Land.

Still travelling westward he landed at Norfolk, Virginia. The complete trip around the world was finished when he arrived in Clanton a little over a week ago. The journey took about two years. Members of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton found particular enjoyment in hearing Dr. Johnson tell in his own interesting way, a great many things about people, in diferent parts of the world.

Quits the Amateurs

George Heard, one of Canada's outstanding amateur athletes, has deserted the simon pure ranks and will play as a member of the New York Rangers in the professional hockey league. For the past two years Heard has led the scoring in the Saskatchewan Amateur Hockey league and had turned down all professional offers. He's a star baseball pitcher, and made records for himself in cricket, boxing, rugby and other sports. He'll report to the Rangers in New York in October.

DR. HORACE FRANKLIN WILL LOCATE AT THORSBY

Dr. Horace Franklin announces that he will locate at Thorsby for the general practice of medicine, with offices in the Masonic Building.

Dr. Franklin is the son of Ben Franklin, rural mail carrier, of Thorsby. He graduated at the Louisville School of Medicine in June, 1930. He spent a year as interne at the Hillman Hospital, Birmingham, finishing there the first of July this year.

The many friends of the young doctor will be glad to learn that he has decided to come back to his home community for the practice of his profession.

UNITY-CHILTON COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The annual meeting of the Unity-Chilton Baptist Sunday school Convention was held with Mulberry Church Tuesday, August 4, 1931.

A very interesting program was prepared and carried out. The different phases of the Sunday school work were discussed during the day. It was the opinion of many that it was the best session of the convention ever held.

We are indebted to Mr. J. N. Barnett of the Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn., and Mr. Davis Cooper of the Alabama State Board for the great part they rendered in making the meeting a success.

At the noon hour a bounteous table was spread by the good ladies of the community.

It was decided that it would be for the best interest of the work to separate the two association and have two conventions in the future. Accordingly officers were elected as follows.

Chilton County Association: Howard Oden, President; J. E. Minor and Donald Merchant, vice presidents; T. E. Wyatt, secretary and treasurer.

Unity Association: H. A. Harris, president; C. D. Hughes and W. J. Patrick vice presidents; G. F. Harris, secretary and treasurer.

The time and place for the next annual meetings were not decided. —G. F. Harris secretary.

EAST VIEW

The singing school taught here by Prof. and Mrs. O. O. Womsley closed Monday night of last week, with a good program. Mr. and Mrs. Womsley rank with the leading teachers of the state, and we look forward to another school taught by them next year. They left here and went to Georgia, where they are teaching another school.

Rev. and Mrs. Nelson returned home Friday evening from Eclectic, where they had been conducting revival services at Union and Chapel churches. They report good meetings, and 33 added to the churches.

Mr. J. A. Dobbs was reported to be in bed sick last Sunday. We hope he will soon be well again.

Miss Zora Dobbs was the week end guest of her brother, Mr. Horace Ray of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. Tom Traywick and family.

Rev. A. C. Nelson and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. Charlie Mims and family.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Butler and Miss Margurite Davidson, all of Thorsby, were visiting here last Sunday.

Mr. J. P. Rushing visited Mr. Otis Coggins Saturday.

Mr. Joe Dennis and family visited Mr. J. A. Dobbs and family Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hull of Mt. Creek were visitors at the church here Sunday.

Mr. J. W. Coggins and Mrs. Ressie Headley of Mt. Springs visited Rev. A. C. Nelson Sunday.

Mrs. Logan and two daughters visited Mrs. S. P. Smith and family Monday.

Mr. Leonard Rushing of Billingsley visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rushing Sunday.

Several from here plan to attend the association meeting at East Tallassee, August 13-16.

STANTON NEWS

Mrs. Irma Tilton of Birmingham is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huff.

C. E. Cagle and family are visiting at Jacksonville, Ala., at this writing.

Tom Wooley of Jordan Dam is spending a few days with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Osburne of Selma, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rasberry of Birmingham, Percy Rasberry and family of Birmingham and Lagrange Rasberry of Birmingham, all visited in the Ruddick home Sunday.

Miss Ethel Ree Dyer returned home Friday from a visit to Birmingham.

Mrs. Susie Adams and two daughters of Birmingham are visiting Herbert Warren this week.

Ira Dunsmore and wife of Birmingham visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Dunsmore Sunday.

Leon Huff of Birmingham spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huff.

Mrs. Frank Reynolds, Dorothy and Millard spent the week end at Tuscaloosa visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Manegs.

Billie Dunsmore has returned to his home in Birmingham after spending several weeks with his grandparents.

Mr. T. L. Gray and son were in town Tuesday and paid the Union-Banner office a visit. He had a fine rain this week down on Greazy Ridge.

Prof. I. J. Quinn, with Mrs. Quinn and the children, came over from Ashby Tuesday and spent the day in Clanton.

BATTERY and ELECTRICAL SERVICE

When the old car sputters a few times, and she absolutely refuses to budge, it's probably a case of battery trouble. But don't think you need to buy a new one. Our expert charging service puts life into your battery.

It's a good plan to let us examine your battery now before it gives out at some inconvenient time.

Robinson Garage

Phone 180 :-: :-: Clanton, Ala.

Purina Feeds

Cheaper than ever before

The same high quality that has always made PURINA FEEDS outstanding in value is being maintained at LOWER PRICES. This means more profit to PURINA users.

SOME SPECIAL ITEMS

24 per cent Dairy Feed, 100 lbs.	$1.90
16 per cent Dairy Feed, 100 lbs.	1.65
Shorts, 100 lbs.	1.30
Bran, 100 lbs.	1.15
Cottonseed Meal, 100 lbs.	1.25

We carry the full line of Purina Feeds, Heugely's Best Flour, and sell Pure Lard.

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR CHICKENS AND EGGS!

J. L. RUFFIN

THE CHECKRBOARD STORE CLANTON

REVIVAL SOON TO BE HELD AT FOURSQUARE CHURCH

Revival services will begin within the next few days at the Foursquare Church in Clanton. Definite announcement of the exact date of beginning cannot be made at this time, however.

The revival this year will be conducted by Rev. and Mrs. Ernest A. Wicks, who, for the past year have been caring for a church at Petoskey, Mich. More definite announcement will be made next week.

A. M. Grimsley of Fayette was a business visitor to Clanton last Friday.

Baptising by the Concord people was held at E. H. Mims Pond, near the church last Sunday afternoon.

INDIAN GRAVE NEWS

Mr. John Deramus and family of Maplesville spent the day with his brother, Mr. Bob Deramus, Sunday.

Mrs. Tom Rainwater and grandson of Maplesville visited Mrs. Bob Deramus Sunday.

Mrs. Charley Carter is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Winnie Carter. She will return to her home in Montgomery this week.

Miss Ella Mae Jones spent the day Sunday with Miss Elizabeth Jones.

Miss Josephine Billingsley spent the day Sunday with Miss Agnes Traywick.

Mr. Bob Deramus went to the Doctor for treatment Monday. We are sorry to hear of this brief illness.

Mrs. Bob Deramus spent the afternoon with Mrs. Sallie Deramus last Monday.

We had a real good revival last week. There were seven members that gave their lives to Christ.

Our Sunday school is getting along fine. There are 91 on roll, and all good attendants. Our B. Y. P. U. is still growing, and prospering. We have about 60 on roll. We cordially invite everybody to come and help us to have a real good one.

There will be a B. Y. P. U. convention Sunday, August 16th at Big Springs. Everybody is invited to attend.

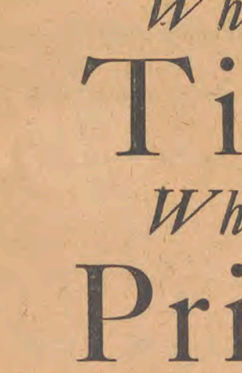
Mrs. Mittie Bush and children are spending this week at the home of Mr. H. H. Golson.

There was a good crowd at the flying field one mile west of Hampton school house.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Billingsley went to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. Ernest Moore and daughter, Ernestine, spent Tuesday in Thorsby.

Mrs. Ernest Moore and little daughter, Ernestine, spent last week visiting relatives in Bethsalem community.



Mrs. D. F. Goff has been very ill with pneumonia for several days. She is reported slowly improving.

Protracted meetings are going on at Maple Springs, Walnut Creek and Providence this week.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

What a Tire! What a Price!

HERE'S an example of how Goodyear's greater production enables greater value! Just look at this tire! It's actually superior to many of the higher priced brands---and we can show you why! Goodyear makes millions more tires than anybody else and turns the savings back to you in a better product for the money.

$4.98 4.40-21 (29x4.40)

$9.60 per pair

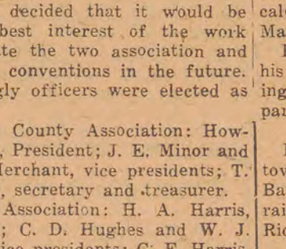
Lifetime Guaranteed

OTHER SIZES EQUALLY LOW

Size		Each	Pair
4.50-20	(29x4.50)	5.60	10.90
4.50-21	(30x4.50)	5.69	11.10
4.75-19	(28x4.75)	6.65	12.90
5.25-21	(31x5.25)	8.57	16.70
30x3½	Reg. Cl.	4.39	8.54

Latest Improved GOODYEAR PATHFINDER Supertwist Cord Tire

Heavy Duty Truck Tires



Size	Price	Size	Price
30x5	$17.95	32x6	$29.75
6.00-20	(32x6.00)		15.35

TUBES ALSO LOW PRICED

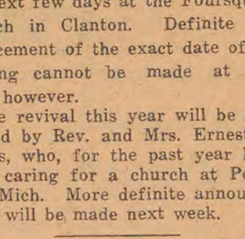
Dief's Service Station

CLANTON, ALABAMA

One tough hombre —yet a Sheik for looks!

A Super Value only Goodyear offers for hard driving

HEAVY DUTY Goodyear Pathfinder



$8.75 4.50-21 (30x4.50)

Other sizes equally low

Dief's Service Station

CLANTON, ALABAMA

The smartest thing in rubber!

New Improved Standard GOODYEAR ALL-WEATHER

$8.55 4.75-19 (28x4.75)

Other sizes in proportion

Dief's Service Station

CLANTON, ALA.

CHERISHED WAR RELIC OWNED BY L. & N. MAN

A sword whose blade gleamed brightly at both the battles of Bunker Hill and Gettysburg was recently presented to Col. L. L. Morton, Mobile, Ala., superintendent there of the N. O. & M. and M. & M divisions of the L. & N. Railroad Company. According to the L. & N. Employes' Magazine this weapon was formerly the cherished possession of Major John Crowley of New Orleans, who, during the Civil War, was private dispatch rider for General Robert E. Lee, commander-in-chief of the Confederate forces. Major Crowley tendered the sword to Col. Morton in appreciation of the many courtesies extended him and his comrades in gray by the latter. The sword was brought to this country in the 17th century from England. At the battle of Gettysburg it was used by General Francis Pickett, who later gave it to Major Crowley as a memento of their friendship.

COLORED BRAKEMAN SAVED CHILD FROM DEATH

Ike Brown of Pensacola, Fla., colored brakeman for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad there, raced a locomotive recently and won. The current issue of the L. & N. Employes' Magazine tells the story. Ike was riding on the pilot of Train No 22 as it puffed down Tarragona Street in Pensacola one day lately. Suddenly he perceived a tot just a little piece ahead using the space between the tracks as a playground. Quick-witted, Ike hit the cinders and by sprinting managed to remove the child from the space before it was occupied by the approaching locomotive.

W. W. Fox made a business trip to Montgomery Tuesday.

Hunt Frazier, secretary of the Selma Chamber of Commerce, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lande expect to return Friday from their vacation trip of ten days to Chicago.

Circuit Clerk, J. Z. Mims, has been on a vacation trip of several days to Washington, D. C., and other places of interest.

Willard Batteries
NOW $6.95 (13 PLATE) and up
Bates Auto Shop
Clanton :-: Alabama

Itchy Toes
Hand Ringworm, Athlete's Foot
Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Crotch Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP
Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.
G. E. JACKS
Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

Turnip Seeds
Since the showers you should plant your turnip patch. Be sure though, you buy
Good New Crop Seeds
Our seeds are all analyzed by the Alabama Department of Agriculture, and they must be of good germination if we sell them. Try our "Southern Field Prize," grown especially for us. None others have it. You will be convinced that this is the best turnip on the market. It is a large, round, white turnip, and is not affected by freezing weather, and it remains tender and sweet after others are pithy.
Southern Seed & Plant Company
Clanton's Only Seed Store

OUR FERTILIZER BILL

A farmer discussing the present low price of cotton the other day said: I have one thing to be thankful for this year. My fertilizer bill is $130 for this crop, where it was $450 last year.

It is perhaps true with many farmers that their fertilizer bill this year will be materially less than last year. Reduced fertilizer bills lessen the cost of crop production, and help to keep up the farmer's profits even in the face of lowered commodity selling prices.

However, it is not safe to expect normal production of crops without fertilizer. And therein lies the big question that our farmers must solve.

Our farm experts are trying right now to get our farmers to learn how they may provide the necessary fertilizer without having to pay all and more than they get out of their crops for it.

Winter legumes is the answer to the puzzle. Hairy vetch and winter peas will make the necessary nitrogen. The farmer who expects to keep his head above the water must produce his own fertilizer, which he can do at practically no cost with winter legumes.

15,584,000 BALE COTTON CROP SEEN

Prospects are that farmers of the United States will this fall harvest 15,584,000 bales of cotton, according to the August 1 forecast by the United States department of agriculture. This estimate is more than 1,500,000 bales larger than the crop harvested last year.

The 15,584,000 bales estimate surpasses any year since 1926, when the production was 17,977,000 bales. Last year it was 13,932,000 bales.

The condition on August 1st was placed at 74.9 per cent the highest on that date since 1915. The indicated yield per acre was given at 185.8 pounds, higher than any year since 1914.

Crops of the various states are forecast for this year as follows:

Texas, 5,018,000; Mississippi, 1,771,000; Arkansas, 1,614,000; Alabama, 1,263,000; Oklahoma, 1,200,000; Georgia, 1,109,000; Louisiana, 866,000; South Carolina, 835,000; North Carolina, 713,000; Tennessee, 472,000; California, 194,000; Arizona, 131,000; New Mexico, 86,000; Virginia, 38,000; Florida, 37,000; other states, 6,000.

Miss Mollie Hannon is spending the week at Foshee's camp.

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING
Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated
MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Williams of Decatur spent several days here last week on a visit to friends and relatives.

Rev. J. E. Each and S. E. Norton of Thorsby were in Clanton last Friday to attend a meeting of the Boy Scouts Court of Honor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trottor of Martin Dam were visitors to Clanton last week end.

J. W. McEathern, M. D. Foshee, Jr., "Jelly" Bean, Johnnie Plier, and Loren Smith went to Panama City Saturday night on a fishing trip. M. D. Foshee landed a 75-pound shark, which he brought back home to show his friends. The party caught several nice fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Corley of Montgomery spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives in Clanton.

An automobile party composed of the following persons left Monday for a two week's trip to Mexico: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fiquett, Miss Amye Robinson, Miss Willie Popwell, Alex Hayes and Chick Fiquett.

Lewis T. Dennis of Mt. Creek was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Hill Foshee of Maplesville was a business visitor to Clanton Monday.

Jim Cox of New Cedron was in Clanton Monday.

Misses Josephine and Margaret Martin were the week end guests of Mrs. L. C. Warr.

Joe Moore, son of J. Watts Moore, of Clanton, visited relatives in Mo-

Arthur Johnson, Jr., and Charles Moore spent the week end here with their parents.

Julian Evans of Atlanta, Georgia, is here for a few days vacation.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips is visiting relatives in Prattville this week.

Mrs. Anna Jones spent Sunday in Montgomery with Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Jones.

Rev. and Mrs. D. W. Haskew, Mesdames Reese Mullins, M. A. Gore and J. E. Evans were recent visitors to Montgomery.

The Landes will arrive tomorrow after a visit to the eastern markets.

Mrs. Leatherwood of Selma is the charming guest of Mrs. Faulkenberry.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaster Mims spent Sunday in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mullins and Mrs. J. C. Jones spent Friday in Tuscaloosa with relatives.

Mrs. Calista Williams and Miss Kate Aldridge have returned home after a pleasant trip to St. Louis.

Miss Bertha Margolis will return Friday after some time spent in Louisville, Kentucky.

Rev. J. Robert Bean of Bessemer was in Clanton a while Monday. He preached at Union Grove last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Mims and daughter, Bettie, went to Sylacauga last Sunday and visited relatives. They returned Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Driver of Sylacauga visited relatives and friends hereabouts last week.

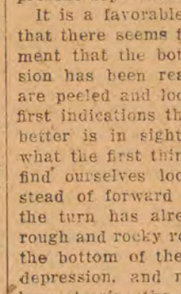
Robert Sumner, Jr., returned last week from a two-weeks visit at Camp Walton, near Panama City, Florida.

Joe Littleton of Cane Creek was in Clanton Tuesday selling mutton.

Rev. W. E. Robinson of Birmingham was a visitor to relatives in Clanton this week.

Miss Ruth Sessions of the University of Alabama was at home last week end. She will be at school two more weeks.

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.



666
LIQUID OR TABLETS
Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.
666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

GETTING BUSINESS GLOOM BEHIND US

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

THERE is such a thing as over-staying a depression just as there is of over-staying a boom. Over-confidence makes the great majority miss the turn in a boom, and under-confidence makes them miss it in a depression. A leading New York banker was asked recently when he could tell that a turn for the better had come. "About three months after it has happened," he candidly replied.

R. C. STEPHENSON

There is more significance in that remark than appears on the surface. As more and more manufacturers and business men realize that the turn has already come and that they are overstaying the time to adopt constructive policies, they begin cautiously to press their selling campaigns, to speed up their production, to enlarge their working forces and increase their commitments for supplies. It is the gathering weight of their influences that finally raises the pressure of confidence to the dynamic power of recovery.

The surest way to bring the nation out of the business depression is to raise the pressure of public confidence to the point of becoming such a dynamic force. It has invariably been the push of that force which has started recovery in the past, and it is the gathering power of this force which will start recovery from this present depression.

It is a favorable sign of the times that there seems to be general agreement that the bottom of the depression has been reached and all eyes are peeled and looking ahead for the first indications that the turn for the better is in sight. Who knows but what the first thing we know we will find ourselves looking backward instead of forward as we realize that the turn has already come. It is a rough and rocky road that runs across the bottom of the valley of business depression, and most of us are too busy steering the old Ford from bump to bump to be able to take in all the scenery. So who knows but what some important changes in the landscape are already taking place.

BANKERS FAVOR GRADUAL CHANGE

National Commission Believes Local Sentiment Should Govern Evolution in Methods of Conducting Banking.

IF substantial changes are to be brought about in branch banking in the United States they should originate within the states rather than from Washington on inter-state lines as proposed in "trade area" branch banking plans, a recent report of the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association declares. Such changes, it adds, "should develop by evolutionary rather than revolutionary stages."

"The extension of branch banking through state action would mean that states not now permitting state banks to have branches or else closely restricting them, would individually liberalize their laws as an expression of changing local desires and conditions, and this doubtless would insure a deliberate, evolutionary process," the report says. "The other method, that is, through Federal action, would mean a sweeping change for the country as a whole, for legislation granting branch banking powers to national banks in all states, regardless of local sentiment, would, of course, induce equivalent branch banking enactments in every state in the Union not now permitting or really wanting state banks to have branches, in order to keep them on a competitive equality.

Upholds State Privileges

"We find some bankers who feel that a proper stimulus to the development of branch banking would be given by the Federal Government taking the initiative through granting broader privileges within state lines to national banks than they now enjoy. It is argued that state governments could then follow suit as to state banks and that in this way a more progressive branch banking attitude might be promoted by the national banks taking the lead. While we do not deny that there may be some merit in this view as to some specific localities, we stand firm nevertheless on the principle that no such grant of powers to national banks should cross state lines, or exceed the privileges that state legislatures could and would grant to their state banks.

"Moreover we believe that if the choice between these two possible courses of extending branch banking were put up to bankers they would be generally opposed to any forcible imposition of branch banking on the states through the medium of the national bank system. We believe it would be preferable for any change to come about through the more gradual and democratic method of the states granting their banks branch banking powers state by state where it, and as local conditions and sentiment might be ready for a change."

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Boyd of Selma were visitors to Clanton Tuesday.

PIERCE FAMILY REUNION

The friends and relatives of Mr. John Pierce gathered at the home of his son, C. L. Pierce, of Enterprise community, Sunday morning, August 2nd, for the purpose of celebrating his seventy-ninth birthday.

The morning was spent in talking. At twelve o'clock a delicious dinner, which had been prepared by all, was served near the house on a large table under the trees. Immediately after noon the father was presented with several gifts. The appreciation of those was shown by the many smiles it brought to his face. The remainder of the day was spent in talking, making pictures, and listening to music.

Those enjoying the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Sewell and son of this community; Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson and children, Verbena; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Williams and children, Verbena; Mr. and Mrs. D. Bryant and children, Clanton, Mrs. W. J. Wyatt and son, Maplesville; Mr. Arthur Pierce and family, Sulligent, Ala.; Mr. C. L. Pierce and family, this community; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Pierce and little daughter, this community; Mrs. Jessie Pierce and son, Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Zelma Taylor and little son, Montgomery; Mrs. George Wright and family, and Mrs. F. I. Popwell of Shiloh community; Misses Ruby Jordan and Ellie Mae Beasley, Vernon, Ala.; Miss Ruby Hulsley, Tupelo, Miss.; Messrs. Howard Boockholdt, Cecil Yeargan, Virgil Griffin, Guy and O'Neal Silas, and Miss Francis Silas, all of this community; little Bess Lola Presley, Weogufka, Ala.; Mr. Percy Yergan, Anniston, Ala.; Mr. Arnold Mullins and sisters, Etta, Ethel, and Truett, Messrs. Roy and Reedie Dobbs and Mr. J. D. Mullins of Shiloh community.

The day was enjoyed by all present. The guest of honor made the remark that he had never enjoyed a day better than this one. We are hoping that he may celebrate many birthdays as happy as this, and wishing him good health in his old age.

Phone One-One-One
or Write
The James Sign Shop
CLANTON, ALA.
Outdoor
Painted Display Advertising

PHILCO RADIOS
Buy your new Philco Now! Features of the new 1932 Philco—9 tubes, 4 screen grids; oversize improved; Electro-dynamic speaker; 4 point tune control, and static modifier, and many other new features.
BABY GRAND— Complete with tubes, installed in your home $79.50
Buy one on the easy terms.
TIFFIN - KLINNER FURNITURE CO.
CLANTON - - ALABAMA

Jones Grocery Store
Next to Ala. Power Co.

FLOUR (PLAIN OR SELF-RISING)
Cloverleaf, 24 lb.	75c
Martha White, 24 lb.	80c
Belfast, 24 lb.	65c
Extragood, 24 lb.	60c
Log Cabin, 24 lb.	50c
COFFEE, Pure Ground, lb.	18c
MATCHES, 3 boxes	10c
SOAP, O. K., 1-lb cake	5c
SOAP, Laundry, Big-4, 7 cakes	25c
SHORTS, Good Grade, sack	$1.40

Jones Grocery Store
J. C. Jones
CLANTON, ALABAMA

WADESONIAN
PROGRAMS
Friday and Saturday
AUGUST 14TH AND 15TH
Buck Jones, In
"THE TEXAS RANGER"
An All-Talking Western
Serial—"THE INDIANS ARE COMING"
All Talking
Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
AUGUST 17TH, 18TH, AND 19TH
Eddie Buzell, Alice Day Edna Murphy, In "LITTLE JOHNNY JONES"—Talking
COMEDY—All Talking

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA
Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service
Flowers for all Occasions

SPECIALS

Due to the low price of cotton we are able to offer you some real bargains — Compare prices today with one year ago prices.

15c SHEETING—We are offering 1,000 yards of this sheeting in real heavy grade 36 inches wide. 500 yards beginning Friday, at 10 o'clock and 500 yards beginning at 10 o'clock Saturday. Limit 20 yards to a customer per yard 5c

50c SLIPRITE CLOTH—6 months ago this material sold for 50c per yard. Fine for making bloomers and slips. It has a fine non-cling finish and is in good colors. Now at a special price of, per yard 25c

$1.50 HIGH STEPPER OVERALLS—8 ounces. Due to the low price of cotton, we have reduced this high grade overall to a price we challenge anyone to meet. High grade in every respect. Guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money back. Sizes 32 to 48. High back or suspender back Only $1.00

MENS $1.00 and $1.50 DRESS STRAWS

We have reduced one lot of Dress Straws to the low prices in sizes 7 to 7½. You can buy a nice hat for 79c

Chicago Sales Co.

Reedie Taylor, Manager. Clanton, Alabama

NOW IS THE TIME

To plant bulbs for Spring Flowers. Among the very earliest to bloom are Victoria Daffodils. I have been growing this variety for the past fifteen years, and shipping the flowers in January, February and March. In April Narcissus Poeticus make a fine showing in garden beds. For the first time I am offering bulbs of these varieties for sale. Come and get them. Daffodils are $2.00 and Narcissus $1.00 per 100.

S. E. NORTON

Thorsby :-: :-: :-: :-: Alabama

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Mrs. H. L. Walker, Mrs. E. L. Pate and H. L. Collins motored to Deatsville Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. T. T. Thorson of Decatur, Ala., who was one of the pioneers of Thorsby, but who has been absent some eighteen years. Mrs. Reagan's sister, Mrs. Sam Thorson of Wauseka, Minn., was also an honoree. Those invited were Mesdames E. E. Hansen, C. S. Howard, James Bosworth, Olaf Shievie, C. R. Foss, H. M. Gerald, S. E. Norton, K. A. Ekblad, Conrad Carlson, E. N. Dryhovd, Martha Grothe Grenn, Martin Peterson, C. C. Petersen, Anna Villadsen, M. J. Soberg, J. O. Johnson and Miss Caroline Skinnis.

Mrs. S. A. Thorson and Miss Naemi Turnquist expect to leave for Chicago Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg will take advantage of low excursion rates and are leaving Saturday for a three week's vacation among friends and kin folks in Chicago, and elsewhere.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby are planning to can some of the surplus fruit in Thorsby for Thorsby Institute dining hall. They cordially invite all ladies in the community, who are interested, to assist in this matter, as it is believed it will be hard to finance the school in the face of the general business depression this year.

Miss Sara Fike of Marbury spent a few days last week with Miss Myradine Martin at her home in Thorsby.

Mr. Bert Bosworth and family of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. M. Bosworth.

Miss Marguerite Davison took Misses Hazel Maddox and Alta Each Monday, to Balm of Gilead Church, near Eclectic, where the two young ladies will conduct a vacation day Bible school for several days.

Many Thorsby people will be interested to know that Dr. Horace Franklin has decided to locate in Thorsby, believing that he can do best where he is well and favorably known, having spent eight years in preparation for the duties of practicing physician, and met all the requirements of the Alabama Medical Association, he is ready for service. For the present he will reside with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Franklin. To reach him by telephone, call Central at Thorsby and ask for Dr. Franklin.

The Baptist revival was a great success. It resulted in 25 additions, 15 being for baptism.

Bro. Jones is assisting Rev. B. Lawrence in a meeting at Macedonia this week.

The Y. W. A. will meet with Miss Katheryn Lenoir Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. A large attendance is very much desired.

Circle No. 2 of the W. M. U. met at the home of Mrs. T. W. Robinson Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Hattie Davenport spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Davenport.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Davenport spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Oliver in Verbena.

Our Baptist Sunday school is growing. We hope that it will continue to grow. We are always glad to have visitors and new members.

Mrs. Sallie Johnson and Miss Evon Malone of Selma spent the week end with Mrs. B. L. Davenport. They brought Mrs. Malone, Mrs. Davenport's mother, to spend a few days with her. Mrs. Ludie Lenoir also spent the week end with Mrs. Davenport.

The union prayer meeting will be held at the Baptist Church Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gray spent Sunday in Prattville visiting Mrs. Gray's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones and son, Charles, of Greenville, Ala., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Relious Franklin for a few days.

Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway spent Monday with Mrs. R. R. Franklin.

Miss Dorothy Franklin has as her guest Miss Eloise Rasberry of Clanton.

Mill Willodean Bean is spending a while in Tallassee with Miss Edith Holley.

Mr. Warren Holley and sister, Melba, of Tallassee, were Thorsby visitors Sunday.

Mrs. E. G. Collins and daughter, Ann, have been visiting Mrs. H. O. Bean and daughter, and have returned to their home at Greenborg, N. C.

There will be regular services at the Congregational Church Sunday morning, and a singing service at night, 7:45.

Central Alabama District Association of Congregational churches meet at Tallassee Thursday night to Saturday afternoon.

Rev. R. A. McKay of Tallassee, and wife, stopped a couple of hours with the Each family Sunday enroute home from Birmingham.

Misses Marguerite Davison and Odie Lee Arthur spent Monday and Tuesday in South Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive and Carl Ekblad left early Sunday morning for a week's visit in Blakely, Ga.

Mr. Willie Scott from Montgomery was a week end visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott.

Mrs. S. P. Kelly and granddaughter, Bonnie, are visiting Mrs. Kelly's son, Ivan Gibbons, in Elderods, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly of Birmingham visited with Miss Mattie Scott last Sunday. Mr. Kelly is classified advertising manager for The Progressive Farmer.

Providence is having an old-time spiritual revival this week, Rev. Hughes, the pastor, doing the preaching. Rev. Wm. E. Robinson of Birmingham preached Monday night and Tuesday. Good crowds are attending all services.

The 4-H Club boys are in camp this week near Lay Dam.

Opening Day
Saturday, August 15

We are offering some exceptional bargains on our opening day, in Groceries and Feed Stuff. Will also handle the famous Texaco Gas and Oils. Call around and let's get acquainted.

Cooper Grocery & Feed Store

E. P. Cooper, Owner Welby Cooper, Mgr.

West End—Clanton, Ala.

PAPER BAGS MADE FROM CHILTON COUNTY TIMBER

Did you know that there is being used right here in Clanton and Chilton County paper that is made from the trees that are cut from the swamps of our own county? Well, such is the case. No doubt you have sold some pine wood to the pulp manufacturers, or at least you have seen such wood being sold and hauled to market. This wood is being ground into pulp and manufactured into paper and sold on the markets as paper bags to our merchants and business men. No doubt you have carried home groceries in paper bags the pulp for which was grown on some old field in Chilton County.

These paper bags are manufactured by the Gulf States Paper Corporation at Tuscaloosa, and are distributed to the merchants by the Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company of Clanton. This firm is the sole distributor for these bags in Central Alabama. They handle everything from charcoal bags to the large bags used by laundries to deliver dresses and things in.

The Gulf States Paper Corporation is owned and operated solely by Alabama capital and Alabama men. They use every bit of the raw material from this State that they can.

BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Rev. J. M. Metcalf has closed the services of meeting at the Methodist Church. The texts of the meeting were: Monday, "A remedy for spiritual Depression," and "Being in the way;" Tuesday, "The sin of being too Busy," and "Excuses;" Wednesday, "Toll gates on the road to Heaven," and "Compromising with the Devil;" Thursday, "Man's universal Cry," and "Self yielding to God." These sermons were enjoyed by all who attended.

Rev. S. A. Bently is at home after a successful meeting at Indian Grave.

Miss Fathie Ware spent the past week with Mrs. J. F. Apperson.

Mr. Foster McKey was the pleasant guest of Miss Evelyn Deramus Wednesday evening.

The many friends of Mr. Elbert Williams regret to know that he is in the Central Alabama Hospital suffering with a broken a leg.

The Billingsley base ball club had a hard fight Thursday afternoon with the Independence club. The score being one and one after playing ten innings.

Mrs. J. F. Apperson and Miss Fathie Ware made a business trip to Verbena and Clanton last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert Jones of Autaugaville spent the week end with the latter's mother, Mrs. Hattie Dickerson.

Mrs. J. H. Vinson spent several days of the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Jackson.

Mr. A. G. Thompson of Bessemer spent the past week end in Billingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vogola of Chelsea spent Monday night with friends in Billingsley.

Miss Evelyn Laud and Ruth Herron of Tallassee were the guests of Misses Inez and Willie Jean Patrick several days of the past week.

The jinks are on Billingsley because the boys are rubbernecking in Chicago.

W. M. Polk made a business trip to Montevallo Tuesday.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENS SEPT. 7TH

Prof. I. J. Quinn was in Clanton Tuesday. He came over from Ashby, where he is spending the summer. While here Tuesday he stated that present plans are for the opening of the Clanton Grammar School on Monday, September 7th.

UNION GROVE

The United Singing Society met here Sunday afternoon. The directors were Messrs. Akins Collins, A. H. Glasscock, Vernon Northcut, Marvin Campbell, O. B. Robinson and Posey Cleckler. The organists were Misses Jessie Dorminey, Guyeulla Collins, Emma Campbell and Mrs. Akins Collins.

The society meets at Collins Chapel next Sunday. Everybody is invited.

NOTICE OF LETTING OF ALMSHOUSE FOR 1932

Notice is hereby given that the County Commissioners will meet at the County Almshouse Monday, August 24th, 1931, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of employing a keeper and making a contract for the almshouse for the year 1932.

The Commissioners will receive sealed bids up to 11 o'clock on that date from anyone wanting to bid for the work.

Under the terms of the contract to be let, the county will furnish everything for said inmates and home except the following items which the keeper shall furnish: food, all necessary help for preparing the food, and for taking care of said inmates, and wood. The county will pay for taking care and feeding said inmates, $8.50 per month, for each person.

It will be observed that the county is next year furnishing clothing which has not heretofore been done.

This the 12th day of August, 1931.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

8-13-2ch

REVIVAL NEXT WEEK AT REFUGE CHURCH

The Union-Banner has been requested to announce that the meeting will protract at Refuge next Sunday, continuing on into the following week. Rev. J. W. Jones of Thorsby will assist the pastor, Rev. G. G. Williams in the preaching. An invitation is extended to all to attend these services both morning and evening.

Reports from Maple Springs say that the big meeting down there is very pleasing this week. The preaching is done by the pastor, Rev. M. Lockhart; it is expected that services will continue on through Friday night.

SALEM CEMETERY CLEANING

All who are interested in the cemetery down on Cargle Creek at the old Salem Church place, meet there August the 18th for the purpose of cleaning off same. Bring your tools and come early.—Nora Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jeff Mims of Jasper are visiting relatives at Providence this week and attending the protracted meeting.

The big meeting is being held at Walnut Creek this week. Rev. T. C. Cassady of Montgomery is doing the preaching for the pastor, Rev. P. A. Linch. It is expected that services will run through Friday or Friday night.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

ROOMS AND BOARD—I can furnish you rooms and board, or can serve meals, restaurant style.—Annie Mae Stanton, on Main Street, next to Tom Rockett home. 8-13-4c

LOST DOG—Male, black and tan color; 14 months old; answers to name of Mutt. Last seen above Hill's Camp on Coosa River. Any inormation will be appreciated.—Lee Ellison, Clanton, Ala., Rte. 5 1p

FOR SALE—Or Exchange, a good grist mill outfit; good location; good business. Trade for 8 or 10 acres of farm land on the Highway, or on a public road. See me at Hubbard's Grist Mill, Clanton, Ala.—C. W. Hubbard. 13-1p.

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B. M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

19c SALE
A happy hunting ground for Bargain Seekers!

QUAKER MAID
BEANS 3 16-oz Cans 19c

WHITEHOUSE
MILK 3 Tall Cans 19c — 6 Baby Cans 19c

Sparkle Gelatin Dessert 3pgs 19c

OCTAGON
SOAP 4 Large Bars 19c

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

P & G
SOAP 5 bars 19c

OUR OWN BLEND
Tea 1-2 lb Pkg 19c

RAJAH SALAD
DRESSING Pint Jar 19c

SUNNYFIELD
Corn Flakes 3 pkg 19c

UNEEDA BAKERS
Shredded Wheat 2 pkg 19c

PALMOLIVE
Soap 3 cakes 19c — 1 Package of Beads FREE

8 o'clock COFFEE lb 21c

ANN PAGE—PURE FRUIT
PRESERVES 1 lb Jar 19c

RAINBOW—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 50c 48-lb Bag 98c

WHITE MEAT, per lb.	10c
KEROSENE OIL, per gal.	13c
SUGAR, 10 lbs.	50c
BACON, Best Grade Rindless, per lb.	25c

SUNNYFIELD—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 69c
12-lb Bag 35c 48-lb Bag $1.35

GRANDMOTHERS
Bread 16-oz Loaf 6c

BOKAR Coffee Supreme lb 29c

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXIX.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1931 NUMBER 17

SWIMMING RACES SUNDAY, AUG. 30

Event Sponsored By Oscar Norman At His Camp On River

A swimming event that will be of wide popularity and interest is being planned by Mr. Oscar Norman at his camp on Lake Mitchell just above Mitchell Dam, for Sunday, August 30. Mr. Norman was in Clanton Monday morning. He outlined his plans as fully as he could, and every indication is that the event will attract a large number of spectators, as well as a great many swimmers who will be interseted in getting into the contests.

According to Mr. Norman, there will be some kind of a competitive swimming race for every swimmer who wants to get in. He will start the program off about ten o'clock in the morning with a fifty yard race. From that the distance will be increased to 100 yards, and up to 150 yards.

In the afternoon there will be a big race for swimmers across the river, a distance of about a mile. This race, according to Mr. Norman, will be something to interest the best of swimmers. He expects to have some professional entries in the big event.

There will be prizes of various kinds, such as bathing suits, caps, shoes, and other swimming paraphernalia, awarded to the winners of the minor contests.

For the big race an entry fee of one dollar will be charged each swimmer. The prizes to be awarded for the winners of the big race will be cash, from $25 for first on down to lesser amounts to the runners up.

"I am working as hard as I can to make this one of the most interesting events ever staged on Lake Mitchell," said Mr. Norman. "I want to invite the public to come and witness the contests and spend the day. Between now and the 30th I hope to have every detail arranged in advance, so I can publish a complete outline of the program and the various awards to be made."

Any swimmer who may desire to get into any of these contests should communicate with Mr. Norman. Or if you do not have a chance to see him, you may go to his place on Sunday, August 30, and he will be glad to enter you in any of the events you may choose.

STORE MANAGERS MEET HERE

The managers of the five different stores of the V. J. Elmore chain attended a conference with Mr. Elmore in Clanton Monday. Those in attendance were Dewey Smith, of Wetumpka; Ira Smith, of Haleyville; Ocie Webb, of Russellville; C. D. Wilson of Jasper; Horace Jones, of Clanton.

Billy Smith, editor of the Chilton County News, has been sick for the past week. He is reported improving now.

REVIVAL BEGINS ON NEXT SUNDAY

Services In Charge Of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Wicks At Foursquare

The regular summer revival at the Foursquare Church, in Clanton, will begin Sunday, August 23, and continue until further notice from the pulpit.

The revival will be in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Ernest A. Wicks. Beginning at 11:00 a. m., Sunday, morning and evening services will be held, the evening beginning hour being 7:30, the only exception being Monday night, the 24th.

Rev. and Mrs. Wicks are both evangelists, graduates of the School of Evangelism at Angelus Temple, at Los Angeles. They were formerly in charge of the Russian Mission at Los Angeles, and later in charge of a work in Petoskey, Mich. For the last two months they have been on vacation, visiting various churches in Ontario, Canada, western New York State, and Ohio.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend all services.

NEGROES IN SHOOTING SCRAPE

Ed Mallory, negro, of Anniston, was shot Sunday night by Brack Pearson, negro, of Clanton, Brack used a single barrel shot gun, which emptied a load of small shot into Mallory's side. The injured negro was carried to the hospital.

According to Brack's story, the Mallory negro came to his home and began to raise cain. When Brack protested, Mallory is said to have declared war and shot at Brack twice with a pistol, whereupon Brack secured his single barrel shot gun and proceeded to bring hostilities to an end.

City officers appeared upon the scene and after investigation of the case stated that both negroes would be placed under bond.

ISABELLA BUILDING CONTRACT AWARDED

The contract for completing two unfinished class rooms at the Isabella High School was awarded last Saturday to Mr. E. L. Stringfellow, of Maplesville. Bids were opened by Superintendent Lawrence in the presence of all who were submitting estimates on the job. Mr. Stringfellow was lowest bidder, getting the job for $1,441.

The contract calls for completion of the two rooms by October 5th, the date when the Isabella Grammar School will open. The High School will open September 7th.

The completion of the two rooms under this contract will make the Isabella building finally finished according to State plans.

FARMERS VISITED AUBURN TUESDAY

About 200 Spend the Day At Alabama Experiment Station

A big delegation of Chilton County farmers, headed by County Agent Stapp, and Earle Thomas, of Isabella, went to Auburn Tuesday, to spend the day looking over the Extension Service Experiment farm. Those going from Clanton gathered at Mr. Stapp's office early Tuesday morning and set out on the journey in automobiles.

Following is the list of the ones going from Clanton:

O. O. Roper, R. J. Williams, W. C. Jones, E. E. Plier, G. W. Willis, J. M. Deramus, Clifton Jones, E. B. Tucker, J. M. Williams, J. C. Rich, J. D. Jones, G. P. Rich, Eddie Owens, M. E. Thrash, Bernie Thrash, Preston Thrash, Chelsie Thrash, Leonard Wyatt, Addie Wyatt, Morris Taylor, J. D. Collins, Jr., O. H. McDowell, V. C. McKee, W. J. Bice, W. W. Popwell, Richard Popwell, S. E. Bruce, Ben Sims, J. L. Smith, Roy Smith, A. B. Pressley, J. T. Cox, Hugh Taylor, Bill Calloway, Frank Patterson, Hardy Calloway, G. L. Sutley, Tom Lessley, J. D. Sutley, W. I. Lessley, J. R. Scott, W. A. Cox, Elzie Patterson, Raymond Cox, R. F. Holley, M. C. Childress, B. Lawrence, C. M. Lawrence, Houston Lawrence, Henry Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Popwell, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Popwell, Nelson Parrish, J. N. Dennis, Cleve Armstrong, Howard Dennis, James Dennis, S. Y. Dorminey, Ed Kelley, Horace Popwell, Reedie Taylor, Billy Popwell, Raymond Mims, J. Z. Mims, O. C. Duke, W. T. Bean, J. D. Collins, Sr., H. S. Shaw, W. M. White, S. M. Jones, E. S. Jones, W. H. Veazey, Howard Wyatt.

The following colored farmers went with the group: Ocie McKinney, A. G. Gordon, Moses Brown, Archie Hall, Anthony Hoylfield, Obie Collin, Ben Brown, A. B. Craig, Noble Darby.

In addition to those who went from Clanton, there were others who went from Jemison, Thorsby, Maplesville, and Verbena.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN

The long term schools of Chilton County will open September 7th. This includes all the high schools, and a few of the grammar schools.

All schools not opening September 7th, will open a month later, on October 5th.

County Superintendent B. Lawrence was in the delegation of farmers who went to Auburn Tuesday.

Mrs. Ellen Shell, and daughter, Julia, spent last week with Mrs. J. C. Jones.

Mayor and Council Make Statement About Financial Affairs of Clanton

Editor Union-Banner:

There appeared in the columns of your paper of Thursday, August 13, 1931, under your article "The Man on the Corner" certain statements or rather questions concerning the financial status of the Town of Clanton, and certain statements regarding operation of the water works of the Town.

In the first place, the Mayor and Council heartily agree with your statement that the affairs of the Town of Clanton are public matters, which are a part of the business of every citizen of the Town, and we appreciate the cooperation of the citizens and would like to state that all of the affairs of the Town are public matters and all public records of the Town and its actions are always open to the public for their inspection. The present administration of the Town of Clanton took office on October 6, 1930, and have been in office something like ten and one-half months, and in this connection we would like to remind the citizens that the present depression has been on us and that no doubt the Town has been, during the present administration, going through its worst financial depression. This is true of practically all other businesses, both public and private.

There is submitted below a statement of the financial conditions of the Town of Clanton as of October 6, 1930, the date the present officials took office. This audit was made by H. C. Crane & Co., certified public accountants of Montgomery, Alabama, and was made in compliance with the law which requires an audit each year:

CURRENT ASSETS:

Cash on hand	$ 4.13
Cash on Deposit:
Street and Sidewalk Fund	4,194.97
School Bond and Sinking Fund	217.20
General Fund—Overdraft	421.29
Water Works Fund	43.33
Ada M. Atkinson, Treasurer	14.62
	$ 4,052.96
Accounts Receivable:
Water Accounts	$ 1,723.62
Delinquent Licenses	194.33
Delinquent Taxes 1929 assessment	219.43
Delinquent Taxes 1929 assessment	29.75
City of Centreville	282.00
	$ 2,449.63
		$ 6,502.59
Public Improvement Assessments:
Sidewalks	$ 5,341.97
Paving	12,963.59
Private Work	574.12
		$ 18,879.68
Fixed Assetts:
Real Estate	$ 1,500.00
Furniture and Fixtures	580.05
Waterworks Plant and Equipment	59,003.84
Street Department Equipment	8,037.14
Fire Department Equipment	11,071.30
Roadways	34,929.67
		$115,122.00
		$140,504.27

CURRENT LIABILITIES:

Accounts Payable:
Trade Creditors—Open Accounts	$ 7,288.19
Accrued Items:
Salaries	1,997.08
Interest on Bonds:
School Bonds	$ 208.00
Water Works	1,895.83
Street Improvement	512.00
	$ 2,615.83
Notes Payable	25,596.80
Accrued Interest thereon	1,605.30
	$ 38,203.20
Bonded Indebtedness:
Street Improvement Maturing January 1, 1935	$ 32,000.00
Water Works Maturing April 1, 1944	25,000.00
School Maturing November 1, 1938	8,000.00
	$ 65,000.00
		$103,203.20
Surplus		37,301.07
		$140,504.27

It might be stated that there was other indebtedness of the Town, which was not shown by said audit for the reason that there was no record of the same.

We would like to call your attention to the fact when the present administration went into office there was $4.13 cash on hand in the General Fund, and was a General Fund overdraft of $421.29, leaving the General Fund was actually overdrawn $417.16; that is, the Town was in the hole that amount in the General Fund on October 6, 1930.

The first question asked in your article was the indebtedness of the Town on the water works plant. This indebtedness is $25,000.00 bond indebtedness and $1,800.00 on the filtering plant. Both the water works and the filtering plant were purchased and provided for during former administrations.

The next question asked was the total bond indebtedness of the Town, which is as follows:

Street improvements	$32,000
Water works (as stated above)	25,000
Schools	8,000
Total bond indebtedness	$65,000

The next question asked was the total monthly expense of the Town, which is as follows:

Salaries, including Mayor, Clerk, Superintendent of water works, Superintendent of streets, Helper on streets, day and night Policemen, and Street Cleaner, $535.00; General Securities Corporation, on filtering plant, $200.00; Alabama Power Company for street lights, operating water works, and fire engine, approximately $285.00. There are numerous miscellaneous items, such as necessary office supplies, extra help that the Town employs, lime for the filtering plant, accessories and parts for water works, gas and oil for truck and engine and water department, and necessary parts and repairs for tractors and graders and trucks and other machinery of the Town, approximately $300.00, making a total of $1,320.00. (Interest on past due indebtedness not included).

There is another question that was not asked in your column, but we think the citizens should have a right to know, which is receipts of the Town from all sources. In this connection there are certain receipts as license and taxes which come only a few months of the year, but below we are setting out the yearly receipts and then the monthly average of the total receipts:

Ad valoreum taxes	$ 7,000
License	6,500
Fines and cost	500
Water works	12,000
Miscellaneous, such as rental, equipment, and other items	300
Total	$26,300

The above figures are the average receipts yearly of the Town of Clanton and it will be observed the monthly receipts of the Town are between $2,100 and $2,200. It might be stated that the receipts of the Town during the last ten months was some $2,000 or $3,000 more for the reason that $2,082.03 was collected by the Town on one of the official bonds and the Town has also collected some several hundred dollars for some past due obligations.

Since October 6, 1930, in round numbers, about $14,000 has been paid upon past due open accounts and waived notes indebtedness. These payments have been for various and sundry items, among the same, being $1,500 on the fire truck, around $1,200 to the Alabama Power Company for light bills which were past due, Farmers Hardware Company, around $400 on past due account, Eureka Fire Hose Company, around $700; past due salaries around $1,100; past due notes to the General Security Corporation for filtering plant, $800; interest coupons on water works bonds $1,-

(Continued to last page)

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

For three Sundays our Sunday school has been looking up. If you will give us your presence every Sunday we will continue to grow. When you stay away from Sunday school you are a "Sunday school killer."

Preaching next Sunday morning and night by the pastor. We are not holding our services for entertainment, but for real profit. Come with us and we will do thee good.

Our church is neat and cool and our services are short, spicy, and full of the spirit. When you fail to attend church our efforts for you are wasted on the air. You are the loser. We have no broadcasting station in our auditorium.

REVIVAL AT THE CHURCH OF CHRIST AT CLANTON

The Church of Christ at Clanton will begin a revival on Sunday, August 30th, with G. A. Dunn, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, doing the preaching. Mr. Dunn is an evangelist of wide experience. He has lectured in almost every state in the Union and has traveled extensively in Asia, Africa, and Europe, making special study of the Holy Land. He is a forceful speaker and a pleasant entertainer.

Services each evening at 7:45, and Sunday school at 10:00 o'clock, and preaching at 11:00 on Sundays. Time of day services to be announced later. The public is cordially invited to attend each service.

WORK ON JAIL STARTED AGAIN

Will Be Rushed To Completion By The Last Of September

After a hold-up for about a month on account of shortage in material, work on the new jail was resumed Tuesday morning of this week with a full crew of men. Mr. Gilbert, foreman, stated that there would be no more interruption on account of lack of material until the job was completed. The fencing is already here, and the cell material is on the road and will arrive in a very few days. This steel work comes from San Antonio, Texas.

The job will be finished and ready to turn over to the county about the last of September, Mr. Gilbert stated. This will be one of the most modern structures of its kind in the State when completed. Especially the interior work will be nice. It will be as pretty as the interior of most any modern hotel, and the conveniences will be about as complete. When a person has the misfortune to get locked up in the new jail, he will have nothing to worry about, because he will have every convenience of a most modern home. And he need not worry his mind about getting out, because that will be practically out of the question. So, once incarcerated therein, one may rest in perfect peace and enjoy the many comforts until his time comes to be released.

NEGROES OF CLANTON PLEDGE SUPPORT LAWS

We, the colored people of Chilton County, pledge ourselves to support the effort put forth to bring the guilty person of Birmingham to justice. The amount we are sending to be added to the reward is not much but we send it with open hearts, and of our meagre earnings, hoping it will be of help in finding the right person.

We also pledge ourselves to eradicate every effort put forth by some "Andy Gump" from far away China, who comes into our community trying to embitter our minds against the white people. The white people are our best friends. It is our desire to be at all times of the very best terms with our white friends, because we are planted, as it were, in the South, and if we grow, we must grow in the South.

Enclosed find check for $10.75.—Committee, Mrs. M. B. Coker, Rev. R. C. Mixon, pastor Union Baptist church, Clanton; W. A. Dickerson, E. W. Burt, principal city school; Grover Looney, Benj. Anderson, principal of county Training School, chairman, Clanton.

Sanford Clark of Mt. Creek spent Tuesday in Clanton.

SPIGENER OPENS FUNERAL HOME

New Business At Place Formerly Occupied By Hugh Jones Store

The Spigener Funeral Home, a new business enterprise in Clanton, was opened Monday morning of this week. The location of the place is the building formerly occupied by Hugh Jones Cash Store. The business will be managed by Mr. E. J. Brand, a licensed embalmer and funeral director of eight years experience. The Spigener Funeral Home here will be the newest unit in a group of similar businesses in which Mr. Spigener is interested in various cities of Alabama.

Mr. Brand, the manager, says he is equipped to handle funeral arrangements in the most appropriate manner. He has a fine motor hearse and ambulance which will be available not only for funerals, but for emergency calls at all hours. The phone number of Spigener's is 15.

The Spigener Funeral Home here will be the authorized representatives of the Service Insurance Company, of Anniston. This company offers complete funeral protection on the insurance policy plan. They have been operating in Alabama for four years, and have 51 different funeral homes affiliated with them. There are at present over one hundred thousand people in Alabama carrying the funeral protection policy offered by the Service Insurance Company.

The business of the Service Insurance Company in Clanton and Chilton County will be managed by Mr. J. O. Ray, Jr. His office will be at Spigener's Funeral Home. Mr. Ray will be engaged in the business of offering to the people of this vicinity the opportunity of buying the insurance policies of his company.

All persons who are enlisted with the insurance company will have available funeral service through the organization of Spigener's Funeral Home. Elsewhere in this paper is an advertisement which gives all the important features of the insurance plan.

Mr. Bryce of the Service Insurance Co., of Anniston, was in Clanton this week, getting things arranged for the opening of his company's business here. The office of the company will be at Spigener's Funeral Home. Mr. J. O. Ray, Jr., will have charge of the office and business of the company here permanently.

Jim Ayers of the Fayette Banner stopped over in Clanton to say hello to some friends last Thursday. He was on his way to the Alabama Press Institute at Auburn. Some years ago Mr. Ayers was editor of the Chilton County News.

PLEASURE TRIP TO OLD KENTUCKY

Walter Foshee Reports Trip On Visit To His Daughter

Mr. Walter H. Foshee of Route 4 has returned from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. L. A. Schloemer, of Louisville, Ky. Mr. Foshee says he had often heard Kentucky spoken of as the wonder state, but never suspicioned any reason for it until his visit there. He says it is one of the most beautiful and most interesting states he has ever been in.

Two sights in Louisville that was of interest to Mr. Foshee was that he had the pleasure of going through the Bourlon Stock Yards. They are the largest stock yards this side of Chicago, and are said to have the largest and most up-to-date sheep yards in America.

Another interesting feature was that he was shown through Cave Hill Cemetery, that is nationally known as the most beautiful cemetry in the world.

Mr. Foshee traveled also through the states of Tennessee and Indiana. In his opinion he finds the State of Indiana quite interesting, but doesn't speak very favorable of the Tennessee mountains and valleys.

Plant Austrian Peas October First

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

ALABAMA GARDENS WILL BE WORKED ON THROUGH FALL

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 18.—Alabama gardens will not be allowed to take a vacation this fall and winter. They will be kept working and producing vegetables for home consumption and also some for sale.

Having for their goal a good garden on each farm during the fall and winter, the county agents and home demonstration agents are now giving special attention to garden work under the direction of Julian Brown, extension horticulturist at Auburn. The district agents are cooperating; and effective results are reported.

The work is being promoted at all meetings, through the press, by correspondence, with bulletins, at conferences, and by other means. Information is being distributed as to what to plant and how and when to plant it, including when to fertilize.

For August plantings Mr. Brown named cabbage, collards, kale, turnips, tendergreen, spinach, mustard, lettuce, beets, carrots, radish and onions. Where there is danger from hard freeze, vegetables such as beets, carrots, cabbage and turnips should be dug and stored for winter, Mr. Brown said.

A pit for beets, carrots and turnips may be made in a well-drained area. A pit 12 inches deep, four to six inches wide and long enough to accommodate all vegetables is recommended. It should be covered with pine straw and vegetables, placed in a wedge-shaped pile about two feet high, and covered with 4 to 6 inches of straw and an equal depth of dirt.

BIG WINTER LEGUME CROP IS EXPECTED

Extensive preparations are being made for planting winter legume seeds this fall. County agents are sponsoring it and bankers, business men and professional men as well as farmers are cooperating.

Latest reports from the county agents, received by District Agents J. T. High, Emmett Sizemore, and R. G. Arnold at Auburn, indicate that total plantings in many of the counties will be much larger than those of 1930.

In Clarke county, for example, farmers are ordering 50 to 200 per cent more seed than they bought a year ago, according to County agent O. C. Helms.

Henry county, which was the leader in southeast Alabama last year, expects to plant 200,000 pounds of Austrian peas this year, reported C. S. Keller, county agent. The goal in Lee county is 100,000 pounds of Austrian peas and 10,000 pounds of hairy vetch, said C. H. Bedingfield. Barbour county expects to plant 125 thousand pounds; Monroe county 100,000; Baldwin 60,000 to 100,000; Hale 66,000; and Bullock, Crenshaw and Wilcox each 40,000.

These seed will be planted for soil improvement, for winter and early spring grazing, and for hay next spring and summer. If planted for hay and grazing oats will be mixed with winter legumes.

Having found that poor land is made rich by winter legumes and that bumper yields of cotton, corn, and other crops follow, the county agents are giving much attention to these crops and thereby adding much to the economic wealth of their own counties each year.

FIVE MILLION GALLON SYRUP CROP IN SIGHT

Alabama is this year producing about 5,000,000 gallons of syrup, reports the Alabama and United States Departments of Agriculture.

"Sorghum promises a crop of 2,436,000 gallons and sugar cane 2,600,000," the report says. This is a half million gallons more than were produced last year and nearly 1,000,000 more than in 1929.

LIVE-AT-HOME GOAL IS BEING ATTAINED

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 17.—The live-at-home movement which has been promoted with unusual success in Alabama to date this year will be continued through the fall and winter. With this in view, summer and fall garden work is now in progress, as reported by the county farm and home demonstration agents.

Plantings are being made, cultivation is being continued, and additional fertilizer is being applied. The aim is to make the garden render maximum service in supplying food for the family.

Fall vegetables listed by Julian Brown, extension horticulturist of the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, are tomatoes, beans, turnips, beets, lettuce, Swiss chard, rutabeggas, cabbage, Chinese cabbage, spinach, mustard, onions, and other vegetables.

"The main things to do," said Mr. Brown, "are to keep planting, working, and fertilizing. When the weather is hot there is an inclination to neglect the garden. This is a mistake because a few hours spent in garden work at frequent intervals will keep it producing throughout the year."

Outside of the garden farmers are producing and preparing to produce feed for animals. Rape, Austrian peas, and hairy vetch will be planted in the early fall. Most of the Austrian pea and hairy vetch plantings will be for soil improvement, but many farmers will plant them for grazing and for hay. Where this is done either of these winter legumes and oats will be planted together.

ALABAMA FARMERS GROWING MORE HAY

Hay conditions in Alabama the first of August were 75 per cent of normal and indicated a yield of 8-10 of a ton per acre, according to F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician, who estimated a total crop of 549,000 tons against 452,000 last year, and 467,000 tons in 1929.

"This is not yet enough hay by about half for farm needs in Alabama, but is a good start in that direction," he said.

ALABAMA HAS LARGE SWEET POTATO CROP

Indications are that sweet potatoes planted in Alabama this year will produce 85 bushels per acre or a total crop of 8,840,000 bushels, according to the August crop report released by F. W. Gist, federal and state agricultural statistician.

"This year's crop compares with 6,290,000 bushels last year and 7,622,000 in 1929," he said.

"Growers should begin now to look for favorable markets for the surplus which is in prospect."

46,365,000 BUSHEL CORN CROP IS PROMISED

On August 1st the Alabama corn crop was 78 per cent of normal and promised a yield of 15 bushels per acre over the state, according to F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician for the Department of Agriculture.

"On the average growing this promises a crop of 46,365,000 bushels, compared with 29,505,000 last year and 37,464,000 in 1929," Mr. Gist said. "If the crop continues to the end of harvest in the present condition, there will be about enough raised for farm use another year, especially in view of the excellent crop of oats already harvested."

SPLENDID PEACH CROP PRODUCED IN ALABAMA

Alabama this year produced a splendid peach crop, amounting to about 1,445,000 bushels compared with 1,105,000 last year and 504,000 in 1929.

STATE APPLE CROP GREATLY INCREASED

This year's apple crop in Alabama is about 1,271,000 bushels compared with 760,000 bushels last year and 500,000 in 1929. This is reported by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician.

PEANUT CROP PROMISES 20 BUSHELS PER ACRE

Peanuts planted in Alabama this year promise a yield of 20 bushels per acre says F. W. Gist, statistician for the Department of Agriculture, in his August crop report.

"Conditions of peanuts on August 1st was 75 per cent of normal," he said. "In recent years about 80 per cent of the solid acreage has been harvested for nuts. If this practice prevails this year the harvested acreage will be about 288,000, and the total production around 5,760,000 bushels, compared with 5,304,000 last year and 5,720,0000 in 1929.

"The price of peanuts is still low, and it may be more profitable to feed much of the crop to hogs instead of forcing a slow market with a heavy production."

SQUIBS FROM AUBURN OF GENERAL INTEREST

In France there is now one automobile for every 27 inhabitants. The recent census, however, showed an increase of 17 per cent over a year ago. During the year automobiles yielded more than $36,000,000 in taxation.

Plant Patent No. 1 has been granted to Harry F. Rosenberg of New Jersey for the rose 'New Dawn.' This is the result of a legislative act which gives recognition and protection to producers of plant novelties.

Jefferson county dairymen are expecting to harvest this fall the biggest feed crop in the history of the county. They are building silos and making other preparations. The silo of the trench variety is preferred by many of them, said County Agent J. L. Liles.

The American Paper and Pulp Association has filed protest with President Hoover against sale of national forest timber in Alaska for conversion into newsprint. They declare that such action would increase unemployment and depreciate a capital investment of more than $800,000,000 in the United States and Canada.

Official figures recently announced show that for the first time since the Civil War immigration into the United States fell below 100,000 during the fiscal year ending June 30. A total of 97,139 immigrant aliens were admitted, as compared with 241,700 the previous year, or a decline of 59.8 per cent.

KILLS GULF Venom Flies and Mosquitoes Roaches, Ants Bed-Bugs Moths

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO
DALLAS COMPRESS CO.
Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).
Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.
Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop. Rate 25c a month per bale.
Dallas Compress Co.
SELMA, ALABAMA

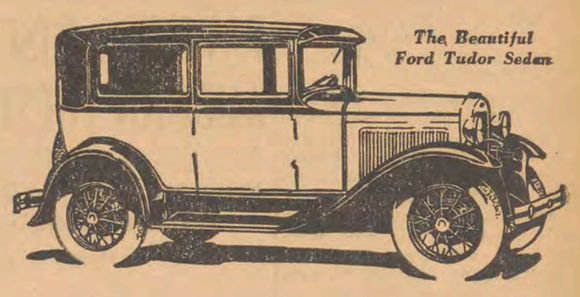
ALABAMA HAS LOW STATEWIDE DOMESTIC RATE FOR ELECTRICITY

Reports Legislative Investigating Committee on Public Utilities In Alabama

"IN THIS investigation the thing which is of most interest to consumer is the cost to him of electric current per kilowatt hour. Under the rates of Alabama Power Company as last revised by the Public Service Commission the average cost to the domestic consumer during the year 1930 was 5.05c against 7.75c per kilowatt hour during the year 1926, or a reduction of 34.8% in that period of time, and is 17% less than the national average . . . . and is the lowest statewide domestic rate in the United States."

"Upon the whole it is very clear to your Committee that power is available to new industries in Alabama in rates which compare very favorably with those of other States. We realize that a strict comparison of rates is impossible because of varying conditions in different localities but from the evidence before us it appears that the Alabama consumer is enjoying rates which when considered all together are lower than the general average throughout this section of the country."

"We find that the rates which the utilities collect for their services are prescribed by the Alabama Public Service Commission and it is undisputed that this Commission has given careful attention and consideration to these matters, the fact being that there has been a reduction in rates for the consumers in Alabama of more than $1,000,000 within the past two and one-half years."—From Report of Legislative Committee under H. J. R. No. 80—1931 Session.



ALABAMA'S CHEAPEST SERVANT

"Alabama has the lowest statewide, residential electric rates in the United States."

—Dr. John Bauer, of the American Public Utilities Bureau, New York, testifying before the Alabama Public Service Commission, as an expert witness for the City of Mobile.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

THE GREATEST VALUE EVER BUILT INTO A FORD CAR

The Beautiful Ford Tudor Sedan

$490

(F. O. B. Detroit, plus freight and delivery. Bumpers and spare tire extra at low cost.)

WHEN you buy a Ford car today, you buy what is unquestionably the greatest value in the history of the Ford Motor Company. Never before has so much beauty, comfort, safety and performance been offered at such a low price.

The low price of the Ford is something to think about because it means an immediate saving of many dollars — always an important consideration. But far more significant than price alone is what you get for that price. When high quality is combined with low price, you may justly take pride in having found a most satisfactory purchase.

See the Ford — ride in it — learn something about the value that is built into every part. The more you know about it, the more certain you will be that it is the car for you. It is literally true that when you "get the facts you will get a Ford."

Ford

NOTICE

This is to request you and all others who are in any way interested in growing strawberries or dewberries, or in securing fertilizers for either, or in learning the latest results obtained from fertilizers, to meet at the Farm Bureau Office on Friday, August 21st, 1931, at 1 P. M.

Clanton Berry Growers Association

W. T. BEAN, President.
J. N. DENNIS, Secretary-Treasurer.

A FEW FURNITURE BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK-END

New porch rockers, low as $2.95
(50c week)

Refrigerators ..... $5.00, up
($1.00 week)

Black Diamond and Blue Ribbon Ranges, fully Guaranteed $24.50
($1.00 week)

Two 3-piece Davinett Sets one oak, one mahogany each $35.00
($1.00 week)

One 5-piece blue enamel Breakfast Set $9.95
(50c week)

Philco and Crosley Radios on easy payments

Red Cedar Chests, low as $9.95
(50c week)

A few Frost King Freezers left at whole sale prices, easy payments

6 x 9 felt base Congoleum Floor Coverings $2.95
(50c week)

Phonographs ..... $5.00, up
($1.00 week)

One 3-piece Porch Set, settee and two rockers, orange color, extra special $8.95
($1.00 week)

TIFFIN - KLINNER FURNITURE CO.
CLANTON, ALABAMA

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

Trench Foot

Beware Athlete's Foot

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Hand Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS
Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

PAY OF UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Moralists in George Washington's day were not embarrassed by the fact that there were corporative executives, movie stars, baseball pitchers, home run clouters and others, who received a higher salary than that of the president, there were no large corporations, no prize fights, no base ball heroes, no movie stars, and, while business men of the time may have had higher commercial incomes, probably no man received a higher actual salary than that of the president.

The Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission reminds us that Washington's salary was fixed by the first Congress of the United States at $25,000, which was by far higher than any other government salary of the time. Just to give us a line on the difference, the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission has taken the trouble to learn the precise salaries they paid to all government officials. Evidently, to judge by this difference, Congress thought Washington well worth whatever the government could afford to pay him.

This $25,000 was made the fixed salary of President Washington by the act of September 24, 1789, later confirmed as permanent legislation by an act of February 18, 1793, and for eighty years $25,000 remained the fixed salary of the presidents. At the end of that time, in 1873, presidents of the United States received something of a salary boost when the act of March 3, doubled their pay to $50,000 a year. There was no delay about it, either. The raise was made effective on the following day, March 4.

The next pay increase was a little less long in coming. After thirty-six years Congress lifted the president's salary to its present status at $75,000, with the act of March 4, 1909, making William Howard Taft the first president to benefit by the timely aid.

PECANS EXPECTED TO BE PLENTIFUL

Present indications are that pecans will be plentiful in Alabama this fall.

F. W. Gist agricultural statistician in Alabama reports that the condition of the crop on August 1st was 70 per cent of normal indicating a total of around 3,000,000 pounds compared with 2,500,000 pounds last year, 1,504,000 in 1929, and 3,000,000 pounds in 1928.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

666
LIQUID OR TABLETS
Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.
666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING
Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated
MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

Locals

Rev. Joseph E. Each of Thorsby was in Clanton Monday selling advs. for the September issue of The Glad Tidings.

Raymond Marcus remains in a critical condition at the home of his father, Dr. T. J. Marcus. He is suffering from an enlargement of the main artery near the heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Burnett wi' live in an apartment at the home of Mrs. J. C. Jones.

J. Z. Mims and son returned last week from a trip to Washington, Baltimore and other points of interest in the northeast. They went up through Kentucky, by way of Mammoth Cave, and returned through the Carolinas. The trip was a very enjoyable one, Mr. Mims said.

Mose Mims and family of Homewood, Birmingham, spent last week with relatives in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Plier of Georgia are visiting the former's relatives in Clanton. Mrs. Plier was operated on at the Central Alabama Hospital Monday morning.

Sam Powers of Lay Dam and Dr. E. E. Upchurch left Sunday to take in the big fishing rodeo on the Gulf Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Duncan and Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and children left Sunday for a visit of a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Kin Vinson at Saundersville, Ga.

Rev. J. D. Hughes baptised fifteen converts at Providence, Beat 16, last Sunday afternoon. There were four other additions to the church by letter and restoration during the meeting last week.

Rev. William Elijah Robinson of Birmingham spent last week at home with his mother, Mrs. Sarah Jane Robinson of Providence. Rev. Robinson preached at Providence two or three times during the protracted meeting. He returned home Monday morning.

Mr. M. M. Abrams of Adams Station in South-west Chilton, was here a few days recently visiting an old friend, H. F. McCary of Friendship community. Mr. Abrams attended Sunday school at Friendship last Sunday and took part in the discussion of the lesson. The people of that Sunday school were glad to have Mr. Abrams with them.

Rev. M. J. Parrish of Providence was in Clanton Monday shaking hands with friends and telling about the good meeting he was in last week at old Providence in Coosa County. Bro. Parrish preached over there all the week and baptized nine converts Saturday.

Mr. Howard Popwell, who has been living at Ozark, Ala., Route 4, in Dale County, for the past nine years, was here for a few days last week. It has been four years since Howard was in his home county. Mr. Popwell married Miss Vennie Bruce of near Ozark seven years ago. He is figuring on coming back to Chilton county to live.

MT. PLEASANT NEWS

Members of the Young Peoples Sunday School Class of Mt. Pleasant are requested to meet at the school house Friday morning for a picnic. We will meet at 9:00 o'clock, and go from there to Log Cabin Beach.

Girls, bring sandwiches and cake, boys, bring cold drinks.—Gertrude Blalock.

BOYS CLUB CAMP

The 4-H Club camp last week was a great success. More than one hundred boys attended camp and apparently enjoyed every minute of the time, except when they had to shell peas and clean chickens.

The selection of the best all-round camper is an annual affair with the boys. James Dennis of the Calf Club was voted the best camper, and Dick Davis of Concord Club was voted second best camper. James Deason of the Isabella Club was camp secretary and rendered splendid service. Claud Conway, formerly of Isabella, Mr. Earle Thomas, vocational teacher of Isabella, and Mr. J. P. Montgomery, vocational teacher of Jemison, aided Mr. Stapp in helping the boys make the camp the success it was.

Among those who visited the boys while on camp and make talks to them were Mrs. J. Q. Wade, Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Mr. J. B. Atkinson, Rev. G. G. Williams, County Superintendent of Education, B. Lawrence, and Mr. W. M. Polk.

Mr. Stapp and the boys certainly appreciate the way the members of the Kiwanis Club, Mr. Rudolph Moates, Mr. J. N. Dennis, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mr. Lorenza Popwell, Mr. Bob Sumner and others cooperated in helping get the boys and their luggage to and from camp. They also wish to express their appreciation to the Alabama Power Company men at Lay Dam for showing them through the plant there.

Plant turnips now. Get your seed at Upchurch Drug Co.

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 23

A GOSPEL FOR ALL MEN

LESSON TEXT—Acts 10:1-11:18.
GOLDEN TEXT—For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Gospel for Everybody.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Gospel for Everybody.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—First Steps in World Brotherhood.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Gospel for All Men.

In the lesson for August 2 we saw the missionary program of the church broadened to include the Samaritans. We see in this lesson the program still widening and embracing the Gentiles. The conversion of Cornelius illustrates the breaking down of "the middle wall of partition" (Eph. 2:14).

I. Cornelius (10:1, 2).

1. His official position (v. 1). He was a Roman officer over a company of one hundred soldiers.

2. His character (v. 2). a. A devout, pious man. b. A praying man. c. A charitable man.

II. The Supernatural Preparation for the Transition of the Gospel to the Gentiles (10:3-33).

1. Two visions were given (vv. 3-16). (a). The vision of Cornelius (vv. 3-8). While engaged in prayer an angel of God announced that his prayer and alms had come before God as a memorial and instructed him to send to Joppa for Peter who would tell him what to do. (b). The vision of Peter (vv. 9-16). This took place while Peter was praying (v. 9). He saw a certain vessel containing clean and unclean animals let down from heaven, and heard the command, "Rise Peter, kill and eat." This vision indicated that both Jews and Gentiles were accepted on high.

2. A messenger sent from Cornelius (vv. 17-22). Peter was greatly perplexed over what he had seen, but not for long, for messengers from Cornelius made inquiry at the gate for him. The Spirit informed Peter of the matter and bade him go, nothing doubting.

3. The meeting of Cornelius and Peter (vv. 23-33). (a). Peter took six witnesses along (v. 23). He had the good judgment to know that on a matter of so great importance he must have witnesses. (b). Cornelius waiting for Peter (v. 24). He had such confidence in God's instruction that he called together his kinsmen and friends to be ready on Peter's arrival. (c). Cornelius about to worship Peter (vv. 25, 26). Peter repudiated his act and protested that he himself was but a man. (d). The reciprocal explanation (vv. 27-33). Peter explained to him how God had taken from him his Jewish prejudice and asked why Cornelius had sent for him. Cornelius explained that God had instructed him to send for Peter.

III. Peter's Sermon (vv. 34-43).

1. The introduction (vv. 34, 35). He showed that God is no respecter of persons but that in every nation those that fear God and work righteousness are accepted of him. This does not mean that Cornelius was already in a state of grace, and therefore saved, but that he was eligible to hear the gospel and accept the terms of salvation.

2. His discourse (vv. 36-43). In the discourse he touches briefly upon the mission of Jesus, showing that by means of his baptism and the anointing of the Holy Spirit he was qualified for his work as mediator. He then exhibited the work of Christ: (a). In his life (vv. 36-38). He went about doing good, even casting out demons as a proof that God was with him. (b). In his death (v. 39). The just suffered for the unjust that he might bring us to God (I Pet. 3:18). (c). In his resurrection (vv. 40, 41). God raised him up the third day showing openly that Christ was his Son (Rom. 1:4) and that his sacrificial work was satisfactory (Rom. 4:25). In this discourse is set forth (1) The basis of salvation—the crucifixion of Christ. (2) The scope of salvation—whosoever believeth in him. (3) The method of appropriating salvation—believing on him.

IV. The Holy Spirit Poured Out (vv. 44-48).

This was a new Pentecost. As the gospel was entering upon its widest mission, the Spirit came in new power.

V. Peter Vindicates His Ministry to the Gentiles (11:1-18).

Being called to account for having visited and eaten with Gentiles, Peter rehearsed the whole story showing how God had set his seal upon the work by the miraculous gift of the Spirit.

Ingratitude

The saddest example of ingratitude is the poverty of the thankfulness of those who are, in some measure, thankful for God's greatest gift. It is strange and melancholy that Christians should love, and love so little; should be thankful, and so tepid in it. —Alexander Maclaren.

The Heavenly Father's Love

Our heavenly Father is no Eli: He will not suffer his children to sin without rebuke. His love is too intense for that.—Spurgeon.

All kinds of Turnip Seed at Upchurch Drug Company.

A Clear Skin and a Strong Body depend upon NEW STRENGTH in the Blood

● Surprise yourself and be the envy of others . . . look better . . . feel better! Blood is Life! Build more red cells in the Blood—thence will come Sturdy Health!!! Countless thousands know this to be a fact. Just take S.S.S. and prove it yourself. You, too, will enjoy your food . . . have firmer flesh . . . sleep sounder . . . your nerves will be calmer . . . your skin will clear up . . . you will possess a greater resistance to infection and disease! S.S.S. is the world's best blood medicine. It is composed of freshly gathered medicinal roots and herbs—a gift from Mother Nature. Successful for over 100 years. It works safely . . . surely . . . swiftly! Make a note of your condition today—then compare the difference six to eight weeks hence.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again.

A clear, smooth skin makes for more attractiveness!

S.S.S. Purifies and Enriches the Blood

WORKING AT NEW HARMONY

All who are interested in cleaning off the cemetery at this place please bring your tools next Tuesday morning, September 1st.—W. L. Sanders.

SHILOH SINGING

The singing was called to order by Mr. T. W. Billingsley, who sang two songs, while a program was arranged by Misses Jula Nelson, Verlon and Ethel Mullins. The program consisted of the following directors: Misses Elaine Deason, Eloise Keen, Etta, Aileen, Agnes, and Verlon Mullins; Messrs. S. A. Henley, L. C. Cagle, and Clint Billingsley. Organists for the afternoon were Minnie Bice and Etta Mullins.

We invite all visitors to meet with us next third Sunday afternoon.

Judge S. F. Hobbs of Selma, Ala., is chairman of the Muscle Shoals Commission appointed from Alabama and Tennessee and by President Herbert Hoover. Other Alabamians on the Commission are W. F. McFarlan of Florence, W. H. Smith of Prattville, and Edward A. O'Neal, who was appointed by President Herbert Hoover as representative of organized agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sims of Parrish have been visiting Mrs. Sims's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mims, the past week.

PINE SEED RIPENING

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 17.—The time of year for the cones or burrs of southern pine trees to ripen si approaching, says Colonel Page S. Bunker, State Forester. This will be of particular interest to landowners who are desirous of collecting their own seed for planting either directly in the field or in small home nurseries. No definite time can be stated for the collection of the cones, but usually they start to ripen the latter part of August or the early part of September.

The action of the squirrels in cutting the cones for storing away as winter food is one of the safest ways of judging whether or not the cones are ripe. Another test that can be applied is to cut into the cone and examine the seed. If the kernel is full, plump and white, but not milky, the seed is ripe. A change in color from green to purple or light brown is also an indication of maturity.

The seed collector should confine his attention to newly felled or standing vigorous, well formed, middle-aged trees. Collection of cones from very young, very old, or defective trees should be avoided. Only unopened cones should be gathered, for open or partially opened cones contain hardly enough seed to warrant their handling.

The unopened cones should be spread out on a cloth or a roof and exposed to the heat of the sun so that the scales will open and allow the seed to drop out. It is also advisable to turn the cones over to hasten their opening. If impractical to plant during the fall or winter the seed should be stored in bags in a cool place out of reach of rats, mice or other rodents.

Phone One-One-One
or Write
The James Sign Shop
CLANTON, ALA.
Outdoor
Painted Display Advertising

PHILCO RADIOS

Buy your new Philco Now! Features of the new 1932 Philco—9 tubes, 4 screen grids; oversize improved; Electro-dynamic speaker; 4 point tune control, and static modifier, and many other new features.

BABY GRAND — Complete with tubes, installed in your home $79.50

Buy one on the easy terms.

TIFFIN - KLINNER FURNITURE CO.
CLANTON - - ALABAMA

WADESONIAN
PROGRAMS

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday
AUGUST 20TH, 21ST, AND 22ND
Hoot Gibson, In
"CONCENTRATIN' KID"
An All-Talking Western
SERIAL—"Spell Of The Circus"—Talking

Monday and Tuesday
AUGUST 24TH AND 25TH
Constance Bennett, In
"SIN TAKES A HOLIDAY"—All Talking
COMEDY—All Talking

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA
Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service
Flowers for all Occasions

INDIAN GRAVE

Mr. Joe Deramus from Independence spent the afternoon with his sister, Mrs. J. Bob Deramus, Sunday.

Mr. Carson Williams and brother, Mr. Charlie Williams, visited Mr. Claud Herrod Monday.

Mr. Dee Wyatt and family spent the day at his father's Sunday.

Mr. J. B. Deramus visited Mr. George Sunday.

Mrs. Tom Gains spent the afternoon Sunday with Mrs. J. Bob Deramus.

Our Sunday school is getting along fine.

We had a real good B. Y. P. U. Sunday night.

ISABELLA F. F. A.

There will be a meeting of the Isabella F. F. A. next Wednesday night, August 26th. Members are urged to attend.—President.

FAIRVIEW 4-H CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Fairview 4-H Club Frdiay night, August 21st. All members be present; visitors invited.—President.

Mrs. Toy Parsons (L. E. Morgan) of Birmingham is visiting relatives and friends in Clanton for a few days.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

ROOMS AND BOARD—I can furnish you rooms and board, or can serve meals, restaurant style.—Annie Mae Stanton, on Main Street, next to Tom Rockett home. 8-13-4c

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B. M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

LOST—Three keys on a little chain. Lost last Friday in Clanton, or on road South of Clanton. Finder can get reward by returning them to Union-Banner office. 1p.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at Farmers Hardware Co.

DR. E. R. ODOM and MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic

West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will meet this week, Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Conrad Carlson. Everybody invited.

Mrs. T. T. Thorson and Mrs. S. A. Thorson spent last week with Mrs. Bosworth. Mrs. T. T. Thorson left Saturday for Birmingham where she will spend a week visiting friends, and then go on to her home at Madison, Ala.

Mrs. Thorson had not visited Thorsby, her former home, in eighteen years, and was surprised and delighted to note improvements in our town. She still has many warm friends here, and was entertained as honor guest by Mrs. C. C. Petersen on Thursday, and by Mrs. E. E. Hansen Friday afternoon of last week.

Thorsby Lutheran Church Sunday school next Sunday at 9:45 a. m., and preaching in Scandinavian language at 10:45 a. m. Sunday, August 30, Rev. S. H. Newman, of Groveland, Fla., will conduct a service in English, at 10:45 a. m.

Cecil Each of Birmingham visited home folks in Thorsby last Sunday.

Rev. J. E. Each, Mrs. Each and Mrs. Butler, Marguerite Davison, Miss Lorena Primm, and Mr. Francis Emmerson, a thological student from North Carolina, were Thorsby representatives at Central Alabama District Conference of Congregational churches at Balm of Gilead Church, near Eclectic, the last three days of the past week. They report an unusually large attendance, and a good series of meetings.

Rev. Fred P. Ensminger, state superintendent of Congregational activities in Alabama, Tennessee and west Florida, was in attendance at the conference, and called at the Each home in Thorsby last Thursday.

Mrs. C. S. Howard, son Lloyd, and Misses Ella Howard, Kathryn and Edith Foss and Edith Johnson, were week end visitors with friends in Tuscaloosa.

Miss Christina Bosworth of Selma was a week end visitor with home folks in Thorsby.

Miss Naemi Turnquist, of Selma, is spending her two weeks vacation among kin folks in Thorsby.

Miss Gertrude Steiner of Marion Junction is making an extended visit among old frienos in Thorsby. With her sister, Mrs. Elery Hansen of Lay Dam.

Dr. and Mrs. Lee were visitors in Birmingham last week.

Mr. Ben Franklin, our geneial rural route mail carrier, is having a two weeks vacation.

Clarence Butler and family of Montgomery were guests at the home of the Butlers in Thorsby Sunday. Miss Frances remains with her grandparents for a few days.

Harry Peterson and family of Birmingham were Sunday visitors at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Peterson of Thorsby.

Miss Clara Vines has returned from Howard College, where she has been taking a summer course.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard and Mrs. John R. Boyd spent Wednesday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Sarber at Elmore.

Mrs. John R. Boyd, after a two months visit with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Goddard, left last Wednesday for her home at Preston, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gentry have moved into the Freeman cottage adjacent to the home of the Norton's on Washington St. Mr. Gentry is still very ill, and in his weak condition was greatly disturbed by the traffic on the highway, which passed within a few feet of his bed, so he sought by advice of his physician, a more quiet location.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Massey of Liberty Hill.

Mr. J. W. Moore of Columbiana was a visitor in Thorsby Saturday.

Mrs. P. S. Orth and son, George, and daughter, Katherine, of Ensley were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Piper. They also had as guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gamble and interesting children of Rernlap.

Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Williams and children, Lena and Floyd, spent the week end with C. S. Edmonds in Birmingham.

Miss Mary Sue Robinson is spending two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Arthur P. Villadsen at Lincoln, Ala.

Miss Elizabeth Whitley of Birmingham was a week end guest of Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

The ladies guild social will be held Thursday, August 27th, at the home of Mrs. E. R. Piper.

Miss Gerturude Steiner of Marion Junction has been the guest of Miss Dorothy Butler for the past few days. They left last Tuesday to visit Mrs. Ellery Hanson at Lay Dam.

Miss Dera Rowell is home from Piedmont College, at Demorest, Georgia, for a few weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson are guests of Mr. Peterson's parents, Mr. Martin Peterson. Mr. Peterson has been taking a special course at Tri State College, where his wife is holding a position as kindergarten teacher in Detroit, Michigan.

Miss Dorothy Butler entertained a slumber party of seven girls last Friday night, as follows, Gerturude Steiner, Doris Freeman, Edith Thompson, Katheryn and Edith Foss, Ella Howard and Christnia Bosworth.

Mrs. Martha Primm has as her guest, for an extended visit, Mrs. M. A. Barnes.

Mrs. C. M. Williams will leave the latter part of this week for Boaz, Alabama, where he will take up his work as superintendent of public schools in preparation for opening August 31st.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Love of Birmingham were guests of Mrs. Love's daughter has a home. On their reparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Laurell, with whom Christina Love, a small turn to Birmingham, the Loves took Margaret Butler and Frances Wilson who visited home folks in Thorsby Sunday.

Messrs. R. R. Franklin, E. R. Piper and J. M. Mims made a business trip to Anniston Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Higdon of Campsville, Kentucky, where Mr. Higdon is dean of a College, and his wife teaching, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Franklin.

Miss Vivian Roebuck of Birmingham was a week end guest of Mrs. C. M. Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walker had as their guests Sunday Mrs. Peter Nixon and daughter, Rena Bell, Mr. M. D. Walker and Miss Peters of Deatsville; Miss Mary Alice DeBar and Mr. Luke Walker of Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Pate gave a picnic party Thursday, August 13, to their son, Ralph, in honor of his birthday. The party went to to Log Cabin Beach. Those present were as follows: Lois Thompson, Gene Swanson, Edith Foss, Ella Howard, Myradine Martin, Lucile Each, Juanita Each, Mary Nell Jones, Dorothy Franklin, Katheryn Foss, Katheryn Lenoir, Louise Robinson, Eloise Rasberry, Wilma Goodgame, Verlon Goodgame, Ruby Connatser, Helen Lowery, Conradine Pate, Mary Ruth Nix, Cora Connatser, Louise Bates, Roma Lee Pate, George Nix, Ralph Pate, Clarence Benson, Lloyd Howard, Claud Gore, Claud Collins, Sarlton Collins, Kenneth O'Barr, J. C. O'Barr, Chester Dorough, Leo Spivey, Hubert Reinhardt, Charles, Childress, Ollis Littleton, Thomas Hayes and Conway Thornburg. Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Pate and Mrs. Donald Merchant accompanied the party. Boat riding was enjoyed in the afternoon by all.

Miss Thelma Lee Martin of Birmingham is spending a few days with Miss Myradine Martin.

It proved to be a perfect lark to the girls who were guests at the boy scouts' camp ground last Thursday night. Those enjoying the camp life were Mrs. G. W. Freeman and Miss Odie Lee Arthur, who were chaperones; Edith Johnson, Doris Freeman, and Dorothy Butler. The camping spot was ideal, and the boys played hosts nicely. Crispy bacon and crackling potato chips proved that the boys were excellent cooks. A watermelon cutting was held at one-thirty in the morning. The girls took breakfast at the Freeman home.

Remember the services at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and Sunday evening. Special sermon to the young converts, however, it will be applicable to all.

Sunday school at the Baptist Church at 9:45. Let's keep it going on the upward path.

Prayer meeting at the Baptist Church Wednesday night with Mr. Donald Merchant in charge. We urge you all to be present.

Rev. Jones is assisting Rev. G. G. Williams in a meetng at Refuge this week.

Mrs. John Childress spent Sunday night in Birmingham with her sister, Hattie Davenport, returning Monday morning with Mrs. Sims.

Mrs. Tom Goswick and son, Tom, Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., is visiting Mrs. Ben Davenport, her sister.

Mrs. Berry and children of Deatsville spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Burt Higgins, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Peterson and children, Herbert, Jr., and Imogene, spent the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Maddox are spending their vacation in Ohio. They left last Friday to be gone for several days. They have rooms at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Billingsley.

Silk Dresses

We have on hand about 100 Silk Dresses in all sizes. We are positively going to sell these dresses out at less than cost of material on today's market.

Values up to $10.00, all colors and sizes. Don't wait, look at the price, we are selling this entire lot out in 5 days beginning Friday for $2.48

THE LEADER
MANAGER, M. LANDE

Clanton, Ala.

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at

The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

E. E. Littleton and E. F. Billingsley were in Birmingham Monday of this week.

Mrs. S. P. Kelley returned home Sunday after spending two weeks with her son, Ivan Gibbons, of Elderado, Kansas.

Miss Francis Butler of Montgomery and Miss Gertrude Steiner of Marion Junction are visiting with Miss Dorothy Butler.

Mr. I. S. Gerald returned home Monday afternoon, having spent 10 weeks in Demorest, Ga., where he has been teaching in Piedmont College.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive and Carl Eckblad returned last Saturday after spending a week with Mr. Sutlive's mother and other relatives in Blakely, Georgia.

Mrs. McDonald Pierson, Misses Odie Lee Arthur and Doris Freeman were dinner guests Monday at the home of Agnes Leary.

Mrs. H. V. Thompson spent the week end in Thorsby with her husband and sister, Mrs. L. E. Thornburg.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg and Miss Ostorid Eckblad left Saturday for a three weeks trip to Chicago and other points in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Mr. Lawrence Gerald and Lawrence, Jr., of Clanton, and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moody of Birmingham were dinner guests at the home of the Geralds Sunday.

Miss Bertha Littleton of Birmingham spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Emmett Billingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mead and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mead spent Saturday night and Sunday in Birmingham.

Defends Javelin Throw

Kenneth Churchill of California, the defending champion, who most certainly did defend his javelin crown with a vengeance by tossing the spear fully 210 feet 7 inches or 18 feet further than his nearest competitor in the intercollegiate A. A. A. A. meet at Philadelphia.

Miss Blonnie Baxley of Talladega is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Kytle, of Clanton.

AN INVITATION

TO THOSE

INTERESTED IN PROTECTING AND BEAUTIFYING THEIR HOMES

AN INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE

PAINT

DEMONSTRATION

PRESENTED BY

THE Sargent-Gerke CO.
Producers of PAINT, VARNISH, LACQUER, ENAMEL & UNDERCOATS
INDIANAPOLIS

WILL BE HELD AT OUR STORE FOR One Day Only
FRIDAY, AUGUST 21

Present This Coupon and 25c at Our Store and Receive
One 40c Can Sargent Floor and Furniture Enamel
One 40c Pure Bristle Brush (Any Color)
80c Value for 25c

Farmers Hardware Co.
The Winchester Store
Clanton - - - - Alabama

THIS COUPON MUST BE PRESENTED ON THE DAYS OF THE DEMONSTRATION

NOW IS THE TIME

To plant bulbs for Spring Flowers. Among the very earliest to bloom are Victoria Daffodils. I have been growing this variety for the past fifteen years, and shipping the flowers in January, February and March. In April Narcissus Poeticus make a fine showing in garden beds. For the first time I am offering bulbs of these varieties for sale. Come and get them. Daffodils are $2.00 and Narcissus $1.00 per 100.

Orders taken for rooting English Ivy Slips
15c each; 2 for 25c; 6 for 50c; 15 for $1.00.

S. E. NORTON

Thorsby :-: :-: :-: :-: Alabama

Something Special

You can order what you want, by mail or telephone, and have it PROMPTLY DELIVERED at your home within the limits of Thorsby, during the day or early night.

TELEPHONE THORSBY 81

Try Our Delivery System

ASTRO WRIGHT

THORSBY :-: :-: :-: :-: ALABAMA

U. S. SLEUTHS NAB SCORES DURING RAID

Warrants Served Through Four Counties As Sequel To Work By Undercover Men About Dothan.

Fifty-one persons, including Houston Radford, former mayor of Hartford, were arrested during widespread raids in four counties Friday and Saturday, it was learned Monday at the office of Victor J. Buthod, deptuy administrator for the middle Alabama district.

The raids began early Friday in Houston, Henry, Geneva and Dale counties, following several weeks' work by undercover agents. Agents working out of the office of the eastern division of the district at Dothan were joined by officers from the Montgomery headquarters, and by Saturday afternoon the Dothan jail was filled to capacity.

Radford, who was said by the agents to be under bond already on a charge of transporting liquor, spent Friday night in jail and was released on bond Saturday. Approximately 90 per cent of those arrested were white persons and a majority were charged with liquor sales.

Federal authorities said many of those arrested during the campaign were second offenders, and others were charged with sale of liquor in quantities large enough to be prosecuted under the Jones law, which carries a penalty of five years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine.

Undercover agents had been working in the district for several weeks, making purchases of liquor, gathering evidence and issuing warrants.

NON-JURY CASES TRIED HERE LAST MONDAY

Houston Darby, assault and battery; found guilty and fined $10. Sentenced to hard labor for 51 days for fine and cost.

Walter Woodson, A. I. O. L.; found guilty and fined $100. Sentenced to hard labor for county for 68 days for fine and cost.

Foster Glasscock, violating prohibition law; plead guilty and fined $100. Sentenced to hard labor for county for 98 days for fine and costs.

Houston Nelson, assault and battery; found guilty and sentenced to hard labor for county for 38 days for costs and six months as punishment.

Leander Bohannon, violating prohibition law; found guilty and fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for county for 83 days for fine and costs.

Thomas J. Mims, violating prohibition law; plead guilty and fined $50.

Carl Johnson, violating prohibition law; defendant being under 16 years of age, case was transferred to juvenille court.

Thos. J. Walley, Jr., violating prohibition law; plead guilty and fined $50.

John F. Johnson, violating prohibition law; plead guilty and fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for county for 90 days for fine and costs.

William Price, violating prohibition law; plead guilty and fined $50.

Lindsey Cleckler, violating prohibition law; plead guilty and fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for county for 82 days for fine and costs.

MONTGOMERY PREPARING FOR 3 BIG FOOTBALL GAMES SOON

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 18.—Football tickets for Auburn's three important games in Montgomery will go on sale Saturday, thereby affording alumni and interested fans an opportunity to purchase the choicest of the seats.

The Tigers open their 1931 schedule on Friday night, September 25 against Birmingham-Southern. The succeeding games in the Capital City will be against Tulane on November 7 and against South Carolina on Thanksgiving Day.

Mail orders will be handled as rapidly as possible through the management of the advance sale at May and Green's, 13 Commerce Street, in Montgomery, Ala. All mail orders must be accompanied by a certified check or money order.

Officials have explained that no reservations will be put aside. A slogan of "first come first served" has been adopted as the advance sale was planned so far in advance to give everyone an equal opportunity to obtain the best seats.

Prices available for the opening game will be $2.00 and $2.50, while the Tulane game will be $3.00. The South Carolina game will be $2.00, reserved seats.

Tickets may be purchased for all three games or for either single contest.

Auburn officials will distribute all tickets for the games to be played on the campus. However, blocks of tickets will be available at Auburn for the Montgomery games.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott of Hunstville are vacationing at the Foshee Camp near Coosa River.

COOSA PICNIC AT LOG CABIN BEACH FIFTH SUNDAY, AUG.

The Union-Banner has requested to announce that there will be a picnic all day on the Fifth Sunday in this month at Log Cabin Beach, at the ferry below Mitchell Dam. This will be another Coosa county affair similar to the one held two or three months ago. It is intended for the people of Chilton county who were born and raised in Coosa and for the people who now live in Coosa county. It will be a kind of reunion affair, and the general public is invited to attend. Bring your dinner and be prepared for a good time.

Music and boat races have been scheduled for thirty minutes beginning at 9:30 o'clock. There will be speaking from 10 to 12 by Col. A. C. Smith, F. A. Gulledge and others. Dinner at 12 o'clock, and the afternoon will be taken up with boat races and other amusements.

C. L. Woodfin, Rockford, Ala.

Decathlon Winner

Jess Mortensen of the Los Angeles Athletic club, captain of the 1930 University of Southern California track and field team, former national AAU javelin throw champion and a stellar football halfback, won the Southern Pacific AAU decathlon title and scored 8,193.29 points. This not only set a new American record but topped the official Olympic games and world record by 140 points. Mortensen is shown here walking away with all honors.

CHAIN, GROUP AND BRANCH BANKING

Bankers' Commission Describes Differences Among Various Kinds of Multi-Office Banks.

THE Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has made the following statement on various types of banking systems operating through more than one office:

"We find that there are recognized in the banking world three types of multiple banking organizations, namely, chain bank systems, group bank systems and branch bank systems. They are alike solely in respect to the fact that each embraces under some form of common control or influence two or more banking places, but here the similarity stops since there are essential differences in organization and administration, especially as between branch banking and the chain and group forms.

"Chain banking is recognized as probably the least definite form of multiple banking organization. Generally speaking, this term refers to merely a string of individual separately chartered banks owned or controlled through stock holdings by one or more common individuals, sometimes without public knowledge of the common ownership. Frequently the controlled banks are not administered as a coherent whole under the guidance of a central, publicly known head office, but rather each bank is run as a separate unit bank in accord with the wishes of the dominant interest. In some cases, however, there is a central, publicly known control with a head office that formally supervises the operations of all the banks controlled, and this is perhaps the more desirable arrangement. It lacks, however, the definite legal responsibility that a corporate head organization would have. Each bank in a chain system operates under its own capital and there is ordinarily no binding relation among members of the string.

Group Responsibility

"Group banking, on the other hand, is a system in which, while the member banks are separately chartered and operate as individual units with their own capital, control is exercised through a publicly known corporate organization under the direction of a responsible head office. It openly holds stock control of the member banks and is morally and legally responsible as the chief stockholder for their administration and the statutory share of their liabilities. An essential feature is the fact that an organization of this kind is publicly known, which creates a large degree of responsiveness to public opinion. This is true because anything of an undesirable nature developing in one member of the group would create public distrust of the whole group. Therefore its sense of self-preservation as a group, if nothing else, tends to make it enforce standards of conduct throughout the members of the group and to assume responsibilities for them beyond what mere legal responsibilities would bring about.

"Branch banking is completely distinct from the two foregoing forms of multiple organization in that it does not consist of a string, chain or group of independent banks, for there is only one chartered bank in a branch organization and the extensions from it are all in the form of sub-offices without separate capital or corporate existence. For everything that is done through these offices the bank itself is just as responsible legally and in every other sense of the word as though it were done over its own counters in its head office."

Bankers Help

In a report on banker-farmer work, H. Lane Young, Chairman Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, shows that during the past year there were 409 meetings reported in 38 states, with a total attendance o. 38,578. County key bankers numbering 2,541 were appointed in 39 states. Thirty-four states reported an expenditure by banks of $105,926 for developing better agricultural practices.

Special banker-farmer activities engaged in by banks in 27 states numbered 8,493, while 7,140 projects or farm programs were carried on by rural people through the influence of bankers.

For three years the Agricultural Commission has given special recognition to the state reporting the highest record of accomplishments and this year Georgia achieved first place with its banker-farmer agricultural program. Representatives of the Georgia State College and officials of the Georgia Bankers Association developed the methods and policies which made it possible for Georgia to carry out an effective program which emphasized "directed credit from banks for producing crops on the live-at-home basis."

Appreciation for the cooperation received from local bankers was recently expressed by County Agent R. E. Bodley of Gallatine County, Montana, who said: "My personal experience has been that the average banker will go more than half way with the county agent, providing the latter has demonstrated that his work is constructive and conservative, that he is a man capable of handling confidential information and treating it as such, and one who can 'keep his feet on the ground'."

Mr. and Mrs. Wood of Atlanta, Georgia, were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Marcus.

MRS. MATTIE WILLIAMS

The many friends of "Ma" Williams will be interested to know that she has purchased a half interest in The Dixie Cafe. Mrs. Williams has worked for the Dixie Cafe for several years. Her delightful homemade biscuits have made the Dixie famous all over the country. Besides being a superior cook, Mrs. Williams is a good business manager. We predict that her association with the business as part owner will make the Dixie Cafe able to move forward to greater fame and success.

EAST VIEW

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Mr. J. H. Nelson, and Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Griffith attended the association at East Tallassee August 13-16. They report the association well attended by ministers and delegates from the churches. The association, by a unanimous vote, went on record as endorsing the 18th amendment to the Constitution of the United States and all of the enforcement acts of Congress and the State of Alabama.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson are spending the week at Mt. Springs, conducting revival services.

Mrs. Joe Dennis and Mrs. Lewis were the guests of Mrs. Zora Dobbs Monday.

Mr. Riley Culpepper and Miss Ida Belle Dobbs were united in the bonds of holy matrimony Tuesday at Clanton. Rev. A. C. Nelson officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins were the week end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coggins of Mt. Springs.

Mrs. Rosie Headley of Mt. Springs visited Mrs. Cornelia Coggins Monday.

Mrs. Lola Nelson visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gray, Sunday.

Mr. John Lett of Verbena visited Mr. O. B. Nelson Sunday.

There will be services here next Sunday. Sunday school at 10 a. m., Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m., and preaching at 8 p. m., by the pastor. You have a cordial invitation to meet and worship with us.

NEW PRINCIPAL AT CHILTON COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL

Benjamin Anderson of IaFayette, Alabama has been selected as principal of the Chilton County Training School, to succeed Lawrence C. Johnson. Anderson is already on the job, getting everything in readiness for the opening of the coming session.

Benjamin Anderson is a graduate of the Tuskegee Institute, and has been teaching at LaFayette for the past four years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Mell Martin went to Louisville, Kentucky, last Saturday night. On their return home Monday they stopped over and made a trip through Mammoth Cave.

Misses Corrine and Alice Polk entertained recently at a week-end house party at Log Cabin Beach. The guests included in this courtesy were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Blake, Mrs. Belle Thompson, Misses Emily and Donice Wise, Messrs. J. P. Baker, Grady Templeton, Chas. W. Nixon, Jr., and Howard Hatcher of Bessemer, Alabama. Mr. and Mrs. George Polk chaperoned.

THANKS FROM MR. WILBANKS

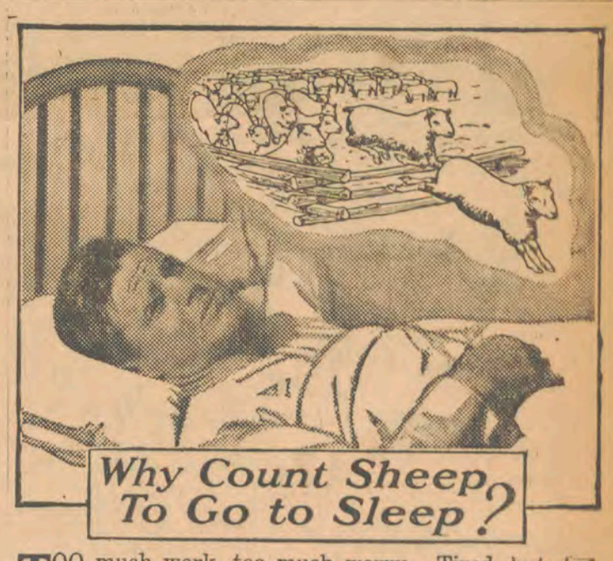
Mr. G. T. Wilbanks requests The Union-Banner to say for him that he most highly appreciates the kind remembrances of his many friends during his recent sickness. Many brought him good things to eat and nice flowers, all of which made his burdens easier to bear.

Mrs. Luther Foshee is reported to be in a serious condition at South Highlands Infirmary, Birmingham, where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round



WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Mullins Academy, Beat 1	Oct. 5	Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17
Jemison, Beat 2	Oct. 6	Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19
Mars Hill, Beat 2	Oct. 7	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
		Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.

AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

Why Count Sheep To Go to Sleep?

TOO much work, too much worry. Tired but too nervous to sleep. Counting imaginary sheep, relaxing your muscles, making your mind a blank, all no use. You'll feel "all in" tomorrow.

Just dissolve a Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablet in a half glass of water. Drink the clear sparkling beverage.

Drift off into deep dreamless sleep and get up in the morning refreshed in mind and body, and ready for the day's duties or pleasures.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is now made in two forms—Liquid and Effervescent Tablet. Both are the same therapeutically.

Get them at your drug store

Large Package $1.00

DR. MILES' Effervescent NERVINE TABLETS

REMARKABLE CLUBBING OFFER

The Union-Banner, Weekly, one year
The Birmingham Post, Daily, one year

Both for $3.85

The price of The Post alone is $3.50
Here is an opportunity to procure your favorite local paper and a progressive independent daily newspaper at a very special price.

The Price of The Post alone is $3.50

The Union-Banner gives you all of the local news interestingly told. The Birmingham Post prints all the news of the state, nation and world and all the special features of metropolitan dailies.

Send $3.85 for this club today!

Send all orders to

The UNION-BANNER

Clanton, Ala.

SUCCESSFUL SUMMER SESSION CLOSES AT STATE UNIVERSITY

University, Ala., Aug. 19.—Nearing the close of a successful summer session which will be climaxed with graduation exercises Friday night, August 21st, summer school officials announce that 2,358 different individuals took college credit courses during the current hot weather term of the University of Alabama. This enrollment is an increase of 249 over last year when 2,109 were in attendance. The gross enrollment was 2,117 for the first term and 1,341 for the second term.

A total of 1,102 students attended both terms of the summer school. The college of education had a record enrollment of 755, while arts and sciences was next with 592.

A study of enrollment shows that there were 1,724 undergraduates, while 634 were classified in the graduate school. Women outnumbered men in the enrollment, 1,250 to 1,108. Thirty-five college teachers and 1,060 supervisors, superintendents, principals and teachers in public school systems attended.

There were 19 enrolled from Chilton County; Coosa had 6; Dallas 15; Autauga 3; Bibb 13; and Shelby 6.

Besides Alabama, 35 other states and the District of Columbia contributed to the enrollment. Southern states sent 458, and Mississippi with 294 students next to Alabama in number of those attending.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for the kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of our darling baby girl, Tempie Juanita, and also for the floral offerings so beautiful. May the richest blessings of God rest upon each and every one.

It seems so hard to give our darling up, but we feel our loss is heaven's gain. We hope to meet it some sweet day, is our prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Baker.

I. G. A. Specials This Week-End

COFFEE — ALWAYS FRESH

"I" Blend	lb. pkg.	33c
"G" Blend	lb. pkg.	25c
"A" Blend	lb. pkg.	21c

POST'S BRAN FLAKES, pkg. 11c

MILK, I. G. A., it whips 3 tall cans or 6 small cans 21c

ICE CREAM POWDERS I. G. A., Choice of flavors, 2 pkgs 15c

MAYONNAISE, I. G. A., large jar 17c

FRUITS FOR SALAD I. G. A. Fancy Tall can 21c

FIG NEWTONS N. B. C., lb pkg. 25c

TEA, I. G. A. Quarter-pound pkg. 21c
Finest Orange Pekoe

MALT, I. G. A. large can 39c

JELLY DESSERT I. G. A., choice of flavors, 2 pkgs. 15c

LAUNDRY SOAP, I. G. A., White 7 bars 25c

BANANAS, Golden Ripe, pound 5c

PICNIC HAMS, Sunlight shankless, lb. 15c

FLOUR, I. G. A. Plain or Self Rising 24 lb bag 85c

FLOUR, Duchess Self Rising or Columbia Plain 24 lb bag 65c

At All IGA Stores

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

W. P. Fonville, chief clerk in the secretary of state's office, died at Montgomery of pneumonia.

Birmingham Furniture Dealers Assn. will give its annual barbecue and picnic Aug. 20 at Pineview Beach.

Confederate veterans of Etowah County held their annual reunion in Emma Sanson park at Gadsden recently.

Luther Maxwell, 65, of Tuscaloosa, was killed when he slipped and fell into a canyon near Lake Louise, Alberta, Canada.

Miss Jennie Wood, shot by a negro the night of Aug. 4 on a lonely road near Mountain Brook died at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Fairfield Exchange Club will give its annual charity benefit performance Oct. 2 at Fairfield Forty-Third Street Grammar School.

An unidentified white man was injured when he fell or leaped from a second story window of Howard drug store in Bessemer.

Nineteen young women received degrees from Alabama College at the end of the Summer School, rounding out the largest graduating class in history.

Herbert Bates, of Anniston, was killed when the automobile he was driving overturned on the Bankhead Highway about six miles west of Anniston.

Lowell Wakefield, 21, Southern representative of International Labor Defense League, was being held in Birmingham jail on a general holding charge.

The Gadsden City Commission set Sept. 1 as the time for opening sealed bids for $175,000 in bonds recently voted to retire a like amount of indebtedness.

Avondale Mills Playground was awarded the cup presented by the Birmingham Park and Recreation Board to the winner of the city playground dramatic contest.

Helen Crain, 21, who was arrested several months ago in connection with the investigation of several "thrill" robberies in Birmingham, died in a hospital in New Orleans.

Three school districts of Pickens County voted by a large majority to levy a three-mill school tax on all taxable property. The districts were Hargrove, New Hope and Zion.

Margaret Thomas, 9-year-old delegate to the Sacred Harp Convention in Mineral Wells, Tex., brought back to Birmingham $35 in gold and three horned toads in a match box.

The Muscle Shoals commission of nine has invited 132 large corporations in the United States to submit bids for leasing the government's huge nitrate plant at Wilson Dam.

Prospects for Alabama getting $50,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation to survey tuberculor conditions in rural counties are "bright," according to Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer.

Gov. B. M. Miller wired Gov. Theo G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, that his plan to reduce the 1931 cotton crop by leaving one-third in the fields was "unsound, unwise and impractical of application."

Part of a human skeleton and several pieces of clothing and jewelry were discovered in a thicket about 150 yards from the Taylor's Ferry road near Hueytown, about five miles from Bessemer.

Probate Judge J. P. Stiles, of Jefferson County, was in a Tuscaloosa Hospital from injuries received when his automobile overturned when it struck a soft place on the highway near Tuscaloosa.

Fred Collins, 9-year-old son of A. M. Collins, was run over and killed on the highway near Turkeytown by an automobile driven by A. K. Herrington, of Memphis, agent for the Federal Farm Loan Board.

Judge Ed N. Hamill, recently appointed by the County Commission to preside over the new Jefferson County Court of Common Claims, will have the distinction of being the first to move into the new $3,000,000 courthouse.

Reappointed by the County Commission as judge of the Jefferson County Court of Misdemeanors and Felonies, over which he has presided more than 32 years, Judge H. B. Abernethy began serving his new term of office which was continued until Jan. 1, 1933.

Miss Clara McEachern, of Louisville, Ala., has been announced as winner of the 1931 Birmingham News scholarship to Howard College, coincident with Birmingham-Southern's announcement of Raymond Wilson Wald, Roanoke, Ala., as its choice for the scholarship there.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

Our "End Depression" prices

$4.98 for a Genuine Goodrich Tire

($4.80 in pairs)

"END DEPRESSION" is no joke, either. There's no depression around here since we priced genuine Goodrich Tires, made by the oldest and most experienced tire manufacturer, down as low as $4.98!

Just think of it—less than a five-dollar bill for the size that would have cost you eighteen or twenty dollars ten years back. And this is twice the tire you would have got then, too. No wonder people are loosening up the money that's been sticking to their pockets—we predict that they won't match this value if they wait ten years more.

The name Goodrich is right on the sidewall of the Cavalier. This tire is backed by our guarantee and the Goodrich guarantee. By actual test it's a 26% better tire. More mileage, more traction. The handsomest tire ever put on your car. Come in now.

CAVALIERS 4 ply		SUPER CAVALIERS 6 full plies
4.40-21	$4.98	4.50-21	$ 8.75
4.50-20	5.60	5.25-20	12.20
4.50-21	5.69	5.25-21	12.95
4.75-19	6.65	5.50-20	13.70
4.75-20	6.75	6.00-18	14.60
5.00-19	6.98	6.00-19	14.90
5.00-20	7.10	6.00-20	15.20
5.00-21	7.35	6.00-21	15.60
5.25-21	8.57	6.50-20	17.25
5.50-19	8.90	7.00-20	19.50

Goodrich Cavaliers

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.

Clanton, Alabama

4-H CLUB BOYS THANK PEOPLE WHO HELPED THEM ON CAMP

The boys of the Verbena 4-H club wish to thank all the people who helped them in making successful the encampment of their club near Lay Dam last week. We greatly appreciate all that was done for us.—John A. Scott, Secretary.

CENTRAL SINGING SOCIETY

The Central Singing Society met at Refuge last Sunday afternoon. The crowd was small but the singing was very good. The new Stamps-Baxter books were used and the new songs seemed to take mighty well. The society meets at Poplar Springs next Sunday afternoon. So far the singings at Poplar have been well attended and pan out to be good ones and we hope that next Sunday will be no exception.

It is presumed that the society will buy a supply of both the Stamps and the Morris-Henson books, as some of each kind have already been used.

The time is drawing near when new officers will be elected for the society, the first Sunday in September being the day. It is hoped that all will bear this in mind and be prepared to nominate and vote intelligently when the matter comes up. The meeting place for the first Sunday in September is Concord, and it will be remembered that the officers were elected at this place the same date last year.

Rev. J. C. Hill was home for a short while the first of this week. He has been working hard in protracted meetings for the past several weeks. He preached down below Troy last week and is preaching at Big Springs this week.

Mrs. Henpeck (sarcastically)—"I suppose you've been to see a sick friend—holding his hand all evening!"

Mr. Henpeck (sadly)—"If I'd been holding his hand, I'd have made some money."

"Name, miss," demanded the traffic cop.

"Desiree Stephanie St. John Dellargarde du Launge—" began the fair motorist.

"I'll give you one more chance," came back the policeman, closing his book, "but it's the last, mind you."

Music teacher—"Thomas, isn't your voice a little squeaky today?"

Thomas—"I've got a cold, ma'am. Maybe I'm only hitting on one tonsil."

OLD BOOK SINGING

Remember our annual all day singing convenes at Pilgrims Rest Church, south of Pletcher, on the fourth Sunday, August 23rd, beginning about 9:30 o'clock.

Also, don't forget to come to New Hope, east of Jemison, next Sunday. Everybody is invited to attend both of these singings. Bring your books and take part with us. Yours for a great day's service.—J. N. Scott.

Two men in the old days in the West formed a partnership for the purpose of cattle "rustling," and operated together until they were both caught by the Vigilantes committee. The next step, of course, was a lynching bee, and the two thieves were taken to a bridge for hanging.

As the first one, with the rope around his neck, was cast off, the rope broke, and he fell into the river. Being a good swimmer, he swam off down stream and got away.

When the lynchers adjusted the rope around the other fellow's neck, he said, "Boys, I wish you'd be careful of that rope. I can's swim a stroke!"

Little Ethel—"Mother, are you the nearest relative I've got?"

"Yes, my dear, and your father is the closest."

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

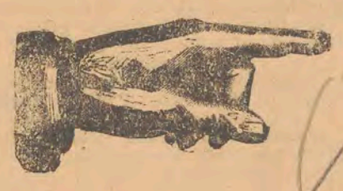
W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered Druggist
THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

To The People of Chilton County:

The Service Insurance Company, Inc., home office Anniston, Alabama, has formed connection with the Spigener Funeral Home of Clanton, Alabama, and we wish to express our appreciation of the opportunity of rendering our high class and efficient service to the citizens of this County.



The Service Insurance Company, Inc., after four years of operation lays claim to the fact that our growth has been more rapid than any other company in the Funeral Insurance field—Being connected with 51 Funeral Homes and rendering service in almost every county in Alabama.

The Service Insurance Company, Inc., is qualified and operating under the laws of Alabama with an authorized capital stock of $250,000; over 100,000 members; and have rendered service in over 3,000 homes.

You Can't Lose

BUY BURIAL INSURANCE IN THIS SOUND COMPANY

No Medical Examination No Age Limit

Reproduced herewith is our policy contract, outlining the benefits we offer for a small premium.

The Spigener Funeral Home

Is prepared to give the most efficient and sympathetic service known to the Undertaking Profession.

The Sands of Time Run Swiftly Are You Prepared?

OUR POLICY

1. It is the purpose of this Company to furnish funeral benefits for our policy holders, and upon the death of a policy holder, to render such assistance as is proper in the conducting of the funeral; and, where the Company has an office, to provide a place where such funeral, memorial or other services may be held.

2. The company agrees as to adults to furnish a casket to the value of $250.00, embalm the body, furnish suit or dress and to furnish transportation for the body to the cemetery if burial is within 100 miles. For persons under eighteen and over fifteen years of age the casket is to be of the value of $150.00, and for children fourteen years of age and under, in proportion to age. If burial is not desired in said 100 mile radius the company will convey the body to the depot and pay transportation on same 1,000 miles. In this event the company shall not be responsible for hearse service at destination.

3. The Company will when requested by any one having the authority furnish or cause to be furnished a casket of the value of $250.00 for adults and for children as per values above stated, for any policy holder who may die outside of the territory in which the Company is operating and, if the body is to be shipped will pay railway transportation on same for a distance not exceeding one thousand miles, provided such policy holder be in good standing on the books of the Company, and has notified the Home Office, in writing, of the change of address if it were reasonably possible to have given such notice.

4. The casket may be selected from stock of Company's undertakers by the person named in the policy, or by any other person having the authority. The Service Insurance Company or its authorized undertakers will handle all the details of the burial of deceased policy holders from their own parlors or home of deceased. But no expense incurred by other undertakers, or funeral director, embalmer or other person is to be paid by this Company.

5. No obligation is assumed by the Company prior to the date of this poilcy, nor then unless the policy holder is alive and has paid the first dues.

6. The dues for this policy shall be on a weekly basis, to be paid in advance and the following schedule to apply. For adults, twenty-five (25) cents per week; over ten years and under eighteen years of age, fifteen (15) cents per week; under ten years of age, ten (10) cents per week. Family schedule of dues shall be: For father or husband, twenty-five (25) cents per week; wife fifteen (15) cents per week; other members of the family as per above schedule. Free casket and transportation to local cemetery will be furnished for still born infants provided father and mother are policy holders in good standing with this Company.

7. The Company shall not be liable for any benefits under this policy when the dues on same are more than four weeks in arrears, and the policy shall become lapsed and all dues paid thereon shall be forfeited to the Company. Provided, however, that should this policy become lapsed for non-payment of dues, it may be reinstated upon payment of all dues thus in arrears, and the furnishing of satisfactory evidence that the member is alive and in good health, and said dues not more than 26 weeks in arrears.

8. All dues are payable in advance at the Home Office of the Company, but may be paid to an authorized representative, or District Manager. Such payments to be recognized, must be entered at the time of payment in the receipt book provided by the Company and bearing the same number as this policy. It shall be the duty of the policy holder to bring, or send said dues to the Home Office of the Company, or to the regular authorized branch office for that district.

9. After premiums upon this policy have been paid in accordance with tables below, upon written application made upon blanks furnished by the Company, accompanied by surrender of this policy and evidence of premium payments, the Company will pay a cash surrender value in accordance with the following table:

TABLE OF CASH SURRENDER VALUE

18 years and up Premium 25c	End of	5 years	$ 25.00
	"	10 years	50.00
	"	15 years	75.00
	"	20 years	100.00
11 to 17 years Premium 15c	"	5 years	20.00
	"	10 years	30.00
	"	15 years	45.00
	"	20 years	75.00
1 to 10 years Premium 10c	"	5 years	15.00
	"	10 years	30.00
	"	15 years	37.50
	"	20 years	54.00

DISABILITY CLAUSE

If while this policy is in full force and effect and while there is no default in payment of premiums beyond the four weeks grace period. If the insured shall lose by severance of both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot or if the insured becomes totally and permanently disabled from work of any kind, immediately upon receipt of such proof thereafter, no further premiums will be required and this policy will automatically become paid in full for service and burial at death as provided for and scheduled in this policy provided applicant was in sound health and mind when application was written.

However, no disability will apply to persons over the age of 55 at the date of issue of this policy.

10. This policy contains the entire agreement between the Company and the policy holder, and owner hereof. No alterations, or changes in the terms may be made except by written agreement signed by the president or secretary of the Company.

Spigener Funeral Home

Ambulance Service at All Hours

Phone - 15

CLANTON - ALABAMA

Mail This Coupon

Just mail this coupon—It puts you under no obligation.

SPIGENER FUNERAL HOME
Phone 15
Clanton, Alabama

Please have your representative call and explain the benefit of your Burial Insurance Plan.

Name .....

Address .....

JEMISON FARM NEWS

Everybody is canning and drying fruits and vegetables in this section. Mr. Jim Cobb says the only disadvantage to it is that it keeps him broke buying fruit jars. Mr. L. H. Bean has as their goal 365 jars, one quart a day for each day in the year.

The farmers want to write to Auburn and find out what is the best type of plow to use in plowing up the third row of cotton. Another farm problem to be solved.

The farm poultry in this section is feeling the effects of these "prosperous times." They were brought up on good growing mash, all analized and labeled. They are now being handed out such plain foods as cornmeal and buttermilk with plenty of water melons as a filler. The old hens look around as if to say that times are not what they used to be. However, cornmeal and buttermilk with plenty of green feed has in it the making of a fairly good ration.

The landowners in this section are interested in planting vetch. Those who have tenant farmers are also interested and will plant vetch if they can decide before it is too late to plant. The problem of what part should the landlord and tenant furnish, is to be solved.

If anyone thinks that this hill won't produce corn they should visit the seventy acres of Mr. Clarence Childress, and become convinced that it will produce corn. Mr. Childress thinks that the method of cultivation has a good deal to do with it. However, most of his land has had vetch or barnyard manure at some time during the past years.

The farmers around Thorsby are especially interested in shipping Big Stem Jersey sweet potatoes. If the vine growth indicates the yield there will be several carloads sold. Mr. Tom Martin of Thorsby finds two No. 1 potatoes under each hill that he has tried. That indicates a very good yield for this time of the year.

BOOKER WASHINGTON ASS'N

The trustees of the Booker Washington Beneficial Benevolent and Charitable Association is hereby sending out an appeal to all churches, Sunday schools, Christian Endeavor Societies, B. Y. P. U.'s, fraternal, civic, and social organizations to make a donation toward the erection of the Booker Washington Memorial Home to be erected in Alabama for negroes. They are requesting each organization to make a donation on the 5th Sunday in August, 1931, and the 1st Sunday in September, 1931. Any collection, however small, will help. This will help the work on while you are raising the balance of your quota. Send to the office at once.

The Association wishes to thank the following for their donation: Shady Grove Baptist Church, Verbena; A. M. E. Church, Clanton; St. Paul A. M. E. Church, Zion, Montgomery; Azel Baptist Church, Montgomery, First Baptist Church, Wetumpka. Information desired, address the Booker Washington Association, also make all orders payable to the Association, P. O. Box 1292, Montgomery, Ala.

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

Sunday was our regular preaching day. We had with us Rev. N. H. Culp of Verbena circuit who brought to us a wonderful gospel message. We were glad to have him with us, we always welcome visitors to our church.

We were sorry that Bro. Headley could not be with us Sunday night, but on account of the revival meeting beginning at Pleasant Grove it was inconvenient for him to be here, but we pray God's richest blessings on the meeting there this week.

Mrs. W. A. Williams and children are spending a few days with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kynard, of Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Williams spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Clide Little Sunday.

Miss Connie Shaw was the guest of Miss Sarah Weldon Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sheppard and little daughter, Eleanor Louise, of Clanton spent the past week end with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shaw and family spent the day in Coosa County with friends and relatives Sunday.

Mrs. Willie Mae Weldon and little daughter, Annie Francis, spent the latter part of the past week with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shepaprd of Clanton.

Mrs. J. L. Cowart of Coosa County is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shaw, this week.

Miss Allie Williams was the dinner guest of Miss Virginia Little Sunday.

Several from here attended the revival service at Walnut Creek Church, near Clanton, last Wednesday and Wednesday night. All who attended reported a splendid time.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. R. P. Williams is on the sick list this week, but we hope to see her well again soon.

Mr. Porter Williams dined at the home of J. P. Williams, Sunday.

SOME DEPRESSIONS WORSE THAN THIS

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

ONE of the most significant aspects of the present business period is that, while we had a speculative panic and while we have had a general economic breakdown yet we have not had any semblance of a financial panic, such as occurred in 1907, and in other years when the credit and monetary machinery broke down and we had money panics, suspension of specie payments and kindred disasters.

R. C. STEPHENSON

None of these elements of a true financial panic has been present in this depression of the 1930's. At no time was the banking structure as a whole shaken, despite the unprecedented rate of small bank failures that it had to absorb. At no time was the banking and credit machinery unable to extend support to the panic-stricken and broken stock markets and cooperation to all kinds of business and manufacturing. Anyone would have been a wise prophet who could have foretold that our banking and credit structure would stand up so well under conditions so bad.

Finance Taking Cuts

And banking and corporate finance in this period of depression are unflinchingly taking their portions of short rations and enforced self-denial that the nation's need for readjustment demands. Interest rates on money, yields on securities and dividends on corporate investment have all dropped to levels that constitute drastic reductions in the compensation of capital. These are but part of the necessary economic realignments that all phases of the country's working life must go through before a general revival of business activity can start.

It is my belief—indeed it is my hope—that the tempo of the next cycle of prosperity will be somewhat more moderate than the mad whirl of jazz that brought the last one to a close. I think it will be agreed that the worst aspect of the collapse of that period of false prosperity is the condition of insecurity for employment which it caused. Unemployment is our greatest public problem today.

Unemployment is the worst wage cut that the worker can suffer. It is the worst cause of stagnation that business has to strive against. The sooner we can get our masses of workers back into jobs on almost any terms the better it will be both for capital and labor.

TRUST BANKING SPREADING FAST

Government Official Shows That This Type of Financial Service Is Enlarging Its Field

SPECTACULAR growth of trust service in the banking field is reflected in the national banking system, Aubrey B. Carter, in charge of Trust department supervision in the office of Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D. C., brings out in an article in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"At the close of the 1930 fiscal year there were 2,472 national banks with trust powers," he says. "Their banking resources aggregated $23,529,100,000, which represented 34 per cent of the number of banks and 80 per cent of the total banking resources of the 7,252 national banks. Trust departments had been established by 1,829 of these banks which were administering 79,900 individual trusts with trust assets aggregating $4,473,000,000, and in addition were administering 11,500 corporate trusts and acting as trustees for outstanding note and bond issues aggregating $11,803,700,000.

"These figures represent an increase during a four-year period of 446, or 22 per cent, in the number of national banks authorized to exercise trust powers; an increase of 725, or 66 per cent, in the number of banks actively administering trusts; an increase of 65,370, or 250 per cent, in the number of trusts being administered; an increase of $3,500,000,000, or 385 per cent, in the volume of individual trust assets under administration, and an increase of $9,340,000,000, or 379 per cent, in the volume of bond issues outstanding for which these institutions were acting as trustees."

These facts, he concludes are "a striking testimonial of the growing public recognition of the desirability of the corporate fiduciary in the settlement of estates and the administration of trusts."

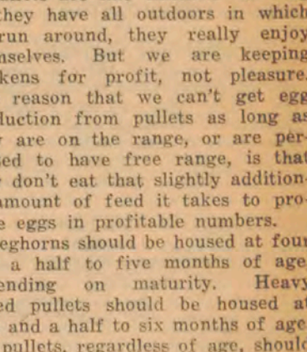
"No corn—no credit" was a slogan adopted by bankers of Saluda, South Carolina, last year. "The proposition was kept before our people by a display advertisement in the county paper several weeks prior to corn planting time. As a result we have more corn raised in the county this year than ever previously, regardless of the need of rain in many sections," said one of the bankers in reviewing the results. Home gardens was another project advocated with like results.

Judge L. H. Reynolds went to Auburn with farmers Tuesday.

POULTRY

HOUSE THE PULLETS EARLY

(By Prof. Paul G. Riley)



Commercial poultrymen all over the United States have found that good egg production from pullets is not possible as long as the birds are given range. It is not only advisable but it is necessary that the pullets be housed about the time they are starting to lay. Most people who are not primarily dependent on poultry for making their living haven't as yet learned this lesson, and a great many times we hear the statement made, "I never have been able to get my pullets to lay before Christmas." It is often difficult to get these people to admit that anyone gets egg production from pullets in the fall months, regardless of time of hatch.

Pullets are like children—as long as they have all outdoors in which to run around, they really enjoy themselves. But we are keeping chickens for profit, not pleasure. The reason that we can't get egg production from pullets as long as they are on the range, or are permitted to have free range, is that they don't eat that slightly additional amount of feed it takes to produce eggs in profitable numbers.

Leghorns should be housed at four and a half to five months of age, depending on maturity. Heavy breed pullets should be housed at five and a half to six months of age. All pullets, regardless of age, should be housed by October 15, and certainly not later than November 1.

It is necessary to get the feed and the chickens together and to keep them together, beause they will immediately eat two to three pounds more feed per hundred pullets per day in confinement than when on the range, and it is this additional two or three pounds of feed that increases the egg production.

A good procedure is to house the pullets and keep them confined to the house for a month. Then if the weather is nice, they can be turned out about four o'clock in the afternoon, gradually increasing the time when they are allowed out until they are being turned out at noon. Laying hens should be confined the year around until noon for most profitable egg production.

QUICK SERVICE

We're fully equipped to give you rapid service on repairing and recharging storage batteries for automobiles and radios. Batteries picked up and delivered to your home.

Phone 180

Robinson Garage

CLANTON, ALABAMA

Your Neckties

Kept smart and fresh by our skillful methods, and very inexpensive. This service—Three for 30c—One dozen for $1.00

CALL 119

CLANTON LAUNDRY AND CLEANING CO.

Clanton, Ala.

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Ala., as Second Class Mail Matter, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

TEST FOR STURDINESS—

You need not worry about a country that has survived state legislatures this long.—Los Angeles Times.

SHARP OBSERVATION—

The barbers of Guayaquil, which is in Ecuador, have asked their government to forbid the importation of American safety razors, which they say are ruining the barber business. Another bad feature of safety razors, from the South American point of view, is that they are virtually useless in a revolution.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

PROTECTING THE CANDY—

Old Gentleman—Why are you putting the muzzle on your little brother?

Tommy—'Cause I'm sending him to the store to get some candy.—Leeds, England, Mercury.

The movement to obtain the Democratic national convention for Milwaukee is receiving hearty support over the state, principally for the reason that it is felt that Wisconsin people ought to be given an opportunity to see a Democrat.—Rockford Register-Republic.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

The vast difference between international thought in the United States and in Europe can be illustrated by the recent trip of Chancellor Breuning and Foreign Minister Curtius, of Germany, to Italy, for a visit with Mussolini. According to the statement of the German officials, the visit was for the purpose of having "an opportunity to know personally the distinguished head of the Italian government," and the statement added that it was hoped that the visit would result in further steps for the pacification and economic rehabilitation of Europe "two aims in which the interests of Germany and Italy thoroughly converge."

To the average American this trip would seem to be a fine thing, calculated to bring two nations of Europe closer together, and to increase the possibility of some sort of a United States of Europe in the near future. At least that is what the average American would think if he were to take time to think about the matter at all, which is doubtful.

But in European nations the impression of the visit is somewhat different. In the Balkan countries and in France and Poland, the visit of the Germans to Rome gives rise to feelings of misgivings if not actual anger. In Paris there is sharp criticism of the visit of the Teutonic statesmen to Rome and speculation as to whether or not this is the opening step for a revival of the alliance between Germany, Austria and Italy, a triple alliance which fell to pieces in 1914 at the beginning of the World War. This has given rise to much uneasiness in France and there are now suggestions that the officials of France may not make the trip to Berlin which they were planning to make in the near future in the interests of Franco-German good will.

Whether or not there is anything below the surface to justify French suspicions which are always easily aroused, the fact that nationalist circles in Germany are not hesitating to approve the trip to Italy and that the reactionary newspapers in Berlin are declaring that the time has now arrived for a closer Italo-German understanding, are not calculated to soothe the French feelings. That so much ado should be made out of an official week-end trip from Berlin to Rome may seem strange to people in America, four thousand miles away, but it is to be remembered that the nations of Europe are not separated by vast oceans, and that there are centruries of traditional discard dividing them. In fact, the greatest difficulties of the recent London meeting to rescue Germany from her financial difficulties, were the political suspicions among the various nations.

France does not want Germany to become too friendly either with Italy or Great Britain, and on the other hand Great Britain would view with displeasure a real Franco-German entente. Even though this might bring immediate peace to Europe, it would create so formidable a combination that the British would no longer be the balance of power in Europe. And so goes the European chess game, with its moves and counter moves. It would be unfortunate indeed if the visit of the German statesman to Italy would cool the recent friendlier feelings between France and Germany, but one is never sure what is going to happen in European politics.

From our point of vantage, thousands of miles away, these suspicions and counter-suspicions may seem childish. They are not childish, however, but politically dangerous. Our national and international ideals are so different from those of the governments of Europe that it would be more than foolish for us to take any hand in the European diplomatic game. That is the reason we are much better off as a nation as home minding our own business. When the time of crisis comes and Uncle Sam can help, he is always willing to help, in the interest of peace and prosperity, to the best of his ability. But he can only extend just and impartial help if he is not bound up in European politics, is not committed in advance by super-organizations and entangling agreements. That is why it is better for us as a nation to steer clear of the League of Nations and other old-world attempts at super-government.

QUICK GROWER—

A little girl who had been left to watch the soup was presently heard to sing out: "Oh, mother, come quick, the soup is getting bigger than the pot.—Tit-Bits.

SPEED UP PRODUCTION

Reno is worrying over a shortage of housing accommodations for its six-weeks residents. A double shift of judges and curtailment of hearings from ten to five minutes might reduce the congestion.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Nebraska reports that grasshoppers ate the hardwood tongue out of a farmer's two-horse wagon. Wouldn't it be cheaper to offer them some of the new wheat?—Dallas Journal.

Tennyson fans point out that he foretold the air commerce, while Shakespeare's line, "sound and fury, signifying nothing," very obviously presabed the talkies.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Life is like street traffic. When you make a green flash everybody goes along with you. When you have to announce yourself in the red the whole procession stops.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Still Traveling—More Americans went abroad during the tearful year of 1930 than ever before in our travel history.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

And it came to pass that a certain family gathered about the breakfast table, and it was evident that not one of the number was in a good humor. Lips were all puckered out and mouth corners were drooping like weeping willows. Not much was said until the father growled out a few words about the burned toast. That set the fire works into action, and for the rest of the meal it was just one snap after another. Words crackled and tongues wrangled. The breakfast broke up and a mad family scattered into different directions. For the rest of the day each member of that family acted like a mad hornet. There was no joy in anything and all because the day started in a wrangle. A hearty laugh at the breakfast table is worth a nugget of gold. The ring of laughter in the early morning will start joy bells that will ring all day.

A man was seen sitting in front of a drug store with his hands in a barrel of turnip seed. He remarked to a friend standing near: "I remember the time when whiskey was shipped to this town in barrels, but now they ship turnip seed to us in barrels, and we get more profit out of the seed shipment." That is a fact. A man is blind and can not see afar off if he thinks that prohibition is a failure. I heard a woman say this last week that we have hard times because prohibition is a law. This woman was the proud owner of a "merry-go-round," that carried several dark tents along with it. She lived by sucking blood from white and black, and to her kind prohibition was a failure. When you hear any one talking against temperance, talking in favor of the flow of whiskey, you can just take down his number. The man today who is out talking for whiskey is telling more than he wants folks to know. His language is an open door to something dark within.

We had a family horse that showed much sense. This dumb brute would be served a large hunk of hay and he would take pleasure in devouring it. He would stand still and with great deliberation pick out the hay from among the briars, thistles, and dead weeds, and leave them as discarded rubbish. The horse had sense enough to eat what was good, and leave untouched all that was not fit to be consumed. The dog may be served a plate of bones, but he takes no pains to separate the good from the bad. It is dog nature to crack bones and gobble down. We are human beings and we have the good and the bad served to us, and we should use the sense of the horse—devour the good, but leave the bad untouched. Never gobble down.

On the farm we had an old mare and she was the proud mother of a little colt. That colt was full of life and would spend much of its time running over the pasture ground. One day we were told to put the colt into the stable so that its mother could be used in carrying a bushel of corn to mill. We raced after the colt and did our best to get the little rascal into the stall, but he would not go. Finally we grew wise. We bridled the mother and led her into the stable and in came the colt. It was no trouble to get the colt in the stall when its mother went in first. That is why I am telling you parents that you need to attend Sunday school, attend church. We may race the children all over Chilton County, trying to get them into church, but if the parents do not go, we are following a hopeless chase. It is no trouble to get the children into the Sunday schools when mother and father are going.

It pains me to see so much being said in the papers about destroying a part of our cotton crop. In the early spring we were begging of the Great Spirit that He would bless our efforts, and give to us a prosperous year. God has smiled upon us in one of the richest harvests that this country has ever known, and it sounds sacreligious to hear people talking about destroying what has been made. Cotton will not spoil, and why destroy it when we have it made, and when the world needs every pound. If we get above our sectionalism, above our selfishness, above our passion for gain, we could give that one-third to the naked and suffering, rather than to destroy it. To destroy cotton when we have it made is like destroying food in the presence of hungry people and all because the hungry man can not pay us our price for our food. What strange things we mortals be. We want a thing and when we get it, we then speak loud about destroying it.

The speaker of the house at Montgomery had to cast the deciding vote on an important issue. The Senate was equally divided and it was left for the one man to decide the question for passage. Every living man occupies a like position in regard to his salvation. God votes for you to be saved, the devil votes for you to be lost, and you cast the deciding vote. If you vote with God, all the devils in hell can not pull you down. If you vote with the devil, all the angels in heaven can not lift you up. Remember that you are casting the deciding vote on the question of your salvation. Think quickly and act wisely by voting with God and for your own salvation. Nothing is more important.

BIG EVENTS AHEAD—

And 1932 looks like a fighting year, for this country at least. First comes the disarmament conference and then the Democrats hold their convention.—Judge.

Scotland Yard is now considering a plan for training women as detectives. Many a small boy thought his maternal parent a pretty good detective without need for any training.—Detroit Free Press.

Bad-Mannered Males—Apparently men learn their street car manners on the football field.

That artist who says there is no beauty in strength lines should wait and see a single going over second base.—The Akron Beacon Journal.

Remember the old days when casualties on the Fourth were caused by cannon and fire crackers.

Dilemma In Taxation—How can we lower taxes and at the same time raise more money for needed requirements?

One of our neighbors is so ignorant he thinks a moratorium is a place where you swim in filtered water.

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

Well! At last the big boys up at Washington have come through with what they thought was the big idea for relieving the cotton market situation. To use the favorite expression of one of Octavus Roy Cohen's negro characters, they have "scum a scheme" which they figured would turn the trick and boost cotton to at least ten cents a pound immediately.

All well and good, if such a plan could be put into operation universally every cotton grower in the southern states would benefit thereby—but, right there the scheme strikes a snag. Those who cherished such fond hopes for the plan, failed to take into consideration the fickle ideas of the majority of the cotton farmers of the country when it comes to such matters. The Sweeper has often set in meetings of farmers which was intended for the purpose of reducing cotton acreage. At such meetings almost invariably every man pledged himself to reduce his acreage and on his way home would decide that if every one else did so, cotton would be a big price, and he would plant just a little more than usual and "clean up." The result has usually been that all did just this same thing, consequently each subsequent crop has been just a little larger than the previous one.

And just such would be the result of any such plan as destroying every third row of the present crop. Every fellow would think that he would keep his and thereby take advantage of a better price with less cotton—the result of such action would be this: Sufficient cotton would not be destroyed to affect the price to any great degree, and the poor devil who took the advice seriously would be the loser to the tune of one-third of his crop.

Also those fellows who wanted the farmers to plow up a third of their cotton must not have had much experience dealing with the men of the soil. It is going to be a pretty big job for any man or set of men to be able to convince the cotton farmers of the south that it is to their best interests to plow up a third of their cotton crop after they have sweated and toiled all year to make it. They will fail to see wherein such action would be beneficial to them in any respect.

Then to still further complicate the matter of carrying out and putting into effect any such drastic measure is the fact that at least seventy-five per cent of the cotton crop of the south is more or less involved in some manner with various financing plans. Furnishing merchants and banks, to say nothing of landlords, have put up money to make this cotton crop, and they would be reluctant to agree to have their prospects of settlement cut one third.

Although Mr. Miller has done many things which The Sweeper feels is altogether inconsistent, we agree with the stand he has taken in this matter. We believe that some other plan could be mapped out and put into operation which would give the desired results and boost the price of cotton to a reasonable figure. The trouble in the cotton market does not eminate altogether from the fact that there is an over-production of the fleecy staple, but there are several other factors which are as much responsible for the present situation as is the large amount of cotton on hand and that in sight. Other economic principles are very much involved in the tangle. The European nations are not in a position to buy and unless they buy we cannot sell.

It is to be hoped that with the official signing and approval of the moriatorium that conditions in those European countries involved will rapidly improve to the point where they will be financially able to begin purchasing such raw materials as we may have to sell, which includes a huge surplus of cotton. When this takes place we shall see the price of not only cotton but of wheat and other products of this country regain their equililibrim and the much sought prosperity will come from its hiding place "just around the corner."

In the meantime it is indeed a relief to see our federal government taking seriously to the task of preparing to help the unemployed of the country stem the tide of hunger and cold through the coming winter. We have the greatest government on the face o fthe globe, one that is able and in a position to dare and do when it is want. We sincerely hope that it has not waited too long to make up its mind to do something about this unemployment situation.

We have no argument with organized labor. We are very much in favor of it so long as their methods and practices are not carried to the extreme. With the United States Chamber of Commerce working on a plan to insure a five day week to workers, the unions want five day work with six day pay. This is being just a little greedy and unreasonable we think. If the working people of this country would give honest work for what they are paid and only want pay for what they do, such a change in the working conditions of this country would go a long way toward a relief of such periods of depression as we are now in, and possibly prove to be the "ounce of prevention"—The Sweeper.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of August 16, 1906

Teachers passing the July State examination were: Jerome O. Williams, John Jackson Mims, Miss Julia Parrish, Marion E. Aldridge, Senie Jones, Alma T. Lefstead, Miss Rosalie H. Moore, Olie H. Wilson, John C. Dennis, F. B. Williams, James O. Dickinson, Leroy Sawyer and Henry Mims.

The wife of John J. Grant of Clanton died last Monday morning.

Miss Sallie Cooley visited in Talladega last week.

Married this week:—J. B. Rainwater and Miss May Askins; Henry Rayborn and Miss Alma Grace Prim.

Rufus Mims of Clanton Route 7 brought in a watermelon Saturday weighing seventy pounds.

The little four-months old baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Maddox of Concord died Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Thomas Harrison of Beat 2 has entered the race for Commissioner.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Oh, Yeah!—No doubt most everybody has, by now, heard of the proposition some of the "big pups" made to Southern farmers to help in raising the price of cotton. I believe that is about the craziest idea that has hatched yet from a perfect nestful of crazy ones, although it had to be pretty goofy to attain that distinction. Pick two rows and plow up one!—Ugh! Now, ain't that sump'n? That would be the same as putting up three wind-mills and then tearing one down so that there would be wind enough to run the other two. Now, if some of the wise boys had mentioned planting a row of peanuts or something like that in each third row along last spring, we might have considered that. And that's just the way ALL of our people feel, too. Just as soon as the "big idea" was offered to Southerners, their governors, without exception, wired back their answer, which was a particularly sarcastic yet cleverly and beautifully worded "Oh, yeah—and so's your old man!" It has been pointed out that the grain farmers, when their prices run too low, just get busy and burn their corn and wheat for fuel—well, if we can't sell our surplus cotton and buy clothes with the money, we CAN pile the cotton up and sleep in it. That'll beat turning it under or giving it away.

Another Birthday—I had another birthday on August 8th, when I was—well—plenty old, to say the least. It's a funny thing—or, rather, a serious one—this getting old proposition. Time was when I just itched for my birthday to come. The same way about Christmas, and the Fourth of July, and such important days in every person's life. Yep, I itched then, wanting those important days to come on around and be done with it. Now I scratch my head and try to figure out how it is that they get around so often. I believe somebody has slipped the clutch on this time machine and installed free-wheeling. Maybe—but why try to figure it all out? Folks have been trying to keep from getting old for a long time and haven't been able, so far to do much with it. True, the ladies have partially solved the problem—they have learned how to keep LOOKING young, but I'm not one of 'em. Just my luck—have to stay ugly and get older.

Cheer Up—Believe it or not, I found a fellow one day last week who was feeling cheerful enough, even if the times are a bit tight. Pretty sensible reasons he gave for being in such a frame of mind, too. Here's the way he looks at things—cotton may be cheap, but so is gasoline—watermelons, and such produce can hardly be given away, but we can eat 'em, or feed 'em to hogs and cows and the like—the fishing season may be over for some people, but hunting season will soon be open, and, by the way, word comes that squirrels are plentiful this time—the baseball season is nearly over, but football time is on the way. So why worry? Cheer up!

Surplus-es—I have often heard it said that it is the surplus in anything which hurts most. I believe that. We've surely got a surplus in everything from cotton to whooping cough, including measles and mumps. To tell you the truth, I don't believe we can tell which surplus hurts most. We're about as well off as people are everywhere else, though, I suppose. Comes word from a snake and alligator farm in Florida that their products have multiplied so fast lately that there is no market for them. Oh, well, troubles will be troubles.

Legislation—And speaking of surprises, now comes word that there is a move on foot to "legislate cotton out of office." I don't know what can or cannot be done along this line. Here's the rumor. Somebody has offered the idea of passing a law making it a violation to even plant a cotton seed in 1932. To some this idea might smack of tampering with our freedom, but you will admit it would be a good thing. I have heard farmers, themselves, say that such a law would be to farmers' advantage. I believe cotton would advance in price by leaps and bounds following the passage of such a law. Don't think for a minute that we can't raise something else to take its place as a money crop. What do YOU think of it?

Golfing Guys—I stopped at the golf course one day last week to watch some of the fellows go over it. I had heard lots about golfing and golfers, and have played quite a bit of the "Tom Thumb" variety, but have never even tried my hand at the real article. To tell the truth, I don't believe I will ever be able to do much, either, for several reasons. First, one must be pretty strong to drive the little pellet like it should be driven. And then, too, the bloomin' little ball don't go where it is aimed very often, causing some extra strong language. Again, I'm a bit high tempered, and golfing is a strong test of temper and smile factories.

Too Hot—And with this I believe I'll just sign off for another rest, go get one of the big melons that are selling so cheap, and try to enjoy this hot weather with the cold melon. Too much work might mar my complexion.—Man in the Moon.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Picture of Old Courthouse

A few days ago The Union-Banner came into possession of something, the like of which we did not know was in existence. A friend was plundering through some out of the way places and ran across a picture of the old Chilton County Courthouse as it was in the year 1885. He was kind enough to bring it to us to be added to our list of relics. We are going to have the picture framed and put up in our editorial sanctorium that it may be seen of all people who come this way. There are not very many people left who can remember seeing the old building as it is shown in this picture. It stood right in the street crossing in front of the present courthouse and faced to the west. The picture shows two men standing on the front steps. One of them appears to be Judge Honeycutt, who was then Tax Collector or Assessor. The other man is not recognizable.

Did You Make Plenty To Eat?

Early in this year every farmer was warned of the advisability of first being sure to grow enough feed and food for his own needs, and then consider cotton. At this time, when the prospects for cotton are not at all encouraging, I wonder how many farmers are able to take things easy without any worry as to how their families and their livestock will be provided for during the coming months. It goes without saying that the farmer who leaned on cotton for his chief support is leaning on a broken stick. We are not surprised. In fact, it has come out just as we expected. Cotton is not going to be worth anything to the growers any more until we skip a crop or two. There are many ways in which the cotton situation could be permanently cured, if the farmers would accept them and carry them out.

Statement of Town's Business

In response to what was said in this column last week about the administration of the business of the Town of Clanton, I understand that a complete statement of the city's affairs is forthcoming from the Mayor and Town Council. I have not seen the statement at this writing, but I am assured that it will be ready in time to get in this week's paper. I believe the present city officials have many worthwhile and constructive things done to their credit and for the welfare of the Town. I believe further that a public statement of their business operations will serve to answer satisfactorily most of the questions that may be in the minds of our citizens.

Getting Ready To Gin Cotton

The gins of Clanton have been busy for the past few weeks getting the machinery and equipment ready to handle the cotton crop. In a very few weeks the staple will begin to come in. Already cotton pickers may be seen between here and Montgomery and Selma. And that reminds me: Selma is already bidding for the cotton crop of this county. The Dallas Compress Company is soliciting our farmers to bring their cotton to Selma. This will be disappointing to many business houses of Clanton. But what shall we do about it? Selma is a good cotton market with some distinct advantages. At the same time Clanton is the home town and trade center of Chilton County. I believe Clanton business men are in position to offer the right kind of appeal to Chilton County folks to come here and trade, even if they do carry some of their cotton to Selma.

Looking At the Golf Course

I had my introduction to the golf course a few days ago. I got my feet wet, in other words, which is a literal fact, as well as a way of expressing my first experience with golf. Not only did I get my feet wet, but my shirt and everything else. As I went around the course with some friends who were chasing the very elusive little white balls, there came down two of those familiar showers of summer time, better known as toad stranglers. There is a great deal of fascination about golf, and I am sure it would take only a little of the game to make me a most ardent golf enthusiast. I am wondering what kind of a plant, vine, tree, or stalk those golf balls will make when they come up and begin to grow. We shall soon see. Duke Woodson, Hosea Downs, and Otto Jones have planted a patch of them down there in somebody's corn field. Every time they play they add a new row.

The Lay Dam Road

A good piece of work is being done on the Lay Dam Road at the Mahan place. A hill is being graded down, a fill built in a deep hollow, and a few curves straightened out. All in all, the road to Lay Dam is far better than it has ever been before. It is graveled all the way, and is absolutely undisturbed by any kind of weather. All the slick muddy places have disappeared since the road was treated to several carloads of slag a few years ago. Probate Judge Reynolds gives his own personal supervision to the maintenance of this road, and the continued improvement of the condition of the road bears witness that he looks after his job in fine style.

Twin Canteloupes

Bill Hayes, of Thorsby, came in last Saturday, bringing with him a pair of twin canteloupes. It is two perfect specimens grown securely together, just as completely as the famed Siamese Twins.

The Cold Day In August

John VanDerveer says he has always heard of the cold day in August, but he never expected to see it. Last week, however, Mr. VanDerveer, as well as the rest of us, were treated to this very odd trick of the weather. It was really cool at nights, and the days were pleasantly cool. However, the pendulum has swung back again this week. It is hot a plenty again now, with the Farenheits playing around between 95 and 100 in the shade.

Speaking of prophets, how about the fellow who predicted that after the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was passed, prices would go so high you couldn't see 'em with a telescope?

If This Be Treason—Every farmer is, in his own small way, a capitalist.

Hurrah For Congress—Less than 6 per cent of the bills that are introduced in Congress are enacted into law.

There is a season when relatives yearn to be with you because it's too hot to do their own cooking.—Frankfort Times.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

PICKLING METHODS TAUGHT BY AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 17.—Pickling is one of several methods practiced in Alabama in the preservation of food products. This season it is being practiced on a larger scale than heretofore; and practical suggestions about it are being offered by the home demonstration agents, and also by Miss Helen Kennedy, extension specialist in food preservation, of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn.

"The ideal pickle is crisp and tender," said Miss Kennedy. "Shriveled or tough pickles may be caused by vingar that is too strong, or too much salt or sugar in the solution."

Miss Kennedy said that cured or brined pickles should not be plunged into a strong pickling solution at first. Use a weak solution a few days and increase the strength of it gradually, she advised. Brine that is too weak will cause pickles to be soft. When it is too weak it is often cloudy.

"For best results in pickling select fruits or vegetables that are fresh, firm, and not over-ripe," continued Miss Kennedy. "If fruits or vegetables are allowed to stand and wait too long before using they wilt or dry out and pickles made from them are often hollow."

Use of only porcelain lined or granite ware when cooking pickles is recommended. Earthenware crocks should be used for brining. Some vegetables must be soaked in a salt solution to extract surplus water and to make the tissues firm.

Full instructions about pickling and also other methods of preserving fruits and vegetables are contained in Circular No. 112, published by the Extension Service at Auburn, and distributed upon request.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Sims of Wylam are visiting relatives near Clanton. They have been moved away from here about two years.

Miss Annie Lowe has recently returned from Collegedale, Tennessee, where she has taken a course in school. She will teach school this season at the Seventh Day Adventist school in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parrish of Muscle Shoals have been visiting relatives here for the past few days.

New crop Turnip Seed, all varieties, at Upchurch Drug Company.

Willard Batteries

NOW $6.95
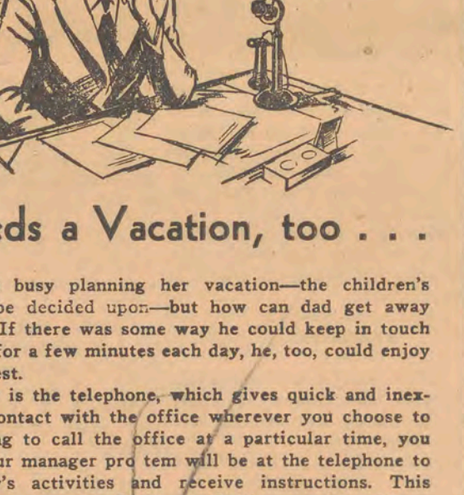
(13 PLATE)
and up

We will allow you One Dollar for your old battery.
Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging all Makes of Batteries.

Bates Auto Shop
On the Highway



Dad needs a Vacation, too . . .

MOTHER is busy planning her vacation—the children's holidays must be decided upon—but how can dad get away from business? If there was some way he could keep in touch with the office for a few minutes each day, he, too, could enjoy a well-earned rest.

The answer is the telephone, which gives quick and inexpensive voice contact with the office wherever you choose to go. By arranging to call the office at a particular time, you may be sure your manager pro tem will be at the telephone to report the day's activities and receive instructions. This enables you to use cheaper Station-to-Station service without risk of not finding your manager in.

Join mother and the children in having a holiday this summer, while dependable telephone service enables you to keep informed about your business or to call your friends at home. The operator wherever you go will gladly tell you about the cost of calls to your office—just ask for "Long Distance."

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE and Telegraph Company
(Incorporated)

Dr. S. A. BARSON

OPTOMETRIST

Will Be At The Exchange Hotel, Clanton, All Day

Monday, August 31

POPLAR SPRINGS NEWS

Singing school at this place is progressing nicely, with 42 on roll.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Lawton McDowell is very ill. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. Sunday school at 10 o'clock; B. Y. P. U. at 7 o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend.

The B. Y. P. U. program is as follows: Scripture lesson by Mrs. Johnson Driver; Facts of History by Mrs. Mattie Love Crew; More Facts about History by Marvereen Cox; the Passive Attitude of old Christians by Curtis Dykes; Some present Facts by Libbie Dykes; Economic Effects by Mrs. Lera Traywick; Spiritual Effects by Neuburn Jones; Drivers Procedure by Gladys Wilson; Second by E. J. Foshee. Don't forget the time and place.

WEST CHILTON

Cotton is opening. Plenty of hard times talk. But that does not help the situation; neither gets us out. Each day brings us nearer to deliverance from the monotonious grind of this depression. Retrenchment must be our watchword.

Revival services this week at Union Springs Chapel, Rev. Dyer in charge. Rev. Dyer has just returned from Tuscaloosa where he took a teaching course.

Mrs. Effie Atchison and children of Bessemer came down last week for the meeting at Macedonia.

A letter from the Armstrongs who formerly lived in West Chilton, but now in New Jersey, states that Miss Laura Armstrong has recently married, which will be of interest to her friends in the south.

Rev. Jones of Thorsby helped in the meeting last week at Macedonia. The following members were received by baptism: Mr. Crit Glass, L. D. and Dewey Atchison; by letter, Mr. Rhodes, Misses Lawrence and Dovie Smith.

Baptismal service last Sunday afternoon by Bro. Lawrence at the Pleasant Grove baptisery, when the Macedonia converts were baptized.

Mr. George Brockmeyer and family came down Sunday from Birmingham to visit relatives.

So the Alabama Legislature has adjourned, and explanations are now in order.

"Uncle" Henry Robinson and wife and Rev. Cost of Jemison were visitors at the Freeman singing the second Sunday.

"Were you one of the many fooling with the stock market?"

"Not me. I was serious. The market did the fooling."

"I wonder why there are so many more auto wrecks than railway accidents."

"That's easy. Did you ever hear of the fireman hugging the train engineer?"

"You won't go to the theatre with me in your old hat?"

"Certainly not!"

"That's just what I thought. So I didn't buy a ticket for you." Paris Regiment.

Mrs. C. Fenn Jones is spending several weeks with friends in a camping party on the Gulf Coast.

Mrs. Hughes Kennedy (Leona Pipes) and children of Birmingham are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Pipes.

FOX'S BARGAINS

ICE CREAM FREEZERS ½-gallon size	$1.25
WASH PANS Enamel	25c
COMPLETE LAMP Ready to light	49c
ZINC TUBS Small size ..... Other sizes up to 78c	45c
CROSS CUT SAWS Diamond edge	$3.10
POCKET KNIFE A good one for .... Others priced up to $1.50	10c
MILK BOTTLES Quarts, per doz.	$1.10
COFFEE PERCOLATORS ½-gallon size	87c
ALUMINUM KETTLES 2-gallon size	$1.75
DISH PANS Enamel	80c

W. W. FOX
VARIETY STORE
Clanton - - Alabama

PLEASANT HILL

Our Christian Endeavor is doing splendid work. We don't have such a large crowd, but we meet every Sunday night, and seem very much interested in carrying on the work of the Lord. Our subject Sunday night was "Bible Truths Based on Nature." We notice in the word of God where Christ seldom talked about His kingdom without mentioning fig trees, mustard trees, vineyards, seeds and soil, seas or mountains. It is only natural, therefore, that our Lord was seeking to reveal to His listeners the characteristics of the kingdom of heaven.

Rev. Nelson from East View will be with us Sunday to deliver a message. Everybody is invited.

We are sorry to hear Miss Lois Limbrick is ill. Hope she will be back to church again soon.

Mrs. Dock Coggins and some children spent this week with Mr. E. D. Coggins and family.

MAPLE SPRINGS REVIVAL

The revival just held at Maple Springs was a great success. There were 13 additions to the church; 9 for baptism. Probably one of the most interesting features was the Scripture reading contest. The sisters challenged the brothers that they would read the most Scripture or the largest number of chapters. It proved to be a very close run until about the fifth day. The women read 1,627 chapters, and the men read 1,091 chapters, which made a total of 2,718 chapters, or the equivalent to reading the entire Bible through two and one-half times, according to the number of chapters.

There was a great revival in the church and we contributed the Scripture reading as being the greatest object of success to the revival.

The church has a splendid Sunday school, as well as a B. Y. P. U., which is the very life of any church. There was a large number anxiously waiting on Sunday evening of the last revival services for the B. Y. P. U. program, which was so nicely and inspiringly given by the B. Y. P. U. class of Center Point Baptist Church, which is located above Birmingham. Mr. Horace Ray had charge of the class. As pastor, I will take the authority to invite you and your class again, Mr. Ray.—M. Lockhart.

APPLICATION FOR PARDON OR PAROLE

Notice is hereby given that Eugene Davis (alias Dale) who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County on September 18, 1930, on a charge of burglary and grand larceny and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of 2 to 3 years, will make application for pardon or parole.—Eugene Davis (alias Dale) 8-13 2tc

---

Judge George F. Smoot of Wetumpka was in Clanton Monday holding the non-jury term of Circuit Court. The judge's health has not been good for the past few weeks, however he shows signs of improvement now.

Pains Stopped When Lady Got Stronger

"ABOUT a year ago, my health was not good," writes Mrs. W. F. Siveley, 8800 First Court, N., Birmingham, Ala. "I felt weak, tired. I had pains in my back. I knew by these symptoms I needed something to build me up. My mother advised me to try Cardui, which I did. I found it was what I needed, for it built me up. The pain in my back stopped, and I felt better and stronger than I had in some time. I took about 7 bottles of Cardui in all." FH-1

CARDUI
Sold at Drug Stores

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Light delivery truck; first class condition; real good truck for $75

One 1925 Model FORD Touring—A bargain for $10

BATES
AUTO SHOP
Clanton - - - Alabama

HILL'S SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK-END
Friday & Saturday

Flour Split Silk 24-lb 55c
Per Barrel $3.95
Guaranteed to Please or Money Back

Soap O.K. 5 1-lb bars 25c
Or Export, 8 bars, 25c

White Meat best quality lb 10c

LARD Pure Hog 1-lb 10c
Bring Your Pail
50-lb. can $4.75

Coffee Red Lion 7 pounds $1.00
Guaranteed to Please You

Bacon Hill's special sliced per lb 23c

— FRUIT JARS —
pints doz 65c quarts doz 78c ½ gal doz $1.05

SYRUP Red Hill gallon 60c

Shorts 100-lb $1.30

Chicken Feed 100-lb Scratch $1.90

Corn Flakes Two Boxes 15c

ECONOMY
Matches 5c seller 10 boxes 25c

Snuff Bruton's 20c boxes 3 for 45c

Baking Powder K. C. 25 oz can 23c

BRING US YOUR CHICKENS
We Pay the HIGHEST CASH PRICES

Hill Grocery Co.
CLANTON, ALABAMA

NOTICE OF LETTING OF ALMSHOUSE FOR 1932

Notice is hereby given that the County Commissioners will meet at the County Almshouse Monday, August 24th, 1931, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of employing a keeper and making a contract for the almshouse for the year 1932.

The Commissioners will receive sealed bids up to 11 o'clock on that date from anyone wanting to bid for the work.

Under the terms of the contract to be let, the county will furnish everything for said inmates and home except the following items which the keeper shall furnish: food, all necessary help for preparing the food, and for taking care of said inmates, and wood. The county will pay for taking care and feeding said inmates, $8.50 per month, for each person.

It will be observed that the county is next year furnishing clothing which has not heretofore been done.

This the 12th day of August, 1931.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

8-13-2ch

TOWN BUSINESS

(Continued from page 1)

250; Standard Oil Co., past due indebtedness $300; L. C. Warr $200; and many more items which the records of the Town will show and all of this being accounts that were past due, or for interest that became due upon past indebtedness at the time the present administration went into office. In other words, since October 6, 1930, something over $14,000 has been paid on past due indebtednesses of the Town of Clanton.

In this connection we would like also to state that all current bills, created by the present administration have been paid and satisfied and there are some bills created by former administrations which have not been paid, but which we are paying off as fast as possible. The $14,000 which has been paid in round numbers, has been prorated out among the several creditors of the Town. The Town now pays its monthly current bills and is in a position to pay cash for all necessary purchases and obligations assumed by the Town.

All of the bonded indebtedness shown above and the indebtedness of the filtering plant and other debts mentioned above were created prior to the present administration assuming office, and we have tried not to create any new debts, or to expend any sums of money, except, of course, as is necessary to properly carry on the functions of the Town.

We would like to state further in regard to the water works and the rates which are now being charged, that this administration is using exactly the same rate used by former administrations when the filtering plant was purchased, as it was estimated that it would be necessary to charge this rate in order to pay off the indebtedness of the filtering plant and the operation of the water works. We would like to call attention of the citizens to the fact, as stated above, that there is now $1,800 due on the filtering plant and this is being paid for at the rate of $200 per month, the last past due note being paid August 15th and the final note will become due in April, 1932, at which time the filtering plant will be finally paid for, and it is the purpose to materially reduce the water rate about January 1st, 1932.

The Town appreciates the fact that the present rate is high, but in view of the purchase of this filtering plant and the great improvement in the water being furnished and in view of the fact that only a few more months, the rates can be reduced, we feel that the citizens should bear with us during this time. As stated in the beginning of this letter, conditions are depressing and we heartily feel that expenses of operating the Town should be reduced wherever possible and we are glad to say that the Town is on a cash basis and that the credit of the Town is good and as stated we hope to, in the very near future, materially reduce the water rate.

Mr. Editor, we have tried to answer in this letter, each of the questions asked by you and we are glad of this opportunity to give the public information as to the financial conditions of the Town and we might state that the regular yearly audit of the Town affairs will be made in October of this year, and we will be glad to have this printed in both the county papers. In conclusion, the business of the Town is the business of every single citizen and tax payer, and we want each of you to feel free at any time to advise or suggest or help in any way that you might see fit, the officials in the operation of our Town.

Yours very truly,
J. LEE SMITH, Mayor.
Attest: C. H. PIPES, Clerk.

LIFE'S GREATEST INVESTMENT

On Monday, September 7th, Chilton County High School will throw open its doors to the young men and women of Clanton and Chilton County.

Today there are scores of boys and girls standing at the cross roads of life and don't know it. They will make a decision at this time, and their lives to the last day they live will be influenced by the choice they make.

By this statement I mean that schools and colleges will open all over this Southland and our boys and girls are undicided as to whether they will continue their education—undecided some of them as to whether it is worthwhile. To this group, I would say "go back to school if it is possible for you to do so." Education is the best insurance that the world has to offer as protection against failure and disappointment.

Out of the 100 boys and girls in the United States who start into the first grade only 67 finish the common schools. 33 of the 100 that started enter the high school and 14 finish. Only 4 enter college and 2 graduate. Those who finish their education, generally speaking, are well paid for doing so. Figures based upon the earnings of thousands of people show that the man with only a common school training may expect to earn in his life $45,000; the high school graduate can expect to earn $78,000; and the college man or woman will earn $150,000. Based on these figures a high school education is worth in actual dollars, $33,000 or about $8,000 for each of the four years. Using 180 days as the average school year, this would mean that each day spent in school in accumulative dividends to the high school boy would be worth nearly $45.00.

Education, like most everything else, costs money. That must of course be taken into consideration. We owe it to ourselves to provide for the future. The lowly squirrel knows that as she gathers her nuts and stores them away for the long winter months.

Now, let's look at this going to school business just as we would look into any other business propsition. We must not consider the material side as I have delt largely with in this article, but may we get the thought anew here and now, that the business of a school among other things is to reveal the higher qualities of the pupils as they come in contact with the personnel of the teaching force in any school. May we teach the child to appreciate a sunset, to plant a rose garden, and walk therein in the late afternoon as was the Master's custom to do?

1,000 GALLON STILL IS DESTROYED

One Man Arrested With 55 Gallon Barrell of Whiskey At Chilton-Perry County Line

Sheriff Walter Gillespie, with deputies Robinson, Norris, and Gillespie, pulled off a raid in the western part of the county Tuesday at the Perry County line, which resulted in the destruction of one of the biggest distilling outfits on record.

It was estimated that the outfit was around a thousand gallon capacity. There were four 500-gallon vats and seven large barrels which had been being used in the operation of the plant. Indications were that the still had not been operated in some time.

A barrel of whiskey, about 55 gallons, was located near the still buried in the bank of a big ditch. As the officers watched the place where the whiskey was concealed, a man came to it to get some out of the barrel. He was arrested and carried to Montgomery.

MAD DOG AT JOHN HEADLEY'S

Another mad dog has been stopped, but not until he had bitten Mr. John Headley and his boy. Some days ago Mr. Headley and his boy were bitten by their bull dog, but they thought he was only playing. Tuesday morning the dog went on a rampage. His head was carried to Montgomery where the examination was made and pronounced rabies.

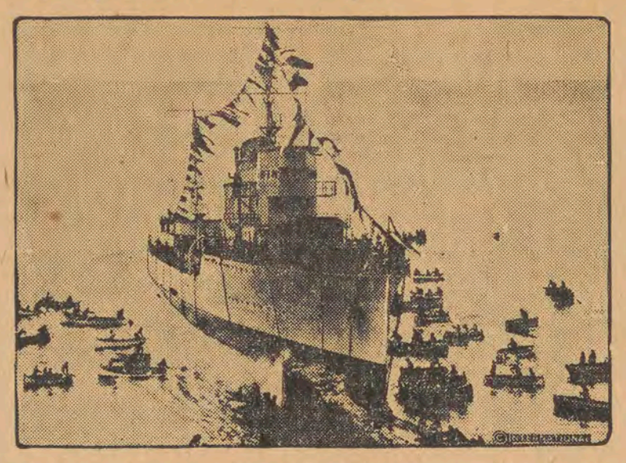
Mr. Headley and has boy have begun taking the anti-rabies treatment.

DID GOD REST ON THE 7TH DAY OF THE WEEK?

To the above question I would answer yes. Note the third chapter and eighth verse of Second Peter, "But forget not this one thing, beloved, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day." Now, if you will study this entire chapter with the first chapter of Genesis, you will be convinced that each day spoken of there contained one thousand years. Note Genesis 1:27, "And God created man in His own image, created He him, male and female, created He them." Note the 2nd chapter and 4th verse, "These are the generations of the heaven and of the earth when they were creatd in the day that the Lord God made earth and heaven." Note that the man was formed of the dust of the earth after the rest day and he was not created but he was a different family.

Yes, there is plenty of evidence that there were people on the earth at the time Adam's generation began to spread. It was the mixing of these generations that brought the down-fall at the flood. Note Genesis 6:1, "And it came to pass when men began to multiply on the face of the ground and daughters were born unto them, that the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair, and they took them wives of all that they chose." This was the beginning of the mixing that caused the downfall and flood.

Note what Peter said would come in the last days. Can you see any of these things? Yes, plenty of them. This is the evening of the seventh day. It has 6,605 years since the formation of man. We have only a short history of the sons of God—just the first chapter of Genesis and then the sixth chapter and the second verse.



We also note that the neppilim were in the earth in those days and also after that; when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men and they bore children to them, those were different families and did not belong to Adam's sace. But each kept his generation pure. We find the mixing of the natioalities at the downfall of the nation, when sin is mustiplied to its fullness.

H. L. Mims, Clanton, Ala., R. 1.

MRS FRANCES WILSON

Mrs. Frances Wilson, age about 80 years, died at the County Almshouse Monday. She was buried at New Harmony cemetery Tuesday. The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. T. Daniel. Mrs. Wilson had been in the almshouse for several years.

Italy Builds Warships for Turkey

Launching of the light cruiser Adapete at the Italian naval yard at Genoa, where it was built for the Turkish government. It is understood anothe. war ship of the same type will be built there for Turkey.

New Zealand War Memorial Unveiled

Scene in Wellington during the ceremonies attending the unveiling of New Zealand's handsome war memorial.

Billingsley News

Rev. S. A. Bentley preached a very interesting sermon at the Baptist Church last Sunday.

Miss Mable King, who has been attending Alabama College, is at home for the remainder of the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Downs motored to Montgomery Sunday afternoon.

Mr. H. A. Askins spent last week end on his plantation at Mathes Station. He came back through Montgomery and spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Belle Thompson.

Miss Thelma Baxter spent part of last week in Verbena where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Arnold Powell.

We are sorry to note the illness of Mr. E. J. Harrell and wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss Willie Jean Patrick had as her guest Mr. L. C. Lewis of Montgomery, Sunday afternoon.

Miss Minid Gandy of Birmingham spent the past week with her aunt,

G. A. DUNN, JR.

Preaching services at the Church of Christ in Clanton will be in charge of G. A. Dunn, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, during the revival which begins Sunday, August 30. The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

POLICE FORCE SHAKEN UP

Town Will Employ New Officers; Billy Foshee Will Take Place of Red Sherrod

At the meeting of the Town Council Tuesday night, a complete shaking up of the town police force was made. The result was the discontinuing of the services of night policeman, Red Sherrod, on the spot, and the employment of Billy Foshee to take his place.

Day policeman, John Boockholdt, was also released from duty affective September the 15th. It was not announced at the meeting Tuesday night who would be employed to take Boockholdt's place.

CANE CREEK

Our regular monthly singing society will meet here next Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in regular session. Bring your 1931 Crowning Hymns No. 11. We haven't the new 1932 song books yet, but hope to get them right away, so we will use the 1931 books Sunday afternoon. We hope to have lots of visiting singers, as we haven't had any singinf since the all day singing, and we hope to have a good singing. Come, we always welcome visitors here.

We have Sunday school at 10 o'clock, or somewhere near, each Sunday morning. It is not dead yet, what we want to do is to make it better by coming and trying to do our part each Sunday, and not be absent so much. So come next Sunday and let's have a good Sunday school lesson and attend regular.

Lifeguard at Sixty

Here is Mrs. Claude Martin, who is sixty years old and is president of the Joplin Y. W. C. A. board of directors. She has been a member of the Red Cross life saving guards for the last eight years and is on duty at various resorts where young women swim during the summer months.

Mrs. W. A. Gandy.

Mrs. Joe Gray of Clanton spent Saturday with Mrs. W. A. Gandy.

The base ball game was enjoyed by all, between Jemison and Billingsley, the score being 11-8 in Billingsley's favor.

Rev. S. A. Bentley is holding a revival at Alpine this week.

The watermelon cutting at Swift Creek Saturday night was a great success.

To Our FARMER FRIENDS

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATRONAGE IN THE PAST

As the ginning season approaches again, we invite you to continue your patronage with us this season.

We promise you the best service you can get anywhere, and also guarantee to make you the best sample possible from your cotton.

We will carry cottonseed meal and hulls to sell or exchange in any way that is practicable.

CLANTON MILL & GIN CO.

J. A. Maddox, Mgr. Clanton, Ala.

MOUNTAIN SPRINGS NEWS

Sunday school at this place is improving nicely, and we do urge the fathers and mothers to come and bring their children to Sunday school. We have Christian Endeavor every Sunday night. We invite everybody to come and be with us.

We are having a few days meeting at this place; it has been given out to run till Thursday night. Everybody has a welcome invitation.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins spent Sunday night and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coggins.

Miss Estell and Alice Giles visited Mrs. Will Giles Tuesday.

Mr. Milton Coggins spent Monday with Mr. Howard Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coggins and children visited Mr. W. A. Mims Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Leonard Easterling is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Martin Giles.

Mrs. Will Giles is on the sick list. We hope she will soon recover.

Mr. Lewis Carroll, Mr. Oscar Wells, Mr. Royal Coggins, Mrs. Hermie Smitherman and Mrs. Rosie Headley attended the association at Tallassee. They came to a church by the name Rosum Log. They report a nice time.

We had with us Sunday night Miss Marguerite Davison, Mrs. Butler and Mr. Emerson of Thorsby. We welcome them back.

STANTON

Mrs. W. A. Dawson and daughter, Pauline, also Earl Moore, of Madisonville, Kentucky, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. I. U. W. Hicks visited Mrs. M. A. Woolley Tuesday.

Miss Ethel Gregg left Friday for Mars Hill, N. C., where she will resume her duty as teacher in Mars Hill College.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Davis and family of Demopolis are visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Miss Dorothy Courtwright who is in training at South Highlands Hospital, Birmingham, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Sadie Thrash.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. DeWitt and family of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cook.

Bill Ruddick visited his nephew, Percy Rasberry, who is ill in the Baptist Hospital in Selma, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Little visited Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell this week end.

Clyde Cook of Birmingham visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cook, Sunday.

Mrs. R. W. Amos (Estelle O'Neal) and three attractive children of Dothan are visiting relatives and friends here.

Emmett Huff and family attended all day singing at Cox Sunday.

Mr. Mitchell of Sylvonia is visiting his sister, Mrs. C. E. Cagle.

BEAN-ERWIN

On last Saturday afternoon "silent cupid" played its lovers part to help Mr. Lesley Bean of Clanton and Miss Lola Erwin of Jemison to slip away and get married. Miss Erwin is one of Jemison's most loveable and pretty young girls, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Erwin.

Mr. Bean is a most promising young man of New Salem community, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bean. Both attended Jemison High School, where many, many classmates and friends join with others in wishing them a long and happy life together.

Reports from the revival at Refuge this week say there are having a fine meeting. Rev. G. G. Williams, pastor, and Rev. J. W. Jones, of Thorsby, are doing the preaching.

MT. PISGAH

Misses Annie Bell and Ruth Kate Smitherman are at Mt. Pisgah this week with their sister, Dollie Mae Popwell.

It won't be long until the farmers will be picking cotton at Mt. Pisgah.

They had a good meeting at Mt. Zion last week. Rev. Brint preached.

The Misses Danforth are visiting relatives in Birmingham and Attalla.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson spent Wednesday in Montgomery.

Mrs. A. S. Prince was shopping in Birmingham Monday.

Rev. D. H. Haskew is engaged in a revival meeting at Isabella this week.

Miss Mittice Duncan of Lomax spent last week in Birmingham with her sister.

Mrs. Herbert Neighbors is visiting relatives in Rockford.

Miss Sarah Frances Stapp of Aliceville was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cohen Stapp.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips is expected home this week after some time spent in Prattville and Auburn.

Charles and Durwood Robinson have returned home after some time spent in Birmingham with relatives.

Mrs. A. L. Farley was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farley.

GOODSON LAWRENCE DIED

Goodson Lawrence, age about 70 years, died Monday at the County Almshouse, where he had been an inmate for over twenty years. He was buried Tuesday at New Salem cemetery.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

"Smile at the Ache"

Ordinary pains— headache and neuralgia, muscular pains, functional pains, the headache and congested feeling of a cold in the head—how quickly they disappear when you take a tablet or two of

DR. MILES' Aspir-Mint

Dr. Miles' Aspir-Mint is the new, stable, mint-flavored tablet that is making people all over the country "Smile at the Ache"

• 15c and 25c at your drug store

YOU'LL GET RELIEF OR YOUR MONEY BACK

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXVIII.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1931 NUMBER 18

FOUR ELECTIONS IN SIX MONTHS

People Will Vote On Amendments To Constitution Of Alabama

A check-up of special constitutional amendment elections was made at the Capitol Monday and it was found that four special elections have been called to submit amendments, all within a space of less than six months, two of them within a week of each other and three within less than 60 days of each other.

The $25,000,000 road bond issue is to be voted on November 3, 1931. The inheritance tax amendment is to be voted on November 10, 1931. And the Mobile special taxation amendment is to be voted on January 5, 1932.

On the first Tuesday in May, 1932, three amendments will be voted on, one to increase taxes at Eufaula, Decatur, Bridgeport, Attalla, Altoona, Red Bay, Parrish and Talladega; one to form forestry districts and providing for the levying of an acreage tax therefor, and one to allow Jasper to issue bonds to buy its waterworks.

Seven amendments, including the 67 Senator amendment, will be voted on at the general election in 1932.

Plenty of Money

It will cost $38,740.46 for the special election called on November 3 of this year to vote on the $25,000,000 bond issue. And just one week later it will cost $24,760 to vote on the inheritance tax amendment. The Mobile tax amendment on January 5, 1932, will cost approximately as much as the inheritance amendment election and the election on the first Tuesday in May, 1932, will cost approximately $60,00 because all of the amendments to be voted on then have to be advertised.

Something of a general gasp, bordering on a sensation, was created when it was found that the legislature has called on the people to go to the polls on November 3 and then quit their work one week later and go to the polls on November 10. And to add to it, the voters will have a respite of less than 60 days when they will be asked to go to the polls and vote on the Mobile amendment. And then, before they have gotten their breath good, they must go to the polls again in May to vote on three additional amendments.

Discovery of the hit or miss method of submitting amendments by the recent legislature, calling two elections inside of eight days and three inside of 60 days, has led to additional talk that a special session of the legislature is deemed necessary so that the people of Alabama will be spared the time, expense and the campaigns, for these various amendments to be voted on.

Amendment Procedure

Constitutional amendments do not have to be signed by the Governor. When they are adopted by the legislature they go to the Secretary of State and the duty of the Governor is merely to advertise the amendments for eight consecutive weeks in county papers in every county.—Atticus Mullin in Montgomery Advertiser.

About Dewberries

At a recent meeting of Clanton strawberry growers the planting of dewberries was discussed, and 24 acres were signed up.

County Agent Stapp was asked to get in touch with as many other farmers as possible and see how much acreage he could get pledged to dewberries.

In considering dewberries, the following facts of interest should be borne in mind: The crop looks promising as a money crop. Dewberries ripen about twe weeks after we are through with strawberries. The yield and price usually run abount like strawberries. It takes about 2,200 to 2,500 plants per acre, and the plants cost about one cent each set in January or February. It takes about 600 pounds of fertilizer per acre annually.

If you are interested in setting out dewberries, communicate with County Agent, C. E. Stapp, at Clanton, and he will get in touch with you to work out further necessary details.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade is spending this week in Wetumpka.

CENTER HILL

Sunday being our regular monthly singing evening, the Cooperative and United Singing Societies, with other classes, met here to sing together. The singing was fine and the crowd was large. The Morris-Henson books No. 11 and 12 were used. Visiting directors were Ander Blow, Russell Scott, W. J. Northcutt, A. H. Glasscock, Burl Martin, Posey Cleckler, Akins Collins, Miss Virgie Cost, Mrs. Howard Roper. Organists were Mrs. Akins Collins, Mrs. Howard Roper, Mrs. B. L. Cobb, Misses Jessie Dorminey and Rudy Smith.

We noticed visitors from Birmingham, Sylacauga, and Selma. The Cooperative Society still meets at Oak Grove on the first Sunday. Providence the second, Mars Hill the third, Center Hill the fourth. All singers and lovers of music are cordially invited to attend and help us.

PREPARING FOR SCHOOL OPENING

Chilton County High School Getting Ready For Session

One week from next Saturday morning, on Saptember 5, at 9:00 o'clock, in the office of the Chilton County High School, the members of the faculty will meet for the purpose of preliminary arrangements to be made for the formal opening of the school on Monday morning following. Every member of the faculty will be present and definite plans will be made and discussed towards making the year 1931-32 better in every possible way than any previous year.

Most of the faculty is well known to the patrons and children of the school; there having been only one change made. We feel that we are to be congratulated in this particular matter for it is not only of great value for a child to have an able an efficient teacher, but it is worthwhile that the child know and understand his teacher. Having been associated with the majority of these teachers during the past year, the children of Chilton County High School will begin the new year with this distinct advantage.

The young men and young women who compose the faculty are not only able and efficient teachers, but they are vitally interested in their work and in the children they teach. The principal of the school is in position to know from past associations and recent communication that these teachers have the welfare and interest of the school on their hearts and that they are looking forward to the opening of school. We trust that the patrons of the school in particular and the citizens of the town in general will give them a hearty welcome back to town, and again assure them of their loyalty and cooperation. It is not mere talk. We are indeed determined to make this year count in the life of every child who enters the doors of our school.

For the benefit of any new patrons we again publish the names of the faculty:

Miss Bernice Williams, Luverne, mathematics; Miss Nell E. Wells, Jemison, English; Mr. T. H. Walker, Lawley, manual arts; Mr. James D. Varnell, Faulkville, science; Miss Margaret Kendrick, Luverne, English; Miss Josephine Martin, Birmingham, social studies; Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, Thorsby, science and physicial education; Mrs. W. M. Greene, Birmingham, history; Miss Margaret Brown, Fairfield, home economics.—L. C. Warr, principal.

MRS. MARY WILSON DIED

Mrs. Mary Wilson, age 73 years, wife of T. W. Wilson, of Maple Springs community, died at her home Sunday, August 16th. She was buried at Maple Springs the following day. The funeral was conducted by Elder J. E. Kelley, assisted by Rev. Deason.

Mrs. Wilson is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. L. H. Wright, Mrs. J. L. Mims, Mrs. J. S. Davis; two sons, Alphus and Merrit Wilson.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips returned Monday from Prattville where she has been visiting for some time.

Banks of County Will Help Farmers To Finance Planting Vetch and Peas

Plans Made Tuesday At A Meeting Of Bankers and Farmers

Tuesday afternoon, upon the call of John C. Page, key banker of the county, and C. E. Stapp, County Agent, the bankers of the county and about a dozen farmers and the vocational teachers met at Mr. Stapp's office to consider the financing of farmers in planting vetch and winter peas this fall.

Mr. Stapp advised that all the banks in the county, except the Bank of Maplesville, were officially represented, and that the Bank of Maplesville rendered a satisfactory excuse.

After some discussion by those present as to the value of vetch and Austrian winter peas, the bankers agreed to help finance the planting of vetch and peas this fall. County Agent, Stapp, was instructed to find out who wants loans for seed, the amount of loans wanted, and with what banks the farmers want to do business individually in this matter. Then Mr. Stapp will turn the cards of the individual farmers over to the bank of their choice for approval of loans.

Mr. Stapp made the statement that $2 per acre spent for vetch or peas this fall could be made worth more than $5 per acre spent for soda next spring. This statement was endorsed by Willie Hamilton, Mr. Allen, and several other farmers who were present.

With the splendid spirit of cooperation shown by our banks, and their hearty response to help in this great movement, it seems that every farmer in the county should try to arrange to plant vetch and peas this fall.

Mr. Stapp states that 202 farmers have already booked a total of 45,800 pounds of seed, or enough to plant about 2,000 acres. This seems like a lot of seed, but as Mr. Stapp stated, it is only a drop in the bucket compared to what should be planted this fall.

MRS. BESSIE VIRGINIA MIDDLETON

Mrs. Bessie Virginia Middleton, age 70 years, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Northrup, in Maplesville, last Friday morning.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at 10:30 at Buena Vista in Monroe County. Burial was in charge of Spigener Funeral Home, of Clanton.

Mrs. Middleton was well known as a school teacher. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Northrup, and a daughter.

H. J. Taylor, of the Cooper Mercantile Company at Coopers, was a business visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

Mrs. R. W. Taylor and son, Aubrey, left yesterday for a few days' visit to friends in Anniston, Ala.

G. A. DUNN, JR.

Preaching services at the Church of Christ in Clanton will be in charge of G. A. Dunn, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, during the revival which begins Sunday, August 30. The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

SEABORN WILKINS

Funeral for Seaborn Wilkins, 41, who died Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkins of Marvin, was held from Bethsalem church Sunday afternoon. Mr. Wilkins had been in ill health for several years. Surviving are his widow, his parents and two daughters, Misses Louise and Vesta Mae, all of Marvin; two sisters, Mrs. W. B. Caldwell, of Selma, and Mrs. J. S. Carr, of Montgomery, and three brothers, M. D., of Union Springs, Wilbur, of Hardaway, and Rufus, of Marvin.

COOSA PICNIC AT LOG CABIN BEACH FIFTH SUNDAY, AUG.

The Union-Banner has requested to announce that there will be a picnic all day on the Fifth Sunday in this month at Log Cabin Beach, at the ferry below Mitchell Dam. This will be another Coosa county affair similar to the one held two or three months ago. It is intended for the people of Chilton county who were born and raised in Coosa and for the people who now live in Coosa county. It will be a kind of reunion affair, and the general public is invited to attend. Bring your dinner and be prepared for a good time.

Music and boat races have been scheduled for thirty minutes beginning at 9:30 o'clock. There will be speaking from 10 to 12 by Col. A. C. Smith, F. A. Gulledge and others. Dinner at 12 o'clock, and the afternoon will be taken up with boat races and other amusements.

C. L. Woodfin, Rockford, Ala.

Lawrence Says We May Have Only A Half School Term This Year

Editor Union-Banner:

Many people are asking me every day about what length of school term Chilton County will have for the year just beginning. I wish I could answer this question, but no one, even to state authorities, seems to be able to furnish any definite information.

The situation is simply this: We have something over $15,000 of state warrants issued by the state last year bearing no due date. Recently we received about $1,800 in warrants from the state with a notation to hold them until the state treasury is in a condition to pay them. Such warrants will not mean anything to us unless we can get the cash. The legislature adjourned without making any provision for taking care of the amount of money due us from the state. If the condition of the state treasury does not improve we will continue to receive these due bills and we will, therefore, not have any money to operate schools except the county funds. The county funds will be sufficient to operate the schools about one-half year. It seems to me that it will be unwise for us to continue to operate our schools for a longer period than we have the money with which to pay the teachers. No one seems to be able to tell us when the state will be able to pay their money. As I see it the only busineslike way to handle the matter is to operate our schools as long as the money holds out then when that has been exhausted let all schools, including high schools, close

I do not know just what the County Board of Education will do at their meeting next Friday, but it seems to me that the wise thing to do is to set up a half-year program. At the end of the half-year program the state treasury will be in a condition to pay these warrants, if they are going to pay them at all this year. If they are not going to be able to pay them this year I believe the wise thing to do is to close when the half year is over, but we will have to be governed entirely by the condition of the state treasury. We will appreciate any suggestions that any one may have relative to this matter and if you have suggestions we will be glad to have them on or before Friday, August 28.

Respectfully yours,
B. LAWRENCE,
County Supt. Education.

WALNUT CREEK

The revival just held at Walnut Creek was a great success. There were twenty-one additions to the church. Rev. T. C. Cassady of Montgomery did the preaching until Friday at noon, and the pastor, Rev. P. A. Lynch, preached until Sunday night.

Our Sunday school is doing splendid work. There are 100 on roll, and 91 were present Sunday. The Senior Class has 25 on roll, all of whom attend every Sunday

Our Christian Endeavor meets every Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock. We had a large crowd with us last Sunday night. Everybody is invited to come back to Christian Endeavor and Sunday school.

We are going to have a "Hear the book speak," at Christian Endeavor Sunday night. This illustration will be put on after Christian Endeavor period. Visitors are always welcome.

CAMP MEETING STARTS AUG. 8

State Conference Of Seventh-Day Adventists At Verbena

Seeing truckload after truckload of tents and equipment leave Clanton southward on the highway led the Union-Banner reporter to inquire in regard to the cause. From Bishop A. B. Russell, president of the Alabama Conference of Seventh-day Adventists we learned that the Adventists are preparing to hold their annual conference and campmeeting at Verbena. The use of the Verbena High School and grounds has been tendered by the school board while H. B. Oliver has given the use of the surrounding grounds for the use of the convention.

A visit to the camp site was of real interest to your reporter. The large well-lighted auditorium of the high school is to be used for all the general meetings while large tents house the cafeteria, the young people's department and the children's divisions. In addition to these some fifty smaller tents, each suitable for housing a family of from two to six, are erected in avenues and streets on the grounds.

We learned that delegates from over the state representing the various congregations will be in attendance throughout the meeting which will open Friday evening, August 8th, and continue until Saturday evening, September 5. Leaders in the denomination representing the home and foreign departments of their work will be in attendance. Among these will be Pastor C. K. Meyers of Washington, D. C., Pastor L. E. Christman, a returned missionary from South America, Pastor N. S. Ashton of Nashville, Pastor B. H. Shaw representing the educational department of the work.

The Union-Banner representative was asked to extend to all its readers an urgent and hearty invitation to attend any or all of the meetings to be held.

The program is announced as follows:

Devotional meeting, 6:00 a. m.; preaching service, 10:45 a. m.; Bible study, 2:45 p. m.; song service, 7:15 p. m.; preaching, 7:30 p. m.

At other hours of the day special meetings in the interest of the various activities of the church will be held as may be announced later.

Each Saturday morning at 9:15 a Sabbath school will be held preceeding the forenoon preaching hour.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Little Hollis Johnson was discharged last week.

Mrs. G. E. Plier is doing fine.

Mrs. C. E. Headley is resting well following an operation.

Mrs. Eadona is doing nicely.

Mrs. J. O. Wilson is resting well.

Little Julian Dobbs continues to improve.

Mr. B. L. Porter is resting well following an operation Monday morning.

Mr. J. L. Billingsley is doing nicely.

Ed Mallory (col.) is doing fine.

Messrs. Paul Cox, Benson Sims, Courtland Retherford and C. B. Cox went to Tuscaloosa on business Monday.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES WILL BE ELECTED

Under Operations Of A New Law Passed By Last Legislature

Beginning in May, 1932, and every two years thereafter, the school patrons of the several school districts of Alabama will elect their school trustees by popular vote.

The law, passed at the recent session of the Legislature, sets out the following provisions for the election of trustees:

Section 1. That on the first Saturday in May, 1932, and every two years thereafter, three school trustees shall be elected for each school in every county by the patrons of the school. The county superintndent of education shall appoint three managers to hold the election at each school who shall conduct the election in accordance with regulations prepared by the county superintendent of education and approved by the county board of education. The results of the election shall be reported to the county superintendent of education on a certificate signed by the managers of the election, provided, however, that this shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns having city or town Boards of Education.

Section 2. That the trustees elected under the provisions of this Act, except as otherwise provided by law, shall have charge of the school building and grounds and shall advise and cooperate with the county board of education in all matters relating to the general welfare of the school. The trustees shall have authority by a unanimous vote to refuse to accept the assignment of any teacher within ten days after the date of the superintendent's notice of assignment upon written notification to the county superintendent of education, setting out the reasons for such refusal.

Section 3. That when any vacancy occurs on the Board of School Trustees elected under the provisions of this Act, the same shall be filled by the County Board of Education and the person thus elected shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified. Provided that the County Board of Education may remove any school district trustee elected under the provisions of this Act upon recommendation of the County Superintendent of Education, for misconduct, or willful neglect of duties.

Section 4. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 5. Provided that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to counties now having or that may hereafter have a population of more than ninety thousand inhabitants by the present or any subsequent federal census.

Section 6. That the managers of said election shall serve without pay.

Mrs. J. C. Page left Sunday for a few days visit with relatvies at McMinnville, Tenn. Upon her return she will bring back with her, Miss Peggy Page, who has been spending the summer months at Eagle Nest Camp, Brevard, North Carolina.

Methodist Church

We have preaching next Sunday morning, but no preaching service at night. The Christian Church in Clanton will begin a meeting that day and we call in our night service so that our people may worship with them.

I heard a woman say last Sunday "My mother taught me that I had a place in my home, in my community and in my church that no other one could fill, and I have always been in my place doing my best." That thing is true in your case. You have a place in your church, and no other one can fill it for you. When you are not at church, your place is vacant.

Fill your place in the Sunday school at 9:45. Another Sunday when we had more present than we the Sunday before. Help our continued growth by being present next Sunday.

We are delighted to report the membership of Mrs. Earnest J. Brown. She lives in the stucco bungalow across the street in front of Mrs. J. Q. Wade. Make her fell at home with us.

Plant Austrian Peas October First

CLOTHING BUDGET IS RECOMMENDED FOR US

Auburn, Ala., August 24.—Miss Dorothy Dean, extension clothing specialist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, is carrying the budget idea into the purchase and into making clothes. She says that 15 or 20 per cent of the yearly income of the family is generally allowed for clothes, and that ages of different members of the family will determine the amount to be spent for each.

As the first step in planning a new wardrobe a complete inventory of clothing on hand should be made, Miss Dean said. With fall and winter approaching, decide what is ready to be used through those seasons and also what can be used by remaking or renovation, she added.

"After deciding what clothing must be purchased," continued Miss Dean, "it will be necessary to decide what must be bought ready made and what can be made at home. Local conditions will determine which can be done more economically. Study the local shops and count quality, care and time in considering the advisability of making cholthes at home."

Turning from remaking and renonation of clothes to the purchase of new clothes, she said that this should be planned very carefully. If this is done and good materials and conservative styles bought, many garments may be used for several seasons.

"There is no economy in materials which look shabby before the first season is half over," she added.

It is especially important that the clothing used most often should be of good quality. Doubtful bargains may be risked sometimes for clothing needed on rare occasions.

Joe Robinson of Birmingham spent last Sunday with his father, John M. Robinson, in Clanton.

Mrs. Ada Pitts of the Jacksonville Normal School, is spending this week in Clanton at the home of her son, Hon. Percy M. Pitts.

I. G. A. Specials This Week-End

COFFEE — ALWAYS FRESH

"I" Blend	lb. pkg.	33c
"G" Blend	lb. pkg.	25c
"A" Blend	lb. pkg.	21c

WESSON OIL Pint Can 25c

SOUPS, I. G. A., All Varieties, Can 9c

RIPE PEARS, Richfield, 2 tall cans 25c

PEANUT BUTTER I. G. A. Fancy 16 ounce jar 21c

VINEGAR, I. G. A. Pure Apple quart water bottle 19c

CORNED BEEF, I. G. A., Large Can 19c

RELISH SPREAD I. G. A., large jar 17c

PINEAPPLE, I. G. A. Fancy sliced or crushed, large cans 25c

GRAPE FRUIT I. G. A. Tree Ripened Large Can 19c

TEA, I. G. A. Quarter-pound pkg. Finest Orange Pekoe 21c

ICEBERG LETTUCE Nice Heads, each 12c

SLICED BACON, Sunlight Rindless, lb. 25c

FLOUR, I. G. A. Plain or Self Rising 24 lb bag 89c

FLOUR, Duchess Self Rising or Columbia Plain 24 lb bag 69c

At All IGA Stores

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 30

THE MISSION TO CYPRUS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 12:25-13:12.

GOLDEN TEXT—For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Starts on a Great Trip.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Begins an Adventurous Journey.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Missionary Adventures in Cyprus.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity at Court.

I. Barnabas and Saul Return from Jerusalem (12:25).

The Christians at Jerusalem were in need because of a famine which had come upon the world. When news of this reached the believers at Antioch, they were moved with sympathy for them, and relief was sent at the hand of Barnabas and Saul. On their return from this ministry, they were accompanied by John Mark.

II. Gifts of the Church at Antioch (v. 1).

Young as was this new religious center, it had prophets and teachers. Such are essential to right church life. In Ephesians 4: 8-12 is enumerated the gifts which when Christ ascended on high he gave to men for the perfecting of the saints unto the work of the ministry. Gifts in the Church are not for the Church itself, but to enable it to perform service for others.

III. Barnabas and Saul Sent Forth (vv. 2, 3).

This marks the beginning of foreign missions as the deliberately planned enterprise of the Church.

1. The occasion (v. 2). While the five prophets and teachers were fasting and praying, the Holy Spirit commanded them to send forth Barnabas and Saul. The work of evangelizing the world was laid so heavily upon these men that they refrained from eating in order to seek the will of God in prayer. This is the kind of fasting that has God's approval. The missionary enterprise is the index to the spirituality of a church. The emptiness of missionary treasuries and the falling off of missionary candidates reveal the unspirituality of the home base.

2. The divine command (v. 2). The Holy Ghost said, "Separate me Barnabas and Saul." The real call to Christian service comes from the Holy Spirit. The Spirit called, the Church responded by sending out those called by him. Spirit-filled Christians know the voice of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit called, and the best men which the Church at Antioch had were sent out.

3. The obedience (v. 3). After fasting and prayer, Barnabas and Saul were sent out. The men were ready to go.

4. Instant obedience was rendered. Those who have received the Spirit's call are not taken by surprise when they are commissioned by the Church. There should be no holding back on the part of the Church, nor of the workers when the Spirit calls. By the workers when the Spirit calls.

IV. Preaching the Word of God in Cyprus (vv. 4, 5).

We are not told as to why they first went to Cyprus, but we are left to infer that it was owing to the fact that Cyprus was the home of Barnabas. He was acquainted with the country and the people and could be thus assured of a respectable hearing among them. Besides, it was most natural that those who had heard the good news go first with it to their kindred and friends. Andrew first went to his brother, and the man out of whom the demons were cast was denied the pleasure of following Jesus in order that he might go and tell his kindred. As they went forth they carefully carried out their commission, for they preached the Word of God. Those who are faithful to God will preach nothing but his Word. The great need today is Spirit-called and Spirit-filled men preaching God's Word.

V. Withstood by Elymas, the Sorcerer (vv. 6-12).

Sergius Paulus, the deputy, invited Barnabas and Saul to tell him of God's Word. Elymas maliciously sought to turn his mind from the faith. He sought to bar the gospel as it entered upon its mission of converting the heathen. Paul came to the front and denounced Elymas in the most scathing terms. He called him the child of the Devil, denouncing him as full of guile and villainy, pronouncing him the enemy of all righteousness, and accusing him of perverting the right ways of the Lord. Surely a man is never more a villain than when he tries to turn a soul from God.

God Does Not Forsake Thee

Suppose that all men forsake or forget thee; God does not. His eye sees thee, his heart feels for thee, and his hand is able to deliver thee. Thou art not friendless, nor wilt thou be till the God of all consolation dies.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

The Resurrection-Life

It is the resurrection-life that is the truest as well as the highest form of life; the surest as well as the most glorious immortality; it admits of no reversal and no decay.—H. Bonar.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

Ford owners Chevrolet owners Genuine Goodrich Tires for $4.98

($4.80 in pairs)

ARE you one of the thousands traveling around on tires that give trouble—threaten safety? Listen! Don't take chances any longer. We're offering genuine Goodrich Tires at prices no sensible man can afford to turn down, and sensible men are buying!

Think of it! A tire made by the oldest and most experienced tire manufacturer—with the Goodrich name on the sidewall—backed by the Goodrich guarantee and our guarantee—for less than a five spot! Shop around all you please—you won't find value to match this. Ford or Chevrolet size, $4.98. Other sizes proportionately low. Goodrich Cavaliers—the 26% better tire by actual test. The handsomest tire you ever put on your car!

Now is the time to quit waiting and buy tires. It's money in your pocket! Come in today!

CAVALIERS 4-ply		SUPER CAVALIERS 6 full plies
4.40-21	$4.98	4.50-21	$8.75
4.50-20	5.60	5.25-20	12.20
4.50-21	5.69	5.25-21	12.95
4.75-19	6.65	5.50-20	13.70
4.75-20	6.75	6.00-18	14.60
5.00-19	6.98	6.00-19	14.90
5.00-20	7.10	6.00-20	15.20
5.00-21	7.35	6.00-21	15.60
5.25-21	8.57	6.50-20	17.25
5.50-19	8.90	7.00-20	19.50

Goodrich Cavaliers

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.

Clanton, Alabama

EXERCISE A PROBLEM FOR BUSY RADIO BROADCASTER

Unlike most orchestra leaders who get a lot of unconscious exercise from waving their arms and bending their backs, while conducting, B. A. Rolfe, leader of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, who directs by simple movements of the thumb and fingers of one hand, must get his exercise and recreation elsewhere.

Since he first began broadcasting the Lucky Strike program more than two and a half years ago, Rolfe has had an unbroken record of continuous service on the air, even though these broadcasts have been increased from one to three programs of dance music a week. With these three weekly microphone appearances, and the incessant preparation and endless rehearsal which they require, Rolfe has little spare time for himself. Naturally, it has been a serious problem for him to regulate his daily life in order to preserve his health as well as perform the many duties that are constantly arising in connection with his radio work.

When an enquiring reporter recently asked B. A. Rolfe what he did in his spare time, the rotund leader chuckled and said, "That reminds me of the story about the hired man who was asked why he didn't get himself a steady job, and who replied that his boss didn't give him enough time off."

The Lucky Strike maestro has placed himself under the care of a physical director, experienced in conditioning famous show people, who puts him through a series of exercises regularly, and subjects him to a vigorous rubdown. In the summertime, Rolfe derives unending pleasure from his motor cruiser in which he often taken members of his orchestra for a quiet sail.

In addition to these recreational pursuits Rolfe takes long walks with his tow dogs, "Lucky" and Trouble," drives his high-powered car into the country, and whenever the opportunity presents itself, attends as many concert and symphony orchestra perfirmances as possible, and when he has lowered his thumb on the last number of a Lucky Strike program, he usually crawls into bed with a detective or mystery story and "unlaxes."

MORE LIVESTOCK IN ALABAMA IS FORESEEN

An improvement in livestock farming in Alabama is expected because of low prices of cotton. In this way farmers will improve their farming; they will provide a weekly income; they will improve their soil; and will create a better balanced system of farming.

F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist at Auburn, said that the biggest improvement and increase will be with dairy cows. Instead of increasing numbers rapidly the tendency is to get better dairy cows, produce food for them, feed them better, and take better care of them, Mr. Burns said.

The goal is to make dairying a part of general farming. Already this has been done on thousands of farms and it will be extended to other farms, Mr. Burns said. A farmer who has a few cows and produces milk or cream and sells it has a weekly income. Even though it may be small it is a big help in the operation of the farm. Dairying also provides productive employment every day in the year, which is not true of cotton.

More attention will be given to hogs, sheep and other livestock, Mr. Burns continued. Hogs will not be added on a big scale but rather as a unit of general farming because they can be handled in this way efficiently and at a profit.

Along with animals of good breeding, the county agents are urging the production and use of home-grown feed, including good pastures, because pasture is the cheapest feed a farmer can provide. With fall and winter approaching a special effort is now being made to save all the feed that has been made.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered Druggist
THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

TRUCK CROP SHIPMENTS BREAK ALL-TIME RECORD

Breaking the all-time record of truck crop shipping by more than a thousand cars, Alabama farmers this year shipped 9,346 cars of vegetables and fruits to outside markets.

Department of Agriculture figures reveal that this year's mark tops by 1,126 cars the previous high record of 8,220 cars in 1926, while shipping for 1931 has not yeat ceased.

Past performances show, for the year 1920, 3,315 cars, 1925, 6,888 cars; 1930, 6,786 cars; and 1931, 9,346 cars. While past records do not include green corn shipments, the mark for this year includes this product.

Shipments by carloads were divided as follows: Strawberries, 1,148 cars; cabbage, 1,155 cars; Irish potatoes, 4,676 cars; cucumbers, 456 cars; watermelons, 643 cars; peaches, 194 cars; sweet potatoes, 318 cars; apples, 9 cars; beans, 90 cars; pears, 31 cars; mixed vegetables, 48 cars, and green corn, 578 cars.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

The states and territories of the United States distributed last year more than 79,000,000 trees for forest plantings.

For the first time in the history of the rubber trade, crude rubber on August 10th was quoted at 5 cents a pound. This price represented a decline of 30 points from the previous close.

The 10 annual session of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn will begin September 7, 8 and 9. The first two days will be registration; the third for initial class work.

The value of the foreign trade of the United States fell to the lowest level in recent years in the quarter ending June 30, last, according to the Department of Commerce. Merchandise exports amounted to $606,000,000, compared with $710,000,000 in the January-March quarter of 1931, and of $46,000,000 in the April-June quarter of 1930.

Speaking recently at Madison, Wisconsin, Edward A. O'Neal, Alabama farmer who is president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, declared that present farm legislation is inadequate and announced that the Farm Bureau will insist upon legislation embodying the equalization fee about which there was much discussion a few years ago.

U. S. Treasury officials estimate that work for 100,000 additional men will be furnished this winter and in the next two years by the Government's $700,000,000 public building program, about $500,000,000 of which is to be expended outside of the District of Columbia. In all, about 150,000 men will obtain employment directly and indirectly. At present Government building contruction is providing employment for 32,000.

STORRS MAKES SUGGESTIONS FOR AIDING COTTON PRICES

Forcing the Federal Farm Board to declare a policy of holding from the channels of trade the 3,000,000 bales of cotton it controls and placing a prohibitive tariff on jute to create new uses for 750,000 additional bales of low grade cotton annually are suggestions made by Seth P. Storrs, Alabama Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, as means for aiding the present cotton situation.

Commissioner Storrs declared that "in view of the fact that the Federal Farm Board made a grievous mistake in suggesting that southern farmers deliberately destroy one-third their their present cotton crop, the time has come when constructive suggestions by agricultural leaders of the nation are imperative.

"This being true," he said, "I suggest, 1, that the Federal Farm Board be forced to declare that the 3,000,000 bales of cotton which it controls will not be available to the trade until after July 30th, 1932. This would reduce the available supply by 3,000,000 bales.

"2, That when Congress meets in December it places a prohibitive tariff upon jute which would create new uses for 750,000 bales of low grade cotton annually.

"If these two suggestions were put into force, it would greatly stabilize the market and help to solve the cotton problems," he asserted.

Mr. J. E. Thomas of Coopers was in Clanton last Friday and brought in to The Union-Banner a very fine peach. It was an Elberta and weighed exactly three quarters of a pound.

GOV. MILLER AND STORRS WANT REAL SOUTHERNER ON FEDERAL FARM BOARD

Governor B. M. Miller and Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of Agriculture, advocated the appointment of an outstanding Southern farm leader on the Federal Farm Board to strengthen confidence in that body and to stabalize the "distressing situation confronting our people" in a telegram to Arthur M. Hyde, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, Saturday, August 15.

Secretary Hyde was requested to urge President Hoover to make such an appointment at once. The telegram sent by Governor Miller and Commissioner Storrs reads:

Pleare urge President Hoover to name at once on Farm Board outstanding real Southern leader thoroughly familiar with cotton and our economic situation around whom we may rally and thus steady and stabilize the distressing situation confronting our people. This is the only method which will bring back to the Farm Board any degree of confidence and support or give leaders any chance to render real service in the midst of confusion created by the Farm Board's proposal to ask Southern cotton farmers to deliberately abandon one-third of their crop. This is the supreme opportunity for the President to serve the Southern people."

OSAGE ORANGE VALUABLE FOR FENCE POSTS

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 23.—One of the most desirable trees to plant in the prairie section of Alabama is the Osage Orange, says Colonel Page S. Bunker, state forester. On account of its durability in contact with the soil, this tree is probably the best native species for fence posts. Many farms are in need of cheap fence post material and will continue to be so long as the land is either farmed or grazed. Due to the scarcity of this class of material, the landowners will find it worth while to establish plantations of Osage Orange which is often locally referred to as "bois d'arc."

The large fruit, which superficially resembles an orange, is from four to five inches in diameter. It should be collected in the fall of the year. The fruit usually drops to the ground when it has matured. It should be stored in a cool dry place. In the spring prolonged soaking in cold water will soften the pulp so that the seed can be extracted easily. Seeds germinate readily without further treatment. They should be sown in rich, well prepared soil. A corner of the garden will serve as the nursery. The seedlings can be planted after one season's growth in the fall, winter or spring.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

The greatest sweet potato crop in eight years lies in Alabama fields—estimated at 8,840,000 bushels.

The B. F. White Sacred Harp Singing Association held its annual convention in Gadsden Aug. 21-23.

Judge A. D. Sayre, associate justice of the Alabama supreme court, was critically ill at his home in Montgomery.

Gov. Miller has appointed Elijah D. Green, York automobile dealer, as chairman of the Sumter County Board of Revenue.

Gov. Miller has granted extradition papers to Illinois for the return of Robert Gilbert, East St. Louis negro, wanted for murder.

Prof. H. Burri, of Switzerland, delegate to the League of Nations, has arrived in Montgomery to make a study of milk control in Alabama.

B. L. Smith, of Haleyville, was sentenced to 18 months in federal penitentiary at Atlanta by Judge W. I. Grubb for using the mails to defraud.

Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of Auburn's extension service, has been proposed to President Hoover by Gov. Miller for the vacancy on the Federal Farm Board.

Harry Barr, 16, son of Mrs. H. S. Barr, East Thomas, was killed by a train near Mingus, Tex., according to a message received from that place by the parents.

Governors throughout the nation will receive invitations from Birmingham to attend the nineteenth annual convention of the United States Good Roads Association, which will meet there Oct. 12-15.

W. P. Fonville, Jr., has been appointed temporary chief clerk in the secretary of state's office, a position his father held for more than 20 years until his recent death.

Shot through the abdomen, James M. Preston, 43, of Siluria, Ala., was found lying near a railroad crossing outside Sandusky, semi-conscious and weakened from loss of blood.

Gadsden's city ordinance requiring a license fee from out-of-state farmers selling produce in Gadsden was declared unconstitutional by Thomas E. Knight, Jr., attorney general.

A penniless pack-peddler, his throat muscles paralyzed so that he could not speak, bared his breast to Sheriff M. C. Tucker at Selma and begged him to end his poverty and suffering.

Justices of Alabama's supreme court, after a summer recess, have started work on an advisory opinion as to the constitutionality of the administration income tax program enacted by the recent legislature.

J. Litt Edwards of Dallas County, recently elected president of the Alabama Farm Bureau, addressed the Marengo County Farm Bureau at a barbecue Tuesday, Aug. 25, at Dixon's Mills camp ground.

Mrs. Maude Gunn, of Sylacauga, convicted of slaying her husband as they drove to their daughter's graduation at Jacksonville, in May, 1930, is at liberty under a 23-day parole to attend court at Columbiana.

Jewish residents in Huntsville have announced the organization of a chapter of B'nai B'rith, with a charter membership of 25. Hugo Hecht, of Gadsden, organized the chapter. Officers will be elected later.

Lieut. Henry Badham has been promoted to major and commanding officer of 106th Observation Squadron, succeeding Sumter Smith, promoted from major to lieutenant-colonel and division officer of four states.

The first issue of The Millport Enterprise, a weekly, made its appearance Aug. 15. Kirby T. Mills, former editor of the Lamar Democrat, is editor, and Denver A. McKenzie, formerly of Winfield, is publisher.

Protest against the proposal of railroads to increase rates on crushed marble from Alabama points was made to the Interstate Commerce Commission by Charles E. Jones, manager of the traffic division of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce. The railroads propose an average increase of 75 cents to $1 a ton.

Mrs. Mildred Chambers and Mrs. Mabel Cline will face trial in Jefferson County criminal court Oct. 19 on murder charges, growing out of the bombing July 10 of the Pure Milk plant, and the resultant deaths of Ned Van Merkestyn, 19, and a negro boy.

Three men were seriously burned Tuesday when a fishing boat exploded at a wharf in Bayou La Batre, fishing village 30 miles southwest of Mobile. Those injured were Levert Seaman and Harry Garrett, of Bayou La Batre, and H. I. White, of Tuscaloosa.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.86

Dr. S. A. BARSON

OPTOMETRIST

Will Be At The Exchange Hotel, Clanton, All Day

Monday, August 31

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO

DALLAS COMPRESS CO.

Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).

Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.

Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop.

Dallas Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose

For Sale at

The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

"Hey Folks! I'm In Hot Water"

BUT you can bet the young lady is enjoying it! She's very young but she knows this business of bathing is one thing she likes to do. Plenty of hot baths are naturally good for babies—and equally beneficial for children and grown-ups—because they do a much bigger job than just cleaning. They renew energy and enthusiasm; increase alertness and efficiency; soothe frayed nerves and tired muscles. Why not enjoy an abundant supply of hot water in your home for frequent and refreshing plunges? An Automatic Electric Water Heater will provide a constant supply—all you need do is simply turn a faucet!

The proper kind of electric service is necessary for the development of a modern city and the comfort of every home. We are proud of the fact that we have the privilege of furnishing this necessity to this community in an efficient and dependable way.

$20 Trade-In for Your Old Water Heater

On a New Electric Heater

Terms: $5.00 Down and 30 months to pay the balance.

ALABAMA POWER CO.

U. S. FARM VALUES DROP $18,400,000 IN TEN YEARS

Results of the 1930 farm census shows that the value of farms in the United States has dropped $18,400,000 in ten years. The average value of land and buildings of American farms slumped from $10,284 per farm in 1920 to $7,614 in 1930, and from $69.30 an acre in 1920 to $48 an acre last year. A statement issued by the director of the census shows that the value of farm lands and buildings has declined from $66,316,002,602 in 1920 to $47,879,838,358 in 1930.

ALA. MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

Merchants attending the fifteenth annual Alabama Merchants Association Convention in Birmingham September 3 and 4 are urged to bring along their merchandising problems. They will be given an opportunity of consulting A. J. Luther of Chicago, outstanding authority of present day retailing.

A "model store" will be set up in the Municipal Auditorium, which will be headquarters for the convention, and Director Luther will be present to give personal advice to delegates on any of the following subjects: Arrangements and display, stock analysis and control, accounting systems, budget controls, credit controls, sales promotion and advertising and employee training. He will give public lectures on one of these subjects at 10 o'clock each morning of the convention.

The Luther company has modernized more than 2,000 dry goods, drug, stationary, hardware, grocery, electrical and house furnishing stores in 27 different states from coast to coast and has worked with the United States Department of Commerce in aiding merchants throughout the country in improving their establishments. More than a million magazine articles went out from this company to trade magazines during the past year.

Arrangements have been made with the Birmingham City Commission, through its president, J. M. Jones, Jr., to extend the courtesy of the Muncipal Golf Courses and swimming pools to visiting merchants while they are in the city. They will be given free use of both the greens and pools during the entire convention.

Approximately 5,000 merchants are expected to attend the two days' session and participate in the many events of entertainment and helpful interest that have been planned by the committee in charge. Delegates will be registered at the Municipal Auditorium Thursday morning. Here they will be presented with coupon books. During the afternoon they will be the guests of the wholesale merchants and manufacturers of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce at a ball game at Rickwood Park, with the Birmingham Barons playing the New Orleans Pelicans.

The merchants ball and dance pageant at Cascade Plunge will feature the first night's entertainment. Pupils from the dancing class of Maybelle Sawyer will present a number of artistic features including an oriental novelty, moonbeam dance, acrobatic dances and the merchants stunt. Several novelties will be presented by the pupils of Prof. W. W. Abell, swimming instructor, followed by the merchants ball, led by the convention queen and U. G. White, of Athens, Ala., president of the Alabama Merchants Association.

There will be a wrestling match at the Municipal Auditorium on the second night of the program and Prof. Emory Hawk, economist of Birmingham-Southern College will speak. A prize of $200 will be given away as an attendance prize to some visiting merchant.

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Ala., as Second Class Mail Matter, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

The woman pays, whenever she collects the alimony to do it with.—Columbus, Ohio, State Journal.

Bernard Shaw's views on Soviet Russia are about what you might expect from a man who wears short pants and long whiskers.

Teas production seems to have broken the market in wheat, cotton and oil. Maybe that annexation business was a mistake after all.

There is a man out in our neighborhood so dumb that he thinks the Prussian Diet has something to do with carrots and spinach.

Now they are having rebellion in Cuba, and, judging from moving pictures we have seen of life in Havana, this trouble can't be blamed on the Volstead Act.

Alfalfa Bill Murray, governor of Oklahoma, may not know what he is doing but anyhow the newspaper reporters around the state house don't have to worry about getting plenty of readable copy.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

Word from official quarters at Washington is to the effect that the national administration, through relief agencies set up by President Hoover, will, within one month, have an accurate line on the unmployment situation and will have the machinery ready to prevent undue suffering through unemployment during the coming winter. The administration is proceeding on the theory that it will have to be ready to meet conditions in which there is no improvement. This is a wise procedure. Precautions should be taken to meet the worst situation that can reasonably be expected to develop. And of the picture brightens this fall, all the better.

Newspapers over the country are already beginning to talk about "the shadow of the dole," which has been cast upon the country. It is now expected that all sorts of bills, providing for the dole in various disguised forms, will be brought forward at the next session of Congress, in an effort to shift the responsibility of caring for the unfortunate, from the local communists to the federal government. It is this dole danger which the national administration is determined to check if it is at all possible.

And surely there is abundant precedent for making this determination. The experiences of Germany and Great Britain with the dole ought to be enough proof for anyone, as to what might happen if the institution were fastened on the United States. The financial and economic situation in Germany needs no explication. Everyone who has read the newspapers during the past few months is familiar with it. And the situation in Great Britain is none too satisfactory. According to latest advices from London there is a deficit in the British burget of $600,000,000. Desperate efforts are to be made to balance the budget and it is significant that the one means counted on to do this is a reduction of the dole. Just whether this can be reduced now, after so many years, without serious trouble, remains to be seen. Certain it is that the dole system has been a bitter experience for both Germany and Great Britain.

Just what might happen in the United States, if the federal dole were ever fastened upon us may be gathered from the recent experiences of the city of Detroit with its dole. There have been charges of graft, misuse of funds, the paying of the dole to those not legally entitled to it, including some who did not live in Detroit, and certainly the finances of the city have been disrupted by its experiences with the municipal dole. Putting such a system into effect on a national scale would increase the opportunities for graft, political wire pulling and so on.

It is not to be expected, of course, that those favoring the dole system in the United States, will start with proposals for an out and out dole. They are far too clever for that, and will first of course propose innocent looking measures involving the federal treasury in the unemployment situation. But the trouble is that once the door of the federal treasury is open, there will be no way of closing it, in the land of political opportunities. In Great Britain and Germany the dole system started harmlessly enough with various kinds of government unemployment insurance. But year by year the demands on the federal treasury continued until now both countries have the out and out dole and although facing dire economic troubles, have no way of lessening the dole burden.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger recently emphasized the danger in the United States, in commenting on a statement by Senator Herbert of Rhode Island:

"Senator Herbert of Rhode Island, who has been studying the subject of unemployment insurance abroad, preparatory to hearings before a special Senate committee, sees the fearsome shadow of the dole should the system be imported to this country. That is of course, the danger, as England's experience has shown. There was no thought of the dole when unemployment insurance, with contributions from employers, employes and the government, was instituted. In England Mr. Herbert found that in addition to other evils, the system had become permeated with politics, so much so that persons with a 'pull' receive special privileges. This is a point which hitherto has not been emphasized."

The way to avoid the danger is not to take the first step toward the dole system.

MORE STEAM

League advocates are putting on more steam in their efforts to force the United States into the League of Nations and the World Court while there is such. Fear exists in these ranks that the United States might save the day for the League and that further delay in our joining will give more force to the growing feeling against the body in Europe. China is sore at the League because it would not act when Russia marched troops into her territory and seized her railroads in Manchuria. Germany is divided on whether or not she will continue as a member, and there is a growing feeling against the League in Italy, France and especially England. Some of the most forceful newspapers in England and Germany are carrying on a consistent campaign for withdrawal and advise Americans to stay out of the mess. Russia has never joined but the League is said to have made overtures to her to join and are hopeful that they can rally sufficient support in both the United States and Russia to rope them in together. Eight of the South American countries have never joined and show no great interest in taking on any of the alien nations' troubles, having plenty to do to stay out of messes in their own country. In face of all that America has done for Europe, we are called shylocks and even worse, yet they want to get us in and hogtie us so that we will have to bend no more demands.

A Cleveland aeronaut flew his plane into a cloud and found it so full of tempestuous wind that it threw him about like a chip. Must have thought he had flown into the U. S. Senate Chamber.

Wouldn't it have been terrible if G. B. Shaw had visited the big tractor plant at Stalingrad, while sojourning in Soviet Russia, and had gotten his whiskers tangled in the machinery? And what a moving picture propaganda film that would have made!

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

It would appear from the recent ruling of the Supreme Court, that the senate bloc was successful after all. The apparent breaking down of the bloc at the last minute and the passing of the Governor's pet revenue bill has all come to naught. The Sweeper feels that the Supreme Court has done a great deed in handing down its opinion that the revenue bill with its income tax rider is unconstitutional. We believe, however, that some revision of taxation should be made, and that taxation based on income is the most fair method that could be instituted. But in this connection, we do not believe that there should be any exemptions from the payment of taxes. If such a system could be worked out that would put the tax burden equally on every citizen and wage earner alike—a system that would operate to collect taxes even as low as five cents on up, then we believe we would have solved the much harrassed question of taxes.

Although we fully concur with the Supreme judges in their opinion on the revenue bill, we are not in favor of the 1-cent hist in gasoline prices caused by the Tunstall gas tax bill. The recent legislation could have endeared themselves in the hearts of most every person in the State of Alabama if they would have passed some law which would have relieved the auto owner of a portion of the unjust and unbalanced burden which he has to bear to the manifold taxes he is farced to pay. The car owner is taxed three ways on his automobile. Before he can buy his privilege license he must pay the state ad valorem tax, and in this instance he is not allowed the right to say what his car is worth as a basis on which to compute this tax; then he pays over from $11.75 up according to the horsepower of his engine, for his license plate which is made at Kilby Prison by state convicts at a cost of about 25 cents or possibly less. After all this has been paid he is then ready to go out for a ride if he has money enough left to pay the state tax of 5 cents on the gallon of gas he buys.

If one will only place himself along the main highways and observe the number of machines which are constanly plying these arteries, it will not be a hard matter to imagine to what large sums of money even this five-cent per gallon tax will amount to in a years time. The original tax of four cents is divided equally between the 67 counties of the state, that is two cents of it is—the state department gets two cents and the additional makes a total of three cents the state gets. If the state highway department would take a lesson or two from the manner in which Chilton County expends her share of the two cents which is divided among the counties, we are confident that the entire state's highway business could be run on the returns of the three cents which it gets.

Let's abolish the ad valorem tax on autos, cut the tag price to say one dollar on every car regardless of size or engine power (this would cover cost of manufacture, and some to spare) and continue to collect the five-cent gas tax. Such a policy would make the man who used the highways pay the majority of the upkeep thereof, and the poor devil out in the country who uses only his flivver for an occassional trip to town and to go to church on Sunday would not be burdened with the same property tax and tag fee as the man who drives his car daily, and makes more miles in one day than the average farmer makes in a month or more. Put the road burden on the fellow wso uses the road. He is the man who should keep them up, not the fellow who stays at home and keeps his car under the shed.

If Mr. Miller hopes to get any kind of revenue legislation passed during his administration that will tend to get the state out of its financial delimma, if it really be in such a state, he will be forced to call an extra session of the legislature. In the instance he does, he will find the senate bloc just as strong in opposition to any such far fetched schemes as he proposed in the past session. Mr. Miller should have learned his lesson and cease to try the iron hand method of rule and try to get a little advice and information about how to be governor—he is not on the bench now with absolute authority. The Sweeper hopes to see some constructive legislation passed if an extra session is called. The lawmakers should really get down to business and the Governor should help them work out a taxation plan that would be mutually agreeable. Let them all practice the plan of "give and take" and we would possibly get results. Remember the past session of the legislature cost about $390,000.00 and accomplished nothing. The state does not need a repetition of that. So far as constructive legislation is concerned, Mr. Miller's administration has been a failure.—The Sweeper.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

As We Might Be—It was 7:00 o'clock in the morning, so I turned over to finish my snooze. I arose some time later, called out my 8-cylinder limousine (with chauffeur) and proceeded to the golf links, where I went over a par 73 course in 70 flat. Leaving the course, a car in rear wanted to pass me; I did not like the idea, so I told the driver to "step on it." That pesky car finally passed—the driver only wanted to pay a bill he owed me. Next thing, we met a big bus, which pulled 'way over to the edge of the pavement to keep from crowding us. About this time the big car began to sway delightfully, and I heard sweet ringing bells in the distance. And that swaying and ringing turned out to be real; the madam shaking me, and the clock striking 8:00. Ho! Hum! Oh, well, such is life; sombody is always taking the joy out of it. But that was a nice little dream while it lasted.

What Will We Do?—People must get a great kick out of being able to gripe about the hard times, judging from the way they kep on talking about it. Every now and then I hear some fellow chirp in with: "Well, what are we all going to do about it?" If history repeats itself (and I have heard that it does) we will all find some way to squeeze through, and will eventually get something good out of the tight period, even though it be only an object lesson in economics. In the past there have been lots of times harder than these, if we can believe what our older people tell us, and the nation has weathered them all and managed to scramble back to normalcy. Surely we have not lost ALL the fighting blood that has made the United States of America the richest and strongest nation on the globe in the shortest time. No! We will tighten our belt (so to speak) and whip our bad situation to a frazzle.

Our Fast Age—No, this isn't going to be a tirade against reckless drivers, although such might not be amiss. I want to try to tell you how well off you are, and don't know it. Just imagine how General George Washington would have appreciated an automobile in which to dash back and forth, looking after his several armies; how he would have appreciated a telephone system by which he could have given his field orders; how glad it would have made him to be able to jump in a plane and soar over his adversary's head and figure his strength; how he would have appreciated motor transportation in which to carry his army from place to place in a hurry; how he would have rejoiced to sit in his tent and listen to reports of victories on the sea, by radio. And after it was all over but the shouting, how the Americans would have enjoyed listening to the exercises as General George was made first president. They WOULD have enjoyed all that, and would have deemed it priceless, and yet you enjoy all these things daily and think nothing of them—you wouldn't know how to get along without them. And, too, these are only a few luxuries (though common). Think of trying to read by a tallow candle instead of your electric light; reading a month-old paper instead of your morning issue, so fresh the ink is scarcely dry. But why enumerate an array of such things—there are too many of them. We're just rich and don't know it.

"Peace On Earth"—The northern border of the United States, some 3,500 miles long, separating us from Canada, is unguarded. There is no need of standing guard over it. Lots of people in foreign countries can't seem to understand how we manage to get along so well with the Canadians—those foreign people let their boundary lines cost them a big war ever so often. They'll learn—give them time. When our forefathers framed our governmental system they did so on a basis of peace instead of war, of confidence rather than suspicion. Statesmen and others in "the old country" watched the experiment closely and doubted its chance of working. But has it? That 3,500-mile unguarded boundary line is our ever-present evidence that ours is the soundest system of government ever conceived. "Peace on earth—good will to all men."

Installments—I don't know who is guilty, but whoever thought up the installment plan of payments couldn't have foreseen the proportions to which his idea would attain. In a way, some say, it is a curse, in that people will buy articles above their incomes. But one fact remains—its use has grown in popularity to such proportion that one could hardly name an article, which, when it is advertised, the advertisement does not contain an "easy terms" clause. Anything can be sold—"on terms."

Back To The Farm—The term, "back to the farm," is generally taken as meaning moving from the city to the farm to live. But a funny fellow got off a pretty good one about this the other day. He drew a picture of all the "city kin-folks" rushing in on the old farmer, pumping his hand, and, oh, so glad to see him and all that. You know the kind of bunk they pitch out to us—well, they were spreading it on thick. And right under the picture was "The New Back-To-The-Farm Movement." I saw lots of folks opening their papers, noting the cartoon, and smiling. They know how it is—it happens every summer about watermelon time.

Reckless Drivers—Lend me your ears! Here's news! A bright young fellow has an idea how to get rid of reckless drivers. He says that ever since the grade crossings were ruled out, drivers have become more and more reckless—he now says we should change the route of a highway or two in every locality so that they would cross a railroad, but say nothing about it, and not put up any signs of warning. His idea is that it wouldn't be long before all the reckless drivers will have killed themselves, leaving the careful ones to enjoy the good roads without having to dodge the reckless lads and lassies.

Ford Orders—Read about some Ford orders this morning. No, these were not orders FOR Fords, but orders FROM Ford—Henry, himself—that any married man who expected to keep a job in 1932 with the Ford company must plant and cultivate a garden, and raise at least a part of their eats. Guess "Uncle Henry" got tired of taking orders and decided to give a few.—Man in the Moon.

Gilbert K. Chesterton has written a diatribe since his return to England on the ugliness of American towns. The American towns visited by Mr. Chesterton are still reflecting upon the ugliness of Gilbert K. Chesterton, so honors are even.

Defending the Child—The campaign against child labor is a fight which calls for relentless anger and tireless devotion.

WHEN WHITE PEOPLE AND NEGROES WERE MEMBERS OF THE SAME CHURCHES

The Alabama Association was at one time by all odds, the most influential association in Alabama. When it was originally organized it covered nearly all of the southern part of the State. Even as late as 1847 it contained in its membership all of the churches in Dallas, Lowndes, Montgomery and Butler counties.

Not many people now living know that there was a time when Negro Baptists and white Baptists belonged to the same churches. But there was. A tabular statement of the churches in the Alabama Association in 1847 show that there was a total membership of 3,573. Of this number 1,790 were colored people. The First Baptist Church of Montgomery was the largest church in the Association in 1847, and among its members it reported 411 with only 96 of these whites. The next church in size at that time was Antioch at Mount Meigs in Montgomery County. This church has 297 members and only 26 of these were white people.

Here is another thing that not many people know: At the close of the Civil War the white Baptists urged their colored friends to build their own churches and to conduct their worship in accord with their own peculiar genius. The white Baptists never in any way whatever exercised the least authority over the colored churches. The white Baptists encouraged the colored and helped them build their churches, and from those days to the present, the white people have been making contributions to certain schools for the training of colored ministers and have also been sending missionaries among the colored people. But the colored people have managed their own religious affairs independent of the Whites.

It was this liberty of the colored Baptists, the responsibility thrown upon them by their white friends of calling their own pastors and supporting their own churches together with what help the white people could give that caused the colored churches to grow and develop as no other religious people have done. The result is that the Baptist doctrine and policy have such a hold upon colored Baptists in the South that no other denomination will be able to make a great headway among them.—Alabama Baptist.

SEVENTY BILLIONS

According to the United States Census Bureau the value of manufactured products originating in the United States in 1929 was in round numbers seventy billion dollars. The sum is one which almost staggers the imagination, and the figure was arrived at from the selling value of the products of the factory.

In this time of depression, when the pessimists tell us that everything is going to the dogs and we will never see the sunlight of prosperity again, there is food for thought in these figures. Surely the nation which could produce so great an amount of manufactured goods only two years ago is not headed for the dogs. The same raw materials, the same plants, and the same market, is here that was present in 1929.

Recovery is bound to come in due course of time, and when it does come, the chastening experiences of the past year or so will have taught us how better to guard our prosperity and what to do with our money.

While complaints are being made against the present tariff as excessively high, sugar pulp feed from Germany is being sold in Florida at from $5 to $7 per ton cheaper than it can be bought for in any American sugar beet center, while bran from the Argentine is being sold to dairymen at from $2 to $4 less than the American price. At the same time, milk, youltry and eggs are being sold at Tapa at o much higher price than the same products bring in the Middle West. Heavy importations of corn from the Argentine and Africa to both Gulf ports and the Atlantic seaboard have served to reducethe price of American corn. It would seem that American farmers are not overprotected, and that the demand that their market be still further curtailed by an even lower tariff is not justified.

Mr. J. Hardaman-Julius, the socialist who became a plutocrat by marrying a Kansas banker's daughter, announces himself for the nited States Senate and speaks enthusiastically of himself weekly in a paper he is publishing, and is forming Haldeman-Julius for Senator Clubs. One of the things everybody likes about socialist politicians is their extreme modesty.

Now, if there were some way to mix wheat, oil and cotton together and make a good paving material out of the mess, maybe the farmers and other producers would have some chance of getting rid of their surplus.

Word from Moscow is that the soviet government plans to treble the Russian meat supply in the next year or two. This doesn't mean, however, that the communist brethren will have any more meat to eat.

GOB HUMOR

Rookie—Hey, I just found a bug in my zoop.

Messcook—Pipe down, every one else around here will want one.—Training Station News.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of August 23, 1906

The first bale of the new season's cotton was brought to Clanton last Saturday by Mr. J. M. Murac of Southwest Chilton. It was bought by J. C. Jones at 10 1-10 cents a pound.

The Clanton High School will open Monday, September 3rd. The faculty will be: L. J. Thompson, J. W. Moore, Mrs. Leila Mullins, and Miss Ola Jones.

Valporaiso, Chile, South America, was visited by an earthquake last week and 3,000 people killed. The property damage was estimated at $100,000,000.

Mr. Hyman of Troy is visiting his son, Dr. E. G. Hyman.

Clanton and Maylene played ball here Saturday. The scores were 8 to 5 and 5 to 4, Clanton winning the first game and Maylene the second.

Married this week: Ed Pool and Miss Gertrude Abbott, T. E. McNeal and Miss L. M. Coolley.

Jerome O. Williams has just closed a writing school in Precinct 32. Marion Foshee won the prize, a $2.00 writing pen, for the best work. Close contenders were D. D. Easterling, Martha J. Mims and J. T. Sims.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Few Will See This Picture

The Montgomery Journal very appropriately observes that "the new million dollar bills which Uncle Sam is printing will contain a pictureof William H. Crawford, of Georgia, and thus a famous Georgian goes into obscurity."

The Remedy for Cotton

Many plans have been suggested for straightening the farmers of the South out in their present cotton dilemma. I suppose there is more than one way in which this tremendously big perplexing problem could be solved. But the biggest part of the thing is finding some way in which to get the farmers to be willing to carry their end of the stick. And this is no reflection on the farmer. The man who grows the cotton is the one most vitally concerned and most acutely affected. His interest is the greatest, and it is well that he know where he steps. So many farces have been offered the cotton farmer it is no wonder he is wary of schemes.

Frank Nelson Has A Plan

Frank Nelson, a farmer of Thorsby, makes a suggestion that we are glad to print. He says many have suggested how to dispose of the cotton crop and nobody seems to have hit the point yet. I would suggest that every farmer with over eight bales of cotton take every third bale and store it for two years, unless cotton will be sold for 15 cents or more, and also guarantee not to plant over five acres to the plow next year. If anyone should violate this rule he could be handled like the tobacco growers in Kentucky a few years ago.

Banks Ready To Help

Indications are that the banks of the South stand ready to extend every financial aid possible to the farmer. That is reasonable because the financial structure of the South rests largely upon cotton. If cotton can be stabilized, it therefore stands to reason that our general financial basis would be made more wholesome. The banks are sincere in their attitude. It is a mistake and a wrong attitude for the farmer to assume that the sympathy of the banks is not genuine and of good purpose.

An Example From Atlanta

The First National Bank of Atlanta, with its various banking connections, has offered to extend loans of several million dollars to cotton growers. The plan is to loan 80 per cent of the present market price of cotton to the farmer. This plan does not offer any suggestion as to future acreage and production. The importance of that feature of the situation is recognized, however, and the bank indicates that other agencies will properly deal with the matter of reducing the production of cotton.

We Must Skip A Crop

I have a plan which I think will solve the problem. Regardless of everything else, I believe the only way out for the cotton farmer is to simply skip a crop or two of cotton completely. The surplus which has been piled up is enormous. As long as it stands in the way with more cotton being produced, the price will be down. If the farmer will avail himself of the help of the banks in holding the present crop off the market, skip a crop completely next year, by next fall he can sell the present crop for more than he can get for a crop this year and next year together.

Help Care For Pheasants

Dr. P. T. Hinkle reports that the crop of pheasants on his place is getting along fine. He sincerely hopes that everybody in the neighborhood will join in with him in helping to keep them. In other words, hunters are urged to refrain from shooting the birds. Dr. Hinkle says the progress that has been made this year assures him that we can stock this county with pheasants if the hunters will give them a chance.

The Biggest Watermelon

I think I saw the champion watermelon of this county the other day. It was at Evan Parrish's seed store. A sign painted on it informed me that it was grown by M. W. Mims, and weighed 71 pounds.

Will Keep The Old Well

Mr. Gilbert, the man in charge of the jail contract, has figured out a scheme to keep the old jail well so that it can continue to slake the thirst of man and beast. He has cleaned it out and bricked up the walls to the top. A concrete slab will be placed over it, and a public pump installed just outside the new jail fence, which passes right over the top of the well. When the well was cleaned out Monday, they got out of it six well buckets, a ton of brick, and a car load of mud.

Extra Fine Millet

Uncle Bob Holley came to town Tuesday morning with some new sorghum syrup of very fine quality. He had with him two stalks of the kind of cane his syrup was made out of. No wonder it was fine, if fine millet makes fine syrup. The two stalks he had were just exactly as high as the front of The Union-Banner office building. It is not a skyscraper, however.

A Crisis With The Schools

The schools of Chilton County, as well as those all over the State are in a very serious predicament. It is now time for the new sessions to begin, and the school administration officials do not know whether they can depend upon getting any money from the State or not. The result will be, most likely, that the sessions will begin with only half year term in view. If the State funds are not released by the expiration of the half term, the schools will have to shut down.

Statement of Town's Business

The statement of the business affairs of Clanton, as published in the papers last week, was received with hearty applause by everybody. We are glad that our town officials are willing for the folks to know about their financial operations. And still more are we glad that the records show that our town business has been managed in a way that denotes good, wholesome progress toward better financial conditions. While it is true that our town is still heavily in debt, at the same time the business policies of the present administration enable the affairs to be transacted on a cash basis. Also considerable progress has been made in paying off old debts.

City of Health—Budapest contains more mineral springs and health baths than any other city in the world.

David and Goliath—To be a hero one doesn't have to be a hammer thrower.

Pilot Club To Can Food For This Winter Needy

Next Friday Set As Day For Canning At Baptist Church Here

Following a very timely and worthwhile suggestion, the Pilot Club of Clanton, composed of business and professional women, will can food for use in taking care of needy families in the county during the coming winter months, according to an announcement made this week.

The Pilot Club is to be highly commended for this action and much interest is being shown in the work.

Ask Farmers' Aid

Next Friday, August 28, is the day set when the members of the club will be at the Baptist Church in Clanton to do this canning. Farmers of the county who have a surplus of food products, suitable for canning purposes, are asked to donate as much as they can to this work. The Pilot Club asks that the farmers send or bring their products to the Baptist Church this afternoon (Thursday) or early Friday morning. Products such as peaches, beans of all kinds, tomatoes, and anything that will do to can will be used by the club and is expected to be donated.

The people of Clanton are expected to donate cans, glasses and jars for the canning of these products, and a canvass of the town is expected to be made, however, if anyone has any surplus cans, or jars, they are asked to bring them to the church either this afternoon or early tomorrow morning. The Kiwanis Club is expected to be responsible for the furnishing of necessary cans, also, it was stated.

It is hoped that through the work of the Pilot Club of Clanton along this line, that a sufficient supply of canned food products will be put up to supply any families in the county with aid, in food for the winter, and it is expected that much help will be needed.

Farmers of the county who are able to donate any surplus products they have will be playing a greater part in this work and their assistance is greatly needed at this time. They are urged to give whatever they can to aid in this worthy action on the part of the Pilot Club.

UNITED SINGING SOCIETY

The United Singing Society will meet with Mineral Springs on next Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. We invite all singers and lovers of music to be with us at Mineral Springs.

We will have the new Morris-Henson books down there, and we want to really try them out.—A. H. Glasscock.

EAST VIEW NEWS

Mr. Jim Rushing, age 44, died Monday about 8:30 a. m. He had not been sick, he attended church here Sunday night. He was pruning his watermelons when he was taken. When he got to the house he told his wife that he was afraid that he would not live to see her again, and died in a few minutes. At the time of this writing it is expected that burial will not take place until some time Wednesday, as his mother-in-law was in Detroit at the time of his death, and then want to keep him out until she arrives.

Mr. Rushing joined the church here the second Sunday in June, and has been a faithful member ever since. He leaves to mourn his loss, a loving wife, an aged father, and step-mother, 100 children, 3 sisters, and a host of relatives and friends.

The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Parker, and Miss Catherine Strength and Miss Gulma Traywick motored to Pleasant Hill Sunday, where Rev. A. C. Nelson delivered a sermon at 11 a. m. He also preached at another point at 3:00 p. m., and preached here at 8:00.

Mrs. Sallie Strength spent the week end in Birmingham visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ora Morrison. She was there when she received the shocking news of the death of her brother, Mr. Jim Rushing.

Mr. J. A. Dobbs and family visited Mr. Dobbs's sister, Mrs. Nellie Driver, Sunday.

Miss Jessie Belle Speer, who has been at work in Montgomery, is spending this week at home with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Culpepper spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Henson.

Willard Batteries
NOW $6.95 (13 PLATE) and up
We will allow you One Dollar for your old battery.
Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging all Makes of Batteries.
Bates Auto Shop
Clanton :-: Alabama

IN MEMORY OF MRS. T. W. WILSON

Mrs. T. W. Wilson passed from this life on August 16, 1931, at the age of 73 years. She was well beloved by all who knew her. Surviving her are five children, 30 grandchildren, and 13 great grandchildren. She was the mother of 14 children.

Her spirit took its flight from this world about 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning, August 16. She had been sick about two years and nine months, during which time she had not been able to leave her home. Everything was done that could be done for her by members of her family and neighbors in the community.

The family extends thanks to everybody in the community, especially Mrs. Lansford and the family of Mr. Rufus Downs; also thanks the doctors, Johnson, Wood, Marcus, and Eiland, for the kind attention given to her during her illness.

She was a faithful member of Maple Springs Baptist Church, where she had been a member ever since the church was established. Her remains were laid to rest in the church yard cemetery at Maple Springs. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Kelley and Rev. Deason about 10:30 August 17th.

Mrs. Wilson was born and reared in Chilton County. She was married to T. W. Wilson at the age of 20 years.

SINGING SCHOOL

Mr. W. M. Devaughn closed an eighteen-day singing school at Poplar Springs last Saturday. The school was a splendid success. Mr. Devaughn says it was the best he hed ever taught. Everyone worked hard, and seemed to enjoy the school.

We met Saturday morning and sung a few songs. Bro. Lowery preached a wonderful sermon at 11 o'clock. At noon we spread a picnic lunch under the trees near the spring. The boys furnished lemonade, for which we were grateful.

The afternoon was spent in singing. We appreciate the visitors from other communities, who helped make the school a success. We had pupils from Concord, Deatsville, Coopers, Verbena, and Maple Springs. We hope they will visit us again.

We think Mr. Devaughn is a good Christian man, and a fine music teacher. We hope he can teach for us again next year.—A Pupil.

Mr. Arthur Neeley of Bessemer is visiting relatives in Chilton County this week.

VISITORS HERE FROM MISS.

During the past week Mr. L. H. Bean, of Ratliff, Miss., and Mr. Tracy Bean, of Dorsey, Miss., were visitors to relatives in Chilton County. They were brought to The Union-Banner office by Dudley Collins.

The two visitors are brothers. They are sons of Wiley Bean, who left this county 58 years ago and settled in Mississippi.

Shorty Miner, of Montgomery, was a visitor to Clanton Sunday.

BUILD UP HEALTH AND PAINS GO AWAY

WOMEN who find themselves in a painful condition due to a run-down state of health should give Cardui a fair trial, for a reasonable length of time, as did Mrs. E. G. Hodnett, 1101 Hazel St., Texarkana, Texas, who writes: "I was anxious to build myself up so I could enjoy and take interest in my home. I had suffered with soreness and a constant pain in my side. My mother told me she thought I should try Cardui. Soon after I began taking it I noticed an improvement, so I kept on until I had taken three bottles. By this time I was feeling so much better, the pain and soreness were gone."
Sold at drug stores. FN-13

» CARDUI
HELPS WOMEN

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Light delivery truck; first class condition; real good truck for $75

One 1925 Model FORD Touring—A bargain for $10

BATES AUTO SHOP
Clanton - - - Alabama

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive left for Blakeley, Georgia early Wednesday morning. They expect to return in about ten days.

Mrs. H. M. Gerald entertained at dinner Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Howard, Lloyd and Ella Howard and Mrs. Anna Phalen.

Miss Lois Thompson gave a farewell party Saturday to Miss Jean Swanson.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Mixon of Montgomery were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mixon.

The writer recently had an interview with Walter Petersen, a former Thorsby boy, now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Petersen, well known residents of Thorsby. Since his last visit here Walter has accumulated something of great importance to himself and another person whom he proudly introduces as his wife, and from our brief visit with them we were quite ready to offer him our hearty congratulations. She seems qualified to help him in development of the best of which he is capable, and that is the kind of woman that makes an excellent wife.

As for Walter himself, he is ambitions enough to take two more years in college where he is preparing himself for a position as a mechanical engineer in a place that is waiting for him, while his wife continues in her position as kindergarten teacher in a Detroit school.

The Nortons had as overnight guests Sunday Mr. Leonard Payne, eldest son of Mrs. W. C. Payne, a sister of Mrs. Norton, well konwn in Thorsby. Mr. Payne was accompanied by his wife and fifteen year old daughter, Helen, whom they are taking from their home at Fairhope, Ala., to place in a high school near Chicago; meanwhile making her home with kinfolks in whom they have confidence. Mr. Payne occupies an important position as manager of a large plantation of satsuma oranges and pecan groves. He also has official connection with an organization for marketing these crops. They expect to stop here again on their way home in about two weeks.

Mr. E. F. Meade who is very ill was reported to be a little better Tuesday morning.

The Ladies Guild social will be held this week, Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Ed Piper. All members are urged to come as it is an important meeting.

The Congregational Ladies Aid social will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Goddard Thursday afternoon September 3rd.

If there are any friends of Thorsby Institute who would be willing to can apples, pears, tomatoes, and beans, still to be had, for use in the Thorsby Institute Hall, the Ladies Guild members would be glad of such help. Mrs. Butler, as treasurer, will supply jars.

People of Thorsby and vicinity will be glad to learn that D. H. Gentry, who has been very ill, is much better.

Mrs. Gentry's sister, Mrs. Barrett, from Selma is visiting her this week.

Mrs. J. W. Carroll, daughter of J. R. Parnell, visited her father and sister, Mrs. George Freeman, along with other kinfolks and friends in Thorsby last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Each had as dinner guests last Sunday Miss Lois Primm and Mr. Luther Taft.

Mrs. S. C. Wood had her mother, Mrs. Parnell, and brother, Eugene, as Sunday guests.

Mrs. Jack Sims was carried to the Baptist Hospital in Birmingham by Dr. Wood Monday night in a very critical condition.

Mr. R. R. Franklin is on the sick list.

There will be services morning and night at Congregational church Sunday, August 30th.

Dr. and Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Irene Rasberry spent last Friday in Birmingham.

Misses Tlta Each and Hazel Maddox returned Friday from Balm of Gilead Church, near Seaman, in Elmore County, where they held a very successful vacation day Bible school for 10 days.

Miss Evelyn Sudduth, of Birmingham is visiting Miss Jessie Martin.

Miss Jewell Wilson spent last week visiting relatives in Birmingham.

Miss Myradine Martin spent last week in Clanton visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. N. Laurell, instructor in metal arts at Phillips High School, will leave Monday to attend a three days teachers institute, and do some necessary work preliminary to the opening of the school September 13th.

Sumner Gerald left Tuesday morning for Mississippi for a few days visit with a friend.

Mrs. P. C. Smith of Clanton visited friends in Thorsby Sunday.

Mr. Nat Bentley, accompanied by his mother-in-law, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, left Sunday night to visit kinfolks at Palatka, Fla.

Mrs. R. R. Franklin and Mrs. Clem Higgins gave a bridge party Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Higgins, in honor of Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway.

Duncan and Hattie Francis Davenport of Birmingham are visitors of Mrs. R. S. Robinson.

Mr. Herbert Reinhardt was a week end visitor in Columbiana.

Thorsby base ball club played Minooka two games Monday at Thorsby. The first game was won by Thorsby, 5 to 4; the second game Minooka won, 12 to 8.

Kathryn Lenoir was dinner guest of Miss Mabel Johnson Sunday.

Mr. James Thomas, Clyde Campbell and Ralph Sellers were callers at the home of Miss Mabel Johnson Sunday afternoon.

Mr. John Johnson of Birmingham was a Sunday visitor in Thorsby.

Mrs. C. R. Foss, Mrs. A. E. Reagan and Kathryn Foss spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Mrs. K. R. Peterson of Fairfield spent the week end with Mrs. A. E. Reagan in Thorsby.

Miss Naemi Turnquist and Ruth Foss are spending a few days with Mrs. K. R. Peterson in Fairfield.

Mrs. Anna Phalin and son, Thomas, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., are visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vines and baby, Margaret Ann, of Ensley, visited Mr. and Mrs. Piper Sunday.

Rev. Howard Higdon preached at the Baptist Church Sunday.

Mrs. V. H. Vines of Birmingham spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. E. Cox.

Dave Broughton and Molley Smith of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Piper.

Rev. and Mrs. Jones are on vacation in Mobile and Pensacola.

Lillian Louise Fitzpatrick of Ensley spent Wednesday with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Davenport and Mrs. Lloyd Belter and baby, Eula Gene, spent Sunday in Billingsley visiting friends. Billingsley is Mrs. Davenport's and Mrs. Belter's old tome. They report a very pleasant visit.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harper and Mrs. Reinhardt and daughter, Mary Louise, spent Sunday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Jones.

Last Wednesday morning about 5:30 Mrs. S. J. Davenport, with several Y. W. A. girls and some visitors hiked to Cross Roads, carrying frying pans, cups, spoons, plates, bacon, eggs, weiners, rolls, bananas, and coffee. When they all got there they were ready to start cooking, as they all felt real hungry. After having eaten a big meal, they rested a while before starting homeward. While doing that they were engaged in taking pictures. The following enjoyed the breakfast: Mrs. S. J. Davenport, Mrs. Eugene Davenport, Kathryn Lenoir, Letha Martin, Edna Lee Wilder, Sallye Thompson, Mary Ruth Nix, Lucile Howard, Ola Mae Obarr, Edna Raybon, Mary Sue Porter, Roberta Marcus, Lennie Bell Reinhardt, Conradean Pate, and Thelma Lee Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vines and little daughter, Dave Broughton, and Miss Smith spent Sunday afternoon at the tome of Mr. and Mrs. Piper.

Mr. Victor Vines and wife of Ensley spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cox.

The Y. W. A. will meet with Helen Lowery Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock a large crowd is very much desired.

Services at the Baptist Church were very good Sunday morning and Sunday evening; Rev. Jones in charge at the morning hour and Rev. Howard Higdon in charge at the evening hour.

Rev. and Mrs. Jones and Evelyn are spending their vacation days in Mobile, Pensacola and others points.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Heflin and children of Clanton spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Burt Higgins.

Misses Lillian and Louise Fitzpatrick of Ensley spent a few days of last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harper.

Mrs. G. F. Harper and three of her nieces, Mrs. Wiggens of New Orleans, Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. McNeil of Montgomery, spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds spent the past few days visiting relatvies at Athens, Georgia, the old home of Mrs. L. H. Reynolds.

REPORT OF COUNTY SUPT.

The annual report of the County Superintendent of Education has been filed with The Union-Banner and will be published next week.

Sirup Cans
NO. 10
1-GALLON SIZE
8½c
EACH
Farmers Hardware Company
CLANTON, ALABAMA

SUIT Sale!
MENS & YOUNG MENS SUITS

We have purchased 500 tailor made Suits, made by well-known tailors. They are valued up to $35. These are the greatest clothing values ever offered in Clanton.

LOT ONE
Consists of 100 mens all-wool Suits in all sizes from 32 to 42, in light or dark colors. Priced only $5.00

LOT TWO
Consists of 200 young mens Cashmere Suits in sizes from 34 to 40. All new styles, never displayed before. Priced only $7.50

LOT THREE
Consists of 200 mens and young mens Suits, all-wool worsted, in dark or light colors, made by the country's best tailors. Sizes 34 to 46. Also some blue serges in this lot. Priced only $10

See A Few of These Suits Displayed In Our Window

THE LEADER
MANAGER, M. LANDE
Clanton, Ala.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Mrs. Beatrice McDowell remains on the sick list. We hope she will soon be well.

Sunday school is progressing nicely. We had a good crowd at church Saturday and Sunday.

Little Miss Hazel Cox from Deatsville has returned home after a three weeks stay in the community attending singing school. Miss Ennis Dupree from Cooper also attended the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Devaughn are moving from the community this week. We regret to see them leave.

Rev. W. E. Robinson will preach here next Sunday night. It will be remembered that Rev. Robinson taught school in the community several years ago.

Don't forget Sunday school at 10:00 o'clock and B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Everybody be sure and come.

SAM POWERS WON RODEO PRIZES

Sam Powers, superintendent of the Alabama Power Co. plant at Lay Dam, got away with a good share of the honors at the deep sea fishing rodeo last week.

He landed the biggest shark that was caught, for which he was awarded the prize. His shark weighed 335 pounds, and it took about two hours fighting to conquer him.

Mr. Powers also received a prize for landing the largest Bonita.

JAMES W. RUSHING DIED

James W. Rushing, age 44 years, died Monday morning at his home in the East View community. According to reports received here, it is said that Mr. Rushing was doing some work in a watermelon patch Monday morning when he began to feel ill; he went to the house, it is said, and told his wife he was going to die. He lay down on the bed and was dead in a short while, it was stated.

A doctor was called, and the cause was pronounced heart failure.

The body was buried by Martin at East View cemetery Wednesday. The deceased was a son of J. Paul Rushing, and is survived by his wife and a number of children.

Billy Smith, editor of the Chilton County News, is out again after being sick two weeks with malaria.

J. M. Glasscock, of Jemison, was in Clanton Tuesday. Mr. Glasscock operates a cotton gin at Jemison. He says he is ready to accomodate customers again this season.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, J. N. Davenport, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Elmore County, for grand larceny, on October 31, 1929, and sentenced to a term of seven years, will make application to the State Board of Pardons for pardon or parole. (Signed) J. N. Davenport.

Tune in on WBRC
Every Day at 12 to 12:15
Hear the Mystery Song by the Nehi Girls
Name the Song and Win a Case of Nehi in Your Favorite Flavor
Nehi Bottling Co.
CLANTON, ALABAMA

MOVED!

To our new place on the Highway
Back of Mullins & Moores

We invite all our friends to come and eat with us at

ESCO'S SANDWICH SHOPPE

CLANTON, ALABAMA

TO OUR
Friends and Customers

We thank you so much for your patronage at our Gin last season, and earnestly solicit your business this season.

We are able to serve you with the best equipment, and many years experience. We will treat you just like we would want to be treated.

Our Motto—Better service, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Jemison Gin Co.

By J. M. Glasscock

ADDING MACHINE PAPER

Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c

The Union-Banner

PHONE 63

JEMISON FARM NEWS

The dewberry crop on the laboratory area at the school is making a fine growth. There are two varieties, the Young and the Lucretia. The Young is a new berry in this section. If it bears well it will be a fine berry to sell on the Birmingham and other local markets. The Young dewberry is a larger berry than the Lucretia and is much better flavored. However, every report from the Young tends to prove that it is highly perishable and that it cannot be shipped long distances as to northern markets.

The Lucretia variety has been tried in this section for three or four years. Among the growers of the Lucretia are Wilbur Bean of Collins Chapel, Eddie Little, G. W. Littleton, J. D. Suttley, and C. H. Robinson, all of Jemison. This is a berry that will stand shipping. The vine growth this season is good. Most of the growers used some nitrate of soda.

Wilbur Bean of Collins Chapel and C. H. Robinson of Jemison have both been very successful in growing dewberries. They both spray or dust for anthracnose and the strawberry weevil. Their opinion is that a farmer should not enter this field unless he means to fight anthracnose and strawberry weevil. Some years neither may appear, but nevertheless the vines should always be sprayed for anthracnose, and matrials should be kept on hand to fight the weevil if it appears. These two men have never failed to make a crop of dewberries. Their yield this past season was 100 crates per acre, and the price was from two to three dollars per crate.

The market price of dewberries in the past has been good enough to justify the farmers growing them. It is a crop that requires fifteen months to get returns from and requires an acreage somewhat larger than the strawberry to ship in carlots. Those points make it more difficult than the short time seasonal crop and are points in its favor in that it cannot be as quickly or easily overdone.

No one, however, cares to take the responsibility for recommending crops for sale just now due to bad business conditions in general. Nevertheless the growers of dewberries would like to see a number of farmers grow this dewberry and try this berry in carlots. The main expense in growing dewberries is the obtaining the plants and stakes. The local growers use one stake for every two plants. The plants may be obtained from local growers at a very reasonable price. After a man has a small start he can soon grow enough plants himself to set an acre. Pine stakes 2 by 2 inches are used. Such stakes last for a long time. However, where a man hasn't that kind of timber he might use temporary stakes cut at a sawmill at a low price.

The dewberries are not fertilized nearly as heavily as strawberries. The cost of spraying is small and the labor involved in growing and harvesting the crop is not nearly as large as with strawberries.

It is not a crop to replace strawberries but a crop that may be grown in addition to strawberries.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at
Farmers Hardware Co.

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic

West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

Our superintendent opened Sunday school Sunday morning at 10:30, reading for his scripture the book of Isaiah, and he gave us a good Christian talk for Christians. We had good attendance Sunday morning, but there are some yet who do not come and we would like to have them come, and help us in carrying on our Sunday school, and the work of the Lord. We are hoping and praying that they might soon come and be with us, and let's help each other to live closer to God, and we will have a better Sunday school.

Poultry Note — Motorist—"These chickens in the road cause a lot of accidents."

Farmer—"But not as many as the chickens beside the driver."—Long Beach (Calif.) Press-Telegram.

WEST CHILTON

Cold nights in August, fires built, smoke curling over the chimney tops. A hint that winter is coming. Those cool days are harbingers of the coming fall time. Fall time, when in the good old days protracted meetings were in order. Now we hold them in the summer with vast crowds at the night services.

Mr. T. J. Hubbard returned Saturday from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Ward, at Hamburg. His daughter came up to see him several days ago and carried him home with her.

Prof. Mack Crumpton's children of Birmingham came down last week to visit their grandmother, Mrs. Lizzie Crumpton. They returned Sunday, taking Grandmother with them. She will visit her son, and also her daughter, Mrs. Tubb, at Springville.

Mrs. Belle Hubbard visited her daughter, Mrs. Pat Lowery, at Providence, near Wessington, last week, and incidentally taking in the meeting at Providence.

Rev. Dyer held a meeting last week at Union Springs Chapel. Continuing from the 17th to the 23rd. He did all the preaching. His pulpit oratory is largely on the "Sam Jones" style. There were 16 members received, as follows: by baptism, June Posey and wife, Coburn Smith, Chick Brantley, Millard Crumpton, Dave Posey, Grover and Curtis Smitherman, Lessie Posey, Coleman Smith, Gordon Crumpton, Nolia Brantley; by letter Only Crumpton and wife, L. D. and Eula Ervin. Baptismal services were held Sunday morning by Rev. Dyer.

Miss Modene Waldrop, an accomplished business young lady of Beat 2, is assisting Mr. John S. Waldrop in the mercantile business.

Mrs. Wliliam Robinson visited in South Alabama last week.

Remedies for the cotton situation galore. It seems that our wise men are at sea without a compass. Do not know what to do. The old order is dying. The new is coming in. "All hail the supernal day."

IN LOVING MEMORY

Sweet memories linger in our hearts today,
Of a little friend gone on her way;
Ruth Jones, her mission done,
A little sunbeam gone back to the Son.

Sweet to meet, but sad to part,
Seems the way of a human heart;
Yet we should try to be content,
When the Master calls and a life is spent.

One by one we all must go,
The certain time we never know;
There's a beautiful promise—how true it is,
We'll go home to Him, for we are His.

It's just a truth we all must face,
A child was called to fill her place;
Her body resting beneath the sod,
Her pure white soul gone home to God.

Dedicated to the memory of Ruth Jones by her aunt, Mrs. Filey Funderburk, Dallas, Texas.

INDIAN GRAVE NEWS

Miss Beckey Rallson and son, Mr. Dink, and family of Whitewater spent the afternoon Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus's.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Deramus visited Mrs. Nellie Wyatt Sunday.

Mrs. Claud Herrod is spending the week with her parents.

Mr. Bealy Billingsley attended a funeral Sunday at Bethsalem.

Miss Mary Lue Gaines and sister, Miss Ethel Ruth Gaines, have returned from Troy, where they have finished a teacher's course.

Miss Ruth Deramus is expected home from Birmingham this week, where she has been spending two weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Munk.

Rev. S. A. Bently will start a revival at the Baptist Church Sunday, August 29. Rev. Jones will help in the meeting.

Miss Maggie Jones and Miss Mary Lue Gaines and Miss Ethel Gaines spent the forenoon at Haynes Sunday.

Mr. John Jones visited Mr. George Wyatt Sunday.

Bro. Giddins of Clanton District delivered a sermon at Mr. Maggie Ray's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Carson Williams spent the week end at the home of his parents in Billingsley.

The Senior B. Y. P. U. gave the two Gaines girls a surprise party Saturday night.

We were proud to have so many visitors Sunday night at the B. Y. P. U. and prayer service.

We want you to come back and bring all your friends. We would like to have a hundred on our B. Y. P. U. Roll. We hope you will join us.

Don't forget Sunday's revival at Billingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Golson spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus Sunday.

Miss Lounie Mae Golson and Mr. Edward Golson are spending a few days in Prattville with their aunt, Mrs. Mitty Bush.

Everybody interested in Pine Hill cemetery please meet Thursday, September 3rd, for the purpose of cleaning off same.—Lillie Rodgers.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED

Auburn, Ala., Aug 24.—Of the 77 diplomas and degrees awarded by President Bradford Knapp at the close of the summer session at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, August 21, one of the graduate came to Auburn from Chilton County.

Dr. O. C. Carmichael, president of Alabama College, delivered a scholarly baccalaureate address at the graduation eercises. Dean Zebulon Judd again directed the summer session.

The summer graduating class brought the total number of graduates for the year to 317, since 226 and 17 degrees were awarded at the May and January exercises respectively. Total enrollment for the regular session of 1930-31 was 1,927. This compares with 1,797 the previous year, and 1,724 the year before that. The 1927-28 enrollment was 1,615. The total registration for 1930131 including the summer session is 3,111. The enrollment of young women as well as young men increased rapidly. The Chilton County graduate was Mr. Joseph Allen Hester, of Clanton.

PLEASANT HILL

Rev. A. .C. Nelson preached an interesting sermon here Sunday, using "Love" for his text. What more could we wish to hear than John 3-16: "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." We were more than glad to have Rev. Nelson and his wife with us. We welcome them back.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Parker, Misses Gulma Traywick, Katherine Strength, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins, were visitors here Sunday from East View. We invite them back again.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins, and Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Coggins took dinner with E. D. Coggins and family Sunday.

Mr. Alphus Bowles of Clanton spent Sunday and Sunday night with Mr. E. E. Deramus.

Mrs. W. E. Adams and Mrs. Winnie Lette were the guests of Mrs. E. D. Coggins Monday afternoon.

Our Christian Endeavor seems to be improving. We had many visitors, whom we invite back again. Sunday school and Christian Endeavor will meet next Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. You have a cordial invitation to meet and worship with us.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

At the conclusion of a recent contest held by the Young Peoples Sunday School Class of Mt. Pleasant it was found the Blues had won by a large majority. The Reds must entertain them. So last Friday they took them on a picnic to Log Cabin Beach. We had plenty of good eats and cold drinks. It was a jolly bunch of picnickers, so the day was inevitably a huge success.

Among those present, including invited guests, were: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Foshee, Mr. Lee Popwell, Misses Mayme Logan, Ila Massey, Gladys Melton, Frances Massey, Myrtice Logan, Marie Eiland, Gertrude Blalock, Maggie and Nellie Rollins, Ophelia Hayes, Gertrude Foshee, Gertrude Jones, Pearl Wilson, Claire Mae Kelley, Pearl Kelley; Messrs. J. C. Massey, Woodrow Price, Dick Massey, Raymond Smith, Junior Foshee, Osbourn Price, Deffin and Doffin Popwell, Harvey Melton and Burton Harris.

SINGING AT PLEASANT GROVE

There will be a singing at Pleasant Grove Church, 7 miles West of Clanton, next Sunday, August 30. Everybody invited.—Inez McKee.

Mr. and Mrs. Tam Miller have a new baby girl at their home in Clanton. She arrived last Sunday morning.

HILYER FAMILY REUNION

Mr. J. D. Hilyer requests The Union-Banner to announce that there will be a family reunion held at his home on next Sunday, August 30th. Mr. Hilyer says that this reunion is to be composed of all the Hilyer family; he also said that anyone who would come was invited. The place of meeting is the home of J. D. Hilyer, seven miles east of Jemison, on the Jemison-Lay Dam road.

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

DON'T be FOOLED by Tricky SALES TALK

DON'T be misled by challenges—guarantees—laboratory analyses—price comparisons—claims of 25% savings—made by distributors of special-brand tires.

A recent example of a grossly misleading and extravagant statement by a distributor of special-brand tires is—"Mount one of our tires on one wheel of your car and a tire of any other make on the opposite wheel. If our tire does not give you equal service at a saving up to 25% in price, we will give you a new tire free."

This statement can be made for only one purpose—a desperate effort to gain your confidence and sell you a tire before you have had time to think about the ridiculousness of their challenge, which asks you to buy one of their tires and go to another store and buy a tire—have it mounted on the opposite wheel—then turn yourself into a tire tester!

Firestone don't ask you to run test cars for them — they have twenty-nine test cars of their own, running day and night, on which they test Firestone Tires and other makes, including special-brand tires, and we have the proof of the safety, quality and extra values of Firestone Tires before you buy.

Drive in today—examine sections cut from Firestone Tires and special-brand mail-order tires—see for yourself the two extra plies under the tread which give you extra protection against punctures and blowouts—compare the construction and quality—don't be fooled by misleading advertisements. We will give you safer, more dependable tires at no greater costs.

COMPARE PRICES

MAKE OF CAR	TIRE SIZE	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Per Pair	Firestone Sentinel Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Sentinel Type Cash Price Per Pair
Ford, Chevrolet	4.40-21	$4.98	$4.98	$9.60	$4.35	$4.35	$8.50
Chevrolet	4.50-20	5.60	5.60	10.90	4.78	4.78	9.26
Ford	4.50-21	5.69	5.69	11.10	4.85	4.85	9.40
Ford, Chevrolet, Whippet	4.75-19	6.65	6.65	12.90	5.68	5.68	11.14
Erskine, Plymouth	4.75-20	6.75	6.75	13.14	5.75	5.75	11.26
Chandler, DeSoto, Dodge, Durant, Graham-Paige, Pontiac, Roosevelt, Willys-Knight	5.00-19	6.98	6.93	13.60	5.99	5.99	11.66
Essex, Nash	5.00-20	7.10	7.10	13.80	6.10	6.10	11.90
Essex, Nash, Oldsmobile	5.00-21	7.35	7.35	14.30	6.35	6.35	12.40
Buick	5.25-21	8.57	8.57	16.70	7.37	7.37	14.32

MAKE OF CAR	TIRE SIZE	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Per Pair
B'k-Mq-Oldsm.	5.25-18	$7.90	$7.90	15.30
Auburn, Jordan, Reo	5.50-18	8.75	8.75	17.00
Gardner, Marm'n, Oakland, Peerless, Stu'b'kr	5.50-19	8.90	8.90	17.30
Chrysler, Viking	6.00-18	11.20	11.20	21.70
Frank'n, Hudson, Hupm.	6.00-19	11.45	11.45	22.20
LaSalle, Pack'rd	6.00-20	11.47	11.47	22.30

MAKE OF CAR	TIRE SIZE	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Per Pair
P'ce-A.	6.00-21	11.65	11.65	22.60
Stutz	6.50-20	13.45	13.45	25.40
Cadillac, Lincoln, Pack'rd	7.00-20	15.35	15.35	29.80

TRUCK and BUS TIRES

SIZE H. D.	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	★Special Brand Mail Order Tire	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Per Pair
30x5	$17.95	$17.95	$34.90
32x6	29.75	29.75	57.90
36x6	32.95	32.95	63.70
6.00-20	15.25	15.25	29.90

Construction and Quality

4.75-19 TIRE	Firestone Oldfield Type	★A Special Brand Mail Order Tire
More Weight, pounds	18.00	17.80
More Thickness, inches	.658	.605
More Non-Skid Depth, inches	.281	.250
More Plies Under Tread	6	5
Same Width, inches	5.20	5.20
Same Price	$6.65	$6.65

4.50-21 TIRE	Firestone Sentinel Type	★A Special Brand Mail Order Tire
More Weight, pounds	17.02	16.10
More Thickness, inches	.598	.561
More Non-Skid Depth, inches	.250	.234
More Plies Under Tread	6	5
Same Width, inches	4.75	4.75
Same Price	$4.85	$4.85

★A "Special Brand" tire is made by a manufacturer for distributors such as mail order houses, oil companies and others, under a name that does not identify the tire manufacturer to the public, usually because he builds his "best quality" tires under his own name. Firestone puts his name on EVERY tire he makes.

Double Guarantee—Every tire manufactured by Firestone bears the name "FIRESTONE" and carries Firestone's unlimited guarantee and ours. You are doubly protected.

Firestone Service Dealers and Service Stores Save You Money and Serve You Better

Woco Service Station

G. M. WYATT, Mgr. CLANTON, ALABAMA

WE'LL RESTORE the NEW LOOK of that OLD SUIT

By Our Scientific Method of Hand Cleaning.

CALL 119

CLANTON LAUNDRY AND CLEANING CO.

Clanton, Ala.

666

LIQUID OR TABLETS

Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.

666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Phone One-One-One

or Write

The Clanton Sign Shop

CLANTON, ALA.

Outdoor

Painted Display Advertising

GULF Venom KILLS Flies and Mosquitoes Roaches, Ants Moths, Bed-Bugs

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

Toe Itch

Athlete's Foot and Hand Itch

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Crotch Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS

Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

Locals

Mr. Hudson Williams of Billingsley has returned to his home after spending a couple of months in the State Teachers College at Troy, Ala.

Mr. J. F. Jones of Clanton Route 5 was a visitor to The Union-Banner office last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dearing and daughter, of Birmingham, spent the past week end in Clanton. They were guests at the home of Mrs. Dearing's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson and Mr. Sheefer (Mrs. Robinson's father) of Havana, Florida, have been visiting relatives and friends in Clanton the past week.

Mrs. R. D. Woodson of Lay Dam has returned from a visit to her sister, Mrs. George Ogdin, at Sweetwater, Tennessee.

E. H. Parrish, Jr., of Birmingham was a visitor to his father, Rev. M. J. Parrish, at Providence, Sunday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Parrish.

Mr. and Mrs. George Blalock and daughter, Mrs. Allie Brown, of Birmingham, were visitors to relatives here and in the Providence community last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mims went to Birmingham Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Jean Wyatt and little daughter, Eugenia Inez, returned last Thursday afternoon from a ten days' vacation trip to Panama City, Fla.

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and children returned home last Thursday night from a few days visit to Mr. and Mrs. Kin Vinson in Sandersville, Ga. They were accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Lucien Duncan.

Little Pat Wyatt had the misfortune of getting his arm broken while he was visiting in Georgia last week.

Rucker Sims of Tuscumbia was a visitor in Clanton the past week. He is with the State Department of Health, located at Tuscumbia.

Mr. E. J. Brand, manager of the Spigener Funeral Home in Clanton, has moved his family here to live. They will occupy one of the J. Q. Wade cottages on the corner of Fifth Street and Third Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson and Mr. Perry Shelfer (Mrs. Robinson's father) returned Monday to their home at Havana, Fla., after a week's visit with relatives and friends in Clanton.

COTTON BAGGING

A considerable amount of interest has been manifested everywhere regarding the use of cotton bagging for wrapping cotton bales. Recently, in answer to a questionaire sent out to the mills of this state, a vast majority of them favor the use of cotton bagging. The president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association has done an immense amount of work in fostering the use of cotton bagging.

Of course the best way to handle this situation would be for cotton to be sold on net weight. But since that cannot be done at this time, I wish to inform you that a great many mills have agreed to the following arrangement: The mills will pay for seven pounds additional cotton at whatever price per pound cotton is bringing for every bale put up with one hundred per cent cotton wrapping instead of jute wrapping. They have offered to do this during the next cotton year or until July 31, 1932. It is figured now that the difference in the use of cotton bagging and just bagging will be the seven pounds estimated above.

Cotton bagging can be obtained from the following companies and probably from others whose names I do not have:

West Point Manufacturing Company, West Point, Ga.; George Beveridge Company, 521 Grant Building, Atlanta, Ga.; Calloway Mills, LaGrange, Ga.; Bibb Manufacturing Company, Macon, Ga.; Manville-Jenkins Company, Gastonia, North Carolina.

The price of the bagging will be somewhere in the neighborhood of thirteen cents per yard. Most of it weighs twelve ounces per lineal yard and comes in lengths of three yards each, in bundles of twenty pieces, estimated to be sufficient to wrap ten bales.

There is another company, the Riverside Mills of Augusta, Ga., which manufactures bagging known as "Chief Cotton Bagging," composed of sixty per cent cotton fiber and forty per cent jute. This weighs the same as all-jute bagging. The price of this bagging to the trade, I understand, is ten cents per yard in sixty yard rolls or ten and one-half cents in three yard trips. I am sending to each of these manufacturers a list of the gins of this state.

I am doing this as chairman of the committee in this state to foster the use of more cotton.—Bradford Knapp.

FROM EAST TALLASSEE, ALA.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your valuable paper, as it has been several years since I have written to this paper. Was just a school girl at the last writing. I am not a subscriber to this paper at present, but have the pleasure of reading it weekly just the same. I have only been home in East Tallassee two weeks from a six weeks stay in Clanton.

While there I was under the treatment of Dr. E. R. Odom five weeks of the time. When he began treating me I could not bear to be on my feet any at all; had been in bed six months. After having treated me three weeks I felt like a new woman, could go where I pleased, ride for miles in the car, and enjoy it. Had the pleasure of being with a good many of my old friends and kindred. Had not seen some of them in several years. I am now doing practically all of my house work; can read, write, and do some needle work, something I had not had the pleasure of doing in a year. I also enjoy the radio programs.—Mrs. O. W. Dennis.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

MINERAL SPRINGS

The people of Mineral Springs and Cane Creek communities are going to meet at the Mineral Springs church, Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock to sing, and organize a singing in the communities, and would like to have the cooperation of the Pleasant Hill Class, and singers of other places. Everybody come.

The revival at this place closed Friday night with baptismal services Saturday morning. There were 37 additions to the church, 27 by baptism. It was the greatest meeting that has been held at Mineral Springs. It was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Homer Carroll, and Rev. Davis Durbin.

The prayer meeting and B. Y. P. U. were fine Sunday night. We had a large number of visitors, and invite them back.

There will be preaching here Saturday night and Sunday by Rev. Trice.

COTTONSEED MEAL VALUABLE FEED

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 24.—Attention of owners of livestock is again being called by the College of Agriculture of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, to cottonseed meal as a feed. F. W. Burns, extension animal husbandman, says that cottonseed meal is very cheap, and that the price will continue low as long as prices of cotton are low.

"In addition to being cheap," he continued, "cottonseed meal is a very efficient feed for dairy cows, beef cattle, sheep, horses, mules, and hogs. It must be fed in a limited way. Farmers who have not had experience in feeding it should consult their county agent or get reliable information from another source before they begin feeding it."

For many years feeding of cottonseed meal was restricted largely to dairy and beef cattle, but recent experiments have shown that it is an excellent feed for horses, mules, and hogs. The amount fed to either horses or mules should not exceed 2 pounds per 1,000-pound animal daily, when the animal is at work. When cottonseed meal is fed to work animals 1 pound replaces 2 pounds of corn. It may be fed to hogs of all ages provided it does not exceed 9 per cent of the ration. This fact has been established by experimental work.

"By feeding cottonseed meal," continued Mr. Burns, "farmers are consuming their own product. In this way they will save money and they will also buy less feed from outside states, and at a higher price. Therefore, there are many important reasons why farmers of Alabama should make good use of cottonseed meal as a feed. Frequently they can exchange feed for meal, pound for pound, which is a wise trade for them."

A card from Mrs. L. F. Gerald at Denver, Colorado, says she and Miss Celia have been having a very enjoyable trip in the West, and expect to return home soon.

Rev. Buford Lawrence has been preaching this week in a revival meeting at Randolph.

REFUGE

Last Sunday night brought to a close one of the greatest revivals ever held at this place. Rev. J. W. Jones did the preaching. He brought some of the greatest soul stirring messages that we have ever heard.

There were 27 additions to the church; 17 for baptism. May God bless and strengthen those who came.—M. Lockhart.

DRYING FOOD SAVES BY GOOD OLD METHOD

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 24.—Drying is the oldest method of food preservation. Food prepared this way is less bulky and requires less space for storage. They are lighter in weight and can be packed in less expensive containers.

Because of the above facts, home demonstration extension workers of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, are encouraging drying along with canning and other methods of food preservation this year.

Drying fruit is done in two ways, they said. One is sunlight, and the other is indoor drying. Sunlight drying is done at almost no expense. Dryers made at home of wood are used frequently. To protect fruit against insects it should be covered with a screen or mosquito netting.

For protection against rain a good light cover should be used when needed.

Vegetables and fruits can be dried in an oven in trays or racks over the kitchen stove, or in a specially constructed dryer. The cook stove dryers or evaporators are small oven-like structures, usually made of galvanized sheet iron or of wood and galvanized iron. They are of such size that they can be placed on the top of an ordinary wood or coal range or kerosene stove.

These dryers hold a series of small trays on which fruits and vegetables are placed after being prepared for drying. There are many types of dryers on the market which are convenient, but homemade dry kilns will answer the purpose for family use.

The county home demonstration agents are conducting demonstrations in saving food products by drying, and also other methods.

WADESONIAN

PROGRAMS

Wednesday and Thursday
August 26th and 27th
Joan Crawford, In
"PAID"—All Talking

Friday and Saturday
August 28th and 29th
Buck Jones, In
"DESERT VENGEANCE"
An All-Talking Western
SERIAL—"Spell Of The Circus"—Talking

Monday and Tuesday
August 31st and September 1st
Alice White, In
"SHOW GIRL IN HOLLYWOOD"
All Talking
COMEDY—All Talking

Reguglar Admission Prices—10c; 25c; 30c

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA
Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service
Flowers for all Occasions

another big reason

millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires! We'll show you why.

Latest Improved GOODYEAR PATHFINDER $4.98

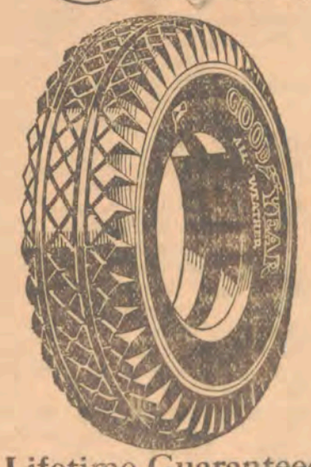
4.40-21 (29x4.40)
$9.60 per pair
All sizes equally low

Size	Each	Pair
4.50-20(29x4.50)	$5.60	$10.90
4.50-21(30x4.50)	5.69	11.10
4.75-19(28x4.75)	6.65	12.90
5.25-21(31x5.25)	8.57	16.70
30x3½ Reg. Cl.	4.39	8.54

HEAVY DUTY TRUCK TIRES

Size	Price	Size	Price
30x5	$17.95	32x6	$29.75
7.50-20(34x7.50)			29.95
6.00-20(32x6.00)			15.35

Lifetime Guaranteed



DIEF'S SERVICE STATION

Open day and night Clanton, Ala.

Handsome..... in appearance!
Perfect..... in performance!

not a cent extra!

$8.55
4.75-19
(28x4.75)

SIX IMPORTANT FEATURES

among the many that distinguish the new and improved standard Goodyear All Weather

1 It averages 24% longer tread wear.
2 Its shoulder non-skid pattern is 50% deeper.
3 Riding ribs and outer non-skid blocks have outside bracing as on truck tires.
4 Outer non-skid blocks are handsomely prismed into sidewalls.
5 Cross sections are equal to Heavy Duty measurements.
6 Styled to latest motor car design.

Most popular tire in the world!

Other Sizes not a cent extra!

Size	Price
4.50-20 (29x4.50)	$7.45
4.50-21 (30x4.50)	7.85
5.00-19 (29x5.00)	9.15
5.25-18 (28x5.25)	10.35
5.50-19 (29x5.50)	12.00
6.00-20 (32x6.00)	13.50

Lifetime Guaranteed Tubes are also priced low

DIEF'S SERVICE STATION

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT CLANTON, ALABAMA

Quality Foods at Lower Prices

A&P — ESTABLISHED 1859 — "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

Specials for Friday and Saturday

Finest Granulated
Sugar 10 lb 49c

Best Grade Sliced Rindless
Bacon lb 23c

Rajah Salad Dressing or Rajah Sandwich Spread
Pint Jar 19c

Alabama Girl
Pickles 26 oz jar 19c

Nectar Orange Pekoe
Tea 1-4 lb pkg 13c; 1-2 lb pkg 25c

Try it Iced
Elrio Coffee lb 15c
8 o'clock COFFEE lb 21c
BOKAR Coffee lb 29c

FLOUR

RAINBOW—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 45c
48-lb Bag 89c
SUNNYFIELD—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 65c
48-lb Bag $1.29

Jim Dandy or Winner Bolted
Meal 2-6 lb bags 25c

WHITEHOUSE
MILK 2 Tall Cans 14c; 4 Baby Cans 14c

LARD BEST GRADE IN BULK lb 10c

WHITE MEAT, per lb. 10c

KEROSENE OIL—5 gal. for 65c—13c gal.

STANTON NEWS

Mrs. M. A. Woolley and daughters attended the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. Alberta Edwards James, in Bibb County, Thursday.

Mrs. A. C. Maness returned to her home in Tuscaloosa Sunday after a weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds.

Mrs. Guy Webb and Guy, Jr., of Piedmont are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell.

Miss Willie Mae Cole of Plantersville visited her aunt, Mrs. Joe Cox, this week.

Paul Warren of Selma is visiting his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell.

Miss Margaret Shoults of Birmingham visited her grand mother, Mrs. W. A. Woolley, this week.

Boone Ruddick and family of Birmingham spent last week end here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Huff and daughter, Sarah, of Yalanda spent Sunday with Joe W. Huff and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellie Huff of York spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huff

Tommie DeWitt of Birmingham came down Sunday to spend a few days with relatives here.

Lum Bearden of Selma spent Sunday here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Walter Hand returned to Birmingham Sunday after a week's visit here.

Misses Virginia and Sarah Jane Woolley were shopping in Selma Saturday.

Mrs. Bailey Miller and children of Selma visited relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shurter of Vredenburg, visited H. R. Schurter and family Sunday night.

Mrs. W. H. Connell is visiting her son, Mr. Hershell Connell, at Notasulga, this week.

Mrs. John Jones and children are visiting relatives in Selma this week.

Mrs. John Huff is visiting her son Mr. Ellie Huff, at York this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gregg attended Roebuck reunion Sunday.

C. E. Cagle and family left for Sylacauga Tuesday morning on a few days visit.

Miss Susie Griffin returned home from Birmingham Tuesday after spending several days with her sister, Mrs. O'Neal Stroud. Miss Griffin reports a very nice time while in the Magic City.

DEVAUGHN CLOSES SINGING SCHOOL AT POPLAR SPRINGS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space for a few words. Last Saturday afternoon at Maple Springs came to a close one of the most successful singing schools I have had the pleasure of teaching. The enrollment was not so large, the average being around forty, bue the interest was top-notch all the time.

I wish especially to mention the work done by two young men pupils—Marion Easterling and Chester Wyatt. These two boys went to my school at Collins Chapel before I opened at Poplar Springs—in fact they have both attended my schools every summer for the past seven years, and they have done excellent work all the time. They are now amply qualified to teach schools themselves, and no community would make a mistake in procuring their services.

The above mentioned school came to a close with an all-day program of class singing and special songs. The house was filled with visitors, and everybody had a splendid time. At noon the students and visitors spread dinner together.

It seems that there have been more and better singing schools this summer than I have ever known of in Chilton County, and I am proud of the fact. It shows that our young people have something else on their minds that is higher and nobler than lots of the meanness that is prevalent over the country.—Sincerely, W. M. Devaughn.

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS AT FOURSQUARE CHURCH

Good Attendance So Far; Communion Service Sunday Morning

Revival services are in progress at the Clanton Foursquare Church. So far, attendance has been good. The preaching is in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Ernest A. Wicks, of Los Angeles.

Next Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock, Communion Service will be held. Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.

The church is located at the east end of Second Avenue, in Clanton. All evening services begin at 7:30. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

Following is the program from Thursday, August 27, to Saturday, September 5, both inclusive:

Thursday, August 27, at 7:30 p. m.—"Roll Ye Away the Stone."

Friday—"The Honey Bath."

Saturday—"Presence of the Power" (Divine healing).

Sunday A. M.—10:00 o'clock, Sunday school; 11:00, Communion Service.

Sunday p. m.—"The Open and Closed Door" (Illustrated sermon).

Monday—No preaching; prayer and praise service.

Tuesday—"Let Us Make a Little Chamber On the Wall" (Divine healing).

Wednesday—"Baptized to be an Interpreter" (Holy Ghost).

Thursday — "Identification With Christ."

Friday—"Laboring."

Saturday — "God's Prescription" (Divine healing).

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

We met Sunday morning at the usual time and had Sunday school. Our superintendent was not present, but the assistant superintendent acted in his place, and we had a very commendable lesson. We are few in number, but most all seem to be much interested.

The Junior Christian Endeavor is going to put on the program next Sunday night. They will have complete charge of the program and the Seniors will be listeners. Let's give them a good attendance and that will incourage them.

Miss Clara Dell Sims has returned home from Birmingham where she has been visiting relatives.

Mr. Charlie Williams spent a few days with his brother and other relatives near Haynes the past week.

Mrs. C. H. Herrod and children of Haynes are spending this week with relatives here.

Pastor of the Baptist Church, Bro. Carroll, and wife, dined at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Smith, Mr. W. W. Williams, of Fairview community, and Mr. and Mrs. Fonza Williams visited Mr. and Mrs. O. Y. Sims Sunday.

Mr. Porter Williams visited Mr. J. P. Williams and family Friday night.

Mrs. O. Y. Sims is on the sick list this week. We hope to see her well again soon.

Mr. Hudson Williams who has been attending school at Troy has returned home.

Mr. Charlie Williams spent Saturday night with Mr. Porter Williams.

Mrs. W. A. Williams and children returned home Sunday after a week's visit with parents in Selma.

Mr. W. W. Williams spent a few days the past week with Mrs. R. P. Williams.

Mr. Charles Moore has returned home from the University of Alabama where he has been attending summer school.

Mr. William Hester has returned from Auburn where he has been attending summer school.

Rev. J. Robert Bean Weds Mrs. Armstrong

Last Sunday was an exceptionally busy day for Rev. J. Robert Bean, pastor of Friendship Baptist Church. Bro. Bean is a very energetic sort of preacher, and is able to expedite lots of work in a short time, but last Sunday deserves special mention even for a man of his potential ability.

He came down from his home in Bessemer Saturday and filled his regular appointment that night at Friendship. Sunday morning baptismal services were attended to, he preached at 11 o'clock, got married at 3 o'clock, and filled his regular appointment again at 7:30 in the evening.

Now, of course, crowding all of these actions into one day's work would not have been noticed so much had not one of them been his getting married. Perhaps that is the reason so much significance is attached to the incidents of the day.

The home of Rev. M. J. Parrish was the scene of the ceremony, and the other contracting party was Rev. Parrish's daughter, Mrs. Annie Armstrong. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride. A number of relatives of the Parrish family from Birmingham and other places, as well as several friends of the couple from the community, gathered out in the shade of the spreading oaks and witnessed the ceremony so impressively administered by the aged father and minister. After the marriage, all those present filed by and shook hands, wishing Rev. and Mrs. Bean a long life chuck full of happiness and sunshine.

Mrs. Bean is the widow of the late W. J. Armstrong, and is the mother of three sons. J. Robert Bean is the son of Pendleton C. Bean, who died at Jemison in 1890. He now has two sisters in Chilton County—Mrs. John L. Gore of Union Grove and Mrs. Bud Webb of Jemison. He has one brother, Eugene Bean, at Bessemer. At the age of 20 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Scurlock of Bibb County, in 1889. Has three sons and one daughter, the oldest son living in Charlotte, N. C., the next in Port Arthur, Texas, the next in Bessemer, and the girl, the youngest child, living in Talladega County. Mrs. Elizabeth Bean died at Bessemer in 1928.

Rev. and Mrs. Bean will make their home in Clanton. His work as pastor in Jefferson County will be abandoned and Rev. Bean will concentrate his work in Chilton County. He is now pastor of two churches in the county—Friendship, where he preaches each fourth Sunday and Union Grove, each second Sunday.

Arthur Johnson, Jr., has returned home after having attended summer school at The University of Alabama.

WHYTE-MARTIN

Mr. Rubin Whyte and Miss Nellie Martin were married last Saturday night, August 22. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Martin of Jemison, Ala. They will make their home with Mr. Whyte, the groom's father, for the present They were both 20 years of age. We wish them a long and happy life.

Billingsley News

Mrs. E. H. Downs is in Tuscaloosa as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Boozer.

Mr. Burton King who has been attending Iowa State University is home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. King.

Mrs. J. F. Apperson was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Roper, in Clanton Friday afternoon.

Messrs. Paul Vinson, Henry Apperson, and William Pattillo returned last week from a trip to Chicago, going by way of Nashville, Hopkinsville, and Evansville, returning by way of Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Lexington, Knoxville, and Chattanooga. They report the trip a very enjoyable one.

Mrs. A. J. Marlar is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Willie Lawrence, in Eolin.

Messrs. Ervin Golson and W. C. Wilson made a business trip to Montgomery Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Harrell returned to Arabian Cap, Georgia, Monday, where Mr. Harrell will teach this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vegalla and Mr. Brasher of Chelsea were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Donohoo.

Messrs. H. A. Askins and Basel Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Apperson and son, Otto, attended the funeral of Mr. Seaborn Wilkins at Bethsalem cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paten Pattillo of Wewahitchka, Florida, were the guests of friends and relatives here the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson are spending this week in Birmingham as guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wilson.

McCORD CEMETERY

There will be a cemetery cleaning at the McCord cemetery near Concord-Billingsley, next Friday. We will be glad for those who are interested to come and help.

To Our FARMER FRIENDS

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATRONAGE IN THE PAST

As the ginning season approaches again, we invite you to continue your patronage with us this season.

We promise you the best service you can get anywhere, and also guarantee to make you the best sample possible from your cotton.

We will carry cottonseed meal and hulls to sell or exchange in any way that is practicable.

CLANTON MILL & GIN CO.

J. A. Maddox, Mgr. Clanton, Ala.

JOE CULP INTRODUES VACUUM EXHAUST TRAP FOR MOTORS

Mr. A. J. Culp, inventor, of Clanton, is making formal public announcement of his new muffling device for automobiles and gasoline engines, and in doing so, is sending out the following letter:

"A few Points of Merit to be Considered in the Culp Vacuum Exhaust Trap, as demonstrated in the following patents: No. 1,514,441, granted November 4, 1924; No. 1,666,005, granted April 10, 1928, No. 1,673,619, granted June 12, 1928, and No. 1,807,512, granted May 26, 1931.

"In manufacturing this article for the market, every effort is being made to incorporate the most valuable and practical features of the above patents into a single unit of merit, and provide an efficient muffling device, and also a protective control and power producer.

"With this device applied to any type of internal combustion engine or motor, the heat energy of the exhaust is utilized by converting the same which makes a forward pull on the pistons of the engine or motor to which it is applied, and also by scavenging the cylinders of all the burnt gasses it provides a clean recepticle for the forthcoming fuel charge. By eliminating the adulteration of burnt gasses from the cylinders, it provides for successful operation on a very lean fuel mixture, thereby reducing the fuel expense to a minimum, and overcomes the waste of fuel which is ordinarily passed out with the exhaust unexploded.

"In operating automobiles which have been equipped with this device, it will be found a great protection to the duration or life of the motor as all of the back pressure is prevented from entering the cylinders by the way of the exhaust pipe, and thereby eliminate the strain on the motor which is especially noticeable in running on declines when the throttle valve on the fuel line is closed or when much stopping and starting is practiced. Also it adds new energy to old motors on account of the additional power afforded, and it serves as a very efficient braking device or automatic speed control by holding back the pictons on their intake stroke when the throttle valve at the carburetor is closed.—A. J. Culp, Inventor, Clanton, Ala."

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

ROOMS AND BOARD—I can furnish you rooms and board, or can serve meals, restaurant style.—Annie Mae Stanton, on Main Street, next to Tom Rockett home. 8-13-4c

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B. M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

FOR SALE—Second-hand 35-gallon Cypress sirup barrels; extra good, just what you need for your sirup; 75 cents each.—K. A. Ekblad, Thorsby, Ala. 8273d

WANTED TO SELL—Will sell or trade, one good cow, with second calf, for a beef cow. Also have a fine boar for sale. See J. H. Jackson, Clanton R 1. 1p.

STRAY MULES

Two large mules, one mare and one horse, taken up at my place Tuesday morning, August 25. Owner is asked to come and get them by paying expenses.—W. M. Cleckler, on road from Cane Creek to Macedonia, two miles beyond John S. Dennis place. Address, Clanton R 1. 1pd.

WILL SING AT MAPLE SPRINGS ON FIFTH SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Central Singing Society will meet at Maple Springs next Sunday afternoon at the usual hour, 2:00 o'clock. No singing will be held there the third Sunday in September on account of the county convention at Verbena, hence the change to the fifth Sunday afternoon. All singers please take notice and meet with the society at Maple Springs next Sunday afternoon. The new Stamps and Henson books will be used.

One of the best singings of recent weeks was held at Poplar Springs last Sunday afternoon. There was alarge crowd and plenty of singers and directors. The new books were used, and everybody took hold of them like they were something good to eat.

Mr. Fate Ellison, Jr., is spending a few days with friends and relatives at Guin, Alabama.

COME TO SEE ME

In my variety store there are now hundreds of items that are always needed about the home. It is no use for me to try to tell you about all of them in this advertisement. You can fully appreciate these things only by going through my store and seeing for yourself.

Therefore, I insist that you visit my store when you are in Clanton. Whether you buy or not, I want you to come and see what I have.

Every article is marked in plain figures and it means one cash price to everybody. I guarantee to give you your money's worth in every article, and my prices are as cheap as the mail order houses.

I thank all my friends for your business in the past. If you will come to see me, I will show you how you can continue to save money on hundreds of little things you will need from time to time.

W. W. Fox Variety Store

CLANTON, ALABAMA

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXVIII.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1931 NUMBER 19

ASKING FOR LAW AGAINST COTTON

Governor Requested To Place Proposal Before Special Session

Gov. Miller has under consideration several requests that he include in his call for an extra session of the Legislature, the matter of legislation designed to curb cotton production in Alabama. The Governor has given no intimation as to his probable action on the requests.

While Gov. Miller has stated that he did not consider the plan of Gov. Long, of Louisiana, a practical one, he is receiving requests that he provide for legislative consideration of the Long plan in the event of an extra session.

W. C. Batson, Probate Jude of Chambers County wired Gov. Miller Monday that the farmers of that county in mass meeting Monday voted unanimously in favor of the Long plan to plant no cotton in 1932 and asked Gov. Miller to embody the Long plan in his message to an extra session when one is assembled.

Word came to the Governor's office Monday that the farmers of Monroe County were practically 100 per cent in favor of the Long plan though no action had been taken by mass meeting. It is expected a mass meeting will be called there to endorse the Long plan. Farmers as well as bankers, ginners and professional men of Monroe County are reported to be practically unanimous in favor of the Long plan.

Tax Also Proposed

Gov. Miller will have under consideration Tuesday a plan to curtail the production of cotton in Alabama by a tax on each bale of cotton produced in the State. It is expected that several other plans will also come to the attention of the Governor in addition to the plan of Senator Bankhead and the two plans already outlined in this article.

While Gov. Miller has already virtually put this foot down on the farm board's plans to plow under every third row of cotton and the Long plan it is known that the Governor is deeply concerned over the agricultural situation and especially the situation regarding cotton. The Governor is a practical farmer himself and he is in sympathy with the farmer and the farmer's problems, a sympathy that he has repeatedly shown since he assumed the office of Governor.

Gov. Miller, it is generally expected, will give careful consideration to all phases of the cotton situation and to all suggestions as to a remedy for the present condition before he decides on the inclusion of the matter in any call for an extra session of the legislature. It is expected that in the event the governor issues a call for an extra session and includes therein the matter of legislation affecting cotton production, he will outline a plan of action for the legislature but not until he has conferred with members of the Legislature beforehand.

Miller's Eyes On Texas

While the Governor made no statement Monday about the cotton situation and about legislation affecting it, it is generally known that he is watching the action of Governor Sterling of Texas, and the probable action of the Texas Legislature if it is called into session by Gov. Sterling to consider the cotton situation.

Texas, as is generally known, controls the key to the cotton production situation generally speaking and the action of Texas may have considerable influence, and probably will have, on the action of other states in spite of the fact that the fiery Gov. Long has already rushed cotton legislation through the Louisiana legislature prohibiting the production of cotton in that state in 1932. Louisiana is a small cotton producing state and its action is not regarded as seriously affecting the cotton situation by those who make a close study of the relation between cotton production and the market price.

WILL CALL PASTOR AT FRIENDSHIP SUNDAY NIGHT

All members of Friendship church will please take notice that a special conference for the purpose of calling a pastor for the coming associational year will be held at the church next Sunday night, September 6th, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present at this hour.

There will be some singing in the church books both before and after the conference, so all singers are invited to come also.—T. E. Wyatt, Clerk.

SCHOOLS NEGLECTED MR. HARMAN SAYS

The Alabama Department of Education will not continue to press the Legislature for an additional $2,000,000 in the event education is included in a special session, Dr. A. F. Harman, state superintendent, declared Monday before approximately 700 teachers attending the annual Jefferson County Teachers Institute at Phillips High School.

Requests would be made, however, he said for the state to pay its back obligations of more than $2,000,000 to county and city boards of education, and that serious consideration be taken for the future if Alabama education is not to take a backward step.

Declaring that the governor and Legislature had not fulfilled their promises to place education first in Alabama, Dr. Harman said he was casting no reflection on the integrity or sincerity of the political leaders. Other elements have entered into the educational program, he said. He stated that he would favor a rule requiring that all public school teachers be registered voters, in order that they might exercise the full privilege of citizenship.

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL P.-T. A.

Chilton County High School P.-T.A. will have its initial meeting on next Tuesday at the high school at 3:30 p. m., and will adjourn promptly at 4:30. These are held on the second Tuesday of each month, and mothers, fathers, and friends of the students are urged to be present.

The N. E. A. Bulletin says: "No greater movement in the field of education has been fostered during the last quarter of a century than the organization of the Parent-Teacher Association. This movement has for its purpose the welfare of children. It has held steadfastly to this high endeavor, and has become one of the most efficient agencies in the promotion of all activities which contribute to the successful training of the child; in its relation to the home, church, and state. In every commonwealth, it exerts much influence in the field of the curriculum, and in the assumption of a proper attitude towards extra curriulum subjects. Without its influence, there would have been less progress in the securing of adequate funds for buildings, equipments, and maintenance of the public schools. The social intercourse of parents and teachers contributes to a better understanding and appreciation of child nature, and brings about united action in every community, resulting in democracy in education."

TERM OF DROUTH LOANS LIBERATED

Seed Have Been Released So Farmers May Gather Crops

Farmers who received drouth relief loans from the government last spring will not be forced to market their cotton at present low prices to pay the loans and the government has released the seed so farmers may sell them for money on which to gather the crop, according to instructions given colectors of the loans.

An extract from instruction given collectors by Washington officials reads:

"Borrowers who desire to do so may store their crops, and no objections will be interposed provided they are stored in bonded warehouses and receipts therefor forwarded to this office to be held as collateral. Warehouse receipts should be drawn to the order of the secretary of agriculture. If drawn in the order of the borrower he should endorse them before mailing to this office. Warehouse receipts covering crops mortgaged to the government must not be delivered to third parties before the borrowers account is fully paid. It must be understood that crops so stored will be held subject to the borrower's instruction to sell. It is our desire to permit borrowers to sell their crops in the usual manner, and to do nothing to interefere with orderly marketing."

Another paragraph releases the seed.

"This shows a splendid spirit of cooperation of the United States Department of Agriculture with the farmers of the South in solving their problems," said Seth P. Storrs, Alabama Commissioner of Agriculture. "It is a fine thing that it enables borrowers to harvest and hold their cotton and market it in an orderly manner."

Little Miss Sarah Beth Mullins has returned to her home in Mobile after some time spent here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Mullins.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Another Sunday when we increased over the attendance of the previous Sunday in our Sunday school. Keep coming and then bring some one with you. In all of my knowledge of church service I have never known a town that needed a Sunday school consciousness more than is needed right here in Clanton. If you love your town and church then get into Sunday school. Religion is not a play thing. It is a matter of eternal life. Let the loyal Sunday school workers get hot in behind those who are sitting at home during the Sunday school hour.

We invite you to worship with us next Sunday at 11 a. m., and at 7:30 p. m. September is here and it is time for us to get back to honest church loyalty.

We gladly welcome Mr. J. O. Ray into our fellowship. He comes to us from the First Methodist Church in Anniston.

We have the holy communion in our church next Sunday morning.

REV. A. D. HUETT DIED LAST FRIDAY

Death Was Result of Operation For Removal of Tonsils

Last Friday morning about 2:00 o'clock the news got to Clanton of the death an hour earlier of Rev. Albert Dewey Huett, which occurred at the Gorgas Baptist Hospital. Rev. Huett was operated on about nine o'clock Thursday morning for tonsilitis. He had to be put to sleep late Thursday evening in order to stop a hemorrhage which followed the operation. The doctors claim that he suffered heart failure while under the influence of the anaesthetic and death overtook him before he woke up.

A. D. Huett was a few months over 25 years old, and was the son of Charlie B. Huett of Bethsalem community. Six or seven years ago he was married to Miss Effie Hand, who with a little daughter, survives him. He is also survived by his father and mother, three brothers and five sisters. The brothers are: Forney Huett of Kansas City, Mo., Ivy D. Huett of Coopers and Marvin Huett at home. The sisters are: Mrs. J. W. Cagle of Mitchell Dam, Mrs. O. J. Eiland of Montgomery, Mrs. Arthur Patterson of Wylam, Mrs. Robert Morris and Mrs. Clarence Billingsley, both of Enterprise community.

For the past 3 years Rev. Huett had been attending Howard College, and would have received his degree there at the close of next college year. At the time of his death he was pastoring two half time churches—Gardendale in Jefferson County and Concord at Dargin in Shelby County. He closed a very successful revival at Pleasant Valley, near his boyhood home only a few weeks ago.

The funeral was held at the Clanton Baptist Church last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Dr. S. J. Ezell officiating, assisted by Rev. J. D. Hughes. A number of others, including some of his fellow students and teachers, and deacons in his churches spoke a few words of commendation of the young preacher's life and work. Following the funeral the remains were carried by Martin to Samaria cemetery and buried near his little infant daughter which preceded him to the grave two and a half years ago.

A. D. Huett was ordained to the Baptist ministry about four years ago in the Clanton Baptist Church. Since that time he has been very busy attending school and preaching. Practically all of his time has been spent working for his Master and in preparing himself to better serve his high calling.

A number of people from his two churches as well as from Howard College attended the funeral. The spacious Baptist Church was filled to overflowing with friends and relatives who came to pay the last sad respects to the earthly form of the departed.

WILL VISIT IN KENTUCKY

Rev. and Mrs. Zac Appleton and brother. Jess Appleton, left Tuesday for a motor trip to Kentucky and West Virginia. While in Louisville, Kentucky, they will visit the seminary where Rev. Appleton plans to enter school next fall. They will also visit the Boys' Industrial School in Kentucky.

Rev. and Mrs. Appleton have been teaching at the Alabama Boys' Industrial School in Birmingham this summer. Before that they taught two years at the Collins Chapel school in this county, and Rev. Appleton pastored the churches at Collins Chapel and New Salem.

THORSBY GINNERY IN SHAPE FOR THIS SEASON'S COTTON

The Thompson Brothers Gin and Warehouse Company of Thorsby is in tip-top shape to take care of the cotton in that section of the county, as reported by Mr. Hugh Thompson, who was in Clanton Tuesday of this week. Their machinery has all been reconditioned and is now in readiness for the 1931 cotton crop.

Mr. Thompson asked The Union-Banner to tell all his friends that the ginnery this year would be in the hands of Mr. Andrew Davis, who is well known in the northern part of the county as a good ginner. Both Mr. Davis and Mr. Thompson will put forth every effort to give complete satisfaction to those who see fit to bring their cotton to Thorsby to have it ginned. Also you will have access to their warehouse facilities if you want to store your cotton for a while.

Ralph Jones spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. Willie P. Jones.

CANNING DONE BY THE PILOT CLUB

Business Women In Movement To Provide Food For Needy

A fruit and vegetable canning campaign was brought to a close last Saturday night, in which the Pilot Club of Clanton sponsored a canning program to put up various kinds of fruits and vegetables to supply needy families in Chilton County this winter.

A call was sent out over the county asking farmers to donate surplus fruits and vegetables to this work. Delivery was made by many, and other citizens of Clanton took their automobiles and went out to the farms and brought the produce in.

Two days were set for the canning, last Friday and Saturday. Members of the Pilot Club, and many other women of the town gathered at the Baptist Church where cooking equipment was available. About thirty ladies, assisted by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and members of the Kiwanis Club, devoted these two days to canning. The result of their efforts was a great stack of hundreds of jars of fine fruits and vegetables made ready to help out folks who may get hungry this winter.

The work of canning the fruits and vegetables was under the supervision of Miss Ruth Dobyne, of Auburn, district home demonstration agent, assisted by Miss Mignon Mallette, home demonstration agent of Coosa County. These two ladies have spent several days in Chilton County, giving canning demonstrations in various communities.

The Boy Scouts made a canvass of the homes in Clanton and were given many jars. The Kiwanis Club bought and furnished about one and a half gross of quart jars, all of which were filled. In all about 270 quarts, and many half gallons were filled with fine food.

Miss Dobyne and Miss Mallette said they had never seen such splendid cooperation as they received in this county. Everyone who met these ladies and saw their work was very appreciative of their efforts in our county, and hope they may return for more demonstrations in the future.

When this canning program was first adopted by the Pilot Club, it was also placed before the Kiwanis Club, and the latter agreed to furnish the necessary cans and jars. Some were donated by business firms of Clanton, and others were bought and furnished by the Kiwanis Club.

This movement is one of the first undertakings of the recently organized Pilot Club of Clanton in community service. Apparently the success of the undertaking is sufficient to highly gratify those who planned and carried it out. Mrs. C. E. Stapp is president of the Pilot Club, and the membership is made up of business and professional women of Clanton.

Other objectives being considered by the Pilot Club are the building of a playground for children and planting flowers and shrubbery along the paved highway that passed through Clanton.

BABY BURIED AT TEMPLE

Allen William, the eight-months old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie J. Mims, of Temple community, died at the home on last Saturday evening at 6 o'clock of poisoning. It was buried at Temple cemetery Sunday at 11 o'clock, funeral by Rev. W. P. Mims.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hill of Birmingham were visitors to our city last week.

CENTRAL SINGERS WILL ELECT OFFICERS SUNDAY

Next Sunday afternoon at Concord the Central Singing Society will elect officers for the coming year. This will be the beginning of the second year of the society. The outgoing officers are: President, Prof. W. M. Devaughn; vice presidents, O. L. Devaughn and L. T. Grant; secretary, T. E. Wyatt; committee, Jesse Baker, C. H. Robinson and Ammie Boswell. Some disposition of the matter of new books will be made at the Concord meeting also.

The society met last Sunday afternoon at Maple Springs; a large class present and the singing was fairly good. Everybody buy you a new book—one of each kind, and have them at Concord next Sunday afternoon. Don't depend on the society furnishing everybody a book this year, for they will keep on hand only enough extra books to supply visiting singers. All members of the society will be supposed to buy and keep your own books this year.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. LITTLE IS HELD AT PLANTERSVILLE

Plantersville, Aug. 30.—Funeral for Mrs. R. W. Little, beloved woman of this community who died Saturday in a Selma hospital, was held from the home this afternoon.

Mrs. Little had been ill for several weeks and a host of friends mourn her passing.

She is survived by her husband; her father, W. D. Hardy, of Plantersville; two sisters, Miss Emmie Hardy of Plantersville and Miss Willie Hardy, of Selma, and four brothers, George and Jesse Hardy, of Tyler; Robert Hardy, of Mobile and Thomas Hardy of Montgomery, who is bookkeeper for the Montgomery Advertiser.

WILL SING AT THORSBY

The United Singing Society will meet at Thorsby Baptist Church next Sunday afternoon, according to A. H. Glasscock, who was in Clanton Monday afternoon. Mr. Glass asked The Union-Banner to urge all singers to attend his society next Sunday afternoon. It seems that the interest at Thorsby in singing has sagged just a little, and it is the hope of the society to get it back on its feet. They will use the new books.

Miss Mattie Smith Mizelle of Montgomery visited friends here recently.

PROMINENT MAN OF THORSBY DIED

Was One of the Founders of Town Thirty-Five Years Ago

Edward Frank Mead, 78, died at his home in Thorsby, Alabama, at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, August 30, 1931. Mr. Mead was born in Cleveland, O., where he grew to manhood, and for several years worked at the carpenter's trade. In the fall of 1896, about 35 years ago, he came as the first contingent of founders of the Town of Thorsby, bringing with him a wife and baby.

He first cleared and planted a tract of land, afterwards taking up his trade as opportunity offered in building new homes for other colonists, as well as one for himself; also a Baptist church and a public school house. Later, about 22 years ago, he started a concrete tile business which has grown, with the aid of his son, Clyde, to a general concrete construction business.

He was for a time superintendent of the Thorsby Baptist Sunday school, also Mayor of Thorsby, for six years.

Funeral services were held at the home at 1:30 p. m. Monday, conducted by Rev. Joseph E. Each, pastor of Thorsby Congregational Church. A quartet sang, "What a Friend we have in Jesus," and "Jesus Lover of My Soul." At the close of this service the ceremonies were conducted by the Masonic fraternity, of which the deceased had been a member more than forty years, with Mr. C. A. Peterson as master of ceremonies. The cortege proceeded to Thorsby cemetery where full Masonic burial rites were observed by about fifty members of the order. Burial was by the side of his wife who died a few years ago. Mell Martin had charge as funeral director.

Mr. Mead left two sons, both married. Earl, a telegraph operator, employed by the L. & N. R. R. Co., at Calera, and Clyde of Thorsby, who succeeds the firm of E. F. Mead and Son, in the concrete construction business.

PLAN OPENING OF CO. HIGH SCHOOL

Principal Warr Urges Boys and Girls To Be Ready Monday

Only three more days and a nice long summer's vacation will have come to a close and the high school boys and girls of Clanton and surrounding community will bid farewell to these days and weeks of leisure times and will again turn their faces toward their "dear old C. C. H. S."

We trust that the summer vacation has been profitable as well as pleasant and that each boy and girl will resume his or her duties with a feeling of responsibility, for going to school is indeed the child's greatest responsibility and should be as big a business to him as his father's business is to his father. However, you children will not feel this responsibility, and will not feel that he is carrying on a big business, unless the parents aid the teachers in impressing these things upon him. Will you please see that your child is in readiness next Monday morning to commence the new school year. You may rest assured that the teachers are prepared to do their parts.

There are a number of items to be considered in the term, readiness. Have you talked with your child and impressed upon him the importance of a high school education? Have you tried to point out to him that it pays to be educated? Are you holding before him the goal of a high school diploma? Will you see that he has his books, his pencils, his tablets, and other necessary equipment for carrying on his work to the best of his ability? If you do not attend to these matters, then your child will begin his school year handicapped, and at a great disadvantage.

Please see that your boy or girl comes to school on Monday morning ready to pay his incidental fee. It is very necessary that these fees be paid. There are many things to be supplied in connection with running a school besides the money which the State promises to pay teachers. I feel that it is not necessary at this time to explain in detail the expenditure of incidental fees, but I assure you that the records are open at all times for inspection and that every penny is most wisely and economically spent. Please do not embarrass your child and his teachers by sending him to school next week without his incidental fees.

Let's all join in making this a happy and profitable year for the children of our community.—L. C. Warr, principal.

JEMISON SCHOOL TO OPEN

Both the high school and grammar school a Jemison will open Monday, September 7th, at 9 a.m., with an expected record attendance. The parents and faculty are looking forward to a most successful school year. The high school faculty will be composed of the following teachers: J. A. Peterson, principal; J. P. Montgomery, Leacy Newell, Zane H. Turner, Miram Harvey, Bessie Jessee and J. C. Vaughan. The grammar school faculty: Margie Murphy, McMae McNeil Dezzie Littlejohn, Jessie Mims, Ola Rogers and Mary Clements.

COLOR IN THE KITCHEN

The vogue of color, that first invaded the living room, dining room, and sun room, has now been carrid to the kitchen. It is only natural that the room where the housewife spends a great part of her time should be colorful and attractive.

To get the most pleasing effect from the use of color in the kitchen, a central color scheme should be selected. This can be carried out in the larger pieces of furniture and the walls, while a contrasting or harmonizing tone may be used to offset this chief color note.

To introduce color into kitchen, a good item with which to begin is the range. The new Majstic ranges in full porcelain enamel provide an attractive array of colors—blue, apple, green, ivory, gray and white. These ranges form the basis of a kitchen in color that will give any woman a new pride in her home, while they also make cooking and baking easier through their many up-to-date conveniences. Your dealer, Clanton Building Supply Company, has these All-Enamel Majestics on display now. Stop and see them on your next shopping trip, and ask about the Majestic pay-as-you-use plan, which makes this marvelous new range extremely easy to own. By this plan you need pay no interest on other carrying charges.

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO

DALLAS COMPRESS CO.

Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).

Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.

Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop.

Dallas Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

TO OUR

Friends and Customers

We thank you so much for your patronage at our Gin last season, and earnestly solicit your business this season.

We are able to serve you with the best equipment, and many years experience. We will treat you just like we would want to be treated.

Our Motto—Better service, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Jemison Gin Co.

By J. M. Glasscock

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

BEAN AND PEA WEEVIL CONTROL IS EXPLAINED

Auburn, Ala. Aug. 31.—The use of carbon disulphide (high life) to destroy weevils which attack beans and peas in storage is recommended by W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist at Auburn. "It kills these insects and thereby protects beans and peas; and it does not injure beans and peas for table use," Mr. Ruffins said.

Before being treated with high life (which is sold by druggists) either beans or peas should be placed in an air-tight container, such as a large can or tub. High life should be applied at the rate of half a teacup for each bushel of peas or beans. It should be placed in a shallow container on top of them. It should remain undisturbed two or three days after which beans and peas should be aired or ventilated. They should then be stored in a good container for future use.

"High life" is an old insecticide. County agents have recommended and directed its use many years. It is used also for killing weevils in stored corn. For this purpose it is applied in the fall soon after corn is harvested.

"Although a large crop of beans and peas is being made this year all of them should be harvested and saved," said Mr. Ruffin. "They will be needed during the fall, spring, and winter as food. Each is a delicious and nutritious food."

RADIO MARKET NEWS HELPFUL IN ALABAMA

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 31.—Radio will render an invaluable service to Alabama farmers in marketing their 1931 cotton. By means of radio farmers will receive cotton market news twice or three times daily from both stations WAPI in Birmingham and WSFA in Montgomery. Station WODX in Mobile also broadcasts cotton and other market news.

Much of this market news will be arranged and presented either by or from the State Department tof Agriculture and Industries at Montgomery with L. O. Brackeen in charge. The different stations will arrange their cotton and other markets broadcasts and announcements will be made from time to time in order that listeners may know when to expect market news. This system of markets broadcasting was inaugurated in Alabama in 1929. It has been conducted continuously, and is a popular radio feature. The U. S. government and cotton brokers cooperate in supplying the information.

Farmers who have receiving sets can keep in close touch with market developments by listening to these broadcasts. In addition to quoting prices, mention is made of changes—either up or down. Market trends are also broadcast in order that the listeners may know what the market has done during a week, or a month, or a year.

With radio receiving sets now selling at a very low price it is possible for one to pay for itself in one season or even in a day or a week by supplying market news, which is only one of many radio features broadcast daily in Alabama. New battery sets are better, and a much better type of battery is being used.

NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Official announcement has been made by Morris Harvey College at Barboursville, W. Va., that farm produce wil lbe accepted in payment of tuition this year. It will be used in the college dining hall.

Director L. N. Duncan of the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, is urging farmers to feed more cottonseed meal to dairy cattle, beef cattle, work animals, hogs, and sheep. Cottonseed meal is cheap and it is also an excellent feed, he said.

It has been announced by President Hoover that by fall $300,000,000 of public buildings in the United States will be under construction. In this way the government is providing employment and is also doing the work when prices are lower and a dollar will purchase more.

The Federal Farm Board will cooperate with the National Pecan Marketing Association with headquarters in Jackson, Miss., in marketing the 1931 crop of pecans. Loans will be made and other assistance rendered. Many Alabama growers will market their pecans through this association.

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 6

TURNING TO THE GENTILES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:13-52.

GOLDEN TEXT—For so hath the Lord commanded us, saying, I have set thee to be a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be for salvation unto the ends of the earth.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Preaching in Antioch.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Preaching in Antioch.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Opening a New Field.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Light Unto the Gentiles.

I. Paul's Journey from Perga to Antioch (13:13-15).

From this time forward Paul, who hitherto was called Saul, takes the lead. His companions were Barnabas and John Mark. Leaving Cyprus they sailed northward to Perga, the seaport of Pamphylia.

1. Defection of John Mark (v. 13). From Perga, Mark for some reason went back. He later redeemed himself, and was ready to go again when the second missionary journey was begun, but Paul would not give consent (Acts 15: 38, 39). It is pleasing to note that before Paul's death he testified in Mark's favor (II Tim. 4:11).

2. In the synagogue at Antioch (vv. 14, 15). From Perga, Paul and Barnabas went to Antioch in Pisidia where they entered the synagogue on the Sabbath day. Though Paul was the apostle to the Gentiles, his order of ministry was to begin with the Jews.

II. Paul Preaching in the Synagogue (vv. 16-41).

After the usual reading of the Scriptures, in response to the invitation of the rulers, Paul delivered his first recorded sermon. In its analysis we find four parts:

1. Historical (vv. 17-23). In this section we see how Paul in a conciliatory way led them gradually through a series of changes in which God had dealt graciously with them, finally giving them Jesus, his Son. He indicated these steps as follows: (a) God chose the fathers and exalted the people (v. 17). (b) He delivered them from Egyptian bondage and led them through the terrible wilderness (vv. 17, 18). (c) He destroyed seven nations in the Land of Canaan and gave to Israel their lands (v. 19). (d) He gave them judges as deliverers when distressed by surrounding nations (v. 20). (e) After they had selfishly chosen a king, God rejected the dynasty of Saul and chose David, a man after his own heart (vv. 21, 22). (f) Finally it was God who from David's seed raised up unto Israel a Savior, Jesus. This demanded proof which follows:

2. Apologetical (vv. 24-27). That this Jesus was of the seed of David and therefore the promised Messiah he proves by three lines of argument: (a) The testimony of John the Baptist (vv. 24, 25). (b) The prophecies of Scripture fulfilled in their rejection and crucifixion of Jesus (vv. 26-29). (c) His resurrection from the dead (vv. 30-37). Several passages of Scripture were cited as being fulfilled in the resurrection by means of which he was declared to be the Son of God with power. Having proved Jesus to be the seed of David, he proceeded to set down the doctrinal teachings growing out of it.

3. Doctrinal (vv. 38, 39). The great doctrine derived from this proof is justification by faith—the very marrow of the gospel. Observe: a. The ground of justification is the finished work of Jesus Christ. He took our place as a sinner that we might become sons (II Cor. 5:21). b. Who are justified? Those who believe in him. c. From what is one justified? All sins. The one who believes in Jesus is freely forgiven all sins.

4. Practical (vv. 40, 41).

The application of this sermon was a warning lest the judgment spoken of by Habakkuk should fall upon them.

III. The Effect of the Sermon (vv. 42-52).

1. Many of the Jews and proselytes requested to hear these words again (vv. 42-49). Almost the whole city came to hear the Word of God the next Sabbath. This great crowd incited the jealousy of the Jews.

2. Open opposition (vv. 50, 51). The persecution became so violent that Paul and Barnabas were expelled from the city. This persecution was answered by Paul's rejection of them and his turning to the Gentiles.

3. The disciples filled with joy and with the Holy Ghost (v. 52). In spite of the bitter experiences occasioned by this opposition, they were filled with joy.

Through Gates of Forgiveness

Through the gates of forgiveness we enter a new world, out from darkness into light, out from coldness into warmth, out from evil into good, out from indifference into love, out from the illusion into the real.—Richard Whitwell.

God's Dews and Showers

God's sweet dews and showers of grace slide off the mountain of pride, and fall on the low valleys of humble hearts, and make them pleasant and fertile.—Leighton.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

SUGGESTIONS OFFERED FOR ADVANCING COTTON PRICES

Hundreds of suggestions have been made during the past two weeks by farmers and others as to ways of advancing cotton prices. Some of them follow:

1. That farmers leave every third row of cotton unpicked in the field.

2. That Southern planters plow under every third row of cotton.

3. That the cotton growing states prohibit the growing of cotton next season.

4. That the government extend its present loan to farmers for another year and let the farmers gather this crop and store subject to government mortgage and "then all farmers enter into a binding agreement to plant no cotton next year."

5. That each cotton state enact legislation imposing a tax of $25 an acre for the years of 1932-34 inclusive, on each acre of land planted in cotton in excess of five acres to the plow.

6. That the federal farm board be forced to declare the 3,000,000 bales of cotton it controls will not be available to the trade until after July 30, 1932, and that Congress place a prohibitive tariff upon jute which would create new uses for 750,000 bales of low grade cotton annually.

7. That farmers pick their cotton but not gin it until cotton and cotton seed prices advance.

8. That the 1931 cotton be purchased by the farm board for 12 cents per pound, six cents immediately and an additional six cents in October, 1932, to planters "who agree not to plant, finance or permit to be planted to cotton any land controlled by them in 1932."

9. That the federal farm board hold its lot of cotton for the present and agree to finance the holding of every third bale of cotton of the current crop and for growers to agree to reduce their 1932 production by 50 per cent.

10. That the areas west of the Mississippi River grow no cotton in 1932 and that the areas west of the river plant no cotton in 1933. Another similar suggestion is that the cotton belt be divided into non-cotton zones during the next four or five years so that production will be cut by at least 25 per cent.

11. That huge corporation be formed for purchasing and holding cotton.

12. That each person able to do so purchase a bale of cotton at ten cents per pound and hold the cotton for that price.

The gold supply of the world is estimated at $11,262,000,000, of which the Federal Reserve System of the United States owns $4,983,000,000. This is a new high gold record in the United States, or more than twice as much gold as held in any other country. France is second with a total of $2,290,000,000.

Representatives of fourteen national farm organizations met recently in Chicago and formulated plans for defending the rights of farmers at the approaching session of congress. They selected a committee to represent them not only in a protective way but also aggressively for what they think agriculture should have.

Mrs. C. E. Stapp has returned home after having visited her parents.

FROM MARVIN HILYER

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper for a few words. On May 17, 1931, I met with a serious accident, and lost my left leg. I was carried to the Central Alabama Hospital, where I was kept for four weeks, and received the best of treatment.

I cannot thank the doctor and nurses enough for the kind treatment they gave me. They were just as good to me as people could be all the time I was there. And I cannot thank the good people of the county enough for what they did for me, and my family, as they helped my family in several ways.

I think our people should help our home infirmary all they can. Again I thank each and every one who assisted me in any way. Wishing everybody good luck, I am, your friend.—Marvin Hilyer.

To Our FARMER FRIENDS

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATRONAGE IN THE PAST

As the ginning season approaches again, we invite you to continue your patronage with us this season.

We promise you the best service you can get anywhere, and also guarantee to make you the best sample possible from your cotton.

We will carry cottonseed meal and hulls to sell or exchange in any way that is practicable.

CLANTON MILL & GIN CO.

J. A. Maddox, Mgr. Clanton, Ala.

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Mullins Academy, Beat 1	Oct. 5	Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17
Jemison, Beat 2	Oct. 6	Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19
Mars Hill, Beat 2	Oct. 7	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
		Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.

AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

VISITORS FROM TEXAS AND FROM BIRMINGHAM

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Black, of Texas, and Mrs. W. A. Riggins and Mrs. R. A. Hardy of Birmingham were visitors in and near Clanton the first part of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Black formerly lived in Birmingham, but of late have been in Texas, where Mr. Black is employed in the oil fields. They returned to Birmingham Wednesday.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Mullins are visiting in Mobile this week.

Mrs. C. R. Mullins spent Friday in Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Mrs. John Mullins left Sunday for Aliceville, Alabama, where she will spend several days with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Murphy.

Miss Ardelia White has returned from a visit to friends in Wetumpka.

Arthur Littlejohn spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Littlejohn.

Mrs. S. J. Prince and Miss Ruth Prince have returned after a recent visit to friends in Harpersville, Ala.

Miss Madge Scarborough, elementary school supervisor of Chilton County, is back at the superintendent's office after a vacation during the summer months.

C. Reese Mullins is in Montgomery this week serving on the grand jury in Federal Court.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank every one for their kindness and help during the sickness and death of our mother, Mrs. Carrie Landers. All was done that loving hearts and helping hands could do, but God saw fit to call her home. It was so hard to give her up. May God's richest blessings rest on you all, for your help and love.—Daisy Crane, Ethel Hayes, Tyree Landers, Florence Ratliff.

EAST VIEW NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Lett and Mr. and Mrs. Getrge Newman of Sylacauga were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Nelson.

Rev. A. C. Nelson and family were the Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Henson.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Culpepper were the week end guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dobbs.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Henson motored to Clanton Sunday afternoon, where Rev. Nelson conducted services in the mill village Sunday night.

Mrs. Mattie Wilkins was the guest of Mrs. Elva Mims Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williamson in Clanton.

Mrs. Jewel Hunt is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Clara Rushing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker spent last week end with the latter's mother, Mrs. Jessie Taylor.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker, Mrs. Jessie Taylor and Mrs. Lou Rushing and daughter visited Mrs. Clara Rushing Saturday night.

Our church will hold its annual business meeting on the second Saturday in September. All the members are requested to be present if possible.

uieJRLg mj--puRsftgkawdfr gwfag

The Sunday School and Christian Endeavor will hold their annual business meeting on the second Sunday in September. All members are requested to come if possible.

The ladies who have canned fruit or vegetables for the support of missions will please report to Mrs. A. C. Nelson the articles canned and the size of he cans as soon as possible, or by the second Sunday in September.

Come to Sunday school and Christian Endeavor next Sunday and let your light so shine. You have a welcome at East View.

SINGING CONVENTION

The singing convention in the sacred harp and Christian harmony books will be held at New Harmony just east of Lomax, the first Saturday and Sunday in September, which will be the 5th and 6th. All singers are invited to come and bring your books. The ones who don't sing are invited bring well filled baskets.

CHILTON COUNTY AND MODERNISM

With your kind permission, Mr. Editor, I would like to dwell on the above subject just a little. It is too big a topic to discuss any ways fully, but I want to touch just a few of what I consider high points in regard to some modern practices in Chilton County.

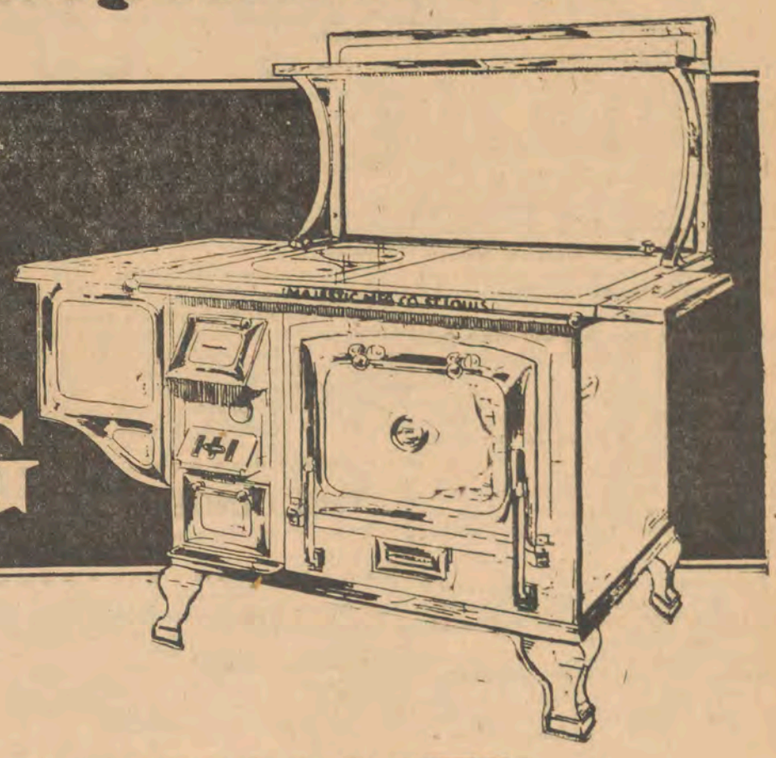
We all of course believe in progress—we don't want Chilton County to lag behind when other counties and states and nations are moving forward. But can't progress be made without the loss of Godliness and without growing a disregard for religious principles and the tenets of the church of Christ?

One may go near the river in the eastern part of the county on Sunday afternoons and what do you find? There are people fishing, boating, bathing, and doing everything else that people usually do on week days. Our highways are lined on Sundays with cars carying fishing poles, bathing suits, boat motors and the like. It seems to me that such practices are in total disregard of the sacredness of the Lord's Day. There may not be so much harm in spending Sundays on the river just for a rest, but there are other ways of spending God's Day that we believe would please our Master better—for instance going to Sunday school and church or attending a good singing where the praise of God is raised in sacred song. Some places of business, operated by church members, both in town and in the country, make Sunday only a day of merchandise. I believe that such a business man would thrive better if he would let his customers know to get their gas and other things on Saturday because he would be closed on Sunday to go to church and give the day to God to whom it justly belongs. All Christian people should, and I believe would, patronize such a business man in preference to those who seem to have so little regard for the laws of the Almighty.

And another thing that I am compelled to offer a little friendly criticism to my fellow church members for is the modern custom of dancing. Our church decorums and our pastors used to hit this thing hot and heavy, and it is just as big a sin now as it was fifteen or twenty years ago. Why have our good preachers let up on their condemnation of this modern evil? Some of them are standing still and letting members of their churches indulge in this sinful pastime and are offering no reproof. But I say that the dance hall is no place for a person who professes to be a Christian and that such practice is just as sinful in this year, 1931, as it was ever in the history of the world. The dance hall is a place of sin and degradation, and visiting them by Christians has never increased their regard for the church and for the things taught in the dear old Bible; but on the contrary, taking part in this sin as in all others serves to gradually pull one away from consecration and right living.

Now, in conclusion, I want it clearly understood that I am not writing the above to get a racket or ill feeling started with anyone; but I am doing it with the hope of causing some of our modern Christians to stop and think about how they are compromising with the world and probably unknowingly to themselves letting the devil entangle them into his web of carelessness, sinfulness and ultimate total disregard for religion and its blessed principles. We in Chilton County can't afford to let the cause of religion dwindle, and if the Christians do not hold it up and stick out for its teachings, pray who is going to do it? Sincerely,—A Church Member.

DAVENPORT CEMETERY

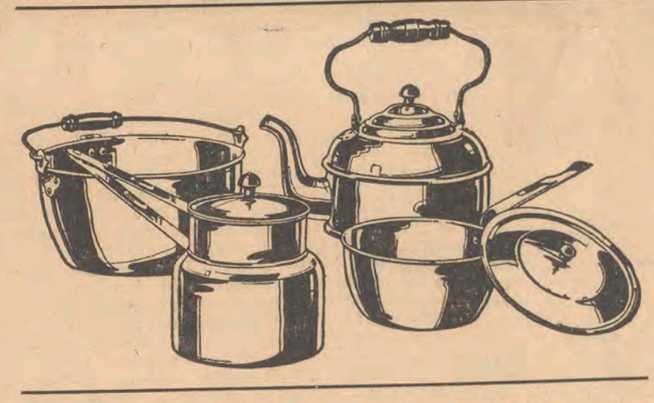


All parties interested in any wise in the cemetery at the old Uncle Jimmy Davenport place — better known as the Henry S. Oates place—are hereby requested to meet at the cemetery on Friday morning, September 11, at 8:30, for the purpose of cleaning off and rehabilitating same. Bring all such tools as you may think will be needed, including axes, saws, hoes, rakes, and some of those near the cemetery bring a team.

Bring your lunch and we will make it a picnic and family reunion of all the present connection.—Emma De Shazo.

One Week Only!

Beginning Monday, September 7th



SPECIAL FACTORY SHOWING

THE NEW ALL-ENAMEL
MAJESTIC RANGE

This is the week! Every woman who manages a home will want to see the factory expert's demonstration at our store. It is a specially planned event featuring the New Majestic—the Range that gives you every cooking convenience without change to an expensive fuel.

This is an instructive exhibit that will give you new knowledge of this up-to-date range—its convenience, its saving in time and work, its coolness and spotless cleanliness. It will show you how easy it is to have a beautiful, modern kitchen with your choice of the Majestic in Blue, Apple Green, Ivory, Gray or White full porcelain enamel. The solid cooking plate is polished metal, with two lids directly above fire box.

FREE This Week!

These utensils will make cooking easier—handsome DeLuxe Copper Ware, heavily Nickel Plated. The complete set shown will be given Free to everyone who buys a Majestic at our store this week. On display in our window now.

Every Modern Convenience
Without Changing Your Fuel

Everyone knows that the same amount of heat is required to cook or bake, no matter what the fuel. Keeping the kitchen pleasantly cool, even while baking, depends not on the fuel but on the range.

It is totally unnecessary for you to change to an expensive new fuel to have modern cooking convenience. Come this week and let the Majestic prove it! See for yourself how this superbly insulated range can keep heat inside—where it works for you—and allows you to enjoy a cool summer kitchen. See, better than words can tell, the spotless cleanliness that is possible with this range, using your present, inexpensive fuel. Let this exhibit show you how much easier your cooking can be—how you will save time and money when the All Enamel Majestic graces your kitchen.

The Majestic "Pay-As-You-Use-It" Plan

You can easily own this new All Enamel Majestic at once. We have made a special arrangement with the Majestic Manufacturing Company whereby you are offered liberal pay-as-you-use-it terms. No interest or other carrying charges are added. Let us explain this plan to you in full.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

Don't put off coming to this interesting demonstration. There are just six days in which to take advantage of this exhibit and the offer of DeLuxe kitchenware free. To see the New Majestic in its variety of colors of full porcelain enamel will be well worth the few minutes of your time.

Clanton Building Supply Company

J. T. ROCKETT J. D. ROCKETT

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Ala., as Second Class Mail Matter, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

A Chicago opera singer wants a divorce because her husband struck her. Maybe she did too much practicing at home.

A five or 10-year plan that will serve for at least two years is the requirement.—South Bend Tribune.

Less Work; More Money—Twenty per cent less production would bring 20 per cent more money to farmers.

We think we are smart, but not one in a hundred can go out in the woods and name ten trees or plants correctly.—The Florida Times-Union.

Wales's Salesmanship—Every English manufacturer who exports to South America will get some benefit from the successful trip of the Prince of Wales.

The Mexican minister of foreign affairs says the world needs a new moral code. In the meantime, a slight attempt to use the old one might help a little—Lynchburg News.

In that Canadian city which requires that bathing suits reach three inches beneath the knees, visiting American girls might as well bathe in their street clothes.—Butte Montana Standard.

Mayor Walker is now in Germany and maybe Adolf Hitler can get a few pointers from the Tammany official on how a real political machine ought to operate in order to get results.

The Department of Agriculture has started a war on grasshoppers. And we are expecting every day to hear that Fred Libbey and his pacifists have made a vigorous protest.

Senator Bob LaFollette is said to be planning to introduce a bill into the net Congress proposing a pension of something like a hundred dollars a month for every voter, which will go pretty good until some even more progressive senator proposes to raise it to two hundred dollars a month.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

Compared with the nations of Europe, America is decidedly young. Unless we have lost all our youthful qualities during the past two years, which is doubtful, we can expect our national vigor and optimism, now under a cloud, to reassert itself sooner or later, and pull us out of the depression. The remarkable ability of Americans to come back can be illustrated by the present example of Arkansas, and especially by the little community of England, in that state.

A few months ago, it will be remembered, when the drouth was upon the Middle West, all sorts of pessimistic stories came out of Arkansas. It is true that conditions were bad, but it now becomes evident that predictions for the future were undoubtedly too pessimistic. It will be remembered how many of our busy statesmen asserted that Arkansas must have something like the dole, that the state was in a bad way and might never recover, without assistance from the federal treasury for feeding and clothing the citizens of the drouth stricken belt.

Well, the Red Cross took care of the stricken drouth regions and twelve months have rolled by. Arkansas is again blooming like a rose. Only a few days ago, writes Thomas Fauntleroy in an unusually interesting article in the Sunday New York Times, the little community of England, scene of bread riots a few months ago, held a country-wide celebration, the occasion being the shipping of a truck load of food from the people of the country, to the unemployed in a neighboring Oklahoma community. Mr. Fauntleroy adds that the community has the most remarkable crops within the memory of the oldest inhabitants, and pessimism and despair have given way to optimism and hope for the future.

Reports to the Department of Agriculture in Washington confirm the glowing picture of the change of conditions in Arkansas. Instead of devoting all their time and soil to cotton this year, the citizens of the drouth stricken area paid some attention to the raising of food crops. Clubs and civic organizations in various parts of Arkansas during the past winter carried on campaigns urging the people to plant food crops so that there would be plenty to eat in the winter of 1931-32. The people responded, and the result is that Arkansas people have food for fact that there has come a changed spirit themselves and some to spare for their less fortunate neighbors. Even better is the and that the people are now confident of the future. As Mr. Fountleroy puts it, "all this is aside from a bumper cotton crop. Though cotton is now selling on the Memphis board at lowest figure since 1915 and the prospect of a still lower figure is in sight, the people are not discouraged. They are proud of their gardens and their fields of hay and corn."

Best of all, the people of Arkansas have brought about this improvement in conditions without relying on any form of the dole. It is true that money was borrowed for seed, but the people are paying this back, many in fact have already repaid the loans. The citizens of Arkansas have relied after all not on the Farm Board or benefits from the public treasury, but on their own industry and fine American spirit. The two United States senators, and the Arkansas delegation in Congress, have a right to be, and doubtless are, proud of the gallant and successful fight put up against adversity by their fellow citizens during the past twelve months.

In a few more years a motorist will drive up to a filling station, pay his tax and plead with the owner to throw in a little gas.—Florida Times-Union.

A Yellowstone Park geyser whcih has been idle for 29 years is now at work again. See! The employment situation is improving.—Ft. Wayne News-Sentinel.

The story that gold has been discovered near Reno sounds reasonable; there are so many gold-diggers out there.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The bull-fighting industry in Spain is pleading for a dole. We hope to live to see the day when in this best of all possible worlds the government will, on Monday morning, reimburse all those who lost at pinochle on Saturday night.—Boston Transcript.

Flaming youth gets tamed down some after marrying on twenty-five a week.—Huntington News.

After paralyzing President Hoover in ten articles, "The Nation," official organ of the boudoir pinks, announces that it will print an article on the beauties of free trade by Francis H. Hirst, former editor of the London "Economist," in which, no doubt, the present glorious plight of free trade England will be offered as Exhibit A.

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

We do not wish to appear as glorying in the delimma which Gov. Miller finds himself in regard to the extra session, or to over dwell upon the Governor's shortcomings in this column, but we cannot refrain from calling attention to the attitude of the Hansen papers toward the administration.

After following the recent campaign manuevers of these papers in Mr. Miller's behalf, it is rather amusing to note how these same papers, The Age-Herald, in particular, are beriding the Governor. In a recent issue of The Age-Herald in a leading editorial that paper calls the Governor "bourbon." There are several definitions to the word given in the dictionery, but we suppose The Age-Herald had "rabid democrat" in mind when making use of the word. And in the use of the word rabid in this instance we would like to say that "raving" and "intolerant" are the terms which apply to the situation.

To further quote The Age-Herald—"If he had shown, during the recent session, any capacity for dealing with legislators who refuse to be brow-beaten, if he had been willing to negotiate with them upon the theory that his financial program had not come from Sinai.". Here the implication is that the Governor is of the opinion that his ideas and methods of business administration are as perfect as Him who was crucified, and that there should be no opposition whatever thereto.

The position The Age-Herald has taken in opposition to Governor Miller's financial program and tactics with the recent legislature looks very much the same as that of the pet dog which snaps and bites the hand that has just given him a bone. There were no more ardent supporters of the Governor during the campaign than the Hansen papers, and The Sweeper imagines there are no more chagrined and disillusioned set of fellows in the state than these same papers, after having seen their world's wonder in action. sand pities in action.

The Age-Herald apparently does not now feel that Mr. Miller is nearly so large a man—speaking from a statesmanship point of view—if we are to judge their opinion by the following assertion in the editorial referred to: "If the governor were a bigger man, even if he were nothing more than an adroit man . . . " The governor here is not even given credit as being skillful in the matter of getting political support for any measure he may desire passed. Mr. Miller, in the opinion of The Sweeper, has been on the bench too long and has gotten grounded in the habit of ruling with an iron hand and having his word obeyed to the letter. That, we are afraid, Mr. Miller has learned to his sorrow, will not work with the legislature of Alabama. These level headed men refuse to be driven into any action which they conscientiously feel is not for the best interests of the people at large.

The members of the legislature were elected along with Mr. Miller on a complete and wide-spread and far-reaching program of retrenchment. They feel that they owe some consideration to their constituents — where it appears that Mr. Miller is following in the way of many another smooth-tongued orator. After election he forgot that he had promised the commonwealth of Alabama that he would reduce state expenses, cut taxes and curtail every expenditure posible, and some that were impossible, it would seem, and immediately upon being sworn in office launched out upon one of the most extravagant revenue crusades ever proposed to the people of this fair state.

The Age-Herald ends up with the question: Is it too much to expect Mr. Miller as being possessed with common horse-sense? And in answer to this question, The Age-Herald says: "If it is, the financial troubles of the administration will not be materially relieved by an extra session." Now, The Sweeper hopes that before it is too late, Mr. Miller will repent of his sins and be a good little boy, acceeding to the wishes of the people who put him in office, if only in a small measure, as expressed through the members of the legislature—get down off his pinacle of self-styled supremacy and secure some revenue legislation that will relieve our present stagnated condition of state government.

The Sweeper is very much concerned and sorrowfully so, over the fact that if Mr. Miller does not secure some adequate means of removing the deficit now in the state's treasury, Chilton County, along with numerous other counties of the state, will only have a half-year term in the schools. This situation is all uncalled for and should be remedied without delay.

More power and support to Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana. He is on the right track to do something substantial about the cotton situation. If legislation prohibiting the raising of cotton for next year were passed over the South, we would get rid of the boll weevils and at the same time force the price of the present crop to a comfortable figure. We are of the opinion that such a plan would meet the needs of the day and no one would be the worse for it.—The Sweeper.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Things Are Scarce—Money isn't the only article I'm scarce on right at present. I haven't a thing in mind this bright good morning to talk to the dear folks about. In fact, I ight use the words of some poet I heard about. He wasn't a real poet, maybe, but I believe he was in about the same predicament I'm in right now. Here's what he wrote, when he ran out of ideas:

"Here I sit, all broken-hearted—
Lots to write, but can't get started."

Big Boys' Idea Don't Help—If there is anything in the world that makes me mad, it is to hear some big gink when he leans 'way back in an easy chair, tips his hat over his eyes to keep a stray ray of sunshine out of them, crams a good 10-cent cigar back in his jaw, and set forth on a long-winded tirade of how the farmers ought to go about solving their problems. What could HE know about it? I had a good chance to listen in on one like that one morning last week, and what a program he did outline; it was fully as long as it was impractical. I asked him what he knew about farming, and he informed me that he was farming when I was burn. I guess that was right, and I suppose he must have quit farming along about that time too, about when old "Buck" and "Ball" were in their prime, judging by the old fashion ideas he had on the subject. Times have changed quite a bit since he whoa-backed his steers down the corn middles. Nope! The big boys' ideas won't work. In the first place, they can't know the present-day farmers' problems. And, then, with plenty of spare cash and nothing to do with it, they can't be expected to feel the sympathy for farmers and their problems that they would if gee and haw were the principal words in their working vocabulary.

'Twixt the Devil and the Sea—And what a surprise I got the other day—and this one came from a farmer, too. We were discussing the government's moves to try to help the marketing situation; came the subject of the rumor that several Southern states might pass laws regulating the acreage of cotton for next year. He didn't like it a bit. He felt that when a man bought and paid for his farm, he ought to be allowed to plant what he wanted on it. Well, I suppose he ought, but on the other hand, that's what farmers have always done, and anyone can see what a precious mess it has gotten them into. That isn't cooperation. If farmers expect the government to help them, they'll have to work with the authorities. Otherwise, that puts the powers that be in a pickle of a fix—no sooner do they try to answer the farmers' request that they do something, than those same farmers start fanning the air with objections as to what they are doing and how they go about it. Let's wait and see what's going to happen before we begin objecting, any way.

Hunt and Be Hunted—Well, fellows, the dove season is "in" for a few days—a month, I believe. Sounds good, doesn't it? But, as usual, the boys—some of them—have already gone astray. Some killed doves last Tuesday morning, when the law says the season didn't begin until noon. Others are hunting without licenses and permits. Watch your step, or you'll be the "hunted" more than the "hunters."

Our New Jail—If you haven't been around to inspect Chilton County's new jail, you ought to drop around and see it—it's a whiz, all pretty and white and all. But, as I looked that fine structure over one afternoon last week, I couldn't help thinking that the jail was a much better building than most of the school buildings of the county. I suppose we needed a new jail, but still, come to think about it—that doesn't speak so highly of moral conditions of the neighborhood. Schools are institutions to teach better citizenship, and jails are to take care of the result when the schools fail in their aims. The fact that we even NEED a new jail might be construed to mean that if a little money were spent now and then on the schools we might not have so much "jail expense."

Red Ink—In scanning one of the papers last week, I noted that a much larger percentage of business houses of the country are finding their profit columns in better condition than at this time a year ago. Good news! Last year a great many business houses "saw red" when they totaled up, and the news that they are showing a profit this year is encouraging indeed. It shows that times are "on their way" back to normalcy even though there may not be so much sign of it.

Shadows—Here's something you've noticed, I know. The sinking sun casts darker shadows than the rising sun. Why? I don't know—but it does. Maybe that's the reason why the shadows seem so dark when the sun of prosperity is setting, and are hard to see when cast by rising prosperity. Is that logical?

Here, There, and Everywhere—Postmaster Bean with an arm full of money, on his way to the bank; Leonard Gentry with his pipe in one hand and somebody's washing in the other; Hugh Simpson checking somebody's license plate; Eugene Gore on his way to turn somebody's water on; Earl Gore on his way to turn somebody's water off; Uncle Tom Ogletree and Claude Calloway in a hot checker game; and me on my way to hunt something to eat. Goo' bye!—Man in the Moon.

You never hear a farmer boasting of how he got his sun tan, notwithstanding that he has a better right to boast than many of us.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The horse may be man's best friend—but try to tell that to the fellow who has just bet on the worng one.—Ft. Wayne News-Sentinel.

It has been decided to let Cornwallis surrender again at the Yorktown sesqui-centenniel this fall. Thus is another grave international question settled without recourse to the World Court.

The amount of verse that comes to the average editor's desk is incredible. And so is some of the verse.—The Country Home.

Monuments to four Zulu kings are to be erected in Natal, illustrating better than anything else that the burdens of civilization have descended upon Africa.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Senator Nye is going to introduce a bill in Congress to sell China 100,000,000 bushels of wheat. Then all that will be needed will be another law to get China to buy it.

WHEAT PRICE IN GERMANY

Wheat, in Germany, is selling for $1.96 per bushel. Why? Germany's 1930 wheat crop was only 131,000,000 bushels. This is 70,000,000 bushels less than Kansas produced this year.

Yet with this small crop, the German farmer was only receiving thirty-four cents a bushel for his wheat. The German government then placed a tariff of $1.62 a bushel on wheat. This immediately raised the price of wheat to $1.96 a bushel to the German farmer. Germany does not produce a surplus and the tariff is immediately reflected in the price of her wheat. We continue to grow a huge surplus, which nobody wants, thereby destroying some of the benefits of our forty-two cent tariff. Why not take a lesson from Germany?—Boonville, Ind., Standard.

Just 100 years ago this month, the first passenger train in the history of the country was run. And if they had known in what a fix the railroads would be at the end of the first century, maybe they would not have started it.

In a way you can't blame Gandhi for not wanting to go to Europe for a diplomatic conference. Every time Uncle Sam does that he loses his shirt, and Gandhi can't afford to lose his.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

As Labor Day approaches our minds are directed toward the man who toils. Well may we think of him for he is the man who is back of civilization and life. The word "work" in our language is repulsive to many, but it is the bridge over which comes to us the food that we eat, the clothes that we wear and the civilization that we enjoy. If the human race should become a company of idlers, we would soon be a company of thieves and cutthroats. On Labor Day we should lift our hats to the man who toils, and we should place him on the throne where he belongs. All honor to the man with calloused hands. All honor to the man whose brow is burned with the blazing sun. The man who works is the man of honor in American life.

Last week I was in my garden at work and along came a hobo who wanted me to buy him a few gallons of gasoline so that he could go "merrily on his way." I proposed to him that he take my hoe and complete my job, and I would gladly buy him some gasoline. He seemed delighted and asked that I excuse him until he could go to town and get his brother to help him. He hurried off just like he would soon be back to work for what he wanted. That fellow never returned. Let me make this suggestion to the people of Chilton county. Get you a large, long pine pole and place it in the back yard, with an ax sticking in the pole. When a tramp comes to your house begging for food or money, usher him to that pole, and ask him to earn what he wants. If he refuses to work give him nothing. If he takes the ax and does a job of honest toil, feed him well. I am willing to help any man who is willing to help himself, and who is willing to work for what he wants, but I am not willing to help any man who will sit down, and then consume what I have made by honest toil.

Some men like to hunt for recreation. Some like to fish. Some like to get into a car and travel. Some like to sleep under a tent and eat by a camp fire; but for me, I always enjoy getting into my work clothes, take a saw and hammer and some nails, and try to make something. The best recreation that I have is when I am handling tools and working with some nice lumber. It is all right for a man to enjoy himself on the golf links, but when his hours are over, he has nothing to show for it. When my hours are over at the carpenter's bench, I have something that is worth while. Recreation is nothing but a change in employment. The change can be turned into profit.

We see the Man of Galilee as he is toiling at the carpenter's bench in Nazareth. The furniture that he is making, the repair work that he is doing, speak loud of the merits of the workman. Jesus was called from his busy shop to lift a world upward toward God. Moses was called from the shepherd's task to lead the children of Israel from Egyptian bondage into the promised land. When God wanted a prohpet he selected Amos from among the shepherd farmers. When God wanted a skilled musician and a poet of spiritual insight, He called David from the herd of sheep. When Jesus wanted an apostle he called a swearing tar from mending his nets on the sea of Galilee. When He wanted a missionary to the Gentile world He called Paul from the task of making tents. When God wanted a flaming evangelist He called Moody from the counter of the shoe store. Common place duties have always been glorified in the sight of God. When God wants a sure enough man He calls him from among the common place tasks of life. Gon honors the workman.

"Physical work promotes the circulation of the blood, opens the pores of the skin, helps the digestion, strengthens the muscles, adds suppleness to the joints, quickens the nerves, regulates the passions and tends to build up the constitution. Mental and moral work clears the understanding, empowers the will, awakens the conscience, informs the judgment, enlarges the memory and rectifies the affections." Work is one of the greatest boones of life. We enjoy ourselves when we are happy in our work. The man who is employed is the safe man in the community. The working man is the one who knows the joys of living. "The idle brain is the devil's work shop."

Not many days ago I saw a man who was working hard at a task that must be done before he reclined upon his bed. It was then near sundown and the fellow was putting all that he had into the task. He knew that the night was coming and that his task had to be done. On the way of life I run across many who are working at full speed. They know that they have much work to be done, and they know that the night is coming, when no man can work. The time is coming when you and I must lay down our tools, and fold our hands to work no more. With some of us the sun is setting, and darkness will soon be coming. There is no time for idleness. The tasks of life are calling for more effort, and the voice of service is calling us on to greater sacrifice. Men and women, let's put ourselves into the real work of life, and then when the day is over and the darkness has come, we will know a task undertaken and a task completed and we will hear "Well done thou good and faithful workman."

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

May Delay School Opening

Since it has been stated as the opinion of school authorities that we will have only a half school term in the county this year, there has arisen some considerable sentiment in favor of delaying the opening of schools in order to give the school children a chance to help out in picking the cotton crop . Superintendent Lawrence has called the trustees into a meeting for this afternoon (Thursday) to consider the matter . Aformer meeting of the trustees set the date of September 7 (next Monday) for opening the high schools and what have been termed the long term grammar schools; and October 5th for the opening of the short term schools.

Invalidating the Legislature

A movement is now on foot through the courts to invalidate the whole category of enactments by the last legislature of Alabama. My, what a mess that legislature has gotten to be. I think it would be a good thing if something would happen to wipe out the whole business, and give us a clean place to start all over again. But while they are at it I would suggest that the courts find some way to make the members of the legislature and all the army of clerks pay back to the state the money they drew for their services. And by the way, I would like to know how it is that members of the legislature found a way to pay themselves and their clerks an enormous amount of cash for the time they were engaged in making the most colossal mess in history; yet they could find no way to provide cash for any of the state's various financial obligations, including the school teachers.

The Long Cotton Plan

The plan of Governor Long, of Louisiana, to prohibit the planting of any cotton next year has gained wide notice over the South. Many petitions have been sent to the Governors of cotton states asking that they call their legislatures into action on the Long plan. Some persist in arguing that the plan is no good, and will not work. It may not work. That remains to be seen. But I like the idea of it. I still believe that we must skip a crop or two of cotton before we get relief from our present attack of cotton constipation. The surplus is what is hurting cotton. The only way to get rid of the surplus is to give the world time to use it.

Give Us A Playground In Clanton

It is with much satisfaction that I notice the Pilot Club of Clanton is becoming interested in securing a park and playground for the children of Clanton. I am encouraged because I have noticed many times that the women have been able to get something done where men failed. The women may rest assured that the men will help them in the park movement if they demand help. They would be afraid not to help. I know of some places that would make the finest public parks you ever saw, if somebody could say just the right word in the right place at the right time to secure the use of the grounds. I hope the Pilot Club has good luck in this venture.

Beautifying Our Highways

Another thing in the program of the Pilot Club is interesting. They have mentioned beautifying the paved highway by planting trees and shrubbery along the approaches to our city. Just imagine a mile or so of this highway lined with crepe myrtle. It would be more lovely than the far-famed hybiscus of which Florida boasts. Not only crepe myrtle, but many other plants and flowers that thrive here.

Easy To Tell The Difference

You can tell easily when you get out of Chilton County into Shelby on the old Montevallo road. Not by any sign other than the difference in the road. Our part of the road is in good condition, well graveled. Over on the Shelby side the road has been graded well, but no gravel, and the ruts are cut deep into the mud of the last rain. The graveling that was done on our county roads last winter was worth more than anything that has ever been done to them. I hope our county officials will have more of it done again this winter. Put up the road machines and start the gravel wagons to running is the best plan for the roads in winter. That, it seems to me, has been proven to a certainty.

Buzzard Or Bald Eagle?

Aurelius Culp of Fairview killed some kind of a big bird last Saturday, and brought its head, feet and wings to The Banner office. Some said it was a bald eagle, and others laughed at the idea, declaring it was nothing but a common buzzard. Not being a specialist at the business of naming birds, I could not say what it was. I know a fellow who killed a buzzard a while back and used it for fish bait. I bet he could have told if this was a buzzard or eagle. Yes, and he caught fish with buzzard bait too; and I ate some of the fish before I found out what kind of bait he bit.

Those pacifists who think that the way for Uncle Sam to kep out of war is to scuttle his navy ought to take a look at China. That unfortunate country has on the average about three wars a year, and hasn't enough navy to suport one commodore.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of August 30, 1906

Judge R. M. Honeycutt was in town Thursday.

Mr. E. Hopkins has moved his family here from Bessemer.

H. Kanjutzky has returned from a business trip to New York.

B. B. Comer was nominated Governor of Alabama Tuesday by 10,000 majority.

Married this week: Mr. Knat Smith and Mrs. Birdie Edwards; Mr. T. E. McNeal and Miss L. M. Colley.

The Banner has a letter this week from J. Bart Jones at Raton, New Mexico.

E. D. Poole and Miss Gertrude Abbott were married at the home of Rev. W. J. Bone last Wednesday afternoon.

Prof. Joe Bone's school at Sardis closed Friday.

Dr. I. W. Johnson of Calera died at his home on August 4th.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Mrs. C. A. Mead, Mrs. Earl Mead, and Conway Thorsburgh made a trip to Birmingham last Friday.

Mrs. L. P. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Wise, all of Birmingham, were visitors at the home of Mrs. L. E. Thorsburgh Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. H. L. Walker and daughter, Mrs. E. L. Pate, and H. L. Collins motored to Elmore Sunday afternoon and visited the Sarbers.

H. L. Collins who has been sick for several days is reported some better.

Mrs. Anna S. Villadsen spent the past week with her son, Reno, and family at Aldrich.

Ferris Love, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. N. Laurell, is quite ill at his home in Birmingham; and Mr. Laurel is staying there as much as possible to relieve Mrs. Love, who is employed in a newspaper office.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Social will be held at the home of Mrs Goddard on Thursday afternoon of this week.

There wil be preaching by the pastor at Congregational Church at the usual time next Sunday.

Mrs. H. M. Williams, with her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Tucker, with her husband and three children, all of Birmingham, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Blood at the central office in Thorsby last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Horton gave a birthday party for their son, Clarence, aged nine, Monday afternoon. About fifteen little folks were invited as his guests.

Mrs. C. M. Gray spent Saturday in Birmingham visiting relatives.

Miss Willadine Bean spent the past week visiting friends in Tallassee, returning Saturday, accompanied by Miss Mary Ward, who will remain a few days as her guest.

Cecil Each, of Birmingham, spent the week end with home folks in Thorsby.

Akin Collins and wife left Saturday to visit Mrs. Collins's parents in Panama City, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mims and three children visited Mrs. Mims's parents in Birmingham three days last week.

R. R. Franklin is so ill that his physician advises him to stay in bed three weeks. He has already had one week of it and this Monday morning told us he was feeling a lot better.

Mr. Samuel Colley, of Prattville, is visiting his sister, Mrs. C. M. Gray, in Thorsby.

Cary C. Petersen and Ed Piper were returning from Fayette last Saturday night when they had a car upset, which resulted in minor cuts and bruises so far as known by Monday night.

Thorsby base ball team is scheduled to play Randolph at Thorsby Tuesday; Union Grove Thursday at Thorsby, and Randolph Saturday at Randolph.

Miss Rosa Lee McCuen of Wilsonville is a guest of Miss Linnie Bell Reinhardt.

Mrs. Joe Higgins and Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway of Clanton spent last Tuesday with Mrs. C. M. Gray.

Mrs. H. W. Reinhardt was a visitor with kinfolks and friends at Wilsonville, where she lived before coming to Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Adams had as their guests the past week their daughters, Mrs. Lucille Adams, whose husband is employed in Mississippi, and Mrs. Jnt. Gray, who was accompanied by her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith and Mrs. Wm. Billingsley were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Carey Martin in Thorsby.

Mrs. Claude Billingsley and son, Grady, are visiting friends in Thorsby.

Mr. Rascoe A. Maddox returned Friday from a summer term in college at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Miss Sallie Thompson spent last week with her grandmother, Mrs. Goodgame, in Clanton.

Conway Thornburg entertained last Saturday night Lloyd Howard and Misses Katheryn and Edith Foss, Christine Bosworth and Ella Howard.

Messrs. Fred and Charles Howard motored to Baileyton Sunday to visit a large nursery. They were accompanied by Mrs. O'Barr and the Misses Mable and Lucille Howard.

Mrs. Anna Phalen returned Friday to her home in Tuscaloosa, after a ten days visit with relatives and friends in Thorsby. She was accompanied by her son, Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Littleton, with little daughter, Jennie Claire, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson in Selma.

Duncan and Hattie Davenport, who spent a few weeks with kinfolks and friends in Thorsby, returned to Birmingham Tuesday morning.

Miss Naemi Turnquist returned to Selma Sunday after two weeks vacation.

REMARKABLE CLUBBING OFFER

The Union-Banner, Weekly, one year
The Birmingham Post, Daily, one year

Both for $3.85

The price of The Post alone is $3.50
Here is an opportunity to procure your favorite local paper and a progressive independent daily newspaper at a very special price.

The Price of The Post alone is $3.50

The Union-Banner gives you all of the local news interestingly told. The Birmingham Post prints all the news of the state, nation and world and all the special features of metropolitan dailies.

Send $3.85 for this club today!

Send all orders to

The UNION-BANNER

Clanton, Ala.

WADESONIAN

PROGRAMS

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday
September 3rd, 4th, and 5th

Ken Maynard, In
"SONS OF THE SADDLE"—All Talking
SERIAL—"Spell Of The Circus"—Talking

Monday and Tuesday
September 7th and 8th

Alice White and Lloyd Hughes, In
"SWEETHEARTS ON PARADE"
All Talking
COMEDY—All Talking

Here's a match story. Everybody uses matches. We recently bought a package of them containing six boxes, for 20 cents, being curious to know just how many matches it contained we counted the contents of one box, and found it to be one third of a thousand, therefore, there were approximately 2,000 matches for 20 cents, just one cent per 100, as packed.

It brought to mind a picture stored in our memory, of a visit to a home about seventy-five years ago, where the family was all engaged in making "Lucifer Matches" all the work being done by hand, with a possible product of 2,000 a day made by five people. I do not remember what they sold for, but for the purpose intended nobody could pay enough to make the business very profitable. The application of mechanical, chemical and other inventions, has revolutionized the business and made the manufacturers millionaires, and enabled the product to be sold with a profit at the price quoted. We will mention two notable inventions applied to matches. First, one seldom sees a match these days that does not have groove running its entire length. The purpose of this is to form a sort of chimney, which creates a draft when the match is lighted and causes it to burn more rapidly. A man named Barber invented it and it made millions of dollars for him.

Not many years ago it was found that employees in match factories were slowly being poisoned by inhaling the fumes of phosphorus used as an ignition elment of matches. The U. S. Health Department prohibited its use and manufacturers were compelled to find something else that would answer the purpose; here the chemists came in and solved the problem. Today one can light a match without an explosion and a pungent odor arising from the burning match. The manufacturers of matches in this country today are practically all in the hands of one large concern, through merging of all the principal factories, and yet matches sell cheaper than ever.

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

The program which the Junior Christian Endeavor put on Sunday night was enjoyed very much. We are proud of them and the interest they are taking in their work. May God help them every one to grow strong in the service of Jesus, and may we as Seniors and as parents help and encourage them in every way possible.

Every one who attended the Christian Endeavor social that was had at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams last Friday night reported that they never had a better time. The games were very good and everything went off nicely. The refreshments were very nice and enjoyed by every one, I'm sure.

Our pastor, Bro. Headley, had a special invitation to attend, and we were indeed glad to have him and his wife with us.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sheppard of Clanton spent the past week end with his mother, Mrs. C. A. Surles.

Mrs. W. W. Williams is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Herrod, of Haynes, this week.

Most of all the Sunday school from here attended the singing at Pleasant Grove last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams and family motored to Montgomery, Ala., Sunday afternoon.

We have changed the time for our Sunday school from 9:30 in the morning to 1:30 o'clock in the evening every first Sunday as that is our regular singing evening. Think it will be more convenient on that occasion.

Come to the singing and bring your books and friends with you. You are always welcome.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. C. E. Headley of Verbena was operated on last Tuesday. She is doing nicely.

Mrs. G. E. Plier of Baxley, Ga., is doing nicely and will be going home soon.

Edon Gore went home last week.

Mrs. R. M. Roper and son, who arrived Friday night, are doing nicely.

Mrs. J. O. Wilson will soon be able to go home.

Mr. R. M. Porter was operated on last week, is much improved.

Little Julian Dobbs went home Tuesday.

Mr. Zebbie Gray was admitted to the hospital Tuesday.

Miss Icy Belle Dennis had her tonsils removed Thursday.

Mr. Lans Busby was a patient here one day last week.

Mrs. J. L. Billingsley was discharged Monday.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Lois Cotton of Central Alabama Hospital celebrated her third birthday Monday afternoon, August 13, 1931, from 4 to 6 p. m. The color scheme of pink and green was carried out. Many games were enjoyed by those present, who were: Pat Wyatt, Nell and Lois Rockett, Clay, Jr., Delorous and Joyce Marcus, Johnie Franklin, Flem, Jr. Higgins, Catherine Gardner, Ann Cordelia and Frances Smith, Patty Jean Broadhead, Grace Carter, Ather McMurray, Jane Gilbert, Betty Ann Brand, Sara Nell Sessions, Tommie Sue Littlejohn, Ervin Lande, and Lois Cotton. She was recipient of many nice presents.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

The Church of Christ at Clanton began a series of meetings on last Sunday with large crowds in attendance. The Methodist and Baptist churches dispensed with their evening services and their pastors with many of the members attended the meeting at the Church of Christ. The large crowds gathered find many from other places as well as from Clanton. So far there have meen visitors from Birmingham, Montevallo, Calera, Jemison, Thorsby, Speigners, Maplesville, and Mt. Creek. Monday night there was one confession of faith, with baptizing to take place later.

Evangelist G. A. Dunn, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, is doing the preaching. Although a youth, Mr. Dunn has traveled extensively in his work, and the Church of Christ at Clanton feels fortunate in being able to obtain his services. Mr. Dunn has expressed himself as being well pleased with his reception by the citizens of Clanton.

The meeting will continue throughout the week and a part of next week with services daily at 7:30. Mr. Dunn has toured the Holy Land and has made a special study of this ancient city and will lecture on it on next Monday night. The public is urged to attend every service.

TOM POWELL KILLED MAD DOG EARLY LAST SUNDAY MORNING

Sept 3, 1931

About 3:30 o'clock last Sunday morning Tom Powell of Providence community heard a disturbance among his dogs, and getting up found that there was a strange dog fighting his dogs. He got his gun and killed the strange dog, sending his head to Montgomery, and the head was pronounced positive with rabies.

Mr. Powell said that the dog seemed to be a part fice and part airdale; was white with black spots. It is not known how many more dogs along the road got bitten by the same mad dog.

OPENING OF THORSBY PUBLIC SCHOOL MONDAY

The Thorsby Public School will open on Monday, September 7. We hope that every pupil who expects to attend school here this session will be present for registration even if he can't attend regularly at first All pupils taking ninth grade work are especially urged to register Monday so that we may determine whether there will be enough pupils in this grade to justify our carrying the grade.

We are changing the opening exercises from what they have been in the past. The board of trustees have initiated an idea for the school to hold an all-day educational rally within a few weeks at which time an effort will be made to get every patron of the school out ofr the day. This being the plan of our get-together meeting, the patrons will not be expected to attend the opening next Monday. However, each and every patron who may wish to come will be gladly welcomed then or at any other time.

The devotional exercises will be conducted by one of the local ministers, and G. A. Dunn, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, will lecture to the pupils. after which registration of pupils will be made.—W. T. Bean, prin.

STRAWBERRY MEETING AT MAPLESVILLE SEPT. 5TH

At the strawberry meeting held at Maplesville on the 15th of August, a second meeting was called for September 5th, at 2 p. m.

Everybody in the Maplesville district, who is interested in strawberries, is urged to attend the meeting Saturday, September 5th at 2 p. m.

STANTON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Van Cagle of Centerville visited his brother, C. E. Cagle, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Schurter returned home Sunday after spending a few days with their son, Henry Schurter, at Vredenburgh.

Tom Woolley is visiting friends in Montgomery this week.

Miss Elsie Schurter left for Brewton Friday, where she will resume her work as county school supervisor.

Mrs. W. H. Stuart, J. B. Woolley and Sarah Woolley visited relatives in Tuscaloosa Friday.

Mrs. Will Dawson and daughter, Pauline, have returned to their home in Madisonville, Kenucky, afer a delightful visit here with her sister, Mrs. Hattie Jones.

Several from here attended the home-coming Sunday at Fellowship church, Perry County.

Miss Alma Schurter accompanied her sister, Miss Elsie Schurter, to Brewton Friday.

Miss Mildred Parnell visited friends in Burnsville last week.

C. D. Apperson of Birmingham is visiting his mother, Mrs. Dee Apperson here.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, J. N. Davenport, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Elmore County, for grand larceny, on October 31, 1929, and sentenced to a term of seven years, will make application to the State Board of Pardons for pardon or parole. (Signed) J. N. Davenport.

Look at these wonderful values for Friday and Saturday

LADIES DRESSES
One lot of Ladies fast color, $1.95 Wash Dresses, long sleeves, for 98c

PLAY CLOTH
Fast color Play Cloth, new shipment, heavy weight
10c

Boys and Mens CAPS
One lot of Boys and Mens Caps, worth 75c, for
48c

Full Fashioned HOSE
$1.25 value for
80c

MENS SUITS
One lot of Mens all-wool Suits; $15.00 to $25.00 values for $7.50

MENS HATS
One lot of Mens Felt Hats, $1.75 quality, for $1.00

DRESS SHIRTS
Mens Dress Shirts, all sizes and kinds, for 50c

Childrens Dresses
One lot of fast color, long sleeve Dresses, sizes 7 to 14 years, for 48c

BLOOMERS
Ladies Rayon Bloomers, 48c values for 25c

WORK SHOES
Mens all-leather $2.95 Work Shoes, all sizes, for $1.95

WORK SHIRTS
One lot of Mens 65c Work Shirts
44c

Just received a new shipment of new Fall Silk Dresses and Hats that are beautiful and very reasonably priced.

THE LEADER
MANAGER, M. LANDE
Clanton, Ala.

Mr. S. C. Sloan of Jemison was in Clanton the first of this week trying to get on track of his mule which left his place a few days ago. He heard that the mule was seen down about Billingsley a few days ago, but he has lost track of him again. Read the description of the mule in our want adv. column, and if you will help Mr. Sloan find his mule, we are sure that it will be appreciated.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

CARD OF THANKS

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in this week's issue to thank my many relatives and friends for the lovely flowers that adorned my room during my illness at Central Alabama Hospital. Also the many good things to eat that friends have remembered me with.

Especially am I indebted to Dr. V. J. Gragg, Miss Robinson, and all the nurses for their untiring service to me. Your kindness shall not go unnoticed.—Mrs. G. E. Plier.

Collins Chapel Community

(Fifty Years Ago)

WARREN MADDOX

Warren Maddox was one of the original settlers in the New Salem community. He reared three sets of children.

In the first family there were five boys and one girl. George, the oldest boy, yet lives near New Salem, on a part of the old home place. Jasper lives near Shiloh, and is well known in the southwestern part of the county. Joe moved to Shelby County where he settled and reared his family; he died a few years ago. The other two boys died about the time they were grown. Rebecca, the daughter, married Jim Huett, who died several year ago, leaving her with three boys, who are now grown. One of them lives in Chilton County. The writer does not know where the other two are.

In the second family were one boy, Tommie Maddox, and two girls. Tommie lives now on a part of the old home place of his father near New Salem. He is well known over the county, having held the office of county commissioner for one term. Maggie, the oldest girl of the second family, is the wife of Sidney Stephens, who lives on the Lay Dam road, near Cane Creek. Amie married George Collins. They moved to Shelby County, where she lives now.

In the third family of Warren Maddox there were two boys, Clyde and Claud, both of whom died a few years ago during the flu epidemic.

A FEW FURNITURE BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK-END

Black Diamond and Blue Ribbon Ranges, Guaranteed $24.50
($1.00 week)

34 x 36 inch Library Tables $3.95
(50c week)

Dresserobes, $12.50 to $29.50
($1.00 week)

Kitchen Cabinets .... $7.50 to $39.50
($1.00 week)

Phonographs, $5.00 to $19.50
($1.00 week)

Iron Beds ..... $2.50 to $7.50
(50c week)

6 x 9 felt base Congoleum Floor Covering $2.95
(50c week)

One mahogany finish 3-piece Davinett Set $34.50
($1.00 week)

Philco and Crosley Radios on easy payments

One Round Table, 4 Chairs $12.50
(50c week)

TIFFIN-KLINNER FURNITURE CO.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

MINING COMPANIES PRACTICE FORESTRY

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31.—Mining companies are in an excellent position to practice intensive forestry on their lands, states the Alabama Commission of Forestry. Many Alabama mining companies are becoming aware of the fact that although their lands were acquired primarily for their mineral value, yet a considerable revenue may be derived from other sources. One of the most profitable of these incidental sources of revenue is the management of the surface for the timber production.

Mining operations require large quantities of small size forest products such as props, ties, cap boards, sprag and rock dump poles, rollers and also lumber for mine tipples, bins, buildings, houses, mine cars, brattices, cross collars, and other purposes. The greater portion of the forest products suitable for mining uses can be best utilized from trees too small for profitable use for poles, piling or saw timber.

When timberlands are protected from fire and given forestry management, periodic thinnings may be made which will improve the composition of the forest and yield sufficient products for mining purposes. In addition considerable quantities of high grade forest products such as poles, piling and select saw logs may be disposed of at advantageous times at a good profit.

The proper management of the timberlands reduces the costs of the timber consumed in the mining operation, adds to the capital value of the property and increases the company's earnings.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince and son, Wilbur, visited Harpersville Sunday.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE
Phone - 29
Hubert Farley—at Farmers Hardware Co.

DR. E. R. ODOM and MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic
West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

H. L. MIMS WRITES ON PROPHECIES, ETC.

Woe unto the shepherds that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture, saith the Lord. Ye have scattered my flock and driven them away, and have not visited them; behold I will visit upon you the evil of your doings saith the Lord.—Jer. 23:12.

We have a lot of those kind of prophets today. Note the 18, 19, and 22 verses of Rev. "I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, if any man shall add unto them God shall add unto him the plagues which are written in this book. And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the tree of life, and out of the holy city which is written in this book.

It would take a very large book to hold what some of the prophets are taking away and adding to Revelations. And yet some of them claim that they are inspired.

We have one doctrine that adds 1,775 years to the fulfilling of this book, and one that adds 1,848. Well, if they can add that much they certainly can take away some. I would advise every Bible reader to study the prophecy of Daniel, and when you learn and understand the prophecy of Daniel you can understand Revelations.

We have prophets prophesying for things to come that have passed more than 1,800 years ago. It was the desolation of Jerusalem that the people do not seem to understand,

Note the 24th chapter, 15th verse of Matthew: "When therefore you see the abomination of desolation which was spoken of by Daniel the prophet standing in the holy place, let him that readeth understand."

Danial was speaking of the great warfare the three years war that started in the year of our Lord 68.

"And he shall plant his tents of his palace between the sea and the glorious holy mountain," Daniel 11:45.

Note this was the very place where the Romans formed their camp when Vespasian and Titus besieged Jerusalem.

Note the 12 chapter, 6 verse of Daniel: "And one said to the man clothed in linen which was above the waters of the river; how long shall it be to the end of these wonders? Note the 7 verse: The angel swear by Him that liveth forever that it shall be, for a time, times, and a half time, and when they have made an end of breaking in pieces the power of the holy people all these things shall be finished. This time represents three and one-half years, one time being a year; times two years, half time, one year. And it was at this time that Michael stood up the great prince and there was war in heaven. This was God's vengance on Jerusalem.

Note Luke 21 chapter, 20 verse: "And when ye see Jerusalem compassed with armies then know that her desolation is at hand." Note the 22 verse: "For these are days of vengeance. All things which are written may be fulfilled. Note the 24 verse, "And they shall fall by the edge of the sword, and shall be led captives into all the nations, and Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled."

Note these were Christ's words when He was finishing His ministry on earth. He was thirty-three years old. Thirty-seven years from this time the great tribulation and the destruction that Jesus was speaking about was finished.

Note Luke 21 chapter, 32 verse: "Verily I say unto you this generation shall not pass away til all things be accomplished."

Note St. Mark 13 chapter, 14 verse: "But when ye see the abomination of desolation standing where he ought not, let him that readeth understand, then let them that are in Judea flee unto the mountains, and let him that is on the housetop not go down nor enter in to take anything out of his house.

The people who heard these words saw this desolation.

Note Daniel 12:11: "And from the time that the continual burnt offering shall be taken away, and the abomination maketh desolatoin set up, there shall be a thousand and two hundred and ninety days." This 1,290 days represents 35 years and 5 months.

Note the 33 years and the 35 years equals 68 years, the beginning of the great warfare.—H. L. Mims, Clanton, Ala., Route 1.

AUBURN BACKS FOOTBALL

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24.—Auburn men have never rallied more spiritually behind their football team than they are rallying now as they seek to obtain the best seats for the three big games scheduled at Cramton Bowl this fall. The advance ticket sale, which opened last week, indicates that the Birmingham-Southern, Tulane, and South Carolina games will be a complete sell-out.

Demands for reserved seats are pouring in from all sections of the state, according to reports from ticket hearquarters at May & Green, 13 Commerce Street, Montgomery. The price scale is $2.00 Birmingham-Southern; $3.00 Tulane, and $2.50 South Carolina.

Mail orders must be accompanied by a certified check or money order with 25 cents additional to cover wrapping and mailing costs.

FOURSQUARE CHURCH SERVICES DRAWING GOOD CROWDS

Revival services are still going on at Clanton Foursquare Church, and are attracting good crowds every night. The church wishes to offer its thanks for the good attendance, good attention and good behavior.

The services this year are under the supervision of Rev. and Mrs. Ernest A. Wicks, both graduates of the Foursquare Evangelistic School at Los Angeles, and former members of Angelus Temple, the two institutions made famous over the country by their leader, Aimee Semple McPherson.

A welcome is extended to all to attend the remaining services. Below is given the program through Sunday night, September 6th:

Thursday — "Identification with Christ."

Friday—"Laboring."

Saturday — "God's Prescription" (Divine healing).

Sunday—11:00 a. m., "Separation;" 7:30 p. m., "Rich Man, Poor Man, Beggar Man," Rev. Eva Wicks preaching.

All week day services begin at 7:30 p. m.

Announcement will be made from the pulpit Sunday night as to whether the meeting will continue longer than Sunday night.

AUGUST MARRIAGES

Eddie Lee Wright and Miss Allie Mae Smitherman.

Lonnie Cleckler and Miss Emma Smith.

F. L. Britton and Miss Alice Mildred Miner.

Arrie Liveoak and Miss Myrtle Walter.

Winston Culp and Miss May Ellen Chasteen.

Chester McGraw and Miss Ella Mae Reliford.

Lesley Bean and Miss Lola Erwin.

Dolby Robinson and Miss Christine Murray.

Seaborn Jones and Miss Polly Franklin.

Samuel R. Culpepper and Miss Ada Bell Dobbs.

L. R. Willis and Miss Bonnie Davenport.

Howard Mims and Miss Mary Ellen Wright.

Reuben Cecil White and Miss Nell Joe Martin.

John R. Bean and Mrs. Annie Armstrong.

J. A. Mims and Mrs. Susie Johnson.

Mack Hawes and Miss Retta Goggins.

Clyde Wright and Miss Lillian Mims.

Ollie H. Robinson and Miss Katie Lou Robinson.

DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Following is the program of the District Sunday School Convention to be held at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, Sunday, September 6, 1931:

2:15 p. m., Devotional by E. F. Klinner.

2:30—Reports from all the schools in district, and standard of excellence explained.

2:50—The Sunday school under church control, by T. L. Patrick.

3:05—Grading the Sunday school, and its importance, by Mrs. J. C. Hughes.

3:20—Twelve reasons for teacher training and its importance, by W. A. Patrick.

3:30—The superintendent, his qualifications, by Rev. H. T. Wooten.

3:50—General discussion.

4:00—Adjourn..

Everybody invited to be present. Let's boost our Sunday school. Work and make this the best year.—W. J. Patrick, associate supt.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Our singing was a great success. We had a large crowd. The United Singing Society and singers from other places were with us, and we invite them back.

Directors were W. L. Sanders, Enoch Traywick, A. H. Glasscock, E. L. Glasscock, Floyd Little, Posey Cleckler, Marion Easterling, Andrew Blow, Jasper Oaks. Organists were Mrs. Belle Dorminey, Willie Mae Crawford, Guyeula Collins, and Jessie Dorminey.

We meet at Pleasant Hill next Sunday afternoon. Everybody invited.

CANE CREEK

Next Saturday and Sunday will be our regular preaching days at this place. There will be communion service on Saturday, and it was understood at the close of the revival in August to call a pastor for the next coming year in the next conference, which will be the 1st Saturday in September. We ask for all the members of the church who possibly can to be present on Saturday and also on Sunday for Sunday school and preaching, which will be at 10 o'clock and 11 o'clock.

The people of Mineral Springs, Pleasant Hill, Blow Grave Yard and here have organized a singing society to meet at each place once a month. Later notices will be published in the paper. Come to our singings and always feel welcome at them, for we invite all singers and listeners to our services.

Miss Erin Danforth returned to Birmingham Monday after a vacation spent here with her parents.

J. H. JACKSON GIVES SOME BIBLE FIGURES AND QUOTATIONS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please permit me to say a few words throuugh your good paper? What I say I want to say it for the comfort and consolation of the oppressed, and to the people who desire a righteous rule, and free from oppression. I for one am tired of Mrs. Babylon's rule. Our political and religious and commercial system has become a great city. It is called by John the City of Babylon. He says it is inhabited by devils. It is also a city of speculation and a house of merchandise. Now for fear I may hurt someone's feelings, in regard to the devil I find by reading the Bible that the devil is no larger than a man, and hell is no larger than man makes it, and the devil is a man who opposes justice.

We have been sacrificing to devils. We have been supporting divisions which is very expensive. Our religious and political and commercial system is waxed old and is most ready to pass away. It has become too burdensome when the power of money becomes so great as to build a wall so high between the consumer and the producer that it causes want, hunger and nakedness, misery and distress, it is time for the people to wake up; many ways we sacrifice to devils.

Now, the people are tired of sacrificing to devils, and to Mrs. Babylon. I do believe God has got about enough of it. I do believe that He will bring it to a close the latter part of 1932. I will give my authority for saying this: see Matthew 1 and 17, so we find from Abraham to David are 14 generations, so I understand. When Christ was born that was David's day, that it has reference to. To prove this I will quote a few words, Matthew 1:1, Jesus Christ, the son of David; Matthew 9 and 27, Thou, the son of David, have mercy on us; Matthew 15 and 22, O, Lord, thou son of David, my daughter is grieviously vexed with a devil; also 20 and 30; Mark 10 and 47; Luke 18 and 38; 20 and 41; Romans 1 and 3; Second Timothy 2 and 8; Hebrews 4 and 7; says again He limiteth a certain day, saying in David today after so long a time as it is said today, if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts. Revelations 4 and 7, and to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write these things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David. Revelations 5 and 5, and one of the elders saith unto me weep not, behold the lion of the tribe of India; the root of David hath prevailed to open the book. Revelations 22 and 16 says, I, Jesus, have sent mine angel to testify to you these things in the churches, I am the root and the offspring of David and the bright and morning star.

Luke 1 and 69 says, and hath raised up an horn of salutation for us in the house of His servant, David. Now I think the scripture I have quoted is sufficient to prove that when Christ came it was the day of David, when Matthew said from Abraham to David were 14 generations,here is the part we want to get at. Now from David, as David's day which applies to the birth of Christ, from that time to the going into Babylon are 14 generations, and from the going into Bablyon until Christ are 14 generations, so we see from David, or David's day, is 28 generations, when He is to come and set up His kingdom here on earth. Now, we find in Psalms 90 and 10, the days of our years are three score and 10, evidently 70 years make a generation. I also find that 360 days, a Jewish year. Multiply 360 by 70, giving 25,200, then multiply that by 28, giving 201,600, then add 50,400, we have 705,600 days, which is the generations from David's day, or the birth of Christ, to Christ's second coming, or Christ's day, or His rule or kingdom here on earth.

In other words, there will be 705,600 days from David to His second coming, then multiply 1932 by 365, we get 705,180, then add 483 for leap years, we have 705-663. So, we see these 28 generations expire about October 29, 1932. I have been told that we have an extra day every 100 years, then if so it will expire in November, 1932. However, it is drawing near, I don't understand that Christ will come in person, but in rule, and in power, and in glory, and will take from the hands of the oppressor, the kingdom and will establish His in righteousness, and it will stand forever. With best respect to all.—J. H. Jackson.

WILL VISIT IN BESSEMER

Rev. and Mrs. J. Robert will leave Friday of this week for Bessemer, the former home of Rev. Bean. They will spend the night with the former's son, Percy C. Bean; Saturday morning they will go to Williamsburg church, thirty miles northwest of Bessemer, where Rev. Bean will preach Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. This will close Rev. Bean's seventh year at Williamsburg, with a skip of only one year; he will give up his work at that place. Rev. and Mrs. Bean will return to Clanton Monday of next week.

On the third Sunday in this month they will go to Big Creek, 26 miles southwest of Bessemer, where Rev. Bean will preach Saturday night and Sunday, and will bring to a close his pastorate at that church.

Flavor old age with NEW STRENGTH in the Blood

You'll be surprised how much better you will feel

● Surprise yourself and be the envy of others . . . look better . . . feel better! Blood is Life! Build more red cells in the Blood—thence will come Sturdy Health!!! Countless thousands know this to be a fact. Just take S.S.S. and prove it yourself. You, too, will enjoy your food . . . have firmer flesh . . . sleep sounder . . . your nerves will be calmer . . . your skin will clear up . . . you will possess a greater resistance to infection and disease! S.S.S. is the world's best blood medicine. It is composed of freshly gathered medicinal roots and herbs—a gift from Mother Nature. Successful for over 100 years. It works safely . . . surely . . . swiftly! Make a note of your condition today—then compare the difference six to eight weeks hence.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again.

S.S.S. Purifies and Enriches the Blood

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF CHILTON COUNTY

For Scholastic Year Ending June 30, 1931

RECEIPTS

I. Revenue Receipts:
1. State Funds: General apportionment $42,571.06; bonus $3,000; revolving $1,000; erection, repair, and equipment $1,248.64; library $50; county high $4,500; attendance *$7,933.23; high school *$7,052.85; total			$ 67,355.78
2 County Funds: County tax (3 mills) $40,369.64; poll tax $1,765.50; district tax (3 mills) $37,736.14; total			79,871.28
3. Local Funds: Illiteracy $671.50; erection, repair, and equipment $2,187.41; library $60.00; matriculation fees $3,260.71; gifts, bequests, contributions $1,943.44; total			8,123.06
4. County board of revenue			100.00
5. State and Federal funds for vocational education			8,589.92
7. Rosenwald $513.33; Slater $250; total			763.33
9. Refunds			587.88
II. Nonrevenue Receipts:
10. Loans			$ 800.00
11. Sales of property $345; proceeds of insurance adjustments $750; total			1,095.00
13. Balance from previous year			10,316.61
14. Gross receipts and balance (Total of Items 1 to 13, inclusive)			177,602.86
16. Net amount available for use in county schools during the year			$177,602.86

PAYMENTS

I. General Control (overhead charges):
17. School board (per diem, office expenses, etc.)			$ 388.10
18. Superintendent (salary and expenses, salaries and expenses of office force and assistants—not supervisors)			4,351.65
19. Compulsory attendance (salaries and expenses)			1,200.00
20. Total general control (Items 17 to 19, inclusive)			$ 5,939.75
II. Instruction in Day Schools:	White Schools	Colored Schools	Totals
21. Salaries and expenses of elementary school Supervisors	$ 2,160.00	$	$ 2,160.00
24. Salaries and expenses of high school supervising principals	6,391.41		6,391.41
25. Salaries and expenses of men elementary school teachers	6,534.75	1,068.75	7,603.50
26. Salaries and expenses of women elementary school teachers	48,119.26	5,930.92	54,050.18
27. Salaries and expenses of men junior high school teachers	12,196.41	320.00	12,516.41
28. Salaries and expenses of women junior high school teachers	8,893.72	560.00	9,453.72
29. Salaries and expenses of men senior high school teachers	13,489.54	1,820.00	15,309.54
30. Salaries and expenses of women senior high school teachers	9,628.41	560.00	10,188.41
34. Supplies and other expenses of instruction—elementary school	604.78	70.83	675.61
35. Supplies and other expenses of instruction—high school	1,206.01	212.40	1,418.41
36. Total instruction in day schools (Items 21 to 35, inclusive)	109,224.29	10,542.90	119,767.19
III. Instruction In Evening Schools:
38. High school	2,279.04	705.00	2,984.04
39. Total instruction in evening schools (Items 37 and 38)	2,279.04	705.00	2,984.04
IV. Operation of School Plant:
41. Wages of janitors, engineers, etc., in high schools	450.00		450.00
42. Fuel, light, water, power, janitor's supplies, etc., in elementary schools	794.63		794.63
43. Fuel, light, water, power, janitor's supplies, etc., in high schools	1,170.46		1,170.46
44. Total operation (Items 40 to 43, inclusive)	2,415.09		2,415.09
V. Maintenance of School Plant (repair, upkeep, and replacement):
45. Elementary school	153.40		153.40
46. High School	1,391.78		1,391.78
47. Total maintenance (Items 45 and 46)	1,545.18		1,545.18
VI. Auxiliary Agencies:
48. Elementary school libraries	142.90		142.90
49. High school libraries	323.52		323.52
52. Transportation of pupils to elementary schools	496.75		496.75
53. Transportation of pupils to high schools	19,269.86	652.00	19,921.86
56. Total auxiliary agencies (Items 48 to 55, inclusive)	20,233.03	652.00	20,885.03
VII. Fixed Charges:
57. Pensions, rent, insurance, etc.	2,383.32	215.05	2,598.37
VIII. Capital Outlay:
58. New grounds and buildings, alteration of old buildings—(not repairs)	4,615.00		4,615.00
59. New equipment—(not replacements)	5,109.05		5,109.05
60. Total capital outlay (Items 58 and 59)	9,724.05		9,724.05
IX. Debt Service: (Do not include money borrowed and paid back during year):
61. Liquidation of debts	7,527.40		7,527.40
62. Interest on indebtedness	255.55		255.55
63. Refunds	924.88		924.88
64. Total debt service (Items 61 to 63, inclusive)	8,707.83		8,707.83
65. To Shelby and Autauga Counties	1,974.00		1,974.00
67. Total payments (Items 20, 36, 39, 44, 47, 56, 57, 60, 64, 65, 66)	$164,425.58	$ 12,114.95	$176,540.53
68. Balance at end of year			1,062.33
69. Total payments and balance (Items 67 and 68)			177,602.86
70. School bonds outstanding			800.00

I certify that this report is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.
B. LAWRENCE, Superintendent.

Date—July 10, 1931.—County, Chilton.
Sworn to and subscribed before me this 10th day of July, 1931.
Mrs. JEWEL MARTIN SMITH, Notary Public.

* This amount is in the form of due bills and does not represent cash.

MARS HILL

There will be a cemetery cleaning at Mars Hill September 11th. All who are interested please come and bring tools to do the work. Don't forget the date.—Mrs. J. D. Holdsombeck.

PLEASANT HILL

There will be singing at this place Sunday afternoon (first Sunday in September), beginning at 2 o'clock. We are expecting Mineral Springs, Cane Creek, and other singers to be with us, so we hope they don't disappoint us, and we invite all singers and lovers of music to attend.—Vergie Cost.

MANY WOMEN Have Been Helped Like This

"ABOUT four years ago, I suffered a great deal with pains in my back and side," writes Mrs. D. A. Bush, of Roxton, Texas. "I did not feel like doing my housework, or anything else. I would get nervous, and my back would hurt worse. One of my neighbors asked me what I was doing for myself. I told her 'most everything. Then she asked me if I had ever taken Cardui. I told her 'no' but I would try it. Before I had finished one bottle I could tell the difference in my feelings, but I kept on taking Cardui until I felt strong and well again."

CARDUI FOR WOMEN

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Light delivery truck; first class condition; real good truck for $75

One 1925 Model FORD Touring—A bargain for $10

BATES AUTO SHOP
Clanton - - - Alabama

the radio, they have become one of the most popular teams on the air, their success culminating in their selection as an added feature to the programs of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra.

KILLS GULF Venom Flies and Mosquitoes Roaches, Ants Bed-Bugs Moths

The Spot Comes Out - The Frown Comes Off

When we take charge of a job of cleaning you'll be surprised at the fresh newness our careful process imparts to soiled and worn garments and you'll smile with satisfaction when you note our moderate charges. A phone call will bring our delivery truck promptly.

CALL 119

CLANTON LAUNDRY AND CLEANING CO.

Clanton, Ala.

666

LIQUID OR TABLETS

Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.

666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Phone One-One-One

or Write

The James Sign Shop

CLANTON, ALA.

Outdoor

Painted Display Advertising

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

Foot Itch

Millions Have Athlete's Foot

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Hand Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS

Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL

Isabella High School will open at 9:00 o'clock Monday, September 7. Dr. D. W. Haskew will be the principal speaker. All the patrons and friends of the school are urged to be present at the opening exercises. Dr. Haskew will have something rich in thought and advice for all who are interested in education.

The teachers for next year are as follows:

Mr. J. D. Griffin, mathematics, science, and occupation; Ralph Grant, English, foreign language, and physical education; Miss Ruth Williams, social studies, English, and physical education; Mr. Earle Thomas, vocational agriculture; Miss Bertha Dennis, vocational home economics; Miss Mary Ellis, music.

I shall be at the school building practically all day Saturday the 5th, and shall be glad to confer with students with reference to their work for next year.—J. D. Griffin, prin.

LEGION MEET MONDAY NIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of Chilton County Post of the American Legion will be held at the court house next Monday night. All members of the Post are urged to remember the meeting and be there.

The ladies of the Auxiliary will also have their regular monthly meeting at the same time and place.

MT. NEBO NEWS

We are sorry to hear of Mr. Carl Culp being on the sick list this week; hope he will soon be out again.

Miss Jettie Mims was the guest of Miss Era Scott Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mims and family of Sardis spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sanders and family left Thursday for their home in Baton Rouge, La., after spending three weeks with relatives at Clanton and Sylacauga.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mims and children and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanders and family were he guests of Mr. and Mrs. Green Mims last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Huston Coggins and family spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wyatt at Shiloh.

RAMBLERS REST

Little Hollis Johson of Clanton Route 2 is improving. He was knocked down by a cow on July 23. His parents wish to thank all their friends and neighbors, Dr. Gragg and the nurses at the Central Alabama Hospital, for all their kindness and interest taken in his behalf.

ED SMITHERMAN DIED SATURDAY AT HOME

Ed Smiherman, farmer, age 53 years, died las Saturday afternoon at his home on Lay Dam Road, in Cane Creek community. Burial was at Mt. Pisgah Sunday morning, Martin in charge of the body.

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

REFUGE NEWS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space to say a few words in regard to our Sunday school. We have 99 on roll and there were 90 present in Sunday school last Sunday.

We also have prayer services every Sunday night. Our regular meeting day is the third Sunday; but it will be changed to the fourth Saturday and Sunday at the beginning of the next associational year, which will be the fourth Saturday and Sunday in October. This change was made to accommodate our new pastor and his work elsewhere. Rev. G. G. Williams is our present pastor. Rev. M. Lockhart will take up the work for the next ensuing year.

Bro. Lockhart is a native of this community. He has been a member of this church ever since recently after its constitution. He was also liberated, licensed, and ordained by this, his home church, and we are glad to have him as our pastor for the next year.

We have wonderfully appreciated the great work and leadership of Bro. Williams. We think that he is one of Chilton County's greatest men. It grieves our heart to see him go, but Bro. Lockhart is our property, and we think the time is ripe for him to take this field of work. He was given a unanimous vote by this church, and has kindly accepted the call.—Mrs. J. S. Easterling.

F. F. A. CAMP OF MARBURY BIG SUCCESS

A great time was had by the members of the Marbury chapter F. F. A., on their camp last week at Bridge Creek Hunting and Fishing Camp. Thanks to a well planned program which included lots of good eats and eliminated the usual K. P. duties. The boys were able to enjoy and devote their time to swimming, boating, fishing, boxing, horse-shoe throwing, etc. Including a mock trial, in which Mr. McKee of Marbury, acted as prosecuting attroney, D. E. Burns (member), as defense attorney, Mr. Martin, agricultural teacher, as judge, Mr. Baker, teacher, was accused of being a "general nuisance" and found guilty.

Their program was made a complete success when they had as visitors at various times the following: Mr. Harvey Botteford, Marbury's coach for next year; Mr. and Mrs. Teal and children (Mr. Teal is the new principal of Marbury High School); Miss Helen Gilbert, teacher of Marbury; Mr. Martin, agricultural teacher of Marbury; Mr. McKee, Marbury; Mr. L. C. Rew, county agent; Miss Josie Barefield, and Miss Nora Rogers, both of Marbury; and Mr. Baker, teacher of South Alabama.

Some very interesting after dinner speeches were made on different occasions, and the chapter as a body, wish to extend their appreciation to Mr. Teal, for his sincere offer of cooperation in making this club a success in 1932; also Botteford for the splendid program he outlined along athletic lines; and Mr. Martin, who has made this club a success by his keen interest and cooperation. Other helpful and interesting talks were made by Mr. Baker, Mr. Rew, and Mr. McKee.

During camp there was much quick repartee and fun between Mr. Baker and Mr. McKee which caused much merriment. A good time was had by all, including the discussion of plans for next year's activities. So succesful was this camp that they hope to make it an annual event. They wish to thank Mr. Gaines, over-seer of the club, for his every effort toward the success of this camp and the courtesies extended.

INDIAN GRAVE

Mrs. J. B. Deramus is spending a week with her sister in Birmingham.

Miss Minnie Carter spent the day Sunday with Mrs. Sallie Wyatt.

Mrs. Pratt Billingsley spent the day with Mrs. Arthur Wyatt.

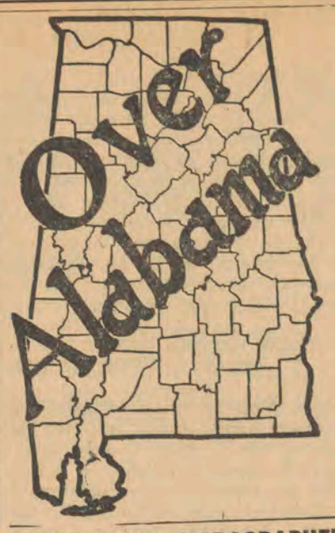
Mrs. Maggie Roy and three of her nieces visited Mrs. Zeak Wright Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Eula B. Gaines attended the funeral of Mr. G. W. Wyatt at the Wyatt cemetery.

Mrs. Claud Herrod and children have returned home.

Mrs. Alice Herrod spent the afternoon at Mrs. Sallie Wyatt's Sunday.

Mr. J. Bob Deramus visited Mr. Arthur Wyatt Sunday afternoon.



Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Golson and family visited Mrs. Janie Emfinger Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Carson spent the week end at his parents' home.

We sure were proud to have so many visitors out Sunday night at the B. Y. P. U. service. After the B. Y. P. U. program all went to Billingsley for preaching.

There will be preaching Sunday morning and baptizing Sunday afternoon. Everybody come and bring your friends.

Vatchel Lindsey spent his vacation in Coosa County last week. He went over Monday evening to Bazemore's Cross Roads, and spent the night with Oss Stewart; then went to the home of C. N. Dosier Tuesday near Weogufka, and stayed there till Sunday morning. He went from there back to Oss Stewart's and Zebbie Stewart and brother brought him to Mims Ferry, and he came on into Clanton by auto.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Milton H. Lanier has been chosen president of the Huntsville Bar Association.

Florence State Teachers College will open Sept. 14, according to Dean C. B. Collier.

H. B. Brown, finger print expert, has been added to the Dallas County law enforcement department.

Capt. John A. Schneider, of Montgomery, has been appointed as chief clerk in the secretary of state's office.

Gov. B. M. Miller has granted three paroles for Jefferson County convicts, H. A. Fields, Lawrence Sanders and Len Young.

Eugene H. Hawkins, 34, Birmingham attorney, has been named probate judge of Jefferson County by Gov. B. M. Miller.

Nurserymen from every section of the South attended the annual convention of Southern Nurserymen's Association at Huntsville.

About 20 airplanes will leave Birmingham early in September for a good-will tour of Alabama. The tour will last for five days or more.

Gov. Miller granted paroles during good behavior to 11 state convicts upon recommendation of trial judges and the State Board of Pardons.

A new Presbyterian Church, with Dr. Trevor P. Mordecai, ousted pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, at its head, is being formed in Birmingham.

The Alabama Public Service Commission granted authority to the Louisville and Nashville Railroad to lower its cotton rates on the Alabama-Florida Division.

Jerman Lewis Warren, 35, of Birmingham, was drowned in the Warrior River and Rachel Kirby, 22, Scottsboro, was drowned in the Tennessee River.

Convicted of manslaughter as an outgrowth of an auto collision which killed three persons, Bob Wells, of Union, faced a 10-year imprisonment term at Decatur.

Harvey J. Elms, 51, manager of the Birmingham branch of Southern Dairies, died suddenly while vacationing at a fishing camp at Point Clear, Ala., on Mobile Bay.

Alabama chapter of Reserve Officers Assn., of the United States held it's annual meeting recently in Birmingham and elected Col. John Hill, Birmingham, state president.

The state board of education adopted a resolution disclaiming responsibility for any debts contracted by the four state teachers' colleges in excess of their annual budgets.

Willis M. True, 33, who escaped from a Jefferson County convict camp nine years ago, walked into the sheriff's office to pay his "debt to the State of Alabama" and win back a divorced wife.

Five thousand citizens of Alabama have been requested to contribute $5 each to Alabama College for Women, so that girls who do not have funds but do have intellect and character may be educated.

Capt. L. G. Smith, state highway director, has sent out a warning to all bus and truck operators that the Beebe act limiting the size, weight and speed of busses and trucks would be strictly enforced.

Gov. B. M. Miller has called special elections in Mobile and Geneva Counties on Sept. 28 to fill vacancies in the House, the move strengthening the belief at the capitol that a special session of the Legislature is imminent.

The State Board of Education has rescinded a resolution adopted in 1925 granting Department of Education officials the right to accept pay for teaching services while on leave of absence with pay from their departmental duties.

Federal Judge Charles B. Kennamer at Montgomery, has ruled for the Brown-Crummer Investment Company of Kansas in the company's suit against the town of Florala to enforce payment of approximately $130,000 in paving bonds.

Two girls who ran away from the State Training School for Girls at Birmingham during recent outbreaks there and were married before their apprehension are no longer wards of the institution, Thomas E. Knight, Jr., attorney general, ruled.

Thomas J. Judge, Birmingham attorney, refused to deny or affirm the report that he had been offered the appointment of probate judge of Jefferson at a price. "I have no public statement," Judge said, "but will tell my story to a grand jury if I am asked."

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

EDITORS SAY FARMERS HAVE FOOD AND FEED

Because they have food and feed crops in sight for this winter, Alabama farmers have more occasion to be optimistic than do other classes of citizens, writes over twenty-four weekly newspaper editors to the Department of Agriculture.

It is generaly agreed by the editors that there has been a tendency among farmers not to place all their "eggs" in the "cotton basket" but have diversified by growing various crops and have reduced production cost.

The general tone of the letters to the Department is exemplified by that of G. A. Carleton, editor of the Grove Hill Democrat, who said: "We may not be flushed with cash this fall, but everybody will be well fed, content and happy."

Editors who have written letters to the Department to date are: E. P. Lakeman, Advertiser-Journal, Haleyville; Joe M. Pelham, Jr., Washington County News, Chatom; G. H. Williamson, Geneva County Reaper, Geneva; W. F. McCarthney, Ledger, Samson; Mrs. Mattie Bankston, The Spotlight, Haleyville; Jack M. Pratt, Herald, Carrollton; James Bankston, Sentinel, Hackleburg; R. E. Sutton, Democrat-Reporter, Linden; Cullen Morgan, News, Moundville; M. S. Hansbrough, News, Russellville; J. D. Byars, Advertiser, Moulton; A. Ayers, Progressive Age, Gordo; A. H. Cather, Jefferson Countian, Leeds; S. D. McCormick, News-Herald, Hartford; Marcy B. Darnall, Herald, Florence; Ben Bloodworth, Daily, Decatur; J. F. Cooley, Tribune, Fort Payne; E. C. Hall, Outlook, Alexander City; T. E. Wyatt, Union-Banner, Clanton; G. A. Carleton, Democrat, Grove Hill; W. B. Ford, Northwest Alabamian, Fayette; J. P. Shelton, Rural Advocate; Tuscaloosa; H. E. Digby, Journal, York; A. Summers, Enterprise, Goodwater.

MAINTAIN CONDITION OF YOUR DRY COWS

(By Prof. W. B. Krueck)

Many dairymen are likely to overlook the importance of keeping considerable reserve flesh on dry cows during the summer and fall months. The hot weather and dry pastures are likely to cause a reduction in flesh rather than an increase in flesh on cows that are supposed to be undergoing a rest period.

If cows that are losing flesh at the present time go on washy fall pastures when flies are bad, they are not likely to gain any body weight. If they freshen about the time that cold weather approaches, the feeder will find it quite difficult to maintain the body condition of these cows during the winter months.

If the body condition of these cows cannot be maintained, maximum production, maximum profits and maximum efficiency of these cows cannot be expected.

The feeding of a grain mixture running from twelve to fifteen per cent protein in limited quantities to dry cows during the next two months will be a good investment. It will build the reserve on these cows, it will give them flesh to draw upon at freshening time and it will help to maintain high milk production and maximum efficiency during the coming winter production months.

Although there are territories that apparently have a surplus of milk, all efficient business management demands that the units which go to make up that business be operated at maximum efficiency. The dairy cow is a machine and, therefore, the dairyman should aim to keep his machine in such a condition that it may operate at maximum efficiency for him.

Miss Verla Ray Dozier of Guin spent the past week end with friends in Clanton.

Thorsby Gin

We have procured the services of Mr. Andrew Davis to operate our gin this season, who is well known in this section as a good ginner. Mr. Davis will do his best to please each and every customer.

Our machinery has been thoroughly gone over, and is in the best of shape for doing satisfactory work. Your business will be appreciated.

Thompson Brothers Gin & Warehouse Company

THORSBY, ALABAMA

ADDING MACHINE PAPER

Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c

The Union-Banner

PHONE 63

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at

The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR

CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA

Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service

Flowers for all Occasions

ALABAMA'S LARGEST
HILL'S
FOOD DISTRIBUTORS

SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK-END
Friday & Saturday

White Meat best quality lb 9½c
Flour Split Silk 24-lb 49c
LARD Pure Hog 1-lb 10c
50-lb. can $4.75
Sugar 10 lb 50c
Coffee 7-lb $1.00
Guaranteed to Please You
SOAP Export 8 bars 25c
Flour Grandma's Wonder 24-lb 73c
Shorts Best grade 100-lbs $1.25
Chicken Feed 100 lb $1.85
Salmon per can 10c
VINEGAR gal. 25c

— FRUIT JARS —
pints doz 65c quarts doz 78c ½ gal doz $1.05

SYRUP Red Hill gallon 59c
Catsup large bottle 12c
MILK All Brands 2 Large cans 15c
Matches 10 large boxes 25c

Bring Us Your Chickens and Eggs
We Pay the HIGHEST CASH PRICES

ALABAMA'S LARGEST
HILL'S
FOOD DISTRIBUTORS
CLANTON, ALABAMA

FIST BALE OF COTTON WEDNESDAY, AUG. 26

The first bale of cotton of the 1931 crop was brought to Clanton last Wednesday afternoon by Verge Culver, whose farm is on the Selma Road just west of Clanton. It was ginned by Mullins and Popwell, and was sold to W. I. Mullins for 6 cents a pound.

The second bale was brought in by Joe Logan, of the Mt. Pleasant comunity, Thursday, August 27. It was ginned by Joe Maddox.

HARLEM BEAN GETS COUNTY POOR HOUSE

The Commissioners Court last Saturday awarded the contract for keeping the Chilton County almshouse to Harlem Bean. In acting upon the matter a large number of applications were considered by the Court. When the vote was taken Commissioners Mims and Cobb voted for T. D. Hall, and Commissioners Vinson and Burnett voted for Harlem Bean. Judge Reynolds cast the deciding vote in favor of Bean.

The folowing is the list of applicants as given out at the Probate office:

J. F. Patterson, C. A. Gore, O. G. Price, John Mims, Henry T. Gore, J. A. Headley, J. L. Mims, E. F. Taylor, I. W. Bice, Ernest Moore, W. T. Patterson, W. T. Thames, Green Dorminey, B. F. Vines, C. A. Arant, Perry Giles, Sam Mims, B. G. Jones, John T. Thompson, W. H. Killingsworth, Percy Freeman, Mrs. D. H. Gentry, J. E. Mims, B. F. Clark, Harlem Bean, Erby Littlejohn, W. M. Heath, J. A. Culp, T. D. Hall, J. T. Burnett, J. W. Williams, J. L. Burnett, W. J. Miner.

BOOKER WASHINGTON ASS'N

The officials of the Booker Washington Association are making plans effective for transportation of the material for the building site this week, with the intention of breaking the ground on Labor Day. They are soliciting the cooperation of the citizens of all races and denominations, to make the first Sunday in September red letter day by sending or reporting a donation to the office in Montgomery, or on the ground Monday.

The Association will meet at Shady Grove Church at Verbena, Alabama, Sunday at 11 o'clock. The Association Glee Club will furnish music for the occasion. We are hoping that every church in the surrounding vicinity will have a representative there that will make a donation for each church or organization. The Glee Club will also sing at other places for the interest of the Association, if such can be arranged. For arrangements, for engagements, you may write or call Prof. C. L. Rhodes, Verbena, Ala., a member of the board of trustees and chairman of the committee on arrangements; or Miss Erline P. Merkerson, Box 1292, Montgomery, Ala. Address all communications to Booker Washington Association, Box 1292 Montgomery, Ala.

EAGLE'S NEST CAMP

Another happy, successful season at Eagle's Nest Camp for girls, Brevard, N. C., ended this week with a gala banquet presided over by the Director, Miss Carol Purse Oppenheimer of Savanah, Ga. Among those present was Miss Peggy Page of Clanton.

Almost at once guests began arriving from several states for the post season family camp which Miss Oppenheimer has conducted with so much success the past few years.—Carol P. Oppenheimer.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

Our Sunday School is still growing better every Sunday.

Our Intermediates put on a nice Sunday school program last Sunday morning.

There is going to be another program next Sunday morning.

Everybody come to Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock with a good lesson; also a cheerful and praying heart, and we will have one more good Sunday school.

NEWS OF SHERIFF'S OFFICE

The first of last week, about August 25th, the Sheriff and his deputies captured a wild cat still in operation near Macedonia in the northwestern part of the county. Four men were arrested in connection with the operation.

During this week there has been one arrest for driving a car while intoxicated; one for presenting firearms unlawfully; and one for assault and battery.

Week End SPECIALS

81 by 90 KRINKLED BED SPREADS

We have 120 of the good grade krinkled Bed Spreads in full standard size, all colors, limit 2 to a customer, for Friday and Saturday, as long as stock lasts. Come early if you expect yours, only

50c EACH

36-INCH BROADCLOTH

We have reduced our prices in Broadcloth down to 15c in this lot. All pretty shades and white, full 36 inches wide. For Friday and Saturday of this week this cloth is going at the special price of

10c PER YARD

Chicago Sales Co.
Reedie Taylor, Manager Clanton, Alabama

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW IN CLANTON, SEPT. 18-19

Mr. Stapp and the Jersey Calf Club members anonunce that they will hold a Jersey show at Clanton the 19th of September.

All Chilton County owners of pure bred Jerseys are invited to take part in the show. The cattle will be brought in Friday, September 18, and the judging will take place Saturday morning, September 19. Immediately following the judging, the cattle will be paraded through the streets of Clanton.

Many of the club boys are already grooming and blanketing their cattle, getting them ready for the local show.

About ten of the best individual animals belonging to Calf Club members will be taken to Anniston the 12th of October for a district show.

BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Mrs. Arnie Powell of Verbena was guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baxter, Friday.

Messrs. Bazel and Letcher Thompson left last Tuesday for York, Penn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Apperson and sons, Henry Milton and Otto, motored to Log Cabin Beach last Sunday to attend the Chilton and Coosa reunion.

Mr. R. E. Upton of Dothan is visiting friends in our town this week.

Mrs. Zack Pennington of Northport is guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Patrick, this week.

Mr. Bob Walker of Plantersville attended church here last Sunday evening.

Misses Jessie May and Frances Apperson of Jones are guests of Miss Mable King for the week.

Rev. Jones of Dadeville, assisted by Rev. S. A. Bentley, are conducting a revival at the Baptist Church here this week.

Miss Elizabeth Williams of Clanton is guest of Mrs. J. F. Apperson.

Mr. W. J. Patrick and family went to Birmingham Tuesday to attend the funeral of their friend, Mr. Hall.

A goodly number of our town attended the funeral of Mr. Wyatt at Independence last Sunday.

The speeches made here Saturday by the farm demonstration agents were attended and enjoyed by a large crowd.

C. F. Jones, Percy Pitts, Grover Walker and L. F. Gerald went to Sylacauga Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mr. J. B. Atkinson's father.

FROM FRIEND BILL

The Union-Banner has a communication from our Friend Bill on Route 7, but on account of being a little crowded this week were forced to leave it out. But we will run it in the paper next week. Everybody be on the watch-out for this article in next week's Union-Banner.

STREET APPOINTED

Oliver D. Street, Jr., prominent attorney of Guntersville, and son of Oliver D. Street, lawyer and Republican leader of the State, yesterday was appointed clerk of the United States District Court of the Middle District of Alabama, by Charles B. Kennamer.

CARD OF THANKS

Through the columns of your paper we wish to thank the people of Gardendale, East Lake and Howard College, and of Dargin in Shelby County, and all others, for their kind and sympathetic help extended at the recent death of our husband and son, Rev. A. D. Huett, on August 28th.

Your many acts of helpfulness and words of sympathy and kindness both before and at the funeral have been the source of a great boon to us during our sad bereavement. We pray that Almighty God may bless you all abundantly.—Mrs. A. D. Huett and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett and Family.

JEMISON FARM NEWS

The Department of Vocational Agriculture of the Jemison High School will make a strong effort to get a large acreage of strawberries planted in the Providence community, seven miles north of Jemison. An evening school will begin there at 7:30 o'clock, p. m., on Thursday of this week.

There will be a number of meetings and the latest information will be given. Old growers, as J. D. Sutley and J. T. Childress, will be called upon to give their experiences in growing strawberries.

An effort will be made to incourage the growing of Austrian peas and vetch.

Demonstrations in laying off terraces will be part of the course at these evening schools. The farmers of the Providence and sorrounding communities are urged to attend.

FOR SALE

Abruzzi Rye, recleaned Seed Oats, Cotton Seed Meal, and Fertilizers.
J. N. DENNIS 9-3-4c

Col. A. C. Smith, attorney, of Clanton, has been seriously ill for the past week.

ANOTHER RECORD IN BARGAINS!

Willard Batteries Now..

$6.95 13 PLATE and up

Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging All Makes of Batteries

Bates Auto Shop
On the Highway

Willard STORAGE BATTERIES
For Greater Service and Satisfaction from Any Make of Battery Use Willard Service Regularly

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered Druggist
THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

WALNUT CREEK

Our Sunday school is still incraesing in membership, for which we are very grateful. We had two new members in the Young People's Class Sunday, with an attendance of 20. The absence was due to sickness.

The "Hear the Book Meeting" at Christian Endeavor on last Sunday night was a success. The program was carried out in splendid order. There were only a few absentees, and most of those were due to sickness.

We are going to have a sunrise prayer meeting at the church on next Sunday morning, and we invite everyone who will to come and take part with us.

Our Christian Endeavor topic for next Sunday night is "prayer, Jesus's Teachings, and Examples." We are planning to have a great meeting, and have all the prayers of Jesus discussed. We meet at 7 o'clock, and visitors are always invited, and welcome.—Secretary.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

LAND FOR SALE—40 acres 1-2 mile west of Lomax, 3 miles north of Clanton. Good dwelling and out buildings. Will sell for small cash payment and balance on easy terms. —G. W. Robinson, Clanton R 4. 1d

ROOMS AND BOARD—I can furnish you rooms and board, or can serve meals, restaurant style.—Annie Mae Stanton, on Main Street, next to Tom Rockett home. 8-13-4c

PATENTS

Sell your invention or patent by exhibiting your model or drawing at the Second International Patent Exposition, September 14 to 27, Chicago. Thousands of manufacturers and patent buyers will inspect new devices and patents for marketing. Rates $1.00 per day for 14 days, entitling you to 14 feet. If you have no model, drawing or description will do. Send for free pamphlet if you have time. If not, send $14.00 with descriptions and drawings and we will look after your patent interests. B. Hamilton Edison, managing director, International Patent Exposition, Merchandise Mart, Chicago. 9-3-3tch.

STRAY MULE—Strayed from my place 4 miles north of Jemison on paved highway, Thursday night, August 27th. Sorrel horse mule, 800 pounds, 8 years old, bare footed. In good condition.—S. C. Sloan, Jemison, Ala., Rte 3. 1pd.

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

FOR SALE—Second-hand 35-gallon Cypress sirup barrels; extra good, just what you need for your sirup; 75 cents each.—K. A. Ekblad, Thorsby, Ala. 8273d

WANTED—Housekeeper, white, 20 to 50 years of age, to live with two old people in country; very little work; small wages. Write to R. T. Grant, Verbena, Ala. 1c.

WANTED TO TRADE—A subscription to The Union-Banner for a load of grate wood, or a load of lightwood knots. If you have more of either of these than you have cash, and want The Union-Banner, we might get up a trade. Ask T. E. Wyatt at The Union-Banner office.

FARM FOR SALE—I have a sixty-acre farm, 5 miles north of Clanton on cement road; good 5-room house; 125 pecan trees bearing; 100 good peach trees bearing; land is level, sandy loam, very fertile, easy cultivated, and well adapted to strawberries and all kind truck gardens. Will take small farm as part, and give terms on balance.—W. A. Reynolds, Clanton, Ala. 9-3-2c.

NOTICE

Anyone who wishes to have garage work done we are at your service, at Giles Service Station, on Lay Dam Road. We will be glad for you to have your automobile work done with us. We give first class work at a reasonable price, and guarantee our work. We also carry used parts, free air, and do road service.

Delbert Brand and Reid Giles

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXIX.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1931 NUMBER 20

SINGING SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Organization Began Its Second Year With Meeting Held Last Sunday

The Central Singing Society launched out on its second year last Sunday when new officers were elected and forthwith took charge and conducted the singing at Concord church, two miles east of Clanton. The society was organized at that place on the first Sunday in September, 1930, and since that time has failed to meet only one time—being rained out one Sunday that it was supposed to meet at Walnut Creek. Of course, the society called in its regular meeting several times in order for its members to go to all day singings. There has not been a single Sunday afternoon that the society met when there was a lack of interest; there were good singings every single time.

The new officers elected were: Chairman, L. T. Grant; first and second vice Chairmen, O. L. Devaughn and Archie Devaughn; Secretary-Treasurer, T. E. Wyatt; Chaplain, R. M. Robinson. The Committee for arranging the programs and attending to other business for the society was appointed by the new chairman as follows: Willie L. Mims, W. M. Devaughn and J. R. Robinson. If the readers of this paper will allow the secretary to ignore himself, we will state that the above list of officers are competent and trustworthy in every respect. They are heartily interested in the advancement of singing and will do their best to make this year's work the best success possible, and will accomplish such success with the proper support from the members of the society.

It was decided by the society to purchase two dozen Stamps-Baxter books to have on hand for visiting singers; all members were urged to purchase books of their own. It was also decided that arrangements be made by next Sunday afternoon to purchase the same number of the Morris-Henson books. So all members please come prepared next Sunday afternoon to raise a small collection for this purpose.

Those directing in the singing last Sunday afternoon at Concord were: J. W. Clackler, T. E. Wyatt, Lee J. Grant, Chester Wyatt, O. L. Devaughn, J. R. Robinson and Jesse Jones. Three quartets were sung by W. M. Devaughn, Jesse Jones, Archie Devaughn and Elbert Hall.

The society will meet next Sunday afternoon at Providence. Singers and lovers of music in this part of the county have a cordial invitation to attend this as well as all subsequent meetings of the society.

REV. BEAN ELECTED PASTOR FOR FRIENDSHIP NEXT YEAR

At a special called conference last Sunday night Rev. J. Robert Bean was unanimously re-elected pastor of Friendship church for the coming associational year. No other preacher was nominated.

Other officers for the church and Sunday school were elected as follows: Church clerk, T. E. Wyatt; Sunday School Superintendent, Cleve Wyatt; Assistant Superintendent, T. E. Wyatt; Secretary, Dorothy McKinnon; teacher Bible Class, H. F. McCary; Junior Class, Mrs. M. C. Wyatt, Card Class, Mrs. Sarah Collins.

H. F. McCary served as moderator of the conference, and had the following appointed as delegates from the church to the association: Cleve Wyatt, J. Dudley Collins, R. E. Hand, H. V. Honeycutt; alternate Henry Miller. The amount of $5.00 was pledged for associational purposes.

During the conference the matter of rescinding a former action of the church clerk in erroneously writing a letter of dismission for Mrs. Caby Moatts was effected and the clerk ordered to write Mrs. Moatts stating the attitude and action of the church regarding the matter.

Mrs. C. E. Stapp has again started out in the work of school attendance officer for Chilton County. At present she is operating under a temporary agreement with the school board, but Supt. Lawrence says he expects the board at an early date to reach a permanent arrangement whereby Mrs. Stapp will be employed for the entire year.

County Agent C. E. Stapp made the opening address at Jemison High School Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Giles of Birmingham were visitors to Clanton during the past week.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We are pleased with the way our Sunday school is growing. We are making next Sunday "Rally Day" in our Sunday school, and we want you present. Come and bring some one with you. The day schools are now in progress, and you should line up with your church.

At 11 a. m., we have a special subject: "The Power of Music." If you are a lover of music we urge that you hear this message. At 7:30 Sunday night we have a special subject for young people: "If I were a Youth Again." We are making this service one of special honor for the high school students and the faculty of the school. We will reserve seats of honor for them, and we urge the attendance of every student and teacher. Let the parents come and bringg the children.

All officers and teachers in the Sunday school are requested to be present at the church next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. Matters of importance will be discussed.

Line up with your church at once and let's put new life into our churches.

LEASED WILLIS PLACE

Mr. P. H. Knox, of Birmingham, has leased the store and filling station of Watt Willis on the highway north of Clanton. He will live in the house across the road from the store. Before going to Birmingham Mr. Knox lived at Eclectic, in Elmore County.

LEGION WATCHES FOR PROPAGANDA

Department of Americanism Is Established By War Veterans

A timely movement has been inaugurated by the American Legion of Alabama to combat and stem the tide of communist activities now surging in the State of Alabama. The Legion regards it as a matter of serious concern to take prompt and deliberate action and cooperate with local civil authorities to apply appropriate corrective measures. The American Legion will keep a constant eye open for all un-American propaganda and its influences.

At the meeting of Chilton County Post No. 6 Monday night, this matter was taken up in its local application to our county, and proper steps were taken to perfect a local Americanism organization under the direction of officials of the local Post.

A committee was appointed to have charge of this program, and it was indicated that extreme vigilance will be maintained to apprehend any communist activities and have such activities brought to the attention of local law enforcement authorities.

Movements of any kind contrary to the fundamental ideals and principles of Americanism will meet the prompt and rigid measures that characterize the attitude of the American Legion toward such movements.

LEGION HAD BIG TIME LAST MONDAY NIGHT

The members of Chilton County Post No. 6, of the American Legion had the biggest time of the year when they were entertained by the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary at the Clanton Methodist Church.

The program consisted of various games and contests that provoked a round hilarity. The whole group was divided into four sections headed by the following captains: Rev. Haskew, J. E. Gore, Duke Woodson, and Mack Wyatt. Each section carried out each item on the program, as directed by Mrs. Percy Pitts, and was graded according to the efficiency with which each number was performed. When the final score was announced, the prize was awarded to the group headed by Mack Wyatt.

Punch and sandwiches were served by three little girls, Jane and Myrtle Pitts, and Theda Wyatt. Percy Pitts, Jr., rendered a violin solo, and his daddy sang with him "When the Moon Comes over the Mountain."

Prior to the entertainment at the Methodist Church the Legion Post held its regular monthly business meeting at the courthouse, where a number of important matters were disposed of.

Everybody thoroughly enjoyed the evening from start to finish, and the hope was expressed that the Auxiliary will give another party for us as soon as possible.

Sam Gowan made a trip to Auburn Monday.

LAW REGULATING BERRY GRADES

Act Was Passed At Recent Session of the State Legislature

During the past session of the Alabama Legislature Representative Kelly of Conecuh County, introduced a strawberry bill which was enacted into law. For the information of strawberry growers of this county we quote the act in full:

An Act

To create official state grades for strawberries and prescribe the marking of containers therefor; and to provide penalities for the violation of this act.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of Alabama

Section 1—That the grades for strawberries recommended by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture and recognized in the central markets of the country as government grades with an additional grade to be known as Alabama combination grade, it being an intermediate grade between U. S. Number One and U. S. Number Two, are hereby made the official state grades for all strawberries in the State of Alabama presented for intrastate or interstate shipment, and that all containers so presented for shipment, whether by truck, train, or boat, shall have stamped thereon the name, address or serial number of the person producing or marketing the strawberries, as well as the name and grade of the strawberries contained therein. No standard established under this section for the grade of strawberries shall effect the right of any person to dispose of such strawberries without conforming to the standards set forth in such, but when such strawberries are presented for shipment without having been graded to conform to such standards, such person shall be required to mark or stamp in a conspicuous place on each crate or container, in dark colored letters not less than one inch in height, the word "unclassified," or the word "ungraded," as the case may be.

Section 2—Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be fined not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars, nor more than five hundred ($500.00) dollars, and may also be sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail or hard labor for the county jail, or hard labor for the one or both, in the discretion of the court.—Approved July 30, 1931.

FOURSQUARE CHURCH

Mrs. Mae Schultz, of Los Angeles, has been preaching every night this week at the Foursquare Church in Clanton. She will continue to preach every night at 7:30, up to and including Sunday night, with a sermon at 11 a. m., Sunday.

Mrs. Schultz is a former Chilton County girl, and was converted at a service held in the old Baptist church in Clanton, which burned a few years ago. After leaving Clanton she lived near Bristow, Okla., where she knew the Wiley Smith family.

Her present home is in Costa Mesa, Calif., where she, with her husband, have care of a Foursquare Church. She is a graduate of the Foursquare Evangelistic Sdhool. She invites any and all to the services being held every night.

ALLIE C. SMITH DIED MONDAY

Was Prominent Lawyer and Beloved Citizen For the Past Forty Years

Allie C. Smith, age 69 years, died at his home in Clanton Monday night at 8:45, after an illness of several weeks. The funeral was held Wednesday at Clanton Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell, after which burial was at Samaria cemetery, in charge of Mell Martin.

Honorary pallbearers were members of the Clanton bar, as follows: G. C. Walker, V. J. Heard, Grady Reynolds, L. F. Gerald, Omar Reynolds, Claudie Pipes, J. B. Atkinson, Percy M. Pitts. Active pallbearers were J. R. Mullins, C. Fenn Jones, J. Hance Alred, Frank Callen, Dr. E. G. Hyman, Guy Higgins.

Mr. Smith is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Fannie Smith, two sons, Cecil Smith, lawyer, of Lakeland, Fla., and Raymond Smith, lawyer, of Clanton; three daughters, Mrs. Caldwell Roper, of Birmingham; Mrs. Turner Dennis, of Clanton; and Miss Mary Alice Smith, of Clanton. He has two brothers, J. Wiley Smith, and Robert Smith, of Clanton.

Mr. Smith was born in Georgia, the son of Miles Smith and Martha Brassel Smith. He came to Clanton from Coosa County several years ago and began the practice of law, which profession he followed actively until a few weeks before his death. He had been the senior member of the Clanton Bar for many years.

During his career as a lawyer Mr. Smith has been one of the most prominent men of Chilton County. As a citizen he has always been universally loved and respected by everybody. He was a good man, and his passing from among us will leave a vacancy that can never be filled.

HIGH SCHOOL WON LOVING CUP

Mrs. C. E. Stapp announces that the Chilton County High School won the Peoples Savings Bank loving cup for the best average attendance of any high school in the county last year.

MAPLESVILLE LUMBER MAN

Mr. E. L. Stringfellow, of Maplesville Lumber Company, was a business visitor to Clanton Monday. Mr. Stringfellow is a hustling young business man who is out after business in a whole-hearted manner.

Recently he was awarded contracts by the County Board of Education for making some additions to the schools at Isabella and Maplesville. He stated Monday that these two jobs are being pushed rapidly, and will be finished on schedule time.

"We are pushing our lumber business now while prices are low," said Mr. Stringfellow. "We urge all who may be interested in building anything to take advantage of our low prices."

Elsewhere in this paper will be found the advertisement of the Maplesville Lumber Co., giving some prices on standard items of lumber and building material.

Misses Lottie and Mary Scarbrough of Birmingham are spending this week with their grand parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Foshee, of Liberty Hill community.

Cotton Meeting Here Saturday

Editor Union-Banner:

I have been requested by Hon. J. B. Barnett, a member of the Long Cotton Plan Committee in Alabama, to get the sentiment of the people of Chilton County on this question.

The people are therefore hereby requested to meet at the courthouse on next Saturday, September 12, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of expressing yourselves as to whether or not the legislature of Alabama shall be called together in special session for the purpose of taking action on the cotton situation.

The Long Plan, if adopted, will prevent the growing of cotton next year. I especially urge all bankers and persons holding mortgages on cotton, as well as the growers of cotton and all persons with any interest whatsoever in the subject to come to this meeting.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.

CLOSES MEETING AT LOCAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Wednesday night brought to a close a week and a half of meetings at the Clanton Church of Christ, G. A. Dunn, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, doing the preaching every night. Fairly large congregations were present at every service, and the local congregation as well as the visiting evangelist are well pleased with the outcome of the meetings. Baptismal services for eleven additions were held at Hugh Mims's pond Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

During his short stay in Clanton Mr. Dunn made a number of friends both inside and outside of his denomination. People of practically all faiths in Clanton attended nearly every meeting, and the spirit of cooperation was plainly manifest at all times.

At the close of the service Wednesday night Mr. Dunn left for Weirgate, Texas, where he will be engaged in another evangelistic campaign.

POPWELL'S HOUSE BURNED

The home of Alfred Popwell on the Lay Dam Road about four miles from Clanton was totally destroyed by fire about day break last Thursday morning. Mr. Popwell and his family were away from home. It is not known how the fire was started. The house and all contents were completely destroyed.

COUNTY SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

Other Schools of County Will Begin Their Work On October 5th

Nine schools of Chilton County opened for work Monday morning of this week. The list includes the following: Chilton County High School, Clanton Grammar School, Jemison High School, Thorsby Public School, Lay Dam, Mitchell Dam, Maplesville High School, Isabella High School, and Verbena High School.

The complete list of teachers for each of these schools, as given out by the office of the county superintendent of education, is as follows:

Chilton County High School—L. C. Warr, principal; Margaret Brown, home economics; T. H. Walker, manual arts, J. B. Varnell, science; Bernice Williams, mathematics; Margaret Kendrick, English; Mrs. W. M. Greene, history; Nell E. Wells, English; Josephine Martin, social studies; Bonnie C. Griffin, junior mathematics.

Jemison High School—J. A. Peterson, principal; J. P. Montgomery, vocational agriculture; Leacy Newell, home economics, Miriam Harvey, mathematics, J. C. Vaughn, history; Bessie Jessie, English; Zane H. Turner, coach and mathematics; Margie Murphy, 6th grade; McMae McNeill, 5th grade; Mrs. Dezzie Littlejohn, 4th grade; Jessie Mims, 3rd grade; Ola Rogers, 2nd grade; Mary Clements, 1st grade.

Isabella High School—J. D. Griffin, principal; Earle Thomas, vocational agriculture; Bertha Dennis, home economics; G. G. Williams, mathematics and science; Ralph Grant, English and social studies; Annie Ruth Williams, history.

Verbena High School—W. C. DuBose, principal; Mae Wible, home economics; Hollis Hiten, coach; Mrs. W. C. Dubose, English; Mrs. D. I. DeRamus, science.

Maplesville High School—J. E. Daniel, principal and teacher of history; Dorothy Reynolds, home economics; Lettie I. Snider, general science, junior English, and physical education; Faye Coates, English; C. E. White, coach and teacher of chemistry and mathematics.

Clanton Grammar School—I. J. Quinn, principal; Bess Thomas, 6th grade; Mrs. Curry D. Thomas, 5th grade; Louise Pack, 4th and 3rd grades; Jewel Vessels, 4th grade; Mrs. Barney Burnett, 3rd grade; Ruth Sessions, 2nd grade; Sarah Pollard, 1st grade; Emma Sue Morris, 1st grade.

Lay Dam—Ethel Mize, 4th, 5th, and 6th grades; Frances O'Neal, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd grades.

Mitchell Dam—Mrs. J. S. Ogletree, 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th grades.

Thorsby Public School—W. T. Bean, principal, and teacher of 8th grade; Percy M. Johnson, 6th and 7th grades; Mrs. Lillian Deason, 5th grade; Clara Vines, 4th grade; Juanita Cannatser, 2nd and 3rd grades; Mrs. J. S. McNeill, 1st grade.

All other schools of the county besides those which began last Monday, will open their sessions on Monday, October 5th.

GOV. LONG'S LAW ABOUT COTTON

Copy of Louisiana Law Prohibiting Cotton Growing In Year 1932

So much has been said and written about the plan of Governor Long, of Louisiana, to prohibit the planting of cotton in 1932, it is thought of sufficient importance to print the complete text of the bill that has been passed on the subject by the Legislature of the State of Louisiana.

It now appears that every state in the South will have a chance to take similar action. Texas began considering the plan Tuesday when the legislature met in special session at the call of the Governor. Other states have expressed favor toward the plan if Texas adopts it.

Following is the law as passed by the special session of the Louisiana legislature:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of Louisiana, that in the year 1932 subject to the provisions of Section 5 hereof, the Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration shall take all needful and necessary steps for the purpose of exterminating the Mexican cotton boll weevils and other pests affecting cotton and the growth thereof in the State of Louisiana; that the said Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration shall further take all needful and necessary steps to eradicate the disease affecting cotton known as and commonly called cotton root rot.

Section 2. That the planting of cotton seed for the purpose of raising cotton be and the same is hereby prohibited in the State of Louisiana during the calendar year 1932, and further, the gathering of cotton grown in said year and the ginning thereof are hereby prohibited.

Section 3. That any person, firm, corporation or association of persons who shall plant or cause to be planted any cotton seed for the purpose of raising cotton in the year 1932; or any person, firm, corporation or association of persons, who shall gather or otherwise harvest, or gin, or cause to be gathered, harvested or ginned, any cotton grown in the year 1932 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined the sum of not less than one hundred ($100.00) dollars or imprisoned not less than ten (10) days or more than sixty (60) days for each offense, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Section 4. That said Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration is hereby empowered to destroy or cause to be destroyed any cotton or cotton plants, which may be grown or found to be growing on any land in the year 1932, and he is empowered to call upon all necessary officers of the state for the purpose of preventing the growing of such cotton plants or the gathering of such cotton during said year 1932.

Section 5. That the Governor of the State of Louisiana be and he is hereby directed to suspend, by proclamation, the operations of this act in event that a sufficient number of statees producing a total quantity of not less than seventy-five per centum of the cotton grown in the United States during the year 1930, do not enact legislation similar hereto on or before January 15, 1932. That the United States government report for the year 1930 shall be used to determine those states which produce not less than seventy-five per centum of cotton grown in the United States.

WOMAN IS MADE TAX COLLECTOR

Mrs. D. B. Shealy Appointed For Shelby County

Mrs. Dixie Bates Shealy, of Columbiana, believed to be the first woman ever named to the office of tax collector in Alabama, Saturday was appointed to that post in Shelby County by Gov. B. M. Miller.

Mrs. Shealy replaces Steadman Wood, who failed to qualify. She will take office on October 1 for a four-year term.

Capitol attaches said that Mrs. Shealy was the first woman to be appointed tax collector in Alabama in their memory.

Cleve Scarbrough of Birmingham is attending a national postoffice employees convention in Oakland, California, for a couple of weeks. Mr. Scarbrough, a former Chilton County citizen, but who has been working in the Birmingham postoffice for the past fifteen years, was selected as the Alabama delegate to this national convention.

FROM FRIEND BILL

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to express my opinion to the public in regard to our so-called 100 per cent Americanism. I was wondering if they had joined the army of quitters, until I read in The Birmingham Post of August 24, where the Legion plans anti-Red action against communists to be started. I am not a member of the Legion, but I am a born American, and of American parents, and a 100 per center. Also a disabled World War veteran, and proud of it. I will say openly that all undesirables should be driven out of our country if even by force of arms. If they are not contented with our American liberty they should be deported to the country of whence they came.

I even read where one ex-service man in Kentucky spends his bonus money to purchase ammunition and said he wished he could get a a cattle ship for Russia. Well he is no buddy, but I will give a five dollar bill in good old American money to help buy him a one way ticket to Russia if he will stay put when he gets there. Our American government has its hands full without having to contend with communists. A warped brain foreigner or foreigners, a person or persons, who are seeking something for nothing, I say administer justice to the criminals. We Americans should help our government; make investigations and turn our information over to the proper officers and give them our fullest cooperation, and where there are demonstrations held arrest the guilty ones and place charges of attempt to incite a riot. There are people right in this county who will give off hand information that so and so is to take place today or tonight, they also should be jailed on charges of attempt to incite a riot.

Understand, in my term of which I say freigner or foreign born I don't mean that all are alike, for some of our best citizens are foreign born, or of foreign born parents, and who are good friends, as well as good citizens. I don't aim at any one individual, for I served under the stars and stripes in 1917 and 1918, with many who were of foreign birth, or of foreign born parents, and they are and were then 100 per cent American by adoption.

Another thing I want to say that the ones who are guilty of trying to tell the negro the white race is against him in the south is a lie and people I'm able to prove it, also back it up, or die with my boots on. The negro has no better friend anywhere than they have been here in the good old South. If they don't believe it let them go north and find out for themselves. I know from experience, for most of my life has been spent in the north in the largest cities, from Cincinnati, O., Cleveland; Ohio; Detroit, Michigan; Buffalo, New York; too many to mention. I came to Chilton County on July 7, 1930, from New York City, and I must say that the negro of the South is for better off than his northern brother.

My one reason of this open letter is because the communists are lying to the negro for other reasons than their personal gain of money, so don't be misled by their smooth talk, it only means trouble.

Listen Buddies, who remembers 1917 and 1918, and who are man enough to help our Uncle Sam, now as we did then, and rid our America of the communists, also known as the Reds, if they don't like our American ways and liberty, and won't leave peacefully, they can be driven out.—Friend Bill, Clanton, Ala., Route 7.

PUPILS PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE FOR 1930-1931

Adams—Curtis Chambers, Robert Chambers, Louise Chambers.

Baker—Catherine Coe, Maurice Thornton, Marjorie Aldridge, Pauline Sisk, Willis Baker, Merle Aldridge, Loyce Baker, Myrtle Popwell.

Chestnut Grove—Audry Sadie Denson, Linnie Joe Hall, Nannie George Hall.

Chilton County High School—Mabel Harris, Tina Hyman, Ethel Mae Jones, Maralyn Mattie Hardy, Grady Reynolds, Jr., Wade Alford, Roselle Gentry, Elizabeth Gragg, Alice Petty, Ethel Wilkinson, Joe Hall Johnson, Mary Belle Bean, Martha Kennedy, Louise Mims, Gladys Martin, Jack Gillespie.

Clanton Grammar School—A. J. McKinnon, R. C. Smith, Lamurle Deloach, Polly Clackler, Myrtle Lee Johnson, Carlie Wyatt, Mary Jo Foshee, Wilmer Gillespie, Mae Aniece Polk.

Collins Chapel—Mary Sue Littleton, Louellen Zalia Hall, Mary Elizabeth Tracy, Elvie Lou Gore, Howard Johnnie Benson, Edna Gore, William Reynolds.

Concord—Helen Faye Anderson, Dorothy Anderson, Margaret Nabors, Aaron Nabors.

Concord Junior High—Chrystal Kennedy, Pluma Brown, Acie Mims, Mary Kathleen Mims, Jim Moore, Marzelle McDowell, Vasker Powell, Louise Johnson, Rachel Lynch, Robert Lynch, Mary Lucy Parrish.

Cooper — Eunice Grant, Louis Grant, Veston Jones, Mildred Driver, Crayton Taylor, Ennis Dupree Clara Logan, Leslie Logan, Pauline Morris, Marzelle Driver, John D. Cooper, James Smith, Roland Minor, Flora Morris, Oscar Smith, Jr.

Corinth — Jeff Jones, Edward Clayton Hunt.

County Line—Walter Gandy, Carlos Smith, Jimmie King, Quinton Gandy, Carol King, Irene Smith.

Culp—Grace Lorene Headley.

Enterprise—Eula Mae Boyd, Carl Strickland, Lillian Devaughn, Emma Dean Gray, Gartie Mae Wilkins, George Bowles, J. C. Headley, Fannie Gray, Curtis Watts, Ada Lou Bowles, Edward Wilkins, Valera Stroud, Euell Vance.

Fairview—Elsie Merle Griffin, Marietta Foshee.

Harry Tillman Cofer, Lee Noel Cofer, Howard Buford Warr, Willard Horace Hodgens.

Isabella — Louise Groom, Doin wood House, Allen House, Charles Griffin, Ethel Lee Griffin.

Jackson's Chapel — Ellis Jones, Clarice Jones, Earl Traywick, Dorothy Jean Rush, Hilda Mae Smith, Willodean Smith, Clifford Traywick, Lloyd Traywick, Fonza Traywick, Louise Parker, Mary Will Smith, Irene Smith.

Jemison—Charles Edward Pierce, Edith Robinson, Frankie Earl Langston, Lera Dee Conway, Paralee Henson, J. D. Pierce, Mary Frank Wells, Lola Erwin, Reuben Gore, Evelyn Cooper, Floyd Edwards, Vonzelle Atkinson, J. C. Satterwhite, Douglas Martin, Melba Patton, Willard Cost, Lexie Splawn.

Lay Dam—Searcy L. Martin, Julius P. Martin, Britt Deal, Jr., Stuart Woodson, Frances Wood, Frank Marcus, Louise Bateman.

Maplesville—Mabel Dennis, J. W. Glass, Sara Nell Perry, Gladys Oden, Perry Oden, Andrew Lloyd Dennis, Willard Hayes, Louise Johnson, Charles Shoults, Kathlee Perry, Vann Potts, Annie Laura Potts, Katherine Williams, Harvey M. Nix, Jr.,, Rozelle Chism, Geneva Shoults.

Mars Hill—James Austin Foshee.

Mineral Springs—Milton Retherford, Mozell Driver.

Mt. Pleasant—Luther Chambers, Louie Crowe, Willie Merle Littlejohn, Marie Price, Frank Collins, Jr., W. B. Crowe, Jr., Annie Massey, Hubert Duke, Roddie Massey, Burene Edwards, Thelma Holley, James Price, Virginia Edwards, Mayo Foshee, Lorene Price, Pauline Price, Wendall Massey, Gladys Bell, Millard Bell, Vernie Bell, Lawson Bell, Ilar Massey, Lucile Price.

New Harmony—Lucile Williams, Myrtle Katherine Williams, Clyde Headley, Earl Headley, Orell Williams.

Oak Grove—Louise Cobb, Virginia Glass, Labon Northcutt, Eason Little, Forrest Glass, Rascoe Cobb.

Pilgrim Rest—Willie Clyde Hill. Andrew Hill.

Pinedale — Catherine Thompson, Wallace Headley.

Popwell — Pauline Jones, Thurl Patterson, Estha Owen, Rufus Jones.

Providence — Agnes Bates, Pearl Bates.

Shoults—Tuley George Jarrett, Thomas Jarrett.

Stanton—Elaine McKinney, Gertrude Eaves, Maudine Roebuck, Lorene Walker, Warren Walker, Clara Lee Gragg, Vivian Davis, Edmund Davis, Vera Lue Jones, Eva Gay, Lucile Gaddy, Mildred Claudine Gay, Sarah Nell Walker, C. A. Cook, Willard Huff, Clifford Davis, Edwin Lewis Golson, Viola Walker, Laverne Lenoir, Gracie McLean.

Thomas Jr.—Herman Jones, Wynelle Jones, Vester Powell, Sybil Ray, Joe Lansford, Elizabeth Cathey, Mike Perkins, Charlie Mae Thornton.

Thorsby — Lucile Each, Ilamae Bean, Mary Nell Pate, Inez Littlejohn, Garland Conway, Walter Earl Littlejohn.

Union Point — Vera Nell Mims, Naomi Mims.

Union Grove—Doris Martin, Bernice Williams, Floyd Gray, Johnnie Williams, Lorene Robinson, Erskine Martin, Arley Glasscock, Ruby Williams, Maxine Glasscock, Johnnie Ruth Faulkner, Cilla Robinson, Lefaye Dorminey, Carrie Lee Glasscock, Bessie Hilson.

Verbena—Olivia Dansby, Frances Dansby, Roberta Howell, Paul Hughes, Pearl Hughes, Edith Louise Johnson, Eddie Lois Partridge, Andrew Pyron, Orvid Hughes, Marshall Williams, Lurla Mae Littleton, Celia Baker, Sarah Hollis.

Vermont—Ishmael Ratliff, Louise Sansom.

KNOTTY TREES IN DEMAND

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 7.—Usually knots in trees or lumber lower the value. However, in some cases the reverse is true, states the Alabama Commission of Forestry, provided the knots are soundly held in place in the board.

Expensive residences are now being built with one or more rooms panelled in knotty pine or hardwoods. Furniture of certain types is often built of knotty wood.

Worm holes in many woods add to their charm when made into furniture and paneling. This is particularly true of oak and chestnut lumber which is used in constructing old English tavern type furniture.

Due to a continuation in reduction of the supply of beef cattle, the market is developing a strong undertone, indicating higher prices for the late summer months and early fall. The United States is about 800,000 head short as compared with the first six months of 1928, and 13 per cent fewer cattle were on feed August 1, 1931, than on the same date a year ago.

IN MEMORY OF J. W. RUSHING

Whereas, on Monday, August 24th at 8:30 a.m., it pleased God to take unto Himself our friend and Christian brother, Mr. Jim Rushing, who was a faithful member of our church and Sunday School, and whereas, we will miss his kindly word and counsel in all our meetings; be it Resolved that we express our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives. May we so live and love until when the time comes for us to depart from this life we will be ready to meet our friend and brother in a land where we will never grow old.

Man that is born of woman hath but a short time to live, and is full of misery. He cometh up and is cut down like a flower fleeth as if it were a shadow, and never continueth in one stay. In the midst of life we are in death. Of whom may we seek for succor but of thee, O Lord, who for our sins are justly displeased.

I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord; he that believeth in me though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Brother Rushing left to mourn after him his wife, ten children, an aged father and step-mother, and a host of relatives and friends. His body was laid to rest in the East View cemetery. Rev. A. C. Nelson officiated with Martin of Clanton in charge of the body.

Respectfully,—East View Church and Sunday School.

Economists predict that prices for dairy products during the next few years will be faced with lower prices than have prevailed during the past ten years. Consequently, county agents and others are advising farmers and dairymen to meet lower prices with efficiency in production.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE
Phone - 29
Hubert Farley—at Farmers Hardware Co.

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic
West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

A BAD FIX THAT HOLDS YOU BACK

THE bowels are one of nature's chief safety valves for throwing out impurities. Keep them in a healthy, active condition, with a free movement each day. Black-Draught will go far towards cleansing the system and will help you to avoid the ill effects of self-poisoning from

CONSTIPATION

"If I let myself get constipated," says Mr. A. B. Brannon, 803 Oakland Ave., Gaffney, S. C., "I find soon that my head is dull and aching. A few doses of Black-Draught will make me feel like new. I know when one lets himself go, the system gets clogged, and he gets tired and sluggish. That was my trouble till I learned of Black-Draught and have used it. Results have been splendid." FBA 17

Insist on Thedford's
BLACK-DRAUGHT

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

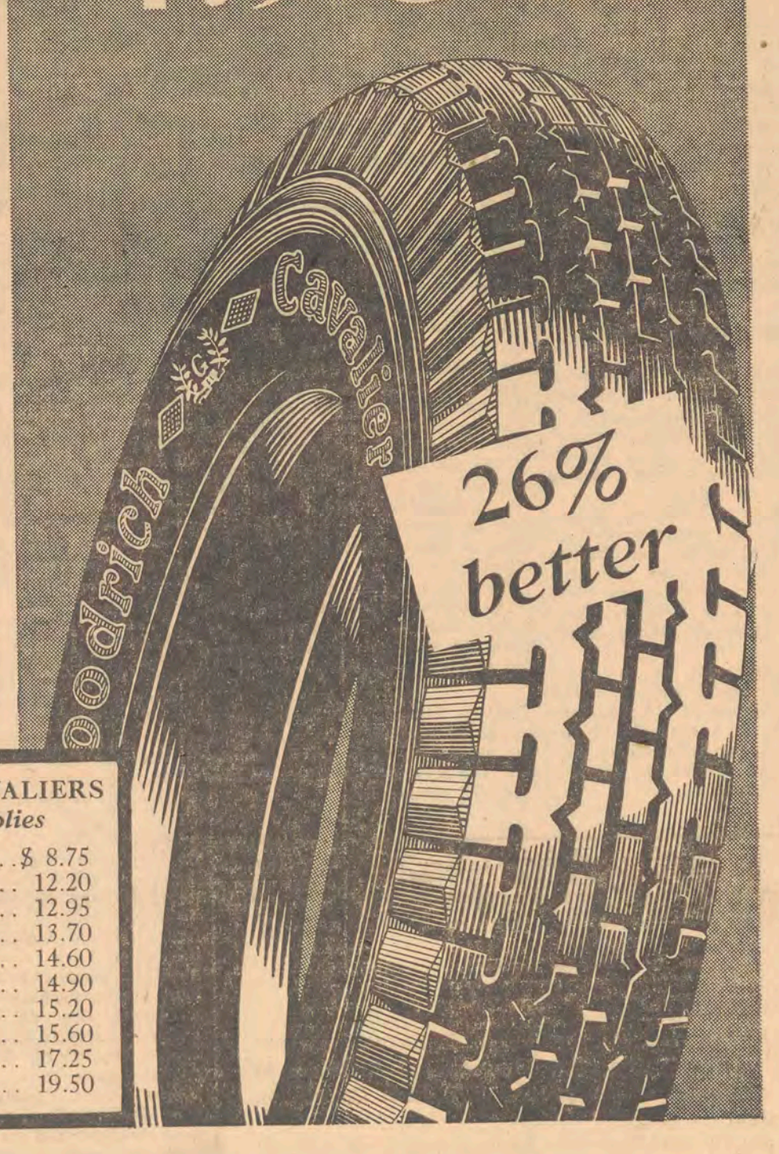
One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Light delivery truck; first class condition; real good truck for $75

One 1925 Model FORD Touring—A bargain for $10

BATES AUTO SHOP
Clanton - - - Alabama

Business is good here!



We Are Selling Genuine GOODRICH TIRES at

$4.98 each
$4.80 IN PAIRS

WOULD you have believed this possible ten years ago, when you paid 18 or 20 dollars for tires that couldn't even approach these in mileage or any other quality? No wonder people are flocking in! Tires made by the oldest and most experienced tire manufacturer—less than a five-dollar bill for the Ford and Chevrolet size. Other sizes proportionately low. This can't last. It's money in your pocket to buy these tires right now!

Shop around all you please, you can't match this value. The name Goodrich is on the sidewall of the Goodrich Cavalier. Backed by Goodrich guarantee and our guarantee. By actual test a 26% better tire. Put on your car, ready to drive away. (And when you trade in your car, that name Goodrich on your tires will help.)

Now we have a full range of sizes, but they're selling fast. Come in now, before it's too late!

CAVALIERS 4 ply		SUPER CAVALIERS 6 full plies
4.40-21	$4.98	4.50-21	$ 8.75
4.50-20	5.60	5.25-20	12.20
4.50-21	5.69	5.25-21	12.95
4.75-19	6.65	5.50-20	13.70
4.75-20	6.75	6.00-18	14.60
5.00-19	6.98	6.00-19	14.90
5.00-20	7.10	6.00-20	15.20
5.00-21	7.35	6.00-21	15.60
5.25-21	8.57	6.50-20	17.25
5.50-19	8.90	7.00-20	19.50

Goodrich Cavaliers

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.

Clanton, Alabama

They Come Back Like NEW!

Clothes cleaned by our careful process take on a new lease of life and double your satisfaction in wearing them. Instead of buying a new outfit, why not let us clean that suit, dress or coat, and finish the season at a saving?

CALL 119

CLANTON LAUNDRY AND CLEANING CO.

Clanton, Ala.

666

LIQUID OR TABLETS

Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.

666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Phone One-One-One

or Write

The James Sign Shop

CLANTON, ALA.

Outdoor

Painted Display Advertising

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

Itchy Toes

Hand Ringworm, Athlete's Foot

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Crotch Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS

Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

WHEN WASHINGTON WAS DEFEATED AT BRANDYWINE

At "twelve o'clock at night," September 11, .1777, General Washington sat down in his improvised headquarters at Chester, within thirty miles of Philadelphia, to write Congress an account of the battle of Brandywine which had taken place that day. But the hand which had carried the sword all day was too tired to wield the pen, and Washington had to ask one of his aides to write the news to Congress.

Timothy Pickering, adjutant general, prepared the account of the battle which was signed by the Commander-in-Chief and sent to Congress.

"I am sorry to inform you," the letter began, "that, in this day's engagement, we have been obliged to leave the enemy masters of the field."

The battle of Brandywine, as recalled by the Division of Infirmation and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, was the result of Washington's great effort to save Philadelphia from Howe. Handicapped as he was, he failed to stop the British, but only after a stubborn resistance that cost Howe many of his best soldiers.

In August General Howe had commenced his movement on Philadelphia. He disembarked his army near the head of Elk on the Chesapeake, about seventy miles from Philadelphia, paused only long enough to complete preparations for the march and started for the American capital. It was now evident that Howe meant to take the city, and Washington had either to fight or to turn Philadelphia over to the enemy without a struggle. With a force numerically inferior and poorly armed, the General decided to fight.

In his general orders of September 5, Washington appealed to the army to support him to the utmost in the battle which was now inevitable. "Two years," he wrote, "have we maintained the war, and struggled with difficulties innumerable, but the prospect has brightened." He sugested that if they were successful in this campaign the war would be concluded.

OIL EMULSION FOR PLANT LICE

At the request of County Agent, C. E. Stapp, we print the following formula for making oil emulsion for killing plant lice:

Dissolve one pound of soap in one gallon of water, add two gallons of kerosene oil and stir. This makes a stock solution that will keep a long time. When ready to spray use one part of above stock solution to 18 or 20 parts of water.

Always wash ice before putting it into the refrigerator.

Do not wrap the ice; it must melt in order to keep the refrigerator cold.

COTTON POOL PLAN SENT TO MEMBERS

Members of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association have been notified by J. A. Beaty, acting general manager, that the association will advance on annual pool cotton this season within about one cent per pound of the value of the cotton on the date of delivery. "Under this plan members can receive a big part of the value of this cotton and still be in position to take advantage of rises that might come in prices," Mr. Beaty said.

Advances on cotton placed in the special pool will be the total value of the cotton if the member wishes it sold immediately or a reasonable advance if the member wishes to hold it and name the date of sale himself, he continued.

At twenty-one places in the state the association has placed classers who will give members a final class on their cotton the day it is delivered. Those who can deliver to points where these classers are located will be able to draw immediately on the association drafts calling for the total advance if the cotton is placed in the annual pool or the special pool for sale at later date or the total value of the cotton if it is placed in the special pool for immediate sale.

The classers will be at Dothan, Slocomb, Abbeville, Camden, Andalusia, Evergreen, Selma, Cullman, Hartselle, Troy, Huntsville, Florence, LaFayette, Roanoke, Fayette, Tuscaloosa, Gadsden, Grove Hill, Albertville, Guntersville, and Boaz. Classers would have been placed at other places but capable men were not available, Mr. Beaty explained.

Members who cannot deliver to those points will carry their cotton to warehouses designated by the association or the railroad platform and use their association which, as soon as the cotton can be classed, will be brought up to the total advance due the member if the cotton is placed in the annual pool or special pool for later sale or the total value of the cotton if it is placed in the special pool for immediate sale.

ALABAMA FARMERS PREPARE TO PLANT WINTER LEGUMES

Alabama farmers are making good progress with their plans for planting seed of Austrian peas and hairy vetch this fall, according to reports received from the county agents by District Agents J. T. High, R. G. Arnold and Emmett Sizemore at the Experiment Station.

They are placing orders for seed and basic slag with which to fertilize, because basic slag is recommended by the Experiment Station at Auburn. They are also making their plans to plant the seed in late September or early October.

Several large shipments of seed have been bought by the Alabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association from Oregon farmers for distribution among Alabama farmers. Harvesting and shipping of these seed were supervised by C. L. Hollingsworth, county agent for Clarke county.

Planting of these seed this fall will be done primarily for soil improvement next year. Experience has demonstrated that improving land this way is better and cheaper than buying fertilizer. Big yields of cotton, corn and other crops are now being made in Alabama where winter legumes were plowed under last spring.

In addition, winter legumes are used for grazing and also for making hay when planted in a combination with oats.

Inadequate funds with which to buy the seed and fertilizer is the only barrier to planting of a very big acreage of winter legumes in Alabama this year. Eve with this handicap it is hoped that the acreage to be planted will be larger than that planted in any other year.

RADIO TEAM WINS HONOR

Weber and Fields Become Regular Feature of Dance Orchasera's Programs

So enthusiastic has been the response to the humorous sketches of Weber and Fields, who became a feature of the Saturday night programs of B. A. Rolfe and the Lucky Strike Summer Party Orchestra recently, that they have been engaged for all three weekly periods of this popular dance orchestra, according to an announcement by the American Tobacco Company. They made their debut as a regular feature Tuesday evening, August 25th, during the orchestra's broadcast from station WEAF over a nation-wide NBC network, beginning at 10:00 o'clock, Eastern Daylight Saving Time, and will appear thereafter on Tuesday, Thursdays, and Saturday evenings.

Weber and Fields joined forces fifty-three years ago, and with the exception of one eight year separation, have been together ever since. They are, without doubt, the most famous vaudeville team that ever stepped before the footlights, and their jokes and dialect set a style in humor that has been imitated by hundreds of comedians for the last thirty years. Unlike bost comedy teams of a past generation who were forced into the background because of ever-changing styles in theatrical fare, Weber and Fields have continued to grow in popularity, thus achieving a unique and virtually unparralleled position in the show world. Since the advent of

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 13

SOME MISSIONARY EXPERIENCES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 14:1-28.

GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Some Missionary Adventures.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Some Missionary Adventures.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Hardships of Missionaries.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity Facing Other Religions.

I. Paul and Barnabas Preaching at Iconium (vv. 1-7).

Their experience here was much the same as at Antioch. They entered the Jewish synagogue and preached, causing a multitude of Jews and Gentiles to believe. The unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles to the most bitter opposition. Concerning their work in Iconium observe.

1. Their manner of preaching (v. 1). They "so spake" that a great multitude believed. They were true preachers. Only that which brings conviction of sin and induces decisions for Christ can be truly said to be preaching in the biblical sense. It is not enough merely to bring the truth to the people. It must be brought in such a way that men and women will be induced to decide for Christ.

2. Their attitude toward opposition (v. 3). This is suggested by the word "therefore." "Long time therefore they tarried." The opposition did not prevent their preaching but incited them to continue preaching. Christian workers should not give up work because of opposition.

3. Their preaching accompanied with miracles (v. 3). Since the opposition was so fierce, the Lord granted special help in his vindication of their testimony.

4. The effect of their preaching (v. 4). The multitude of the city was divided. Where men faithfully preach the gospel there will be division.

5. Paul and Barnabas assaulted (vv. 5-7). The Jews and the Gentiles united in this assault. Being apprised of this effort, Paul and Barnabas fled to Lystra and Derby, where they preached the gospel.

II. An Attempt to Worship Paul and Barnabas as Gods (vv. 8-18).

1. The occasion (vv. 8-10). It was the healing of a lame man. God's gracious power shown in healing this lame man occasioned new difficulty. That which ought to have been a help was turned into a hindrance. This was a notable miracle. The man had never walked. On hearing Paul preach, faith was born in his heart (Rom. 10:17). When Paul perceived that he trusted Christ, he called with a loud voice that all could hear for the man to stand upright. The cure was instantaneous, for he leaped up and walked (v. 10).

2. The method (vv. 11-13). They called Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercurius because he was the chief speaker. The priest of Jupiter brought oxen and garlands ready to offer sacrifices unto these men (v. 13). In the person of Jesus Christ God has actually appeared to man (John 1:14; Phil. 2:7, 8).

3. Their efforts frustrated (vv. 14-18). This foolish act was happily averted by the tact of the apostles as exhibited in the address of the occasion:

a. They denied that they were divine beings.

b. They directed them to turn away from these vain things unto the living God who made heaven and earth.

III. The Stoning of Paul (vv. 19-22).

Wicked Jews from Antioch and Iconium pursued Paul with relentless hate to this place where they stirred up the very people who had been willing to worship them a short time before. This shows that satanic worship can soon be turned into satanic hate. This hatred took form in the stoning of Paul and the dragging of him out of the city for dead. Having been raised up by God, he with undaunted courage pressed on with his duties as a missionary bearing the good tidings to the lost. Soon after this, Paul turned back and revisited the place where he had preached, telling them that through great tribulation they must enter into the Kingdom of God.

IV. The Organization of Churches in the Field (vv. 23-28).

Evangelization with Paul did not mean a hasty and superficial preaching of the gospel, but the establishment of a permanent work. Elders were appointed in every church. The work of the missionary is not done until there is established on the field self-governing and self-propagating churches.

Christ's Coming

My friends, all the singing about it in the world will not bring the coming of Christ a day nearer—and there are no songs of the Christian church which so fill my heart with gladness and my eyes with tears as the songs of Christ's coming. But service will.—J. Stuart Holden.

Our Rewards

We are rewarded, not according to our sphere, or the results of our work, but according to the sincerity and beauty of our motives.—F. B. Meyer.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.00

FARMERS FORTIFIED WITH FOOD CROPS

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31.—Despite the low price of cotton Alabama is well fortified against a hard winter by bumper feed and food crops now growing in most counties.

This was reported by farm bureau leaders and county agents from all counties who met recently here and in Birmingham to plan the fall campaign of cooperative work of the county farm bureaus and the State agricultural extension service. Presidents, secretaries, and managers of county farm bureaus, as well as county agents, attended the meetings.

A concerted campaign led by leading farmers, county agents, and business men last winter and spring was mentioned as one of the chief reasons for the increased feed and food production.

The two main planks in the cooperative farm program for the fall months will be the planting of Austrian winter peas and hairy vetch and the planting of fall gardens. The vetch and pea planting is being urged as a way to build up soils, it being pointed out by authorities that these crops when turned under will, on the average, double the crops of cotton and corn which follow, since they add nitrogen and humus to the soil.

Information on how to have a fall garden has been or will be given to nearly every farm family in Alabama by county agents, reports show. Circular letters, personal contact, community meetings, and the press have been used in the campaign to promote fall and winter garden planting.

These gardens are one of the chief weapons being used to keep the wolf away from the door this winter. Many negro families have planted fall and winter gardens and will have more to eat this winter.

PLANT HAY IN FALL; HARVEST IT IN SPRING

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 7.—With a view to harvesting a big yield of excellent hay next May and June the experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn is advising farmers to plant together winter legumes and either oats or wheat in September or early October this fall.

"North of Birmingham," said J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn, "plant one bushel of Alabama blue stem wheat and either 20 pounds of hairy vetch or 30 pounds of Austrian peas per acre. South of Birminghgam plant two bushels of oats and either 20 pounds of hairy vetch or 30 pounds of Austrian winter peas.

"Red rust-proof and Fulghum varieties of oats are good. In either section of the state and for each of these mixtures fertilize with basic slag at the rate of 400 to 600 pounds per acre."

Farmers throughout Alabama have demonstrated that it is wise to produce hay this way. They made big yields per acre and the quality of the hay was very good, it being a mixture of a legume and a small grain, either oats or wheat. By harvesting in May and June the hay was used in making corn, cotton, and other crops.

Farm averages last spring were about two tons of this hay per acre. More than this amount was made at the secondary agricultural school at Jackson and at other demonstration school farms.

Where hay was made this way farmers planted either soybeans or cowpeas, thereby getting two good feed crops in one year from the same land.

Voice on the phone—"Lo, ish thish prohibish offisher?"

"Yes, why?"

"Thash wot I wash wond'rin'."

Thorsby Gin

We have procured the services of Mr. Andrew Davis to operate our gin this season, who is well known in this section as a good ginner. Mr. Davis will do his best to please each and every customer.

Our machinery has been thoroughly gone over, and is in the best of shape for doing satisfactory work. Your business will be appreciated.

Thompson Brothers Gin & Warehouse Company

THORSBY, ALABAMA

ADDING MACHINE PAPER

Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c

The Union-Banner

PHONE 63

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at

The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

J. MELL MARTIN

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA

Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service

Flowers for all Occasions

THE TRIBUTE OF THE SCHOOLS TO SCOUTING—By W. A. SUTTON

Dr. Willis A. Sutton, president of the National Educational Association and superintendent of schools of Atlanta, Georgia, recently addressed the twenty-first annual meeting of the Boy Scouts in Memphis, Tenn., on the title of "The Tribute of the School to Scouting." In as much as our local schools will be open shortly it is thought most appropriate to print this article as given by Dr. Sutton just at this time. Dr. Sutton said:

'Scouting is the antidote for the auto-intoxication which this overwrought age has super-imposed upon boyhood in that it came at a time when civilization had made greater, more far reaching, faster changes in a period of twenty-five to fifty years than it had made in five hundred or even a thousand years of any period in the world's history.

If the play of forces from the outside is such as to overestimate, or to react in such a tremendous way on the life of the boy, or, if they are radically different from what they have been during the last ten, fifteen, twenty, thirty, or forty year, or forty million years, then the development of the boy is going to be abnormal. It will be constrained; it will be affected with such a feeling of unrest, distracted nerves, irritable type of living, that adolescence becomes the bane of the existence of the mother and father, and of the daughter, and of the friends and associates.

An Antidote for Super-Imposed Civilization

Now, just exactly that thing has happened. A civilization that we have not been prepared for has been superimposed upon us; and, it has brought about a revolution, and, in our internal system it has affected our physical makeup in such a way, and has affected our boys in such a way that these great forces have poured in an excess of stimulation into the blood channel, and the boy is all disturbed.

The boy who has, at the unstable age, been receiving a kind or moral impulse that has come down to him through all the centuries, has found that impulse changed overnight.

What is the antidote and what is the contribution of Scouting? How fortunate it is that the Scout program provides that the scoutmaster can take the boy for a few hours, or a few days, away from the glaring lights; away from the jazz music; away from all those things that beat in on his life. How wonderful a thing that he can go back and chart the stars; go back to the primitive and live as people have lived for ten million years, and get some soothing and quieting influences. What a marvelous thing that he can get out of the automobile; he gets on his feet; he has to walk seven miles and chart his way, and go along and think, instead of letting all these automobiles and all this jazz beat in and destroy his life. What a marvelous thing and what an antidote for civilization is the fact that thousands of boys, this year, are going into the camps of this country.

Camp As Important As Schoolhouse

As an educator, I want to say to you, I have come to realize that the camp is as important to this country in many respects as is the schoolhouse. It is a part of the boy's life. The one great contribution of scouting to the public schools and to America, and to the world, has been that it has proved an antidote for this super-imposed civilization. If every boy who reaches this critical age could have the opoprtunity to earn merit badges, to work with the soil, to learn to swim, to chart the course of the stars, to look up to God who made these stars; instead of the movies, instead of over-stimulating this boy, we could get these things to react and quiet and soothe and give him a basis of life and character. It is giving the stability to America, and other lands, that it needs in these distracting times. If you can put this stability into the life of the boy, you have made a marvelous contribution.

Recognition of Scholarship

The second thing is this: Scouting has contributed to public schools a recognition of scholarship. In the city of Atlanta only about twenty-two per cent of the boys who go through high school, so far, have had as much as one year in scouting; but, eighty-five per cent of all the honor roll boys are Scouts.

There has come into the life of the boy, through this guiding influence, through the good turn idea the realization that in his life there is something to live for besides the question of pleasure. That is the controlling impulse that is given to the Scout; the ability to sit at his table, or his desk, or chair, and work his problems.

What we need in this country, above everything, is clear thinking, straight thinking. God pity us if we come to think that scholarship is just the mastery of a book, as much as I love the book. We are learning that there is a basis of scholarship, basis of character, of international feeling and relations. You know, I feel sorry for any man that would live on a little old eight-thousand mile globe and call somebody else a foreigner. I would just as soon call someone a foreigner who lives across the street. Let's go away thinking straight with regard to international relations; with regard to people in our own lands that have come from afar. Here is an organization where Catholic, Jew, Protestant, black and white and brown can all meet and say 'we believe in being fair to each other.' That is the basis of straight thinking, and straight thinking is scholarship.

The Ideal of Service

Scouting has given to the public schools an ideal that has been mine—I think I got it from scouting—throughg all these years, as a teacher, that school is life. No longer does a boy think of school as a preparation for life. Scouting has put a great principle into action; that we 'learn by doing;' that doing a thing is the way to master it. If we want to learn, the thing to do is to get out with a ladder, or tongs, or a bicycle, or a motor; and, with that thing in our hand, to do the thing that the arithmetic or georgraphy or history said. It has become no longer a matter of merely of learning the duties of a president or a mayor; but realizing that citizenship is serving an hour, or two or three or five hours, for the benefit of others. Put into the schools the ideals of service.

I remember an incident that occured at our camp. The rules said no boys should go away from camp unless three went together. And, every afternoon we misesd three boys. Nearby lived an old man ninety-three years of age, and his wife, ninety. It was cold, in the woods. The Scout Executive and I decided to find out what those boys were doing, so we watched them. Every afternoon they slipped out with an axe and went out to where this old couple lived and cut their wood, split it, and carried it in the house, in order that they might have fire at night. For two months these Scouts did this, and never said a word about it.

What had Scouting caused to take place in the lives of these boys? One was elected as Rhodes scholar. He had gone to Princeton and had graduated, and had been on the football team at Princeton and at Atlanta. When he was about to sail for England we gave him a little dinner. We told him all about the things that he had done and how proud we were of his record. After we had given him our little gift, we expected him to say something. He arose and stood at attention and said: 'On my honor I will do my best,' and sat down. The Scout idea had gotten across.

The contribution to physical adjustment, the contribution to scholarship, and the contribution to the ideal of service, has given to these million of Boy Scouts the power to leaven the lump for America. I am no prophet, I am not able to read the signs of the time, but I am convinced that it has been organizations like the Boy Scouts of America that have given us, during these times of stress and strain, the ability to look to our flag, to love and respect it, that have given us character that will stand the test of time. Scouting is a challenge for our men to say not only one million, but in the next three years at least three million of the more than twelve million boys of this age shall come into the fold of this organization."

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

WALNUT CREEK

The sunrise prayer meeting which was sponsored by our Christian Endeavor society on last Sunday morning was a wonderful success. The meeting was conducted by J. J. Johnson, and the entire hour was devoted to songs and prayers. We are very proud of the interest that was shown. The service begun just a few minutes before sunrise, and continued for an hour. There were 47 present. We hope to have another meeting sometime in the future.

The interest in Sunday school is still good.

We had a nice crowd at Christian Endeavor Sunday night and several new members were enrolled.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. Our subject for next Sunday night at Christian Endeavor will be "What should Meetings Accomplish?" We are planning to have a "Target" meeting at this time. Everybody come and take part with us.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

Our Sunday school is still progressing nicely. We had a very nice Sunday school program Sunday morning. First on program was a sentence prayer, by three of the adult members. Next, lesson discussed by one of the adult members; then a song by four of the advanced members. Let everybody come to Sunday school next Sunday morning and bring some one with you, and we will have a better sunday school.

BILLINGSLEY

Mr. A. C. Marlar of Tuscaloosa was the week end guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Marlar.

The fourth quarterly conference of the Plantersville Circuit Methodist Church which was held here last Sunday was wel attended. Dr. McLeod, presiding elder, delivered a very inspiring sermon at the morning service.

Miss Effie Pattillo is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pattillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodard of Avera, Mississippi and Mrs. Jim Busby and son, James, Jr., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vinson Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Apperson made a business trip to Clanton Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bazel Thompson left Monday to visit friends in Fla.

Messrs. J. F. and Claud King spent Monday with a fishing party on Coosa River.

Mrs. Lula Robinson of Tallassee is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. B. Mills.

Mrs. J. F. Apperson and sons, Henry Milton and Otto, visited friends in Selma Saturday.

Willig Higgin and Loucile Pattilli entered Chilton County High School at Clanton last Monday.

The tragic death of Carl Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mills, which occurred Saturday cast a gloom of sadness over our town and community which will be hard to efface from our memory.

Highest Corn Yield Made by Dixie Farmer

Setting new records is getting to be a habit with W. Y. Thrash, well known farmer of Walnut Grove, Miss.

Mr. Thrash

Two years ago he averaged on a three-acre field 181 bushels of shelled corn an acre. Last year he increased the yield to 193 bushels. As far as is known, these records were the highest yields made in the country during the last two years.

Sound farm practices account for Mr. Thrash's spectacular yields. An important feature of his program has been two side-dressings with Chilean nitrate of soda, the first when the corn is knee-high and the second about three weeks later, depending on the season.

Both of his records were completed in the Mississippi Better Corn Production Contest.

ADMINISTRATRIX SETTLEMENT NOTICE

In the matter of R. N. Roebuck Estate; Probate Court, Chilton County:

Notice is hereby given that on the 5th day of September, 1931, the undersigned Administratrix filed her accounts, vouchers, and other written evidence, for a Partial Settlement of her said administration.

Notice is hereby given that the 26th day of September has been the appointed day on which to make said Partial Settlement, and at that time the Court will hear and examine the vouchers and other evidence regarding said settlement.

Mrs. DELLA ROEBUCK,
Administratrix for the Estate of R. N. Roebuck, deceased. 9-10-3t-ch.

ONE DOSE GERMAN REMEDY ENDS GAS

"I was sick and nervous with indigestion and stomach gas. One dose of Adlerika helped. I eat anything now and sleep good."—Henry Dodd.

You can't get rid of indigestion or gas by just doctoring the stomach. For gas stays in the UPPER bowel. Adlerika reaches BOTH upper and lower bowel, washing out poisons which cause gas, nervousness and bad sleep. Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect of this German Doctor's remedy.—Upchurch Drug Co.

MERCHANTS WILL ADVANCE COTTON

No Charge For Interest, Storage, Insurance, Grading or Weighing

In view of present low prices of cotton and the necessity of the producers having some money at this time, the cotton merchants of the Atlantic States will buy cotton from the producer on call purchase contract. That is, they will take cotton from the producers, grading and weighing same and advancing the producers 80 per cent of its market value at the time the cotton is turned over to them. No charge will be made to the producer for grading and weighing, nor any charge for storage interest, insurance and selling. The cotton shippers will require additional markins should cotton decline but on the other hand are ready to make additional advances should the market advance, this being the same provision any bank would require where money is loaned with cotton as collateral When such cotton is turned over to the cotton merchants it will be their property, but the price will not be fixed until such time as the producer desires, but within the limits agreed upon in his contract of sale.

This plan would save the producer charges for grading and weighing which he would necessarily have to pay in the event he borrowed against his cotton from other sources and furthermore, no interest, insurance, storage or selling commissions will be charged him.

We do not mean to advise the farmer that the market is going up or down, as nobody knows, but if he desires the assistance, as outlined above, and will communicate with any one of our members in the states embraced by the Atlantic Cotton Association, of Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina and Virginia the whole proposition will be cheerfully explained to him.

NIGHT SCHOOL AT VERMONT

Earle Thomas, vocational teacher at Isabella, and Miss Bertha Dennis, home economics teacher, are conducting a night school for farmers and their wives at Vermont Schoolhouse, in the southwestern part of the county. The subject that is being studied is "A Home Garden the Year Round."

Mr. Thomas reports that the school is now in the fourth week. Sessions are held three nights a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The enrollment is 22 and the usual attendance is about 35.

In addition to the night school, Mr. Thomas reports that two canning demonstrations have been held in the Vermont community. The people of the community show a fine interest in the work.

HAYNES NEWS

Miss Ethel Cox of Atlanta, Ga., spent Labor Day with her aunt, Mrs. C. H. Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Jones and daughter, Sarah, and Mr. J. I. Gaines motored to Prattville Sunday afternoon.

A good many people from here attended the baptising at Indian Grave, and the funeral at Billingsley Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Graham Smith is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith.

Mr. R. L. Jackson and son, C. E., attended the Sunday school convention at Mt. Carmel Sunday.

Miss Virginia McKinley of Brent is visiting Miss Lonella Gaines.

Mr. Harvey Carter is spending his vacation with his sister, Miss Winnie Carter.

Mr. W. E. Wright made a business trip to Prattville Monday.

Mrs. Alf Hix and little daughter, Mattie Lee, of Coral Gables, Fla., are visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roy were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus Saturday night.

We are very sorry Mr. J. Bob Deramus is not doing well. We hope he will soon regain his health.

Miss Minnie Carter, Messrs. Harvey Carter, W. M. Deramus, and Master Houston Carter motored to Selma Monday.

Mrs. A. M. Tunstall, director of Child Welfare Work in Alabama, was in Clanton Monday to meet the County Commissioners in the interest of having the child welfare program reinstateed in this county.

Malley Armstrong and some friends came down from Birmingham Monday to spend Labor Day on a fishing trip with Cecil Armstrong.

Lamar Calloway has left Duke University in North Carolina and gone to New York, where he will be with his brother, Dr. Raymond Calloway, for some time. He will study at New York Hospital, where Raymond is house surgeon. Lamar will return to Duke University after a few months in New York.

ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL OPENS WITH LARGE ENROLLMENT

Isabella High School opened Monday morning, September 7th.

Dr. Haskew, pastor of the Methodist Church, delivered a most inspiring address to the students and patrons of the school. His theme was: "What I Should do if I were a Youth Again." He developed his subject with enthusiasm which touched not only youth but everyone present.

Plans for student government, club organizations, and athletic activities were laid out by Mr. J. D. Griffin, principal.

Mr. Howard Oden, chairman of the board of trustees, pledged their hearty support to the faculty and student body. The music teacher, Miss Mary Ellis, of Clanton, rendered a beautiful piano solo. She also accompanied Mr. Ralph Grant, instructor of English, in a vocal solo.

HEAVY RAIN TUESDAY NIGHT

An extremely heavy rain fell in the vicinity of Clanton Tuesday night. Some hail and strong winds were reported from different places. The display of lightning was profuse. A cow was killed by lightning at Ben Brown's place west of Clanton. Heavy damage to crops was done in some localities.

OFFICERS CAPTURE BIG STILL

Sheriff Gillespie's deputies came breezing into town Tuesday afternoon with a big fine copper still tied on the front of their car. The outfit was captured while it was being operated by two men in the Smith settlement west of Jemison. The operators were arrested.

The officers stated that about fifteen gallons of peach brandy had just been run through the still, and the operators were fixing to double it back.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Wyatt and children and Mrs. W. B. Wyatt attended the association at Providence in Coosa County Wednesday of this week.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.
M. D. FOSHEE, Manager

A good business man will not buy a farm or any property without first looking it over to see what it is worth.

However, some will buy or loan money on land without an abstract.

Isn't it equally as foolish to buy a farm without looking it over as to buy it and not know whether the titles are good or not? Without an abstract you do not know where you are getting the land you look at or not.

Before investing in land in any way have an abstract made and be safe.

M. D. FOSHEE CLANTON, ALA.

FOX'S Bargains

WHITE CHINA PITCHERS
The good old fashioned kind that mother used to keep that good buttermilk in. Will not turn color. Two sizes.

CUPS AND SAUCERS
6 cups and 6 saucers, 12 pieces 65c

9-inch Dinner Plates, each 10c

SHOT GUN SHELLS
Winchester Ranger and Repeater
Price 65c and up

ICE CREAM FREEZER
½-gallon, wooden tub while they last 95c

GLASS LAMPS
10 inches high, complete with wick and No. 2 burner. Price 49c

FRYING PANS
Thick bottom. Cool handles
8c to 30c

A big variety of every kind of useful article needed in the home. Come and look through our store.

W. W. FOX Variety Store

Prices-- that are Right

We always try to give the BEST for LESS. Here are a few of the SPECIALS for this week.

8-OZ. OVERALLS
Mens Overalls all sizes
95c

GINGHAM
Fast colors Per Yard
5c

WORK SHIRTS
Mens heavy blue Work Shirts
48c

CRETONNE
36 inches wide Per Yard
10c

BLANKETS
66 x 80 Double Plaid
98c

BROADCLOTH
Yard wide, solid colors Per Yard
10c

CHEVIOTS
Heavy Weight Blue Per Yard
10c

BOYS CAPS
Regular 75c values For Only
48c

WORK SHOES
For Saturday A real chance to save money
SEE THEM

SILK DRESSES
New Dresses that sold for $9.95 now offered for $5.95

PRINTS
36 inches wide Fast Color Per Yard
10c

FREE PATTERNS
Your choice of any pattern in our store FREE with $2.50 purchase of dress goods.

THE LEADER
MANAGER, M. LANDE
Clanton, Ala.
"ALWAYS LEADS IN VALUES"

BROADUS CONNATSER IS SOLD TO CLEVELAND CLUB

What has been predicted all this summer with reference to Broadus Connatser and his ball playing has happened. It was announced last Saturday that the flashy New Orleans first baseman had been sold to the Cleveland (Ohio) Club of the American League.

During this entire season Connatser has been batting around the top of the Southern League. He has had the finest season of his career. His friends here at home have been guessing that some of the big clubs would grab him before the season was over.

Broadus was in Clanton for a day and night last week. He said he expects to come back here and spend the winter with his uncle, W. W. Fox, and will report for duty at the Indian training camp next spring.

THREE WRECKS HERE LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Spurgeon Calloway and his wrecker picked up three car wrecks on the highway last Saturday night. The first was a new Chevrolet driven by two college boys from Tuscaloosa. The driver went to sleep and ran into a post at the bridge on the south side of town. The car was badly damaged and the boys were painfully hurt.

The second wreck was 20 miles south of Clanton, where a Ford and a Chevrolet ran together. No serious damage was done. The cars were only slightly damaged and the occupants were not injured.

Courtland Rutherford turned over a Chevrolet Sunday on the road near Jim Drivers'. No damage was done.

CARD OF THANKS

Little Hollis Johnson, of Ramblers Rest, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gip Johnson, was able to come to town Saturday morning, after a six-weeks illness, after a car ran over him. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson wish to thank their neighbors and friends for all the kindness shown them during his illness.

NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR REMISSION OF FINAL FORFEITURE JUDGMENT

Notice is hereby given as provided by Section 5128 of the Code of Alabama, 1923, that application has been made to the Governor for remission of final forfeiture judgment in case No. 3365, State of Alabama versus Joe Smith, made final on March 30, 1931, in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama.

9-10-2pd. JOE SMITH.

STANTON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Campbell, Mrs. Marie Cranmore, Miss Margaret Shoults and Jimmie Shoults, all of Birmingham visited their grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Woolley, this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Turkey) Boman of Birmingham spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. I. U. W. Hicks.

Miss Margaret A. Woolley of Washington, D. C., was here over Labor Day visiting relatives. She returned to Washington Monday night where she will resume her work Wednesday morning in the post office department.

Miss Helma Ruddick of Birmingham is visiting friends and relatives here this week.

Howard Woolley of Camden visited home folks over the week end.

Billie Gregg of Montevallo is visiting relatives and friends here.

Mrs. W. J. Ruddick had the following children visiting her this week end: Mr. and Mrs. Boone Ruddick of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ruddick of Cordova, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Osburn of Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dunsmore and son, Billie, of Birmingham visited Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Dunsmore Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Huff and daughters, Sarah and Margaret, of Yolanda visited relatives here Sunday.

J. B. Woolley returned to Seminole, Okla., Monday to resume his work with Prairie Oil and Gas Co.

Walter Hand and son, Phil, visited his parents at Marvel this week end.

J. L. Burnett attended to business in Clanton Monday.

Howard Gregg of Cleveland, Tennessee, was called to the bedside of his father, Henry Gregg, who is critically ill in the Baptist Hospital in Selma.

Ernest Eaves who has spent the summer in Montana returned home Sunday.

Merrit Walker of Birmingham returned home Sunday.

FAMOUS FEET

Old Uncle—"You must do something to become famous, my boy. Just think of Charlie Lindbergh's great feat."

Tommy—"And Charlie Chaplin's."

Willie—"Pa sent me for a piece of rope like this."

Merchant—"How much does he want?"

Willie—"Just enough to reach from the goat to the fence."

BANKERS SUGGEST BANKING REFORMS

Economic Policy Commission of American Bankers Association Recommends Aids to Progress in Banking Business.

FOLLOWING a nation-wide survey of banking conditions and opinion among bankers, the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has made the following recommendations for banking betterment:

"Under the category of improved bank management specific improvements we might summarize are:

"(1) Liquidation or consolidation of banks where changed local economic conditions render this desirable;

"(2) Wider affiliation among state banks with the Federal Reserve System;

"(3) Development of limited branch banking where economic conditions and legal authority make this expedient;

"(4) A more general practice, especially lacking among country banks, to analyze the cost of carrying accounts and other operating details and the establishment of proper service charges to make all classes of function profitable;

"(5) A more general application of the theory and practice of secondary reserves;

"(6) Avoidance by banks of undue borrowing merely to increase their own profits by relending at higher rates, or to over-expand credit to local business in order to increase their own business;

"(7) Cooperation among bankers in local communities through city, county or regional clearinghouses so as to promote mutually beneficial conditions and practices;

"(8) The insistence upon higher educational effort and qualifications among employees, especially those to be trusted with executive duties.

Legislative Measures Proposed

"There are some external measures, along moderate legislative and supervisory lines, that we also believe would help strengthen banking. Among these are:

"(1) The broadening in the states of branch banking laws where conditions warrant an extension of this type of banking service to the public;

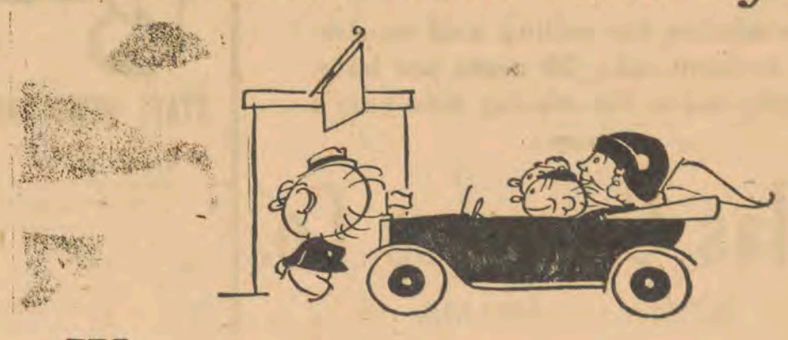
"(2) The establishment of sound minimum capital funds under which banks will be allowed to operate, which should be materially higher than now prevails in most states; specifically, we believe that the minimum capital with which any new bank shall be chartered, whether state or national, should be at least $50,000;

"(3) The provision of funds and regulations to keep the officers and staffs of all supervisory departments up to a level of ability and integrity that will universally inspire confidence among bankers whose activities they are empowered to review, and will supply real added defenses to the public interests they are appointed to protect.

"(4) In connection with the policies of bank chartering departments, we would recommend that, even to a greater extent than is now the practice, the greatest care and moderation should be exercised in granting new charters, so as to guard against overbanking or the launching of new banks by unqualified persons, which have doubtless been serious factors in the bank failure situation in the past.

"(5) Also, referring to Federal Reserve practice not requiring legislation, we believe that the Federal Reserve Banks should exercise more freely their rights to examine banks and use their discretionary power to refuse rediscount facilities to banks indulging in objectionable banking methods."

Banker-Farmer Plan



An editorial in Southern Cultivator says: "Favorable comment is being made upon the wisdom and promised results of the farmer-banker agricultural program in Georgia. Industrial leaders and publicists, noting that 115 of the 161 counties in the state have pledged prosecution of the 'live-at-home' farm reform, are regarding the working out of the plan this year as of more interest to American farmers than any developments of the Soviet five-year plan in Russia. Agricultural actuaries are of the opinion that if Georgia farmers, backed by our cooperating bankers and supply men, demonstrate the expected economies and profits of this home-support plan, it will quickly become a contagious custom all over the agricultural areas of the nation. It will be the writing of a new 'declaration of independence' for the individualist farmers of the country, putting them upon solid terms of credit and prosperity without need of recourse to federal or state financial relief measures. The man of the soil who lives year in and year out 'on his own' will stand up in his community as an economic freeman, making his own terms with the world of finance and trade."

TO SAVE SHIPPING

Well known Piano Company must quickly place in private home in or near Clanton, one Uprich Piano. Reliable party may purchase this instrument for the balance due, on low terms. Might allow reliable party to have use of Piano for the cost of tuning and expense of delivery. Write

E. BROWDY
1816 3rd Ave. No., Birmingham - Alabama

We do everything but hold the Baby

WHEN you drive in here, expect lots of attention to your car, if you've time for it. Free attention and you are welcome to it, whether or not you spend a dime.

So come in regularly for correct tire inflation, removal of glass, tacks, stones from tire treads, checking of wheel alignment, battery, water and testing—anything we do. We'll save you a lot of time, trouble and money. Try us and see!

Latest GOODYEAR PATHFINDER Lifetime Guaranteed

$5.69

4.50-21 (30x4.50)

$11.10 per pair

Other Sizes Equally Low

GOODYEAR'S FAMOUS QUALITY tire within the reach of all.

A NEW LOW PRICE FOR GUARANTEED GOODYEAR TIRES

the new and improved GOODYEAR SPEEDWAY

$4.35

4.40-21 (29x4.40)

Other sizes equally low

Size	Each	Pair
4.40-21 (29x4.40)	$4.98	$9.60
4.50-20 (29x4.50)	5.60	10.90
4.75-19 (28x4.75)	6.65	12.90
5.25-21 (31x5.25)	8.57	16.70
30x3½ Reg. Cl.	4.39	8.54

Heavy Duty Truck Tires

Size	Price	Size	Price
30x5	$17.95	32x6	$29.75
7.50-20 (34x7.50)			29.95
6.00-20 (32x6.00)			15.35

TUBES ALSO LOW PRICED

DIEF'S SERVICE STATION

Open all night Phone 79 Clanton

REMARKABLE CLUBBING OFFER

The Union-Banner, Weekly, one year
The Birmingham Post, Daily, one year

Both for $3.85

The price of The Post alone is $3.50
Here is an opportunity to procure your favorite local paper and a progressive independent daily newspaper at a very special price.

The Price of The Post alone is $3.50

The Union-Banner gives you all of the local news interestingly told. The Birmingham Post prints all the news of the state, nation and world and all the special features of metropolitan dailies.

Send $3.85 for this club today!

Send all orders to

The UNION-BANNER

Clanton, Ala.

WADESONIAN
PROGRAMS

Wednesday and Thursday
September 9th and 10th
Kay Johnson and Neil Hamilton, In
"THE SPY"—All Talking

Friday and Saturday
September 11th and 12th
Buck Jones, In
"THE FIGHTING SHERIFF"—Talking
Serial—"Spell of the Circus"—All Talking

Monday and Tuesday
September 14th and 15th
Billie Dove, In
"SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES"
All Talking COMEDY—All Talking

A. A. JACKSON WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

Here I am again as it were, standing on the bank of the Red Sea with thousands of other farmers and laborers, without a Moses to lead us to deliverance from the thousands of Pharaohs that are causing millions of people to suffer for want of bread and clothing here in a land that God has blessed with more bread and clothing than the people of the world can possible consume. Such conditions have never been before in this world.

Our Federal Farm Board has told us that we can't get any relief from them. Our national and local government officials have told us by their actions that they can't give any relief. But have audacity to order several elections in the near future asking the voters of Alabama to amend the Constitution of our state for the purpose of heaping more bonds and taxes on a people that cannot carry the burdens that they now have on them. Shame, Shame on such statesmanship.

Our commissioners have cut out the Child Welfare Department of Chilton County. Our Board of Education has a ruling that discriminates against the little school child in favor of the large school children in transporting the large school children to and from school and denying the little child transportation. I am afraid that during the coming winter there will be hundreds of little children in Chilton County that will suffer and become offended.

Read Matthew, 18 chapter, and 6 verse, which says: "But who so shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it is better for him that a milestone were hanged about his neck; and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

Our commissioners also cut Mr. Stapp's salary to $100.00 per month. If Mr. Stapp can make out on $100.00 per month why can't the other county officials make out on that amount?

If Mr. Pittts wants to serve his masters, the people who elected him, let him introduce a bill when the legislature meets in extra session, and get a law passed putting all of Chilton's officials on $100.00 per month salary.

And also put the same cut to our state officials. By so doing don't you think the state could pay our school teachers? And then have plenty of money to meet all present obligations of the state, and would put us farmers, laborers, and officials nearer on an equality, which would make us think more of each other, and would be in line with the Apostle Paul's command, that we should not esteem one above the other.

Mr. Voter, what are you going to do? Are you going to vote to amend the Constitution of your state in order to give the Pharaohs and Caesars of Alabama a constitutional right to levy and collect more taxes from the already crushed tax payers of Alabama?

If there is a single farmer or laboring man in the State of Alabama that is in favor of any of the proposed amendments that is to be voted on in the next few months, will you please give your reasons for being in favor of any one of them.

In conclusion I want to challenge any farmer or laborer to show where he would get any benefit whatever to vote for the proposed amendments. But to the contrary, to vote for them will add to your present poverty, more nakedness, depression, and hunger. But the Caeesars and pharaohs of Alabama would get the benefit.—Respectfully, A. A. Jackson.

WOMAN, 87, NEVER TIRED —TAKES IRON DAILY

"I am 87 and go to church twice Sundays, take long rides and attend parties, but do not get a bit tired. I eat and sleep well. All thanks to Vinol."—Mrs. M. Batdorf.

Old people get quick benefit from iron, lime and cod liver peptone as combined in Vinol. The very FIRST bottle brings appetite and sound sleep. Equally good for nervous, run-down men and women of any age. Vinol tastes delicious. Get a bottle today!—Upchurch Drug Co.

A VISIT TO JUDGE ADAMS

Editor Union-Banner:

I went out to the Masonic Home in Montgomery last Friday to see Judge S. M. Adams. There are 400 folks there, and I did not know whether he was very well known among them. The first persons I came up with were two little boys. I asked "Where can I find Judge Adams?" One of them pointed out the building and said "Right over there."

Brother Adams was glad to see me. He would be glad to see any of his old friends. The matron told me the folks are not visiting them as much as they used to. "Perhaps," she said, "it makes them feel bad." But then I am reminded, "I was sick and in prison and ye visited me not."

He is sick: he walks with difficulty; can't read; his eyes are bad. Away from his old friends, he says he is lonely, yet his spirit seems very good. I don't know whether I could be in as good spirits or not. But there is a good side to this. The surroundings are comfortable. They have medical attention when needed, and the nurse impressed me as being an excellent lady; sensible, sympathetic, and up on her job.

But Brother Adams says "My friends are all up in Chilton County. I wish I could see more of them. I am mighty lonesome." Any of us would be too, if we were in his place.

The old judge has a big heart. He has always wanted to do something for someone. He regrets that he can not do something now. Let us go to see him when we can. Drop him a few lines of good cheer. It may make a whole day brighter for him.

I told him I was going to write this letter, and it pleased him. When you write him address him in care of Masonic Home, Montgomery.—Judson Strock, Verbena, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robinson of Birmingham were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. M. Robinson.

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO

DALLAS COMPRESS CO.

Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).

Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.

Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop.

Dallas Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

HAY DRYER SEEN AS BIGGEST BOON SINCE COTTON GIN

Enables Alabama Farmer To Compete With West in Raising Forage Crops

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 31.—The success of large scale experiments in the dehydration of forage crops by a mechanical dryer is seen by the New Industries Division of Alabama Power Company as possibly the greatest contribution to Alabama agriculture since the advent of the cotton gin.

The development of Alabama into one of the nation's great dairy and livestock states, through the production of an abundant supply of cheap leguminous forage crops, is expected by Power Company engineers to follow the success of the experiments conducted by T. D. Johnson on his 1,000 acre plantation in Hale County, near Demopolis.

The mechanical dryer overcomes the natural advantages of the West, where 75 per cent of the country's alfalfa is produced by irrigation and field drying. The problem in the West is to put water into forage crops, whereas Alabama's problem has been to take it out. With 20 to 24 inches of rain falling in Alabama from May to October, inclusive, about 75 per cent of the state's hay crop is rained on, bleached by the sun and stripped of its leaves in the field curing process, making it impossible to cure out better than a fair grade.

Artificial drying makes it possible to make hay while the rain falls and changes the production of leguminous forage crops from a gamble on the weather to a scientifically controlled manufacturing process. It permits cutting and curing to be done at the stage of growth when the protein and carbohydrate content is highest and the plant is young, tender and more succulent than if permitted to grow until the field drying season. In harvesting the hay while green, practically all the leaves are saved (the leaves of legumes being especially rich in protein), sun bleaching is prevented and all vitamins are retained. Under field drying practice, it is entirely possible to leave in the field the most valuable part of hay and more hay than is harvested. In this way, artificial drying enables the Alabama farmer to produce pea-green U. S. leafy grade hays and hay meals superior to the Western sun-dried product.

Some idea of the present local market for hay in Alabama may be had from the fact that agricultural authorities estimate that Alabama imports 1,000,000 tons of hay and hay meal per year. With the cost of mechanical drying known to be less than the cost of irrigation, and a differential in favor of Alabama equal to freight from Colorado, Utah and California points, the Alabama farmer is assured of a considerable cost advantage over his Western competitors and a local market for hay of quality equal to the Western product.

From the standpoint of the national market, the Alabama farmer enjoys equal advantages. According to U. S. Department of Agriculture reports, 75 per cent of the nation's alfalfa hay is produced west of Kansas City, whereas 73 per cent of the country's dairy cows are located east of Kansas City. A similar freight differential opens this national market to Alabama.

The Johnson plantation is a typical black belt farm with 200 acres planted in melilotus (sweet clover) and 800 acres in soy beans to prepare the soil for alfalfa to be planted 500 acres this fall and 500 acres next spring. All operations, from seed-bed preparation to planting and harvesting, are performed by heavy-duty tractor-drawn equipment. Delivered at the dryer in 2 hours at the most after mowing, the green hay is chopped by an ensilage cutter to 1-4 and 1-2 inch lengths and in something less than 2 minutes, the completely dried product (just as green in color as before drying) is ready for sacking. The dryer has an average capacity of 1 ton of dry hay per hour, from 3 to 4 tons of green material being required to produce 1 ton of dry hay.

With mechanical hay driers an accomplished fact and their operation successfully demonstrated, the Power Company's industrial engineers expect to see much alfalfa planted in the lime lands of the Black Belt, sweet clover in the fertile valleys and soy beans generally throughout the State, with public hay dryers at farm community centers very much like cotton gins.

USING BRICK BROODERS FOR DRYING FRUITS

Below is a copy of a letter recently received by Miss Helen Johnston, State Home Demonstration Agent, which is self explanatory.

Dear Miss Johnston:

Thought it might be of interest to you to know that I have found a new use for brick brooders.

That is for drying fruit, such as peaches and apples. The farmers here simply spread the fruit on boards in house, build fire and dry for two days. It would probably be better to spread on hardware cloth.

This seems to me a much better method than spreading on top of the house, and thought that you might pass the word on to the home agents. —W. T. Cheney, County Agent.

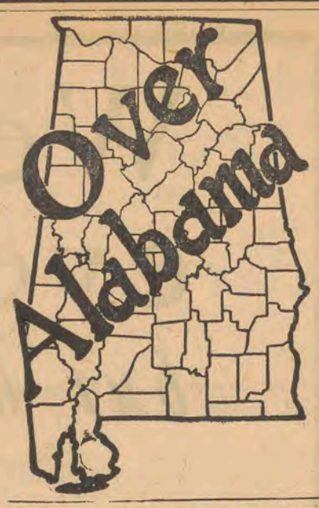
MARKET THE WELL FATTENED HEIFERS AT LIGHT WEIGHTS

(By Dr. John E. Evvard)

One of the most serious mistakes made in the feeding of heifer calves is to over fatten them before selling. It is very easy to carry heifers too long in the feeding lots, this both from the degree of fattening and the marketable weight stand points. Such mistakes are most costly to the feeder.

Fat heifer calves sell for the most money per hundred pounds when they are in the light weight class, tipping the scale beam at from 600 to 750 pounds per head.

When 350 pound heifer calves are liberally fed on an adequate ration, they, if rightly bred, will gain under good management at least 2 pounds per head daily. In five months that means a minimum gain of at least 300 pounds, maybe 350 pounds. The 350 pound feeding heifer will then weight from 650 to 700 pounds. At this time, if well fattened for age and size, they are near market-toppers. To carry them much longer is "poor business," ordinarily.



When the heifer calves are continued in the feeding yards for approximately nine months, the daily gain being kept close around two pounds a day, they will weigh about 900 to 950 pounds, over-weight and over-fat. At this very fat, heavy weight stage, considerable increase in the cost of production per cwt., and a marked reduction in selling price is experienced.

Larger profits per head are therefore nearly always made on the 600 to 750 pound fat heifers than on the 850 to 950 pound kind.

Plan meals so as to use left overs while perfectly fresh.

Do not allow food of strong odor to remain uncovered.

Half pint and pint fruit jars with straight sides make good containers for refrigerator foods.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

J. C. Inzer has been elected president of the Gadsden Community Chest, organized recently. E. H. Cross is Vice-President and Harry Disque is secretary-treasurer. The directors will meet in a few days to elect a manager of the campaign planned to raise $16,000. The City Welfare Department, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts will be beneficiaries.

Scores of farmers from all sections of Calhoun County attended a meeting at State Experiment Farm, near Alexandria. The purpose of the meeting was to demonstrate to the farmers the use of fertilizers and cultivation of crops. Explanation of the time to plant certain products, the importance of rotation of crops and soil builders also was made.

Mobile's new voting system will be used for the first time Sept. 14, as the city chooses a new commissioner to fill Leon Schwarz's post, made vacant by retirements. All voting boxes will be under on roof with the voters casting their ballots in accordance with alphabetical listing and not by wards.

One Mobile bank president has decided his institution shall not be a victim of a daylight robbery, at least without some difficulty. He has installed an automoatic gas device which can be quickly released, spreading a layer of heavy chemicals over the lobby and cages.

Gov. Miller told a delegation of approximately 200 Alabama farmers and farm leaders that if he should see the need of a special session of the state Legislature to help the farmers he would call one, but that for the present he was "sitting steady in the boat."

Walk on the left side of the road and watch the traffic coming toward you! This is the warning of Sheriff James F. Hawkins to Jefferson County rural school students in a campaign he has instituted to avoid injury to them by automobiles.

More than 40 citizens of Phenix City are reported concerned in a U. S. Grand Jury inquiry investigation. Federal undercover agents have been at work on the case six months and approximately 65 witnesses have been summoned for the inquiry.

Sentence of five years imprisonment was assesed by a Blount County jury against T. B. Deavers, after he had been found guilty of first degree manslaughter in the slaying of Ernest Draughdrill, of Oneonta, April 5, 1931.

A group of Birmingham Age-Herald-News junior carrier salesmen were received by Gov. Miller at the capitol in Montgomery, where he welcomed them as governor of Alabama, and then appointed guides to show them over the buildings and grounds.

Gov. Miller has mailed out copies of the Garrett proposed constitutional amendment for a $25,000,000 highway bond issue to be advertised, as required by law, in daily and weekly papers in the state beginning Sept. 8.

Plans for the establishment of a junior college at Brewton, to be known as Brewton College, were completed with the filing of incorporation papers with the probate judge of Escambia County.

Col. W. P. Screws, Montgomery police commissioner, has announced installation of a Bertillon bureau along with plans for reorganizing and expanding the detective force of the Police Department.

J. M. Daily, 45, field agent for the federal farm loan bureau, with headquarters in Memphis, was severely beaten and robbed near Haleyville by a hitch hiker he had picked up in Memphis.

The Montgomery Bar Association has named a committee to investigate reports the new Barber bill regulatjng and defining the practices of law is being violated in the state.

An auto carrying five youths crashed into an embankment between Morris and Majestic, instantly killing Oscar Leon Little, 16, of Majestic.

Dr. Jacob Geffs, former assistant visiting professor of law at the University of Missouri, has joined the law school faculty at the University of Alabama.

Oliver D. Street, Jr., of Birmingham, has been appointed clerk of the United States court for the Middle Alabama District by Judge Charles B. Kennemer

The emergency road construction program inaugurated by Congress last December has closed in Alabama with 182 miles constructed at an estimated cost of $3,539,448.79.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

4-H CLUB GIRL EARNS MONEY BY ALERT WORK

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 7.—By putting into practice schemes that most girls just dream about but don't do, Louise Smilie, a Montgomery County 4-H club girl, has been able to add $147.50 to her income. It required four years of persistent work in marketing products of the Smilie home and farm.

Although $147.50 is no staggering sum for four years' profit, it is exactly $147.50 more than most girls in rural sections have been able to earn by their own efforts during the same four years.

When the curb market was established in Montgomery County, Louise had been in club work four years. During these years she had learned from demonstrations at club meetings under Mrs. Mamie C. Thorington, home demonstration agent, and from practical experience at home the art of canning, baking, and sewing. She had earned $10.00 by doing sewing and embroidery for her friends.

Because of the demand for vegetables at the curb market, Louise began a garden project and her sales from this first garden amounted to $15.00. Her sewing ability developed an art for making smocked dresses which attracted the attention of a few women in the city of Montgomery. This resulted in adding another $15.00 to her sales sheet.

In telling of her experience, Louise said, "The woods near our home are filled with huckleberries. I gathered sixteen gallons which sold for a dollar a gallon. I also gathered blackberries. Ten quarts of canned berries were sold for seventy-five cents a quart.

My garden brought $10.00 profit and my sewing $5.00, bringing the total to $38.50 for my fifth year in club work. Butter beans from the garden were shelled, making a profit of $12.50. Scuppernongs added another $14.00. A small poultry project resulted in a profit of $7.20.

Last winter Louise, with her mother and sister, made cakes and sold them for $183.75. Louise's share gave her a profit of $35.00.

Wide mouthed fruit jars are good for storing lettuce.

Mayonnaise should be kept in warmest part of the refrigerator to prevent separating when removed.

The ice chest should be washed occassionally with a solution of borax or washing soda in warm water. A thorough rinsing should follow.

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW IN CLANTON, SEPT. 18-19

Mr. Stapp and the Jersey Calf Club members anonunce that they will hold a Jersey show at Clanton the 19th of September.

All Chilton County owners of pure bred Jerseys are invited to take part in the show. The cattle will be brought in Friday, September 18, and the judging will take place Saturday morning, September 19. Immediately following the judging, the cattle will be paraded through the streets of Clanton.

Many of the club boys are already grooming and blanketing their cattle, getting them ready for the local show.

About ten of the best individual animals belonging to Calf Club members will be taken to Anniston the 12th of October for a district show.

ALABAMA TESTS ON FERTILIZING OF HAY CROPS

The importance of applying a nitrogen fertilizer with an alkaline residue to acid soils for hay crops is shown by D. G. Sturkie and R. Y. Bailey in Alabama Experiment Station Circular 58, "Experiments with Hay Crops in Alabama," according to American Hortigraphs and Agronomic Review, September issue.

The publication quotes the bulletin as saying: "In an experiment in Cecil sandy loam soil the effect of soil acidity on the growth of a number of different crops was studied. The area devoted to this experiment included plots which had been fertilized with nitrate of soda, calcium cyanamid or ammonium sulphate each year for a period of 20 years. The crops used in this study were planted in rows across the fertilized plots so that all crops grew under the various treatments. All hay crops were harvested for hay, and corn was harvested for stover, the weighgt of the entire plant being recorded."

With the exception of calcium cyanamid none of these nitrogen materials used carries lime. Since the soil was quite acid in reaction the effect of the lime in the cyanamid was very apparent, the yields of crops averaging over a period of three years, better than twice as high on the plots receiving this extra lime.

The bulletin concluded that "Sudan grass, sorghum, and soybeans suffered more serious injury than other crops from the acid condition of the soil. These crops also gave more response to calcium cyanamid than the other crops used."

Calcium cyanamid contains 22 per cent nitrogen and 75 per cent hydrated lime equivalent. One ton of calcium cyanamid contains 1,500 pounds of the latter and is the equivalent in neutralizing value of 2,000 pounds of 100 per cent pure limestone. Chemical analysis showed the degree of acidity was lowest on the calcium cyanamid plots.

DEALERS RESPONSIBLE FOR MISBRANDED SEED

"Alabama farmers who received a dwarf variety of soybeans last spring instead of hay producing variety as branded have recourse on the dealer from whom they purchased the seed and the dealer has recourse on the shipper of the beans into the State."

This statement was made by Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture, and L. N. Allen, seed analyst, who declared that "it is our desire that every farmer who purchased misbranded seed be refunded for his losses and that the shippers be duly punished."

"All farmers who did not get the kind of seed purchased are urged to take it up with their county agent," they said. "The county agents will then forward complaints to the Alabama Department of Agriculture which will cooperate with the federal authorities in bringing suit against those who violated the Alabama law by shipping the misbranded seed."

Commissioner Storrs and Mr. Allen have also written seed dealers advising that all seed not bearing an analysis as reqquired by law will be removed from sale subject to confiscation. In part the letter reads:

"This letter is to advise you that in the future all seeds not bearing an analysis as required will be removed from sale subject to confiscation when found by the seed inspectors. In order to prevent this happening to you require that all seed sold to you be tagged with the correct analysis as required by the Alabama law.

REFRIGERATOR REMINDERS

Much space may be saved by using refrigerator dishes for left overs. These dishes are covered and may be placed one upon the other.

If the wood of the refrigerator shows wear, a coat of water-proof varnish will protect it.

A dish of fresh charcoal in the refrigerator will help to absorb odors.

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Mullins Academy, Beat 1	Oct. 5	Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17
Jemison, Beat 2	Oct. 6	Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19
Mars Hill, Beat 2	Oct. 7	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
		Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.

AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

Willard Batteries
NOW $6.95
13 PLATE
and up
Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging All Makes of Batteries
We Will Allow You One Dollar For Your Old Battery
BATES AUTO SHOP
On the Highway :-: Clanton, Ala.
Willard STORAGE BATTERIES
For Greater Service and Satisfaction from Any Make of Battery Use Willard Service Regularly

LUMBER for every purpose
Buy now to build or repair your home while prices are low.
AT THESE LOW CASH PRICES
Dressed 2x4, 2x6, and 2x8 framing, up to 16 ft., $12.50 per M. Kiln dried Weatherboarding Pattern 105, No. 2, $18 per M. Kiln dried No. 2 Flooring and Ceiling, $15 per M.
Other items and grades priced proportionately low. Buy your lumber requirements from us and save the difference.
Maplesville Lumber Co.
MAPLESVILLE, ALABAMA

WEST CHILTON

Everything quiet over on this side and every body busy.

We never saw such a crop of sorghum as is now in West Chilton. It is now being made into sirup.

The Baptists of Randolph had a great revival from August 23 to the 30, with Bro. Lawrence in charge, assisted by Rev. Williams. There were 30 or 40 members received.

Remedies keep piling up on the cotton question and we wonder if any thing will be done for the cotton growers? We fear not. Nothing to do but face the situation as it is. In many instances the present depression resembles the panic of the nineties.

Mrs. J. M. Price and children of Pleasant Grove were visiting here Sunday.

Well the new tax collector is coming, we will all be glad to see him, but the heavy tax, where is it to come from? Echo answers where?

Several of our people attended the Lomax Singing Convention Sunday, among whom was the writer. We regard the present session as being equal to any of its predecessors.

The attendence was large, and the music sweet and inspiring, nicely rendered. Several visitors were present, among whom were; Lawley of Montevallo, T. C. Jackson and Mr. Blockes of Sylacauga, Miller of Mars Hill, the venerable Willoughby of Birmingham, Calloway of Clanton, D. B. Ingram and family of Wilsonville. The local singers were nearly all there. Good will and energy in the work abounded, there was no dragging or losing time. Interest was good until the closing moments. The memorial service by a quartet and Prof. Lawley was very impressive. The directing by Miss Ingram of Wilsonville was charming, Mr. Miller of Mars Hill won golden opinions. The local directors did valuable work among whom were the Shirley Sisters, Elder Davis, Mrs. Culver and all others.

The dinners were rich and abundant. Some thoughtfull friend placed in the midst a vase of beautiful flowers, which the Convention duly appreciated. Many sweet memories will linger in days to come around this session.

PROVIDENCE BEAT 13

To all whom it may concern, are hereby requested to come on the day set forth for cleaning off the cemetry at this place, Thursday before the 3rd Sunday in September.

Now lets all turn out on this day with tools sufficient to do the work and make this a nice clean job and respect for the dead.—W. F. Thompson.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

Thorsby Public School, which was scheduled for Monday, September 7th, has been postponed one week, because Prof. Bean, the principal, has the mumps.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby, and friend of Thorsby Institute, report 274 quarts of fruits and vegetables canned for use in the dining hall. They had set their goal at 300 quarts and still hope to reach it.

Dr. S. C. Wood and family spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Each went to Crest View, Fla., Tuesday. They expect to return towards the end of the week, bringing four students for Thorsby Institute.

Mrs. George Piper and son, of Birmingham, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Piper Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Wood spent Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. Edgar in Clanton.

Mrs. H. O. Bean of Thorsby and Miss Mary Ward of Tallassee spent the week end with Mrs. T. S. Maddox in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams of Collinsville visited Mrs. Adams's mother, Mrs. Leila Martin, in Thorsby Sunday.

Mr. German Bean of Atlanta spent Labor Day with his mother, Mrs. H. O. Bean, in Thorsby.

Mrs. Horace Reinhardt visited friends in Wilsonville last week.

Mrs. T. S. Maddox and children of Birmingham spent Labor Day with Mrs. H. O. Bean.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarland have returned to their home after a visit to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Payne of Fairhope, Ala., were overnight guests of the Nortons in Thorsby on their return trip from Chicago.

Herman and Don Harper of Birmingham are visiting their grandfather, G. F. Harper in Thorsby.

Miss Lois Leech, matron at Thorsby Institute, returned Friday after spending her vacation at her home in Minneapolis.

Miss Marian Fairbank returned from visiting her brother in South Dakota, while recuperating from a serious operation, early in the summer. She appears to be in fine health and spirits, ready to assume her work as librarian and part time teacher at Thorsby Institute.

Miss Hattie Davenport of Birmingham spent last week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davenport, in Thorsby.

Circle No. 1 of the W. M. U. met with Mrs. Jim Nix Tuesday afternoon

The colored people of Beulah Church, west of Thorsby, wish to express their appreciation and grateful thanks for assistance rendered by Thorsby white folks in funds for expenses connected with their revival meetings last week, which resulted in five baptisms.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss left early Sunday morning for Demorest, Ga., taking with them Miss Katheryn Foss, Miss Dera Rowell, and Miss Doris Freeman, as a part of Thorsby Institute contingent of students in Piedmont College. Mr. Rascoe A. Maddox followed Tuesday, carrying his sister, Hazel, Miss Eunice Williamson and Byron Bean, also from Thorsby Institute, who form another group headed for Piedmont College.

Mrs. Theron South, of Birmingham, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. George Freeman, and other kinfolks in Thorsby during the past week.

Mr. Jim Scott, who at one time worked in the Franklin Garage has returned to Thorsby with his wife and two children, and is now employed as a mechanic in Thorsby Garage. What seems almost unbelievable is his statement that he could find no vacant house in Thorsby and has sought temporary shelter in the filling station recently vacated by Edward Howard.

Miss Jessie Martin spent last week in Birmingham with her friend, Miss Sudduth.

Miss Edna Childress accompanied Misses Ruth and Margerie Champion to Montgomery Friday.

Mr. Osmond Honeycutt of Memphis, Tenn., spent the week end with Mrs. J. H. Honeycutt and family in Thorsby.

The Baptist Ladies Aid social will be held on Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. C. M. Gray. A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies of Thorsby and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gray spent Sunday in Prattville.

Tuesday morning Mrs. C. M. Willaims left for Calera with her small daughter, Charlene, to take Martha and Miss Smith, a teacher friend of Martha, who has been visiting her for a few days, to the State School for the Blind, where Martha finished her high school course, and for the coming year will take teacher training, typewriting, physical culture and possibly piano. While not totally blind, Martha is in such condition that she may become so, and is preparing herself to become self-supporting in any such event.

Claud Billingsley, who has been in St. Louis for the past year has returned to Thorsby, and rented what is best known as the J. F. Peterson farm. Mrs. Billingsley, who has attended Normal School at Florence during the summer, has a position as principal of Oak Grove school, north of Jemison, and their two children, Brady and Jane, will be students in Thorsby Institute.

Mrs. Ethel Wright Loveland, of Demorest, Georgia, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Foss to Thorsby on their return from Demorest Monday, after spending one night with Thorsby Institute folks she returned to Demorest Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg, and Miss Astrid Ekblad have returned from a three weeks trip to Chicago and other northern points. They report a hard trip home on account of the heat and overcrowding of trains.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead and little Louise spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Meade in Calera.

The Baptist young people Circle No. 2 will meet with Mrs. H. L. Walker Tuesday, September 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead entertained at dinner Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mead of Calera, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith and Dr. Horace Franklin of Thorsby.

The Boy Scouts of Thorsby, who have been occupying the vacant store room in the Masonic building, have left that place to make room for Thorsby Drug Company, who have moved back to their old stand. The boys now have the room at the rear of that building formerly occupied by a shoe shop.

Mrs. Russell Peterson and Mrs. Robert Bean were guests of Mrs. Clyde Mead on Monday.

Mrs. Frank Thompson spent last week with her parents in Dadeville.

Mrs. J. L. Mixson and children returned Sunday from visiting relatives at Union Springs.

Miss Eleanor Rowell and friend from Birmingham spent the week end in Thorsby.

Mrs. Gerald Smith left Thursday to visit her mother in Baker, Florida.

We are pleased to report that R. R. Franklin has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be about his work again.

Miss Mary Ella Gerald, who has been employed in government work in Washington, D. C., the past year, arrived in Thorsby Monday night, having come from Demorest, Ga., with Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Foss.

Miss Eunice Williamson, a former T. I. student, stopped off in Thorsby Sunday and went on to Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., Tuesday morning. While here she visited with Miss Hazel Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gray gave a rook party Thursday night in favor of Mr. Samuel Colley. Those present were Misses Dorothy Franklin, Coradine Pate, Vernon and Wilma Goodgame, Mr. Frank Wood, Ralph Pate, and Herbert Reinhardt. High score was topped by Wilma Goodgame and Frank Wood. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Primm and baby spent the week end with Mrs. M. J. Primm.

Roy Raybon and little Dion Raybon, with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Peterson spent the week end in Birmingham.

Mrs. M. J. Primm left Sunday evening for a two weeks visit with her son, Hugh, near Calera.

The United Singing Society met with Thorsby Baptist Church Sunday afternoon with a good many present, and some mighty good singing was had, with Mr. Arch Glass, Akin Collins, Jasper Oaks, Mr. Culp directing several songs each. Mr. Culp and Miss Guiula Collins were pianists. It was a pleasure indeed to hear the singing and also to see so many of our Thorsby singers in the class.

Mr. George Glass of Ensley, Ala., a brother of Mr. Arch and Elijah Glass, visited the singing Sunday.

Mrs. T. A. Shannon of West Point, Ga., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Nels Peterson.

Miss Naemi Turnquist and Kitty Rogers of Selma spent the week end in Thorsby.

Miss Christine Bosworth accompanied Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss to Demorest, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Sarber and daughter, Hazel, spent Tuesday morning with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard and Mrs. J. W. McCain spent Friday last in Clanton with Mrs. C. V. Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howard and Misses Lucile and Mabel Howard motored to Orange Beach, Baldwin County, Alabama, on last Sunday. The ladies returned the same day, but Fred Howard expects to remain there a week or two on his vacation.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Mr. Henry Robinson spent Tuesday in Thorsby with his mother, Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson and Mrs. E. N. Bentley and Sam and Marjorie returned from Florida last Saturday.

Miss Mary Sue Robinson returned home Saturday after visiting her sister, Mrs. A. P. Villadsen, in Lincoln, Ala.

Miss Edna Childress gave a farewell party for Miss Ruth and Margie Champion September 3rd. Various games were enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served to the following: Misses Ruth and Margie Champion, Clara Hayes, Frelan Marcus, Lou Tissue Bean, Mary Ward, Mary Ruth Nix, Hilma Collins, Jessie and Lola Martin, Bonnie Honeycutt, Sallye Thompson, Lucile Howard, Gladys Melton, Mr. Fred and Hollis Merchant, Foster Miller, Curtis Hurtt, Burton Stagner, Hubert Ayecock, Cecil Marcus, Carlton Collins, Hershal Hayes, Ershel Martin, Floyd Robinson, Melvis Collins, Herman Robinson, Kenneth O'Barr, and Ethridge Williams.

Thorsby Institute will open on Wednesday morning, September 16, at ten o'clock. Opening exercises will be held in the auditorium. All friends and patrons of the school are invited.

Mr. Maddox will be in the office at the Institute each day so that students who wish to register may do so. All students who can are urged to register before the opening day.

Because of the present financial depression Thorsby Institute has made a reduction in tuition for music. One 45 minute lesson per week will be $3 per term or $8 per semester. Two 30 minute lessons per week will be $4 per term or $10.50 per semester.

Miss Jennie May Thoroman of Cincinnati who has taught in Thorsby Institute for two years will be at the head of the music department this year. Miss Thoroman is a teacher of wide experience and training. She has done a great deal of work at the Cincinnati Conservatory in the past, and this summer has done twelve weeks' work there. She holds an Alabama state music certificate so pupils will receive credit for work done under her.

PLEASANT VALLEY

We wish to announce to the public that our singing society meets here next Sunday afternoon.

We are taking this means to invite any one and every one who will to come and help us; "In union there is strength," so if you will come to our aid, be assured that it will be fully appreciated.

We hope to have a large crowd present and we like to have lots of listeners too, so if you sing, or if you do not, just come ahead and you will always be welcome at our Church.

LEAGUE BANQUETT

Last Thursday night the Senior League of the Clanton Methodist Church gave their annual banquet in the basement of the Methodist Church. The room was beautifully decorated, using the color scheme, yellow and white. Beautiful cut flowers added very much to the beauty of the room. During the banquet songs and cheers were enjoyed by all. Helen Diefenderfer played several popular pieces on the piano. Mr. Teel gave a toast on the work of the League. This was enjoyed by all. After the banqquet about 35 young folk returned home saying that they had a wonderful time.

New Fall Styles

NO part of a woman's dress is more important than the neck designs. Roughly there are three forms which a woman must consider in designing her dress. Just as she must consider her Adam's apple in smoking so she must consider the proper contour of her throat to get a pleasing effect. As shown above, the neck designs are semi-circular, square and v-shaped. Of course, each of them must be adapted to bring out the contours of the throat. Women's present day designs are far removed from styles of twenty-five years ago when high collars hid what Tennyson called "the warm white supple apple of her throat."

According to Miss Dorothy Shaver, Vice President of Lord & Taylor and one of New York's leading fashion authorities, "A new silhouette is just around the corner. You will meet it soon, in the person of a Lady of Fashion, Fall, 1931. She will not have the casual look of this Summer, and her 'rag of a hat' will be relegated to the rag-bag.

"Her waistline will be clearly defined, her tailleur suave and fitted, her tiny 'half of a hat' tilted over one eyebrow.

"She will epitomize feminine charm, and will have completely discarded the boyish look she began to tire of two seasons ago. Watch for the lady . . . . she'll be charming!"

THORSBY INSTITUTE
Opens Next Wednesday, September 16, for a
FULL NINE MONTHS TERM
For High School Grades, 9 to 12—You Know Our Reputation for High Standards, Thorough Work!
LOW EXPENSE
We are especially interested in the Student who has little money, but a lot of "grit." Don't say "I can't," but call on us, or write to us.
Miss HELEN C. JENKINS, Principal.
Rev. E. W. BUTLER, Treasurer.

MOVED!
Thorsby Drug Co.
Has moved back across railroad to old location in the Masonic Building. Glad to get back into the old store, and hope to see all old customers in the near future.
McDonald Pearson, Mgr.
THORSBY, ALABAMA

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Ala., as Second Class Mail Matter, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

An idea of how bad the grasshoppers are in some sections of the country may be had from an incident reported where a farmer turned into one of his fields a flock of turkeys to eat the grasshoppers and the grasshoppers ate all of the feathers off the turkeys.—Inland Oil Index.

A London communist paper is angry because G. B. Shaw refused to grant it an interview and informed the editor that he writes only for capitalists. G. B. doesn't permit his views to interefere with his pocketbook, and in this respect he has plenty of radical company.

Chile has opened a world-wide nitrate war. We thought those Pan-American countries were like Uncle Sam—had enough trouble already.

The trouble with being a revolutionist in Cuba is that if you get licked you can't run very far unless you are good swimmer.

A Great Educational Need—Another thing America needs is a college that won't give a youth any more education than his intelligence can bear.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Statistics show that rural residents receive seventeen times as much mail as they send, which shows that while farmers are included in many sucker lists they are too wise to bite.—Seattle Times.

Elbow Resting Necessary—If a movie seat had five arms, man would discover some way for one person to rest his elbows on all of them.—Miami Daily News.

British politicians get a bit acrimonious at times but when the pound sterling is in danger they have a way of getting together in amity.

Another college professor has a five-year plan for saving the world. But what the world seems to need is fewer plans and more jobs.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

Great Britain is going through a financial crisis, second only in severity to the one encountered by Germany a few weeks ago. The Labor government has fallen and a coalition Nationalist government has taken its place. Every American, of course, hopes and believes that England will weather the storm, and get back to something approaching normalcy, even though normalcy in England these days isn't what it used to be.

The Labor government split on the rock of economy and the dole. A budget deficit of something like $600,000,000 was disclosed. The extreme laborites wanted this made good by the imposition of more taxes. The conservatives declared that this would only further impede business recovery and that the deficit should be made good in a different way. They are said to have proposed that one-fourth of the deficit be made up by additional taxes and three-fourths by a reduction of expenditures, including a decrease in the dole. To this the laborites refused to agree. Premier MacDonald is said to have sought a compromise by which half of the deficit would be made up by increased taxes and half through a reduction in governmental salaries and the dole. The compromise was not agreed to and the government fell. The new cabinet is to be made up of conservatives, liberals, and labor leaders, with Mr. MacDonald retaining the post of premier.

Each party and each faction of the labor party had a remedy for the deficit. But there is one point which ought to strike Americans as significant, and that is that in all of the programs proposed for balancing under a load of taxation, needing to cut a reduction in the expenses of the navy or naval construction. To one unacquainted with the situation it would seem that the easiest way to pare expenditures in the big navy country of the world would be to pare the naval budget. But not even the more radical laborites, those left-wingers who shout militarism to the other nations, at every opportunity, proposed a plan of balancing the budget, in part, by a reduction in the expense of the navy or in the naval building program.

Isn't there something a little significant in this? With the country already staggering under a load of taxation, needing gto cut salaries and the dole of the unemployed there is no suggestion that the problem might be solved in part by naval limitation. It is to be hoped that some of our ardent pacifists in the United States will think this over carefully. They seek from time to time to put Uncle Sam in the wrong, to show that other nations are eager and anxious to disarm, and that it is up to the United States to lead the way. Yet in France the leading military power of the world, and in Great Britain, the leading naval power of the world, there doesn't seem to be the slightest disposition to disarm further. Even a crisis in the British budget doesn't bring such a suggestion from the supposedly pacifist left wing of the labor party. They might advocate a tariff even, but no reducing naval expenditures.

What's wrong with this picture anyhow? Somebody evidently has been feeding us some particularly unintelligent and misleading pacifist propaganda. Won't some leading professional pacifist now arise and explain the British situation to us? No such explanation will be forthcoming unless our professional pacifists can find some way to blame it all on to Uncle Sam. In which case, of course, "explanations" will be both frequent and voluminous.

OUR BOURBON GOVERNOR

Gov. Miller is holding conferences to determine his course with respect to a special session. With whom is he conferring? Why, with Mr. Poole and Mr. Powell, we are told—with Mr. Feagin, we may guess—and with other administrationists, we may take for granted. One would imagine on this basis that the legislature is easy picking for the governor, that he has never had any trouble with it, and that it is only too eager to give the stamp of its approval to anything that he may suggest.

This is, of course, far from being the truth of the situation. The jam in which the state now finds itself is directly due to the unwillingness of at least one chamber to be driven by the governor. If he had shown, during the recent session, any capacity for dealing with legislators wro refuse to be brow-beaten, if he had been willing to negotiate with them upon the theory that his financial program had not come from Sinai, he would not at this hour be facing the ugly confusion which prevails in the affairs of Alabama.

And now we see that his experience has taught him nothing. In this gravest of emergencies does he consult the economic intelligence of the state, or does he attempt to reach with opponents of his policies any common ground upon which a financial plan can be shaped to balance the state's budget and to have done with the current deficit? Not at all. He still refuses to realize that a crisis is not to be met with stubbornness and partisanship. He persists in thinking that whatever the administration proposes is the cure for all our ills, and that there is nothing to be gained from the advice of those who have not been his devotees.

If the governor were a bigger man, even if he were nothing more than an adroit man, he would not lose an opportunity to make his opponents party to any scheme to be presented to the special session. He would be conferring with leaders of the Senate bloc to find out what they are prepared to support. He would include in his conferences all shades of opinion and so work out a plan to which others have contributed. That is statesmanship, that is plain horse sense. Is it too much to expect from Gov. Miller? If it is, the financial troubles of the administration will not be materially relieved by an extra session.—Age-Herald.

PATRIOTISM

The Christian Century quotes Charlie Chaplin, he of the baggy trousers and horseplay antics, as saying: "I have been all over Europe in the past few months. Patriotism, the greatest insanity the world has ever sufferd, is rampart everywhere, and the result is going to be another war."

Such talk as Chaplain's is loose and cheap. No sensible man wants war. One grows weary in the reiteration of this statement. The nations are tending toward the estate of peace, but peace divorced from patriotism is unthinkable. Love of country it not inconsistent with the nobler dreams of accord and equity among peoples, nor are these dreams to be nullified and dissipated by rational preparations for a country's protection and defense.

There may be other wars, probably will be, but the danger of such contingency constantly is becoming less and less. To say that patriotism is an "insanity" is as silly as to say that virtue is vicious. The banishment of nationalism would be a death blow to the happiness and prosperity of peoples. Even an indirect agreement with unreasoning pacifism, subversivism, socialism, communism, syndicalism and the like, is to give aid and comfort to principles founded on force and evil. Any weakening of the national spirit serves as a canker at the heart of any real civilized authority.

One finds encourageent in the observances at the C. M. T. C. at Fort Thomas, when a group of fine Ohio Valley youths received promotion, having finished their three-year course. These be true sons of a true patriotism. They are men dedicated to the righteous service of their country and their flag. In reading their names one hears the echo of alien blood lineage among many of them. But they are Americans first of all, regardless of racial strain—Saxon, Norman, Dane and many more, but all soldiers of the republic which shelters them and molds them into men willing to defend their land, to serve and protect its citizens.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

COST OF STATE GOVERNMENT

From the Alabama Economic Review for September, we learn that the cost of the State government in Alabama in 1929 was $10.30 per inhabitant. The average for the 48 states of the Union was $11.62.

The cost of government in Alabama in 1917 was $3.26 per inhabitant.

The State of Nevada showed the highest per capita cost in 1929, which was $29.83 per inhabitant. Georgia was the lowest with $6.02 per inhabitant. In 1917 the per capita cost of government in Georgia was $2.27 per inhabitant.

A "seer" in New York says the world is shaped like a soup bowl. Well anyhow, most of its inhabitants now seem to be in the soup.

Now that Uncle Sam has traded wheat to Brazil for coffee we are expecting the militant wets to come forward with a proposition to trade cotton to Germany for beer.

Lots of mothers who can't bear the thought of daughter growing up and getting married, when daughter is still ten years of age, will change their minds and go husband hunting when daughter arrives at the age of twenty.

The revolution in Cuba seems to be over, although it may turn out that the curtain has just gone down between acts.

It's all right to compliment a man by calling him a broadgauge person, but if you try that complimentary term on a woman you had better be a little more specific.

Once in awhile some pessimist tells us that boys are not as husky and masculine as they used to be and we always like to remind him that twenty-five years ago the young men wore shirtwaists.

Well, Secretary Stimson has the best of us even if we did have to work during his vacation in Europe. All he had to do was to worry about Europe's debts. What we have to do is worry about our own.

Moscow says the fall of the British cabinet indicates that British capitalism is in desperate straits. Yet if the victims of Russian communism could live in the "desperate straits" of British capitalism they would believe they had been transported to paradise.

It is said that nearly three million bunches of bananas were imported from South America in June through New Orleans alone. Just think how much banana oil that will provide for the politicians this winter.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

The Cotton Plan—Since last week's paper went out, I have had time to think over the proposed cotton acreage legislation, and to get a line on the opinions of others, (people whose opinions are worthy of consideration), and now I believe stronger than ever that the move to force a cut in acreage for 1932 would be about as good a thing as could be done, that is, if such legislation is done soon enough. I believe such a move would be beneficial in more ways than one. First, on the face of such move, the price of cotton, it seems to me, should rise. It is a cinch it couldn't sink MUCH lower. That would help farmers in the disposition of this crop, which has been raised at far less expense than has been the custom heretofore. Second, it would teach the buyers a lesson—they have long said that farmers never would wake up to the fact that they (farmers) held the solution of the cotton price problem in their own hands—and if they were made to realize that the worm had turned at last, it would certainly be a good thing for farmers in years to come. Third, lots of people think they can't make a living on the farm unless they raise cotton—that it is their MONEY crop. Was the crop of 1930 a money crop? Not on your life. It left farmers in a bigger hole than ever, and unless SOMETHING is done, this year's crop will dig the hole deeper. If such legal action should be taken, and farmers should really be convinced that they can make a good living without planting a cotton seed, it would be worth more than anything else it might accomplish. In the event the law goes through and farmers really lay off the planting of big cotton acreage in 1932, and realize what they can do when they will, a big part of them will NEVER go back to the old "cotton for a money crop" system. Nothing better could happen to farmers. There is only one way in which this law could work to farmers' disadvantage—this would be in case those who have such legislation in their hands should dilly-dally around until the crop is out of the growers' hands before taking action, forcing the price of cotton and cotton goods up too late to be of benefit to the growers. Should this be done, such action might do more harm than good. In short, if we are going to do anything, let's get it done NOW! The sooner the better!

School Days—School days again! All the kiddies getting their new books, and like all other kiddies, they are anxious to see what's in 'em. And speaking of books, that makes me think of something else—if the little fellows look through all the books they have, they have a busy time before them. Gee, what a load of books every child has. Last Monday morning I noticed several coming back from school, taking their lists into the book store, and coming out again with a pack of books he could hardly carry. On the other hand, high school students hardly ever have over four books, with maybe an extra note-book or two. It doesn't seem logical, does it? One little shaver I noticed in particular—he was in the third or fourth grade—with a load of books worthy of being carried by a college student—something over $5.00 worth of them. I believe somebody has slipped a cog in this school-book business, and gotten the thing in reverse.

Depression and the Schools—Our compulsory school law says that each child between certain ages MUST attend school. And, again, if that child is to derive any benefit from the school, he must have books. Too, in most cases, there is an incidental fee to be paid BEFORE the child can be enrolled. All in all, quite a bit of money must be spent on each child before he can really start to school. On top of all this, there has been a bit of talk that we have a depression on hand to contend with, too. With the expense of starting a child to school holding up around the $5.00 mark, I have a little question to put forth. Suppose a man has about four or five children in school age, he must dig up $5.00 for each of them and can't do it, (and there are ever so many in that shape), just what is he to do about it? He must send his children to school, buy their books, clothes and what-not, and yet he hasn't the where-with-all to handle the situation. Suppose we have somebody tell us how it may be done. Let us have a Moses to lead us from the wilderness.

Graveling or Grading—Not long ago I was informed that a road overseer was instructed to stop graveling his muddy hills—that no money had been appropriated for graveling purposes. Accordingly, one of the worst roads in the county, so far as muddy hills are concerned, must go through the coming winter without graveling, when, according to some of the best road builders we have, this is the only thing that can be done to that particular road which will be of any benefit whatsoever. Moreover, not so long ago, one of the big road machines went over that same road, and, on plea of widening it, completely covered what gravel had already been spread, and succeeded in making of the road, as a whole, one of the biggest messes I have ever seen. Why is it that there is plenty of money to pay out to special machine crews to tear up what roads we now have, but none to pay to farmers and others for teams and trucks to gravel roads? Roads are to travel over, and if their repair necessitates their being kept almost impassable for most of the time, according to our present repair system, then there must be something wrong with the system. Again, it may be a good thing to keep the bushes and trees along the sides of the road cut away, but I must confess I cannot see the advisability of such work when the road, itself, is but a mass of criss-cross ruts. Moreover, just try talking the matter over with the powers that be—you will be told immediately that so-and-so must surely be competent to handle the matter or he never would have been elected. I can show you letters written to the "dear people" before election that, in event of their election, they would welcome any suggestions and criticism anyone might have to offer. But, just try it once—please—just once. You'll never be guilty of it again—you'll be invited to "go to and stay put" or words to that effect. Of course, the job of keeping hundreds of miles of roads in good shape is a whale of a job, but I WILL have this to say—I do not believe any man or set of men can have ALL the best ideas under their hats as regards road working methods, and that if a little more attention were paid to casual bits of advice and criticism, it might help.

Lookin' 'Em Over—Messrs. Tom Littlejohn and W. M. Polk talking things over; Mack Messer with the biggest bunch of bananas I ever saw, but they're green; Uncle Billy Fox sitting in the shade, fanning with his straw hat; Uncle "Bob" Sumner, Claudie Pipes, Grady Reynolds, and J. C. Page taking off for the golf course—now the dust will fly; His Nibs Hon. J. Lee Smith on his sales round with order book in hand; on the other side of the street a bill collector—none other than "Sunshine"—more like a cloud today; a lady driving a car—a flat tire pounding the street—she's mad; Bob Evans going after Sunday's Mobile Register; another bill collector—easy, there—he's looking this way—and here's where I do a fade-away.—Man in the Moon.

GASOLINE TAX COLLECTIONS

Gasoline tax collections in Alabama during the month of June, this year, amounted to $576,379.68. The amount collected in the same month last year was $590,884.52. This represents a decline of 2.4 per cent for the year.

Visit to Judge Adams

I am glad to see the letter this week from Mr. Judson Strock, telling about his visit to Judge Adams at the Masonic Home in Montgomery. How many friends of Judge Adams will take the suggestion of Mr. Strock and write him a word of cheer?

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

We wish to begin our dissertation this week with the expression of our gratification at the opening of the high schools of the county this week. It has always been a source of pleasure to us to see the officals and the people of the country interested in the education of the youth of the land. Unfortunately, it is a fact that at the present time the school authorities can only see the means of running the schools a half term, but they are placing their faith in the old adage "where there is a will, there is a way" and going right ahead like they had plenty of money, feeling that something will be done to relieve the situation before it is too late.

In opening the schools this week, we have been told that the Board of Education has passed a resolution allowing them to have short days for a time in order to let the rural children have some time each day to assist in gathering of the crops. Personally, The Sweeper does not hold with this practice, and especially do we feel that this is a bad thing to do this year. Such a practice cuts down to an appreciable extent the time spent in the school room and we do not think that with cotton prices as they are, that it will pay to take a child out of school to pick cotton. His time in the school room will be worth far more to both himself and his parents than the same time expended in jicking five-cent sotton. Keep the kids in school and let the cotton stay in the field if the rest of them can not get it out.

The "Not Cotton" plan of Governor Long of Louisiana is attracting considerable more attention than when he first projected it several weeks ago. With the bill put through the Louisiana legislature in rapid order and several other states willing to follow Long's lead, it is now up to our largest cotton growing state to decide the fate of the plan. Mississisippi, Georgia and South Carolina have signified their willingness to pass similar legislation if Texas will adopt the Long plan.

The Sweeper does not believe that Texas will ratify any plan which will completely outlaw cotton for 1932. That state depends too much upon its cotton for such drastic action. Then, too, we do not know where Alabama stans on the subject from an official standpoint. It is evident that the cotton farmers of the state are in favor of the plan, but Gov. Miller refuses to express his opinion on the matter.

A radio report a few days ago stated that Governor Sterling of Texas is hostile to the Long plan and that he and Long had almost come to blows over the matter. That is a poor way for men of the calibre of Long and Sterling to go about settling a matter of as much importance as the cotton problem. Let's have more harmony and less animosity, and maybe we will get something done after a while which will really and truly help the farmer out of his difficulties.

But when it comes to getting the farmer out of his difficulties, there is no plan or remedy which will ever be effective until the farmer learns to help himself a little. The Sweeper is a farmer after a manner and when we refer to the farmers we are including ourselves, and until the farmers of this country quit acting as though their ancestors were the property of one Baalam and who received honorable mention in the Bible, get their heads together and do a little thinking for thmselves, no other set of fellows will ever be able to do very much for them. Wake up, fellow farmers and look your situation square in the eye and realize that you must help yourself a little and try to learn that when the government trys to help you not to buck like a bay steer or take the studs.—The Sweeper.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of September 6, 1906

The Rural Carriers Association met at the courthouse last Monday afternoon. W. J. Armstrong presided and J. L. Wilson acted as secretary.

Jim Edwards, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Edwards, died in West Clanton on last Friday.

President Roosevelt reviewed the new American fleet last Monday at Long Island.

Miss Maggie Parrish of Providence recently visited relatives in Clanton.

Married this week: D. M. Barnett and Miss Callie Little; C. R. Miner and Miss Mary Henley.

A match ball game was played last week between the Red Rippers and the Yellow Jackets, five miles east of Clanton. The Red Rippers won 13 to 12. G. W. Lett knocked three bases once and two bases twice.

The Sunday school at Adams has revived; J. T. Adams is superintendent.

Judging from the way they talk about Europe's war debts, some of those college professors who have been speaking at Williamstown must not advocate teaching anything in arithmetic excepting cancellation.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Good Neighbors

President Harding was asked one time: What is a Neighbor? His reply was: Somebody from whom you can borrow an egg across the yard fence. I can go Mr. Harding one better, and show him some neighbors in my community who do not wait for us to borrow things. They bring them to us. Now, can you imagine anything better in these hard times? Mr. and Mrs. Fenn Jones constitute one of the most delightful combinations of neighborly virtues. Mrs. Jones likes to fish, and she catches fish too. Mr. Jones likes to give them away. Last week when Mrs. Jones finished a month of fishing in Gulf waters, she sent a whole barrel of fresh Spanish Mackerel to Mr. Jones a day or two before her return home. Promptly Mr. Jones proceeded with the pleasant pastime of giving them to his neighbors. It was delightful to Mr. Jones, and to be sure as delightful to those of us whom he so graciously favored. And we do not fail to indulge the hope that the fish will continue to bite when Mrs. Jones puts out her line.

Here Goes Connatser

Another one of Clanton's boys has gone upward. Broadus Connatser during the last week became the property of the Cleveland Club of the American League. Broadus deserves this advance. He has been playing great ball this year on first base for New Orleans. His hitting average will find him right among the top notchers of the Southern League when the season closes. More power to you, Connie. Good, clean sportsmanship, backed by an honest determination to do a full days work every day will always win the admiration of the fans, and it will also loosen up the purse strings of the old boys who have the job of furnishing players for their clubs.

The Hard Working Woodpecker

There is nothing unusual about a woodpecker pecking a hole in a dead tree. That is his business, what he is supposed to do. In fact a woodpecker that would not peck a hole in a tree is a pretty sorry woodpecker. He might get cold in the winter time, for lack of comfortable quarters. But when a woodpecker comes to town, parks himself on top of a telephone pole right in the middle of the business district, and begins his job of digging a hole, you are bound to see at once that he is a woodpecker out of the ordinary. Such is the case this week. A certain woodpecker has been working faithfully since last Sunday morning digging a hole in a telephone pole that stands on Marion Gore's corner. He works from early morning until noon and then knocks off. I guess he knows the depression is on and feels that business is not rushing enough to require him to run full time.

The Legion Frolic

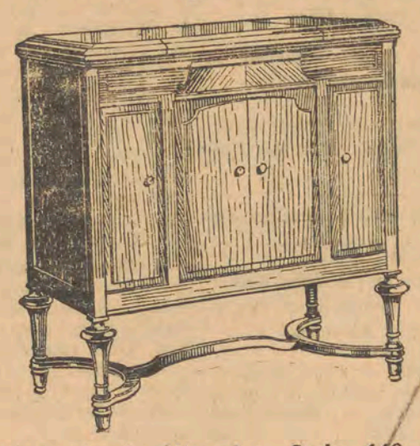
Members of the Chilton County Post of the American Legion were treated to a frolic Monday night in the basement of the Methodist Church. The affair was gotten up by members of the Legion Auxiliary, that is the wives of the ex-soldiers. We had more fun than a barrel of monkeys. One of the secrets of the success of American doughboys was the fact that they could enjoy periods playing and having fun, no matter how hot the artillery got. They could fight when fighting was in order, and they could turn to play when fighting was over. The frolic Monday night proved that the soldier boys have not forgotten how to have fun.

Schools Opened Monday

After much discussion back and forth, one way and another, it was finally determined last Friday that schools would open Monday morning as had been previously scheduled. Accordingly nine schools of the county are down to business by this time. I understand that most if not all the schools that have opened are arranging their work for the first month so the children can get out soon after noon each day. This is done in order to give those who have cotton to pick a chance to get their school day in and also have several hours in which to pick cotton. Some argue this is not fair to the child to make him do a day's work in school and then pick cotton several hours in the afternoon. That may be true; perhaps is. But it should be remembered that the only way to get over a hard place is to pull, dig, work, grunt a little bit. It may tax the physical strength of the boy, but it will do him good to learn the lesson that emergencies must be met, overcome, and conquered; and that the only way to do it is to get busy and do it.

Some Communist Propaganda

It has been intimated here of late that we have in Clanton an individual or two whose business is ostensibly to sell something to folks, but in fact to put foolish ideas into the heads of some of our negro population. I do not know the facts about this rumor, but one thing is sure: If there are such persons operating in our midst, it would be better for our community if they would move on. In fact, I think it would pay us to find out about this business, and if those parties are up to such a scheme, if they will not move on of their own choice, a little bit of friendly urging would not be out of place. There is no reason for racial feeling here. Our white folks and negroes have always got along on good terms with due respect and consideration to one another. We do not want any floating agitators here to disturb our peaceful relations.



The Attitude of the Negro

The intelligent, honest, and well-meaning negroes of Clanton and Chilton County are not going to be led into any kind of newfangled schemes. They do not want to listen to the fairy tales of some unknown cheap white man who spins them yarns of how the negro ought to demand this and that and the other of the white man. I am glad that we have among our negroes some leaders who have more sense than the white agitators who may come among them. But this fact should be borne in mind by both white and black. There are some white men who are cheap enough to try to talk foolishment to the negroes; and there are some negroes who have no better sense than to take it seriously. There is where the danger lies.

Little Money—Lots of Grit

I like the sound of the advertisement of Thorsby Institute in this week's paper. The school appeals to boys and girls who have little money and lots of grit, and want an education. Thorsby Institute has a splendid record during its quarter of a century women who have made by their lives and of work. It has turned out many men and achievements a lasting testimonial to the worth of the school. The positive assurance that the school will run a full nine months term also sounds good at this time.

Genuine Orthophonic Victrolas

Genuine Orthophonic Victrolas, Style 440, like cut. Originally sold for $165.00. Until a certain number is disposed of will sell for $59.00, and include ten records, of the purchaser's selection, and allow payments to be made either monthly or annually with 6 per cent interest.

Cable-Burton Piano Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA

J. B. Hain, President; E. M. Cothran, Vice President; J. H. Burton, Treasurer, W. B. Christenberry, Secretary.

Selma Compress Co.

OWNED BY FARMERS FOR FARMERS
ELECTRIC HIGH DENSITY PRESS

Bonded Warehouse—Sprinkler System

We offer you efficient service in the handling and sale of your cotton.

Our Government licensed classer and weighers will see that your interest from a grade, staple and weight standpoint is protected at all times.

Our charges are in line, our modernly equipped warehouse affords a very low insurance rate.

Owned By Farmers

We are a designated depository for Alabama Farm Bureau cotton.

J. H. JACKSON GIVES SOME BIBLE FIGURES AND QUOTATIONS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please permit me to say a few words throuugh your good paper? What I say I want to say it for the comfort and consolation of the oppressed, and to the people who desire a righteous rule, and free from oppression. I for one am tired of Mrs. Babylon's rule. Our political and religious and commercial system has become a great city. It is called by John the City of Babylon. He says it is inhabited by devils. It is also a city of speculation and a house of merchandise. Now for fear I may hurt someone's feelings, in regard to the devil I find by reading the Bible that the devil is no larger than a man, and hell is no larger than man makes it, and the devil is a man who opposes justice.

We have been sacrificing to devils. We have been supporting divisions which is very expensive. Our religious and political and commercial system is waxed old and is most ready to pass away. It has become too burdensome when the power of money becomes so great as to build a wall so high between the consumer and the producer that it causes want, hunger and nakedness, misery and distress, it is time for the people to wake up; many ways we sacrifice to devils.

Now, the people are tired of sacrificing to devils, and to Mrs. Babylon. I do believe God has got about enough of it. I do believe that He will bring it to a close the latter part of 1932. I will give my authority for saying this: see Matthew 1 and 17, so we find from Abraham to David are 14 generations, so I understand. When Christ was born that was David's day, that it has reference to. To prove this I will quote a few words, Matthew 1:1, Jesus Christ, the son of David; Matthew 9 and 27, Thou, the son of David, have mercy on us; Matthew 15 and 22, O, Lord, thou son of David, my daughter is grieviously vexed with a devil; also 20 and 30; Mark 10 and 47; Luke 18 and 38; 20 and 41; Romans 1 and 3; Second Timothy 2 and 8; Hebrews 4 and 7; says again He limiteth a certain day, saying in David today after so long a time as it is said today, if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts. Revelations 4 and 7, and to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write these things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David. Revelations 5 and 5, and one of the elders saith unto me weep not, behold the lion of the tribe of Judea; the root of David hath prevailed to open the book. Revelations 22 and 16 says, I, Jesus, have sent mine angel to testify to you these things in the churches, I am the root and the offspring of David and the bright and morning star.

Luke 1 and 69 says, and hath raised up an horn of salutation for us in the house of His servant, David. Now I think the scripture I have quoted is sufficient to prove that when Christ came it was the day of David, when Matthew said from Abraham to David were 14 generations,here is the part we want to get at. Now from David, as David's day which applies to the birth of Christ, from that time to the going into Babylon are 14 generations, and from the going into Bablyon until Christ are 14 generations, so we see from David, or David's day, is 28 generations, when He is to come and set up His kingdom here on earth. Now, we find in Psalms 90 and 10, the days of our years are three score and 10, evidently 70 years make a generation. I also find that 360 days, a Hebrew year, Multiply 360 by 70, giving 25,200, then multiply that by 28, giving 705,600 days, which is the generations from David's day, or the birth of Christ, to Christ's second coming, or Christ's day, or His rule or kingdom here on earth.

In other words, there will be 705,600 days from David to His second coming, then multiply 1932 by 365, we get 705,180, then add 483 for leap years, we have 705-663. So, we see these 28 generations expire about October 29, 1932. I have been told that we have an extra day every 100 years, then if so it will expire in November, 1932. However, it is drawing near, I don't understand that Christ will come in person, but in rule, and in power, and in glory, and will take from the hands of the oppressor, the kingdom and will establish His in righteousness, and it will stand forever. With best respect to all.—J. H. J.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF THE CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL FOR THE YEAR 1930-31

RECEIPTS

Cash on hand September 1, 1930	$ 98.00
Burnice Powell	5.00
Agnes Powell	5.00
Clara Mae Cooper	5.00
James Duke Heflin	5.00
John P. Franklin	5.00
Nell Rockett	5.00
Ola Mae Parrish	5.00
Sarah Tyus	5.00
Hall Tyus	5.00
James Carl Martin	5.00
Ruth Francis Smith	5.00
Norman Harris	5.00
Eunice Thomas	5.00
Bill Hodges	5.00
Mary Jo Foshee	5.00
Frances Foshee	5.00
Louise Headley	5.00
Olive Rainer Elmore	5.00
Willie Scroggins	5.00
Kenneth Thompson	5.00
Helen Parrish	5.00
Morris Wyatt	5.00
Jannet Smith	5.00
R. C. Smith, Jr.	5.00
James W. Carrol	5.00
Wiladeen Teel	5.00
Thomas Sanford	5.00
Jim Sanford	5.00
Billie Johnson	5.00
Sam Johnson	5.00
Wendell Parrish	5.00
Charles Mims	5.00
Sarah Nell Sessions	5.00
Henry B. Esco	2.50
Woodrow Blalock	5.00
Laura Louise Poe	5.00
Donald Poe	5.00
Walter Mims	5.00
Jim Alex Wyatt	5.00
Theda Wyatt	5.00
Wilburn Prince	5.00
Grace Ezell	5.00
Callen Alred	5.00
Mary Armstrong	5.00
Harvey Armstrong	5.00
Elizabeth Armstrong	5.00
Catherine Armstrong	5.00
Earl D. Atchison	5.00
Jessie E. Mims	5.00
Mildred Maddox	5.00
Billie Maddox	5.00
Mary Nell Jones	5.00
Juanita Miller	5.00
Ray Miller	5.00
Vivian Lowery	2.50
Douglas Lowery	2.50
Francis Bean	5.00
Ed Minor, Jr.	5.00
Mildred Popwell	5.00
Erskine Popwell	5.00
Billie Callen	5.00
Sidney Nelson	5.00
Frank Cox	5.00
June Cox	5.00
Bernice Lowe	5.00
Juanita Miller	5.00
Mildred Easterling	5.00
Blanch Thomas	5.00
Demar McEathern	5.00
Kermit Jones	5.00
Lee Smith, Jr.	5.00
Lillian Smtih	5.00
John W. Plyler	5.00
Barres Plyler	5.00
Paul Gowan	5.00
Curtis Wyatt	2.50
Homer Wyatt	2.50
Annie Wilson	5.00
Nina Flo Headley	5.00
Peggie Page	5.00
Grady Jones	5.00
Brady Jones	5.00
Clyde Jones	5.00
Irene Culver	5.00
Guy Alred	5.00
Dan Alred	5.00
Ann Ross	5.00
Morrice Action	5.00
Jack Lawrence	5.00
Harold Lawrence	5.00
L. D. Easterling, Jr.	5.00
Melvin Easterling	5.00
Harry Sims	5.00
James Sims	5.00
Geraldine Deloach	5.00
Laurice Deloach	5.00
Doris Deloach	5.00
Mildred Maddox	5.00
Jack Davis Vines	2.50
Elane Burdette	5.00
Marzelle Taylor	5.00
Martha Green	5.00
Joseph Green	5.00
Ed Goodgame, Jr.	5.00
Jon Frank Goodgame	5.00
Mary Wyatt	2.50
Evelyn Wyatt	2.50
Tom Jeff Rasberry	5.00
Jane Neighbors	5.00
Jake Neighbors	5.00
Charles Neighbors	5.00
Mary Roberts	5.00
Francis Smith	5.00
Annie C. Smith	5.00
Lucile Powell	5.00
Cecil Powell	5.00
Henry Lawrence	5.00
Fred Lawrence	5.00
Quinton Boockholdt	5.00
Hazel Nivens	5.00
Carlos Wyatt	5.00
David Goff	5.00
Roland Teel	5.00
Aubrey Teel	5.00
Leon Gandy	5.00
Arthur Poole	5.00
Claude Reynolds	5.00
Louise Popwell	5.00
Francis Popwell	2.50
Joe Maddox	5.00
Mary Payton	5.00
Marshall Lee Ware	5.00
Joe Ware	5.00
Katherine Ware	5.00
Winston Calloway	5.00
Percy Pitts, Jr.	5.00
Myrtle Pitts	5.00
Jane Pitts	5.00
Buddie Popwell	5.00
Arlene Popwell	5.00
Raymond Popwell	5.00
Evelyn Williams	5.00
Annie B. Moates	5.00
Paul Moates	5.00
Wilton Gillespie	5.00
Wilma Gillespie	5.00
Norma Green Gillespie	5.00
Jack Vines	5.00
Lenord Popwell	2.50
Mary Frances Atkinson	2.50
Polly Clackler	5.00
William Lee Hayes	5.00
Mary Lou Frazier	5.00
Billie Wagner	5.00
Christine Richerson	5.00
George Popwell	5.00
Paul Busby	5.00
Odis Jones	5.00
Hermon Jones	5.00
Earl Maddox	5.00
James Smitherman	5.00
Leon Richerson	5.00
Kate Lawrence	5.00
James Donovan	5.00
I. J. Quinn, as per his rec.	1.50
W. A. Crowson, house	3.50
I. J. Quinn, May Day	50.00
Bess Thomas, May Day	24.30
Lizzie Benagh, May Day	13.33
Emma S. Morris, May Day	14.25
Lucile Sherwood, May Day	12.50
Sarah Pollard, May Day	7.60
Jewel Vessel, May Day	12.95
Mrs. C. D. Thomas, May Day	10.65
M. L. Pack, May Day	11.30
I. J. Quinn, May Day	4.00
I. J. Quinn, May Day	14.65
I. J. Quinn, May Day	4.60
I. J. Quinn, May Day	25.00
I. J. Quinn, May Day	61.91
Mock Trial	47.35
Total money collected	$1,587.14
Balance in bank	.76

Mr. Popwell brought kindling for his fees. Mr. Rich worked out his fees.

DISBURSEMENTS

Joe Franklin, freight and drayage	$ 1.37
Alred Drug Co., supplies	2.87
John Hughley, janitor	316.50
Ala. School Supply Co.	16.90
The Selig Co.	39.75
Standard Oil Co.	6.60
Puritan Chemical Co.	12.00
Evan Parrish	1.80
Farmers Hardware Co.	58.25
The Union-Banner	11.30
I. J. Quinn	3.68
J. M. Robinson	1.80
Clanton Bldg Supply Co.	26.85
Clifford Popwell, coal	70.00
G. W. Moore, repairs on talking machine	5.00
Southern Bell Tel. Co.	24.05
I. J. Quinn	1.00
J. S. Easterling, pine	7.00
Alabama Educational Ass'n	6.25
J. E. Gore, plumbing repairs	1.00
Farmers Hdwe Co.	4.10
Ala. School Supply Co.	10.00
The Union-Banner	4.50
Chilton County News	1.50
Frederick Dr. Co.	3.10
Jones Hdwe Co.	.75
U. S. Specialty Co.	23.00
M. L. White, coal	136.50
Bessie Thomas, paper	2.10
Alred Drug Co., first aid supplies	4.95
C. R. Murray, repairs on desks	24.70
Ala. School Supply Co.	17.50
I. J. Quinn	2.25
Clanton Bldg Supply Co.	5.75
I. J. Quinn	1.00
Sarah Pollard	.95
Standard Oil Co.	5.53
Bessie Thomas, salary	75.00
Mrs. Curry Thomas, Salary	60.00
Louise Pack, salary	63.75
Avis Grantham, salary	63.75
Jewel Vessel, salary	63.75
Lucile Sherwood, salary	63.75
Lizzie Benagh, salary	63.75
Sarah Pollard, salary	63.75
Emma Sue Morris, salary	63.75
I. J. Quinn, salary	112.50
G. G. Williams, diplomas	1.00
First National Bank, interest on warrant	30.00
Total	$1,586.90

A $2,500 CHEVOLET CAR

A standard Chevrolet car listing at $2,500!

That mesage, if heralded from billboards or the advertising pages of newspapers today, would cause considerable wonderment and speculation among the millions of present Chevrolet owners. Yet it was a more or less familiar sight back in 1913, when the company was getting into its second year of production, and actually priced one model at that figure, the highest at which a standard Chevrolet has ever sold.

This 1913 car, an ancient prospectus says, had an average road weight of 3,700 pounds less passengers, and a wheelbase of 120 inches. With its gleaming brass headlamps and its touring-type body mounted high above the wheels, it bore little resemblance either in size or appearance to the modern output of the company.

Although in 1912, the first full year of production, the car then being built also listed above $2,000, no Chevrolet since that date has ever sold at so high a figure. Since 1922 none has ever listed as high $1,000. Today, the range of from $475 to $675 is considerably below any period in th past, despite the fact that the 1931 car is larger than any Chevrolet since 1922, when the four different models listing above $1,000 were built on a 110-wheel base.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

have a
Clear Skin—
rich, red blood cells will help you

"I was determined to have a clear skin."

Of course you want a clear skin. Everybody does. It helps you win and hold friends. It makes for greater popularity.

Whatever treatment you may use for your complexion, remember the important fact that skin health depends upon the right number of red-blood-cells.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

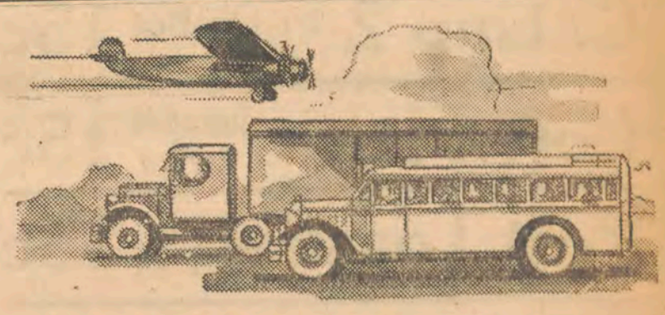
S.S.S.
Builds Sturdy Health

CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE HELD THIRD SUNDAY IN SEPT

The executive committee of the Chilton County singing convention, Jasper R. Robinson, committee chairman, met at Clanton Saturday afternoon, July 18, and decided on a place and date for the fall or regular session of the convention. Only three members of the committee were present in the persons of Willie L. Mims, A. H. Glasscock and J. R. Robinson. Two places had invited the convention—Jemison and Verbena, and the latter was selected, and the third Sunday in September was chosen as the time. The convention will assemble at 10 o'clock in the Verbena High School building. It is expected now that 1932 books will be used, either the Stamps or Henson, and probably both of them.

It is hoped and expected that all the singers of the county will cooperate with the committee and officers of the convention in making this the best ever held in the county. There will be some big singers present as well as some good quartets, and of course, practically all of the talent of the county will be there. There will not be a public dinner, however promise is made that the visiting singers will be cared for. Everybody come and bring enough dinner to feed yourself and one or two besides.

Udah Curlee left Tuesday for Alabama City, where he will teach this year.



NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Although most industries have suffered during the last two years, rayon-producing companies report that the rayon business has kept up remarkably well. Furthermore, the outlook is fair, reports said.

C. B. Denam, livestock member of the Federal Farm Board, thinks that there is danger of the swine industry being overdone, especially in "the western areas where feed supplies are not always dependable and transportation costs are high.

A cable from Rome said: "The world wheat production, outside of Russia, was estimated at 627,000,000 quintax (about 2,303,807,000 bushels) in a statement by the International Institute of Agriculture. Last year's production was 675,000,000 quintax."

GULF
Venom
KILLS
Flies and Mosquitoes
Roaches, Ants
Moths, Bed-Bugs

WITHOUT RAILROADS
What would these crops be worth!

At this harvest season, when American farmers have produced bumper crops which must be transported to markets, the readers of this newspaper should pause to consider the importance of American railroads to the progress of both rural and urban citizens.

If there were no railroads and the farmers were forced to use trucks or planes, how could these enormous crops be gotten to market?

With the disturbing conditions which exist in the transportation industry today, the highly regulated and over-taxed railroads are suffering such enormous losses in revenue that, though they are the most efficiently operated transportation system in all the world and afford the lowest cost to the shipper and traveler, the value of their properties is constantly being endangered by other forms of transportation which operate without adequate taxation or regulation.

The railroads deserve your patronage. They built this nation and must continue to be the backbone of its transportation system. The steam railroads are appealing to the fairness of the American people in the hope that an equalization of operating conditions may be brought about among all forms of transportation so that the railroads may earn a more nearly fair return on their investments.

The Railroads Must Earn To Spend

¶ The Transportation Act permits the railroads to earn 5¾% on the value of their properties, and yet since this law became effective in 1920 the roads did not earn in excess of 5.45% in the best year, and during the year 1930 earned 3.54%, though their taxes have increased $76,500,000 or 22% in this period of time. During the first four months of 1931 the rate of return has been only 2.23%.

THE OLD RELIABLE L&N (LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.) L-4

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

Compare —

Not in years has it been possible to purchase foods at the low prices featured in A. & P. Stores right now. Note, for example these values in the season's most appetizing foods—compare the savings—and plant to buy liberally this week end.

A & P Features A

15c SALE

ANN PAGE STRAWBERRY OR RASPBERRY
Preserves 1-Pound Jar 15c

QUAKER MAID
Beans 3 16-Ounce Cans 15c. One Can 5c

A & P PURE
Grape Juice Pint Bottle 15c

GRANULATED—PAPER BAG
Sugar 10 lb 49c

Matches A & P 5 large Bx 15c

OCTAGON—LAUNDRY
Soap 5 Large Bars 22c

SATSUMA TOMATO
Catsup 2 14-Oz Bot 15c

Corn Flakes Sunnyfield 2 Pks 15c

Post Toasties 2 Pks 15c

WHITE MEAT, per lb. 9½c

KEROSENE OIL—5 gal. for 65c—13c gal.

SUNNYFIELD—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 65c
48-lb Bag $1.29 12-lb 35c

RAINBOW—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 45c
48-lb Bag 89c

LARD BEST GRADE IN BULK lb 10c

Soup Campbell's Tomato 2 Cans 15c

H. L. MIMS WRITES MORE ABOUT THE PROPHECIES

Editor Union-Banner:

I am writing a few more lines this week, not for an argument, because I do not like argument. No person was ever saved by an argument, but if we are saved, we must be saved through faith in grace; not saved from temptation. We will always be tempted; one never gets so that he is not tempted. The great tempter even tempted Christ. Then we know that we will be tempted, but we must not yield to it.

I would like to explain the 70 weeks in Daniel 9:23 and 24. This 70 weeks represents 700 years, but this prophecy and vision were sealed up and the people could not understand them. But the angel said that in the last days ye shall understand it. Truly now the Jews understand this prophecy at the end of this 70 weeks, and the righteous Jews and Gentiles were looking for the destlation of Jerusalem but not the end of the world. These are two and distinct times. This was at the falling of the Jew's age. Now, to separate these two, the Jew's age was fulfilled in 70 not the Gentile. But some of the great prophets try to bring this great tribulation that God's people suffered from the time that Christ was crucified till the year A. D. 68, when James, the brother of Jesus Christ, was thrown down from the temple and stoned to death. So, then and there the three and one-half years was broken out and in the year of A.D. 70 Jerusalem was entirely destroyed and the reat walls were thrown down, the houses burned, the people taken captive and killed 600,000.

The Romans punished them in many ways. They would make them fight battles while the people sat on the grand stands and laughed at them. Then they would put them in sacks and set dogs after them till the dogs tore them to pieces. Then they would put forth a great number and make them fight the wild beast till they were killed by the wild beast; then would put oil on others and burn them using them for illumination. While this war was going on with the Jews and the Romans, the Jews and the wicked people in Jerusalem were putting the people to death who claimed Christ for their Savior, and if they ever at any time they were not excused but crucified. They filled their prisons full through the day and crucified them every night.

Now, we want to notice that there was a people whom God said that he would keep from this great tribulation—the children of Edam and the children of Moab and the chief of the children of Amon; they shall be delivered out of his hand. This was end of Daniel's prophecy. The 70 weeks represents 700 years and it is strange how it was sealed up and yet it is so simple that a little child can understand it. Each week represents 10 years. The angel explained it; note Daniel 9:23. At the beginning of the supplication the commandment went forth.

This first year of Darius and the seventieth year that Jerusalem had lain desolate. This represents seven weeks, or 70 years from the time Nebuchadnezzar the Roman army destroyed Solomon's temple and the Jews were taken captives. Notice Daniel 9:25, "Know ye therefore and discern that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to rebuild Jerusalem unto the anointed one, the Prince shall be seven weeks and three-score and two weeks it shall be built again with streets and most even in troublous times. And after the three-score and two weeks the anointed one be cut off and shall have nothing, and the people of the Prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and his end shall be with the flood, and even until the end shall be war, desolation and determined." 27, "And he shall make a firm covenant with many for one week, and for the half of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease." The 62 weeks and the one week was after the conflagration by the Roman army or Nebuchadnezzar. Take the 62 weeks and one week, you have 63 weeks. Take the 7 weeks that Jerusalem lay desolate and you have 70 weeks. Each week represents 10 years. Multiply the 70 by 10 and you have 700. This brings us to the year of our Lord 70 when Jerusalem was destroyed the last time by Titus and Vespasin. It was 642 1-2 years from the time the captive Jesus returned to Jerusalem till the last destruction under Titus and Vespasin, and it was in the year of our Lord 70. Thirty years of this belongs to the Jews. Take the 30 years that belonged to the Jews and the 70 years that Jerusalem lay desolate and you have 100 years. 630 years plus 70 equals 700 years, the exact time that Daniel prophesied according to the week vision. This week vision of the ten years is correct. It figures out the year of our Lord 70 throughout the entire book of Daniel and evelations. One denomination runs this symbolic vision to 1844, and another runs it to 1918. —H. L. Mims, Clanton, Route 1.

REV. LOCKHART WRITES OF PASSING OF REV. A.D. HUETT

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me space just here to say a few words in regard to the passing of our beloved brother, Rev. A. D. Huett?

Having been closely associated with Bro. Huett the news of his death came as a mighty shock to me. I think I must have been one of the first, being his close friend, which he mentioned his feelings in regard to the great work to which he was doubtless divinely called. I shall never forget the first conversation which we had in regard to his inability for such a noble task.

He, like Jeremiah of old. Not me, for I'm just a childi. But after a short period of reluctance Bro. Huett yielded to the divine call to which he stayed unflenchingly. Bro-Huett had an iron will to face the difficulties which always covers the path of a young minister of the Gospel, or any Christian as to that matter. He was a man that was bent on succeeding in any task ever assigned to him. He made good records in his school work, which called for innumerable sacrifices, doubtless unknown to every one except God and His beloved companions who stood by him in hours of need; but since God doeth all things well, may we bow with one of old and say God giveth and God taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord.

My prayer for the beloved companion and little daughter is: May they continue to put their trust in one who never leaves nor forsakes, but will be a husband to bereaved wives and father to bereaved children. His friend and brother in Christ.—M. Lockhart.

ARLINE ESTELLE SANFORD

Miss Arline Estelle Sanford, age 19 years, died at the home of her father, W. L. Sanford, in Clanton, early Sunday morning. She is survived by her father, five brothers and three sisters. Her grandfather is Rev. J. T. Daniel of Lomax.

Funeral services were held from the home Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. D. W. Haskew, assisted by Rev. S. J. Ezell. Burial was at New Harmony cemetery near Lomax. Pallbearers were Burdette Crowson, Darwin Giles, O. A. Ellison, Paul Marcus, Grady Gillespie and D. E. Robinson. Spigener was in charge of burial arrangements.

Mrs. Irvin Wilson spent the week end in Montgomery.

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered
Druggist
THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

CARL WESLEY MILLS DIED FROM INJURIES

Carl Wesley Mills, age 10 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mills, of Billingsley, died last Saturday night at the Central Alabama Hospital in Clanton, where he had been brought for treatment of injuries received in an automobile accident.

The body was taken in charge by Mell Martin and prepared for burial. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Bentley Sunday afternoon at the Billingsley Methodist Church. Burial was at Billingsley cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his father and mother, a twin brother, Earle Lesley, and two other brothers, Ralph and Phillip. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Culp. His paternal grandmother is Mrs. R. P. Mills.

The story of how the boy was hurt says a bunch of boys were riding on a truck Saturday afternoon. The driver was Lester Culp, a cousin of Carl Wesley. The roads were slick and the driver lost control of the truck. Becoming frightened, Lester jumped from the truck, and in doing so he knocked Carl Wesley off the fender where he was standing. As the truck went over into the ditch, it pinned the Mills boy underneath, and mashed him very badly. He was rushed to the hospital here for treatment, but died a few minutes after arrival here.

NIGHT SCHOOL AT PROVIDENCE

Prof. J. P. Montgomery, vocational teacher at Jemison High School, stated Monday that he has already started off a night school for farmers at Providence, Beat 13. The first meeting was held last Thursday night with about forty farmers in attendance. The actual enrollment the first night was 22.

The school will be continued with meetings each week on Tuesday and Friday nights. Mr. Montgomery is very much pleased with the interest shown by the people of Providence community, and has hopes that this school will prove of special benefit.

The home economics teacher at Jemison, Miss Newell, expects to enlist the ladies of Providence community in a night school for teaching subjects of interest to housewives.

INDIAN GRAVE

The ones present Saturday night at the watermelon cutting at Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Jones's were Miss Nella Gaines, Mr. Joe Jones, Miss Ruth Deramus, Mr. William H. Gaines, Miss Sarah Jones, Mr. Bela Billingsley, Miss Maggie Jones, Mr. Chester Billingsley and Mr. James D. Deramus, Misses Mary Lou and Ethel Ruth Gaines. After a few games, watermelon was served.

Mrs. E. B. Gaines spent the afternoon Sunday with Mrs. J. Bob Deramus.

Mr. Charlie Carter of Montgomery is visiting his sister. Miss Minnie Carter.

Mrs. Maggie Roy and husband were guests Sunday of Mr. J. Bob Deramus.

Miss Josephine Billingsley spent the day Sunday with Miss Agnes Traywick.

Mr. Lewis E. Deramus spent the afternoon Saturday in Vida.

M. Boone Deramus visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Eula Deramus is expected home this week from Birmingham, where she has been spending a couple of weeks.

Don't forget our B. Y. P. U. is still holding. We have thirty-five on the Senior roll and all of the thirty-five were present Sunday. Now, let's try and all be present every night this month.

Misses Bettie and Francis Galson spent the day Monday with Mrs. Sallie Deramus.

MRS. CORA LEE LEWIS

Mrs. Cora Lee Lewis, age 42 years, of Jemison, died at a Birmingham infirmary Saturday morning, September 5th. She is survived by her husband, A. T. Lewis, two sons and one daughter, several brothers and sisters, and her mother, Mrs. Rachel Ann Dean.

Funeral services were held at the Jemison Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. T. Daniel. Intement was at Pine Hill cemetery, with Spigener in charge.

MISS HELEN DIEFENDERFER ENTERTAINS, HONOR GUESTS

Last Tuesday afternoon Miss Helen Diefenderfer entertained her guests. Misses ouiseL and Marion F. Bailey, at her home on 10th St. After a series of bridge games were played, delicious refreshments were served. High score prize was won by Miss Mary Goodwin Jones. Those present were: Mary Foshee, Vivian Gray, Gertie Fiquette, Pauline Plyler, Grace Plyler, Elizabeth McSwain, Alice Polk, Corinne Polk, Julia Ruth Hester, Mary Robinson, Elizabeth Johnson, Clyde Jones, Mary Goodwin Jones, Marylyn Hardy, Louise Bailey, Marion Fay Bailey. Tea guests were Ethel Mae Jones and Frances Maddox.

Fred Howard, of Thorsby, has gone to Foley, in Baldwin County, where he will spend two weeks fishing. Nat Bentley will go to join him the last of this week.

Locals

Jim Roberts left Monday for Auburn to resume his studies.

William Hester has returned to Auburn to resume his studies.

Charles Moore and Arthur Johnson, Jr., left Tuesday for the University of Alabama.

Raymond Mims left Tuesday for the University of Alabama.

Grover Harris and William Arthur Willis have resumed their studies at the University of Alabama.

L. E. Diefenderfer, Tom Rockett, and M. A. Gore attended the merchants convention in Birmingham Thursday.

Mrs. Jack Wade and young daughter of Russellville are the guests of Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

Dunney Wagoner, Paul Cox, Pete Sanford and Court Rutherford left the first of this week for Birmingham-Southern College.

Wallace Jones, poplar salesman for Moore-Handley Hardware Company, was a visitor to Clanton last week.

Mrs. Moss of Fitspatrick, Ala., is the guest of Mrs. Mamie C. Smith. Mrs. Moss has just returned from a visit in New York City.

Miss Mollie Hannon has returned from visiting friends and relatives in Talladega.

Mrs. Crombwell of Montgomery arrived Monday and is the guest of Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

Miss Ruth Splawn of Leeds was a visitor in Clanton last week.

Mr. William Splawn was visiting friends in Clanton last week end.

Miss Loray Oglesby visited Clanton this week and was the guest of Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

Dr. and Mrs. Haskew have returned from a visit to relatives in Mississippi.

Mrs. Welch of Atlanta is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Clay Marcus.

Mrs. Clara Mullins is spending the winter in Tuscaloosa with her son, Reese, who is attending the University.

Mrs. W. I. Mullins has returned from a visit with relatives in Mobile.

Mr. Reese Mullins has resumed his studies at the University of Alabama.

Mrs. John Mullins has returned home after several days spent in Aliceville.

Mesdames Arthur Johnson, Watt Moore, and John Deramus spent Saturday in Birmingham.

Mrs. J. R. Mullins was a visitor in the Magic City recently.

Rev. and Mrs. D. W. Haskew have returned after a brief trip to Demopolis.

Mesdames Loren Smith and Joe Higgins spent the week end in Georgia, with relatives.

Mrs. C. Fenn Jones, and daughter, Frances, returned last Friday from a month spent on the Gulf Coast.

R. Nelson Brassell of Montgomery was in Clanton Tuesday and Wednesday on account of the death of his uncle, A. C. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Roper of Birmingham were in Clanton this week on account of the death of Mrs. Roper's father, A. C. Smith.

Ed P. Littlejohn of Liberty Hill was in town Tuesday at dinner. He quit picking cotton long enough to come to town and get some tobacco.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Plier expect to leave this week for their home in Baxley, Ga. Mrs. Plier has recovered from an operation at Central Alabama Hospital.

The Spigener Funeral Home will soon occupy the building next to The Fair Store. Here they will have more suitable conveniences than in their present location.

W. Q. Childress and daughter, Miss Nora, were visitors to Clanton Tuesday.

Misses Louise and Marion Fay Bailey, who have been visiting with Miss Helen Diefenderfer the past week, returned to their home in Jacksonville, Alabama, Sunday afternoon.

Last Friday Misses Louise and Marion Fay Bailey and Helen Diefenderfer spent the day in Thorsby with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell.

Miss Anita Cranford returned to her home in Birminghgam Monday afternoon after spending some time with Miss Helen Diefenderfer.

CONCORD - BILLINGSLEY

Our singing was interfered with by the burial of Mr. Ernest Mills's little boy last Sunday afternoon, as some of our singers were called on to go and sing for the service; but everybody come back next first Sunday afternoon and bring your books and we will have singing.

The Christian Endeavor program was very commendable last Sunday night. Our lesson was on the subject of prayer "Jesus Teaching an Example." This is one of the most interesting subjects we could study. Many things were brought clear to our minds on this subject.

We have re-organized our Christian Endeavor society, elected and re-elected officers. We are hoping and praying that we may reach a higher goal in the future than ever before.

Mrs. Elsie Lee Turner and little daughter spent a part of the past week in Birmingham with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Emma Williams and daughter, Eula, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Williams Sunday.

Miss Grey of Enterprise was the guest of Misses Jessie Mae and Jettie Pierce Sunday.

Mr. Olin Williams spent Sunday with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Williams.

Miss Myrl Buzbee of Clanton Route 3 spent the past week here visiting.

Mr. Hudson Williams spent Tuesday night of the past week with his sister, Mrs. R. A. Hicks, of Billingsley.

Mr. Porter Williams of Shiloh community is spending a few days with his uncle, Mr. J. P. Williams, and family.

Mr. T. L. Williams of Shiloh spent the past week end here.

As it was inconvenient for Bro. Headley to preach for us last preaching day, he will preach for us next Sunday night. Let everybody come and bring someone with you.

Mrs. Virgie Cromwell is the guest of Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

FOR SALE

Abruzzi Rye, recleaned Seed Oats, Cotton Seed Meal, and Fertilizers.
J. N. DENNIS 9-3-4c

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

WANTED—Girl 16 years old or over, to do house work, must be willing to work.—C. Williams, Pletcher, Ala. 1pd.

PATENTS

Sell your invention or patent by exhibiting your model or drawing at the Second International Patent Exposition, September 14 to 27, Chicago. Thousands of manufacturers and patent buyers will inspect new devices and patents for marketing. Rates $1.00 per day for 14 days, entitling you to 14 feet. If you have no model, drawing or description will do. Send for free pamphlet if you have time. If not, send $14.00 with descriptions and drawings and we will look after your patent interests. B. Hamilton Edison, managing director, International Patent Exposition, Merchandise Mart, Chicago. 9-3-3tch.

STRAY MULE—Strayed from my place 4 miles north of Jemison on paved highway, Thursday night, August 27th. Sorrel horse mule, 800 pounds, 8 years old, bare footed. In good condition.—S. C. Sloan, Jemison, Ala., Rte 3. 1pd.

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

FOR SALE—Second-hand 35-gallon Cypress sirup barrels; extra good, just what you need for your sirup; 75 cents each.—K. A. Ekblad, Thorsby, Ala. 8273d

WANTED TO TRADE—A subscription to The Union-Banner for a load of grate wood or a load of lightwood knots. If you have more of either of these than you have cash, and want The Union-Banner, we might get up a trade. Ask T. E. Wyatt at The Union-Banner office.

FARM FOR SALE—I have a sixty-acre farm, 5 miles north of Clanton on cement road; good 5-room house; 125 pecan trees bearing; 100 good peach trees bearing; land is level, sandy loam, very fertile, easy cultivated, and well adapted to strawberries and all kind truck gardens. Will take small farm as part, and give terms on balance.—W. A. Reynolds, Clanton, Ala. 9-3-2c.

BABY GRAND

Rather than pay expenses of shipping and making an empty box for a Baby Grand Piano, would give satisfactory customer the benefit of what has been paid and arrange small terms for the balance. This Grand is in splendid condition, can hardly be detected as having been used at all. Might allow satisfactory party to use the instrument for the cost of delivery and tuning. Write

E. POUNDS
1130 No. 25th St.,
Birmingham - Alabama

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXVIII.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1931 NUMBER 21

NO COTTON PLAN ENDORSED HERE

Resolution Adopted At Meeting At Courthouse Last Saturday

A meeting of the farmers and business men was held at the courthouse in lanton last Saturday to consdeir the cotton situation for the present tnd the outlook for the future.

The meeting was called by Probate Judge, L. H. Reynolds, who was acting upon the request of the Long Cotton Plan Committee to secure the sentiment of Chilton County cotton growers in regard to the proposed cotton vacation for 1932.

A good attendance of farmers was present, and after some discussion of the situation, a resolution was prepared by L. H. Reynolds, C. E. Stapp, and Omar Reynolds, which was adopted by the meeting. The resolution was as follows:

We, the farmers and cotton growers of Chilton County, in a mass meeting assembled at the courthouse in Clanton on Saturday, the 12th of September, 1931, hereby pass and adopt the following resolutions:

We hereby endorse and adopt the so-called Long plan of planting no cotton for the year 1932. And we further urge that the debts, mortgages, or liens due on cotton in this year be stayed for a period of twelve months, or such time as may be practical.

We hereby urge the Governor of the State of Alabama to call the Legislature into special session to pass such legislation in line with the above as may be necessary and as appears proper to protect the interests of the cotton growing farmers.

SINGING CONVENTION AT VERBENA NEXT SUNDAY

The Chilton County Singing Convention will meet in regular fall session at the Verbena High School building next Sunday. The meeting will be called to order at 10 o'clock by the chairman, Prof. W. M. Devaughn. A short business session will be held for the election of officers, and the rest of the day will be consumed in singing.

Everybody has an invitation to attend and bring your 1932 song books. Both the Stamps-Baxter and Morris-Henson books will be used. Bring dinner and be prepared to spend the day.

FIVE ARE ARRESTED SINCE LAST WEEK

Since the report was made from the Sheriff's office last week, there have been five arrests by Sheriff W. H. Gillespie and his deputies, according to Chief Deputy James Gillespie.

Three of these were carried to Montgomery and placed in jail, one of which was for manslaughter, one for driving while intoxicated, and the other for abusive, indecent and obscene language. Two others were arrested for the charge of assault and battery.

TOURNAMENT OF LOCAL GOLFERS

Contest Will Begin Saturday And Last For Ten Days

R. J. Sumner, one of the chief golf enthusiasts of Clanton stated Tuesday that plans are under way for putting on a tournament in which all members of the Clanton Golf Club will participate. The event will last for about ten days, Mr. Sumner stated, as it will require that much time from the beginning of the qualifying rounds to the last night of the finals.

Next Saturday the qualifying rounds will begin. This will last through Tuesday of next week. After the qualifying rounds have been finished the match plays will occupy several days. The matches will be determined by the classifications that will be established by the results of the qualifying rounds.

The finals will be played around the last of this month. There will be prizes for the winners of each night and grand prize for the winner of the finals. There will also be a consolation prize for the low score player.

This is the first tournament of the Clanton Club, and Mr. Sumner stated that all the members are keenly enthusiastic about it.

HOME FOR NEGROES NEAR VERBENA BEING ERECTED

Actual work began last week on the erection of the $16,000 building for dependant negroes, eight miles from Verbena and four miles from Mt. Creek, according to a report of Wm. R. Cowart, chairman of the finance board, who was in Clanton Saturday.

This building, intended for a school and home for orphan and dependent negroes, is to be located on a 300-acre plot of land, donated for that purpose by Mr. F. A. Gulledge of Verbena. It is located in Chilton County, right on the line of Autauga. It will be called the Booker Washington Home.

In regard to the home, Gentry says: "This home will serve the State for negroes, and all citizens are requested to do their bit toward the erection of the building. Make all donations payable to the Booker Washington Association, Box 1292, Montgmery, Ala.

"The foundation for the building is being laid, and all pledges are now due. All religious, civic, fraternal and social organizations are asked to make their donations at once."

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Culp died at their home near Fairview Sunday morning. Burial was at Pleasant Grove cemetery on Sunday afternoon with Martin in charge of funeral arrangements.

DESTROYING THE LIQUOR BUSINESS

Martin Asks Gillespie To Compare His Record With Other Sheriffs

Editor Union-Banner:

It was talked during the last campaign that if Mr. Gillespie was elected Sheriff of the county the liquor business would be destroyed. Let's see what has been accomplished so far.

Mr. Tom Littlejohn, Mr. Dudley Collins, and Mr. Walter Gilespie, will you please state through the press the number of stills and persons making liquor you captured from the time you took office in January to September the first following? A comparison will be interesting to the people of the county and we may be able to show whether or not anything has been accomplished.

The liquor drank in the county is either manufactured here or brought in from neighboring counties and it would be easier to catch those making and hauling than to try to stop drinking. It, therefore, appears that a sincere effort to enforce the prohibition law would result in stopping the manufacturing and transportation of whiskey.

It is being talked over the county and during the last few months many people have been unjustly harassed, their premises and automobiles unlawfully searched and many persons arrested on wholly insufficient evidence and on some occasions flocks of people arrested for minor offenses against the prohibition law and rushed to the Montgomery County jail without being given any opportunity to make bond.

The expense of arrest, the costs, hauling to and from the Montgomery County jail, attorney fees and other inconveniences fall on the one arrested or the county. Many of us, during these distressing times, are unable to meet the expenses of living without being subjected to these unnecessary expenses and inconveniences. A person should not be arrested just because some one gets a fee for doing this, even though it comes out of the county. In the end the people pay the bills by taxation.

Yours for square and honest law enforcement.—J. H. Martin, Jemison, Ala.

ENJOY BARBECUE AT RIVER ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Last Thursday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock a few close friends and relatives of Jesse Baker and family enjoyed a chicken and goat barbecue at Taylor Camp on Lake Mitchell. Choicely barbecued chicken and goat meat were prepared, together with a suitable quantity of camp stew, pickles, iced tea, coffee, etc., and were served in the shade of some large trees fronting a lagoon on the lake. Those present and enjoying the occasion were: Jesse Baker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Easterling, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Popwell, Mrs. Louise Adams and baby, W. M. Wyatt and family, T. E. Wyatt and family, J. M. Wyatt, R. F. Wyatt, J. T. Rockett, Tommie Taylor, Dewitt Easterling, Reedie Taylor and Roland Taylor.

No Cotton Is Salvation Of Southern Farmers

Judge Reynolds Discusses Seriousness of Present Situation That Confronts Cotton Growers. Says The Long Plan Is Best Thing Offered Yet

Editor Union-Banner:

Please permit me a space in your paper to express myself on the present situation of the farmers of the south. First, I want to say that the response of the farmers of Chilton County to the meeting called for last Saturday was good. There were more present than could get into the courthouse.

I have studied very carefully the conditions of the South since the government report came out on this crop a few weeks ago. I have come to realize that the South is stirred up as never before. It is clear to me that unless something is done the South is ruined financially, and will not recover in many years to come if we continue to raise cotton.

I am convinced that it will take some action by law to remedy the situation. The United States Government spent large sums of money, assisted by the southern states, this year, trying to get the cotton crop reduced. But we have produced the third largest crop that we have any record of.

This cotton crop cost more money than it can be sold for under present conditions. I believe farmers would be better off if they had not raised a boll of cotton his year. It is my opinion that if we would not raise a boll of cotton in 1932, and would save half of this crop until next fall, that the increase in price on half of this crop would be more than any crop would bring that we could raise in 1932. It seems the sensible thing to do for us to consider the money the farmers would make by such a policy. Then too we could have our lands to plant in foods and feed crops. We have enough cotton to supply the needs of the country for two years. Then why not the farmers shut down their business when they have an overproduction? That is the way all other businesses do.

It has been argued that if we grow no cotton in 1932, the oil mills will have to shut down, and put many people out of a job. I would ask this question? What business is more important to the people of the South than the business of the farmer? Is it more important to the south for the people who work in oil mills to have a job than for the farmers who produce cotton to be on a sound financial basis? Think this over.

I know the oil mill people will fight the no cotton plan for 1932. Why? Because they want to make their millions out of the depressed condition of the farmer. Just think of offering the farmer $8 for a ton of his cottonseed; while the products that are made from those seed bring about $40 per ton. We could not expect the oil people to want such a business as that shut down. But again, I ask you to think of the plight of the cotton farmer who can get only $8 a ton for his cottonseed.

The farmers can do as they please. But if I had my way, there would not be another bale of cotton ginned until something is done that would offer a fair solution of this problem in favor of the man who grows the cotton. I do not know of any business in the world that would refuse to close down if faced by such conditions as now confront the cotton growers.

The advice that has been given the farmers by speculators has sounded ridiculous to me. Just think of this: Cotton speculators who owned and controlled a surplus of nine million bales of cotton advised the farmers to destroy one-third of their present crop before picking it. Why did these speculators not offer to destroy one-third of their own cotton? They wanted to put up all the burden and sacrifice on the shoulders of the poor farmers who are already loaded down with more troubles than he can possibly bear.

I have anxiously waited and looked for some suggestion that would be better than the no cotton plan for 1932. Up to this time I have not seen anything better. I believe that 95 per cent of the people of Alabama are for this plan, and that every Southern legislator would favor the law if the politicians and speculators would let them alone.

I was informed this week that commercial fertilizer has advanced in price, notwithstanding the hopeless financial condition of the farmers of the South who are xepected to buy and use this fertiliezr. Think again of raising the price of fertilizer, when cottonseed are being bought from the farmer at $8 per ton. Another big advantage of no cotton in 1932 would be the effect that a year's vacation on cotton would have on the fertilizer trust. I suppose the fertilizer manufacturers do not want the production of cotton to stop either. But I want to ask what farmer would be willing to cut his clothes by the pattern of the fertilizer makers? We have done too much of that already, perhaps.

It is my opinion that if we fail now in our efforts to reach a solution for our cotton situation, we will have the worst financial wreck ever seen. If that happens, the people will hold to blame those powers that are seeking to prevent legislation to relieve the situation.

I hope that our legislature will soon be called together, and that it will not be delayed until the bulk of the cotton crop has been gathered and thrown on the market.

I know every farmer who owes on his cotton has an obligation that he should meet. But I know also at the present prices the cotton will not pay its debts. I know too, that half of this crop can be financed and carried over for another year, and that if we do not raise any cotton in 1932 that the cotton that we carry over will make the South rich and the farmer ought to have the benefit of the increase in the price, as he is to make the sacrifice by not growing cotton in 1932.

The farmers in this county have worked harder this year than I have ever seen them; and now it looks like they will get the least for what they have made. Something must be done about such a situation. Respectfully, L. H. Reynolds.

FORMER C. C. H. S. TEACHER NOW DEAN AT JACKSONVILLE

Prof. (or rather now Dr.) Claud R. Wood, who was professor of mathematics and English in the Chilton County High School under Prof. McDonald in 1915 and 1916, this fall takes up the position as dean of the Jacksonville State Teachers College. Dr. Wood graduated from Auburn in 1914, and later received his Ph. D., from Peabody College in 1928. He is a native of Hackleburg, Ala., and began his teaching career in Marion County. He has been at the head of the extension department at Jacksonville as well as teacher of mathematics and chairman of the school's classification committee for the past ten years.

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

Sunday school at Friendship will be held next Sunday beginning at 9 o'clock, in order that those who wish to may attend the county singing convention at Verbena.

The Sunday school last Sunday adopted a plan of singing thirty minutes every Sunday before Sunday school, which will begin the first Sunday in October. All the young people of the community are urged to be present and take part in this service every Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parrish and two sons of Birmingham visited relatives Sunday.

Jersey Cattle Show

You are invited to attend the Jersey Cattle Show at Clanton Saturday, September 19th.

The parade through town will be at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

C. E. STAPP.

SOCIETY SINGS AT PROVIDENCE ON LAST SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Central Singing Society met in regular session last Sunday afternoon at Providence. Prof. O. L. Devaughn, vice chairman, presided, and a goodly number of singers and directors were present.

For some reason (we presume unavoidable) the newly elected chairman, Prof. L. T. Grant, was not present; but we hope that Prof. Grant will be with us the next time we meet at Providence as well as at the other seven places of meeting. Providence is one of the best places for singing that the society has on its round.

Those directing last Sunday afternoon were: R. M. Robinson, Jesse Baker, W. G. Culp, J. R. Robinson, Chester Wyatt, Melvin Mims, J. R. Robinson, Jr., Marion Easterling, G. C. Powell, C. H. Robinson. Two special songs were arranged by the chairman, which were splendid and enjoyed by the audience.

There will be no meeting of the society next Sunday afternoon on account of the county convention at Verbena. All members of the society are urged to be at Verbena. The singing there will begin about 10 o'clock in the high school building. Carry your dinner and spend the day. The next regular meeting of the society will be at Friendship the fourth Sunday afternoon in this month.

S. S. CONVENTION AT NEW SALEM

All Day Meeting Will Be Held On The First Sunday In October

The executive committee of the Chilton County Associational Sunday School Convention announces that an all day meeting will be held at New Salem Baptist church near Thorsby the first Sunday in October, which will be the 4th of that month. As yet no program has been arranged, but this preliminary announcement is made in order that all Sunday schools in the Chilton County Association may arrange to send delegates. However, the committee is in position to state that the program will be one out of the ordinary and will be of particular interest to all. It will not be dry, commonplace and uninteresting as is usual with such gatherings, but something will be happening all the time that will command the rapt attention of those in attendance.

The good people of New Salem have very graciously accpeted the task of caring for the convention, and now it behooves the other churches of the association to do their part. Dinner is promised all delegates and others actually interested in Sunday school work, of course, the old time free-for-all dinner on the ground is no longer expected of any community. All superintendents please keep this in mind and don't fail to have as many from your school as possible present.

HARDY NOW CHIEF OF POLICE

The job of chief of police of Clanton was taken over by Mr. J. R. Hardy on Tuesday, September 15, succeeding Mr. John Boockholdt, who has held the job for the past five years.

Mr. Hardy is a man of high standing in this community and is well known over the county. Before coming to Clanton a few years ago he was a resident of Coosa County, where he was one time Sheriff of that county. He is experienced in law enforcement work and will no doubt prove to be a suitable man for the job of police chief.

Billy Foshee is night policeman, having been placed in that position by the city council about a month ago when the services of Red Sherrod were terminated.

ROCKETT WILL BUILD NEW FILLING STATION

Announcement is made by Mr. Tom Rockett this week that he will in the next few days begin the building of a modern gasoline filling station on the property of Mullins & Moore just across the highway from the Ford place in Clanton. According to plans for the building this is to be as fine as any service station in Clanton. It will dispense the products of the Shell Petroleum Company, of which Mr. Rockett is distributor in this territory. The property has been leased from Mullins & Moore for a period of years for use by the filling station.

Miss Ruth Splawn has returned to her home in Russelville.

PREPARING FOR WINTER MONTHS

People Are Warned Not To Expect Too Much From County

Contemplating the serious stiuation that some people may find themselves in during the coming winter, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County last Saturday passed a resolution as follows:

We, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, in session this, the 12th day of September, 1931, urge the people of this county to exert every effort possible to prepare themselves for the coming winter. We hope every family in our county will be able to act in due time to lay up something to eat to carry them through the winter.

Farmers will need help in gathering their crops, and while money gets scarce, we urge everybody who can to help the farmers gather their crops. Where they have not got the money to pay you with, they can pay you in something to eat that will help you through the winter.

The Commissioners are not only willing, but anxious to help the people who need help, and furnish jobs to those who are out of work. But you must not expect too much from us this year. The Court has already put aside $25,000 with the Peoples Savings Bank as a sinking fund for which we are receiving 4 per cent interest. This is being held to apply on the old county debt of $108,000 which is due in 1947.

A new jail is being built. This will cost around $35,000. The Commissioners last fall in reducing taxes exempted all road hands from road duty this year. We have built a new almshouse, and have bought the potts place next to the courthouse.

So you can see the court has already saved out of your taxes this year about $65,000. While we want to do all the gravelling on the roads that we can this winter, we hope the people will not expect more of us than we are able to do.

We will welcome any suggestion that any taxpayer of the county would like to make to us, and we make this statement in order that the people of the county may understand the situation and financial condition of your county.

ARMSTRONG-VINSON WEDDING

On Tuesday, September 8th, at the home of Rev. S. J. Ezell in Clanton, Mr. Cecil Armstrong was married to Miss Lena Vinson, Dr. Ezell performing the ceremony.

Cecil Armstrong is a son of the late J. J. Armstrong, and is a world war veteran, having been a member of the famous Rainbow Division. Miss Vinson is the daughter of Mr. John Vinson who lives south of Clanton.

YOUNG MAN DIED FROM INJURIES

Bill Chancellor Killed When Hit By Truck Last Friday

William Ocie Chancellor, age 22 son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Chancellor, of Liberty Hill Community, was almost instantly killed last Friday afternoon when he was struck by a truck as he walked along the paved highway south of Clanton.

Wyatt Robinson, of Birmingham, driver of the truck for a transfer company, surrendered to Sheriff Gillespie. Robinson told the sheriff he went to sleep at the wheel and woke up when his truck struck the boy.

Chancellor and a Popwell boy were walking toward Clanton, when the truck approached from behind them. Chancellor was hit and his body was hurled down a bank into a field alongside the highway. Martin's ambulance was summoned and carried the injured man to the Central Alabama Hospital. He died enroute.

The funeral was held at Mt. Pisgah Saturday, conducted by Rev. Perry Mims. Burial arrangements were in charge of Martin.

Young Chancellor had been spending a few days with his brother in South Clanton. He was coming to town to meet his father and return with him to his home at Liberty Hill. When Mr. Chancellor arrived in town he was informed of the sad fate of his boy.

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO

DALLAS COMPRESS CO.

Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).

Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.

Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop.

Dallas Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

KEEP EQUITY IN COTTON IS PLAN

Montgomery, Sept. 19.—Believing that it is "possible and indeed probable, that the growing of more cotton in the South in 1932 will be prohibited by law," J. A. Beaty, acting general manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association, is urging cotton growers to pool their holdings with the Association in order that they will be in position to take advantage of higher prices expected as a result of the proposed legislation.

"On seasonal pool cotton at the recent price level we are advancing within one cent a pound of the market value at the time of marketing," he said. "The grower retains an equity and places himself to take advantage of any improvement in the price."

In a telegram urging the Governor of Texas to call a special session of the Texas Legislature to consider the cotton ban, five Alabama agricultural leaders, including Executive Secretary Deal of the Farm Bureau, said "we deem it highly important that farmers not sell their cotton at present prices."

They pointed out three ways that "a farmer can retain an equity in his cotton; (1) If he has space and is financially able he can store it at home. (2) He can pool it with the cooperative association thereby keeping an equity in it and drawing a liberal advance. (3) In many cases he can get a liberal loan on it from a reliable bank which will allow him to keep an equity in it."

CANNIBALISM AND FEATHER PULLING

(By Jos. H. Bodwell)

There are many causes suggested for this malady. There are also as many remedies advanced. Probably no one knows the scientifically correct cause.

We know that there are several deterrents on the market which when applied liberally will prevent this trouble for a while very nicely, but generally they do not remove the cause.

Some authorities recommend the addition of more fibre to the feed to prevent this trouble, but we know that there are 20 different kinds of proteins and we also know that we can get fibre in many different forms.

If we should add fibre in the form of timothy hay, and timothy hay certainly does contain enough fibre, we are apt to get trouble from compaction of the crop or gizzard. Fibre, then, in itself or in any form, may be uneconomical.

If we had fibre in a bulky form and succulent at the same time we would go a long way in solving this problem. Cabbage, rape and alfalfa offer us fibre in this form. When molasses is added to alfalfa it makes the combination even more succulent.

In other words, when fibre is added to help correct cannibalism, it must be in such a form that the digestive juices can act quickly and the fibre particles sweep the walls of the intestines without irritation.

OATS AND RYE FOR ALL WINTER GRAZING

For winter grazing, two kinds of small grain do well in Alabama. They are Abruzzi rye and oats.

Rye is recommended for that portion of Alabama north of Birmingham and oats for the southern portion. Either should be planted in September or early October. Early planting will produce more grazing.

The rate of planting Abruzzi rye is four to six pecks per acre; and oats for grazing, two to three bushels per acre. The red rust-proof and Fulghum varieties are recommended.

A top dressing of nitrogen fertilizer applied as either of these small grains comes up will hasten and increase growth, thereby providing more and better grazing.

In making these recommendations J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn, said that seed are plentiful and cheap this year; and that grazing will be needed. It is the cheapest form of feed that farmers can produce, he added.

Either oats or rye can be planted between rows of cotton or corn; or they may be planted after cowpeas or soybeans.

To protect them against winter freezes they should be planted in furrows. Grain drills are needed.

CLOTHING SUGGESTIONS

Simplicity is the keynote in dress design.

Decoration emphasizes the part of the dress which is decorated.

Conspicuous collars and cuffs make a stout person look stouter.

Vertical lines in a dress give height to a figure and horizontal lines shorten a figure.

The lines of a hat can change or accentuate the lines of the face and figure.

A perfectly round neckline calls attention to a very thin face. An irregular line is better.

A color scheme of several shades of the same color is safe to use in selecting a costume.

A person must sit, stand, and walk gracefully for clothes to look well.

Becomingness is the deciding factor in selecting color in costume.

To be well dressed a person's clothes must be well fitting and becoming to her individual style and personality.

KUDZU PLANTINGS MAKE GOOD START IN ALABAMA

In 21 counties of north Alabama 400,000 kudzu crowns were planted last spring, and Jas. T. High, district demonstration agent of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, has received reports from the county agents showing these crowns have made a good start for the first year. In the meantime farmers are maintaining their interest in this new crop which promises to become an important factor in the agriculture of that and also other sections of Alabama.

The crowns were planted in the early spring. Most of them were planted on good land with a view to producing crowns for future plantings, Mr. High said. In this way the crop will be extended to poor and gulleyed land for reclaiming it, and also far producing pasture and hay.

Although a few kudzu plantings have been growing in Alabama for a good many years, it was not until this year that a large and systematic movement was launched for the purpose of extending plantings. Mr. High thinks that the Alabama work of 1931 was the first organized effort in the United States in behalf of this legume.

Kudzu is known as porch vine and by many other names. It makes an abundant growth, producing a large quantity of hay and much grazing. The hay is as good or better than alfalfa; and the green grazing also is better than alfalfa.

Mr. High says that kudzu will be a forerunner of a large livestock industry in Alabama because it is an excellent feed crop, both as grazing and as hay. It also enriches land for the production of corn and other feed crops.

The American canning industry, with its investments in plants and its wide variety of products, has become a billion-dollar business. It has increased rapidly in recent years.

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 20

THE COUNCIL AT JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:1-35.

GOLDEN TEXT—For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Christians Working Together.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The First Missionary Convention.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christian Freedom.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity at the Crossroads.

I. The Controversy in the Church at Antioch (vv. 1-5).

This difficulty was a most serious one, for it threatened the disruption of the church into Jewish and Gentile divisions. It was not a question of the admission of the Gentiles into the Church; that had been settled some years before when Peter received Cornelius and his household. The question now was, On what ground could they be received? Should Gentile converts be required to keep the Mosaic Law as a condition of salvation? This issue was brought on by the coming of certain men from Jerusalem who declared, "Except ye be circumcized after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved" (v. 1). The question was so difficult that Paul and Barnabas were unable to put them to silence. These Jewish legalists had the letter of the Scripture on their side. They could point to the command enjoining this rite upon the male children of the covenant people (Gen. 17:10-14). Paul could not point to any scripture where this obligation had been abrogated. If Paul should plead that Abraham was justified before he was circumcized, his antagonist could answer, "Yes, but after justification the rite was divinely imposed." The brethren at Antioch decided to refer the matter to the mother church at Jerusalem. Accordingly, Paul and Barnabas and others were sent as a deputation to Jerusalem.

II. The Deliberations of the Council (vv. 6-21).

1. Peter's speech (vv. 6-11). He argued that God had borne witness to the acceptance of the Gentiles by giving the Holy Spirit to them as unto the Jews (Acts 10:34-47). Since, therefore, God had not put a difference, it would be folly for them to to do so.

2. Paul and Barnabas rehearsed their experience (v. 12). They told how that God had set his seal of approval on their preaching of salvation by grace through faith apart from the works of the law by the working of signs and wonders through them.

3. The argument of James (vv. 14-21). He took the fact declared by Peter and showed how it harmonized with the prophecy of Amos (Amos 9:11-15). He showed that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict but in strict harmony with God's plan. As set forth in the speech of James, God's plan is as follows:

a. To take out from among the Gentiles a people for his name (v. 14). This is what is now going on—the preaching of the gospel to the ends of the earth, and the calling out of the Church.

b. After the Church is completed and removed, the Israelitish nation will be converted and restored to their land and privileges by the Lord himself at his return (vv. 16, 17).

c. Following this will be the conversion of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17 cf. Rom. 11:15-17). He showed that there is no conflict when the Scriptures are rightly divided.

III. The Decision of the Council (vv. 22-29).

The mother church came to a unanimous agreement and accepted the resolution offered by James. They not only sent a letter stating the decision of the conference, but took the wise precaution to send influential men along with Paul and Barnabas to bear the same testimony by word of mouth. This letter denied the authority of the Judaizing teachers (v. 24) and declared the method by which this decision had been reached (vv. 25-27). They put the Holy Spirit first. They were positively instructed to abstain from meats offered to idols, from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication.

IV. The Decision Delivered to the Church (vv. 30-35).

Upon their return to Antioch, the church was called together to hear the report. Its reading brought great rejoicing. Judas and Silas, who had been sent as confirmatory witnesses, being prophets, now exhorted the brethren with many words, confirming the decision of the Jerusalem church.

Abiding in Christ

Abiding in Christ does not mean that you must always be thinking about Christ. You are in a house, abiding in its enclosure or beneath its shelter, though you are not always thinking about the house itself. But you always know when you leave it.—F. B. Meyer.

God Is in All

Be he nowhere else, God is in all that liberates and lifts, in all that humbles, sweetens, and consoles.—Lowell.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has proposed a plan for solving the unemployment problem by allocating a proportional quota of the jobless to each industry. This plan has been presented to President Hoover's unemployment relief organization.

The pockets of Uncle Sam soon will bulge with more than $5,000,000,000 in gold. A survey of the gold situation showed it will be only a matter of a short time before gold holdings in the United States will top the $5,000,000,000 mark for the first time in the history of the nation.

The Iowa State College at Ames has reached the conclusion that the future demand for corn will not be as great as the past demand. The big reason is that there are now nine million fewer hours in the United States than there were in 1919, reducing the demand for corn by about 200,000,000 bushels annually. The hog demand is off about 100,000,000 bushels.

Life insurance sales in Alabama during July amounted to $4,363,000. This was 7.6 per cent below the June sales and 9.5 per cent below sales of July a year ago, as reported by the monthly Economic Review published by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn.

HOW TO HARVEST SWEET POTATOES IS EXPLAINED

By digging at the right time and being careful in handling and storing properly, most of the sweet potato losses can be prevented and a high quality maintained, says Mr. Julian Brown, extension horticulturist at Auburn.

With a view to preventing these losses county agents of the state are giving instructions to farmers about when and how to dig potatoes and how to store then. Briefly their instructions are:

1. Dig at least two weeks before frost danger.
2. The dryer the ground when dug the better they will keep.
3. Do not bruise in handling (handle them as you would eggs).
4. For later use put 5 to 10 bushels in 1-bushel crates. These crates can be built at home out of 1 x 3's. Place them in the kitchen for 10 days in order that they may cure or dry out; then put them back in a dry cellar or crib. Pack hay or old quilts around them where danger of freezing. The balance can be hilled in as usual for early use.
5. Where produced for the market provide a storage house and handle as usual.
6. Never let a sweet potato chill before or after digging.

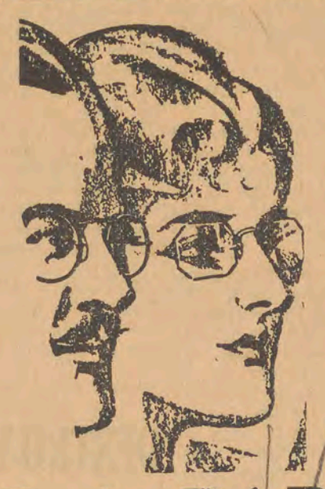
If these instructions are followed, sweet potatoes will be saved and the quality will be good, Mr. Brown said.

ALABAMA FARM CROPS WORTH $131,500,000

Alabama farmers are this year producing approximately $131,500,000 worth of field crops, according to the September crop report released yesterday by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician for the Department of Agriculture, who reported this value to be "approximately $20,000,000 less than the harvest of 1930." The total of farm crops in Alabama last year was $151,519,000.

"At present prices the cotton crop in sight will be worth about $33,000,000 less than the crop of last year, while other field crops promise an increase in value of about $13,000,000," he said.

"This increase is based on somewhat lower unit prices for all commodities, and hence means that the volume of production this year is considerably greater than last year."



Indications on September 1st were that Alabama farmers will this year produce 1,288,000 bales of cotton; 40,724,000 bushels of corn; 583,000 tons of hay; 6,072,000 bushels of peanuts; 9,360,000 of sweet potatoes; 4,202,000 bushels of oats; 4,389,000 bushels of Irish potatoes; 5,310,000 gallons of syrup; 3,400,000 pounds of pecans, and 1,530 bushels of peaches. This is an increase in all these crops.

Eddie Ward of Lomax was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds spent Monday in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moore of Verbena were visitors to Clanton Monday.

W. H. Maddox of Jemison, Route 2, was a visitor to Clanton last Saturday.

Dr. S. A. BARSON

OPTOMETRIST

Will Be At The Exchange Hotel, Clanton, All Day

Monday, Sept. 28

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Mullins Academy, Beat 1	Oct. 5	Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17
Jemison, Beat 2	Oct. 6	Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19
Mars Hill, Beat 2	Oct. 7	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
		Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.

AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

Phone Us For Quick Cleaning Service

When you want really careful work done in a hurry, call us. Our process of cleaning removes all spots and stains; restores the original freshness of the garment, and insures prompt and satisfactory service. Our charges are very moderate.

CALL 119

CLANTON LAUNDRY AND CLEANING CO.

Clanton, Ala.

666

LIQUID OR TABLETS

Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.

666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Phone One-One-One

or Write

The James Sign Shop

CLANTON, ALA.

Outdoor

Painted Display Advertising

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

Trench Foot

Beware Athlete's Foot

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Hand Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS

Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

SCHOOL CHILDREN NEED TO HAVE GOOD LUNCHES

If Johnny brings home a bad report card, and upon investigation his mother finds that he is very listless in school and that his greatest effort is expended to make trouble for the teacher, Johnny's mother may resort to a peachtree switch and extract a promise for improved behavious from her son, or she may be more farsighted and find a more fundamental cause of her son's delinquency, explained Miss Helen Kennedy, extension nutritionist of Auburn.

"No growing boy or girl can thrive physically or mentally without proper nourishment," said Miss Kennedy. "It may be that Johnny's trouble is a lack of wholesome foods. He may be one of those boys who rushes away to school without breakfast and depends upon a cold lunch hastily wrapped in a newspoper to tide him over until supper when he eats all of the cold biscuits and syrup his poor abused stomach will tolerate."

A safe guide to use in preparing lunches for school children is the daily 4-H ration outlined by Miss Kennedy. According to the guide each child should have each day a quart of milk, 5 servings of vegetables, 2 servings of whole-grain bread or cereal, 2 servings of eggs, cheese, meat or dried legumes, and 6 to 8 glasses of liquid. By making a distribution for three meals daily the requirements for lunch can be readily recognized.

The lunch should be carefully prepared, using a clean, well ventilated lunch box, and the contents may be sandwiches, including a vegetable sandwich, fruit, a sweet, and a drink. An investment in a thermos bottle for providing a hot soup or cocoa for cold days may bring great returns in the form of better nourished children, Miss Kennedy added.

Before Baby Comes

Turn the months of waiting into ease and comfort

Save yourself needless suffering. Guard against "caking." Mother's Friend will help you. It greatly relieves the pain and nervousness due to the distention and stretching of the skin and tissues, often preventing abdominal disfigurement. First prescribed by a doctor. Now time-tested for 60 years. Highly recommended by users, many doctors and nurses. Mother's Friend is applied externally. It may be secured from any druggist in the inexpensive $1.25 size. For your own sake and that of your dear baby's do try it. Mail coupon now for—

Free trial sample and helpful booklet

The Bradfield Co., Atlanta, Ga. Please send me FREE and post paid (under plain wrappers) your 24-page illustrated book in colors, "Things to Know Before Baby Comes," and a trial sample of Mother's Friend. (B)

Name .....
Street or R. F. D. .....
City ..... State .....

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

COTTON CROP FORECAST AT 15,685,000 BALES

The United States Department of Agriculture on September 1, forecast the present cotton crop at 15,685,000 bales. This was the highest September forecast since 1915.

The estimate for each state follows: Virginia, 41,000; North Carolina, 715,000; South Carolina, 929,000; Georgia, 1,311,000; Florida, 36,000; Missouri, 239,000; Tennessee, 501,000; Alabama 1,288,000; Mississippi, 1,500,000; Louisiana, 860,000; Texas, 5,094,000; Oklahoma, 1,254,000; Arkansas, 1,513,000; Colorado, 176,000; New Mexico, 95,000; Arizona, 127,000; others, 6,000.

BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Harrell of Arabian Gap, Ga., were called home Friday on account of the illness and death of Mr. Harrell's father.

Mr. A. G. Thompson has returned to Bessemer after spending part of his vacation with his aunt, Mrs. W. A. Gandy.

Mr. and Mrs. Upton have returned after their vacation tour, and Prof. Upton will open school at Billingsley High Monday, September 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Washington have arrived. Mr. Washington will be coach at the Billingsley High School this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Golson of Prattville were Sunday guests of Mrs. Golson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baxter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carter of Montgomery were guests of Mr. Carter's mother, Mrs. J. N. Carter, last Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph Carter will be the guest of Mrs. J. N. Carter for a few days.

Mrs. Mattie Daniels of Talladega is the guest of her brother, Mr. J. C. Vinson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vinson, Mr. J. C. Vinson, and Mrs. Mattie Daniels made a business trip to Montgomery Saturday.

We regret to note the death of Mr. E. J. Harrell. Mr. Harrell was one of the oldest residents of our town.

Mr. Burtram King left Sunday for Iowa State University where he will resume his studies.

SOME SOCIAL CUSTOMS IN WASHINGTON'S DAY

Many of the official social customs in vogue today had their beginning during the first days of Washington's administration, when it was found that, in spite of the earnest desire of the young republic to be as definitely removed as possible from the panoply of European court life, it was nevertheless necessary to decide upon some code which would be agreeable, and which at the same time would not take too much of the Chief Executive's time from the affairs of the nation.

Therefore, we are informed by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, by the time Mrs. Washington arrived on the scene, about a month after the inauguration, she found the executive mansion in running order. The famed tavern keeper, Samuel Faunces, had been installed as the chief steward, and the social program, at the suggestion of Alexander Hamilton, planned as follows: The President was to pay no visits. He was to receive on Tuesday afternoons of every other week. Foreign envoys and strangers, however, were to be received on other days, and the President was always to be accessible to persons who wished to see him on business. Thursdays he was to be host at dinner, the guest lists to be made up from official groups and strangers of distinction. Mrs. Washington was to receive at a brilliant levee every Friday evening from eight to ten.

It was a matter of much discussion as to how the President should be addressed. Some wanted to call him "Excellency," and Mrs. Washington "Lady," but this was thought to smack too much of royalty, so they decided upon the "President of the United States and Mrs. Washington," which still is in usage.

The Thursday dinners, at which Col. Humphreys, the President's aide, was master of ceremonies, were served at three in the afternoon, to from ten to twenty-two guests. At the central table, laid exquisitely in fine linen, was a long mirror, made in sections and framed in silver, on which stood mythological statuettes in China. The family plate, which, since coming to New York, had been melted down and reproduced in more elegant style, each piece displaying the arms of the Washington family, with a small bead edge around the rim, adorned the table.

SELECTIVE LOGGING IS GAINING GROUND

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 14.—Forward timberland owners and timber operators measure and mark each tree they wish to have cut and no longer cut every tree which will saw out a single board or a two by four, according to data gathered by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. Time and cost studies made by cutting large trees are often lost or reduced by cutting small trees for saw timber.

These losses may be eliminated by marking before cutting those trees which will pay the costs of operating and yield a profit. Usually only pine trees twelve inches and larger at four and one-half feet from the ground are marked for cutting. However, in many operations trees must be fourteen inches or even sixteen inches to yield a profit. Hardwood trees under sixteen inches are rarely profitable for saw timber.

The cost of marking the trees before cutting is from two cents to five cents per thousand board feet. The method is to caliper the trees at four and one-half feet from the ground, and all trees which are of sufficient size are blazed on the stump and then stamped with the operator's distinctive mark. Another blaze is made on the stem of the tree so that the saw crew can readily see that it is to be felled. Usually the height from the ground at which the tree is to be cut is indicated on the tree when it is marked. In addition to making the operation more profitable, the small trees which are left accelerate their growth and in a few years become themselves suitable for cutting.

Mrs. Fannie Headley McDaniel, a native of Chilton County, now living at Paive, Miss., with her children, is spending a few days on a visit at the home of Jonifer Headley, near Clanton. Her many friends of former years are pleased to see her again.

Thilo Fiering, of Chicago, was in Clanton a few days last week. Mr. Fiering comes to Clanton on his vacation every year to see his old friends in this neighborhood. When he is at home in Chicago he keeps up with things in Chilton County by reading The Union-Banner every week.

ALABAMA IS HARVESTING 1,288,000 BALES OF COTTON

Indications on September 1 were that Alabama farmers will this year produce 1,288,000 bales of cotton on the 3,386,000 acres left for harvest at that time, according to F. W. Gist, Agricultural Statistician. This compares with 1,473,000 bales last year.

The report showed a condition for Alabama of 66 per cent of normal compared with 70 per cent on August 1st this year and 59 per cent on September 1st of last year. "The prospective acre yield this year is 182 pounds compared with 187 pounds last year and 174 pounds in 1929," the report says. "The acreage abandoned this year amounts to .7 of 1 per cent which is about half of the usual abandonment.

The condition for the various crop reporting districts of Alabama are as follows: Northwest, 67 per cent of normal; Tennessee Valley, 73; mineral, 75; northeast, 75; black belt, west, 62, black belt east, 66, east central, 67, southwest, 57; south central, 60; and southeast, 60.

MEN OF 2,000 YEARS AGO TO VISIT 1933 EXPOSITION

When the gates of a century of progress swing in Chicago in 1933, strange visitors will be in attendance. The "Black sand men" and their families, who hunted and fished and farmed this region centries ago, will again appear.

For two years the exposition has cooperated with the department of Anthropology of the University of Chicago in excavations of the Indian mounds of Illinois in order to represent for the fair the lives of the mound builders, the oldest humans we know anything about in the Mississippi valley. Notable discoveries were made last year and material sufficient for a magnificant display secured, but excavations are continuing in order to make the story complete.

The black sands were laid down by the glacier which scooped out Lake Michigan long ago, and were thought too old to contain human remains. But recently there have been found the remains of ten individuals who occupied the region long before the mound builders. These black sand people who lived 2,000 to 4,000 years ago, will be at the fair.

The skeletons found, showed the black sand folk to be short and husky with narrow long heads, wide cheek bones and heavy ridges over the brow.

In the valley of the Illinois a "Hopewell" mound is being excavated and a great central pit containing 24 bodies has been exposed. On the bluffs over the river, dome-shaped mounds, probably dating back a thousand years, are revealing a most interesting story of early life in Illinois.

Several of the mounds will be reproduced at the fair.

ADMINISTRATRIX SETTLEMENT NOTICE

In the matter of R. N. Roebuck Estate; Probate Court, Chilton County:

Notice is hereby given that on the 5th day of September, 1931, the undersigned Administratrix filed her accounts, vouchers, and other written evidence, for a Partial Settlement of her said administration.

Notice is hereby given that the 26th day of September has been the appointed day on which to make said Partial Settlement, and at that time the Court will hear and examine the vouchers and other evidence regarding said settlement.

Mrs. DELLA ROEBUCK,
Administratrix for the Estate of R. N. Roebuck, deceased. 9-10-3t-ch.

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered Druggist
THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at Farmers Hardware Co.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES OF THE PAST YEAR

The boy scouts of this district have been very active during their first year of the present organization, as will be remembered when we note the various activities in which they have been engaged since last October.

A good representation of the Clanton and Lay Dam troops attended the Scout Jamboree at Auburn May 1. Our boys did outstanding work at the Old Soldiers' Reunion in Montgomery and were highly praised for same. A good per cent of them attended summer camp at Spring Villa near Opelika. John Ezell and Sidney Reynolds made highest record at camp on merit badge work.

Civic service in which the boys have taken part are as follows: Directing traffic; aiding with school field day program; distributed Christmas packages; put up community chest posters; aided in clean-up campaign.

At the last meeting of the Clanton troop the scouts were asked to state what rank in scouting they expect to advance to by Christmas. Their replies were as follows: John Ezell, life; Hal Broadhead, life; Joe Moore, life; Sidney Reynolds, life; Wesley Danforth, star; Phillpi Nelson, star; Carl Jones, star; Herbert Neighbors, first class; Dan Smith, first class; U. L. Baker, first class; Joe Hall Johnson, first class; John McNair, first class; Milton Diefenderfer, second class; Jeff Miller, second class.

To obtain these various ranks the boys will have to appear before a committee of adult citizens of the community and prove their knowledge pertaining to scouting required for the various ranks in scouting.

Next week there will be published a list of meritb adge examiners before whom the boys will have to appear and stand examination for their various merit badges.

CONTROL OF INSECTS IN DRIED FRUITS

Fruits of all kinds have been produced in abundance this year. Every effort should be made to save all of these food materials in some way. A very easy and popular method of keeping apples and peaches, at least, is to dry them. There is one disadvantage to curing fruits in this way. Quite often the dried fruit becomes infested with worms. These worms are most likely to be the larvae of the Indian meal moth or one of the dried fruit beetles. We are not so much concerned with what the insect is as we are about methods of control. Suffice it is to say that any pest found in dried fruits can be controlled by heat or by fumigating with carbon disulphide.

In the use of heat for the control of worms in dried fruit it is impossible to give very definite instructions. It is the opinion of the writer, however, that fruit spread in a thin layer on a piece of metal roofing and covered with a second piece of metal or glass and kept in the sun for several hours will result in the death of any insects present. Fruit spread out in thin layers and placed in the oven of the stove for three or four hours should give good control. The temperature in the oven should be kept at 150 degrees Fahrenheit.

Carbon disulphide (high life) is an inexpensive fumigant that will give good control of insects in any kind of dried food. Although it has a very pungent odor it can be used without injury to the food materials treated. Carbon disulphide gives off a gas that is heavier than air. For that reason the fruit or other materials to be fumigated should be placed in cans, boxes, or barrels that are tight enough to hold water. Otherwise, the gas will leak out before the insects are killed. Place the desired amount of high life in a shallow container, such as a tin plate, and place it on top of the fruit. Close the container and leave it undisturbed for thirty-six hours.

For one peck of dried fruit use 3 tablespoosful of high life. For one-half bushel, use one-half tea cup of high life. For one bushel, use one tea cup full of high life. For larger quantities, use eight to ten pounds of high life per 1,000 cubic feet of air space. Treat when the air temperature is 70 degrees Fahrenheit, or above.

When HEADACHE Is Due To Constipation

Often one of the first-felt effects of constipation is a HEADACHE. Get at the bottom of the trouble with a dose or two of Thedford's Black-Draught. Don't strangle nature's outcry with mere pain-killers, but relieve the constipation — enjoy the refreshing relief which thousands of people have reported from the use of Black-Draught in such conditions.

Black-Draught is made of finely powdered leaves and roots of approved medicinal plants.

Mr. L. P. Duncan, 329 W. Lincoln St., Tullahoma, Tenn., writes: "A few weeks ago I had headache. Having Black-Draught on hand and knowing it was good, I took it and it relieved me. A few nights ago I took it again with splendid results." PSA-18

Thedford's

BLACK-DRAUGHT

Sold by druggists, in 25¢ packages.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Light delivery truck; first class condition; real good truck for $75

One 1925 Model FORD Touring—A bargain for $10

BATES AUTO SHOP

Clanton - - - Alabama

DEMABEL'S Beauty Salon

FINGER WAVES
Wet—35c
Dry—50c
Marcel 75c
Haircut 25c
"Look Your Best"

WADESONIAN PROGRAMS

Wednesday and Thursday
September 16th and 17th

Betty Compson and Gilbert Emery, In "THE LADY REFUSES"—All Talking

Friday and Saturday
September 18th and 19th

Tom Tyler, In 'WEST OF CHEYENNE"—All Talking
Serial—"Spell of the Circus"—All Talking

Monday and Tuesday
September 21st and 22nd

Bert Lytell and Patsy Ruth Miller, In "LAST OF THE LONE WOLF" All Talking
COMEDY—All Talking

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Ala., as Second Class Mail Matter, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

Remember the good old days when you didn't have anything more important to worry about than whether the Giants or the Yankees would win the world series?

If Governor Alfalfa Bill Murray keeps on using his militia freely, he is going to get himself blackballed by Frederick Libby some of these days.

It is said that Russia's cotton crop this year will be sixty per cent greater than last year. Wonder how much greater it will be next year if American growers decide not to raise any?

Relief committees all over the country, in preparing for the worst, are acting very wisely. Usually when you prepare for the worst, it doesn't get that bad.

If the tariff and prohibition caused the depression in the United States, what caused the one in Great Britain?

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

The great common people have short memories, so the politicians tell us, but it is a fact that their memories are not any shorter than those of the politicians, if as short. For example: we are hearing a great deal of noise from free traders and internationalists—the two terms are of course almost synonymous—to the effect that the depression was caused by our high tariff. Yet, as every one knows, our present tariff law was not enacted until months after the crash in the stock market and the setting in of the depression in virulent form. And as to the tariff which preceded the present one, it is to be remembered that under it we enjoyed the greatest period of prosperity ever experienced by this or any other nation.

Since the depression is world-wide, coming with a deflation of the boom which followed the ending of the World War, it is evident that it cannot be cured by the tariff any more than that it was caused by the tariff. And yet there can be little doubt that the new tariff schedules have helped some, even though in most instances they are not yet high enough to equalize the cost of production at home and abroad. Two industries which begin to show signs of coming out of the slump at this time are the textile and shoe industries, and these are two which, it was expected, the new tariff rates would help.

In an address at Binghamton, N. Y., recently Secretary of Labor Doak declared that the shoe industry in the United States is now operating on an average of ninety per cent and is the first to show definite improvement; and he added that "What I have said about boots and shoes applies equally to leathers, for before the present tariff act, vast quantities of leathers of various kinds were being imported into the United States to the detriment of our tanning industry, and that is another reason why our present tariff law protects the American tanning industry and its workmen." Mr. Doak noted also that the number of employees in the cotton textile industry increased notably in July over July of last year, and he added that there has been a decided increase in the number of employees engaged in the manufacture of woolen and worsted goods "despite the decline in the number of employees in some other lines not protected by the tariff." Here is at least a part of the story concerning the new tariff and it is by no means a discouraging one. It is true that out foreign trade is lower than a year ago, but this is on account of lower prices and the decreased purchasing power in America and abroad, and it is noteworthy that imports of commodities on which there are no duties have decreased as much if not more than the imports of those which have to pay a tariff, showing that the new tariff law itself is not responsible for the decrease in our foreign trade.

One commodity we are sure to hear something about in the coming session of Congress is oil. Independent producers from the Southwest are going to ask for a tariff on the importation of oil and oil products, stating that there is no use in their curtailing production, if the country is to be flooded with imports. The old cry of the free traders will be raised to the effect that we ought to import oil and save our own product for the future.

But the old argument is about worn out. Long before our oil reserves run out there is little doubt that the nations of the world will be using something other than gasoline for motive power. In a 1,000 page book entitled "Petroleum," recently issued by Ralph Arnold and William J. M. Kemnitzer, well known and reputable geologists, it is estimated that there is now a 500-year oil supply in the United States. Who expects the American people to be using gasoline for motive power that long? The book asserts that less than two per cent of the oil has been produced to date.

"This is a startling revelation," Mr. Kemnitzer said, "and it controverts undisputably the conversation propaganda that has constantly been put forth since the beginning of the industry.

"Just as startling is the fact that there has not been overproduction, but rather underproduction, of oil in the United States. The huge surpluses have been built up by imports of cheap oil."

Here is the answer to the free traders again. They would have us buy foreign oil and keep our own oil locked in the earth until it will be no longer of importance industrially. Another case of Europe and Asia first. Destroy American business to help the rest of the world.

MUSIC IN THE SOUL

"Music is as old as creation itself. A good definition of music has never been given to the world because true understanding of it cannot be expressed. The depth and breadth of the soul are its only measure, and the larger the soul, the better will be its understanding of music.

"There is music that touches only the physical; the lilt of it calls forth action; the hearers desire to dance and to move the body in rhythm to its cadence and strains. The soul does not register this music; it does not interpret it.

"The master musician who interprets soul music rarely ever reaches the heights without suffering and heartache. It is the price he must pay.

"It is said the silver-throated mocking bird never sings so sweetly as when its heart has been broken by being caged. The musician can never interpret soul music until his heart has been broken.—Judge Leon McCord.

Kings of the financial world no longer attend prize fights. They have plenty of fighting nowadays at home when the wife wants 75 cents to get her shoes half-soled.—Miami Daily News.

Of course one way Great Britain could reduce expenses would be to cut down her navy, which is much larger than any other in the world. But you haven't heard anybody over there suggest that, have you?

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

Had a letter this last week from a lawyer friend who loves God and who is trying to do right. He said: "I have studied much over the questions and problems of today, and have come to the conclusion that we could solve all problems of society, business and church if we would obey the command 'Do Right'." That lawyer is a man with a wise head. We hear men talking of "what is wrong with the world" and the answer always goes back to the wickedness of men. If you want to lift the depression—"Do Right." If you want to purify society—"Do Right." If you want new life in your church—"Do Right." If you would stop so much stealing and killing—"Do Right." If you want new leadership in national affairs—"Let everybody do right." We do wrong of our own free will and accord, and so we have no one to blame for our hard times but our own dear selves. The wrong side of life is in the saddle, on top, and it is now time that we put the right side up, by everybody doing right.

Was over in East Mississippi the other day. A physician visited that community while I was there. While in that section he decided that he needed some "Shine" to brace up his nerves, and so he went to a young man and asked him if he could help him to a "Bootlegger." He was told that he could, and in a few minutes he came back to his companions with it "on his hip," and some of it down his throat. What a shame. Of all people on earth who should refrain from drinking it a physician. I hate whiskey like I hate a rattle snakes. A mad dog in Clanton is of less danger to our boys and girls than is a bootlegger. If the dog bites, the injured can be treated and saved, but if the bootlegger gets in his dirty work, the injured is hopelessly runined. There are some fine spirited people in this section who have "their bootlegger," and they are playing with a rattle snake. Would that I could save them from the harm that is certain to come. When a doctor, when a business man, when a professional man, when a farmer, when a teacher, begins to drink, he can cease to worry about his future, for he has none. Whiskey is the most deadly thing in American life. The man who follows it, follows it to certain ruin.

One day I saw a boy take hold of a wire that had 110 volts of electricity on it, and he was shocked, but he managed to fling the wire from his hand. He could turn it loose, because the charge was not sufficient to hold him. This is sad to relate, but while I was pastor at Tuskegee, I saw a boy of sixteen who ran up to a wire that was hanging down in the road and laid hold of it with both hands. There were 2,100 volts on that wire, and the boy could not turn it loose. He fell to the ground and his clothes caught on fire. His step-mother ran out to where he was and she too was caught within the circle of the current, and fell to the ground in flames. The next day I conducted a double funeral. All because two people were caught by a current that they could not let go. When you see a man who is caught in a small temptation, if he uses good sense, he can let it go. The power of evil may shock him, but he can turn it loose while he is master of himself. Before a man gets to drinking hard, he can let go his bottles and be a man, but if he swings to the drink habit, the time is not long before the currents of habit are so strong and his life is so charged, until he can not let go. Friends, if you have started to drinking, you had better let go before it is too late. If you have started out on the primrose path, you had better let go before you will be caught with a habit that you can not master. It is pitiful to see men and women caught in the currents of whiskey, impurity and then see them stay there and burn out the flame of life. I have conducted many funerals that ought not to have been, and all because people were caught in currents of sin that they could not let go.

One day last spring I was talking with a friend and he remarked to me: "I am thinking of plowing up that field and planting it in corn." It was a beautiful, fertile strip of land, and I was sure that if it was planted that it would make a good harvest. I was at that man's home a few days ago and the field was growing over with weeds and bushes. I asked him why he never planted the field as he had stated in the spring? Here is the reply: "I discovered that it was easier to think about it, than it was to do it, and so I just thought." There are many things in this life that are easier to think about doing than it is to do them. I was talking to a man not long since about some of his waysthat were ruining him, and he said: "I am thinking about quitting my old life, turn over a new leaf and live right." That man has not done that act of turning yet. It is easier to think than it is to do. Some man, some woman, is going to read this, who has been thinking for some time that you would quit some of your bad ways of living. What are you going to do about it? Just take it out in thinking? Let me tell you something, the time has come for action. You have been thinking long enough. The night is coming, the day is drawing to a close, the summer will soon be ended, and there will be nothing growing in your life that is worth while. When you think right, get busy at once and act on your thoughts.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Friends—Here I am, on the air again—or maybe it's "in" the air again. The reason for making this little allowance is that a very good friend told me last week that I was all "up in the air" on certain things. Well, what does that heading up there say about where I am? If I'm in the moon, and the moon is in the air, where else could I be but in the air? Just what that "friend" was referring to last week was what I had to say about this Long cotton plan. Just the same, I'm glad I have friends to point out to me my shortcomings. I don't and can't hope to be right ALL of the time, can I? Yet, some of the time, when people tell me I am wrong, they don't convince me. Nevertheless, whether you agree with me or not, I am ALWAYS glad to have a line from any of my friends giving me your opinion on what I have to say from time to time.

Over Half Talk—One morning last week, as I was making the rounds of the town in search of something of interest to write about, I came upon a man with a box of scuppernongs, selling them out at a nickel a quart. And, by the way, he was another one of my best friends, none other than Uncle George Willis. Every once in a few minutes some scalawag would come along and take advantage of Uncle George's good nature by swiping a sample handful of his fruit. I offered the suggestion that at the rate he was selling his wares, those scalawags might purchase a quart. Now, Uncle George never gets mad—at least I've never seen him when he looked man—and he's a very wise man, too. He winked his good eye at me and said that maybe that sampler had been hit harder by the panic than he had been, and that anybody who would tell him he wasn't able to buy a handful of scuppernongs was perfectly welcome to them—FREE. Realizing that I was talking to a very very wise man, one who can say two things while speaking only once, I took advantage of the chance and asked Uncle George what his opinion of the hard times was. He was ready with an answer—a heady one, too, if you ask me. "Times are what we make them, in most cases," he said; "the so-called panic we are in right now is more than half talk." There's no question about it—Uncle George hit the nail on the head that time—but he's good at that—that's why he is considered wise. Would that we had more like Uncle George—people who try to be too busy beating the hard times to have so much to say about them.

Hitch-Hikers—Despite the fact that lots of people keep on thinking that we are in a rut we can't get out of, from time to time I notice things that cause me to believe that even now times, in general, are not as bad as they were a year ago. If you drive on the highway much I know you can't help noting that there are not nearly so many hitch-hikers, people who are walking through from north to south, or south to north—as in the immediate past. Our paved road being one of the principal cross country routes, last year saw lots of this going on, but it isn't as bad this year. I believe this is a good pointer that times are not as hard as they were, and that jobs are easier to get, and this, in turn, would lead one to believe that more is being done over the country. There are lots of other like pointers to this effect, too, such as bigger bank clearings, bigger deposit totals, shorter soup lines, etc., in the cities. Prices of farm produce may not be any higher than at this time a year ago, but a dollar will buy more in case you have one to spend.

A Man's Job—Not long ago, on the editorial page of an outstanding Southern daily newspaper, President Hoover was accused of being "lacking in courage" in handling the tight national situation. Another article in that issue stated that it would take "a man with more than average optimism and courage to offer himself for the job of United States President for the next term, in the face of the great difficulties to be overcome in bringing the country back to normalcy." The article ran thus: "It is bound to be a super-human job to straighten out the tangled economic situation. We do not envy the next president his job. And, furthermore, it will take an avowed optomist to even tackle the job. In case such 'next president' does make a success of this job, he can have our vote as a companion 'great' along with George Washington and Horatio of bridge defense fame." Still, in that very same issue, the front page carried a headline all the way across that President Hoover was expected to offer his services in the next presidental race. Now, some fellow must have got his wires crossed. Either that or the editor was short on something to write about. Such utterances do not make sense. If Mr. Hoover was "lacking in courage," and yet was "worthy of consideration along with George Washington" when it comes to offering his services on a super-human job—well, I can't connect the editor's contentions—they don't jibe. Yellow paint doesn't paint red. The fact that Mr. Hoover offered for the next term in the face of the difficulties to be overcome should be evidence enough as to his courage. And Mr. Hoover's bitterest national enemies have long since stopped laying the bad economic situation at his door, if they have EVER done so in good faith. His record, including the dark World War days bear mute testimony of his courage and ability to handle big jobs in a big job manner. Sensible people know that the period of depression was just another one of those things we couldn't forestall. It had to come. And there is no man better fitted to lead us in solving our problems than Mr. Hoover. Remember, Moses had his troubles in leading his people out of the wilderness, but he led them out.

The Once-Over—Messrs. Grover Harris and John Armstrong discussing the Dixie baseball champ series—they believe Clanton should be represented in the stands opening day; there goes the "King of Suds"—Leo Thompson, himself—eye shade, bull dog and all—and in a hurry, as usual, too; "Red" Wagoner returning from his round of golf—somebody kidding him about when he expects to don his knickers; John VanDerveer struts down the avenue—probably has his eye on an insurance prospect—John's good at that: Mr. Stapp in a big hurry to get somewhere—fact is, I'd like to see him when he wasn't hurrying; Dewey Rockett snoozing in the shade—taking life easy; Sheriff Gillespie with a still on his car—the usual crowd rounds our corner to see who was caught with it; Prof. Warr buys his groceries—believes in being well fed, and looks it, too: Tom Tiffin going somewhere in a hurry—I believe he's on his way home to lunch; and doing so much talking about eating makes me think maybe there might be some leftovers at home—it's worth looking after.—

THE REMMEDY IS WITH THE PEOPLE

(By George B. Lockwood)

Taxation has become one of our most pressing national, state and local problems. It deserves more popular attention. The time has come when the burdens of taxation are threatening the livelihood of the people, the stability of business, the very perpetuity of government. Just recently a government has fallen in England because its people have been put hopelessly into debt.

The reasons taxes have soared so rapidly are apparent. We had a private spending orgy during the World War and afterward. Extravagance got into the blood of the American people. Recent events have cooled that fever in individuals, from necessity. But the resources of the government are still unexhausted. Taxing bodies have unlimited control over everybody's property, and the bottom of that barrel has not been reached.

Public officials are not primarily to blame for these mounting public expenditures and taxes, except in so far as they fail to see to it that a dollar in value is secured for every dollar in expenditure. They are brought about as a result of local and personal organized demands. In these demands general considerations are lost sight of, each group believing that it is well to get everything possible while the getting is good. Many of those who complain most loudly about high taxes are among those whose demands have made these high taxes inevitable.

Properly, government is doing more and more in support of education, roads, police protection and in fulfillment of other duties of government to the people. Public expenditures grow rapidly enough in meeting the proper demands for increased public service. We do not want to go back to the mud roads and log school houses of our forefathers. On the other hand, we do not want to go broke trying to do things on too costly and extragant a scale.

If the stories of hardship imposed on farmers, home-owners, mercantile concerns and industries by reason of taxes becoming almost confiscatory could be told, it would be a tragic tale. It is possible for government through excessive taxation to bankrupt the people, destroy their prosperity, undermine the very security of orderly government.

What is the answer? Only one is possible. Those who bear the brunt of taxation should be organized, so that their demand will influence the action of public officials and make them understand that they will be protected in resisting unwise demands and in curbing extravagance in using tax money, and will be punished if they fail to offer resistence. And those who bear the burden of these taxes are not merely the taxpayers but all those who pay rent or bear in any other way the cost of their own living into which taxes enter as a fixed charge.

Without regard to political, religious, occupational or factional affiliation an organization should be effected, in this and every other county, in order that the light of day may be put on the taxation situation and present and future abuses stopped. Such an organization should not be dominated by selfish tight-wads opposed to all public improvements. It should have enrolled in it every citizen who feels concern for the future financial and moral solvency of his community and country. By such a large and influential body such controversies as those now going on almost everywhere could be scrutinized, and the facts determined in the light of public interest rather than of personal or political advantage.

The first thing you know, that Senate committee investigating Bishop Cannon is going to prove that some Republican leaders were actually opposed to Al Smith in the 1928 campaign.

It is said that the new books presented to the American reading public this fall will be greatly improved in quality. It is to be hoped that all of the improvement will not be in the quality of the bindings and paper.

According to the financial news, Uncle Sam has more than half of the world's supply of gold. Well, where is it, anyhow?

HOME EXERCISE —

With all this surplus of cotton maybe the boll weevil was the best friend the cotton farmer had after all.

Some fellows wouldn't mind being hit with a brick if it should turn out to be one of those wine bricks.

A Boston pilot flew over his home and dropped fifteen dollars to his wife after she phoned him at the airport and told him that she needed it immediately. Certainly not the first man to go up in the air when his wife asks for money.

If mama wants to be convinced that she isn't as young is she used to be, let her try on one of those Empress Eugenie hats in front of a high power mirror.

The depression has made things easier for the chronic loafer. He no longer has to invent excuses for not working as he did back in 1929.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of
September 13, 1906

Capt. J. J. Hawthorne died at his home in Thorsby Monday, September 10th. He was former Sheriff of Wilcox County, and was captain in the War between the States.

Clanton Academy opened Monday with 86 pupils.

A. B. Deason has just recovered from a 40-days' siege of fever.

Newt Wilson was killed while coupling a train at Yolande, 30 miles west of Birmingham, on last Monday.

Alex Longville died at Thorsby last Monday afternoon.

A group of citizens of Thorsby met and formed and board of trustees for Thorsby Institute last week. William J. Lamkie will be principal this year.

Married this week: David Curlee and Miss Lillie Nix; C. B. Owen and Miss Mandie Rainwater.

E. M. Pinckard is just recovering from a spell of fever.

Prof. Rasco opened his school at Jemison Monday with 70 on roll.

Union Point is advertising for a school teacher through Jno. S. Dennis.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Gone To Birmingham, Perhaps

If any of us happen to come up missing yesterday or today, it is most likely we are gone to Birmingham to see a part of the Dixie Series between Birmingham and Houston. Dizzy Dean has stirred up as much curiosity as Bill Hallahan did a few years ago.

The Best Golf Player

They say we are to have a golf turnament beginning Saturday of this week. This will establish the fact as to who is the best player in the Clanton Club. I am glad of it. There are so many claiming the honor, you can't tell who to believe.

Something To Live For

"Are you looking for something to live for, or something to live on?" This question was developed by Rev. Ezell in his sermon last Sunday at the Baptist Church. It stuck hard and fast in my mind. There is much danger that we may become so engrossed about something to live on that we forget the biggest purpose in our lives—to find something to live for.

Hired To Whittle

They tell me that Tom Rockett has hired a man to whittle for him next Saturday. Yes, whittle. Whittle on sticks with a pocket knife I thought to myself, what in the world could have possessed Tom to hire a man for such foolish pastime? The whittling is to be at Rockett's hardware store, and I for one am going to see what kind of a trick there is to it.

A New Coat Of Paint

Posey Marcus and his crew of painters are engaged this week in applying a new coat of paint to the exterior wood work and metal cornice of the Clanton Baptist Church. It will make the building look much better. It has been ten years since the church was built. I wonder if that is the first new paint it has had in all that time.

Connatser Gone To Cleveland

A letter from Broadus Connatser last week stated that he was leaving New Orleans Sunday night for Cleveland, where he will join the Indians for the balance of this season. When his purchase by Cleveland was announced a few weeks ago, it was stated that he would report at the beginning of next season. Something happened to cause his immediate journeying to the Ohio city. He will go around the American League circuit before the end of the present season.

Still Talking About Cotton

The papers, the radio, the air, everything is full of talk about the cotton situation. Nothing has been done yet. But I hope that some progress has been made toward doing something. No cotton in 1932 seems to be the predominant idea among farmers of the South. This does not suit the cotton oil mill folks and the fertilizer people. What do we care what suits those fellows? The cotton farmer is the man we want to save. No cotton in 1932 is his salvation.

I Think This Is Correct

Two negroes met on the street. One of them said, "What is us niggers goin' to do to bring about better times?" The reply of the other negro was, "Us niggers can't do nothin' to bring better times. What us got to do is learn how to make out wid dese times we got." I think that is good philosophy not only for the negroes, but us white folks as well. The tide of business will some day rise higher than it is now. Meanwhile we have got to make out with the times as they are.

About Reducing Taxes

I hear it said that the State Tax Commission has lopped off over a million dollars of the valuation of Alabama Power Company property in Chilton County this year. This, together with a reduction last year, it is said, takes off two millions from the power company valuation in the two years. This I believe they say, figures about 12 to 15 per cent of the tax values of Chilton County and will reduce the tax revenue of the county about forty thousand dollars per year. Now, what do you think of that? Several thousand of this loss in revenue will be applied to our schools, which are already faced with a problem as puzzling as the cotton situation. All we are living for is to see what is coming next.

The Driver Went To Sleep

The driver of a truck went to sleep. His machine speeding on its way struck a young man walking along the highway. Another tragedy. Death stalks abroad day and night on our public highways. How often do we hear that the driver went to sleep and thereby caused an accident. Law making authorities may well consider the wisdom of enacting statutes that will tend to regulate the practice of driving motor vehicles for unreasonably long hours at a time.

How About A Dog Panic?

Frank Massey offers a good suggestion. He says since there is a panic of every other kind you can think of, how about making a dog panic? We have more useless, good for nothing dogs than you can shake a stick at. Any way you want to go at night you can see from a dozen to forty or fifty dogs loafing up and down the roads. A dog has to be a mighty good dog to be worth his keeping. And a man who has a dog worth keeping is not going to let him run at large at night. We need a dog panic.

The farmer may be the "orphan child of Amercian politics" as Governor Pinchot says, but during the campaign at least, every politician of Governor Pinchot's type seems to want to adopt the orphan.

A great many authorities are telling us that Germany can pay no more reparations, but it seems to us that this is something for England and France to worry about. Germany doesn't owe us any reparations.

Chemists now announce that they can produce silk synthetically and we suppose it won't be long now until there will be general unemployment among the silkworms, too.

One of our married friends says that no matter if he installed a cooling system in his home his wife would make it hot for him every time he stepped inside.

Prosperity seems about as hard to find these days as a collar button that rolls under the chiffonier.

It is said that two million women in America are getting alimony, and yet there are some people who want Uncle Sam to take on the dole, too.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E Norton, Manager)

Dr. S. C. Wood and family expect to leave Thorsby Wednesday of this week for Uvalda, Texas, where he, in company with his brother, also a physician, have bought a hospital, which will afford practice for both in the particular specialty each has prepared himself for.

During the 12 years they have resided in Thorsby, the Doctor has established an enviable reputation as a skillful physician and surgeon. He will be greatly missed by many in Chilton County who have from time to time been under his care. We wish him success in his new enterprise.

Rev. and Mrs. Each entertained at dinner Monday Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard.

Miss Roma Lee Pate left Monday to enter Freed and Hardman College at Henderson, Tenn.

Rev. Each will preach at the Congregational Church at 11 a. m., next Sunday morning. At 7:45 p. m., there will be a song service. It is hoped there will be a good attendance. The choir will be augmented by Thorsby Institute students and others will be in the audience to help. Miss Thoroman will also be with us again.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Frank Nelson next Thursday afternoon, September 17th. Ladies of Thorsby and vicinity are invited.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen had as Sunday dinner guests Mrs. E. W. Christ and family, also her son, Arthur P. Villadsen, with his wife and two children.

Mr. R. R. Franklin, with Sam Pate and Kendall Franklin, spent a few days fishing at Orange Beach, Fla., last week.

The next Ladies Guild Social will be held at the home of Mrs. Wilder Thursday afternoon, September 24, but Mrs. Bob Davenport will be the hostess.

The annual reception given to Thorsby Institute faculty and students by the ladies of the guild will be on Friday evening, September 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lucas, Mrs. Perry and Glenn Perry of West Blocton, Ala., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Piper.

Judge and Mrs. O. D. Street and Mrs. Curd of Birmingham were Monday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Piper.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pate, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walker and H. L. Collins spent Sunday with relatives at Deatsville.

Charles Croker has returned from his home to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Piper while attending Thorsby Institute. He is also a member of Boy Scout troop 43 of Thorsby.

In a recent conversation with Mrs. C. M. Williams, and her daughter, Martha, who has now returned to the State School for the Blind, at Talladega, some very interesting things concerning the blind children and the instructions given them were brought out.

When Mrs. Williams took Martha to Calera, to get a train for Talladega, there were at the station about a dozen blind children also waiting for that train. Having been together before they knew each other by their voices and were soon talking and laughing like people who can see all right.

At the school they are taught not only reading, writing and arithmetic, but also how to do many things that will help them to be self-supporting. For instance, the girls of the graduates from their high school last June each made her own graduating dress and they were all well done.

In the domestic science department, they learn to cook. Martha said she and another girl visited some blind girl friends, where there was nobody at home except three blind girls, without any aid these girls set about getting supper, wherein every item was well prepared, and Martha said their salad was the best she ever tasted.

Their reading and writing is in Brail, embossed or raised letters, which they read readily by touch with the tips of their fingers. Their figures are the first ten letters of the alphabet. A for 1, B for 2, and C for 3. Much of their figuring is done mentally, in which they become very quick and expert, doing even long examples in algebra. The students are trained to Sunday school, church and Christian Endeavor.

They get about, wherever they want to go in a manner simply marvelous to people who can see. But a curious fact is, when it rains they lose all sense of direction. They call rain "blind man's darkness."

They learn music both instrumental add vocal, and have an orchestra and choral society. They give plays and even operettas very succesfully. Altogether to those born blind there is much that is good and beautiful in life that they get through the sharpening of other senses as compensations for loss of sight.

Having graduated from high school, Martha is now taking teacher training, physical culture, typewriting, music, and tecahing in third grade arithmetic. She is a fine young woman of whom we are all proud, and we believe she will find an important place in her future environment.

The Y. W. A. will meet at 4 p. m. this week, Friday, with Miss Myradine Martin. All members are expected to be present.

Miss Ruth Peterson and Mr. Sam Bailey of Birmingham were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson. Miss Ruth will remain several days as she is taking her vacation.

Mrs. Theron South returned to her home in Birmingham Sunday after visiting two weeks with her mother, Mrs. George Freeman, in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bice gave a farewell party to Dr. and Mrs. Wood last Monday evening.

Ralph and Conradine Pate gave a farewell party to Frank Wood Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Merchant spent Sunday with kinfolks in Centerville.

Miss Nettie Littlejohn, who has been in a Birmingham hospital about two weeks for an operation for appendicitis, has returned to her home in Thorsby.

Miss Lois Primm left Monday for Queens Chicora College at Charlotte, N. C.

Mrs. J. F. Peterson and daughter, Ruth, and Mrs. Carl Peterson and daughters, Dorothy and Norma, spent Friday with relatives in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Petersen entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Billie Cox, Misses Ellen and Lettie Martin and their daughter, Rachel Petersen, all of Birmingham.

Mr. Leo Langston, son of J. H. Langston, of Jemison, who graduated from Thorsby Institute in 1922, was a brief visitor at Thorsby Institute Saturday. He was accompanied by his wife, whom he married last June. For several years previous to her merriage she had been supervisor of elementary schools in Bibb County. Mr. Langston has been for several years principal of Russellville Public School with 800 students enrolled. As their school building was recently destroyed by fire, they will not open until January 1st.

Thorsby public school opened Monday morning of this week with a full corps of teachers and an enrollment of 121 students, which Prof. W. T. Bean, the principal, says is just about half of those who may be expected. Besides Prof. Bean, members of the faculty are Percy Johnson, first assistant; Miss Lillian Deason, second assistant; Miss Clara Vines, third assistant; Miss Juanita Connatser, fourth assistant, and Mrs. Bertie McNeil, primary teacher. Mr. Johnson will coach the boys in athletics. The ninth grade students will all go to Thorsby Institute this year.

Mr. Johnson will be remembered as a Jemison boy, who graduated at Thorsby Institute, then went to Stetson University, in Florida, where he graduated and now comes back to us fully qualified for the position he holds.

There was a marriage in Thorsby Saturday afternoon, at the home of Rev. E. W. Butler, who officiated.

When Yancey Kelley brought his sister, Janie, from their home near Andalusia, to take up her student work in Thorsby Institute, he was accompanied by two young women and his brother, Hosey Kelley, who, with one of the ladies were the contracting parties. Misses Janie Kelley, Lois Leech, with Yancey and the other young woman were invited guests. After the ceremony the out of town people went to Birmingham for their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive have returned from a ten days visit in Georgia and are now at home in one of Thorsby Institute houses on the hill.

The mayor, Mr. Petersen, says a good many complaints have been made of people in town regarding mosquitoes and it seems that a likely breeding place for them is in the sanitary toilets installed over the town about a year ago. Instructions for maintaining these pits pest-free are posted on walls of each such building and the liberal use of kerosene in these pits should soon rid us of these pests. Also, if you have high weeds or tin cans about your property, which would be breeding places, clean them up without being forced to do so.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph E. Each returned from a trip to West Florida last Friday, bringing with them Misses Elizabeth Wells, Camilla McCallum and Mabel McCallum, and Messrs. J. T. Faircloth and T. A. McCallum, who are students in Thorsby Institute for this year.

Students are coming in for the opening of Thorsby Institute. The following have come in within the last few days: Janie Kelley, Andalusia; Odell and Evie Lee Rowe, Camp Hugh; Olean Hybart and Elma Roof Pitts, Pigeon Creek; Nelle and Katholene McLendon, Milford, Ga.; Winnie Boring, Demorest, Ga.; and Donald Long, Midland City.

Miss Lillian McKee of Lineville, Miss Onita Klingelhoefer of Beaver, Pennsylvania, Miss Jennie May Thoroman of Cincinnati, and Mr. Clyde B. King of Greenwood, Ohio, all tecahers in Thorsby Institute, have returned to begin their work for the year.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins, principal of the Thorsby Institute, returned Sunday. She was accompanied by her father, Dr. F. E. Jenkins, of La Grange, Ga. Miss Jenkins has been abroad this summer. Her friends welcome her back to Thorsby.

Miss Mabel Johnson entertained a number of her friends at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. V. Littleton, on Saturday night, September 5. Interesting games and music were enjoyed by all. Those present were: Misses Edna Lee Wilder, Kathryn Lenoir, Edna Raybon, Letha Mae Martin, Gussie and Marzelle Cassel, Mr. Jessie Smith, Robert Johnson, Otis Robinson, Amos Reed, Floyd Harold, Penny Davis, Leon and Clarence Taylor. An enjoyable time was reported.

Miss Mary Wyrosrick, Mrs. Ruth Griffin and children, Buster, Billy, and Kathryn, of Dothan are spending a few days with Mrs. Griffin's sister, Mrs. N. Johnson, in Thorsby.

Miss Mabel Johnson and Kathryn Lenoir were dinner guests of Miss Letha Mae Martin Sunday.

Mrs. E. V. Littleton entertained a few friends to dinner last Saturday night in honor of Mr. Littleton's birthday. Afterwards an ice course was served to the following: Mrs. Ruth Griffin, Miss Mary Wyrosdick, Miss Mabel Johnson, Mr. Leon and Clarence Taylor, Floyd Harold, Robert Johnson and Woodie Eades.

Miss Jennye Robinson has returned home after spending several weeks in Florida.

Mr. Henry Robinson was guest of his mother, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, Sunday.

Mrs. Margaret Mendenhall of Prattville is the guest of her niece, Mrs. Nels Petersen.

Miss Sadie Shannon of Montgomery was the week end guest of her sister, Mrs. Nels Petersen.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Garthright and Mrs. Colly Summerville of Prattville were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Petersen last Saturday.

Miss Naemi Turnquist and Christina Bosworth of Selma spent the week end at home.

Mr. C. R. Foss and A. E. Reagan motored to Birmingham Friday on business.

Master Leonard Bosworth entertained ten little boys September 10. Various games were played, after which ice cream and cake were served. Those present were: Reno Viladsen, Clarence Horton, Horace Bean, Calvin Pate, H. L. Collins, Carl and John Foss, Arthur Nelson, Helen Louise Mead and Bobby Foss; Mr. C. P. Turnquist, Mrs. Foss, Mrs. Reagan, and Mrs. Russell Peterson.

Mrs. M. E. Willis is spending this week in Haynes and Indian Grave with relatives.

The tacky party given by the Y. W. A. at the home of M. E. Willis Wednesday night was very much enjoyed by about 30 people. There were several contests in which the winners were given suckers. The cracker relay was won by Ralph Pate. He was given a baked potato. Mrs. Engene Davenport and Buck Littleton won two Baby Ruths for being the tackiest couple.

Miss Letha Mae Martin spent Sunday night in Clanton with relatives.

Mrs. E. L. Pate entertained last Friday. The home was decorated with garden flowers. After games an ice course was served the following: Mrs. Grover Bice, Mrs. Flem Higgins, Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway, Mrs. Mack Gray, Mrs. Blood, Mrs. Clarence Horton, Miss Marie Powers, Miss Edith Johnson, Miss Ella Howard and Miss Dorothy Butler.

Mr. Nels Nelson who is employed as chemist for the Gulf Refining Company of Philadelphia, has returned after spending two weeks vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson.

Miss Annie Lou Arthur of Midland City is spending several days with her sister, Miss Odie Lee Arthur, before returning to Piedmont College, where she will be a senior this year.

Mrs. H. V. Thompson of Birmingham is enjoying a two weeks vacation with relatives in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jasperson of Birmingham spent several days this week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Thompson and Mrs. L. E. Thornburgh.

Aunt Mary Stange celebrated her 84th birthday last Sunday. Her grand daughter, Miss Effie Lou Nugent, of Birmingham, and several other relatives and friends from that city came to help her celebrate the day.

Mr. Clinton Arthur of Montgomery, and brother of Miss Odie Lee Arthur, was a visitor in Thorsby Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moody of Birmingham spent the week end in Thorsby at the home of Mrs. Moody's mother, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mead were visitors in Birmingham last Saturday.

After spending a couple of months in the North, Miss Esther Johnson returned home last Saturday, returning to Birmingham Sunday to take up her work in the Birmingham schools.

BARNEY ABBOTT IS SENT TO SCHOOL

Barney Abbott, a blind boy 17 years of age, left a few days ago to resume his studies at the school for the blind, in Talledga. He has already spent three years at the school, and was not able to return this year on his own resources.

Through an appeal to Mr. Stapp, his case was brought to the attention of a number of Clanton business men, who contributed different items of clothing and the necessary money to make it possible for the boy to return to school. The boy's home is at Pletcher.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

We had a large crowd attend Sunday school Sunday morning, for which we were very glad indeed.

We are hoping and praying that we will continue to have a large crowd with us every Sunday to help us carry on our work for God and for the help of the church and God's people. We invite everybody to come and be with us and help us carry out our Sunday school. Sunday school begins at 10:00 o'clock.

First Fisherman: "Why are you changing your position, Jack?"

Second Fisherman (on the move): "I couldn't stand the uncertainty up there by Jackson; he's got hiccups, and it made his float look as though he gas getting a bite all the time."

Miss Inzer Parrish of Birmingham was a visitor to Clanton Sunday.

POOR SLEEP DUE TO GAS IN UPPER BOWEL

Poor sleep is caused by gas pressing heart and other organs. You can't get rid of this by just doctoring the stomach because most of the gas is in the UPPER bowel.

The simple German remedy, Adlerika, reaches BOTH upper and lower bowel, washing out poisons which cause gas, nervousness, bad sleep. Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect. You will say the day you read this was sure a lucky day for you.—Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Eddie Ward, of Lomax, wishes to express his thanks for the kindness of his neighbors and friends in helping Mr. and Mrs. Mac Connell in recovering their losses sustained when their home was burned on June 29th. Also Mr. Ward is grateful to those who helped him in the work of rebuilding the house that was burned.

ALL DAY SINGING AT MT. SPRINGS SEPT. 20

There will be an all day (Sacred Harp) singing at Mountain Springs Church next Sunday, September 20. Every one invited to come and bring well-filled baskets.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Willie Nell Burnett celebrated her fifth birthday last Friday afternoon. She took her little friends out under a big tree and played a few games, and about four o'clock she cut her birthday cake with five little candles, and an ice cream course was served to the following: Lorene, Louise and Owen Riggins, Mary Lucy and Jou Littlejohn, Dorothy Nell Hayes, Lora Mae Cooper, Charles Williams, B. J. Littlejohn, and Willie Nell Burnett. Several presents were given the little hostess. They all report a big time.

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

We met Sunday morning and reorganized our Sunday school; elected and re-elected officers and teachers. We are glad to say that both Sunday school and Christian Endeavor are gaining in attendance and interest and we hope they will continue to gain each Sunday.

Bro. Headley brought to us a wonderful gospel message Sunday night. He had as a subject, "The Need of Prayer." The service was well attended and I'm sure enjoyed by every one present.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams visited Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Williams of Billingsley Sunday afternoon and attended the funeral of Mr. Bud Harrell.

Misses Virginia Little and Allie Williams dined at the home of Misses Bessie and Jettie Williams Sunday.

Mr. W. A. Hynard and children and Mr. Lace Kynard of Selma spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Williams.

Miss Clara Dell Sims and little sister, Louise, visited at the home of Mrs. J. P. Williams Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Carson Williams spent the past week end with home folks.

We are sorry to know that Mrs Emma Williams is on the sick list this week. We hope she will soon recover.

Mr. Rother Chadwick is visiting at the Little home this week.

Mrs. Louise Kynard of Selma is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill and Mrs. Askins of Shiloh visited Mr. Jim Williams, who is very ill, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs R. A. Hicks and children of Billingsley spent Thursday of the past week with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Williams visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cox, during the past week end.

Remember next Sunday is our preaching day. Let's everybody come for Sunday school and preaching service.

THE LEADER WILL BE CLOSED NEXT MONDAY

Mr. Maurice Lande announces that his store, The Leader, will be closed next Monday, September 21, on account of Yom Kippur, the Jewish day of atonement.

A FEW FURNITURE BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK-END

Black Diamond and Blue Ribbon Ranges, fully guaranteed $24.50
($1.00 week)

Mattresses ..... $2.50, up
(50c week)

Iron Beds ..... $2.50 to $7.50
(50c week)

6 x 9 felt base Congoleum Floor Cover $3.50
(50c week)

Philco and Crosley Radios on easy payments

New Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets, nationally advertised 32.50
($1.00 down, $1.00 week)

Chifferobes, $19.50 to $24.50
($1.00 week)

Bed Room Suites, low as $39.50
($1.00 week)

Phonographs ..... $5.00, up
($1.00 week)

TIFFIN-KLINNER FURNITURE CO.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

FOOT BALL FRIDAY P. M.

Coach Walker announces that the first foot ball game of this season will be played Friday afternoon at Chilton County High School, when Isabella comes for a contest with C. C. H. S.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill-Pleasant Grove Singing Society met at Liberty Hill last Sunday afternoon and had a good singing. We had several visitors with us, and we invite them to come again.

Directors for the afternoon were: J. W. Lowery, George Chambers, Hiram Littlejohn, Mack Durbin, Zackie Lowery, Cecil Wilson, S. A. Henley, F. I. Popwell, Dr. Williams, Emmett Wilson, Houston Melton, D. T. Melton and Earl Williams. Several quartets were sung by Hiram Littlejohn Earl Williams, Herschel Lowery and Zackie Lowery.

Pianists were Miss Gertie Lee Lowery, Mrs. Gussie Williams, Mrs. Zella Scott, and Mrs. Emmett Wilson. Our singing society will meet with Pleasant Grove the fourth Sunday afternoon. Singers and lovers of music are invited.

ANNIE MAE BAKER DIED

Annie Mae Baker, age 12 years, daughter of the late Mon Baker, of Autauga County, died Tuesday morning at the Central Alabama Hospital. Death was caused by blood poisoning from a pimple on her lip. Burial was at Robbins cemetery south of Clanton Tuesday afternoon, with Martin in charge of arrangements.

MOUNTAIN SPRINGS

Some of the members of Mountain Springs went to Mr. Will Giles's and gave him a day's cotton picking Monday. Mr. Giles's wife has been sick several weeks.

Don't forget next Saturday is our preacher calling day, and annual conference day. Everybody be sure to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins from East View were visitors to Mr. Bud Coggins and family Saturday and Sunday.

Thomas and Dovard Moates have been sick with mumps for several days. Hope to see them out again soon.

Our Sunday school and Christain Endeavor are still doing nicely.

Mrs. A. R. Giles is on the sick list this week.

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

The Senior High School opened September 7 with a big enrollment. The faculty is giving splendid service, with Prof. J. E. Daniel of Lomax, Ala., history; Mr. Carlton E. White of Jacksonville, Science and mathematics; Miss Lettie Snider of Rockford, junior high school teacher; Miss Faye Coates of Fort Payne, English; Miss Dorothy Reynolds of Plantersville, home economics.

Messrs Jno. Alvin Foshee and Kermit Cobern left for the University at Tuscaloosa last week.

Charlie Haggard left Monday for Livingston; Abney Brown for Jacksonville; Miss Lucy Parnell entered Alabama College.

Miss Ethel Mize is delighted with her school at Lay Dam.

Miss Johnson of Rockford was guest of Mrs. C. N. Parnell last week.

Miss Elizabeth Parnell and some friends of Guntersville were week end guests of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Parnell.

Rev. Stafford of Plantersville filled his regular appointment at the M. E. Church.

Rev. Paul Oden will meet his regular appointment at the Baptist Crurch Sunday and Sunday evening. Everybody invited.

Mrs. Sallie Shanks is visiting relatives and friends in Selma.

Miss Bessie Merle Rackeard of Beuna Vista has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Northrope. She has accepted a position with Alabama Power Company.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Northrope will be pleased to learn he stood his trip back to Kerville, Texas, fine. He spent nearly five months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Northrope. His wife came after him.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

For more than nine months I have called upon the people in Clanton through the columns of your paper to worship every Sunday. I do not see that the appeals have done much good, but still I am using every means within my reach to create a church loyalty. There is coming a day when the sorrow of your life will be that you did not do as I have begged you. Will you not attend church next Sunday morning and night? Why not? Will your answer stand the test of the judgment?

At 11 a. m., we want you to hear "Comradeship with the Carpenter." At night we want you to hear an evangelistic sermon.

We want every departmental superintendent in our Sunday school to study his or her department and know its needs. We have got to have wide awake, growing Sunday school, or we must forever drag a dead church.

We are delighted to welcome Miss Margurite Kendrick into our church. She comes to us from the Methodist church of Luverne. Welcome, thrice welcome.

Who gets the Clock?

WHO HOLDS THE LUCKY DIAL?

Watch the Clock, which will be started at 12 o'clock, noon, Friday, September 18, and is supposed to run eight days.

WHEN IT STOPS

Whoever holds the Dial with hands corresponding in position to those on the Clock when it stops

WILL GET THE CLOCK

WRIGHT'S SODA FOUNTAIN

Thorsby, Alabama

Dress Them up for School

Boys All Wool Suits

That are positively outstading values. We have them in colors; sizes 7 years to 18 years, for

$3.50 to $5.00

Young Mens Suits

Sizes from 33 to 40; in all wool material. Positively values up to $17.50, for for $7.50

PANTS

You can hardly believe your eyes when you see such remarkable values in pants, for

98c $1.35 & $1.95

NEW COATS

We are receiving new fall and winter Coats and Dresses every day. We say they are beautiful and are so reasonably priced. Coats priced from

$5.95 to $24.95

BLANKETS

Heavy Weight plaid Blankets. Sizes 64 x 74.

per pair 98c

SHOES

If your purse is limited, and you want a good pair of Mens Oxfords; see what we are offering for

$1.98, $2.25 & $2.95

Girls Oxfords

Positively the greatest values in walking low heel Oxfords ever put on sale in any store in Clanton. All sizes from 2 1-2 to 8, for

$1.50 & $1.98

Wash Dresses

We give you guaranteed fast colored Wash Dresses in all sizes, and well made. New styles. From

48c to 98c

Here are a few of the values we are offering special for Friday and Saturday

One lot of Childrens Shoes, sizes from 7 to 2	98c	Fast color Prints per yard	10c
Good grade of Dress Goods per yard	5c	Mens Dress Shirts, all sizes and color, for	48c

Will be closed all day Monday on account of Religious Holiday.

THE LEADER
MANAGER, M. LANDE

Clanton, Ala.

"ALWAYS LEADS IN VALUES"

Locals

Miss Mabel Howerd, Mr. Edgar Sims, Mrs. Fred Howard, and Mrs. Lewis Howard motored to Tuscaloosa to visit Mrs. Geo. Phalin and son, Thomas, Sunday. While there they drove out to see the sites for the Veterans Hospital, which is already being constructed.

Rev. Arthur Deloach, who has been attending the Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas, for the past two years, is at home on a vacation for a few weeks. He will preach nights at the Verbena Baptist Church next week from Tuesday through Sunday night. He will return to the seminary in a couple of weeks.

W. J. Headley, farmer and storekeeper, of Pinedale community, was a business visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

Salesman (wiping the perspiration from his brow): "I'm afraid, madam we've shown you all our stock of linoleums; but we could get more from the factory."

Customer: "Well, perhaps you had better. You see, I want something of a neater pattern and quite small. Just a little square for my bird cage."—Exchange.

Captain: "If anything moves, you shoot!"

Sentry: "Yassah, and if anything shoots, Ah moves."

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic

West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

Miss Edna Cofield, a former teacher of C. C. H. S., was the week end guest of Miss Ruth Sessions.

Mrs. Earl Gore has returned home after several days spent in Birmingham.

Miss Nell Sumner has resumed her studies at Alabama College.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Inzer are visiting relatives in Leeds.

Oliver Cromwell of Montgomery visited his mother here last week.

Mrs. Jack Wade left Friday for her home in Russellville after some time spent here with Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

Mr. and Mrs. Roach of Montgomery were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Wade Sunday.

Negro Undertaker (over telephone) "Rastus, your mother in law is dead."

Rastus: "Is you sure about dat?"

N. U: "Shall I bury her or embalm her?"

Rastus: "Don't let's take no chances, brother. Cremate her."

"My dear," called the wife to her husband in the next room. "What are you opening that can with?"

"With the can opener," came the reply. "What did you think I was opening it with?"

"Well," returned the wife, "From your remarks I thought you were opening it with a prayer."

"Has anyone ever been lost in crossing here?" asked a timid woman who had hired a boatman.

"No'h," was the reply. "Mah brother was drowned here last week but they found him the next day."—The Synchronizer.

"What becomes of all these lovely triangles?"

"Most of them turn into wrecktangles."

C. M. Busby has recently removed his family to Birmingham. We regret losing good citizens.

Mrs. A. L. Farley spent the week end here with relatives.

Mrs. L. H. Reynolds spent Thursday in Birmingham.

Mrs. M. L. White is the guest of friends in Birmingham.

Mrs. Mattie Pruitt of Birmingham is the guest of Mrs. Annie Thacker.

Jack, two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edwards, Jr., had been taught about Jesus, high up in heaven, where all was light and beautiful. One night recently when out riding he looked up and spied "Electra," atop the Alabama Power building. "Oh, look, mother," he exclaimed delightedly. "That must be Jesus."—"Baby Mine" in The Birmingham News.

Housewife: "Are there any vitamins in your lettuce?"

Huckster: "Well, Mum, they's sure to be a few on most any garden truck but it's easy to wash 'em off."

A minister married a couple.

"How much?" asked the groom.

"Whatever you think it's worth," said the minister.

The man hesitated, fumbled, then handed the preacher fifty cents. The minister was a good sport. He fumbled, hesitated, then counted out 20 cents in change.

APPLICATION FOR PARDON

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Tom Bearden, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County on a charge of distilling and possession of a still, and sentenced in April, 1931, to a term of one year and one day to 13 months in the penitentiary, will make application for pardon or parole.—Tom Bearden, 9-17-2d

HAYNES NEWS

The first bale of cotton was ginned here Monday. The gin has been repaired and is operated by Mr. George Jones of Prattville.

Messrs. George and Pop Jackson of Selma and Tuscaloosa visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jackson, Sunday.

Misses Ruth and Evelyn Deramus were the Sunday guests of Misses Sara and Margaret Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Whetstone and mother of Eclectic spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ray. We are very sorry to hear Mr. and Mrs. Ray are not well. We hope they will soon be well again.

Mr. R. S. Jackson attended the funeral of Mr. Harold at Billingsley Sunday afternoon.

Miss Josephine Billingsley spent Sunday with Betsy Jones.

Mrs. Alf Hix and little daughter have gone home after a visit to her mother, Mrs. G. W. Wyatt.

Mrs. W. H. Gaines and daughter, Ethel Ruth, attended the funeral at Billingsley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Deramus of Verbena were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Jones Sunday.

Mrs. E. B. Gaines spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roy.

Miss Winnie Carter spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. J. Bob Deramus.

Mrs. O. O. Jones and daughters, Sara and Betsy, and Miss Ruth Deramus motored to Clanton Monday afternoon.

Mr. C. B. Deramus of Riverside spent Monday here with relatives.

The many friends of Mrs. G. W. Wyatt are glad she is able to be up again.

Mrs. C. B. Deramus and children and Misses Estyn, Eula Mae and Mr. Willie Brown were visitors here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. J. D. Deramus spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Jones.

Misses Ruth and Evelyn Deramus and Betsy Jones spent Saturday night with Mrs. C. H. Roy.

Miss Zula Parnell is visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. N. Gaines.

Mrs. C. H. Roy and Miss Margaret Jones spent Saturday afternoon in Billingsley.

Mrs. J. N. Willis and son, Carl, made their usual trip to Montgomery Saturday to the curb market. Mrs. W. H. Gaines also attends the curb market several times a week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hill and family attended the funeral of Mr. Harold Sunday.

Mrs. J. B. Deramus will return Saturday after a visit to relatives in Birmingham.

EAST VIEW NEWS

Our church held its annual business meeting last Saturday and unanimously re-elected Rev. A. C. Nelson as pastor for another year. This will be his sixth year as pastor at this place.

J. P. Rushing, J. A. Dobbs, and O. G. Price were re-elected as deacons, and J. F. Nelson, S. P. Smith and Leonard Rushing were re-elected as trustees. Mrs. Zora Dobbs was re-elected clerk and Mr. J. A. Dobbs treasurer. Mr. J. F. Nelson, Sunday school superintendent.

The Sunday school elected Mr. O. F. Wells teacher of the Bible Class; Mrs. Elna Mims teacher for the Young Peopes Class; Miss Gulma Traywick teacher for the Junior Class; and Mrs. S. P. Smith teacher for the Beginners Class. Let's cooperate with the teachers and officers and make our Sunday school one among the best.

The Christian Endeavor elected Mrs. Rubie Strength president and Mrs. Lola Nelson secretary. There was also several committees elected.

There will be a meeting at the church Friday evening for the purpose of picking the patch of cotton cultivated by the church. Everyone is invited to come and help.

Rev. A. C. Nelson and family were the dinner guests of Mrs. Sallie Strength and family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Strength was the Saturday dinner guest of Mrs. Clara Rushing and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Culpepper were visitors at the home of Mrs. Emma Campbell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mims dined with Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bowles Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rushing were the Sunday dinner guests of their daughter, Mrs. Sallie Strength.

Mr. O. P. Henson and family, and Miss Mae Lizzie Wilson were the dinner guests of Rev. A. C. Nelson and family Sunday.

Several from Clanton attended church here Sunday.

Mr. Irie Smith of Mt. Creek attended church here Saturday and was the dinner guest of Mr. J. F. Nelson.

Mr. Bee Connell of Pine Dale was in our burg on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins were the week end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coggins, of Mt. Springs.

Messrs. J. W. and Royal Coggins visited Rev. A. C. Nelson Sunday afternoon.

Come to Sunday school and Christian Endeavor next Sunday.

MOUNTAIN SPRINGS

We will hold our annual business meeting here next Saturday, and elect the pastor and officers for another year. All members are requested to come and take part in this meeting.

POULTRY

CAFETERIA FOR LAYING HENS

(By Prof. Paul G. Riley)

In a number of sections all over the country we find a few poultrymen who have been inclined to do a little home experimenting or testing of various methods of feeding. One thing they have tried is to put a hopper of grain and a hopper of mash in front of their laying flock and feed them in this way the year 'round. This method of feeding sounds interesting to the lazy man, because it decidedly reduces labor and takes less skill on the part of the feeder.

At the University of Kentucky the writer saw some hens which had been fed in this "cafeteria" fashion, and the production from both Leghorns and heavy breeds was very satisfactory and indicates that the practice has some possibilities.

In connection with the method of feeding observed there, good dry mash was kept in hoppers in front of the birds, and grain was fed in the same manner.

This practice has possibilities with Leghorns and other light breeds which are bred for high production, and also with high producing strains of the heavy breeds. However, it is doubtful whether it is desirable for farm flocks or for birds of the heavy breeds which are not particularly bred for high production, because it is likely that they will put on excessive weight and not give maximum production. It is also likely that hand-feeding small amounts of grain during cold weather in the winter and damp, chilly weather in the fall and spring is advisable, and certainly the caretaker should stir both the mash and grain two or three times daily in order to increase consumption.

SINGING AT UNION SPRINGS

There will be an all day singing at Union Springs Church in the new 1931-32 books the third Sunday, September 20.

We cordially invite everybody who will to come and help us sing, and bring plenty of good eats. Let's make it a glorious day of service for the Lord. Yours for the singing and the service of God.—Rabie Crumpton.

AGRICULTURAL FORCES FAVOR CURBING COTTON PRODUCTION

All organized agricultural forces of Alabama are supporting legislation prohibiting cotton production in the coming year, 1932.

Representatives of organized agriculture, including Seth P. Storrs, the commissioner of agriculture, L. N. Duncan, director of extension service, Auburn; President J. Litt Edwards, and Executive Secretary E L. Deal of the Alabama Farm Bureau; and R. J. Goode, member of the State Board of Agriculture on August 1st sent Governor Ross S. Sterling of Texas the following telegram:

"All organized agricultural forces of Alabama will follow Texas in supporting legislation totally prohibiting growing cotton in 1932. Large mass meetings in several counties have already unanimously endorsed such a law and all other counties are expected to act similarly next week. Therefore we confidently believe the Alabama Legislature will by a large majority follow Texas in prohibitive legislation. Will you please pass this information to all members of your legislature?"

Copies of the telegram were sent to governors, commissioners of agriculture, directors of extension services and farm organization officials in Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Arizona and California, urging that they appeal to Texas to support such a legislative program.

In a statement prepared for the press the agriculatrul leaders declared that "we have spent several weeks studying the situation and have concluded that to prohibit cotton planting in 1932 is the most feasible way of preventing disaster to a large percentage of the farmers, bankers and business men, and bring the South out of its present dilemma.

WALNUT CREEK NEWS

Our Sunday school is still doing nicely at this place. We had an attendance of 76 on last Sunday, and quite a number of visitors. The regular Saturday and Sunday preaching services were held by the pastor.

The regular third Sunday preaching service will be held next Sunday. Everybody is welcome to come and be with us.

We had a splendid Christian Endeavor program on last Sunday. We had a nice crowd with several new members added to our list. We are indeed grateful for these new members, and we feel sure that we, as well as they, will be benefitted by their coming. Our lesson brought out clearly the purpose of our Christian Endeavor, which is to train youth for service in the church.

Our subject for next Sunday night will be "Our Share in Making Christ Known to the World." We have assigned four to prepare an outline for a sermon on John 3:16, to be given briefly at this meeting.

I. L. SMITH EXPRESSES VIEWS ON COTTON PLAN

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you allow me space enough to write a few words to the cotton farmers and merchants? As I am one of them, I have seen several letters in The Banner of farmers expressing their ideas on the present situation, the present cotton crop, and the price being offered for same.

Say, Brother Farmers, can we be slaves for some one else and expect to feed and clothe our little children? Can we afford to sell this 1931 cotton crop at the give-away price being offered for it? Knowing what it has cost to produce it, I can only speak for myself. I can't see my way clear to do it. I have worked hard this year, as I do every year. I have slaved myself and my little motherless children to make this cotton; now we are slaving ourselves to gather it; and if there isn't something done about the price we won't get get anything at all out of it, and we are not the only ones. But, here is the point. Can we afford to take such a price, knowing what we have paid for supplies while making it? Can't we demand a fair price and hold our cotton until we get it? Fifteen cents per pound would be a small price for this present cotton crop. I have never stood for anything but the right thing since I lined up with God's people, which was several years ago; and I don't call this year's cotton price the right thing.

I am a God fearing man, and am a member of the Congregational church. But dear brothers, it takes more than just being a member of some church to serve God. It takes living up to His blessed commandments each day of our life, and that is what I am trying my best to do.

Now, back to the subject. I say are we just going to be robbed out of this cotton we have worked and made? And let ourselves and our children go naked and hungry after we have all worked hard to make and gather it; or, are we going to stick to our rights and demand 15 cents per pound and get it if it takes two years? I say come on boys and let's stick to our rights; for if there isn't something done the farmers, merchants, and bankers will all fall into the same junk pile. But the farmers will be on the bottom, just as he always is, when he belongs on top; for he is the backbone of the world. The whole world is depending on the farmer, so we will have to stick to our rights or we will all likewise perish. For if the blind lead the blind; shall not all fall into the ditch? Your friend, I. L. Smith.

CARD OF THANKS

We want ot thank the church and community of Providence, Beat 16, and the surroundings of Clanton, for the wonderful blessings that has been shown us during the long illness of our father and husband. and the wonderful thanks which have been given to us during the meeting at Providence Church. Tongues cannot tell the appreciation and thanks of ours, and we hope kind deeds will be received for the good will of all who is willing to help. We especially thank Mr. Mose Robinson for the kind words spoken to us during the revival. And we want to thank the community for their visits to us, and hope they will continue to visit us, for when God sees fit He will make all things well.

Our father and husband is still ill, but is as well as could be expected at the present time; but we hope he will improve fast and regain his health. We want to thank Brother Hughes for the many visits to us and hope to see him come again soon; and we want to thank Uncle Web Parrish for his kind visits to us, and will look for him again soon. With love and best wishes to you all is our prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Bates and Children.

Character is the diamond that scratches every other stone.

SPECIAL

2 Pounds Fresh Candy For Only 16c

Never before can we remember such a value—Only one day—Saturday, September 19th.

We have a wonderful line of Best Quality Candies and Fresh Fruits.

! SEEDS !

We have the best line of Fall and Winter Turnips. 15 leading varieties.

SOUTHERN SEED AND PLANT COMPANY

Evan Parrish, Mgr.

"I'm glad we have a Telephone again"

A number of people who gave up their telephones during the stress of the past twelve months have told us that this proved to be false economy and they have had their service restored.

Those who have not had their service reinstalled, and those who may be hesitating about having a telephone of their own, are reminded that telephone service is no longer regarded as an expense, but is considered a necessary home convenience and economy.

No other money you spend can bring you more actual value. Thousands of telephone subscribers know the truth of this. They do not consider their telephone statement as a "bill," but rather as a reminder of pleasanter living and broadened opportunities.

Those who have previously enjoyed telephone service appreciate it more than ever; new subscribers wonder how they ever did without it.

Telephone service costs so little and the advantages are so many that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE and Telegraph Company

(Incorporated)

J. B. Hain, President; E. M. Cothran, Vice President; J. H. Burton, Treasurer, W. B. Christenberry, Secretary.

Selma Compress Co.

OWNED BY FARMERS FOR FARMERS
ELECTRIC HIGH DENSITY PRESS

Bonded Warehouse—Sprinkler System

We offer you efficient service in the handling and sale of your cotton.

Our Government licensed classer and weighers will see that your interest from a grade, staple and weight standpoint is protected at all times.

Our charges are in line, our modernly equipped warehouse affords a very low insurance rate.

Owned By Farmers

We are a designated depository for Alabama Farm Bureau cotton.

KILLS Flies and Mosquitoes Roaches, Ants Bed-Bugs Moths

GULF Venom

DEPARTMENT SUSPENDS GASOLINE FROM SALE

The Alabama Department of Agriculture in one day last week suspended 144,500 gallons of gasoline from sale because the test showed it to be low grade, and did not measure up to the State standards. This was reported by H. S. Holloways, Chief of the Weights and Measure Division, who stated that over 7,000 inspections of gasoline and over 4,000 inspections of kerosene are made annually by this division.

ALABAMA HAS 1,525 GINS AND 308 WAREHOUSES OPEN

S. A. Burns, chief of the division of markets, gins and warehouses of the state department of agriculture, reports that 1,525 gins and 308 warehouses are prepared to receive Alabama's cotton crop this fall.

All ginners were required to obtain their permits by July 1st and the department has set October 1st as the deadline for warehousemen to comply with state requirements.

Prof W. T. Bean was unable to attend to his duties as principal of Thorsby Public School last week on account of having mumps.

TWO NEW MEMBERS ON AGRICULTURAL BOARD

Governor Miller has appointed John P. Hampton, Huntsville, RFD, and Wylie A. Alford, Columbia, members of the Alabama Board of Agriculture for 6 year terms. Glenn Foster, Tuscaloosa, was re-appointed for an additional term of 6 years.

Mr. Hampton succeeds W. F. Garth, Huntsville, who is failing in health and Mr. Alford succeeds J. Henry Witherington, of Dothan, whose term has expired.

FOOD OFFICIALS ELECT AN ALABAMIAN AS VICE PRES.

Dr. George H. Marsh, chief of the chemistry division of the Alabama Department of Agriculture, was elected vice president and member of the executive committee of the United States Association of Food Officials at the 35th annual conference in West Baden, Indiana, during the first week in September.

First Street Cleaner: "So Bill's dead. He was a good street cleaner."

Second Cleaner: "Yup, Bill was good, but don't you think he was a little weak around the lamp-posts?"

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

The second annual Boy Scout Circus will be held at Jasper Sept. 25.

Athens College, one of the oldest woman's colleges in Alabama, opened its door for the Fall session on Sept 16.

Alabama's bonded indebtedness is $66,286,000, carrying an interest of $2,937,930 per annum, figures released by Gov. B. M. Miller show.

A match lighted to inspect an "empty" gasoline tank was blamed for severe burns received by Loyd Keener, 17, of Gadsden, Route 2.

After deliberating 17 hours, a circuit court jury at LaFayette acquitted Mrs. Eula Terrell, 28, of murder charge in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, Barney Terrell, March 1

Gov. B .M. Miller told a delegation of Lowndes County farmers and farm leaders that "if it's the best thing to make no cotton next year I'm for it but so far I don't see it."

The Alabama Securities Commission has granted the Greenville Products Company, Inc., authority to sell 1,500 shares of Class A common stock at a par value of $20 per share.

R. C. Searcy, state fire marshal, has reported the arrest of Ellis Hill, negro, on a charge of first degree arson in the burning of a house owned by Henry Ennis, of Eufaula.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Otwell and two children, of Tuscaloosa, suffered injuries when the automobile in which they were riding figured in a three-way collision two miles south of Bessemer on the Tuscaloosa Highway.

Gov. B. M. Miller has requested Gov. George White, of Ohio, to honor requisition papers for the return to this state of Murray Lane, Jefferson County convict, held at Columbus, Ohio, for parole violation.

Gov. B. M. Miller appointed E. A. Burke, of Opelika, as tax collector for Lee County following his failure to file bond with the county probate judge and state auditor by Sept. 1 as required by law.

Allen W. Northington has been indicted by a federal Grand Jury on 25 counts of misappropriation and false entry in connection with the failure of the First National Bank of Prattville, of which he was president.

Ben Stewart, 30, Alabama City policeman, was in a critical condition at a Gadsden hospital where he is suffering from shotgun wounds received when mistaken for a burglar by A. A. Pinkston.

John Lanzel Kaul, 64, for 35 years a resident of Birmingham and prominently identified in civic, social and business enterprises there, at Atlantic City, N. J., fell 14 stories to his death from a hotel window.

Gov. B. M. Miller heeded pleas of Alabama African Baptists and granted a parole for Tom Hays, negro trusty serving a life sentence for murder, to allow the negro to represent his church at the national convention in Atlanta.

Atty. Gen. Thomas E. Knight, Jr., has advised Mrs. A. M. Tunstall, director of the State Child Welfare Department, that state laws regulating "messenger service" do not pertain to drug and grocery store delivery services.

New equipment for the department of library science in the college of education, University of Alabama, has been installed in Bibb Graves Hall. The new equipment is said to compare favorably with that found in the best library schools in the country.

Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, said that the Health Department would exert every effort to preserve the 54 county health units now functioning in the state, if necessary by extending state help insofar as financial resources permit.

Ten thousand or more farmers, bankers, and business men have gathered in all sections of Alabama within the past few days and adopted resolutions favoring "no cotton planting" for 1932 and urging Gov. B. M. Miller to call the general assembly into special session to enact such legislation.

After five years of tireless effort to obtain a hard surfaced road through Alabama from Tennessee and Florida, the Alabama Motorists Association announced that such a road would be available to motorists by Nov. 1.

A party from the Alabama Museum of Natural History at the University of Alabama has returned from a two-weeks expedition to Little River, Ark. The party excavated at Walnut Mounds and succeeded in recovering 110 skeletons, 300 earthenware vessels and 200 miscellaneous artifacts.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

SAVE THESE FALL PIGS

With an abundant feed crop in prospect all over the county it is up to us to save every pig farrowed this fall to help consume it. Hogs are our best market for much of our feed stuff and surplus pigs will be in demand all over the State.

The following suggestions are simply to remind you of the things you should do with your sow that should farrow in the near future.

1. Fix up an individual farrowing house with guard rails and place it in a pasture away from other hogs. Clean surroundings will prevent pigs from becoming infested with worms.

2. See that your sow is free of lice before farrowing and keep her that way. Old crank case oil will do the job and can be secured at any filling station.

3. Just prior to farrowing feed the sow lightly on some laxative feed such as wheat bran mash. A feverish condition and a lack of protein in the diet causes sows to eat pigs.

4. Clip off any "wolf or needle teeth" from the new-born pigs. Sows will frequently kill pigs if this is neglected.

5. Any of the following rations will be satisfactory for the sow during the suckling period:

Ration 1 — Corn (shelled or groud), 75 pounds; wheat shorts, 13 pounds; cottonseed meal, 7 pounds; tankage 60 per cent, 5 pounds.

Ration 2 — Corn (shelled or ground), 1 part; skim or butter milk, 3 parts.

Ration 3—18 per cent pig meal.

6. Keep a mineral mixture of charcoal, slaked lime, and salt (equal parts by weight) before the sow at all times.

7. The best way to feed young pigs is to feed the sow well. Graduilly increase the sow's feed after farrowing so that by the end of ten days she is eating 3-4 per cent of her live weight of any of the above rations.

8. Plenty of fresh, clean water is just as important as feed. Be sure to water the sow three times daily if water is not available in the pasture.

9. Do not breed your sow until after the litter is weaned at eight weeks of age.

10. Be sure to plant oats and either vetch or peas for winter and early spring grazing for these pigs. Green feed will reduce the feed costs as much as 15 to 20 per cent.

Trusting that these suggestions will be helpful and that you will call on me if you desire additional information on hogs.—C. E. Stapp, County Agent.

ALABAMA COTTON HAS BIGGER YIELDS

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 14.—Through the county agents of the state the warning is being sent from Auburn to Alabama farmers about the sale of cotton this fall. Certain varieties have produced a staple which brings a premium and sales should be made on this basis.

Last spring the D. P. L. variety was planted extensively in north and central Alabama. With favorable weather it has produced a staple of 1 inch to 1 1-16 inches in length. One-inch staple, early in September, was worth $3.50 per bale more than 7-8-inch staple; and 1 1-16-inch staple was worth $5.25 per bale more than 7-8-inch staple.

These facts were gathered by district agent J. T. High and distributed by county agents to farmers who grew this variety this year. At the same time they were able to keep their seed pure this fall for planting next spring.

In order to keep them pure, gin days were being observed in a large number of communities. The goal in many counties is to be free of inferior staple or low-yielding varieties by 1933. County agents are leading movements with this as their goal.

ADDING MACHINE PAPER

Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c

The Union-Banner

PHONE 63

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at

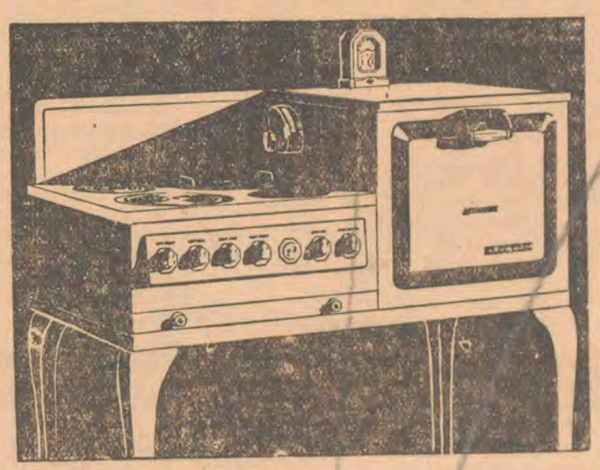
The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR

CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA

Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service



Flowers for all Occasions

DOUBLE HEADER SALE

Electric Range

and Automatic Electric

Water Heater

AS a special inducement toward making it possible for you to own and enjoy BOTH these modern labor-saving conveniences NOW, we are offering $20 allowance on your old range and $20 allowance on your old heater—asking you to pay only $5 cash on each and give you thirty months on the balance.

ALABAMA POWER CO.

The Alabama Power Company has grown from the ambition of a few native sons to a company, the output of which finds its way into practically every section of the State. Here we have a story of failure and success, hardship and continuous effort, building up all the while on the efforts of the past until it has finally expanded into the present institution rendering a state-wide service to cities, towns and rural sections.

$5.00 DOWN PAYMENT on Range or Heater

$20 TRADE-IN ALLOWANCE on Range or Heater

30 Months to Pay

Non-Jury Circuit Court and Grand Jury Here Monday and Tuesday

A two-day non-jury term of the Circut Court of Chilton County will be held on Monday and Tuesday, September 28th and 29th, at the court house here. The grand jury will also be in session at this time. Following are the cases to be tried:

C. C. Simmons, petit larceny.

Walter Kelley, assault with weapon.

Joe Farmer, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Clyde Matthews, violating prohibition law.

Will Bohannon, violating prohibition law.

Bessie Bohannon, violaing prohibition law.

Dan Jackson, violating prohibition law.

Willie Pilgreen, fraudulent check.

John Kelley, violating prohibition law.

Homer Ratliff, disturbing religious worship.

Jim Gennings, alias, violating prohibition law.

Elijah Thomas, violating prohibition law.

Richard Palmer, reckless driving.

Harry Weissbuck, reckless driving.

Namon Oden, violating prohibition law.

G. W. Cobern, maintaining Ins. P.

Gordeon Howard, driving automobile while intoxicated.

Albert Rucker, violating prohibition law.

S. D. McCary, driving motor vehicle without license tag.

John Mims, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.

Henry Wilson, violating prohibition law.

Miles B. Arant, violating prohibition law.

Gordson Hudson, violating prohibition law.

C. E. Faulkner, violating prohibition law.

Jack Dickerson, assault and battery.

Robert E. Waites, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Jim Dykes, assault and battery.

Robert E. Waites, abusive, indecent and obscene language.

Buster Roebuck, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.

Otto Roebuck, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.

Garner Smith, assault and battery.

Perry Johnson, assault and battery.

Barney Littlefield, et al, defaulting bond.

Elijah Thomas, et al, defaulting bond.

Vernon Clark, violating prohibition law.

Albert Rucker, violating prohibition law.

Arthur Gibson, issuing bad check.

Jackson Cleckler, violating prohibition law.

James Gennings, alias et al, defaulting bond.

Lum Gill, violating prohibition law.

Jack Tyus, violating prohibition law.

Willie Pilgreen, et al, defaulting bond.

Joe Cooper, assault and battery.

Charley Henry, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated.

John Henry, violating prohibition law.

Will Giles, violating prohibition law.

Aline Hurt, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.

Lee Simpson, violating prohibition law.

Herman Stone, violating prohibition law.

Quinton W. Branton, violating prohibition law.

Clarence Hawkins, assault and battery.

Tom Hughes, violating prohibition law.

Brack Pearson, violating prohibition law.

Jim Caton, violating prohibition law.

Retherford Varner, violating prohibition law.

James Chisholm, violating prohibition law.

Annie M. Chisholm, violating prohibition law.

Arnold Dooley, assault and battery.

Norman Roberts, assault and battery.

Norman Roberts, defacing public property.

F. D. Long, reckless driving.

Meadie Bohannon, assault and battery.

Curtis Giles, violating prohibition law.

Ellis Foshee, violating prohibition law.

Flora Thornton, assault and battery.

S. D. McCary, violating prohibition law.

Jim Varner, violating prohibition law.

Tom Boyd, violating prohibition law.

Wallace Jackson, assault and battery.

Thomas Lewis, violating prohibition law.

Herbert Lucas, violating prohibition law.

Mack Neighbors, violating prohibition law.

Hasteen Lucas, violating prohibition law.

Jasper Lucas, violating prohibition law.

J. C. Jones, violating prohibition law.

P. D. Williams, violating prohibition law.

Powell Sullivan, violating prohibition law.

F. A. Shanks, violating prohibition law.

Ernest Baker, violating prohibition law.

Horace Mims, driving motor vehicle without license tag.

Dennis Williams, selling mortgaged property.

Lude Williams, reckless driving.

James Evans, reckless driving.

William King, reckless driving.

Carl Sammons, disturbing religious worship.

John Norred, petit larceny.

Grady Taylor, trading W. L.

Grady Taylor, trading W. L.

Lois Winston, violating prohibition law.

Willie Vinson, violating prohibition law.

Jim. M. McCormick, violating prohibition law.

Marcus Bert, violating prohibition law.

Robert Ziegler, assault and battery.

Wilbur F. White, petit larceny.

Bennie Connell, grand larceny.

Tearse Killingsworth, abusive indecent, and obscene language.

Willard Batteries now $6.95 13 PLATE and up

Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging All Makes of Batteries

We will allow you One Dollar for your old battery.

Bates Auto Shop

On the Highway

Willard STORAGE BATTERIES

For Greater Service and Satisfaction from Any Make of Battery Use Willard Service Regularly

FIDELIS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

The Fidelis Sunday School Class of the Baptist Church met last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Renfroe Mullins, for a social gathering and for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing yar. Following the devotional read by Miss Mary Lee Pyron, and prayer by the class, the following officers were elected:

Miss Mary Lee Pyron, president; Miss Frances Moore, first vice president; Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, second vice president; Miss Charlsie Pyron, secretary-treasurer; Miss Mary Frank Smith, assistant secretary; Miss Zora Guy, reporter.

HOUSE BURNED SATURDAY

A house belonging to Mr. John Thompson, and occupied by his son-in-law, Mr. Zimmerman, was burned last Saturday afternoon. During a thunderstorm lightning struck the barn and set it on fire. The flames spread to the smokehouse, and from there to the residence. All three of the buildings were completely destroyed. The contents of the dwelling were saved.

The Zimmerman family was not at home. Mr. Thompson was at his own home nearby when the flash of lightning came. It is said the shock was very severe as far away as the home of Mr. Thompson. When it was noticed that the barn was on fire, several people in the neighborhood went to the scene and removed the things from the Zimmerman residence.

The house which was burned is the old home of Mr. John Thompson a few hundred yards east of the old Jim Thompson place where Mr. Thompson now lives.

Miss Katherine Hayes was a visitor to Birmingham Monday.

James Wade made a business trip to Montgomery Monday.

WEST CHILTON

Our people are usually well. An abundant cause of gratitude.

Rev. Lawrence filled his appointment at Macedonia Sunday. His sermon was real interesting, and well delivered.

Mr. Pratt Crumpton and family visited in Birmingham the 6th.

Mr. Miller, the good singer, of Mars Hill, was at the Freeman singing Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lizzie Crumpton has returned from her visit to Birmingham.

Rev. and Mrs. Freeman of Randolph were here Sunday afternoon.

Hon. A. A. Jackson, in his recent writings, "Hews to the line, letting the chips fall where they may." Mr. Jackson is both a statesman and humanitarian.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crumpton of Jemison were visiting at Macedonia Saturday and Sunday. We were glad to see them again at their old home of their youthful days.

We never before heard so many calls for a Moses to lead us out of the wilderness. We have a Moses like unto the great Hebrew Law giver. The executive officer of the supreme being a prophet, now in command leading his army to sure victory. The sun of righteousness rising with healing in his beams, driving the darkness back into the corners, uncovering the refuge of error politically religiously and otherwise, turning on the light, preparatory to the final battle. Hence so much consternation.

Mr. Jonh S. Wright and his accomplished daughter of Pleasant Grove were at Macedonia Sunday.

Albert Yaun and Miss Tresser Veazey were recently married and are located in one of the Bearden buildings.

Syrup making is all the go here now.

Some farmers want the Long plan on cotton. But what would be our cash crops next year? Cash we must have if we pay our heavy tax, call a physician, subscribe for the Banner, or buy goods. Cotton is cash even though the price is at the bottom. Go slow and sure.

INDIAN GRAVE

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Whetstone and mother, of Eclectic, Ala., spent the day Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roy.

Mr. E. B. Deramus visited his brother, Mr. J. B. Deramus, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Pearl Deramus of Billingsley visited her home near Haynes, Sunday.

Miss Josephine Billingsley visited Miss Elizabeth Jones Sunday.

Mr. W. M. Deramus spent the afternoon Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Bob Deramus.

Mr. Edward and Miss Tunie Mae Gelson spent the week end with Mr. Johnnie Golson of Joffre.

Miss Etta Bell Wright was visitor at Mrs. Claud Herrod's Sunday afternoon.

Misses Batty and Francis Golson were dinner guests Monday at Mr. J. Bob Deramus's.

Miss Entin Deramus and brother, Mr. Hopson Pearson, were visitors at the M. E. Sunday school at Mr. Claud Herrod's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. J. Bob Deramus visited Mr. C. H. Roy Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gaines and Miss Ethel Ruth Gaines attended the funeral of Mr. Harrol at Billingsley Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Joe Jones spent Sunday afternoon in Booth Station.

EVINS J. HARREL DIED

Evins J. Harrell, age 79 years, died Saturday afternoon at his home near Billingsley. Burial was at Billingsley, Martin in charge. The wife of Mr. Harrel died a year ago.

J. FREEMAN VINES DIED

J. Freeman Vines, age 32 years, died Monday morning at his home in the Mt. Zion community. The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vines, and is survived by his wife. Burial was at Mullins cemetery Tuesday, with Martin in charge of funeral arrangements.

FAMILY REUNION

On Saturday, September 13th, there was a big day at the home of Mr. Ben Edwards, in honor of Mr. Thilo Fiering, from Chicago. It was enjoyed by quite a number.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Scarborough, Fannie McNeal Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Edwards, and daughter, Miss Dorothy Pauline and Master Warren Scarborough, Mr. Maley Giles Mrs. Carl Gore, Mrs. Lula Giles, Mr. Marvin Gore, Omar Edwards Miss Fannie Headley Miss Lishie Ellison and little Betty Joe Scarborough. They all reported a nice time. Refreshments were served all during the day.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Probate Court:

To Mrs. Lula Cato, John W. Reinhardt, Mollie Rogers, Harrison Reinhardt, Mrs. Alice Cornett, Mrs. Minnie Bates: You are hereby notified that J. C. Rogers, administrator of the estate of May E. Potts, has this day filed his accounts and vouchers, evidences and statements, for the final settlement of his said administration of the estate of Mae E. Potts, and that the 5th day of October, has been appointed by the Court for hearing and making said settlement, at which time you can appear in said Court and contest the same if you think proper.

Given under my hand this the 12th day of September, 1931.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

8-17-3t-ch.

SEPT. 1-15 HONOR ROLL

From September 1st to 15th, inclusive, the following subscriptions to The Union-Banner have been paid:

J. Lee Smith, Clanton;
Delia Jones, Verbena R 2;
J. E. Kitchen, Clanton;
J. P. Rushing, Verbena R 1;
Cora Gray, Clanton;
W. C. Jones, Clanton R 5;
Rheuben Willis, Clanton;
Frank Bearden, Stanton;
W. F. Lembrick, Billingsley;
J. H. Foshee, Clanton;
E. J. Grant, Clanton R 2;
Mrs. W. H. Maddox, Jemison R 1;
Floyd Little, Clanton R 1;
T. C. Connell, Clanton R 5;
Clarence Vines, Clanton R 5;
C. F. Chancellor, Clanton R 7;
Newton Dennis, Clanton R 2;
Mrs. Leila Martin, Thorsby;
W. J. Headley, Clanton R 5;
Mrs. G. N. Traywick, Jemison R 1;
Jenning Nichols, Lawley R 1.
Junie Foshee, New Orleans, La.;

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Chancellor extends their loving thanks to all their friends for the kindness and sympathy shown during the death of their son, Bill; also for the beautiful floral offerings and the kind words extended. We especially wish to thank Samuel Martin for his kindness.

NAME OMMITED

The office of the county superintendent of education says through an error in coppying the list, the name of Frances Bean, of the Clanton Grammar School, was ommitted from the list of perfect attendance pupils published last week.

Apologies for this ommission are extended to Miss Frances, with the hope that she may win this coveted distinction again this year.

Mrs. J. P. Hayes left Tuesday to visit Washington, D. C.

Misses Eleanor and Irene and Mr. James Upchurch of Montgomery visited their aunt, Mrs. Crombell, on last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Roach of Montgomery spent Sunday with Mrs. Virgil Crombell.

OLD TIME SINGING AT SELMA

The harp and harmony singers have been invited by a Mr. Woods to come to Selma for an all day singing on the fourth Sunday in this month, which will be September 25. They earnestly request that everyone go down there on that day, and help Mr. Wood make it a great day of praise to the Lord, through songs. You are requested to bring both, old books. The singing will be about 6 miles from Selma. Mr. Wood will meet us at the courthouse with his truck at 9 o'clock and carry us to the church. Be sure to go everybody.—J. N. Scott.

MYRTLE BELL COX

Myrtle Bell Cox, the five-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cox, died Saturday night at the family home two miles east of Coopers. Burial was at Chestnut Creek Sunday afternoon, with Martin in charge of the funeral arrangements.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

FOR SALE—Nice organ, $8.00; large round dining table, $4.00; 100-lb, refrigerator, $8.00; may be seen at old Thornton Hotel, west of railroad, Clanton, Ala. 1pd.

FOR SALE—One Filling Station; good location; cash preferred. See or write me.—I. H. Burchalter, Cooper, Ala. 1pd.

FOR SALE—House and lot on First Avenue, two blocks southeast of courthouse; three blocks west of High School. Will sell reasonable. If interested see Jesse C. Jones at Service Barber Shop, Clanton 1pd.

PATENTS

Sell your invention or patent by exhibiting your model or drawing at the Second International Patent Exposition, September 14 to 27, Chicago. Thousands of manufacturers and patent buyers will inspect new devices and patents for marketing. Rates $1.00 per day for 14 days, entitling you to 14 feet. If you have no model, drawing or description will do. Send for free pamphlet if you have time. If not, send $14.00 with descriptions and drawings and we will look after your patent interests. B. Hamilton Edison, managing director, International Patent Exposition, Merchandise Mart, Chicago. 9-3-3tch.

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B. M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

WANTED TO TRADE—A subscription to The Union-Banner for a load of grate wood or a load of lightwood knots. If you have more of either of these than you have cash, and want The Union-Banner, we might get up a trade. Ask T. E. Wyatt at The Union-Banner office.

Abruzzi Rye, recleaned Seed Oats, Cotton Seed Meal, and Fertilizers.
J. N. DENNIS 9-3-4c

ALABAMA'S LARGEST HILL'S FOOD DISTRIBUTORS

SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK-END

Friday & Saturday

White Meat best quality per lb 9½c

Lard Compound per lb 9c

Lard Compound 6 lb pail 63c

Lard Compound 45-lb can $4.00

Lard Pure Hog per lb 10c

Lard Pure Hog 50 lb can $4.75

Flour Split Silk Plain 24-lb bag 49c

Flour Split Silk self rising 24-lb bag 52c

Flour Grandma's Wonder plain 24-lb 73c

Flour Grandma's Wonder Self Rising 24-lb 75c

Flour Eagle Brand plain 24-lb bag 59c

Flour Eagle Brand Self Rising 24-lb bag 62c

Hen Feed 100 lb $1.75

Shorts Best grade 100-lbs $1.25

Matches 10 large boxes 25c

Sugar 20 lbs $1.00

SOAP Export 8 large bars 25c

Sausage Meat 1½ lb can 20c

Peanut Butter in bulk 2 lbs 25c

Bring Us Your Chickens and Eggs
We Pay the HIGHEST CASH PRICES

ALABAMA'S LARGEST HILL'S FOOD DISTRIBUTORS

CLANTON, ALABAMA

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXIX.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1931 NUMBER 22

FRANK CALOWAY IS SHOT IN BACK

Brought To Hospital Following Raid In Coosa County

With a load of gunshot fired at close range into his back, Frank Calloway, well known man of Beat 16, was brought to the hospital in Clanton Monday night. His condition was pronounced serious by attending physicians. Latest reports from the hospital Wednesday morning said that his condition was still serious, with possible complications that might prove fatal. In addition to the gun shot wound in his back, Calloway also had two scalp wounds, which are said to have been inflicted by a Federal officer hitting him over the head twice with his gun after he had shot Calloway.

Percy Pitts, attorney, acting for Calloway, Tuesday morning went to Coosa County and swore out a warrant for Charles Fridge, Federal prohibition undercover man, charging him with the shooting of Calloway with intent to murder.

Federal agent Fridge was accompanied by Sheriff W. H. Gillespie and some of his deputies, on a raid of a still in Coosa County Monday night. Some time before the shooting of Calloway, it was reported that the officers had found a still in that vicinity. They are said to have arrested Oscar Mims at the still, but did not engage in any shooting. The scene of the shooting of Calloway is said to have been some distance from the still, and Calloway declared that he knew nothing of a still in that vicinity.

A signed statement by Frank Calloway gives the following version as to how the shooting occurred:

Calloway's Statement

"About 9 o'clock Monday night I went from my camp on the Chilton side, to the Coosa side of the river, and landed at Hatchett Creek. I got out of my boat and walked about 50 yards, and discovered some barrels and stopped, and about the time I stopped, they began to holler halt. I realized that I had no business there and made a break to get back to my boat, a gun fired and I was shot in the back, and fell. When I rose, a stranger to me, the Federal man, hit me over the head with the butt of a shotgun, and knocked me down. I rose again and he grabbed me and I out-manned him and reached my boat. Then he hit my left shoulder and knocked me down again in the water.

"Then the Federal officer and Sheriff Gillespie and Louis Gillespie handcuffed me and put me in a boat bringing me to the Chilton side. We then drove in a car from there to the hospital. I kept asking who shot me and why they shot me. Walter Gillespie said he didn't shoot me. I kept trying to get them to tell me who shot me while we were on the way to town. I asked the Federal officer didn't he shoot me and he said no. I asked him his name and he refused to tell me until we reached the hospital, then he told me. I asked him again in the hospital,, 'ain't you the man who shot me,' and he said no. After I got asking him about it he finally told me he did shoot me."

J. O. TURNER VICTIM OF HOLD UP GANG

Mr. Jas. O. Turner, business man of Clanton, was held up and robbed last Friday night on the highway south of Jemison.

Mr. Turner was returning to Clanton late in the night as he crossed the bridge at George Freeman's and stand the spotlight of a parked automobile was flashed in his face. When he slowed down his car a man stepped on the running board and poked a gun at him. He stopped the car. Another man stepped up on the other running board.

The robbers took Mr. Turner's money from his pockets, and also his watch. When Mr. Turner protested at being robbed one of the men hit him over the head.

When he begged them not to take his watch, a woman in the parked car told the men not to take his watch as it might be a gift. His watch was given back to him.

While one man held his gun on Mr. Turner, the other let the air out of his tires, after which the two robbers got in their car and sped away, leaving Mr. Turner in the serious predicament of a man who has been held up, robbed, and hit over the head, and left alone in the night with no air in his tires.

COUNTY REGISTRARS

Will Have Charge of Registering Voters For Four Years

The state board for the appointment of registrars has appointed boards for each county to handle registration of voters during the next four years.

Under state law, each county is entitled to a board of three memoers, necessitating the appointment of 201 registrars whose duties will begin October 1. The state board is composed of Gov. B. M. Miller, John Brandon, state auditor, and Seth P. Storrs, state commissioner of agriculture.

For Chilton County they appointed A. B. Martin, Rt. 1, Maplesville; O. O. Roper, Clanton; B. M. Killingsworth, R. F. D., Montevallo.

BARBRA ANN MILLER

Mr. and Mrs. W. Alpha Miller of Mitchell Dam are the proud parents of an 8-pound girl, born at St. Margarets Hospital, Montgomery, Sunday night. The little one has been named Barbra Ann. Both Mrs. Miller and the baby are reported doing fine. The Banner extends congratulations.

MRS. FANNIE BELL MIMS

Mrs. Fannie Bell Mims, age 31, wife of Washie Mims, died at Central Alabama Hospital last Thursday night. She had undergone an operation for ruptured appendix a few days before.

The funeral was held at Temple Church Friday, conducted by Rev. Harmon. Burial was in charge of Mell Martin.

Mrs. Mims is survived by her husband, two children, and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Asberry Driver.

AUTO LICENSES DUE OCT. FIRST

Inspector Simpson Gives Some Gentle Reminders On the Subject

The first day of October will bring around to us again that more or less unwelcome time when we shall be called upon to buy new license tags for our tin lizzies of various types, vintages, and horsepowers. But regardless of the various and sundry other specifications which have to enter into the contract, the biggest item is the money that it takes to buy tags. This year the farmer who has to buy a tag will have to set aside a bale of cotton, seed and all, for that purpose.

License Inspector, H. M. Simpson, comes out this week with some reminders about automobile license tags, which it may be well to consider at this time, as follows:

1. New automobile licenses are due October the first.

2. November 14th is the last day on which cars may be operated without new license tags.

3. Do not operate your car after September 30th, unless you intend to buy a new license tag. If you operate your car after September 30th, you automatically become liable for a year's license. You can not run your car until November 14th, then put it up and escape paying the license.

4. When you buy a new car, you have three days after the purchase in which to get a license tag. If you buy a used car, you must get license tag before you operate it at all.

5. All business licenses for the State and County are due October the first, and delinquent November the first.

Mr. Simpson gives out these reminders in order that the public may know the provisions of the license law, and be governed accordingly. Get your licenses and you will not have to worry about the license inspector. If you don't get your licenses, anything might happen.

THOMAS JR. SCHOOL OPENING

School will open at Thomas Jr., on Wednesday, October 7th. All children are requested to bring old books for exchange. Patrons are requested to be present opening day, as there is some important business to attend to.—Trustees.

C. E. Stapp attended a mass meeting of Shelby County farmers at Columbiana Tuesday.

HOUSE BELONGED TO ZIMMERMAN

Mr. John Thompson requests us to state that the house which was destroyed by fire last Saturday a week ago belonged to his son-in-law, Mr. Zimmerman, and not to Mr. Thompson, as was reported last week.

The owner of the house had no insurance. In his barn he lost 500 bundles of fodder, 700 pounds of seed cotton, and 12 sacks of cottonseed meal, and a lot of farm implements. The contents of the residence were taken out of the house before the flames reached the building.

The fire was caused by lightning striking the barn and the fire spread to the smokehouse and then to the dwelling.

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW SATURDAY

Club Boys and Others Showed About Thirty Head of Stock

The Calf Club boys and other breeders of pure bred Jerseys showed about 30 head of nice registered Jerseys in Clanton last Saturday. The judging was done by Mr. Ling, livestock specialist from Auburn. The judging started at 9:30 Saturday morning. This was followed in the afternoon with a parade through the business section of town.

Mr. Ling stated that this was the best display of Jersey bulls he had seen in many of the counties with exception of two counties where there were large breeders of pure-bred Jerseys. There were eleven good bulls in the show.

The ribbons were awarded as follows:

Females—Junior calf, first prize to James Dennis; second to Ned Dennis. Senior calf, first, O. R. Robinson; second, R. R. Robinson. Junior yearling, first and second, Clyde Popwell; senior yearling, first to J. P. Culp; second, Chester Messer; third, Melton Hughes; fourth, Odean Deloach. Senior yearlings in milk, first, Howard Martin; second, Ralph Mims. Cows, two years and under three, first, James Dennis; second, Osmond Glenn. Cows, three years and over, first Clyde Popwell; second, Quinton Kelly.

Bulls—Junior bull calf, first Clyde Popwell; second, R. M. Foshee. Senior bull calf, first, James Dennis; second, Arthur Maddox; third, Houston Lawrence. Senior yearling bull, first, Ralph Mims; second, W. H. Rasco; third, Lawton McDowell; fourth, J. W. Mims. Bulls two years and over, first, Lum Wilson; second, R. M. Foshee. The champion bull of the show was shown by Ralph Mims. The champion female was shown by J. P. Culp.

ATKINSON-WARD

A wedding of much interest was quietly solemnized at the home of Rev. Jones in Thorsby last Thursday evening when Miss Irene Atkinson became the bride of Mr. T. I. Ward.

The bride was attractive in brown with accessories to match. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Atkinson of Jemison, and is a graduate of Jemison High School, and an active church and Sunday school worker.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ward of Macedonia community. They will live with the groom's parents. A host of friends wish them a life of happiness.

Clean-Up Campaign

Sponsored By Kiwanis Club and Pilot Club of Clanton

The town has been divided into equal parts and the High School and Public School will direct the clean-up. The high school is taking the east side of town and the public school will be responsible for the west side being cleaned up. The street cleaners and the boys who operate the trash wagon will make the record of the loads of trash moved from each side of town from September 28 to October 3. Substantial prizes have been offered to the school that gets the largest number of loads of trash moved during the week of clean-up.

It is hoped that everybody will cooperate in the clean-up campaign and help make Clanton more beautiful as well as sanitary.

TWO CHILTON STUDENTS WITH HIGH RATINGS AT AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 21.—J. W. Gwin of Maplesville, a senior in electrical engineering at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute was among the 148 students appointed to cadet offices in the R. O. T. C. unit this week. He was named Cadet First Lieutenant of Battery E., Second Battalion, Second Field Artillery Regiment.

Official figures published by the Registrar of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute show that Hobson Mahan of Clanton, junior in electrical engineering, was among the members of the three lower classes to average 90 or better in their studies for the second semester of the 1930-1931 school term. He made an average of 92.10.

COURT OF HONOR FOR BOY SCOUTS

To Be At Baptist Church On Saturday, September the 26th

Boys expecting to advance in scouting will have to appear before court of honor meetings from time to time and stand examinations as well as to present certificates showing that they qualify for the different ranks in scouting.

Following is list of merit badge examiners before whom the scouts must appear for their certificates in merit badge work:

Swimming, Sam Powers, Lay Dam; life saving, life saving team, Lay Dam; personal and public health, any of the doctors in town; camping, John Hollis, Mitchell Dam; civics, Grady Reynolds; bird study, L. C. Warr; path finding, Chief of Police; athletic and physicial development, H. T. Walker; farm subjects, including agriculture, animal industry, beef production, bee keeping, farm mechanics, farm records, fruit culture, gardening, dairying, hog production, poultry, and soil management, County Agent Stapp; textile, Cotton Mill Superintendent; woodwork and carving, J. B. Varnell; journalism, Billy Smith; Marksmanship, John Van-Derveer; lettercraft, Jesse Teel; plumbing, M. F. Jones; printing, W. M. Wyatt; radio, Hubert Farley; reading, L. C. Warr; safety, Chief of Police; carpentry and handicraft, J. B. Varnell; chemistry and cement work, J. B. Varnell; conservation, Percy Pitts; electricity, Leonard Williams; firemanship, Chief of Fire Department.

The boys who receive certificates in the above mentioned work during their work in scouting will accomplish a great deal. Recently this paper carried an article on the activities of the boy scouts during the past year. The people of the community are urged to cooperate with the boys in their scout program.

ATTRACTIVE CLUBBING OFFER FOR BANNER AND B'HAM POST

Beginning October 1st and continuing through that month, The Union-Banner will offer that paper in club with The Birmingham Post both for the sum of $3.30. This is a very attractive offer in view of the scarcity of money. If you want a good independent daily paper as well as a good county paper, you cannot afford to pass up this offer. And remember that it will positively close on October 31st. After that date both papers will again sell at their regular price.

His Majesty the Devil

Subject of Dr. Haskew At Methodist Church Next Sunday

The above subject will be discussed at the Methodist Church next Sunday at 11 a. m. Dr. Haskew announced dast Sunday that he had heard many sermons on different subjects, but he never heard a minister venture to preach a sermon on the devil. He said that he was going to make that venture, and invited the people of Clanton to hear him.

We are sure that there are quite a few people in Clanton and Chilton County who should be anxious to hear about their master. If you want to hear the truth about the Old Boy, be at the Methodist Church next Sunday. The devil has a past, a present and a future, but all the time and everywhere he is just the devil.

FRED HOWARD BACK

Shows Signs of Having Handled Some Big Catches

Mr. Fred Howard of Thorsby, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. He came down with a fine load of fruit to distribute among his Clanton friends.

Just a few days ago Mr. Howard returned from a fishing trip to the Gulf of Mexico, where he spent two weeks at his favorite sport, salt water fishing. "I went down there," he said, "rented me a cottage for two weeks, and set up my camping outfit so I could entertain my friends. A bunch of Chilton County fellows came down and spent a while with me, and I tell you we had the time of our lives."

When I asked how the fish were biting he poked out his two big hands and said "just look at that and you can tell if I have had hold of any fish. My hands were just torn all to pieces from landing so many fish." And the evidence was there all right.

CHILTON ASSOCIATION CLERKS GET READY FOR ASSOCIATION

The time for the annual meeting of the Chilton County Baptist Association is drawing near, says W. J. Billingsley, the clerk, and he wishes to urge the clerks of the various churches to get everything in readiness from their church.

The association meets this year at Thorsby Baptist Church, on Wednesday and Thursday, October 14 and 15. Mr. Billingsley adds that he has some blank church letters if any clerk wants one. All clerks should study these letter forms and fill them out properly so that their churches may get the proper credit for everything given in the letter. Donations for all purposes should be placed in the proper blank. All clerks please take notice of this and be governed accordingly.

OUR PART OF THE TAX REDUCTION

Assessment of Alabama Power Company Reduced Over Two Million

Officials and citizens of Chilton County have become very much concerned over the reduction of the assessed valuation of Alabama Power Company property in Chilton County, by State Tax Commission.

Figures given out at the office of the Tax Assessor, show the following reductions have been made.

In 1929 the assessed valuation of power company property in Chilton County was $7,155,069. In 1930 it was $6,325,830. The reduction was $829,239.

For 1931 the assessed valuation has been set at $4,659,788; a reduction of $1,666,042 from the previous year.

By these figures it may be seen that the total reduction in power company assessments since 1929 is $2,495,281. This will mean a loss of about $50,000 in tax revenue.

Judge Reynolds stated in discussing the matter Tuesday that the Commissioners Court is planning to have a mass meeting called at the courthouse for Saturday, October 3, at two p.m. to consider the questions involved in the foregoing figures relative to Alabama Power Company assessments.

Concerning a similar reduction in Coosa County, S. R. Butler, State Tax Commissioner has stated that while the assessments of Alabama Power Company property in some counties has been reduced, the total assessments of company properties in the state as a whole has been raised a million dollars this year.

OPENS REAL ESTATE OFFICE IN CLANTON

Mr. J. E. Popwell, real estate dealer, of Birmingham, announces that he has opened a real estate office in the Hayes Building, in Clanton. He will be here two days a week to look after his business in this county.

Mr. Popwell is advertising this week for listings of farm property for sale in Chilton County. He is interested in getting in touch with every person in the county who has property for sale. Any who may desire to connect with him may address him at Clanton or at 101 Exchange Building, Birmingham.

For several years Mr. Popwell has been in the real estate business in Birmingham. He is a son of Mr. Jim Popwell, of South Clanton.

POWER COMPANY TAX BOOST MADE

Coosa County Protests Over Cut In Her Share of Assessments

Montgomery.—S. R. Butler, state tax commissioner, explaining the commission's new system of uniform rate assessments against the Alabama Power Company and similar companies of that classification, Friday said that assessments on properties of the company over the entire state for the next year would be increased by approximately $1,000,000.

The new assessment system, he said, becomes effective October 1. He made the statement to clarify the new method of assessment following reports mass meeting were being organized in Coosa County in protest against tax assessment reduction granted the power company in that county, which he estimated would be close to $1,000,000.

"When the tax commission came to make the assessment for the Alabama Power Company it considered figures of the Alabama Public Service Commission were the best on which to base the assessments," said the tax commission.

"When the amount of property taken in several counties owned by the power company was under consideration for assessment and the rate of assessment had been determined, the tax commission made the unit of assessment uniform in all counties of the state, which it considered fair.

"The increase in the amount of the assessment for properties of the company over the entire state is about $1,000,000. The loss in Coosa County came about by the company not having a sufficient unit of property to make the amount other than given in the uniform rate of assessment. The uniform unit of assessment made the rate lower in Coosa than heretofore.

A delegation of Coosa County citizens called on the tax commission earlier in the week to protest the new assessments and a mass meeting of Coosa County citizens has been called at Rockford for September 26 to discuss the reduction.

Reports have been circulating here the past few days that the assessment of Alabama Power Company property in Chilton County has been reduced $1,200,000. It is presumed that this reduction came about in the same manner as is explained above by Mr. Butler in the case of Coosa County.

Many people of Chilton County, since learning that the assesment of the Alabama Power Company has been reduced in the county, have become interested in seeking to have tax rates reduced on all property in the county. Some have expressed favor of having a mass meeting at Clanton as has been called for Coosa County.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lande were in Birmingham Monday.

Percy M. Pitts went to Rockford on legal business Tuesday.

REV. FATHER BARRY WAS ARRESTED HERE

Late last Thursday afternoon an Essex automobile driven by a man ran into a Ford occupied by some negroes at South Clanton. The Ford was said to have been stopped on the side of the road when it was hit by the Essex. The two cars were jammed fast together. One of the negro women in the Ford was slightly injured.

After the two cars had been pulled apart the man in the Essex pulled out down the road toward Montgomery. He did not get very far. The radiator of his car was smashed, and letting out the water. His motor got hot and stuck, stranding him at the Bill Powell place.

He was picked up by a passing automobile and brought back to Clanton. When he arrived here the officers nabbed him on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. Further investigation revealed that he had a bottle of liquor in his car, and he was also charged with violating the prohibition law.

When he was taken up by the Sheriff's deputies, he gave his name as Rev. Father Richard I. Barry of Montgomery. It is said that he is a Catholic priest connected with St. Margaret's Hospital, in Montgomery.

The Sheriff's deputies carried him to Montgomery, where he made bond immediately.

DR. HULL PREDICTS ARMAGEDDON

The World Probably Will Not End Soon, but the Return of the Messiah Is Not Far Distant, Declares Marion McH. Hull, Atlanta Bible Scholar, in the Following Interview. He sees Fulfillment of the Prophecies in Wars and Pestilence, and a Sign of Armageddon in the Jewish Migration to Palestine.

(The Atlanta Journal)

The end of the world will not come for a long time, but the end of this age may not be very far distant, Dr. McH. Hull declares in an interview given to The Journal's Sunday Magazine. Dr. Hull is a well known Atlanta Bible student, who contributes a regular weekly Sunday school lesson to The Journal, and is prominently identified with the work of the North Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Pointing out that all the major prophecies of the Bible have been fulfilled, and that all of the signs which Jesus told His disciples would herald His coming are already at hand, Dr. Hull states that it is his belief that the end of this age and the beginning of the next, and the return of the Messiah, may be imminent.

"Dr. Hull, do you believe there is any reason to think that the end of the world is near?" the interviewer asked. "Are there any signs to indicate this?"

"You have asked the question almost as it was asked by four of Jesus' disciples on the Tuesday before His crucifixion," the Bible scholar replied. "They sat down on the Mount of Olives to rest a bit, and asked Him, 'What shall be the sign of thy coming and of the end of the world?' They really asked what was the sign of the end of the age, for the Greek word 'aionon' translated 'world' means age rather. It did not mean the end of the world because the Greek word translated 'end' is 'sunteleias,' which means 'ends together.' In other words they asked Him what would be the signs of His coming, and of the time when one age begins and another ends."

"Do you mean to say that the end of the world is a misleading expression?"

"Yes. The end of the world will not come for a long time, but the end of this age, and the beginning of the next age, may not be very far distant."

"Well, Dr. Hull, what makes you think that the end of the age is not far distant? Are there any prophecies which have been fulfilled?" the interviewer continued.

"Yes, the truth is that there is not a prophecy concerning it which hasn't been fulfilled. Everything that the Bible says will come true, has already happened."

"May I tell you what some of these are?" Dr. Hull went on. "In answering the question of the disciples, Jesus told them that there would be false Christs arise; that there would be famine and earthquakes in different places; that many false prophets would arise and lead many astray; and that lawlessness would be multiplied, and the love of many cool off. Now every one of these things has been fulfilled. It doesn't take a person of keen observation to realize the number of religions that have arisen in the last few years which are vastly different from the faith delivered to the saints, and were we to mention the names of false prophets that have arisen in the last twenty-five years, many names would have to be mentioned which have been forgotten, while others are still in the public eye.

"Another most significant sign of the times is the number of earthquakes. During the eighteenth century there were about 100 earthquakes; during the nineteenth there were two or three hundred; and already in this century there have been a thousand or more. Jesus said that there would be earthquakes in different places. In the last two years there has not been a single part on the globe in which there has not been an earthquake; and the seismographs are said to be in a constant state of tremor.

"Then Jesus said that there would be famines and pestilences. When you read the newspapers you know how many famines have been recorded; in fact, they have almost gotten so common that they don't make any impression on our minds when we read them now. Within the last month floods have destroyed ten million people in China. That section will be devastated by famines and pestilences which will destroy many more, and too, many know too well the dreadful drought in this country last year.

"As far as pestilences are concerned, the Department of Agriculture states that a new pestilence has developed every other day. The boll weevil; the Japanese beetle, within the last few weeks the grasshopper in the northwest. Any one who has anything to do with vegetation knows how difficult it is to raise anything without constant spraying to destroy the pests. The flying ant is destroying the underpinning of so many houses today that exterminators are kept constantly busy.

"In that same prophecy which Jesus gave in answer to the question, he told that iniquity would abound. The Greek word means lawlessness. It doesn't take any wise man to know that the wave of lawlessness which has swept over the world—not only over America—in the last decade is unparalleled, and it is on the increase. Officers of the law are confessing that they cannot cope with it. Nor is this crime wave, this multiplication of lawlessness, to be charged against the eighteenth amendment, for people who are recognized as the best citizens of a community, who never touched liquor in any form, and who do not possess it, are showing that same tendency to disregard law. Lawlessness is affecting the whole world from top to bottom of society," Dr. Hull declared.

"Jesus said, because lawlessness should be multiplied, the love of many would wax cold, that means will cool off. That this prophecy has come true is evidenced by the indifference that so many church members are showing towards the obligation they assumed when they united with a church.

"In this connection, the Holy Spirit, speaking through Paul, said, 'in the latter times some shall depart from the faith,' and this is tragically true today. The head of one great theological seminary has stated that he does not believe in God, that he believes in some cosmic force. In that seminary prayers are offered at times in chapel services, but God is not addressed, and the president of that seminary says he had just as leave pray to the dean of it as God. Their prayers are closed 'in the name of humanity.' Jesus Christ is not regarded as the Son of God, but is classified as one of the world's great leaders only. The students of that seminary have their bridge parties, their dances, their private gambling tables; and some of them have been known to be drunk. Yet these men will be sent out to be the leaders of the religious life of a certain great denomination. This one instance can be multiplied many times There has been a falling away from the faith once for all delivered to the saints."

(To be continued next week)

Julian Evans visited Montgomery Monday.

Luxury may be taxed, but vice must be prohibited.

To license an evil is to put the stamp of public approval upon it.

A. A. Jackson Gives Advice to Farmers

Editor Union-Banner:

Please permit me to say a few words to the cotton growers of Chilton County in regard to the resolution they adopted on Saturday, September 12, 1931, which provides for a special session of the legislature for the purpose of passing a law prohibiting the planting of cotton in the year 1932.

Now, Mr. Farmer, let us cut right square to the line regardless of where the chips may fly. Such a proposition as passing a law to prohibit the cotton farmers from planting cotton should be an insult to every cotton farmer in the cotton growing states. Why? Because we should have sense enough to quit the cotton business without being so foolish as to ask a special session of the legislature to pass a law prohibiting us from planting it.

Just think of this great southland, where we cotton farmers have paid out millions of dollars of tax money for educational purposes, and we get an over production of cotton, we are so narrow as to ask our law making body to come together in special session and pass a law to stop us, when we know that it costs us more to produce it than we can get out of it, but just can't quit. But, are willing to pay for a special session of the legislature to pass a law to make us quit. Lord pity and have mercy on us old cotton farmers, for we know not what manner of men we are.

Mr. Farmers, let us go back to the year 1928 and come on down the line to the present moment and consider just a few things that has happened to the farmer. Did both Hoover and Smith have a farm relief plank in their platforms, which stated that the farmer must have relief? After Mr. Hoover was elected, and organized the federal farm board and they began buying wheat and cotton, wasn't the farmers getting about $1.50 per bushel for his wheat and 17 to 18 cents per pound for his cotton? And the more wheat and cotton the board bought the more it declined in price. What is Mr. Hoover's board doing today to relieve the depressed farmers? Mr. Farmers, what can we expect of a governor and legislature that has betrayed your trust?

Has there been anything done for the farmer since 1928 that was constructive to him? No. But to the contrary everything has been destructive.

Mr. Farmers, we are right square up against the wall. We need not look to any official for relief, neither to any law making body. The farmers will have to seek relief through themselves, by having just as little business as possible with the merchants, lawyers, doctors, and not too much with the preachers, but look to God and trust in him alone and relief will surely come.

In conclusion I want to tell you just a little about how I have run my business this year. I bought no fertilizer, planted no cotton, have made plenty of corn, peas, peanuts, potatoes, and filled all my out houses with hay, and had to build a crib for my corn. I have the fattest cows and mules that I have ever had in my life. I haven't looked for relief from any farm board, county agent, nor any law making body. But asked God to direct my business for me both farm and store, and I am perfectly satisfied with the results I have received. Dear old farmer, don't look to man for relief any longer, you ought to know by this time you can never get it that way. Yours respectfully.—A. A. Jackson.

CENTRAL SINGING SOCIETY

The Central Singing Society will meet at Friendship church next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All singers have an invitation to attend this as well as all other meeting places of the group.

Exactly half of the society's books were taken away by unauthorized parties at Verbena last Sunday, however it is hoped that members of the society have them and will bring them to the next meeting. The name of the owners is printed in black large type on the front cover, so there is no excuse for anyone mistaking the society's books for their own.

Let everybody purchase one each of the new 1932 books, so that you will have them whenever you want to use them in singings. Don't forget the meeting place next Sunday afternoon, and try and be there promptly for the opening song.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our many thanks to our friends and neighbors and to Mr. Martin of Clanton for their kindness and sympathy shown us in the death of our husband, father, son and brother, Jim Rushing.—Mrs. Clara Rushing and children; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rushing; Mrs. Sallie Strength.

NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR REMISSION OF FINAL FORFEITURE JUDGMENT

Notice is hereby given as provided by Section 5128 of the Code of Alabama, 1923, that application has been made to the Governor for remission of final forfeiture judgment in case No. 3365, State of Alabama versus Joe Smith, made final on March 30, 1931, in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Ala.
9-24-2pd. JOE SMITH

ADMINISTRATRIX SETTLEMENT NOTICE

In the matter of R. N. Roebuck Estate; Probate Court, Chilton County:

Notice is hereby given that on the 5th day of September, 1931, the undersigned Administratrix filed her accounts, vouchers, and other written evidence, for a Partial Settlement of her said administration.

Notice is hereby given that the 26th day of September has been the appointed day on which to make said Partial Settlement, and at that time the Court will hear and examine the vouchers and other evidence regarding said settlement.

Mrs. DELLA ROEBUCK,
Administratrix for the Estate of R. N. Roebuck, deceased. 9-10-3t-ch.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

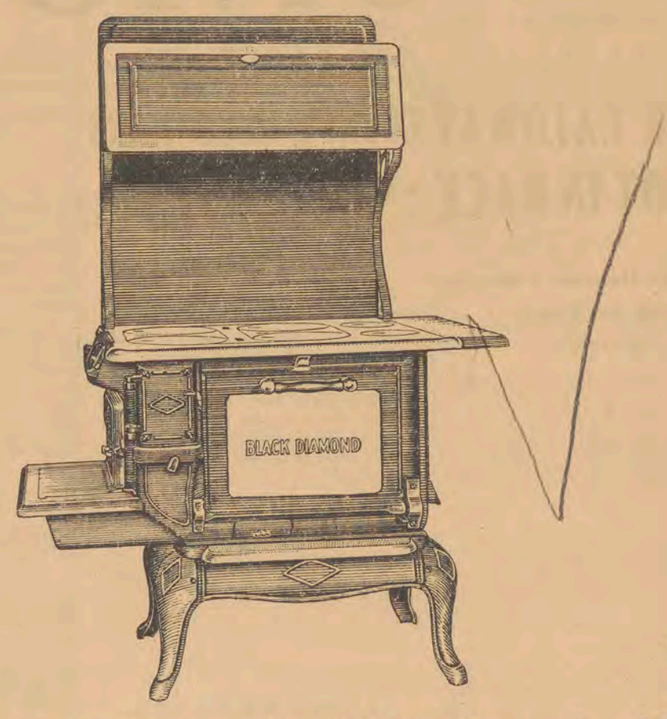
NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and
diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered
Druggist

We have moved back to
Masonic Building

THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA



OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

666
LIQUID OR TABLETS
Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.
666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Phone One-One-One
or Write
The James Sign Shop
CLANTON, ALA.
Outdoor
Painted Display Advertising

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic
West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

STOVES — RANGES

We now have on display a number of Black Diamond and Blue Auburn Ranges, slightly used. We offer them with a money-back guarantee for

$24.50 $1.00 Cash $1.00 A Week

LIBERAL CASH DISCOUNT IF PAID OUT IN 60 DAYS

DON'T FAIL TO SEE US WHEN IN NEED OF ANY KIND OF FURNITURE!

WE SAVE YOU MONEY

TIFFIN - KLINNER FURNITURE COMPANY

CLANTON, ALABAMA

OLD TIME SINGING AT SELMA

The harp and harmony singers have been invited by a Mr. Woods to come to Selma for an all day singing on the fourth Sunday in this month, which will be September 27. They earnestly request that everyone go down there on that day, and help Mr. Wood make it a great day of praise to the Lord, through songs. You are requested to bring both, old books. The singing will be about 6 miles from Selma. Mr. Wood will meet us at the courthouse with his truck at 9 o'clock and carry us to the church. Be sure to go everybody.—J. N. Scott.

CONTROL OF THE PEACH TREE BORER

The peach tree borer is causing far more damage in Alabama peach orchards than is generally realized. This is largely because their principal damage is beneath the soil surface. Many trees are killed directly, while others are so weakened by the attacks of the borer that they are easily killed by either cold or other causes.

The use of paradichlorobenzene is the most effective means of control. If it is properly applied and at the right time, 90 per cent to 100 per cent control may be expected. The cost of this material should not be more than two or three cents per tree.

Age of Trees

Results of the bureau of entomology show that this material can be used with safety on healthy peach trees four years of age and older. It should not be used on one, two or three year old trees in the South, because under certain weather conditions severe tree injury is likely to result. On trees of this age, Alabama peach growers will have to continue to use the old method of worming.

Size of Dose—For peach trees four or five years old, use 3-4 ounce of the chemical per tree. For trees six years of age and older of average size, use the full ounce dose. A dose of 1 1-2 ounces should be used on very old trees if the trunks are unusually large.

When to Apply—In north Alabama paradichlorobenzene should be applied October 1st to 10th; in central Alabama October 5th to 15th; and, in south Alabama October 10tht to 20th. The desired results cannot be expected unless the material is applied on or very close to the dates recommended and growers are cautioned to give careful attention to this point.

Preparing the Soil—No preparation of the soil is necessary except to smooth the surface about a foot from the tree trunk with the back of a shovel. Do not dig into the soil or remove any of it before applying the paradichlorobenzene and do not mound the trees before the chemical is applied unless borers are working in the tree trunk above the soil level. As the gas from this chemical is much heavier than air any borers working in the tree above the point where the ring of crystals is placed will not be affected by the gas. Should there be indications of borers working in the tree trunk above the soil level, sufficient soil should be placed around the tree to bring the level of the soil up above the gummy exudation before applying the chemical.

How to Apply—The material should be applied in a continuous band about 1 to 1 1-2 inches wide around the tree and about 1 to 1 1-2 inches from the trunk. Several shovelsful of soil free from stones, sticks and trash should then be placed on the ring of crystals in the form of a mound and packed with the back of the shovel. The packing of the soil after it is placed on the chemical is important in order to prevent surface loss of the gas.

Later Attention to Mound—In using paradichlorobenzene around four and five year old peach trees, growers are advised to tear down the mounds 28 days after applying the chemical. On trees six years of age and older, it is advisable to tear down the mounds six weeks after making the application.

Grade of Paradichlorobenzene—Orchardists are strongly advised to use only unadulterated paradichlorobenzene and when ordering to specify a grade of about the fineness of granulated sugar. Successful results cannot be assured with a compound containing only part paradichlorobenzene and part inert material since there can be no certainty as to the quantity of the chemical present when used.

J. B. Hain, President; E. M. Cothran, Vice President;
J. H. Burton, Treasurer, W. B. Christenberry, Secretary.

Selma Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

OWNED BY FARMERS FOR FARMERS
ELECTRIC HIGH DENSITY PRESS

Bonded Warehouse—Sprinkler System

We offer you efficient service in the handling and sale of your cotton.

Our Government licensed classer and weighers will see that your interest from a grade, staple and weight standpoint is protected at all times.

Our charges are in line, our modernly equipped warehouse affords a very low insurance rate.

Owned By Farmers

We are a designated depository for Alabama Farm Bureau cotton.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

FACTS ABOUT PLANTS FOUND BY DR. ISBELL

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 21.—Dr. C. L. Isbell, professor of horticulture of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, has made some very interesting discoveries concerning the propagation of tomatoes and Irish potatoes. He found that leaves of tomato vines can be rooted and converted into plants which make normal tomatoes.

He used moist sand in his experiments but tomato leaves may be rooted anywhere other plants are rooted, he said. The leaves which were rooted produced shoots, then plants, and finally tomatoes.

In his experiments leaves of Irish potato plants always made normal potatoes provided the bud at the base of the stem of leaf was attached. When this bud was not attached the leaves died. If attached the leaves developed into plants and produced normal potatoes.

The ultimate value of these experiments is unknown, Dr. Isbell explained. He can see wherein they will be helpful in a scientific way but made no prediction as to their general practical value beyond scientific research.

Dr. Isbell conducted these studies over a period of years. He checked and rechecked in order to verify results. He produced important information about the propagation of plants which may be used with plants other than tomatoes and Irish potatoes.

"BRIGHT SPOTS" FOUND IN ALABAMA FARMING

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 21.—Although prices of farm products remain at low figures agriculture in Alabama is not without its "bright spots" or causes for encouragement. This is revealed in recent reports received at Auburn from the county demonstration agents who are in close touch with the situation and are leaders in the "advancing agriculture" in Alabama.

Winter legumes and fall gardens were the biggest "bright spots" in the latest reports. More acres in winter legumes and more and better fall and winter gardens were assured.

The winter legumes will enrich land for improvement of farming. They will also provide grazing and some will produce food for the family.

Other important achievements were reported by the county agents. P. R. Pettis, for example, told of an improved system for marketing poultry and eggs in Conecuh County. C. S. Keller said that a cotton classer had been placed in Henry County by the Farm Bureau to grade, staple, and receive cotton for cooperative marketing. J. W. Sartain, Walker County, reported that a strawberry association has been organized with 102 members. J. L. Liles, Jefferson County, told about a good crop of sweet potatoes with preparations being made for storing them. A big crop of fall Irish potatoes is being made in Madison County, said J. B. Mitchell. A strawberry association has been organized in Citronville in Mobile County, under the direction of W. C. Vail. In Marengo County regular sales for hogs are to be conducted during the season. County agent, R. D. Winch, said that pens and scales had been provided and sales are to be conducted in order that farmers with a few hogs may get market prices at point of sale.

As the sesaon advances county agents will turn their attention to other projects, each working for more profitable agriculture.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The 1931 convention of the National Pecan Association will be held in Dallas, Texas, September 22, 23, and 24. J. Lloyd Abbott, Spring Hill, Mobile County, Ala., is secretary of the association.

Iowa corn growers voted recently to hold their 1931 crop for 60 cents a bushel. To borrow they will resort to a state warehousing act and place their corn in storage.

Senator David A. Reid of Pennsylvania is advocating a general sales tax of one-half of 1 per cent on articles sold through retail stores and agencies. He estimates that such a tax would raise two billion dollars a year, or nearly half of the annual federal budget.

By publishing "Agricultural Mathematics" the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytcehnic Institute, Auburn, has launched into a new field of education literature. The bulletin was written in mathematical form with a view to use in the schools and homes of the state, and thereby presenting agricultural facts with mathematical facts.

Washington newspaper correspondents were told recently by President Hoover that 100,000 men will be employed either directly or indirectly on the construction of Federal buildings by January 1. He said that 229 buildings were under construction in September. These will cost $181,383,100.

During the month of August the 18 curb markets in Alabama transacted business amounting to $43,494.22, according to reports received by Miss Helen Johnston at Auburn from the county home demonstration agents. The volume showed an increase but values declined, due to low prices. The six leading markets were Gadsden, Montgomery, Tuscaloosa, Anniston, Mobile, and Dothan.

LEGUME ACREAGE TO BE ENLARGED

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 21.—More than 2,000,000 pounds of hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas have been purchased cooperatively by Alabama farmers for planting in September and October, according to the Alabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association.

This is a decided increase over last year when only 1,300,000 pounds of these seed were bought cooperatively in Alabama.

"These plants are winter legumes and this winter, if seasons are at all favorable, will gather $590,000 worth of nitrogen from the air," said E. L. Deal, farm bureau executive secretary. "They will be turned under next Spring and the additional plant food will improve the crops of cotton and corn which follow. The legumes will also add humus to the soil, improving its physical condition, and resulting in benefits to the crops following."

In addition to using them as soil builders, farmers will plant the seed for hay, the vetch or peas being plantetd with oats, and the mixture harvested together.

Records in the state farm bureau office show that a large acreage of the legumes will be fertilized with basic slag, which is said to be superior to superphosphate for this purpose. The basic slag does not injure the innoculation and contains lime, Deal said.

FARMERS FIGHTING FREIGHT RATE HIKE

Montgomery, Ala, Sept. 21.—In connection with the railroads' petition for increased freight rates, it was stated here by E. L. Deal, executive secretary of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, that, if there is any change, it must be a reduction instead of an increase in freight rates on most farm products, especially cotton.

The Farm Bureau, both State and National, is making an organized fight against the proposed increase of 155 per cent, the success of which will mean a saving to American agriculture of about $130,000,000 annually, Deal said. He added that farm bureau representatives recently presented the plea of agriculture at a hearing on the subject before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Discussing the subject he said: "The fact is that few farmers have realized that they have paid the freight on cotton, because the buyer took it out of the price he paid the farmer, but the buyer was not interested in lower freight as long as it was the same for him as the other buyer.

"Therefore, until the farmers orgnaized and began the fight for themselves, in general nobody was making a fight for lower rates on most farm products, especially cotton, while manufacturers and shippers in other lines were continuously hammering for the railroads to reduce freight rates on this and that," he continued. "The result was that the farmer suffered."

BIG CITY BANKER SCORED BY DEAL

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 21.—Opinions of H. Lane Young, chairman of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers Association and vice president of the Citizens and Southern Bank of Atlanta, on the cotton situation were roundly scored here by E. L. Deal, executive secretary of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

Deal said farmers bitterly resented Young's belief, as stated in the press, that the solution would be reached by a revolution in farm life in the near future, which Young symbolized by the return of buggies and saddles.

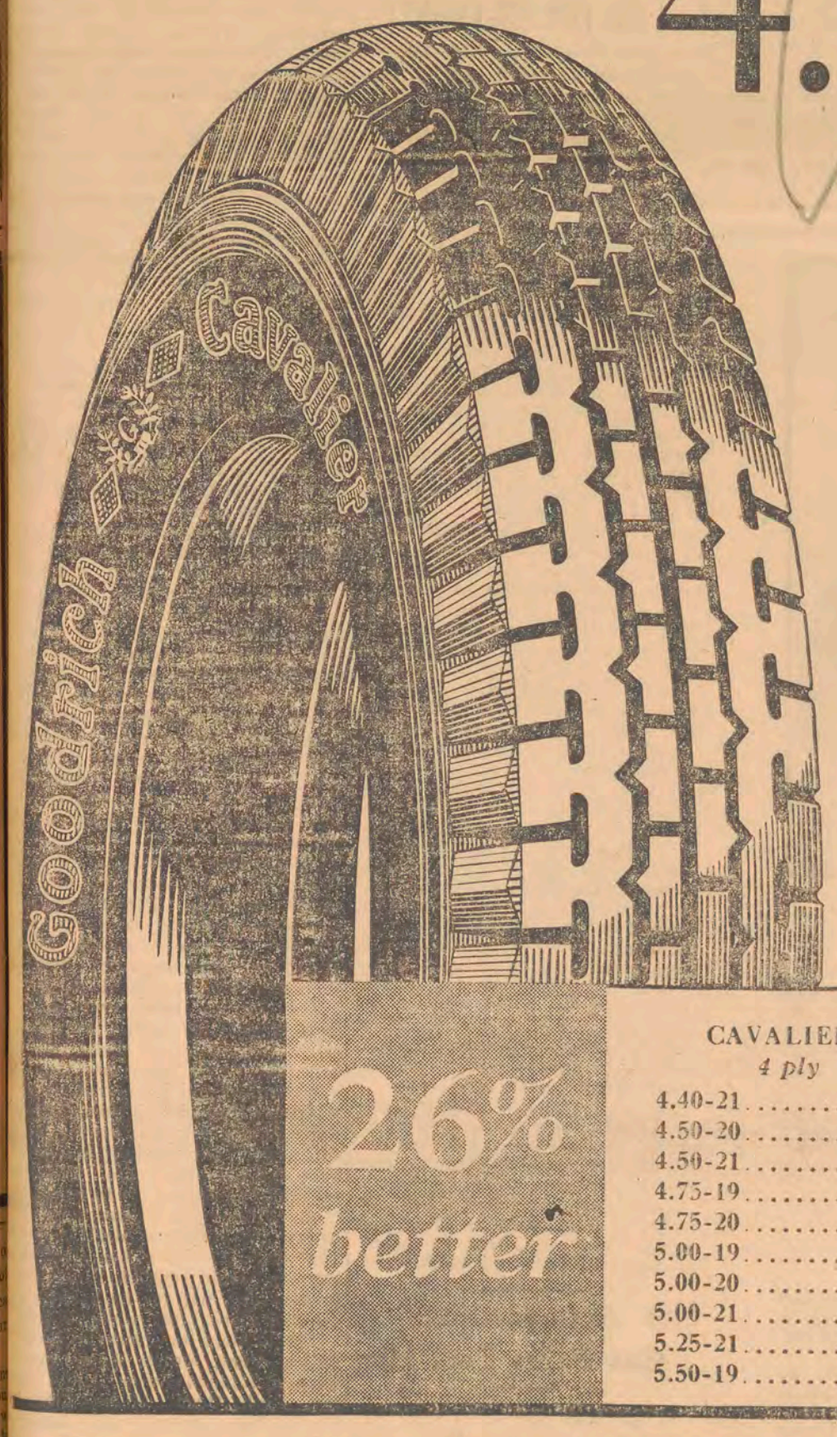
"I interpret Mr. Young's idea to mean that the farmer must accept a lower standard of living," Deal said. Fortunately the farmer is organized to a point where he is in position to demand a better standard. He will never be content to return to the buggy and saddle age as long as others enjoy the luxuries and conveniences of modern life.

"Does Mr. Young presume to say that the future lot of the Southern farmer is that of a peasant? If so, the farmer is now well prepared to answer a lusty, 'No'."

The farm leader said it was easy to see how a man doubly protected, first by almost half the world's gold supply in the United States at the back of the banking system, and second by the Federal Reserve System, could sit idly by and pass over the disastrous condition of the Southern farmer with a wave of the hand.

PRIZE WINNING CALF PRODUCERS ARE NAMED

Roy Heacock, Jr., Perry County, owned the grand champion steer and T. S. Compton of Lowndes County the grand champion carload of 25 steers at the calf show held at the Union Stockyard in Montgomery this year. Winners in the 4-H club calf show follows: Woodie Emmett, Marengo County, $15; John Griffin, Marengo County, $12; Leighton Allen, $10; James Alston, fourth; Jack Stevenson, Hale County, fifth; Robert Messengill, Marengo County, first in class two of steers; Roy Heacock, Perry County, second; Carrie Willie, Hale, third; Jim Crawford, Hale County, fourth, and Roland Van Tassel, Perry County, fifth. Roy Heacock, first prize in class three of steers or heifers calved after October -, 1931, Sam Pharr, Montgomery County, second; John Givhan, third; K. B. Broadway, fourth, and John Lee, Jr., of Perry County, fifth.



Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

Selling Fast!

Genuine Goodrich Tires

as low as $4.98 each

$4.80 in pairs

LOOK around as much as you like—but come here to see people buying tires. No wonder, when they can get genuine Goodrich Tires, made by the oldest and most experienced tire manufacturer, for as little as $4.98!

Less than a five spot, for the size that cost you eighteen or twenty dollars ten years ago—and then you didn't get half the tire. We've priced them this way deliberately to end this depression, and we're certainly doing plenty of business!

This Goodrich Cavalier is the handsomest tire you ever put on your car. 26% more mileage, more traction, by actual test. The famous name Goodrich right on the sidewall. (This name will help when you trade in your car.)

Backed by our guarantee and the Goodrich guarantee. Right now we have a full range of sizes, but they're going fast. Join the parade to the most dramatic tire values in history. Come in now!

CAVALIERS 4 ply		SUPER CAVALIERS 6 full plies
4.40-21	$4.98	4.50-21	$8.75
4.50-20	5.60	5.25-20	12.20
4.50-21	5.69	5.25-21	12.95
4.75-19	6.65	5.50-20	13.70
4.75-20	6.75	6.00-18	14.60
5.00-19	6.98	6.00-19	14.90
5.00-20	7.10	6.00-20	15.20
5.00-21	7.35	6.00-21	15.60
5.25-21	8.57	6.50-20	17.25
5.50-19	8.90	7.00-20	19.50

Goodrich Cavaliers

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.

Clanton, Alabama

ADDING MACHINE PAPER

Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c

The Union-Banner

PHONE 63

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose

For Sale at

The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

J. MELL MARTIN

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA

Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service

Flowers for all Occasions

Will Culp Becomes Tax Collector Soon

Makes Statement To People About Payment of Taxes

To the People of Chilton County:

On the first of October it becomes my duty to take over the affairs of the office of Tax Collector of your county for the next four years.

In connection with the other things I want to say to you at this time, I want to again express my appreciation to those of you who have made it possible for me to have the honor as well as the pleasure of serving you in this capacity. To those who did not support me in the election I want to say that you will receive the same degree of courtesy in our business dealings. I shall know no politics in the discharge of my official duties. It shall be my policy to try to render service to all alike, and I hope that I shall always be able to keep the interests of all the people at heart. I shall be only a servant of the people of my county.

I can appreciate fully the seriousness of the great world-wide depression through which we are passing, and it will certainly be a pleasure to me to extend every courtesy possible to those of you with whom I must deal. But I hope that each of you will keep in mind at all times that my duties are fixed by statute, which leaves only one course for me to pursue.

Now, just a few words to the taxpayers of the county. As you know, your taxes are an obligation that must be met. Notwithstanding we may feel that the burden of taxation is too heavy, I want you to realize that this is a matter in which I have no discretion. My advise to you is to meet your tax obligations at your first opportunity, for if you put it off when you have the money with which to take care of it, expecting to do it later, you may be less able to pay it when the final showdown comes.

Under the law, if your personal property should be put up for taxes you will have no opportunity to redeem it.

In conclusion, I want to insist that you consider the matter well, and that each of you will give me your hearty cooperation, keeping in mind that the matters of which I have spoken are not personal with me, and that I am ready and anxious to serve you in the greatest way possible.—Yours very truly, W. G Culp, Tax Collector-Elect.

MEETING OF PILOT CLUB

With Mrs. Lilly Seay Stapp presiding, a most enjoyable meeting of the Pilot Club of Clanton was held at the Methodist Church Tuesday evening.

After disposing of some business that was brought before the club, Miss Madge Scarborough made a talk on "My Duties as Elemenetary School Supervisor." Miss Madelyn Orr sang "The End of a Perfect Day." Mrs. Gertrude Calloway gave a reading "The House With Nobody In It."

At this meeting it was reported that there is a dire need of books for school children who are not able to buy them. Miss Bess Thomas, Mrs. Mavis James, Mrs. L. C. Warr, and Mrs. Gertrude Calloway were appointed to solicit books.

If any person having either high school or grammar school books which they are not using will call either Miss Bess Thomas, Mrs. James, Mrs. Warr or Mrs. Calloway, they will go for them and see that they are given to some school child who is not able to buy his or her own books.

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

1928 Essex Coupe $75

1927 Ford Touring $35

1926 Chevrolet Tudor Sedan $40

1927 Chrysler Tudor Sedan $80

These cars are all in good running condition. They can be seen at our place.

BATES AUTO SHOP

Clanton - - - Alabama

BIG STILL CAPTURED LAST MONDAY NIGHT

Sheriff Gillespie and his deputies went with Federal prohibition agents to Coosa County Monday night and captured a large distilling outfit in the neighborhood of the mouth of Hatchett Creek.

Two men were at the still when the officers arrived. One of them, Oscar Mims, was arrested on the spot. The other one, William Baker, ran away. He was placed under arrest Wednesday morning.

The stilling outfit was brought to Clanton Tuesday morning. It was near the scene of this still and a few minutes after the raid that the shooting of Frank Calloway occurred.

During the past week the Sheriff's forces have made one arrest for nonsuport, two for violating the probibition law, one for driving car while intoxicated, one for petit larceny, one for public drunkenness.

BANK EMPLOYEES SENT TO SCHOOL

Modern Scientific Financial and Management Methods Taught Throughout Country.

THE American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association conducts 223 chapters, or local banking schools in as many cities throughout the country. One large city chapter has almost 6,000 students, who are combining formal theoretical and practical banking studies with their daily working experience and other places have these schools with a thousand to two thousand students. In addition there are fifty study groups in small communities with some 6,000 enrollments. All told over 42,000 bank people are taking these courses—not only clerks, but junior officers and even senior officers in some of the more advanced work.

The work of the institute has been declared to be "a dynamic economic force, pouring into banking a broadening, deepening stream of better qualified bankers than could be developed merely by the daily workings of banking itself," and it has been suggested that every bank worker should be compelled to combine institute courses with his work. A good many banks now make it a part of the contract of employment that an employee shall undertake to render himself proficient and trustworthy in banking by taking institute work and others make successful progress in this educational aspect of banking a pre-requisite to promotion. Plans are being developed to make the benefits of banking education through this organization more generally available in the rural districts.

DEBATE AT BILLINGSLEY

There will be a debate given in the Billingsley Elementary School Auditorium next Saturday night, September 26. The subject which is under consideration is: Resolve, "That farmers should plant no cotton in 1932." Every farmer in Autauga County and elsewhere should be interested in this vital subject.

The debate will begin sharply at 8:00 o'clock. Everybody is invited to be present with your head full of ideas and ideals. The debate is sponsored by the Christian Endeavor society of Concord Church. Admission will be 5 and 10 cents. Refreshments will be sold. The proceeds will go for the benefit of Concord Church.

POTPOURRI

Sleeping Sickness

Sleeping sickness, as known in Africa, is caused by the tsetse fly. It feeds on mammals and carries a parasitic organism which infects persons and causes the sickness. Its bite is often fatal to cattle and horses, although animals which recover are immunized. The fly multiplies from larvae, not from eggs.

(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Our school opened last Monday with good attendance. We extend a hearty welcome to our entire faculty, trusting we may have a pleasant and profitable year together.

Messrs. Henry Milton and Otto Apperson left Monday of last week for Jacksonville, Ala., where they will resume their studies in State Teachers College.

Miss Effie Pattillo left last week to visit her sister at her summer home at Cottage Beach.

Mrs. J. F. Apperson has returned from Jacksonville where she was the guest of her sons, Henry and Otto.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Carter of Clanton were Sunday guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. B. F. Numy.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days, and our pastor sure did deliver us two fine sermons. Our Sunday school met with a real large attendance Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. We had a real good Sunday school.

We hope and pray that by the Lord's help our Sunday school will continue to grow and everybody will soon be interested and come and help us carry on our Sunday school.

BUSINESS PITFALLS IN FARM DISTRICTS

Bankers Point Out Hazards of Unsound Practices and Help Farmers to Avoid Them.

WAYS in which bankers may discourage unsound farm practices are described by President F. D. Farrell of the Kansas State Agricultural College in the American Bankers Association Journal. He says:

"In Kansas in connection with the importation of dairy cattle, a large shipment of very inferior animals came into a county to be sold at auction to local farmers. The county agricultural agent informed the bankers that the cattle would be a detriment to the community. The bankers refused to finance the purchase of the cattle and the sale was abandoned. The cattle were shipped to another county. The county agent and the bankers there did as was done in the first instance and the second county escaped.

"A year ago creamery promoters began trying to capitalize the Kansas farmers' desire to improve his markets by inducing communities of farmers to purchase creamery plants before production and local conditions justified them. Informed of this by the State Agricultural College, the bankers association sent warnings to every bank in the state, leading many to refuse to support the creamery promoters until the college approved the plant for the community concerned. This saved many communities loss from the premature establishment of plants.

"A third way bankers can discourage unsound practices is to refuse to finance farmers who wish to pyramid their enterprises, a temptation difficult to resist. This is illustrated among farmers who buy cattle for feeding purposes. A farmer feeds two or three cars of cattle one year and makes a good profit. This induces him to buy twice or three times as many the second year, still more the third and so on until he finally loses more by having too many cattle on feed in a year of bad prices than he made in several previous years with smaller numbers and better prices. When bankers discourage bad practices their action is a positive benefit to the farmers concerned."

Judge L. H. Reynolds, Percy Pitts, Fenn Jones, and Akins Collins went to Montgomery Wednesday to attend a conference citizens and officials of Coosa County were having with the State Tax Commission relative to the property assessments of Alabama Power Company in Coosa County. It is expected that Chilton County will follow the lead of Coosa and make a similar protest.

New Felt Hats

$2.95 --- $3.95

We offer for your approval the finest selection of new Felt Hats for Men. They are in a variety of styles, and all the popular new colors are represented. The prices are low, as you will notice. Let us show them to you before you buy a hat for this winter.

THE LEADER MANAGER, M. LANDE

CLANTON, ALABAMA

WHAT A KEY BANKER DID FOR HIS COUNTY

The farmers of one county in Tennessee are receiving $400,000 additional annual income from new farm enterprises started since 1926 through the efforts of a "key banker" and the county agent, according to estimates from the Tennessee College of Agriculture. A "key banker" is a part of the state bankers' association voluntary field force cooperating with the American Bankers Association in its nationwide plan for bringing about better agricultural conditions through combined banker-farmer effort. New projects started in this particular county are tobacco, Irish potato and cabbage production for cash crops, and dairying and poultry raising for livestock.

The key banker, looking for something to do to better his community, first attempted to procure a county agent but was unable to get the county to make the necessary appropriation, so he and other leading citizens made up the requisite funds through private subscription among farmers and business men and an agent was employed.

Up until 1926 grain was the principal farm production in the county. The banker recognized the disadvantages of this. It afforded a low cash income, and the land was too hilly and rough for profitable grain raising. His idea was to introduce cash crops that offered more return per acre and were better fitted to the county. It was decided that the county should standardize on the Green Mountain potato and to market it in carload lots. Through his bank he sponsored the buying of a car of certified seed potatoes. He likewise bought some high quality tobacco seed and several hundred settings of purebred eggs. These supplies were distributed at cost through the banks to the farmers.

After considerable effort a market for dairy products was assured the farmers when in 1928 a national cheese company located a factory there. A county appropriation was secured for county agent work in 1928.

In 1929 the cash crop program resulted in farmers selling $45,000 worth of milk, $150,000 worth of tobacco and fifty-five carloads of potatoes and cabbage, mostly through cooperative sales. "This was some step from the $25,000 worth of cash crops in 1926," the county agent says, "and indications are that this amount will be doubled."

Not Appendicitis— Gas Pains Fool Him

"I had such pain in my right side I thought I had appendicitis. But it was only gas. After taking Adlerika I've had no trouble."—W. L. Adams.

You can't get rid of gas doctoring the stomach. For gas stays in the UPPER bowel. Adlerika reaches BOTH upper and lower bowel, washing out poisons which cause gas, nervousness, bad sleep. Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect of this German doctor's remedy.—Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton.

Grover Harris and John Armstrogn attend the ball game in Birmingham Wednesday afternoon.

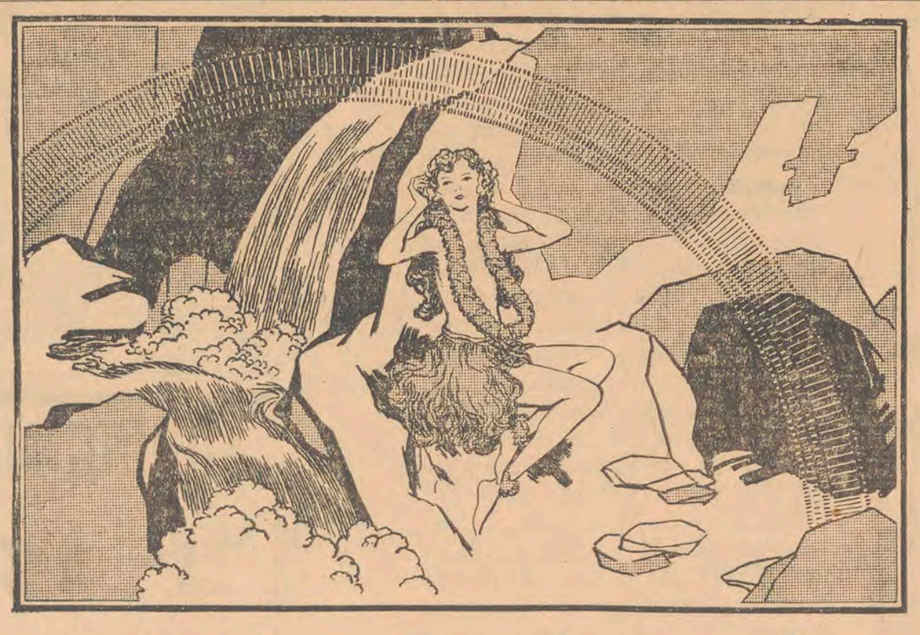
ISABELLA NEWS

The student body of the Isabella High School seems to be very much enthused over the student government. The Senior High division of the student government met and organized at the opening of the 1931-1932 session. The officers elected were as follows: Marvin Durbin, president; Luther Mims, vice president; Bazaline Williams, secretary-treasurer; Morris Keen, reporter.

This is the first attempt to have student government at Isabella. It looks as if they are going to make a success with it. The senior department assembles every Monday. They have given two splendid programs. Mr. Griffin and Mr. G. G. Williams have made some splendid talks to the students. Every one realizes that the student government is one more step toward a larger school. It trains the morals of every student, and reminds him of his responsibilities, and makes him more loyal to his school

If students are kept under hard-boiled teachers and their rules, they soon despise their work and their teachers. The desire to leave soon overcomes them, and outside things attract their attention. The student loses interest and says, "I just can't learn, I'm going to quit." And that is the end of their school career. While, if they have something like self-government, where every one has a chance to make, or redeem rules, the school is much more interesting. Everything is running smoothly so far, and expected to continue in this manner.

The Seniors of Isabella for 1931-1932 met September 7th and organized the class. The officers were elected as follows: President, Marvin Durbin; vice president, Luther Mims; secretary-treasurer, Bazaline Williams; reporter, Morris Keen.



The Seniors have entered into their work with much enthusiasm and determination to make this the best year ever. There are ten seniors enrolled this year. There isn't so many of us, but we have the right school spirit, and class loyalty. Much excitement was created last week when the ring man came. The class assembled in the office to select the ring. After much discussion and debating the ring was decided upon. The rings are very beautiful, and any one would consider it an honor to wear one, not for its beauty, but for the place from which it came.

The seniors are Marvin Durbin, Luther Mims, Morris Keen, Tommy Rucker, Hannon Owen, James Deason, Ruth Oden, Mildred Durbin, Gertie Mae Owens, and Bazalene Williams.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at the courthouse Monday night, October 5th. All members are urged to be present. Mrs. James T. Rowell, of Selma, will be the principal speaker. All committee members especially urged to be present.

At the same time the regular meeting of the American Legion will be held. This will be an important meeting, and every ex-service man in the county is urged to come.

A Hawaiian Legend

HERE is a pretty tale from Hawaii, famed for its "leis," its outdoor life and its legends. This particular legend is quoted from William Hyde Rice's book on this subject and comes from the island of Kauai. It is called:

The Rainbow Princess

A family of Hawaiians were moving into the valley of Nualolo, on the Napali coast. To reach the valley it was necessary to climb up a swinging ladder which hung over the cliff. One man was carrying a baby girl, and as he swung on to the swaying ladder he dropped the child. The parents, in agony, watched their baby falling, but were overjoyed to see the Akua (supernatural being, spirit) of the rainbow catch her up before she struck the water, and carry her on the rainbow over the mountains down to Waimea valley. In this valley the Akua placed her in a small cave beneath a waterfall. There she lived, watched by the Akua, who always sent the rainbow to care for her. There she grew, at length, into beautiful womanhood, and every day she sat in the sunshine on the rocks above the cave with a rainbow above her head.

Then it happened that a prince from Waimea fell deeply in love with the beautiful Rainbow Princess, as she was called. But his efforts were all in vain, for with a merry laugh she would dive into the water and call to him: "When you call me by name, I will come to you."

At last, growing sick with longing for the princess, he journeyed to Maui and Hawaii to consult the kahuna (astrologer, sorcerer, diviner) in regard to the girl's name. Alas, none could help him!

In despair he returned to Waimea and called on his old grandmother who inquired the reason for his great sadness. The prince replied: "I love the Rainbow Princess who lives in the waterfall. She only laughs at me and tells me that when I call her by name she will be my wife. I have consulted all the kahuna and none can tell me her name."

With these words the grandmother cheered the heart of the sorrowing prince: "If you had come to me I could have told you her name. Go to the waterfall. When the princess laughs at you, call her U-a, which means rain."

The prince hastened to the waterfall and when he called "U-a" the beautiful maiden went to him. They were married and lived together many happy years.

The Pot of Gold

There is no Princess at the end of the rainbow now in Hawaii, but there is a pot of gold in the shape of the vast quantity of luscious pineapples which are now raised and canned in those happy islands. This industry is modern. The beginning of its great success dates back only thirty years, so there are no legends about pineapples, but this succulent fruit makes up for that part by the truth that many delectable dishes can be made with it. Here are a few pineapple recipes which rival in taste the charm of the exotic folk tales of Hawaii.

Ambrosia Salad: Halve four large seedless oranges, and remove pulp. Dice one banana, and cut up four preserved figs. Toss together with one and one-half cups diced sliced Hawaiian pineapple (or two 8-ounce cans of pineapple tidbits), drain well and chill. Mix with mayonnaise fluffed with whipped cream, and fill orange skins with mixture. Pile more dressing on top and sprinkle with coconut. Serves eight.

Salads from the Sea

Pineapple combines extremely well with fish. Here are two salads in which it is wedded to different denizens of the deep.

Pineapple Tuna Salad: Flake two 7-ounce cans of tuna fish. Marinate one-half cup diced cucumber and one green pepper cut in pieces in French dressing. Toss lightly with one cup (3 slices) of diced sliced Hawaiian pineapple. Add two tablespoons chopped sweet pickle to one-half cup mayonnaise, and fold in. Serve in lettuce, and pass more of the pickles and mayonnaise. Serves eight.

East Indian Shrimp Salad: Peel eight uniform firm tomatoes, scoop out centers, dust with salt inside, and chill. Drain one 8-ounce can (one cup) of crushed pineapple and mix with one cup shredded cabbage, then moisten with mayonnaise which has been well seasoned with curry powder. Fill tomatoes with this. Hook four canned or fresh cooked shrimps over the edge of each tomato cup, and pile a little more curry dressing in the center. Serves eight.

Feed and Flour BARGAINS

Today is bargain day for the farmer. You can do today what you couldn't do a year ago—pay out fewer eggs and less butterfat for feed. That means greater profits and more money to you.

Last year it took 15 dozen eggs to buy a bag of laying mash—today it takes but 9 dozen eggs to buy a bag of Purina Laying Chows. This means 6 dozen eggs EXTRA in each bag of PURINA.

WE'VE GOT FRESH STOCKS OF PURINA CHOWS
Feed from the checkerboard and lower your cost of production

24 per cent Dairy Feed	$1.50
16 per cent Dairy Feed	1.25
Purina Laying Mash	2.10
Purina Scratch Feed	1.60
Purina Mixing Feed	1.25

WE ALSO HAVE A FRESH CAR OF FLOUR, SHORTS, BRAN, WHEAT, DIRECT FROM HUEGELY'S MILLS.

Huegely's Shorts	$1.20
Huegely's Bran	1.00
Huegely's Flour, 24 lb.	.50

Huegely's flour and shorts are unexcelled in quality. Come in and look over our stock.

On Saturday, September 26th, we will have Special Prices on all Feeds and Flour

J. L. RUFFIN

CLANTON, ALABAMA

WE PAY HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR CHICKENS AND EGGS

Profitable feeds for livestock and poultry. They lower your cost of production and make you more profits.

Friends of Raymond Marcus are glad to see him out again after a prolonged illness. He has been at the home of his father, Dr. T. J. Marcus, since he has been sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith spent a few days last week on a visit to Mr. Smith's family at Collinsville.

Rev. Zac Appleton was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Miss Mable Howard and Mr. Edgar Sims motored down to Pennsacola, Fla., and to Bon Secours Bay Sunday to get Mr. Howard, who has been on a two weeks fishing trip on the coast.

Tom Ogletree and J. B. Atkinson were visitors to Rockford last Friday.

J. P. Crumpton (Red) has gone to Birmingham to work for Hill Grocery Company.

Fred and Pratt Busby of Birmingham were the week end guests of their sister, Mrs. Earl Gore.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Inzer have returned home after a visit to relatives in Leeds, Alabama.

Misses Pauline Plyler and Elizabeth McSwain motored to Leeds, Sunday.

Firestone Telling Wonders of Rubber in Brief Radio Talks

Highlights of Industry Given for First Time Over the Air

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr.

Speaking over a nationwide N. B. C. network which reaches an estimated audience of 40,000,000 persons, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., is telling the romantic story of rubber development in a series of brief word pictures forming a part of the Firestone radio program, which is now on the air every Monday night.

In these talks Mr. Firestone, who is vice-president of The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, confines himself almost entirely to the human side of the industry, avoiding technicalities. Always a close student of the business in which his father pioneered, he has amassed many interesting episodes and unusual highlights concerning rubber which he will use in his short broadcasts.

In the automotive world Mr. Firestone has gained distinction as an authority on the growing of rubber and its many thousands of uses. On numerous occasions he has spoken on the subject by invitation of some of the leading industrial and commercial organizations of the country, and the facility with which he interprets the great moments of rubber history in terms of living events has carried the story to audiences with colorful effect and easy understanding.

The background for his familiarity with the subject has been gained over a period of years. In 1926, following the Stevenson Restriction Act to limit the production of rubber on British owned plantations as a means of raising prices, and in connection with his father's campaign that "Americans should produce their own rubber," Mr. Firestone made a world tour to study the availability of various countries for rubber growing. Based on the data accumulated in those travels, he selected Liberia as the ideal place for his own company to produce the commodity and negotiated a 99 year lease with the Liberian government for 1,000,000 acres of land. As vice-president and general manager of the Firestone Plantations Company, he has since been in charge of the extensive operations there, in addition to his duties as an executive of the parent company.

Although not inexperienced as a speaker before the microphone, this is the first time he has ever undertaken a regular schedule of broadcasts. His presence on the program makes it literally "The Voice of Firestone," the title under which this weekly program has already won wide favor with the radio public.

Noted stars of radio will furnish the musical entertainment. These include James Melton, tenor, and Gladys Rice, soprano, both of whom have won wide popularity among listeners from coast to coast. William Merrigan Daly, whom Walter Damrosch described as "the finest young conductor in America," and who has also received high praise from other leaders of the musical world, including Deems Taylor and George Gershwin, the distinguished composers, will have charge of the Firestone Orchestra. An exceptionally fine quartet of male voices rounds out the program. Alois Havrilla, famous for his flawless English and diction, and known as the "genial announcer," will be the master of ceremonies.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION AT VERBENA IS BIG SUCCESS

Verbena has always been a great place for the singers of the county to gather, for there are a few ardent supporters there who, regardless of the lukewarmness of others, always make the singers feel welcome and make the singing a real go and an inspiration to all who attend. The Chilton County Singing Convention which met in regular fall session there last Sunday, was the best county convention that has been held in recent years. Besides lots of singers from adjoining counties as well as Jefferson County, Prof. J. M. Henson and Mr. F. W. Tarrant of Atlanta, Ga., were there. These gentlemen are connected with the Morris-Henson Music Company of Atlanta. Also the local quartet furnished the spice to go along with the fine class singing all during the day.

The meeting was presided over by the chairman, Prof. W. M. Devaughn, and was opened with prayer by Judge J. F. Posey of Autauga County. At the beginning of the singing only two members of the executive committee were present—A. H. Glasscock and J. R. Robinson, so these gentlemen retired and arranged the program. Those singing in the morning were: Everett Devaughn, P. B. Hull, L. T. Grant, A. H. Glasscock, J. M. Henson and F. W. Tarrant. Two or three quertets were sung before noon. In the afternoon the singers were: J. B. Hammonds, W. R. Adams, W. G. Culp, Ammie Boswell, O. L. Devaughn, J. M. Henson, Marion Easterling, F. W. Tarrant, and Lee J. Grant. The lessons sung in the afternoon by Prof. Henson and Mr. Tarrant were especially enjoyed by the audience.

The first thing after noon, a short business session was held, and the election of officers was entered into. The election resulted as follows: President, W. G. Culp; Vice President, O. L. Devaughn; Secretary, T. E. Wyatt. It was decided that the executive committee be selected some time later.

After a few announcements, the benediction was invoked by Judge Posey, and the book owners gathered up the fragments of their books that were not taken away, and everyone departed for their homes rejoicing over a day well spent at Verbena in singing praises to Almighty God.

Dr. and Mrs. Wren of Sylacauga visited friends and relatives here recently.

Miss Annie Freeman from Wetumpka was the guest of Mrs. Kate Haynes Sunday.

SINGING NEXT SUNDAY

The United Singing Society will meet at Oak Hill next Sunday afternoon. We especially request all our members to be there as we have not had a meeting there in quite a while. We invite all singers and music lovers to be with us. We want your presence, whether you sing or not. We would be glad to have any visitors from any of the other societies in the county to be with us there.—A. H. Glasscock.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Riley of Birmingham and Mrs. Beatrice Noston and little daughter, Caroline, of Attalla were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Danforth Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott have returned to their home in Huntsville after a few days spent here with relatives.

STANTON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Flukner of Selma visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell Sunday.

C. E. Cagle and family were shopping in Selma Monday.

T. C. Wooley spent the week end in Montgomery with friends.

Martin Gay of Centreville visited his sister, Mrs. Bill Ruddick.

Mrs. Warren Henry of Burnsville visited relatives and friends here last Monday.

Mrs. Walter Hand of Birmingham spent the week end here with relatives.

Mr. Abe Sanders of Atlanta, Ga., spent two days last week in the Gregg home.

Mrs. Dessie Jefferson and four attractive grand children of Lawley visited in the Wooley home Tsesday.

Alvin Cook of Birmingham is visiting his mother, Mrs. D. J. Cook, this week.

Miss Lucy Mitchell is improving at the Baptist Hospital, from an operation for appendicitis last week. Several of the younger set visited her Sunday.

C. E. agle and Bill Ruddick attended the Birmingham-Houston ball game in Birmingham last Wednesday.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Probate Court:

To Mrs. Lula Cato, John W. Reinhardt, Mollie Rogers, Harrison Reinhardt, Mrs. Alice Cornett, Mrs. Minnie Bates: You are hereby notified that J. C. Rogers, administrator of the estate of May E. Potts, has this day filed his accounts and vouchers, evidences and statements, for the final settlement of his said administration of the estate of Mae E. Potts, and that the 5th day of October, has been appointed by the Court for hearing and making said settlement, at which time you can appear in said Court and contest the same if you think proper.

Given under my hand this the 12th day of September, 1931.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

8-17-3t-ch.

IRBY HALL

Irby Hall, of Collinsville, Ala., new president of the Alabama Merchants Association, elected at the fifteenth annual convention in Birmingham recently.

HAYNES ITEMS

A large crowd attended the singing at Big Springs Sunday afternoon.

Velma Apperson spent a part of Sunday afternoon with Lorene Wright.

Sara and Margaret Jones and Bealie Billingsley attended the singing at Verbena Sunday afternoon.

Mr. W. E. Wright and Woodrow Smith spent Monday in Montgomery attending to business.

After attending the singing Sunday afternoon Sara and Margaret Jones and Bealie Billingsley visited Lay Dam.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Motley and family visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob DeRamus Sunday.

Henry and James Herrod of Prattville spent the past week with their grand mother, Mrs. Alice Herrod.

Mr. Sam Hayes spent Saturday night with Oscar Jones.

Earl Deloach and Willie Hazard visited in the home of J. E. Wright Friday evening.

Mr. J. E. Wright spent Monday in Prattville on business.

Tlyne Wright spent Sunday afternoon with Lena Turner.

Mr. E. B. Hedgepeth spent Monday in Haynes.

Messrs O. O. Jones, J. T. Gaines, W. N. Gaines and R. L. Jackson motored to Montgomery Saturday.

A number of patrons were out to the school opening Monday morning.

Misses Mary Lou and Ethel Ruth Gaines attended the faculty meeting at the Billingsley High School Saturday afternoon. They are members of the faculty at the Grammar School.

Mildred, Woodrow, and Alpheus Smith spent Saturday in Montgomery at the curb market.

FOX'S Bargains

BUTCHER KNIVES
Regular 50c Knife seling for 25c

CROSS CUT SAWS
Diamond Edge 5-foot saw for $3.10

Diamond Edge 5½-foot saw for $3.50
Fully Guaranteed

A FEW ODD CHAIRS
We have a few yet to close out. You can get a $12 chair for only $5. Come and see them.

STOVE PANS—ALL SIZES
For baking bread
10c to 25c

CEDAR POLISH

12-oz. bottle	20c
20-oz. bottle	35c

SHOT GUN SHELLS
Winchester Ranger and Repeater
Price 65c and up

FRYING PANS
Thick bottom. Cool handles
8c to 30c

A big variety of every kind of useful article needed in the home. Come and look through our store.

W. W. FOX Variety Store

INDIAN GRAVE

Mrs. J. B. Deramus returned Saturday from a visit in Memphis, Tennessee.

Mr. J. B. Deramus and children and Miss Maggie Jones motored to Clanton Saturday.

Miss Sarah Jones, and sister, Maggie, attended the singing convention Sunday at Verbena.

Mr. W. M. Deramus and Miss Minnie Carter and little Houston Carter motored to White Pond Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Golson visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Herrod and children were present at the M. E. Sunday school Sunday afternoon at Mr. C. H. Roy's.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamon Motley and two children of Autaugaville spent the day Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus.

Mr. Bela Billingsley attended the singing convention Sunday at Verbena.

Mrs. J. B. Deramus attended the school opening Monday at Billingsley.

Mr. Claud Herrod visited Mr. J. Bob Deramus Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. T. Gaines visited Mrs. J. Bob Deramus Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Carson Williams spent the week end at Maplesville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wyatt motored to Haynes Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Gaines and Mr. and Mrs. Hallet Lee, and Miss Mary Lou Gaines motored to Montevallo Sunday.

Mr. Claud Herrod made a business trip to Prattville Monday.

Mrs. A. C. Crews and two grand children, Mr. Bennon and Miss Eugenia Vincent of Vida visited Mrs. Sallie Deramus Friday afternoon.

HONOR GIVEN MRS. CURRY

The many friends of Mrs. Clara B. Curry will be interested to know that she is now a member of the Janalene Five Year Club.

For five years Mrs. Curry has represented the Janalene (dress and underwear) factory of Indianapolis.

On the fifteenth of Sept., a modest but artistic gold pin was forwarded to Mrs. Curry, accompanied by the following letter:—

Dear Mrs. Curry:

It is with great pleasure that I tell you of the news that you have been accepted for membership in the Janalene Five Year Club. I am sending you herewith a little colored Honor Pin which I wish you to accept with my compliments.

Janalene is proud of you and the many other Janalene reprenentatives scattered all over the country who have remained loyal members of our happy family year after year.

The Five Year Honor Pin that I am sending you is a beautiful piece of jewelry, as you can see, and one I am sure you will receive a great deal of pleasure in wearing, not only because of its artistic value, but because of its artistic and intrinsic value, but because of the honor that is signifies.

With the assurance of my continued cooperation at all times, I am cordially yours, S. J. Sternberger.

Miss Corinne Polk left Sunday for Athens College.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade is spending some time at Stafford Springs, Mississippi.

C. R. Mullins made a business trip to Tuscaloosa Saturday.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

FOR SALE

DUROC JERSEY PIGS

At my farm near Clanton. Also some young sows that have been bred, to let out on halves or for sale.

FLOUR

I have a car load of flour that has some weevils in it. For sale at W. A. Reynolds Store, South Clanton. The price is almost as cheap as shorts.

L. H. REYNOLDS

Clanton, Alabama

NEVER BEFORE AT SUCH PRICES!

$6.95 13 PLATE and up

for Willard Batteries

Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging All Makes of Batteries

We Will Allow You One Dollar For Your Old Battery

BATES AUTO SHOP

On the Highway :-: Clanton, Ala.

Willard STORAGE BATTERIES

★ For Greater Service and Satisfaction from Any Make of Battery Use Willard Service Regularly ★

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO

DALLAS COMPRESS CO.

Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).

Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.

Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop.

Dallas Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

Enrollment at the University of Alabama reached 4,196 at the end of the first week of registration, President George H. Denny announced. On the corresponding day of last year a total of 3,611 had matriculated. Dr. Denny stated that approximately 850 qualified out-of-state students had to be denied admission. All qualified Alabama applicants were admitted.

Four daughters enrolled at the University of Alabama, each one in a different class, is the proud distinction bourne by Mrs. A. G. Bennett, formerly of Russellville, Ala. Mrs. Bennett has just removed to Tuscaloosa in order to be near the quartette of students. Margaret is a senior; Josephine, a junior; Adriene, a sophomore; and Betty, the freshman.

Assisted by Mrs. Houston Cole of the Tuscaloosa County High School faculty, all students receiving the bachelor of science degree in home economics from the University of Alabama this year will do practice teaching under the direction of Miss Clara Cerveny. Miss Cerveny is an M. A. of the University.

The "A" book, a handbook of student information published by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., of the University of Alabama, has been distributed to first year students.

Officers of the Y. M. C. A. directing the publication include Joe Burns, Tuscaloosa, editor; Kenneth Roberts, Piedmont, assitant editor; and Thomas Starlin, Columbus, Ga., business manager.

ISABELLA F. F. A. MEETS

The Isabella chapter of the F. F. A. met Wednesday, September 16. New officers were elected as follows: Marvin Durbin, president; Luther Mims, vice president; Homer Morgan, secretary; Morris Keen, treasurer; S. L. Broadhead, reporter. The dues for this year are seventy-five cents.

It was decided that a meeting would be held each Wednesday. Three new members were received. All members are requested to be present next Wednesday.

IN MEMORY OF CARL MILLS

One of the most beautiful scenes as laid in the life of Christ on earth was the calling of the children to Him. His disciples sought to have them put away and the Christ said: "Suffer little children to come unto me; forbid them not; for such is the kingdom of heaven."

Late in the afternoon of September 5, 1931, God gathered unto Himself little Carl Mills, aged 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mills, of Billingsley.

He was fatally hurt in an automobile accident, living only a few minutes after reaching the hospital in Clanton. "A human flower untouched by the finger of care."

We never see a child die, but what we think of cut flowers. The gardener has need of flowers, and he takes them before they are in full bloom. Maybe it is that the gardener has need of some cut flowers. Bereaved ones, maybe it is that he went out and cut one that you concluded belonged to you. Maybe it is today that your heart aches, you feel that you must grieve, and that you have been wronged. Lift up your face and listen. Your cut flower has gone to the end that you might cast out selfishness and burn to the gray ashes of discontent. As you think of your cut flower, so white and peaceful and still, may that precious little face become the guiding star that will lead you and guide you on to a better life, remembering:

"'Twas an angel visited the green earth;
And carried the flower away."

STRICT WATCH ORDERED ON AGRICULTURAL SEED

Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture and industries has ordered strict and thorough inspection of all agricultural seed sold in Alabama and insist that inspectors suspend from sale all seed which are not properly tagged and labeled.

L. N. Allen, seed analyst, has advised all seed dealers in the state that "seeds not bearing an analysis label as required by law will be removed from sale subject to confiscation when found by the seed inspectors."

ALABAMA'S CHAMPION HOG PRODUCERS ARE SELECTED

Five farmers were named the 1931 champion ton litter hog producers of Alabama at the county ton litter show held at the Union Stockyard, Montgomery. They are W. J. Hicks, Whatley, Clark County, winner of the $50 prize; Mrs. W. R. Snellgrove, Ozark, Dale County, $50; T. J. Culberton, Rockford, Coosa County, $30; J. A. Wadsworth, Prattville, Autauga County, $25; and Charles Ford, Montgomery County, $25. T. R. Swanner, Luverne, Crenshaw County, was owner of the grand champion barrow.

VERBENA SCHOOLS RE-ORGANIZE P.-T. A.

The Parent-Teachers Association of Verbena schools held their first meeting of this school year at the high school Thursday, September 10. The following officers were elected:

Mrs. W. I. Deramus, president; Mrs. Will Strock, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Hubbard, secretary; Mrs. C. L. Hughes, treasurer.

The president appointed committees to arrange programs and sponsor a membership drive. The program committee has arranged an unusually interesting program for the next meeting, which is to be held Thursday evening, September 24th, at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. The program is as follows:

Devotional, Mr. C. L. Hughes.

Songs, by chorus.

Play, "Defeat," (De Feet) Characters: Nell Pattillo, reader; Sarah Hollis, a country maiden; Aubrey Boone, a country swain; Evelyn Barrett, a flapper; Aubrey Robinson, a city flop; Charles Meroney, his father.

Music, by Mrs. Will Gulledge and Frank Gulledge.

Solo, by Mrs. W. C. DuBose; obligato, Mr. Sidney Gibson; accompaniment, Mrs. Will Gulledge.

No fees or admission will be charged at this meeting. Every mother, father and friend is urged to attend.

Locals

Miss Margaret Jones of Haynes was a visitor to Clanton Saturday.

The Young Mens Class of the Methodist Church were delightfully entertained at an ice cream supper given by the Young Ladies Class Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Rother Harris of Birmingham spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris.

Mr. H. A. Harris is rapidly improving at his home.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Wren of Talladega were visitors to relatives Sunday.

Mrs. Haynes is ill at the Central Alabama Hospital.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade is leaving Tuesday for Stafford Springs where she goes each summer for a rest.

Wallace Jones of Birmingham was in Clanton last week.

The Banner and Post 1 Year, $3.85

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 27

REVIEW: THE SPREAD OF CHRISTIANITY IN ASIA

GOLDEN TEXT—And when they were come, and had gathered the church together, they rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Giving the Gospel to Asia.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Spread of the Gospel in Asia.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Early Christian Triumphs.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity Becomes a World Religion.

The interests of the quarter are so varied, the personalities brought to view so interesting, that the grade of the class and the genius of the teacher will readily determine the method of review. Two methods are suggested for senior and adult classes. Assignment of work a week in advance is required in both cases:

1. A study of the persons actively concerned in the lessons with the object of discerning the strong and weak points in the character of each.

2. A summary of the facts and teachings of the lessons for the quarter. The following suggestions are offered for the second method:

Lesson for July 5.

The missionary program is for the gospel to be preached to the whole world, beginning at Jerusalem. The supreme obligation of the Church is to evangelize the world. This can only be done in the energy of the Holy Spirit.

Lesson for July 12.

After the Spirit came upon the disciples at Pentecost, their supreme impulse was to preach the gospel. In spite of opposition, even imprisonment and threatened death, the disciples preached Christ in the energy of the Holy Spirit.

Lesson for July 19.

The primitive Church spent much time in prayer. The Spirit of God was upon them. Therefore, they boldly testified for Christ and systematically cared for the poor and needy.

Lesson for July 26.

Christianity spread by persecution. Christ declared himself to be the way, the truth, and the life. Missionary endeavor is but the life of God expressing itself through redeemed men by the Holy Spirit. Christianity is therefore indestructible.

Lesson for August 2.

In taking the gospel to the Samaritans we see the broadening scope of the Church. The leader in this work of evangelizing is Philip, one of the seven deacons. He seems to have been the only one ever called "evangelist." If the world is ever to be evangelized, it must be done through the activities of the laity.

Lesson for August 9.

Saul was arrested in his mad effort to stamp out Christianity by the direct interference of the Lord. His conversion illustrates the transformation of the Jewish nation. One of these days the multitudes of that nation shall see Jesus Christ, their Messiah. Penitently and enthusiastically they shall proceed to complete the task for which they were ordained.

Lesson for August 16.

Gracious justification by faith is the dynamic for right living. The one thus experiencing the life of God through faith will manifest the fruit of the Spirit, living a temperate life.

Lesson for August 23.

In the conversion of Cornelius we see the missionary program widening to embrace the Gentiles. In this connection the Holy Spirit was poured out anew.

Lesson for August 30.

The sending out of Barnabas and Saul marks the beginning of foreign missions as the deliberately planned enterprise of the Church. The Holy Spirit calls and sends out missionaries.

Lesson for September 6.

When foreign missionary work began in earnest, Saul took the place of leadership, since he was called to be the apostle to the Gentiles.

Lesson for September 13.

The treatment accorded Paul in his missionary work shows the attitude of the world toward Jesus Christ. Such behavior reveals the awful need of the saving power of the gospel.

Lesson for September 20.

The speech of James at the Jerusalem council shows the outline of God's plan. It is through the preaching of the gospel to take out from the Gentiles a people for his name, which is now going on. Afterward Israel, as a nation, shall be converted, following which shall be the conversion of the whole world through the agency of converted Israel.

No Man Is a Blank

"Every man is a missionary, now and forever, for good or for evil, whether he intends it or not. He may be a blot radiating his dark influence outward to the very circumference of society; or he may be a blessing, spreading benediction over the length and breadth of the world; but a blank he cannot be."—Doctor Chalmers.

Children Need Models

Children have more need of models than of critics.—Joubert.

Subscribe for The Union-Banner.

SAMUEL ADAMS, AN EARLY REVOLUTIONARY LEADER

Among the early American patriots of the few years just preceding the Revolutionary War, none filled a more important place than Samuel Adams, the first great colorful revolutionist.

It is noteworthy, says the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, that Samuel Adams, more than any other one man was responsible for the public sentiment which brought on the Revolutionary War and secured the independence of the United States. Admirably equipped as a political organizer and vigorous writer, he early ascended to the leadership of the radical element in Massachusetts opposed to the arbitrary and coercive acts which Parliament directed at the Colonies.

The story of Samuel Adams is an account of a man whose entire interest was absorbed in public service to the utter ruin of personal affairs. Born September 27, 1722, of a prominent and wealthy New England family, he might have enjoyed financial independence. On the basis of his father's position and affluence, Samuel ranked socially fifth in a class of 22 at Harvard.

The elder Adams was a natural leader, and from his illustrious son inherited much of the ability and inclination which took him into politics. In 1743 Samuel received his master of arts degree from Harvard, having submitted his thesis on "Whether it be lawful to resist the Supreme Magistrate, if the commonwealth cannot be otherwise preserved." He argued this subject in the affirmative.

It early became apparent that Samuel Adams possessed no liking for and few abilities in commercial pursuits. His father advanced a thousand pounds to set him up in business, but the young man lent half of it to a friend who never repaid it, and in a very short time lost the remainder on his own account. He inherited his father's brewery and the family mansion on Purchase Street in Boston, but the fortune soon passed out of his hands, and he entered public life as a tax collector for the Town of Boston.

ALABAMA LUMBER INDICATES SOURCE

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 21.—Many forward looking Alabama manufacturers are using modern merchandising methods in making their products more attractive, usable and distinctive, states Colonel Page S. Bunker, state forester. Heretofore, in most cases, lumber and other forest products lost their identity as soon as they left the manufacturers. However, many mills now stamp the name of the mill on one side of flooring and ceiling and on the ends of finish and common lumber.

The species, grade and size of the lumber is also shown in some cases. Timbers are stencilled with the maker's name and cars of timbers, poles, piling and lumber often have signs attached showing the name and address of the producer.

Some mills line the sides of the freight cars with paper and cover the floors with shavings before loading lumber in them. Others wrap their finish lumber in paper which keeps each package of lumber clean until it is used. A sticker on each package states the size, grade, quantity and manufacturer.

Some lumber is given a protective coat of paint at the mill and cedar closet lining is sometimes painted on the back face to reduce the evaporation of the desired oils.

All of these devices aid the consumer in obtaining suitable materials and the forest converting industries in obtaining more business if they produce highly satisfactory products.

TAKING OTHERS' SONG BOOKS

Just what kind of a person is it who will deliberately take home with them a song book which someone has lent them to sing in? Such a person must be interested in sacred music, however, there must not be anything very sacred about such person or else they would not feel the urge to "swipe" something.

Prof. J. M. Henson of Atlanta and Prof. Shaw of Birmingham were generous enough last Sunday at Verbena to lend anyone a book who wanted one, and offered to sell to those who wanted to buy. Mr. J. R. Robinson at the close of the singing kindly asked everyone to leave the books in the building. However, both these gentlemen found their books away short when they were gathered up.

If people carelessly take away song books that do not belong to them, they should return them to their rightful owner, and be more careful next time. And deliberately taking a song book that does not belong to one is just as bad as going into a neighbor's smoke house and taking a middling of meat.

Dr. S. A. BARSON

OPTOMETRIST

Will Be At The Exchange Hotel, Clanton, All Day

Monday, Sept. 28

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Mullins Academy, Beat 1	Oct. 5	Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17
Jemison, Beat 2	Oct. 6	Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19
Mars Hill, Beat 2	Oct. 7	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
		Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.

AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

Why do millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires?

Latest Improved
GOODYEAR PATHFINDER
Supertwist Cord Tires

Let us show you the finer quality that you get because Goodyear builds MILLIONS MORE tires

$5.69 4.50-21 (30x4.50)
$11.10 per pair
Other sizes equally low
Lifetime Guaranteed

Size	Each	Pair
4.40-21 (29x4.40)	$4.98	$ 9.60
4.50-20 (29x4.50)	5.60	10.90
4.75-19 (28x4.75)	6.65	12.90
5.25-21 (31x5.25)	8.57	16.70
30x3½ Reg. Cl.	4.39	8.54

HEAVY DUTY TRUCK TIRES

30x5	$17.95
32x6	29.75
7.50-20 (34x7.50)	29.95
6.00-20 (32x6.00)	15.35

a new low price
Guaranteed GOODYEARS
the new improved
SPEEDWAY
4.35
4.40-21 (29x4.40)

Guaranteed Tire Repairing
ESTIMATES FREE

New Improved
GOODYEAR ALL-WEATHER
Supertwist Cord Tires

The last whisper in Style, Mileage, Value. 11 major improvements—not a cent extra!

$8.55 4.75-19 (28x4.75)
Other sizes in Proportion

Trade in old Tires

Size	Price
4.40-21 (29x4.40)	$ 7.05
4.50-20 (29x4.50)	7.45
4.50-21 (30x4.50)	7.85
4.75-20 (29x4.75)	8.90
5.00-19 (29x5.00)	9.15
5.00-20 (30x5.00)	9.40
5.25-21 (31x5.25)	11.40
5.50-18 (28x5.50)	11.50
5.50-19 (29x5.50)	12.00
6.00-20 (32x6.00)	13.50

. . . isn't it because the people who buy tires, rather than those who sell them, definitely have settled the question as to whose tires are the best values?

Small cars, big cars—they all wear more Goodyear Tires than any other kind. The measure of value in a product may accurately be gauged by its volume of sales. You owe it to yourself to know the reasons why Goodyear Tires lead all others so greatly. We can show you!

Dief's Service Station
CLANTON, ALABAMA

Non-Jury Circuit Court and Grand Jury Here Monday and Tuesday

A two-day non-jury term of the Circut Court of Chilton County will be held on Monday and Tuesday, September 28th and 29th, at the court house here. The grand jury will also be in session at this time. Following are the cases to be tried:

C. C. Simmons, petit larceny.
Walter Kelley, assault with weapon.
Joe Farmer, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated.
Clyde Matthews, violating prohibition law.
Will Bohannon, violating prohibition law.
Bessie Bohannon, violaing prohibition law.
Dan Jackson, violating prohibition law.
Willie Pilgreen, fraudulent check.
John Kelley, violating prohibition law.
Homer Ratliff, disturbing religious worship.
Jim Gennings, alias, violating prohibition law.
Elijah Thomas, violating prohibition law.
Richard Palmer, reckless driving.
Harry Weissbuck, reckless driving.
Namon Oden, violating prohibition law.
G. W. Cobern, maintaining Ins. P.
Gordeon Howard, driving automobile while intoxicated.
Albert Rucker, violating prohibition law.
S. D. McCary, driving motor vehicle without license tag.
John Mims, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.
Henry Wilson, violating prohibition law.
Miles B. Arant, violating prohibition law.
Gordson Hudson, violating prohibition law.
C. E. Faulkner, violating prohibition law.
Jack Dickerson, assault and battery.
Robert E. Waites, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated.
Jim Dykes, assault and battery.
Robert E. Waites, abusive, indecent and obscene language.
Buster Roebuck, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.
Otto Roebuck, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.
Garner Smith, assault and battery.
Perry Johnson, assault and battery.
Barney Littlefield, et al, defaulting bond.
Elijah Thomas, et al, defaulting bond.
Vernon Clark, violating prohibition law.
Albert Rucker, violating prohibition law.
Arthur Gibson, issuing bad check.
Jackson Cleckler, violating prohibition law.
James Gennings, alias et al, defaulting bond.
Lum Gill, violating prohibition law.
Jack Tyus, violating prohibition law.
Willie Pilgreen, et al, defaulting bond.
Joe Cooper, assault and battery.
Charley Henry, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated.
John Henry, violating prohibition law.
Will Giles, violating prohibition law.
Aline Hurt, abusive, indecent, and obscene language.
Lee Simpson, violating prohibition law.
Herman Stone, violating prohibition law.
Quinton W. Branton, violating prohibition law.
Clarence Hawkins, assault and battery.
Tom Hughes, violating prohibition law.
Brack Pearson, violating prohibition law.
Jim Caton, violating prohibition law.
Retherford Varner, violating prohibition law.
James Chisholm, violating prohibition law.
Annie M. Chisholm, violating prohibition law.
Arnold Dooley, assault and battery.
Norman Roberts, assault and battery.
Norman Roberts, defacing public property.
F. D. Long, reckless driving.
Meadie Bohannon, assault and battery.
Curtis Giles, violating prohibition law.
Ellis Foshee, violating prohibition law.
Flora Thornton, assault and battery.
S. D. McCary, violating prohibition law.
Jim Varner, violating prohibition law.
Tom Boyd, violating prohibition law.
Wallace Jackson, assault and battery.
Thomas Lewis, violating prohibition law.
Herbert Lucas, violating prohibition law.
Mack Neighbors, violating prohibition law.
Hasteen Lucas, violating prohibition law.
Jasper Lucas, violating prohibition law.
J. C. Jones, violating prohibition law.
P. D. Williams, violating prohibition law.
Powell Sullivan, violating prohibition law.
F. A. Shanks, violating prohibition law.
Ernest Baker, violating prohibition law.
Horace Mims, driving motor vehicle without license tag.
Dennis Williams, selling mortgaged property.
Lude Williams, reckless driving.
James Evans, reckless driving.
William King, reckless driving.
Carl Sammons, disturbing religious worship.
John Norred, petit larceny.
Grady Taylor, trading W. L.
Grady Taylor, trading W. L.
Lois Winston, violating prohibition law.
Willie Vinson, violating prohibition law.
Jim. M. McCormick, violating prohibition law.
Marcus Bert, violating prohibition law.
Robert Ziegler, assault and battery.
Wilbur F. White, petit larceny.
Bennie Connell, grand larceny.
Tearse Killingsworth, abusive indecent, and obscene language.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince visited Deatsville Wednesday.

Mrs. Renfroe Mullins spent Thursday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bosworth of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. M. Bosworth in Thorsby.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

Fred Howard returned last week from a very enjoyable two weeks vacation; considerable of it was spent at Bon Secours Bay and on the Bon Secours River in Baldwin County. He brought home considerable evidence that fishing was good, and distributed his catch liberally among his Thorsby friends. The writer happens to be considered one of this number and got all he could use of fine trout. Fred says there were literally swarms of them at times, and so hungry they actually jumped out of the water to grab his hook as fast as he could take them off, renew the bait and cast again.

He also got all the oysters he could eat by digging for them with an oyster rake, in the sand on the botton of the bay. Another treat he mentioned was going out with a crew on a shrimp boat, and saw them haul in the big net filled with a swarm of the squirming mass of shrimp, crabs, turtles, and a great variety of fish little and big. The writer has seen something of that kind of fishing on the Atlantic Seaboard, and knew of one catch of 5,000 pounds. This boat was among a fleet engaged in catching shrimp for canning.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will hold their regular monthly social on Thursday afternoon of this week, at the home of Mrs. Wilder. Mrs. Bob Davenport and Mrs. Wilder will be hostesses.

The annual reception given by the Ladies Guild, will be held on Friday evening, September 25, at 7:30 in Helen Jenkins Hall. They cordially invite members of the board of trustees and their wives, Thorsby Institute faculty and students, parents of students, alumni and contributing friends.

Teachers, students and a few friends of Thorsby Institute dormitory had a picnic supper and games on the lawn of the Each home last Saturday night. Every one seemed to have a good time.

The song service at the Congregational church Sunday night was well attended, most of the audience having arrived ahead of the thunder shower which prevailed at that time. Gresham Lowery, Miss Jenkins, Miss Davison, Mr. Butler and Gerald Smith were leaders. The singing of "Let the Lower Lights be Burning," with illustrations drawn by Miss Davison was an enjoyable special feature. A duet by Miss Arthur and Mrs. Sutlive was much enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray have bought the Dr. Wood home on Summit Avenue and moved in last Thursday. We congratulate them on having a place to live that is so admirably adapted to their needs and comfort.

Mrs. Each had a fall on the steps of their back porch last Saturday morning. She suffered a sprained ankle and back, with some minor bruises that put her in bed a couple of days, but one never saw her beat for "coming up smiling" much sooner than could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. John Billingsley and Mrs. E. F. Billingsley were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Littleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kendrick and Mr. and Mrs. Hart, of Ensley, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hendrick in Thorsby.

Herbert Reinhardt spent the week end with relatives at Wilsonville.

Miss Mary Sue Robinson attended the ball game in Birmingham Thursday, with Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bentley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard had as their guests last Friday Mrs. Anna Thacker and Mr. J. D. Marlar of Clanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Bilous and sons, Bobby and Howard, of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Shehan of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Craig, all of Birmingham, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Piper.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams of Prattville were visitors at the Leary home Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Butler left for Atlanta Monday morning to enter Emery University, where she will take a post graduate course in library work.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell went to Birmingham Sunday to attend the 40th anniversary of the founding of the 76th St. Presbyterian Church, of which they were former members.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Townsend spent Sunday in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Love with the Moore children, all of Birmingham, and Mr. George D. Laurell of Alcoa, Tenn., were Sunday visitors at the N. Laurell home in Thorsby.

Mrs. Clyde Sims of Louisiana is visiting her mother, Mrs. English for three weeks. She reports that her husband, who was desperately ill some months ago, has entirely recovered, and is now a superintendent for the Couch Construction Company, for whom he worked when they were building the highway through Thorsby.

Mrs. Frank Thompson had as Sunday visitors her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Carleton of Dadeville.

Rev. J. E. Each had a birthday anniversary Monday; at night a lot of church people and friends gave him a real surprise party. A string of electric lights was soon installed on the lawn, games were provided and the party proceeded to enjoy a good time for a couple of hours. They had provided themselves with refreshments, and the young men of the group saw to it that the dishes were all washed up before they left. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves, and entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion.

Thorsby Institute opened Wednesday, September 16, with an enrollment of ninety. This is the largest enrollment the school has had on the opening day for several years.

The opening exercises were held in the auditorium of Helen Jenkins Hall with Miss Jenkins presiding. Rev. J. E. Each, vice president of the board of trustees, gave the address of welcome. Rev. E. W. Butler, treasurer of the Institute, spoke briefly to the school and visitors. Mrs. H. R. Maddox, registrar, made a very interesting talk and made announcements for the day. Mr. Clyde King, teacher of history and science, gave an interesting account of a historical tour which he made this past summer. Lois Thompson and Edna Lee Wilder sang a duet, "My Task." The members of the faculty were introduced by Miss Helen Jenkins, principal.

Several alumni visited chapel at the Institute on Thursday morning: Dorothy Butler, a recent graduate of Oberlin College, Annie Lou Arthur, a junior in Piedmont College; and Marcelle Wilder of Thorsby. Each one was asked to say something to the student body.

Rev. and Mrs. James Pate of Calera visited their sister, Ida Lou, who is a boarding student at Thorsby Institute.

Miss Lena Barrett Williams celebrated her birthday party Saturday night. A large crowd of boys and girls were there to help her make the party lively and enjoyable.

Mr. Robinson of Lay Dam called at Thorsby Institute Saturday to see his daughter, Elwyn, who is a student in the boarding department.

Miss Fairbank, Thorsby Institute librarian, reports that from September 1st, 1930, to September 1st, 1931, 6,275 books and magazines were borrowed from the library, which shows that some people in and around Thorsby have "the reading habit."

Miss Fairbank also announces that with the exception of one class period each day, except Saturday and Sunday, the library will be open during school hours—9 to 12 a. m, and 1 to 5 p. m. There are many valuable books and periodicals offered.

The B. Y. P. U. of the Thorsby Baptist church was well attended last Sunday night. We had about 65 present with us; we had a good lesson and invite everyone back with us again next Sunday night, and bring someone with you.

The womans missonary society of the Baptist church will observe the day of prayer for state missions, on Thursday 24th, at the church, beginning at ten o'clock.

A very interesting program for the day has been arranged. The subject for discussion is "The Unpossessed Land."

Members of the organization and others who would like to join us in the observation of this season of prayer and study are urged to attend the meeting. A box lunch will be served at noon hour.

Mrs. Spurgeon Williams spent the week end with relatives in Selma.

Mrs. Price of Birmingham was a visitor to her daughter, Anna Fae Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Davenport attended the singing at Verbena last Sunday.

Mrs. M. J. Primm returned home last Friday from a two weeks visit with her son, Hugh Primm, of near Calera.

Miss Margaret Butler of Birmingham visited home folks Sunday.

Mrs. R. R. Franklin and Mrs. E. L. Pate spent Wednesday in Birmingham.

Ollis and Ottis Littleton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray spent Sunday with Mr. Gray's parents at Wadsworth.

Miss Christina Bosworth and her cousin Theresa Bosworth, both of Selma, spent the week end at the Bosworth home in Thorsby.

DEMABEL'S Beauty Salon

FINGER WAVES
Wet—35c
Dry—50c
Marcel 75c
Haircut 25c
"Look Your Best"

WADESONIAN
PROGRAMS

Friday and Saturday
September 25th and 26th

Buck Jones, In
"THE AVENGER"—All Talking Western
Serial—"Spell of the Circus"—All Talking

Monday and Tuesday
September 28th and 29th

Dorothy Mackail, In
"THE LOVE RACKETT"—All Talking
COMEDY—All Talking

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Alabama, as Second Class Mail Matter, under Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

Any school boy can tell you that the way to reduce taxes is to keep the school house doors locked until after Christmas.

Sitting or Setting—They were arguing as to whether it was correct to say of a hen "she is sitting" or "she is setting."

"The question," said the farmer, "don't interest me at all. What I want to know when I hear a hen cackling is whether she is laying or lying."—Progressive Farmer.

Those mutineers on the Chilean warships found themselves all steamed up and nowhere to go.

In 1929 the financial experts were unanimously of the opinion that times couldn't get hard in the United States again. Now about eighty per cent of them are confident that we will never have prosperity again. When the other twenty per cent is convinced that things will never adjust themselves we can begin to look for a change for the better.

The Prince of Wales announces that, like a good Englishman, he will economize, now that the country is hard up. We presume this means that he won't be getting married soon.

If Rip Van Winkle had gone to sleep in September, 1929, and wakened today he would have noted more changes in two years than he did after his twenty year nap—providing he looked at the financial page.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

Things do not seem to be breaking right for the World Court, so far as the increase of its prestige in the United States is concerned. Just as certain international organizations were getting ready to make a drive to put Uncle Sam in the court, with the Root proviso, along came the decision putting thumbs down on the Austro-German customs union pact. The proposed customs agreement, briefly, was for an elimination of tariff barriers between Germany and Austria. France and Italy opposed the union, stating it meant the absorption of little Austria into the German republic. The Austrians and Germans denied this, claiming that they were only seeking to carry out the suggestions of a prominent French statesman, that tariff barriers in Europe should be eliminated.

Be that as it may, along came the World Court and by a vote of 8 to 7, decided that the customs agreement was outlawed. There is nothing significant in this barring the fact that the change of one vote could have altered the fate of two Europeon nations and perhaps of the entire continent. But there is a real significance, and that is in the lineup of the judges in the vote. The Latin bloc, including France, Italy and Poland, a staunch French ally, lined up together, while Germany, of course, and six other nations were on the other side. It becomes immediately evident, in examining the returns that many of the judges voted along political and national lines rather than along lines of abstract justice.

Even the New York Times, which strongly advocates the adherence of the United States to the World Court, says "It must be admitted, however, that this almost equal division of the World Court does not heighten its prestige. Apparently political questions, although the World Court specifically renounces any right or intention to deal with them, got mixed up with the legal questions. Some of the judges seem to have given as much weight to public consequences as they did to legal argument.

"Then there was the significant grouping of judges, on the one side or the other, strongly suggesting a national interest behind the decision of at least a few of the judges. All this has, in fairness, to be recognized as a somewhat disquieting feature in the handling of this difficult case."

The pro-league Baltimore Sun says that "this sort of thing is not in accord with our ideas of judicial impartiality," while the New York World-Telegram, of the Scripps-Howard chain, pro-court and internationalists, says almost apologetically: "It looks to us as if political considerations may have influenced some of the judges. That is unfortunate. But no sane supporter of the court has ever argued that it is perfect." The New York Evening Post regards the decision as unfortunate and the Philadelphia Public Ledger bluntly says: "The eight to seven decision in this case was thoroughly unsatisfactory. It bore what are widely regarded as unmistakable traces of French political maneuvering and the prestige of the court will suffer from it."

Those newspapers which are opposed to American participation in European political affairs are of course critcial of the decision the criticisms ranging from bitter denunciation to irony. The Washington Herald declares: "What does count is that the deciding vote unmasked the court itself. The supposedly august tribunal stands revealed as the tool of world politics—not by any means an ideal instrument of 'international justice,' which its delusive name implies. For in this first great test of its sincerity, as the New York Times correspondent remarks, 'the judges lined up according to the political sympathy of their countries They were not governed by the legal aspects of the case.' What then would happen to the United States in any international dispute, were this nation to be involved in the League of Nations?"

That is a question a great many Americans are asking as they read of this "unfortunate decision"—so-called by the friends of the court. And it is a question which will be asked in the United States Senate a great many times during the coming winter.

PROF. J. M. HENSON, THE SINGER

In the person of Prof. J. M. Henson of Atlanta, Ga., there was a prominent visitor to our county last Saturday night and Sunday. Leaving Atlanta Saturday morning Prof. Henson and Mr. Tarrant arrived in our county Saturday evening. The night was spent with an old acquaintance, and he was present at Concord for the opening of Sunday school Sunday morning. Prof. Henson was the central figure in the Chilton County Singing Convention held in the Verbena High School building Sunday.

This gentleman is now a partner in the Morris-Henson Music Company of Atlanta, Ga. Some years ago he attended singing schools under Prof. H. M. Eagle in this county and later taught schools here himself. Prof. Henson said that he was very much pleased with the progress that our county had made in every respect since he had been here before.

We are always glad to have men of Prof. Henson's calibre visit our county; it is an inspiration to our people and serves as a guiding goal to which we also may strive onward and upward. He is a thorough Christian man and may well be emulated by those who have a small beginning but have the hope and ambition of attaining worth-while heights.

It was largely through the efforts of A. H. Glasscock of Jemison that this distinguished man was brought to our county. Mr. Glass is always alert to anything that means the advancement of sacred song and the Christian uplift of his associates generally.

The sailors of the navy down in Chile mutinied the other day but up to this time the Swiss navy is standing firm.

Mahatma Gandhi is bringing two goats to London with him and these may easily turn out to be the goats of the round table conference.

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

After a week's vacation, the causes of which it is no worthwhile herein to enumerate, we are back on the job. To say that we have enjoyed our little respite from the task of sweeping is putting it mild. However if this extreme hot weather does not soon let up, we fear that our dear public is going to be entirely without a Cinder Pile and Sweeper for good, for we fear that we shall melt away.

And while we are on the subject of the weather would like to say that the past two weeks have been the most oppressive heat we can remember feeling at this time of the year. To use a popular expression: We may have seen and felt hotter weather than the past two weeks, but we fail to remember where or when. So much for the weather.

The prevailing market price of an article sure has lots to do with the industriousness of the producer's efforts to gather that article or product. This is being more than ever demonstrated by the farmers in this section in their attitude toward the gathering of the cotton crop. Some have been heard to remark that they believed the crop would be worth more turned under as fertilizer than it will be if picked out and sold. The Sweeper is inclined to agree on that point. We have heard of instances where farmers have used only the seed from the cotton raised on a certain piece of land as fertilizer for a few years in succession and getting their land so rich that it would not produce cotton at all. If the seed alone will do this, then it is reasonably certain that the entire crop, including lint, seed and foliage, would do considerably more. This would relieve the over-production situation, tend to stabalize price and insure an adequate supply of nitrogenous fertilizer in the soil for the next crop. We believe that such action would be wise on the part of those who can afford to do so. Also persons who are in position to hold this year's crop should by all means do so, and plant little or no cotton next year. The farmers of the south who have depended for lo, these many years on cotton alone as a money crop, are certainly going to have to work out their own salvation, and they can't do that by planting another large cotton crop next year regardless of the price now, or the prospective price next year. We are going to have to learn to balance things up in the matter of agricultural production and the earlier we see the point and begin, the better for all concerned.

It has been brought to the attention of The Sweeper that Mr. Hardy, the new Chief of Police of Clanton, is going after the traffic law violators, showing no favors or having no favorites, enforcing the law on all alike. This is to be highly commended, and The Sweeper wishes to say hurrah for Mr. Hardy. And while Mr. Hardy is seeing that those who drive in our little city observe our very lenient traffic regulations, we certainly hope and trust that he does something about the large freight vans and busses blocking the traffic and taking up the entire street while they unload a few parcels here and there over the town. We wish especially to see something done in regard to the blocking of Seventh Street, which is also the Birmingham-Montgomery highway, by these vans. We have stressed this point in these columns heretofore, and are hoping to see the situation remedied in the very near future. In this connection let us suggest to the people of Clanton and those in the surrounding territory who drive automobiles in the city at times, to at all times observe the traffic regulations as near as it is humanly possible to do, and we will have less traffic problems and fewer narrow escapes from wrecks and injuries. It is just as easy to drive correctly and in accordance with traffic laws and regulations as it is to drive wrong and in violation of these regulations. Let us all help Mr. Hardy enforce the traffic laws of Clanton by not violating them.

Where is it all going to end! This war between drug stores and filling stations vieing with each other to see which one can use up the most corners? Of course in Clanton we have only one drug store on a corner—but try and count the filling stations—and the end is not yet. Tom Rockett has broken ground for his new Shell Station on the corner of Third Avenue North and the Highway opposite the Ford Place. The Sweeper can remember when a person made preparations to take a trip in the old "tin lizzie" he was zealously careful that his gasoline supply was adequate to last him to his destination—there was the constant fear of getting out on the road. Now it is almost impossible to get out of sight of a filling station when travelling the highways of the country. Nevertheless, we predict for Mr. Rockett a good business in his latest business-venture in our city.—The Sweeper.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Bunches O' Hunches—In getting together all this material which goes to make up the old "colyum" I have to look in nearly all the old corners at times, in order to get a little something which will interest everybody. Some of it I pick up by talking to friends on the streets, highways and byways, some comes from scanning the papers, some comes in over the radio—just all kinds of ways and means to gather something interesting. Sometimes it is pretty hard to get it together, and someimes it is even harder to get somehing to put together. Lots of times I hear or read something which would make a fine topic, and by the time I get all set to turn out copy, all memory of it has disappeared. So, if any of our readers have anything at any time which you think would be at all interesting to somebody else who might be reading the column, be sure to slip it in the mail to the Moon Man, or tell me about it. I'll do the rest.

Are We Growing Wilder?—I know nearly everybody, at some time or another, has heard the expression that "the world is growing worse" and always was. But, of late, I don't believe that much. A short time ago a big mail order house decided to "go on the air" daily with a radio program. In order to get a line on the kind of program the majority of their listeners wanted, they held a contest in which were entered four kinds of programs. The contest extended over four weeks. The first week a wild and wooly dance orchestra held forth. The second week a troupe of players depicted the inside "doings" of a characteristic American home, with all its domestic troubles. The third week an old time minstrel troupe was on the air. The fourth week a series of programs under the head of "Just Beautiful Thoughts" was offered—and that's what it was made up of—quaint old poems, old lullabies, sometimes a sacred song or two, and others likt that. And believe it or not, in this age of hustle and bustle, rush and push, that little old fashion "Beautiful Thoughts" program, the tamest of the four, by far, won out over the others by more than 50,000 votes. And, furthermore, the list, in popularity, was voted on in a manner that upheld the impression that the wilder the program the less people thought of it, the orchestra coming in a poor fourth. And another thing—not long ago I was sitting by a radio with a few others, listening in on a fairly lively program. From time to time people stopped by, listened for a moment and passed on. After a time the nature of the program changed completely to one of old favorites, string music and the like. Passers-by continued to stop to listen in, but instead of passing on, they lingered to listen until a big crowd was listening in—and they stayed until the program was over. Maybe this isn't such a wild age after all.

Depression?—Yep, I went to Birmingham on Wednesday, September 16, to witness the first Birmingham-Houston game of the Dixie baseball championship series, along with just 20,073 others. Gee, what a hot day, and what a hot game, and what a crowd. Imagine 20,074 baseball crazy fans all huddled into one park! As I looked over that immense gathering, I almost forgot there was a panic, or lack of money, or whatever it is we have on hand. I confess—I HAD forgotten until some fan in back of me chirped up with the question, "Where is Old Man Hard Times?" I took another look around me—rows on rows of seats which had sold at $2.50, others for $2.00, and on down the line to those on the grass "way out in center field—I had one of those, at $1.00, too. Considering the crowd, it looked like anything else but panic days. Nothing seemed to be worrying those people except the heat and the possibility that Birmingham might lose the game. As we entered the park, the only worry seemed to be that all wouldn't be able to get inside—the price was no worry. Money shortage? Not at all! That's why I say the panic is more than half talk. Give people something they really WANT and they'll buy it—they'll find the price some way.

Too Late For Cotton Legislation—A few weeks ago it would have helped cotton growers, I believe, if our law makers had gotten together and formed some kind of plan whereby the cotton acreage could have been forced down for next year. I believe it would have run the price of this crop up. But now I believe any such legislation would only hurt the cotton growers, in that by the time anything could be done the majority of the cotton would be out of the growers' hands, and then, if such laws should be passed, forcing the price up, it would naturally force the price of cotton goods up after the "big man" had bought it in at a low price, making a "receive little and pay big" proposition. That would hurt—bad. Since nothing has been done to help the farmer to get a fair price for his products, let's pull that nothing will be done to cause him to have to pay heavily for that which he must buy. It's too late to try to raise the price of the raw material—all we can do is try to keep the price of the finished product down on a like low level.

Busy People—I have seen and heard of lots of people who never seemed to be out of something to do. One of the best examples of this group is Mr. Jasper N. Dennis, one of the best "dirt farmers" in this county—or anybody else's county, for that matter. If you don't believe Mr. Dennis tries to keep busy, just keep on reading. One morning this week, Mr. Dennis and Mr. Harvey Foshee rode over to where Mr. Dennis has about an acre in turnips and gathered a Ford load. As they were returning home where they were to trim and wash the turnips for the market, the gas ran out. Mr. Dennis started Mr. Foshee out to a filling station to get a gallon of gas. And, did Mr. Dennis try to keep cool by fanning himself? Oh, no! He pulled about half of those turnips out of the car and was giving them a trimming, while waiting for his gas, as I passed. If that isn't keeping busy all the time and making every minute count, I'd like to hear of a busy person.

Glimpses—Mr. Sumner and Claudie Pipes talking over their golf scores—smiling—must be a joke; Jesse Jones scratches his head over an obstinate cross-word puzzle; Sheriff Gillespie with a still—the usual rush; Policeman Foshee on his round—everything quiet; "Red" Wagoner, "Cat" Eubanks, "Coos" Neighbors, "Major" Simpson, all in a huddle—yep, that's right—talking baseball—I heard somebody say "Dizzy Dean, and somebody else came right back at him with "Sweet William" Halahan; Train No. 9 rolls in—nobody on or off except the conductor; Chief Hardy drowsing in the sun—policing is a great life if you don't weaken; a drummer telling his latest joke—believe I'll listen in.—Man in the Moon.

SOUND DOCTRINE FOR THE FARMERS

We are impressed this week by a communication from Mr. A. A. Jackson, of Lomax, concerning the plight of the farmers. Being a farmer himself, the statements of Mr. Jackson are the more to be considered, it seems to us, than if he were of some other occupation. Who could more sensibly and more properly advise the farmers than one of their own number who has made a reasonable success of his own farm operations?

Mr. Jackson says such a proposition as passing a law to prohibit cotton farmers from planting cotton should be an insult to every farmer in the cotton growing states. He backs up this statement by asserting that "we should have sense enough to quit the cotton business without being so foolish as to ask a special session of the legislature to pass a law prohibiting us from planting it."

Further Mr. Jackson says: "We need not look to any official for relief, neither to any law making body. The farmers will have to seek relief through themselves by having just as little business as possible with the merchants, lawyers, doctors, and not too much with the preachers; but look to God and trust in Him alone, and relief will surely come."

Mr. Jackson is a fairly successful farmer himself. Listen to what he says about the conduct of his own business: "I bought no fertilizer, planted no cotton; have made plenty of corn, peas, peanuts, potatoes; and filled all my outhouses with hay. I had to build a crib for my corn. I have the fattest cows and mules I ever had in my life. I have not looked for relief from any farm board, county agent, nor law-making body I asked God to direct my business for me, and I am perfectly satisfied with the result."

The writer remembers a statement made by Mr. Glenn Boyd while he was president of the Peoples Savings Bank. He was talking about Mr. Jackson, and said: A. A. Jackson was the first man to put his money in The Peoples Savings Bank when it opened in Clanton more than 25 years ago. Since that time there has never been a day that he did not have some money on deposit in the bank.

HOWARD COLLEGE AND DANCING

We notice in a Birmingham daily paper that pastors around Birmingham are attacking the officials of Howard College for permitting dancing on the college campus and dancing anywhere else by students of the college. The college management is not criticized so severely on the matter, but the pastors in a kind way are letting the professors know that they think the practice is a bad one and should be banned.

We wish to commend these good Birmingham preachers for letting it be known that they are opposed to dancing, and we hope that the professors at Howard College will promptly heed their advice and see that the practice is stopped among the students. Howard College belongs to the Baptists of Alabama, and dancing is contrary to the Baptist doctrine.

It is said that the World Court's decision banning the Austro-German customs past will put the blame on Austria. This will satisfy Germany, and France, and since Austrtia is broke and too feeble to put up a protest everybody ought to be happy.

Joseph Paul-Boncour in Paris proposes that the nations of the world put their armies under control of the League of Nations as an international police force. And, of course, if two or three European powers continue to run the League this will be perfectly satisfactory.

In spite of the new United States tariff, Canada continued to buy sixty per cent of her imports from Uncle Sam last year. But you won't hear the professional free traders mention this.

Cheer up after having gone on a four months vacation the oyster is with us again.

It is said that everyone in China is so busy with the flood there is no time for fighting and a truce has virtually been declared. Which shows that a flood can be good for something after all.

Max Litvinoff, Russian Commissar of Foreign Affairs, proposes at Geneva a world-wide non-aggression economic pact. But what Max really means is no aggression against Russia.

Well, we don't know whether prosperity is just around the corner or not; but the football season is.

The most pitiful object is the fellow who has let the world lick him. He is like the wounded wolf in the pack. Once the fact becomes known that he is wounded the pack turns on him and tears him to pieces. The fellow who refuses to be licked always has a chance for his white alley as the boys say.—Berkeley, Calif., Courier.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of September 20, 1906

A bond issue of $5,000 was voted by the Town of Clanton last Tuesday for the purpose of paying off indebtedness, furnishing the school building and lighting the streets of the town. The count was 92 for the issue and 9 against it.

Sidewalks have been paved from Florence Drug Store to Cannon's Dry Goods Store, and on the other side of the street from Bill Mullins' Store past the two banks, Upchurch Drug Company and to Kanter's Store. Mr. Elias Hopkins is doing the work.

The world consumed 12,186,000 bales of American cotton last year.

Cotton is selling today at 10 cents a pound.

W. H. Pierson and Miss Lula Moore were married in Montgomery Monday.

Saturday will be Negro Day at the State Fair at Montgomery, and Booker T. Washington will deliver an address.

At a convention in Thorsby Wednesday the Republicans of the county nominated W. W. Wadsworth for State Senator.

Dr. V. J. Gragg of Shelby was here Saturday and Saturday night.

Married this week: J. T. Abbott and Miss Nettie Poole, L. L. Calfee and Miss Lillian M. Oden, John Jones and Miss Ada Dutton.

Rev. Robert Jones preached his farewell sermon at Sardis last Sunday.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Never Had the Blues

Brady Cooper, of Mountain Creek (Midway to be more exact) was a visitor to Clanton Monday. Mr. Cooper is a jolly good fellow who always wears a big smile that makes you glad to see him anywhere any time. One would guess that Brady Cooper never had a case of the blues in his life.

Robbers Are Very Thorough

From the report that comes of the hold up and robbery of Jim Turner last week, I would deduce the opinion that the robbing business is getting down to a very fine point. They got Jim's wallet, his watch, and even took the air out of his automobile tires. I wonder what they thought a fellow could do out there on the lonesome highway in the middle of the night with a lot of flats.

Our New Chief of Police

I want to give a slap on the back to Mr. Hardy, our new chief of police in Clanton, for the manner in which he is looking after violations of our traffic laws. Reasonable recognition should be given to our traffic regulations, and I think Mr. Hardy is doing a good piece of work to remind us when we forget.

Where Are These Places?

A big map of Alabama hangs on the wall back of our ice water barrel. As I pause before the faucet these hot days for a cool drink, I like to look at the names of places on the map. Every time I find a new one I never heard of before. For instance, where would you guess these towns are? Firestone, Lizzieville, Chilton, Coatopa, Churubusco, Francisco, Boozer, Damascus, Salsoda, Rye, Skinnerton. They are all in our own State of Alabama.

Automobile License Tags

Now comes the first of October in a few days. Automobile license tags to be bought, and taxes on automobiles to be paid. What will we use for money? I have an idea which I believe, if put into effect, would solve about half of our depression problems: On the night of September 30th, drive your automobile into the shed and let her stay there until I don't know when. I have an automobile; but I don't have any idea I will carry out my suggestion. Neither will you. It seems that we will continue to run the things, even at the price of going ragged and hungry. What fools we mortals be.

Auburn Officials Here

Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the Farm Extension Service at Auburn, and Emmett Sizemore, district agent of the Extension Service, were in Clanton Tuesday to see County Agent, C. E. Stapp. I asked Dr. Duncan what he thought about our farming situation and he sounded a cheerful note saying "It is in a bad fix, to be sure; but the farmers will come out of it all right in the long run. We are not going to give up the ship."

Fine Looking Cattle

I had a look at the Jersey cattle parade in Clanton last Saturday afternoon. The boys have some mighty fine young animals, and it is encouraging to note their continued interest in the work. Plenty of cows like those shown here Saturday will help the farmers of Chilton County to be independent of the calamity of cotton.

$28,000,000 For Education

Recently Dr. John W. Abercrombie made a statement at the Rotary Club in Montgomery that the expenditures in Alabama for public education in the last fiscal year amounted to approximately twenty-eight million dollars. His statement caused a great deal of interest because Alabamians were surprised that they spent so much for education, always having been told that they were parsimonious and niggardly toward the schools, ranking in this regard near the bottom with Mississippi and other such states.

Tom Rockett Had To Whittle

The fellow whom Tom Rockett hired to whittle for him last Saturday failed to show up. That proves that lots of fellows will not work, even if offered a plum cinch. Consequently Tom, rather than disappoint those who cmae to see the performance, whetted up his knife and proceeded to whittle himself. I saw him late in the afternoon. He was still whittling, and declared he had never had so much fun in one day in his life.

Two Kinds of Farmers—There are two kinds of farmers: the self-sustaining kind, that keep cows and hens and raise their own garden produce, and the kind who raise surplus crops for sale. In the worst economic depression, the former type rarely faces starvavtion; his wife and children have something to eat. It is the farmer who runs his farm as a money-making venture who worries about debt and operating costs, and finds his lands foreclosed. America can stand an increase in the number of self-supporting farmers.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The fisherman who calculated that the average fish caught by the average amateur fisherman costs about $4.12 a pound must have tried to raise his own vegetables with the assistance of a gardener.—South Bend News-Times.

The girl of the period might take note of the fact that cigarette stains may be removed from the fingers by kneading bread.—Boston Transcript.

Progress—Substitute for matches has been discovered in Germany. Now if a non-moochable cigarette would come along the smoke panhandles would seem to be completely routed.—Cleveland News.

Wotta Life—In some communities, membership in the National Guard requires only periodic and emergency service. In Oklahome, however, it is likely to become a career.—Charlotte News.

The Neghborhood Cynic says he believes it would be a good idea to declare a fifty-year moratorium on what we owe to posterity.—Louisville Times.

In the old days the doctor who gave the worst-tasting medicine was supposed to be the best physician. Why not try the same theory in the European situation?

It is indeed significant that in the crisis through which we have just passed that national leaders everywhere turned not to the League but to their own efforts for remedying the situation. And it is also signficant that the United States was again able to act as a stabilizing influence without membership in the league or in the league court.

WANTED

Listing on all Farm Property for sale in Chilton County. Prefer property as near Clanton as possible. If you have property for sale see or write

J. E. POPWELL

HAYS BUILDING, CLANTON, or

101-104 EXCHANGE BUILDING, BIRMINGHAM.

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

Toe Itch

Athlete's Foot and Hand Itch

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Crotch Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

CLANTON
NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of all description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS

Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at
Farmers Hardware Co.

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

WALNUT CREEK NEWS

The interest in our Sunday school is still good, but the attendance is not as good as it was for a while. However, we are hoping that the ones who have been being absent will come back and be with us, because we need them and they need the Sunday school.

The regular preaching service was held at this place on last Sunday with a very nice crowd.

Sunday was Mr. G. N. Easterling's birthday, and the people of our Sunday school surprised him by all going home with him for dinner. Each family carried a dish of something for dinner and we had a large table that was filled with good eats. Everybody reported a nice time, and all joined in wishing Mr. Easterling many more happy birthdays. There was forty-one present besides the family, who joined in the celebration.

We had a nice crowd at Christian Endeavor on last Sunday night. Everyone present enjoyed the program. We had four sermon outlines on the Siripture, John 3:16, as a special part of our program. Our topic for next Sonday is "What We Plan to do Next Year." This is to be a rally meeting, and we are preparing a program for that occasion. We invite everybody to come and be with us on next Sunday night, September 27th.

Gentry-Minor

Mr. Leonard E. Gentry and Miss Jewel Minor were married at the Methodist Protestant Parsonage about five o'clock on Sunday evening, September 20, 1931, with Rev. P. A. Lynch officiating. The bride wore an afternoon frock of blue crepe with accessories to match.

Only a few close friends and relatives of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony. Mrs. Gentry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Minor, formerly of Clanton, now residing in Montgomery. Mrs. Gentry received her education in the schools of Chilton County, and at Alabama College, Montevallo. She has been teaching in the county schools for several years.

Mr. Gentry holds a responsible position with the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Company. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Gentry will make their home with the former's parents, near Clanton. Their many friends join in wishing them happiness and success.

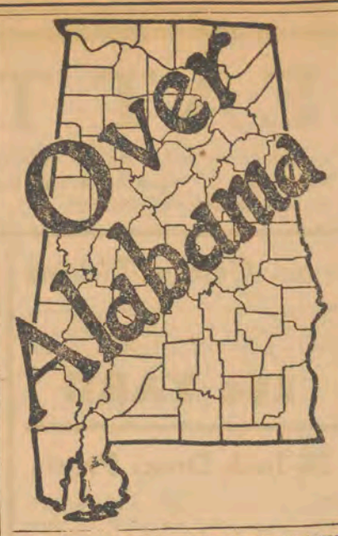
JUNIOR III CLASS OF ISABELLA IS WELL ORGANIZED THIS YEAR

The class officers have already been elected and organized for the first semester's school work. The officers are as follows: Maxine Oden, president; Jewell Williams, vice president; J. P. Poole, secretary-treasurer; Odell Higgins, reporter; Lucile Gaydon and Bruce Mills, members of Congress.

Every member of the Junior III Class, for the two weeks our school has been in session, has shown their ambition to make this the best year of their school life. The class is to be congratulated for its splendid co-operation. We appreciate the interest shown by the teachers in helping the class to get organized. Every one is invited to visit Isabella, the heart of Chilton County.

REFUGE NEWS

Editor Union-Banner:



Please allow me space to say a few words in regard to this place. We have one of the best Sunday schools that can be had anywhere. We are glad to see many taking part, and hope others will become interested.

Sunday was our regular meeting day here. Bro. G. G. Williams preached his farewell sermon Sunday night, his text being: "Whether we Wake or Sleep, we Should Live Together with Him."

It is difficult to over estimate the value of the great work and leadership of Bro. Williams. May God be with him anywhere his lot may be cast.

Bro. Williams dined at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Baker Sunday. There was also present E. L. Mims and family, the mother of Mrs. Baker, Cleedie Easterling, Jadie Minor, Grady Mims, and Grady Williams, Jr., the young son of Rev. Williams. Useless to say, a bountiful dinner was spread, for it is Mrs. Baker's greatest delight in preparing for guests. The evening was spent in interesting conversations, which doubtless made indelible impressions on all those present.—Mrs. M. Lockhart.

Superintendent Buford Lawrence and Prof. Luther Little went to Hayneville in Lowndes County on School business Tuesday.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Tax assessments in Walker County for 1931 are approximately $2,600,000 less than for 1930.

Enrollment at the University of Alabama reached 4,196 at the end of the first week of registration.

W. B. Massey, 48, shipyard worker, was killed at Mobile when struck by a Mobile & Ohio freight train.

A loss of approximately $2,500 was reported following the destruction by fire of three buildings in Vernon.

J. W. Loveless, 63, widely-known farmer of the Huffman community, was fatally injured in a fall from a wagon near Huffman.

Property in Jefferson County for taxable purposes has been assessed at $356,593 144 for 1931, according to L. R. Dillon, tax assessor.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the W. H. and C. T. Wallace Sawmill Company at Piedmont with an estimated loss of $25,000.

A verdict of suicide was returned by Coroner Gip M. Evans in the death of Lois Brooks, 15, Bessemer girl who died from a bullet wound.

The Rev. J. S. McFall, 28, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Aliceville, died following injuries received in a football game.

Plans are being made at Thomasville for a convention of fourth district, Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held Oct. 15 16.

With approximately 40 contestants selected, the Alabama Atwater Kent radio audition for 1931 will be broadcast from station WAPI Sunday, Oct. 18.

Mrs. Claude H. Davis has been installed as president of the Child Conservation League of Madison County, with Mrs. M. M. Duncan as vice president.

Gov. Miller, by proclamation, has designated the week of Nov. 9-15 as education week in Alabama and urged its strict observance throughout the state.

Dead since 1857, Prof. Michael Tuomey, one-time professor of geology, mineralogy and agricultural chemistry at the University of Alabama, is still receiving mail.

Four daughters enrolled in the University of Alabama, each one in a different class, is the proud distinction borne by Mrs. A. G. Bennett, formerly of Russellville, Ala.

A finding of suicide in the death of John Callins, 60, Crenshaw County farmer found hanging 20 feet above the ground from a tree, has been made by the county coroner.

Representatives of three Alabama insurance companies urged state authorities to favor "home" companies when fire insurance policies on state institutions are renewed Oct. 1.

Lumber exports from Mobile during August led all gulf ports according to figures made public. Lumber shipments amounted to 7,476,580 feet and timber exports to 1,663,000 feet.

Fayette County has added its name to the list of 44 Alabama counties that have urged Gov. B. M. Miller to call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of considering "no cotton" legislation.

Emmett Stone, 20, must serve four years in the penitentiary for the slaying of John B. Carter, Scottsboro cafe operator. A jury in circuit court found Carter guilty of manslaughter in the first degree.

Maxwell Field authorities have requested the State Department of Health to make an examination of sandwiches reported to have caused illness of several persons at the air post recently.

Stricter inspection of all agricultural seed sold in Alabama and the suspension from sale of all seed not properly tagged and labeled has been ordered by Seth P. Storrs, Alabama commissioner of agriculture.

The Tunstall bill requiring probate judges of every county to file a report with the secretary of state on the contested Bankhead-Heflin senatorial election is mandatory, according to an opinion by the attorney general.

Approximately 200 people attended a reunion Sept. 13 near Woodstock, of the Sansing family. Mrs. M. P. Sansing was honored guest, the day being her 75th birthday anniversary. Four generations of the family were present at the family gathering.

Howard E. Smith, one of those indicted following the Phenix City liquor probe, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Kennamer to a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. His sentence was deferred until the next term of Federal Court in Opelika and he is at liberty under $5,000 bond.

The Union-Banner, and Post, $3.85

H. B. Oliver Gives Farmers Advice

Editor Union-Banner:

It is a fact that cotton for two years or more in this section has been raised at a loss. A majority of the farmers use all the commercial fertilizer they can buy, fight the weevil, and others pests, pray for favorable weather conditions, and when a big crop is gathered and sold find that instead of a profit the debts have grown larger.

Now then, to continue this sort of thing means extreme poverty for our people.

If the farmers could agree on a reduction of 25 per cent, or 50 per cent, or even more, for the 1932 crop, and faithfully abide by the agreement, it would be better than legislation.

But if the farmers want legislation to cut out entirely the 1932 cotton crop, let them have it.

We can produce anything that can a majority of the states, and can produce enough to feed our people and clothe them as well.

It would be an ungrateful landlord who is financially able to refuse to help tenants who have been faithful to him.

Merchants, bankers and professional men who are able financially should, and I believe will, do all in their power to assist those who have been loyal patrons.

All of our people who are fortunately situatied should do all in their power to help the farmer through the year 1932.

So let the farmers take his choice on the cotton question and back him up to the extent of our resources.

Yours very truly,
H. B. OLIVER.

SHILOH SINGING

The singing society met at this place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and did some good singing. The chairman singing two songs, while a program was arranged by Misses Verlon and Ethel Mullins. The following sung from one to three songs each: Misses Zula Nelson, Elain Deason, Etta Mae and Agnes Mullins, Minnie Bice, Eloise Keen, Messrs. F. I. Popwell, S. A. Henley, Melvin Devaughn, T. W. Billingsley, C. M. Billingsley. Organists for the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Billingsley, Mr. F. I. Popwell, Misses Minnie Bice, Etta Mae Mullins. Three quartets were arranged by the chairman, Mr. C. M. Billingsley. We cordially invite all visitors next third Sunday afternoon.

SERVICES AT FRIENDSHIP SATURDAY NIGHT, SUNDAY

The pastor, Rev. J. Robert Bean, will preach at Friendship Church next Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock, following which a short conference will be held.

There will be no Sunday school on Sunday morning, on account of baptismal services at Hugh Mims's Pond at 10 o'clock. There will be preaching at the church at 11 o'clock.

The Central Singing Society will meet with the Friendship class at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and sing for about two hours. All singers are invited; bring your 1932 Stamps and Henson Books.

There will be preaching again at 7:30 Sunday evening by the pastor. The public has a cordial invitation to attend all services at Friendship.

The attendance at Sunday school has been very good for the past few Sundays, and we hope the interest will continue to grow. The new officers and teachers will take charge the first Sunday in October, and it is hoped that new interest will attend the incoming of the new officers.

APPLICATION FOR PARDON

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Tom Bearden, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County on a charge of distilling and possession of a still, and sentenced in April, 1931, to a term of one year and one day to 13 months in the penitentiary, will make application for pardon or parole.—Tom Bearden, 9-17-2d

Rev. and Mrs. J. Robert Bean last week moved to their place in Beat 16, near Providvence schoolhouse.

GULF Venom KILLS Flies and Mosquitoes Roaches, Ants Moths, Bed-Bugs

COSTIVENESS

Confining indoor work—skillful work with the hands that does not include plenty of physical exercise for the body, often results in the bad feeling and unpleasant signs of faulty bowel movement. W. S. Conant, a saddler and harness maker living in Somerset, Ky., says: "I had to take something for costiveness, as I would just get so tired, or have a dull feeling. After I heard of Black-Draught and began taking it, I avoided this trouble. I take it in small doses and it is most satisfactory." FBA-9

BLACK-DRAUGHT

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling?

"I just can't go on"—how often you hear this.

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living * * * pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count * * * the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning * * * so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

For generations S.S.S. has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

S.S.S.

Builds Sturdy Health

Principles Of Rate Making For Electric Service

Explained By Legislative Investigating Committee On Public Utilities In Alabama

In its report to the Alabama Legislature, July, 1931, the Joint Committee, appointed under House Resolution No. 80 for the purpose of investigating various phases of rates, tax values, service, etc., of electric utilities in Alabama, gives a clear cut explanation of the underlying principles involved in making rates for electric service in Alabama. Believing this explanation will be of interest to our customers, we quote the following from the Committee's report:

"The principles involved in a system of rates for the various kinds of consumers of electricity, including industry, power and the various forms of domestic uses, are probably as little understood by the public as any question of equal importance.

It is not practicable for us to undertake a lengthy discussion of these principles, but we will do so briefly.

The first duty of the rate maker is to ascertain what amount of income will be necessary for the utility to procure to enable it to pay its expenses of operation maintenance, depreciation, taxes, etc., and leave enough to pay a reasonable return on the fair value of the property used and useful in the public service. When this has been ascertained the big problem of distributing this charge equitably among the various classes of users is faced. This problem presents many angles that must needs have material consideration: but we will not undertake to set them out. Suffice to say that our Public Service Commission devotes much time and investigation to these various angles, takes testimony of the utilities and the consumers and reaches its conclusions after full investigation and consideration, and after having heard the viewpoint of all interests involved.

The conclusions of the Public Service Commission are always subject to be appealed to the Courts by either the utility affected, or any citizen interested.

In this connection will say that the work of our Public Service Commission in this respect seems to be thorough and efficient and its findings fair to the public and the utility."

We shall be glad to furnish any customer of Alabama Power Company more detailed information as to its rates for electricity.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

CAN YOU BEAT THIS?

We challenge the buyers of this county to beat the prices we are now offering on strictly high grade merchandise. Look at the items listed here. They are only a few of the hundreds of equally great bargains you will find when you come to our store. Don't fail to see us before you buy.

36-Inch Broadcloth

We have a real good value in this cloth. One year ago you paid 25c for this same cloth. Colors green, tan, pink, rose, and white. While 1,000 yards last at

10c YARD

36-Inch Sea Island SHEETING

This is a real heavy sheeting which last year sold for 15c per yard. We have made a real low price on this at

7c YARD

Childrens Dresses

We have gone through our rack of $1.00 and $2.00 dresses and collected about 100 dresses which we are offering for quick sale at savings. Sizes 4 to 14 for

50c EACH

Play Cloth

Good Value

We have in stock last year's 19c playcloth in all wanted patterns for dresses, shirts, and children's clothes at a low price of

10c YARD

BOYS OVERALLS

This is made of 240 white back denim, and will give you good wear. Sizes 8 to 16 for

50c PAIR

Mens Blue Shirts

We have about 15 of these shirts in sizes 15 1-2 and 16 1-2 in last year's 50c shirts, we want to close these out at

25c EACH

6-oz. Cotton Ticking

We have the best value you have ever witnessed in ticking, and real good quality at a saving, special

15c YARD

36-Inch Dress Prints

We have about 400 yards of this 10c dress print we want to close out at once, and you can buy same at the low price of

8c YARD

Silk Hose

$1.00 Value

We have an extra good buy in this hose and going to give the value to our customer. This hose always sold for $1.00, you can buy this in all the new fall shades for

79c PAIR

BOYS PANTS

We can give you good quality khaki pants and bark patterns with stripes in buckle back and big bottoms. Sizes 8 to 18 for

$1.00

MENS FELT HATS

We bought from a big hat house in New York a real buy in some felt hats, you would believe they sold for $3.00, and you can get black, tan, gray. All sizes, for

$1.00 EACH

BOYS $8 SUITS

We have a big line for this fall in boys suits which formerly sold up to $8.00. In long and short pants, and long pants. Sizes 4 to 16, for

$3.95

Ladies Silk Dresses

We have just received a new shipment of these dresses in the newest styles that can be bought in New York, all long sleeves and newest colors. Sizes 14 to 50,

$2.95

CHICAGO SALES COMPANY

Reedie Taylor, Mgr., Clanton.

S. S. MEET WILL BE AT NEW SALEM

All Day Meeting Will Be Held On The First Sunday In October

The executive committee of the Chilton County Associational Sunday School Convention announces that an all day meeting will be held at New Salem Baptist church near Thorsby the first Sunday in October, which will be the 4th of that month. As yet no program has been arranged, but this preliminary announcement is made in order that all Sunday schools in the Chilton County Association may arrange to send delegates. However, the committee is in position to state that the program will be one out of the ordinary and will be of particular interest to all. It will not be dry, commonplace and uninteresting as is usual with such gatherings, but something will be happening all the time that will command the rapt attention of those in attendance.

The good people of New Salem have very graciously accpeted the task of caring for the convention, and now it behooves the other churches of the association to do their part. Dinner is promised all delegates and others actually interested in Sunday school work, of course, the old time free-for-all dinner on the ground is no longer expected of any community. All superintendents please keep this in mind and don't fail to have as many from your school as possible present.

MILTON STONE FRACTURES HIP

Falls On Slide Near Mitchell Dam Last Sunday

Milton Stone, vice president of Hobbie-Flowers Motor Company, Montgomery, was recovering Monday at Hubbard's Hospital where he was taken Sunday with a broken hip received in an accident at his camp near Mitchell Dam.

Mr. Stone was a member of a party of about 20 persons who went to the camp Sunday, friends said. While in swimming, it was stated, he started down a slide into the lake, "standing up," and fell, breaking his hip.

He was rushed to the hospital immediately and physicians said Monday he was resting well.

REV. ARTHUR DELOACH CLOSES VERBENA MEETINGS SUNDAY

Last Sunday night came to a close a series of meetings at the Verbena Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. Arthur Deloach of Fort Worth, Texas. Those who attended regularly pronounce the meetings a very great success. The sermons of the young preacher were full of the spirit and were delivered in such a way that the large audiences were at all times interested in what was being spoken. Rev. Deloach has endeared himself among the people of Verbena and that section.

GOLF MATCHES BEING PLAYED

The qualifying rounds of the tournament of the Clanton Golf Club have been played. The match plays started Wednesday morning with the following players constituting the matches for the first flight:

D. C. Reynolds and R. J. Sumner; George McCain and R. D. Woodson; J. E. Edgar and Raymond Smith; Grady Reynolds and W. E. Huddleston.

The matches in the second flight are V. J. Elmore and John Page; M. Tarde and John Armstrong; Otto Jones and Red Wagoner; Lester Jones and Sunshine Chism.

Each of the matches will play 18 holes, and all the match plays will be completed by Thursday night. The semi finals will be played Friday and Saturday, and the finals will come off Monday.

THE MACHINE AGE APPLIED TO CRIME

Methods Employed by Criminals Demand New Police Methods, Bankers Association Official Declares.

USE by criminals of modern technological developments such as automobiles, machine guns and airplanes have given them advantages which old-fashioned local and disconnected police systems are powerless to combat and the situation demands the broader modern protection of State police systems, James E. Baum, deputy manager American Bankers Association in charge of its crime investigating department, declares in the protective section of the American Bankers Association Journal.

"The Association's Protective Committee has repeatedly urged the advantages of extending state police systems beyond the nine eastern States which have enjoyed this protection for many years," Mr. Baum says. "The time has passed when we can safely rely upon the disconnected and often times ineffective methods of local and county police. The advent of autos and better roads, to say nothing of machine guns and airplanes, demands the same wide latitude in authority and field of operation be given the police no less than the criminal."

Statewide Police Plans Best

He quotes a Kansas judge as saying that "our system of sheriffs and constables was not designed to meet present-day conditions. As a system of law enforcement, it is as out of date as old common-law pleading, both evolved about the same time. The semi-military, highly trained State police officer owing allegiance only to State laws, is the most effective agency for order yet brought forth."

"Every year the robbery experience of banks in the nine States having State police proves the merits and urgent need of State-wide police protection," says Mr. Baum. "Last year, for example, there were 38 bank holdups in Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia where State police forces are operated," he continues. "Although this total is exceptionally high due to an unprecedented number of robberies in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, it is little more than half the number of daylight bank robberies suffered in 1930 in Illinois alone. Furthermore, this total of 38 robberies in the nine eastern States was exceeded in California, where there were 42 bank holdups, and in Ohio where banks suffered 40 similar attacks.

Holdups Fewer Under New Plan

"If we extend the comparison of the robbery experience in these States enjoying State-wide police protection to the record in eight central and far western States, we find a total of 304 bank holdups in the latter group. The odds, therefore, continue to be not less than 8 to 1 against the banks in these western States, where they are denied the speedy, coordinated action of State police and their modern means of transportation and communication. The same comparison holds true of the farmers' losses through robberies of livestock, poultry, produce, etc.

"Moreover, these State police forces invariably yield an operating profit in the amount of fines collected and the value of stolen property recovered. Bankers interested in cutting down the cost of robbery insurance might well consider this job of extending State police systems as a timely, co-operative service to be undertaken alongside the farmers."

Work on the county jail is under way again after a delay of a few days occasioned by some objections from the State Prison Inspector.

Steady Chaser—The small son of the house was chatting on the front porch with the young man who had called to see his big sister.

"Daddy says you are like the month of June," confided the youngster, "'cause when you come in May goes out."—Stray Stories.

DISTRICT WOMENS CLUBS TO MEET

Fifth District Assembly Will Be At LaFayette, Ala., October 8-9

Lafayette, Ala., Sept. 14.—At a recent call meeting of the Lafayette Study Club definite plans were made for the annual convention of the fifth district of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs to be entertained in Lafayette October 8 and 9.

The program which will be of decided interest and value to club women begins at three o'clock Thursday afternoon and closes at three o'clock Friday afternoon. The convention is to be opened with a business meeting of county and district chairmen followed by an address by a prominent speaker. At six o'clock dinner will be served all guests. Immediately after dinner a cantata will be presented. Later in the evening a reception is to be given. Almost all of Friday's session, which begins at nine o'clock and ends at three, will be devoted to business. At the noon hour all are to attend a luncheon.

The local committees for the October convention are as follows: arrangements, Mrs. D. T. Tatum, Mrs. G. H. Hollingsworth, Mrs. R. S. Willingham, Mrs. G. R. Bawling, Mrs. Henry Tucker, and Miss Minnie Sellers; program, Misses Miriam Siler and Ada Causey; credentials, Mrs. H. D. Agnew and Mrs. L. W. Spratling; reception, Miss Ada Causey; refreshments, Mrs. Myrtis Jenkins and Mrs. M. W. Allen; cantata, Miss Miriam Siler and Mrs. Frank Barrow.

The officers of the Lafayette Club for this year are Mrs. H. D. Huguley, president; Mrs. R. S. Willingham, vice president; Mrs. Miriam Siler, secretary-treasurer.

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

Bro. Headley filled his appointment and brought to us a wonderful message both Sunday morning and Sunday night. The services were well attended Sunday morning, but Sunday night some were hindered on account of the rain.

We are glad of the interest that is being shown in our Sunday school and Chritsian Endeavor.

Miss Louise Kynard returned to her home in Selma Sunday after spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Williams.

Mrs. J. L. Sheppard and little daughter of Clanton spent the latter part of the past week with parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Little and family had as their guests Sunday Bro. Headley, Mr. T. L. Williams, Grandmother Lawrence, Misses Bessie and Jettie Williams and Clara Dell Sims.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams and family attended the singing at Big Springs Church Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. C. A. Surles's nieces from Selma spent Sunday at her home.

We are glad to know that Mrs. Emma Williams who has been sick is greatly improved at this writing.

Grandmother Lawrence spent Monday at the home of Mrs. W. W. Williams.

Man Thin As Rail— Iron Adds 10 Pounds

"I was tired, run-down and thin as a rail. Since taking Vinol, I sleep well, feel better and have gained 10 pounds."—R. A. Cromberg.

Thin, run-down, nervous men or women need the help of iron, lime and cod liver peptone as contained in Vinol. Even the first bottle brings new pep, a good appetite and sound sleep. Aids digestion and makes red blood. Tastes delicious. Get a bottle of Vinol today. The results will amaze you.—Upchurch Drug Company.

ALL SALARIES ARE CUT BY AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

The Alabama State Board of Agriculture in annual session September 16, ordered a reduction in the salary of each employee of the State Department of Agriculture, effective October 1, reduced the budget of the livestock sanitary work by $25,000 annually and of the division of statistics by $55,000 annually and asked that the personnel of the Department be reduced sufficiently to continue the expense of the Department within its reduced income.

This action was recommended by Seth P. Storrs, chairman and commissioner of agriculture, and unanimously passed by the board composed of M. J. Funchess, Auburn; Glenn Foster, Tuscaloosa; John P. Hampton, Huntsville; R. J. Goode, Gastonburg; J. Lloyd Abbott, Springhill; Wylie A. Alford, Columbia, and Commissioner Storrs.

"It is necessary to take this action due to a reduction in the income of the department brought about by reduced sales of fertilizer and feed tags" Commissioner Storrs told the board. "The department is self supporting and does not get an appropriation from the state treasury. It is our desire to continue to make the department live within its income."

Salaries of all employees receiving $150 and over were reduced $25 per month and those receiving less than $150 were reduced $10 per month. This reduction will reduce the expense of the department about $20,000 annually.

In addition the board combined the warehouse and gin divisions with that of weights and measures; cut the appropriation for livestock sanitary work from $55,000 to $30,000 annually and of the staticial division from $15,000 to $10,000 annually.

POTPOURRI

The Harp

The most ancient of stringed musical instruments is the harp. Invented by Jubalm, the early harp was very simple. Not until about 1720 did the pedal harp appear, and another hundred years elapsed before Errard added the double action pedal. The standard instrument is 64 inches high, 33 inches wide at its extreme, and has 43 strings, the longest of which is 57 inches.

(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Mrs. John Hollis of Mitchell Dam was the guest of Mr. and Mrs Hance Alred a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trotter of Martin Dam spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Page.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—120 acres of land, 11 miles from Clanton; 30 acres in cultivation; 2 houses; good spring. Write what you have. —R. K. Roebuck, Rt. 2, Maplesville, Ala. 9-24-2tch.

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B. M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

WANTED TO TRADE—A subscription to The Union-Banner for a load of grate wood or a load of lightwood knots. If you have more of either of these than you have cash, and want The Union-Banner, we might get up a trade. Ask T. E. Wyatt at The Union-Banner office.

Abruzzi Rye, recleaned Seed Oats, Cotton Seed Meal, and Fertilizers.
J. N. DENNIS 9-3-4c

FOR SALE—Black smith shop and tools, in Verbena; a good place. Will sell cheap.—E. H. Dennis 1c

5c SALE 10c

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

You Can't Imagine

The vast amount of items you get at A & P stores at these low prices. Look over this list and check your pantry to see what you need.

GELATIN DESSERT
Sparkle Package 5c

RAJAH SANDWICH SPREAD OR SALAD
DRESSING 8½ oz jar 10c

RAJAH SALAD
DRESSING pint jar 17c

P&G SOAP 3 bars 10c

OCTAGON
SOAP 3 small bars 10c

GRANDMOTHER'S
BREAD 16 oz loaf 5c

NUTLEX BUTTER
OLEO lb carton 10c

WHITE HOUSE
MILK tall can 5c 2 small cans 5c

QUAKER MAID
BEANS 16 oz can 5c

EVAPORATED
PEACHES lb 10c

SHREDDED
WHEAT pkg 10c

YELLOW LABEL
SYRUP No 1½ can 10c

ENVORE ITALIAN STYLE
SPAGHETTI 15¾ oz can 5c

RAJAH OR RED FRONT—2-OZ. BOTTLE
EXTRACTS vanilla or Lemon 10c

KELLOGG'S
PEP pkg 10c

SUNNYFIELD—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 55c
48-lb Bag $1.05 Barrel $3.75
48-POUND BAG ONLY

RAINBOW—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING
FLOUR 24-lb Bag 45c
48-lb Bag 89c

COFFEE 8 O'clock lb 19c

KELLOGG'S OR
POST BRAN Pkg. 10c

LARD Compound 8 lb Pail 75c

HORMEL RINDLESS
BACON Sliced lb 21c

NO. 1 WHITE
POTATOES 5 lb 12c

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXIX.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1931 NUMBER 23

STATE TAX COMMISSION IS UNDER FIRE

Chilton and Coosa Counties Demand Re-Opening of Tax Assessment

WANT POWER CO. VALUES RAISED BY THE STATE

Courts Held Joint Session At Knight's Ferry Last Friday

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 25.—The courts of county commissioners of Chilton and Coosa Counties, in joint sessoin at Knight's Ferry, boundary between the counties, today voted to bring suits for a writ of mandamus in Circuit Court at Montgomery, to force the State Tax Commission to restore the 1930 assessments on property of the Alabama Power Company in the two counties.

Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds, who was named permanent chairman of the joint court, said suits would be filed just as soon as attorneys could prepare the necessary papers. Judge Reynolds said each county would file a separate suit, but that they would cooperate in pushing them.

The joint court also adopted resolutions asking Gov. Miller and Thomas E. Knight, Jr., attorney general, "to thoroughly investigate said acts to the end that the properties of the Alabama Power Company in said two counties may bear their just burden of taxation."

Judge Reynolds said the suits would be predicated on the allegations that the assessments of $4,659,788 for Chilton and $3,420,942 for Coosa were only 45 per cent of the "fair and reasonable market value," where the law requires that such property be assessed at 60 per cent.

The State Tax Commission recently announced reallocation of taxes for the Alabama Power Company in the State under which the Chilton assessment was out $1,666,042 and Coosa, $1,103,272, but the total for the State was raised from $56,055,678 to $56,964,246, an increase of $908,568.

Judge Reynolds said "all the property in Chilton County is assessed at 60 per cent, and we want the Alabama Power Company's assessment at the same rate."

The resolutions adopted by the joint court of county commissioners charged that while the State Tax Commission had reduced the Alabama Power Company assessment in the two counties it had "notified the taxing authorities of said counties not to allow any reduction in taxes to any taxpayer."

Judge Reynolds said copies of the resolution would be transmitted to Gov. Miller and Mr. Knight, attorney general.—Montgomery Adverser.

Injunction Against Tax Commission

Attorneys representing Chilton and Coosa counties jointly filed an injunction in Circuit Court of Montgomery Couny Wednesday, against S. R. Butler, chairman of the State Tax Commission, seeking to require the tax commission to assess the property of the Alabama Power Company in the two counties at 60 per cent of its value, instead of 45 per cent. One case was filed by the attorneys for a taxpayer in each county and one was filed for the court of county commissioners in each county.

The attorneys handling this matter for the counties are Grady and Omar Reynolds, of Clanton, and Felix Smith, of Rockford.

It is understood that the statement from the office of the State Tax Commission that the reduction in the Alabama Power company property assessments in Chilton and Coosa counties was caused by the commission assessing the company property at 45 per cent of its established value, instead of 60 per cent as required by law.

Upon these grounds the fight of Chilton and Coosa counties will be made to have the valuations of the power company property for taxation restored to where it was last year, and thereby avoid the drastic loss in tax revenue that would be occasioned by the new valuations.

WILL VOTE ON COUNTY AGENT

People Will Say Whether the Work Shall Continue or Be Stopped

At a meeting of the Commissioners Court Monday, an order was passed, declaring a referendum in Chilton County on the question of whether the work of the County Agent shall be continued or stopped. Members of the Court who asked for the order stated that many citizens of the county have asked them for the proposition to be submitted to the voters of the county.

The order which was passed set the date of Tuesday, November 3, as the day for the vote to be cast. This will be at the same time of the election on the constitutional amendment for a state bond issue for highway purposes.

The county agency work was established in this county a few years ago, after the people of the county had voted favorably for it to be done. The commissioners do not feel, therefore, that they should discontinue the work without the people having a chance to express themselves. Hence, the order submitting the matter to the voters on Tuesday, October 3.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE TO BE HELD HERE OCTOBER 5 AND 6

Prof. B. Lawrence, county superintendent of education, issues a call to all teachers of the county that an institute for the teachers of the county will be held at the high school auditorium in Clanton on October 5th and 6th. The institute will meet at 9:00 o'clock on Monday morning, the 5th.

Prof. Lawrence adds that all teachers are required to attend, and anyone failing will forfeit their contract for the year. Teachers will be paid for attendance at the institute the same as for time taught. All certificates must be presented for registration, even though such certificates were registered last year.

In regard to the length of the school term this year, the superintendent says: "We regret that we cannot make any promise as to the length of the school term. We will teach as long as we have money with which to operate. If the State gets in position to pay us their full appropriations, we expect to operate a full term, otherwise same will be impossible. Schools that have not already opened will do so on October 7."

COTTON GINNED PRIOR TO SEPTEMBER 16TH

The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of the Census, announces the preliminary report on cotton ginned prior to September 16 in Alabama. The total for the state was made public Wednesday as 191,744 bales for 1931, compared to 346,980 for 1930. The total for Chilton County was 1,588 for 1931, compared to 3,943 for 1930.

Some 45, Some 60

According to the Montgomery Journal Tuesday, S. R. Butler, chairman of the State Tax Commission, admitted that the Alabama Power Company assessments were based on 45 per cent valuation, although the law specifically requires assessments to be made on a 60 per cent basis.

Continuing, The Journal says, it came to light several days ago that county tax assessors and collectors have been warned not to lower assessments of other classes of taxpayers from 60 to 45 per cent.

Mass Meeting Called Here Saturday

The following resolution and call for a mass meeting of the citizens of Chilton County was ordered and adopted by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County in session Monday, September 28th:

In view of the controversy that has arisen over the assessment of Alabama Power Company property in Chilton County by the State Tax Commission being made at 45 per cent of its value instead of 60 per cent of its value, as required by law, we, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, hereby request the taxpayers of the county to meet with us in mass meeting at the Courthouse in Clanton on Saturday afternoon, October 3rd, at two o'clock, P. M.

We further request that Mr. S. R. Butler, chairman of the State Tax Commission, be invited to attend said mass meeting, and explain to the people of Chilton County the reason why the Tax Commission assessed the Alabama Power Company property in this county at 45 per cent of its value, instead of 60 per cent as required by law. In the event Mr. Butler can not come in person, we ask that he send a representative who can properly explain this matter.

We urge the taxpayers of Chilton County to attend this meeting. We want the people of the county to have a full explanation of this matter, as well as all questions pertaining to taxes.

We hereby order a copy of this call printed in the newspapers of Chilton County, and a copy sent to Hon. S. R. Butler, Chairman of the State Tax Commission.

Adopted this, the 28th day of September, 1931.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.
J. M. MIMS,
J. L. BURNETT,
A. P. VINSON,
J. E. COBB,
County Commissioners.

Resolutions Passed by Commissioners Courts of Chilton and Coosa Counties

Whereas, the State Tax Commission of the State of Alabama has recently notified the Taxing Authorities of the counties of Chilton and Coosa, that the assessment of the properties of the Alabama Power Company in said counties has been reduced in the sum of approximately $3,500,000.00;

And whereas, said notice of this reduced assessment was only recently brought to the attention of the Taxing Authorities of said counties and withheld from the public until too late to permit individuals and other tax payers in said counties to get the benefit of any decrease in taxes, and said State Tax Commission has notified the Taxing Authorities of said counties not to allow a reduction in taxes to any tax payers;

And whereas, said State Tax Commission in arriving at the tax values of the properties of the Alabama Power Company in said counties adopted and found the values as fixed by the Public Service Commission of Alabama for rate making purposes fair and reasonable and then and there arbitrarily, upon such values so determined, assessed taxes in each of said counties against said Alabama Power Company at only forty-five per cent (45) of their fair and reasonable market value in plain disregard of the law providing that, "All taxable property within this State shall be assessed for the purpose of taxation at sixty per cent (60) of its fair and reasonable market value;"

Therefore, be it resolved, that the Courts of County Commissioners of Chilton and Coosa Counties in joint meeting assembled cooperate to the end that legal proceedings may be taken against said State Tax Commission and other necessary parties as may be proper to assess for taxation the properties of the Alabama Power Company in said counties in the amounts as provided by law.

Be it further resolved, by said Courts of County Commissioners, that this meeting go on record as protesting the action of said State Tax Commission in unjustly discriminating in favor of the Alabama Power Company and as against the various other tax payers of said counties and State, and we respectfully urge His Excellency, Hon. B. M. Miller, Governor, and Hon. Thomas E. Knight, the Attorney General, to thoroughly investigate said acts to the end that the properties of the said Alabama Power Company in said two counties may bear their just burden of taxation.

$378,428 Gift To Alabama Power Co.

Insist On 60 Per Cent Assessment Says Reynolds of Chilton

Clanton, Sept. 26.—Judge L. H. Reynolds, probate judge of Chilton County, today declared that Chilton County and Coosa County are not making their protest against the amount of the assessment fixed by the State Tax Commission on the Alabama Power Company's properties, but that they are making vigorous protest against the tax commission's announced purpose of assessing the property at 45 per cent of its value when the state laws are mandatory in their requirement that property shall be assessed at 60 per cent of its value.

"The difference between the 45 per cent assessment and the 60 per cent assessment on the power company properties in the state as a whole means an actual gift to the Alabama Power Company of $378,428.20. It means a gift of $53,000 in Coosa and Chilton counties alone.

"The tax commission admits that it is using the figures of the public service commission. On these figures a 60 per cent assessment would mean $75,885,660 assessment in the state, whereas the 45 per cent assessment means but $56,764,246 valuation for taxation.

"All other property in our county is assessed according to law at 60 per cent valuation and we have been notified by the state tax commission to make no reduction in assessments. In the face of this they have reduced the power company's property in our counties to 45 per cent. It is against this which we are protesting and we propose to go into court to see that the law is observed and that taxes are properly equalized."

At a conference of the bords of commissioners of Chilton and Coosa counties on Friday it was decided to institute mandamus proceedings to compel the observance of law by assessing the power company's properties at 60 per cent.—Montgomery Journal.

MONSTER MASS MEETING WAS HELD AT ROCKFORD

Power Company's Valuations Raised

Tax Commission Says Discrepancies Removed By Revisions

The State Tax Commission yesterday made public a table showing the reallocation of Alabama Power Company property assessments in the 5 counties of the State in which the company's property is located.

Under the reallocation of assessments effective for 1931 taxes there is a net increase of $908,568 and while decreases occur in 17 counties, the assessments in 48 counties show an increase. Subtracting the sum of the decreases from the sum of the increases leaves the net increase referred to.

While citizens of Chilton and Coosa Counties have been protesting to the State Tax Commission over decreases in Power Company valuations of $1,666,042 and $1,103,272 respectively, no protest has been heard from Elmore County where the reallocation of valuations has resulted in an increase of $2,817,914.

Up In Montgomery

Montgomery County benefitted by the reallocation to the extent of an increase of $112,095 in Power Company assessments within its borders. Mobile enjoyed an increase of $246,494 and there was an increase of $10,667 in Lauderdale County. The figures in these counties are of particular interest because the chain of newspapers which has been violently protesting the cuts in Coosa and Chilton Counties includes units only in Mobile ad Lauderdale Counties.

At the Tax Commission office it was explained that the readjustment in the assesments of the Alabama Power Company corrected a maladjustment dating back to 1920 when the period of tax exemption extended to the company expired. When the first assessments were made, it was pointed out, the operation was without uniformity and resulted in over valuations in some counties and under valuations of others. While the statutory basis of assessment is 60 per cent of the appraisal value, the discrepancies during the past 10 years have ranged from 15 per cent to 75 per cent, it was said.

Brought On By Probe

Attention to this condition was focused last Spring when the Legislature acceded to the demands of Power Company foes for an investigation of the utility's assessments. Immediately after the discrepancies were revealed, the Tax Commission began a reallocation of valuations which it has just recently completed.

Under the new schedule of valuations, the Alabama Power Company assessments climbed from $56,055,678 to $56,964,246, a net increase of $908,568.

While citizens of the two counties most severely affected by the reallocation are threatening to bring court action to compel return to old figures, it is the expressed view of the Tax Commission that Chilton and Coosa Counties have for years been enjoying revenue in excess of that warranted by the actual values of power company properties within their borders.—By Hartwell Hatton, in The Montgomery Advertiser.

ATTRACTIVE CLUBBING OFFER FOR BANNER AND B'HAM POST

Beginning October 1st and continuing through that month, The Union-Banner will offer that paper in club with The Birmingham Post both for the sum of $3.30. This is a very attractive offer in view of the scarcity of money. If you want a good independent daily paper as well as a good county paper, you cannot afford to pass up this offer. And remember that it will positively close on October 31st. After that date both papers will again sell at their regular price.

Mr. Hubert Ellison went to Montgomery last Friday night.

Deep Resentment Expressed At State Administration of Governor Miller

Rockford, Sept. 28.—Coosa County's deep resentment at the Miller administration for reducing the Alabama Power Company's 1931 tax assessment $1,103,000 in this county at the expense of other tax payers flared forth at a rousing meeting here Saturday when several hundred citizens unanimously adopted a resolution condemning the action as "favoritism of the most flagrant sort" and perfected an organization to wage a finish fight to compel the power company to pay its just share of taxes.

If the state authorities insist upon extending special favors to the power company, Coosa citizens will return their property at lower valuations this fall and vigorously resist any upward revision of the board of review, it was declared in the resolution adopted by the mass meeting—the largest public gathering in this county in many years.

Approval Shouted

Senator John A. Darden, chairman of the meeting, sounded the key note when he declared that "the time has come when the people of Coosa county must stand up and fight for their rights." He asked the Coosa Countians if they were "ready to get on the firing line and stay there until right and justice prevailed" and a thunderous affirmative shout rocked the courthouse while hundreds leaped to their feet.

The meeting here was a forerunner of a series to be held in various counties of the state as a result of the recent disclosure that the state tax commission had granted special favors to the power company while turning a deaf ear to the pleas of farmers, merchants, home owners, and other tax payers for relief.

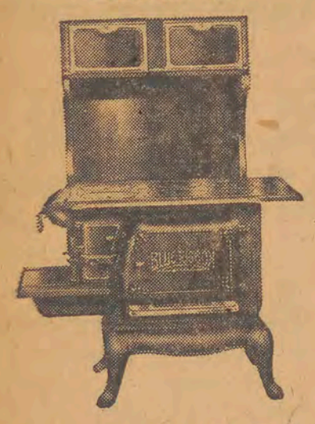
Representative Smith, of Coosa county; Represtative Kelley, of Talladega county and a dozen other speakers scathingly arraigned the tax commmission for its policy of tax favoritism. Kelley, who was a leader in the recent legislative fight for tax equalization in the state, quoted from the official transcript of evidence of the power company investigating committee to show that the tax commission is violating the law in assessing power company property on a basis of 45 per cent of its value or less instead of on a 60 per cent basis.

Law Violation Admitted

"H. T. Knight, the chief clerk of the tax commission, who handles public utility assessments, admitted that the law was being violated and added that nothing was going to be done about it," Kelley roared. "What do the people of Alabama think of a tax commission that is so eager to serve the Alabama Power Company, that it is even willing to violate the law to do so?"

J. G. Pinson, superintendent of the Coosa public schools, told the mass meeting that the cut in the power company's assessments had been such a heavy blow to education in this county that we have been forced to take steps to close the schools next Friday.

"This cut in assessments," Superintendent Pinson declared, "has brought education to its row's end in Coosa County. We didn't know the cut was to be made until after the schools opened. Now, our budget for the year has been torn all to pieces. The power company's cut deprives us of revenue enough to meet even a month's payroll. If the previous assessment had remained in force we probably could have gone on until steps were taken to meet the situation."—Alabama Journal.



HOWARD LAMAR DIED AT AUBURN

Mrs. G. L. Philips has received a message stating that her brother, Mr. Howard Lamar, died of heart attack at his home in Auburn on the 28th of this month. Mr. Lamar lived in Clanton for a while two years ago.

Mrs. W. C. Erwin, of Jemison, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

NOW ON DISPLAY

A number of Blue Ribbon and Black Diamond Ranges, that are Slightly used, but look like new—Money Back Guarantee

$24.50 $1 Cash $1 A week

Liberal cash discount if paid out in 60 days

Don't fail to see us when in need of any kind of Furniture.

WE SAVE YOU MONEY

TIFFIN - KLINNER FURNITURE CO.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

The 1931 convention of the National Pecan Association will be held in Dallas, Texas, September 22-24. J. Lloyd Abbott, Spring Hill, Mobile County, Ala., is secretary of the association.

During the month of August the 18 curb markets in Alabama transacted business amounting to $43,494.22, according to reports received by Miss Helen Johnston at Auburn from the county home demonstration agents. The volume showed an increase but values declined due to low prices. The six leading markets were Gadsden, Montgomery, Tuscaloosa, Anniston, Mobile, and Dothen.

Washington newspaper correspondents were told recently by President Hoover that 100,000 men will be employed either directly or indirectly on the construction of Federal buildings by January 1. He said that 229 buildings were under construction in September. These will cost $181,383,100.

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

1928 Essex Coupe $75

1927 Ford Touring $35

1926 Chevrolet Tudor Sedan $40

1927 Chrysler Tudor Sedan $80

These cars are all in good running condition. They can be seen at our place.

BATES AUTO SHOP

Clanton - - - Alabama

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

FALL OATS WILL MAKE FEED FOR NEXT YEAR

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 28.—Big yields of feed crops in Alabama this year do not guarantee either an abundance of feed or big yields next year. Farmers are being reminded of this by county agents when it is time to plant oats and other winter cover crops to make more feed next year.

"And oats should be planted between September 15 and October 15 to make feed next year," said J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn. "In experiments at Auburn the yield of fall-sown oats was double that of spring-sown oats over a period of twenty years.

"Drill oats in cotton middles soon after the cotton has been picked. Planting early—even if the oats have to be planted in the middle of a summer-growing crop before it is harvasted—is of much greater importance in securing a good yield than delaying planting to plow the land and prepare it thoroughly.

"Oats should be seeded at the rate of two to three bushels per acre. Sow red rustproof, Appler, or Fulghum varieties. The Fulghum is earlier than the rustproof.

"North of Birmingham where oats are sometimes lost from freezes the Norton oat is promising, having stood 8 degrees above zero in January, 1928, when other varieties were almost completely killed. In three years tests it made about as large yield as other varieties. The winter turf oat is popular with many farmers in the Tennessee Valley.

"It pays to treat oats for smut. Every farmer can secure a cheap and practical formula for treating oats for smut from his county agent."

PLANTING BLACK WALNUT

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 28.—One of the most exacting tree species as to soil and moisture native to Alabama is the black walnut, says Colonel Page S. Bunker, state forester. Although this tree requires a good agricultural soil for best development, this factor should not prevent its more widespread use as a producer of high grade, valuable lumber, nuts and shade. Planted along fence rows, around the house and along the roads running through the farm, it will repay the landowner many times for his efforts.

Planting the nuts in the field has generally been regarded as the best way of establishing growth. They can be planted in the fall as soon as they are ripe or in the early winter or spring. Where there is danger of rodents destroying the nuts, they should be stratified in sand in a cool, moist, protected place until planted. Planting should be done before March 1.

The nuts should be planted in spots a foot to two feet in diameter which should be cleared of all weeds and grass and the soil well loosened to a depth of six inches. Usually, two or three nuts are used to each spot. The nuts are placed in the soil at a depth of about two inches. By late spring many of the nuts will have started to sprout if stratified in sand. As the seedlings develop they should be given encouragement by keeping the spots free from competition with weeds and grass, and the soil loosened without harming the root system.

THE ALABAMA PROGRAM OF FARMING FOR PROFIT

Since Texas has rejected the proposal to suspend completely production of cotton for one year it is obvious that Alabama and other states cannot undertake it.

Therefore, we, in Alabama, must find the solution of our agriculturel problems by application of our regular program. We must push forward diligently with our research work in order to find out the facts and then endeavor, through our bankers and other business people, county agents, farm bureaus, teachers of vocational agriculutre, and other agencies to make the widest possible application of these scientific facts on each farm.

Strengthen Farm Organization

In order to deal effectively and intelligently with the difficult problems of agriculture all sincere and thoughtful friends of the farmer unanimously agree that the one paramount matter standing out over every other question is that the farm people must have a sound, wise, efficient and thorough going farmer-controlled organization.

Out of the industry of agriculture itself must arise a strong, sturdy, bold, courageous leadership. Under these leaders, and with the counsel and assistance of all of the agencies created to serve agriculture there must be built this organization of farm folks for educational and cooperative purposes.

Through such an organization, and with the counsel and assistance of the private and public agencies created to serve them the farmers themselves must; 1, cut costs of production; 2, improve marketing facilities; 3, adjust production to normal demands; 4, improvve the farm home and rural social life.

Above all, therefore, every real friend of agriculture in Alabama should put forth every effort to strengthen the farmers' organization.

What Shall We Do With The Present Cotton Crop?

The immediate question before us is what shall we do with the present crop of cotton.

Farmers should join with all of their neighbors in pooling their cotton with the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association. Under this plan the farmers will receive a substantial cash advance, and at the same time retain their interest in and their control over their cotton, and thus be in position to get the full benefit of any advance in price.

This association is on a sound business basis, and is in the hands of efficient and capable management.

The Cotton Outlook

There is in sight an ample supply of cotton for two years based upon the present rate of consumption.

The Remedy

This means that we should reduce our production of cotton annually for the next two years to one-half of the 1931 production.

In the meantime we should:

1. Make plans for the ample production of food for the family and feed for all livestock.
2. Make some form of livestock a part of the permanent program.
3. Improve in every conceivable way the efficiency, the comfort and the convenince of the farm home.
4. County farm and home demonstration agents and teachers of vocational agriculture in the several counties are in possession of full information as to methods and plans of procedure. Farm people, business people, and others interested in agriculture are urged to cooperate actively with these agencies in making their plans to meet the situation.
5. That such meeting or conferences as may be necessary be held to acquaint farmers, bankers, merchants, and others with the facts and enlist their full cooperation in the adoption and application of these recommendations.

"BRIGHT SPOTS" FOUND IN ALABAMA FARMING

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 28.—Although prices of farm products remain at law figures agriculture in Alabama is not without its "bright spots" or causes for encouragement. This is revealed in recent reports received at Auburn from the county demonstration agents who are in close touch with the situation and are leaders in the "advancing agriculture" in Alabama.

Winter legumes and fall gardens were the biggest "bright spots" in the latest reports. More acres in legumes and more and better fall and winter gardens were assured.

The winter legumes will enrich land for improvement of farming. They will also provide grazing and some will produce food for the family.

Other important achievements were reported by the county agents. P. R. Pettis, for example, told of an improved system for marketing poultry and eggs in Conecuh County. C. S. Keller said that a cotton classer had been placed in Henry County by the Farm Bureau to grade, staple, and receive cotton for cooperative marketing. J. W. Sartain, Walker County, reported that a strawberry association has been organized with 102 members. J. L. Liles, Jefferson County, told about a good crop of sweet potatoes with preparations being made for storing them. A big crop of fall Irish potatoes is being made in Madison County, said J. B. Mitchell. A strawberry association has been organized in Citronville in Mobile County, under the direction of W. C. Vail. In Marengo County regular sales for hogs are to be conducted during the season. County Agent R. D. Winch said that pens and scales had been provided and sales are to be conducted in order that farmers with a few hogs may get market prices at point of sale.

As the season advances county agents will turn their attention to other projects, each working for more profitable agriculture.

By publishing "Agricultural Mathematics" the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, has launched into a new field of educational literature. The bulletin was written in mathematical form with a view to use in the schools and homes of the state, and thereby presenting agricultural facts with mathematical facts.

Iowa corn growers voted recently to hold their 1931 crop for 60 cents a bushel. To borrow many will resort to a state warehousing act and place their corn in storage.

VEGETABLE STORAGE FOR LATER USE TOLD

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 28.—Home gardeners in Alabama have come to early fall with a large supply of vegetables to be used during the winter. Consequently, Julian Brown, extension horticulturist, of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, offers practical suggestions about harvesting and storing as follows:

"Where there is danger from hard freezes, vegetables such as beets, carrots, cabbage, and turnips should be dug and stored for the winter. Beets, carrots, and turnips may be stored either in a cellar or in a specially prepared pit made in the following manner: Select a well-drained area, dig the pit about 12 inches deep, four to six feet wide, and long enough to accommodate all the vegetables to be stored. Cover the bottom with pine straw. Cut off tops of root crops to be stored. Place them in the pit in a wedge-shaped pile about two feet high; and, cover with about 4 to 6 inches of straw and cover this with about an equal depth of dirt.

"Cabbage may be stored in pits or trenches by inverting the plants and covering with straw and dirt the same as above. Roots and outer leaves should be left attached to the plant.

"Use care in storing your winter supply of potatoes. Do not store them where you stored potatoes last year without first cleaning out and disinfecting your old storage place. For detailed information see your county agent."

POULTRY

RANGE PARALYSIS

(By Prof. H. D. Munroe)

At this time of the year, when the pullets are about ready to lay, many flock owners notice some of the pullets going blind, losing weight, getting lame and sometimes becoming paralyzed. This condition is called range paralysis. Little is known about this disease and nothing is known that will cure the trouble.

It is usually the after effect of the disease Cocidiosis and many times worms, especially tape worms, are found in flocks so affected. The owners should treat the birds for worms, cull out and kill all birds that are blind, lame or paralyzed.

From the time the pullets are housed the owner should carefully cull the flock each week. At this time he should take out any bird that is lame in any way or seems to be going blind. These birds will usually be in good flesh and can be sold for eating purposes. If this is not done the bird will soon be too thin to sell and will usually die in about a month's time. It is far better to get the market price for the pullet than to keep her until she is worhless and spend money on her for medicine that will do no good.

ITALIAN RYEGRASS FOR WINTER LAWNS

For a satisfactory and inexpensive lawn during the winter, Italian ryegrass is without an equal in Alabama. It grows very rapidly, and is pretty and green during winter and early spring, and dies down when hot weather comes.

The seed should be planted around the first of October. Broadcast at the rate of ten to fifteen pounds per 1,600 square feet, or about 250 to 300 pounds per acre.

One of the most important things to remember in sowing Italian ryegrass seed is not to tear up the original turf, but simply use a method of getting the seed into contact with the earth. One fairly good method is to run a lawn mower over the grass after the seed have been broadcast. Another is to drag a heavy log or plank over the turf. A garden rake is very satisfactory for scratching the ground, and insuring a good contact between the seed and the dirt. If seed are sown just before a rain they will germinate very quickly.

If the yard is fairly fertile it is better not to fertilize Italian ryegrass during the winter. This grass will grow fast enough on good soil without fertilizer. If the soil is poor and a thick sod is wanted fertilize with nitrate of soda at the rate of fifteen to twenty pounds for an area of 1,600 square feet. This fertilizer should not be applied while the grass is damp unless the lawn is watered immediately. Fertilize the lawn every month or six weeks. Very few people fertilize their lawns enough. A good turf takes a great deal from the soil and unless more food is put into the soil the turf will soon become bare and ugly.

Italian ryegrass is hard on Bermuda grass and will ruin a good Bermuda lawn if used every year. It helps, however, to fertilize the Bermuda grass during the spring and summer, and if practical it is a good idea to cover the Bermuda sod with an inch or two of good loam every two or three years. Bermuda grass should not be mowed too closely.

Senator David A. Reid of Pennsylvania is advocating a general sales tax of one-half of 1 per cent on articles sold through retail stores and agencies. He estimates that such a tax would raise two billion dollars a year, or nearly half of the annual federal budget.

STATE FERTILIZER BILL REDUCED BY $7,829,000

Alabama farmers spent $7,829,000 less for commercial fertilizer used on cotton this year than they spent last year, accerding to the Department of Agriculture. State farmers last year spent $14,385,000 for commercial fertilizers used on cotton, while this year they spent $6,569,000.

Not only did Alabama reduce its fertilizer bill but all cotton growing states did likewise with a total reduction of $38,658,000. Last year the South spent $75,607,000 for commercial fertilizers to use on cotton compared with $36,949,000 spent for the same purpose this year.

Of the $3,410,000 acres of Alabama land in cotton this year 76 per cent or 2,592,000 acres received fertilizers. Last year 3,486,000 acres or 92 per cent of the 3,789,000 acres planted to cotton were fertilized. The average cost for fertilizer was $2.53 per acre this year compared with $4.13 last year. State farmers applied 213 pounds of fertilizer per acre compared with 262 pounds last year.

F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician shows that this year Alabama farmers used 425,000 tons of commercial fertilizer. Of this 322,000 were used on cotton and 103,000 on other crops. These figures compare with 646,000 tons used last year—513,000 on cotton and 133,000 on other crops.

PURINA MILLS CUT PRICES WILL HELP THE FARMER

Beginning September 1, officers and employees of Purina Mills, makers of commercial feeds, received salary cuts up to 15 per cent, according to an announcement by the company's executives. This is one of the first of the companies doing business with the farmer to share with him the effects of the present business depression. The announcement of the cuts in salaries was preceded by a cut in price of the company's products.

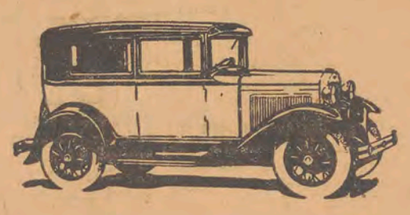
"We feel in making this salary cut and in cutting the price of our feeds that we are passing on to the feeder every extra dollar and every extra value that it is possible for us to give," says E. G. Cherbonnier, secretary of the Purina Mills. "We know that we are in a business that depends primarily on the prosperity of the American farmer and for that reason feel that we can most help to bring good times by giving the farmer greater values today than ever before. In cutting the price of our feed and in cutting the salary of thousands of employees, we have not taken away one bit of the quality that is in our products. Like the farmer, we know that we must at this time take less for our products and less for our labors.

Every member of the Purina Mills field force has been urged to give diligently of his time and efforts to every livestock feeder to help him to reduce production costs and to increase his margin of profit through better methods of care and feeding.

THOMAS JR. SCHOOL OPENING

School will open at Thomas Jr., on Wednesday, October 7th. All children are requested to bring old books for exchange. Patrons are requested to be present opening day, as there is some important business to attend to.—Trustees.

NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR REMISSION OF FINAL FORFEITURE JUDGMENT



Notice is hereby given as provided by Section 5128 of the Code of Alabama, 1923, that application has been made to the Governor for remission of final forfeiture judgment in case No. 3365, State of Alabama versus Joe Smith, made final on March 30, 1931, in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Ala. 9-24-2pd. JOE SMITH

LEGION AUXILIARY TO MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at the courthouse Monday night, October 5th. All members are urged to be present. Mrs. James T. Rowell, of Selma, will be the principal speaker. All committee members especially urged to be present.

At the same time the regular meeting of the American Legion will be held. This will be an important meeting, and every ex-service man in the county is urged to come.

"Why My Next Car will be A FORD"

WHEN you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life.

Here's an interesting letter from a Ford owner in North Carolina:

"My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 121,767 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatsoever except punctures.

"The brakes were relined at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on tires, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat.

"I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford."

This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.

Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say "it's a great car"?

If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O. K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

FIFTEEN BODY TYPES

$430 TO $640

F.O.B. Detroit, plus freight and delivery. Bumpers and spare tire extra at low cost. Economical time payments through the Authorized Ford Finance Plans of the Universal Credit Company.

KILLS Flies and Mosquitoes GULF Venom Roaches, Ants, Bed-Bugs, Moths

CLANTON CASH STORE

Unexpected – Shocking – News

CLOSE-OUT CLEAN-OUT SELL-OUT—Of all surplus Merchandise. The time of all times, the place of all places, the bargain of all bargains, are here waiting for you. A breath-taking Sale! The most drastic values in years. All records will be broken in value-giving! Come!

SALE STARTS FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2nd

FARMERS ATTENTION—WE WILL PAY ONE CENT A POUND ABOVE THE MARKET PRICE FOR COTTON, IN TRADE OR ON ACCOUNTS. ATTEND THIS SALE WITHOUT FAIL, HAIL, RAIN, SLEET, SNOW OR SHINE. IT WILL PAY YOU WELL

CLANTON CASH STORE

CLANTON NOVELTY SHOP

Let me build or repair your home; build or repair your furniture; gum and file your saws; repairs of al description; screen windows and doors. I give free estimates on all jobs.

G. E. JACKS

Back of Stapp's Office
Clanton, Ala.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at
Farmers Hardware Co.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

At the Court of Honor last Saturday morning the scouts displayed much interest in passing their various tests. Horace Vinson, Milton Diefenderfer and John McNair were passed to the rank of Second Class Scouts.

Eugene Wilkinson, Thomas Marcus and Shorty Marcus were passed to the rank of First class scout. With very little work, Wesley Danforth, U. L. Baker, Philip Nelson and Irby Wood will pass to First Class scouts. Joe Moore presented a certificate for bird study Merit Badge. John Eezll presented a certificate for Merit badge in first aid to animals.

The next Court of Honor will be held at the Baptist church at 7:00 a.m. October 10th. Boys are expected to progress rapidly in their scouting now, as each boy has indicated the rank he expects to obtain by Christmas. Boys who failed to obtain the rank indicated will be expected to give the other boys a Christmas feed.

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch entertained her circle of the W. M. S. at a picnic at her camp on Lake Mitchell Monday.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

BUILD UP TO PREVENT PAINS

How a Missouri woman was benefited by taking Cardui is described below by Mrs. Joe Schumer, of Cape Girardeau: "I suffered with irregularity. For weeks at a time I was so weak I could not work. I had aches in my back and head and legs—I ached all over. I would get dizzy and feel faint. I had read about Cardui, so I got some and took it. I improved a great deal. After I had taken four bottles, I felt like a different person." FN-10

CARDUI

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

Foot Itch

Millions Have Athlete's Foot

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Hand Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at

The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

NOTICE OF ELECTION

I, W. H. Gillespie, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1931, an election will be held at the several polling places in Chilton County, Alabama, for a vote by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, in the manner and form and places as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, namely:

"Article XX-B. Section 1. The State is authorized to engage in the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges in the State of Alabama. To this end and for these purposes, the State is authorized to appropriate funds and for construction purposes only the State is authorized also to issue and sell interest-bearing negotiable State bonds in addition to those already authorized and sold under Article XX and XX-A, as amendments to the Constitution of 1901, in an amount not to exceed the sum of twenty-five million ($25,000,000.00), to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series, maturing at such times as may be provided by law, and all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not greater than six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall be sold at a price not less than par value thereof.

Section 2. The State Highway Commission or Highway Department shall locate, construct and maintain highways, bridges and State trunk roads so as to connect each county seat with the county seat of the adjoining county by the most direct or most feasible route by a permanent road, having due regard for the public welfare, and shall connect the county seats of the several border counties at or near the state line with a public highway in the border states. Provided, that in counties which are divided into two or more judicial divisions in each of which regular terms of the circuit court are held, the places where said terms of court are held, shall likewise be connected with each other.

Section 3. The proceeds of said bonds shall be used for construction and/or surfacing of roads and construction and/or repairing bridges, but not for maintenance or discharging of contract debts, liability or obligations existing prior to the adoption of this amendment.

Section 4. Eighteen million four hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($18,425,000.00) of the proceeds of said bonds shall be set aside by the Governor and apportioned in amounts of two hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($275,000.00) to each of the respective counties of the State which must be expended by the State Highway Department in each of said counties for construction, which shall include hard surfacing, of existing and also new public roads and bridges therein. The remaining proceeds of said bonds shall be used for the construction, which shall include surfacing, of existing, or new highways and constructing or repairing bridges in the State.

Section 5. The proceeds of such bonds shall be kept separate and apart from all other funds and no part of the same shall ever be used in honoring a warrant not legally drawn against such proceeds.

Section 6. There is hereby levied and every distributor, retail dealer or storer shall pay an excise tax of one cent per gallon upon the selling, distributing or withdrawing from storage for any use gasoline, provided, however, that the excise tax is not levied upon the sale of gasoline in interstate commerce, and provided further that where this excise tax shall have been paid by a distributor or by a retail dealer or storer such payment shall be sufficient, the intention being that this tax shall not be paid but once. The terms 'distributor,' 'retail dealer,' 'storer,' 'selling,' 'distributing,' 'withdrawing' and 'gasoline' are used as the same are used in existing gasoine excise tax laws of the State and shall be so construed, and all rights, duties, liabilities, penalties, powers and methods pertaining to the collection of gasoline excise taxes under such existing laws of the State shall apply to the collection, payment and accounting for the within excise tax, provided, the Legislature may limit, extend or further define the same. The excise tax of one cent herein levied shall be in addition to the excise gasoline taxes provided by existing laws of the State, but this section shall not be construed in any way as limiting the power of the Legislature to increase or decrease this or any other gasoline tax.

Section 7. The one cent excise tax hereinbefore levied shall be used first to create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and the interest on the bonds herein authorized, and, second, by the State for the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges of this State.

Section 8. The bonds herein authorized when issued shall be a direct obligation of the State, and for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest thereon the full faith and credit of the State is hereby irrevocably pledged and such bonds shall be exempt forever from taxes of every kind.

Section 9. The bonds herein authorized shall be issued and sold in the same manner by a Bond Commission as set forth, defined and prescribed in Article 5 of Chapter 32, Code of Alabama, 1923.

Section 10. That House Bill No. 1204 by Mr. Tunstall, if and when passed by both houses of he Legislature of Alabama of 1931 and approved by the Governor and being, "A bill to be entitled an act to impose, for the use and purpose of surviving, preserving, maintaining, constructing and regulating the use of public roads and bridges in the State of Alabama, an excise tax on all persons, companies, agencies, corporations, and associations who sell, distribute, store or draw from storage for any purpose whatsoever, gasoline or any other liquid motor fuel or devices or any substitute therefor within the State of Alabama; providing for the collection of such excise tax and the payment of same into the State Treasury; providing for the enforcement of this act and fixing a penalty for the violation of the provisions hereof; providing that the said excise tax so imposed shall be in addition to all other excise tax now imposed by law; and, providing that freight agents or railroads and all agents of all transportation companies operating within the State of Alabama and who ransport motor fuels shall report to the State Tax Commission all shipments of gasoline or any substitute therefor, received at any of their stations within the State," be and the same is hereby ratified, confirmed and validated and made constitutional as a law, and such ratification, confirmation, validation and constitutionally as a law, shall, according to the terms thereof when finally passed, inn the manner aforesaid, take effect and be effective on the day of the passage of said bill by both houses of the Legislature of Alabama of 1931, and approved by the Governor, as fully as if said bill was set out in words and figures herein.";

This, the first day of October, 1931.

W. H. GILLESPIE,
10-1-4t-ch. Skeriff Chilton County, Ala.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins and two little sons of Linden are spending this week in Clanton. Mr. Hutchins is connected with the Gulf Refining Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harris of Birmingham were visitors to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris, Sunday.

Mr. J. B. Hicks, merchant of Maplesville was a visitor to Clanton last Monday.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade is spending two weeks at Stafford Springs, Miss.

Mr. Newton of Mitchell Dam attended services at the Methodist Church Sunday.

Mr. H. A. Harris continues ill at his home.

Mr. Jesse Sam Gowan leaves this week to resume his studies at Atlanta Dental College.

Miss Hattie Mae Tillery returned to Birmingham after spending a week as the guest of Mrs. C. E. Stapp.

Mr. Archie Harris of Gorgas is spending a few days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris.

BEGINNING LIFE'S BATTLES

New Neighbor—"Have you any brothers and sisters, dear?"

Margery—"I had a brother, but we're divorced."

Neighbor—"Divorced?"

Margery—"Yes, pa's got Jackie and ma's got me."—Boston Transcript.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs Crumpton of Greensboro were visitors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Crumpton in Clanton last Sunday.

Dr. J. P. Crumpton spent Sunday in Birmingham with Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Duncan.

It is reported from the Central Alabama Hospital that Frank Calloway is improving now. He has been in the hospital over a week suffering from gun shot wounds inflicted by a federal prohibition officer.

Lee Robinson, farmer of Verbena, was here at Court this week. He says the hard times are not worrying him, as he has plenty of everything he needs at home. That is the way for a farmer to talk. Many more of them could do it if they would.

SEPTEMBER MARRIAGES

A. E. Yarn and Miss Tressie Elaine Veazey.

Albert D. Roden and Miss Luella Patterson.

John Pate and Miss Evie Lou Ray.

Cecil Armstrong and Miss Lena Vinson.

W. P. Mims and Miss Rosa Cleckler.

Robert F. Dawson and Miss Mary Evelyn Smith.

T. J. Ward and Miss Irene Atkinson.

Theodore Meherg and Miss Vera Mims.

Elijah D. Miner and Miss Alice Fendley.

Artis Hill and Miss Hattie Lee Gilliland.

Leonard E. Gentry and Miss Jewel Miner.

Charlie R. Sandlin and Miss Eura B. Driver.

Elbert Langston and Miss Mildren Durbin.

Harrison Trammell and Miss May Sanson.

J. A. Dykes and Miss Fanie Trammel Cobb.

H. Judson Lawrence and Miss Estelle Jacks.

Leon Lamar Brigance and Miss Marie Stroud.

Elmer David Ratliff and Miss Lois Estelle Langston.

DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Following is the program of the District Sunday School Convention to be held at Jones Baptist Church, October 4th, 1931:

2:15—Devotional, by Mrs. J. H. Bruce.

2:30—Reports of all schools in district.

2:45—"Why should we want a standard Sunday School," by W. J. Patrick.

3:00—"How can we enlarge our Sunday school?" by Rev. A. S. Bentley.

3:20—"Putting our possessions to work for God," by Rev. A. C. Weaver.

3:40—"The importance of grading a Sunday school," by T. L. Patrick.

3:50—General discussion.

4:00—Adjourn.

Why not come to this convention? You will not regret the time it takes. We will appreciate your presence.—W. J. Patrick, associate supt.

Phonographs of all kinds repaired and parts furnished. Prices reasonable. See G. W. Moore, next to Carter Electric Shop, Clanton, Alabama.

HAYNES NEWS

Mrs. Laura Boone of Verbena is visiting Mrs. C. H. Roy.

Misses Ethel Ruth, Mary Lou and Mr. Bill Gaines motored to Clanton Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. O. O. Jones and Misses Margaret and Betty Jones spent Thursday afternon in Verbena.

Mrs. R. L. Jackson and son, C. E., visited in Evergreen Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus had as their guests Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roy, Mrs. Laura Boone, Mr. W. M. Deramus, Miss Winnie Carter and Mr. Harvey Carter.

Messrs. Lewis Deramus and Arthur Hinton spent last week end in Montgomery.

Miss Mildred Smith spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Sara Jones.

Misses Mary Lou and Ethel Ruth Gaines spent Sunday with Mrs. R. L. Jackson.

A number of the young people enjoyed a jicnic at the Beadlescomb pond Friday night.

Mesdames E. B. Gaines and O. O. Jones spent Saturday afternoon with Mesdames A. G. and G. W. Wyatt.

Miss Alyne Wright was dinner guest of Miss Sara Jones Thursday.

Mr. ant Mrs. Jimmie Boone of Birmingham visited his mother, Mrs. Laura Boone, Sunday.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION THIS WEEK

The grand jury of Chilton County was empanelled Monday morning by Judge George F. Smoot, and the body went into session for investigation for a number of cases. Frank J. Callen, of Clanton, was made foreman of the jury and the handling of testimony of witnesses was in charge of Circuit Solicitor, Winston Huddleston.

Following are the names of the men who compose the grand jury:

Eli I. Moates, J. Matt Mahan, Frank J. Callen, Earl O. Collins, W. C. Devaughn, Tom Miller, Marvin O. Carter, Wm. M. D. O'Neal, J. Frank DuBose, Edgar P. Littlejohn, John S. Wright, Willie W. Robinson, Albert R. Edwards, J. H. Moore, Will L. Nix, Lee Robinson, Oren O. Calfee, Jess W. Collum.

It is expected that the grand jury will complete its work and make a report to the court about Thursday.

Jesse Baker of the Clanton Cash Store was a visitor to Montgomery Tuesday.

Mrs. M. D. Foshee and Miss Carrie Foshee spent Monday in Montgomery.

See the Horse that is to be given away at our store. Inquire for information.—Farmers Hardware Co., Clanton, Alabama.

I. G. A. Specials This Week-End

PURE COCOA, I. G. A. Fancy, lb. can 19c

MILK, I. G. A., 3 tall cans, or 6 small cans 20c

OATMEAL, I. G. A. Either Style 19c
55-oz. package

COFFEE — ALWAYS FRESH
"I" Blend lb. pkg. 33c
"G" Blend lb. pkg. 25c
"A" Blend lb. pkg. 21c

TINY PEAS, I. G. A. Petit Pois 2 lge cans 41c

SWEET CORN or STRING BEANS, Southern Pack, large cans 10c

BEAUTY SOAP I. G. A., 2 cakes 15c
(ONE CAKE FREE)

PREPARED SPAGHETTI I. G. A. With Cheese can 9c

DILL PICKLES Alabama Girl Brand Full Quart Jar 17c

PREMIUM CRACKERS, N. B. C. lb. pkg. 14c

TOMATO CATSUP I. G. A. Fancy, large bottle 19c

SLICED BACON Sunlight Rindless, lb. 26c

CALIFORNIA GRAPES, Fancy Malagas, 3 lbs. 25c

FLOUR, I. G. A. Plain or Self Rising 24 lb bag 78c

FLOUR, Duchess Self Rising or Columbia Plain 24 lb bag 65c

At All IGA Stores

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

S. S. MEET WILL BE AT NEW SALEM

PROGRAM OF COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION AT NEW SALEM NEXT SUNDAY

A Sunday school convention, sponsored by the Chilton County Baptist Association, will be held at New Salem Church, four miles north of Clanton and about one mile off the cement highway to the east, on next Sunday, October 4th. This will be the first convention held since the division of the Chilton County Association from the Unity. All churches in the Chilton County Association are asked to send delegates and as many of their officers and teachers as possible. The program follows:

10:00—Devotional, Mr. T. J. Maddox.

10:15—Introductory remarks, purpose of the Convention, etc., by Mr. Howard R. Oden.

10:30 — Quartet, arranged by Prof. W. M. Devaughn.

10:40—Speech by State Worker.

11:10—Quartet.

11:15—Sermon by the pastor at New Salem, Rev. Zac Y. Appleton.

Dinner.

1:15—Devotional, Mr. Johnnie E. Miner.

1:30—Round table discussion of present needs and plans of county Sunday school work, opened by Rev. B. Lawrence.

Quartet.

2:30—Speech by State Worker.

3:00—Business meeting, and organization for county Sunday school work.

Quartet and adjournment.

LETTER FROM PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

September 29, 1931.

Senator John A. Darden, Chairman Coosa County Mass Meeting, Goodwater, Ala.

Dear Sir:

On yesterday, after our offices had closed, you handed to Associate Commissioner Lee, while on his way home, a copy of the resolutions adopted by a mass meeting of the citizens of Coosa County at Rockford, Alabama, on the 26th day of September, 1931.

Section 8 of this resolution reads as follows:

"That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the State Tax Commission, the Public Service Commission, Governor B. M. Miller, and a copy to the press of the State. That we call, most respectfully, upon Governor Miller, the State Tax Commission, and the Public Service Commission of this State to grant justice to the people of Alabama in the matter of taxation of all property, that there be no favoritism shown any person or utility in this state; that they use their official power and influence to return to Coosa and Chilton County, and all other counties likewise affected by reduction of Alabama Power Company assessments, by the recent action of the Alabama State Tax Commission, the former assessments in these counties, of the Alabama Power Company, in order that our schools and county government agencies may continue to function."

On September 24, 1931, in response to your inquiry of September 23, and two days before said mass meeting was held in Rockford, the associate members of this Commission addressed a letter to you in which the following paragraph occurs: "We respectfully suggest that this whole matter is one to be handled with the State Tax Commission of Alabama upon whose shoulders rests the whole responsibility for assessment of all properties for taxation in Alabama."

In view of what is quoted above we are absolutely at a loss to understand that part of the resolution which clearly shows that you expect this Commission to use its "official power and influence to return to Coosa County, Chilton County, and all other counties likewise affected by reduction of Alabama Power Company assessments by the recent action of the Alabama State Tax Commission the former assessments in these counties of Alabama Power Company," and we respectfully request you and any other of your citizens who adopted this resolution to point out any law of the State of Alabama, giving this Commission the authority to do what you have asked us to do in your resolution. Unless a prima facie showing of jurisdiction in the Commission to do what the resolution requests is made, no formal action upon the resolution can be taken by this Commission.

If there is anything further which you and your citizens feel that the members of this Commission can do about this matter we would be pleased to have you set it forth specifically in writing. As we have written to you before, all our files, charts, exhibits and data of every nature are open to you and every other member of the public we serve throughout the State of Alabama.

Yours respectfully, H. F. Lee, Associate Commissioner; Frank P. Morgan, Associate Commissioner.

NOTICE TO HOLDERS OF ALA. COTTON MILL STOCK

To the Stockholders of Ala. Mills Co., of Chilton County:

I am requested by several large holders of this stock to call a meeting at the courthouse at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, October 3, to arrange to collect the money on our stock. All that can be sure and be present.—W. A. Reynolds.

BETHSALEM SUNDAY SCHOOL

Our Sunday school had a real large attendance present Sunday morning; but ther could be a larger attendance if we could only get them interested in God's work, and that He has a part for them to do. He gives us a certain part to do, whether we do it or not. The trouble with some of us today is that we think we haven't anything to do, but we surely have, so let's everybody come to Sunday school next Sunday and see if we have a part in God's work.

MIDDLE DISTRICT CONFERENCE O. E. S.

The annual meeting of the Middle District Conference O. E. S. will meet with the Julia Beauchamp Chapter, in Clanton, Alabama October 7. All Chapters are urged to be present.

Eula Gragg, Worthy Matron.
Maude Diefenderfer, Sec'y.

JEMISON NEWS

Miss Dody Wells, who is a Junior at Alabama College, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wells.

Mrs. Louis Williams and Miss Inez Sharpe of Birmingham were the guests of Miss Margie Murphy Friday.

Miss Miriam Harvey, mathematics teacher of Jemison High, spent the week end in Birmingham.

Miss Nell Wells of Chilton County High spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wells.

Jemison regrets very much the loss of Mr. J. C. Vaughn, who has enrolled in the medical school in New Orleans.

Mr. Clarke Glasscock of Jasper, Ala., spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Glasscock.

Mr. and Mrs. Erman Shaw and daughter of Gorgas are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Shaw.

Miss Leona Stanley of Titus, en route to Nashville, stopped over and spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wells.

Court Retherford and Shux Clackler went to Montgomery last Friday.

TWO NURSES TO GRADUATE

Graduating exercises for the nurses training school of the Central Alabama Hospital will be held at the Clanton Methodist Church Wednesday night, October 7, at eight o'clock.

Misses Ovie Payne and Elsie Logan, who have completed their courses in training will receive certificates of graduation.

Rev. Haskew, of the Methodist Church will deliver an address for the occasion. Music will be rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pitss.

The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises.

AT THE MASS MEETING IN COOSA COUNTY

Senator Darden Charged That A False Report Was Spread

Senator Darden revealed in opening the meeting that propagandists of the power company had spread a report all over the county that a mass meeting had been called off. "They don't want the people to know the facts," he said, "but thanks to the Alabama Journal and its associated newspapers, which always can be found fighting the people's battles, the people of the state have been fully informed of the outrageous discrimination that has been visited upon the small taxpayers by the state tax commission."

Darden said if the Miller administration's policy of tax favoritism is continued "it will breed disrespect for law and result finally in chaos and anarchy."

Representative Kelley pointed out that the power company's assessment for tax purposes, already many millions lower than that on which it collects rates from the electric consumers of the state, should have been materially increased for the present tax year. He called attention to the public service commission's records showing an increase in the rate valuation of approximately $25,000,000 between 1929 and 1930 and asked:

"How does the tax commission explain its action in increasing the company's assessments only $900,000 over the entire state in the face of this huge increase in the rate valuations?

Get our low prices on Shoes before you buy. Sample Shoe Store.

W. M. Patterson and F. E. Wilkinson, farmers, near Atmore, have now about ten million state inspected strawberry plants now ready for shipment. The plants are in first class condition.

George R. Moore, of Dry Valley, was in Clanton attending court the first of this week.

See us for the best Shoes in town at the lowest prices.—The Sample Shoe Store.

TWO MEALS DAY BEST FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Skip one meal and drink water instead. Wash out stomach and bowels each morning by drinking water with spoonful of simple glycerin, buckthorn bark, saline compound (called Adlerika).

Adlerika brings out poisons you never thought were in your system. If you are nervous, can't sleep, full of gas, it will surprise you. Adlerika contains no harmful drugs. Get it today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect of this German doctor's remedy.—Upchurch Drug Co.

You can save money on Shoes at The Sample Shoe Store.

DEVAUGHN QUARTET WILL SING AT NEW SALEM SUNDAY

A special feature on the Sunday school program at New Salem next Sunday will be the quartet numbers by Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his group of singers. Besides Prof. Devaughn they are: Jesse C. Jones, Archie Devaughn, and Mr. Hall, with Miss Pearlie Grant at the piano.

The officials of the Sunday School Convention feel very fortunate in having Prof. Devaughn and his helpers present these numbers on the convention program. It is the desire of the committee that there may be created a closer connection between the singers of the county and the Sunday schools, and it was with this idea in view that the quartet was asked to take a part on the program. All Sunday schools of the Chilton County Association are urged to stress singing in their schools, and try to make this a prominent part of their services every Sunday.

SHERIFF'S SALE—REAL ESTATE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County:

By virtue of an execution issued ont. of the Circuit Court in equity of Jefferson County, Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I, as Sheriff of Chilton County, was commanded to make the sum of twenty-four hundred twenty-one and 20-100 ($2,421.20) dollars, principal and interest and cost of suit, the amount of a certain judgment and costs therein obtained at said Court, against H. H. Hayes in favor of Nellie W. Thurman, I have levied up and will sell to the highest bidder for cash at public sale, at the courthouse door of Chilton County, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M., and 4 o'clock P. M., on Monday, the 26th day of October, 1931, all the right, title and the interest of the above named H. H. Hayes, in and to the following described real estate, viz:

The North half (N½) of the Southeast quarter (SE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of Section Twenty-four (24) Township Twenty-three (23), Range Thirteen (13).

The Northeast quarter (NE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) lying South of the Jemison Road in Section Twenty-four (24), Township Twenty-three (23), Range Thirteen (13).

The Southwest quarter (SW¼) of the Northeast quarter (NE¼) of the Northwest quarter (NW¼) of the Southeast quarter (SE¼) of Section Twenty-four (24), Township Twenty-two (22), Range Thirteen (13).

About twenty feet (20) on the West side of Lot Five (5) in Block H., in the Town of Jemison, Alabama, particularly described as follows:

A certain lot or parcel of land in the Town of Jemison, about 20 feet by 90 feet, being a part of the lot conveyed by I. N. Langston and Allena Langston to the Thorsby Savings Bank, by deed recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Volume 90, page 434, which is part of Lot 5, in Block H, as shown by the map of the Town of Jemison, made by C. A. Pickett, bounded on the Northwest by a line extending through the middle of the Southeast wall of the Union State Bank Building, and extending in a straight line to the Southwest and Northeast end of said Lot 5, and being all that part of said Lot 5, in Block H, Southeast of said line.

W. H. GILLESPIE, Sheriff.

Posted at the courthouse door, September 24th, 1931.

W. H. GILLESPIE, Sheriff.

10-1-3t-ch.

HOWARD LAMAR, SR., DIES UNEXPECTEDLY AT AUBURN

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 29.—Howard Lamar, Sr., 69, one of Auburn's pioneer citizens, died suddenly Monday night following a heart attack. Funeral will be held from the home on College Street at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday with burial in Auburn.

Born in Auburn on December 25, 1861, Mr. Lamar attended school here and graduated from what later became the Alabama Polytechnic Institute in 1882. He was a charter member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Upon graduation he read law for a few years, was admitted to the bar upon examination and practiced law successfully for 30 years in Jasper and Birmingham. Five years ago he suffered the loss of his sight because of illness.

He married Alma Virginia Hayes, of Jasper, Ala., in 1893. Together Mr. and Mrs. Lamar reared a family of six children. Mary George Lamar, the youngest, is a junior student at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Other sons and daughters include Henry Hayes Lamar, Jacksonville, Fla.; Howard Lamar, Jr., Manchester, Ga.; George Glen Lamar, Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss Alma Virginia Lamar, Auburn and Mrs. F. D. Patterson, Ames, Iowa. Geo. H. Lamar, of Washington, D. C., only surviving brother, will come to Auburn for the funeral.

PINE FLAT NEWS

Our Sunday school and Christian Endeavor are progressing nicely. We have had several new members to join. We are indeed glad to have them come and take part in this great work. Let us not forget to worship our Saviour and help bring others to him, for what is more pleasing to God than to see His people working for him?

Don't forget next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody is invited to come. You are always welcome at our church. Sunday school is at 10 o'clock and preaching at 11. We have changed Christian Endeavor from 7:30 back to 7:00 o'clock.

Mr. W. J. Culver made a business trip to Thorsby Monday.

Miss Lorene Richardson was the guest of Miss Ruth Dennis Saturday night.

Miss Lorene Pyron attended the baptising at Shole Creek Sunday.

Those who attended the Christian Endeavor rally September 18 in Montgomery were the pastor, Rev. C. R. Rogers, Messrs. Walter Groves, Jack Price, Raymond and Goree Lewis; Misses Lorene Pyron, Bess Rogers, Evelyn Hull, Clara, Ruth, Emma and Hazel Groves, Annie B. Fuller, Lorene Richardson. They report a real nice time. We were glad indeed of having the honor of our church having the most representatives.

Miss Lorene Pyron was the afternoon guest of Miss Mae Etta Hombie Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Resco Keener of Montgomery were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Pyron Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Richardson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dennis Sunday.

Misses Mae and Flora Terrell were the guests of Miss Lorene Pyron Saturday night.

Miss Olive Ziegler of Birmingham is down spending the summer here at her summer home.

Don't forget to come to church next Sunday and Sunday night.

Cotton Yields Fall Short Of Assuring Profit on Crop

Notice the contrast in these rows. When the cotton was picked the section at right produced 277 pounds more lint per acre than the rows at the left. The only difference in the treatment is that the cotton at the right received Chilean nitrate of soda. It was side-dressed after chopping.

BICE GIVES HIS OPINION ABOUT COTTON SITUATION

Editor Union-Banner:

I would like to give my opinion regarding the cotton situation. I believe the Texas law is the key to the cotton business. My judgment is the law of planting 30 per cent for two years is a good law. It may not raise the price of cotton much for this crop, but it will raise the price in 1932 and 1933. If only five million bales are made in 1932 and 1933, the price is sure to go to 15 or 20 cents.

I do not like the Long Law, and I hope all Southern states will follow the Texas plan. I agree with the most of A. A. Jackson's letter, but he must remember the farmers are having these laws passed. The law-makers are forced to pass some law that will give the farmers something for their cotton. Mr. Jackson knows the farmers will not stop making large crops of cotton unless they are forced to do so. He knows every farmer does not own a farm and is not as prosperous as he is. He should sympathize with the unfortunate who are not as prosperous as he.

There are thousands of farmers in all the cotton states who are dependent on their cotton crop for a living. I do not see any way for them to get a living price for their cotton, unless they are forced to make less cotton. I think the 30 per cent law passed in Texas is the only salvavtion for the farmer to get a just price for his cotton, and the farmers should rise up and force all cotton growing states that haven't passed such laws to do so. Then everybody could get a reasonable price for cotton. Everyone knows he can not raise cotton at the present price.—J. Bice, Elora, Tennessee.

ALABAMA'S LARGEST HILL'S FOOD DISTRIBUTORS

SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK-END

Friday & Saturday

Lard	Pure Hog	8 pound pail	79c
Meat	best quality	per lb	10c
Meat	Salt Butts	per lb	7½c
Flour	Split Silk 24-lb bag (Plain or Self Rising)		49c
Per Barrel			$3.75
Sugar	10-lbs		49c
Coffee	Best Grade 8-lb ground		$1.00
Guaranteed to please or money back
Salmon	3	large cans	25c
Malt Syrup	Budweiser 3-lb can		39c
Shorts	Best grade 100-lbs		$1.25
Chicken Feed	100 lb		$1.65
Lard	Compound	per lb	9c
Per can			$3.85
RICE	Blue Rose	5-lb	25c
Tobacco	Brown Mule Bloodhound	2 plugs	28c
Matches	10	large boxes	25c
SALT	3	5-cent boxes	10c

Bring Us Your Chickens and Eggs

We Pay the HIGHEST CASH PRICES

ALABAMA'S LARGEST HILL'S FOOD DISTRIBUTORS

CLANTON, ALABAMA

JUST IMAGINE

NOT A SALE --- We are offering the following MERCHANDISE every day until present STOCK IS DEPLETED.

All Wool Suits

Mens all-wool new up to the minute Suits, tailored to order, at prices never equaled before in the history of Clanton. See this wonderful assortment of Suits in all sizes. All hard finish wool Suits, for

$5.00 $7.50 & $10.00

Good yard wide Sheeting	7½c
Good Gingham and Chambray	5c
Play Cloth, heavvy grade	10c
Fast color Prints, yard wide	10c
81 x 90 Krinkled Spread	50c
Mens full cut Overalls	69c
Good Outing	8c
66 x 80 part wool Blankets, $3.95 value, for	$1.95
Mens Sox	7c
Mens Dress Shirts	48c
Good Dress Oxfords, for	$1.98
Mens Pants, for	98c
Mens Hats	98c
36-Inch Cretonne, for	10c
Mens all-wool Odd Coats	$2.50
64 x 76 Double Blankets, per pair	98c

THE LEADER

CLANTON, ALABAMA

Ladies Coats

Do you know you can buy a new Fall and Winter Coat for less than one-half of last year's prices in this season's materials? Believe us when we say the materials and styles are different; and we are offering them for

$9.95 $14.95 & $19.95

Miller Blames Senators With School Dilemma

Tells 150 City and County Educators that State Cannot pay Old Warrants Now. Says Legislation Must Furnish Relief.

Responsibility for the present plight of the public schools in Alabama, many of which face closing within the next 60 days, was placed squarely upon the 21 members of the State Senate by Governor Miller yesterday, when approximately 150 county and city superintendents called upon the Governor to ascertain whether there is any relief in sight.

While promising he would do all that was humanly possible for him to do in absence of any legislative relief for the schools, Governor Miller said he could not give the superintendents any assurance as to when State warrants issued counties during the last school term would be paid by the state.

Without any such assurance, spokesmen for the superintendents explained, most of the counties would be unable to borrow any money on their anticipated income, a step necessary to insure the operation of the schools in the immediate future.

The conference with the Governor was held during the afternoon, following a meeting of the superintendents to discuss the present crisis and decide upon a plan of action to keep the schools open their full terms if possible.

Applaud Miller's Stand

The superintendent's at a session last night heartily applauded the Governor's stand for education in a resolution which they adopted, and in another resolution urged that consideration of the schools be included in case an extra session of the Legislature is called.

The superintendent pointed out in the resolution requesting legislative relief in the event of an extra session, that the school system is threatened with collapse, and that the people in different counties are insisting they be given definite information relating to the financial relief.

Following is the resolution of appreciation to Governor Miller:

We hereby express to his Excellency, Governor B. M. Miller, our appreciation of his cordial reception to us this afternoon. We rejoice in his interest in and sympathetic support of the public school system of Alabama."

The other resolution was addressed to "the Governor and Legislature of Alabama and is as follows:

"We, the county and city superintendents of Alabama in joint session in Montgomery on September 24, respectfully call your attention to the following facts:

"1. The state is now in arrears in its payments to its public school system for services rendered during the year 1930-31 to an extent of approximately $5,000,000 of which amount $3,250,000 is in the form of unpaid and non-negotiable warrants.

"2. This failure of the state to meet its appropriations to the schools has made it impossible for school officials to pay teachers in full for services rendered last year and to meet other financial obligations incurred in the operation of the schools for 1930-31;

"3. The people of the various counties and cities of Alabama are insisting that they be given definite information relative to financial relief for schools;

"Local school authorities now find it impossible to finance their respective school systems and because of these distressing conditions the public school system of Alabama is threatened with collapse;

"5. Therefore, in view of the foregoing facts we earnestly request and urge that in case an extraordinary session of the Legislature is called, the public schools of Alabama shall be included and legislation to this end shall be enacted.

"6. We pledge to you our undivided loyalty and sincerest efforts to the realization of this program of relief. Such a program to achieve its desired end must see to it that the state is able to meet promptly its assumed obligations to its public schools. Furthermore, the public school system of Alabama cannot be successfully operated on less money than is now contemplated by the law of the state."

In his statement the Governor told the educators of the State's obligations which he found when he entered the office. He estimated that the total outstanding debts of the state are now between $19,000,000 and $20,000,000. He reminded them that he sought to care for this indebtness by a bond issue, in order that the state's work might be carried on without closing the schools. This bond issue proposal, he reminded them was defeated in the senate when the senate declined even to consider the proposal.

Refuses to Take Blame

"It has been said," he declared, "that if the schools don't continue in operation the responsibility will be on me. I want to tell you that no person has the interest of the schools closer to heart than I have, and if the schools close it will not be B. M. Miller's fault but the fault of those 21 members of the Senate of Alabama, who refused to even read a second time in the senate the measure that would have helped the schools."

If the bond issue and income tax measure had been passed, he said, with the consent of the people of Alabama every debt would have been paid and the schools would have the revenue they needed to continue operation.

Superintendent C. C. Mosely, president of the Alabama Educational Association advanced the information that the teachers can't go on any further. They have done without their salaries as long as they can.

"I know it," Gov. Miller replied. "But we haven't got any money."

"What other groups of state employees are doing without their salaries?" Superintendent Lawrence of Chilton asked.

"You have no idea of the number of institutions and departments that can't get any money," Gov. Miller replied.

Gov. Miller declared there was a great need at this time for a patriotic public sentiment for prompt tax payment. He said the finances of the State are going to run behind this next fiscal year. He estimated that the amounts appropriated under the present laws by legislatures of the past would exceed the income of the state by between three and four million dollars.

Again a superintendent explained to the Governor that in his county the Board of Education had postponed payment of its obligations as long as it could, and that it appeared that his schools would be forced to close soon.

Just keep on postponing, Gov. Miller replied with a smile, until you can get the senate and the House in a humor to do something for the State of Alabama.

Mass Meetings Planned

The superintendents re-convened at the Alabama Department of Education following the conference and placed before the resolutions committee a motion calling a mass meeting in each county to acquaint the people with the educational financial crisis to the end that an extra session of he Legislaure may be called at an early date to relieve the situation.

Senator Teasley addressed the superintendents and advocated as a relief measure the passage of a constitutional amendment in line with the Governor's program and which would specify that funds collected from the present state-wide three-mill tax and one-third of an income tax, should be held in trust for the schools and apportioned to the schools. This could prevent the spending of school monies for other purposes by the state, he said.

Senator Teasley said he believed that if Governor Miller were assured the Senate of Alabama would submit such a constitutional amendment to the people for the relief of the schools that he would immediately call an extra session of the Leislature.

As long as the present system, which permits the state to use school money for other purposes, is in vogue," he said "we're going to have trouble." If the state should use the money apportioned to the schools he said, the state should pay interest on the money and it should be repaid to the schools on a given date.

Dr. A. F. Harman, State Superintendent of Education, addressed the meeting shortly after it opened yesterday morning. Dr Harman said that more than $2,000,000 was now due the schools by the state and "that while we are not in an angry mood, we will insist that the state meet its obligations to he various schools throughout the state."

For the success of the meeting Dr. Harman recommended "conservatism, moderation, toleration and patience."

S. E. Gibson, Superintendent of Calhoun County, was named chairman of the meeting. He declared that this is the most serious situation that has confronted the schools in 30 years, and affects 600,000 school children and 15,000 teachers.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Mrs. Lillian Young has returned to her home in Selma after a brief visit here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds made a business trip to Troy Monday.

Mrs. Kate Haynes is spending some time in Wetumpka as the guest of relatives.

Miss Nellie Sumner of Alabama College spent the week end at her home here.

See the Horse that is to be given away at our store. Inquire for information.—Farmers Hardware Co., Clanton, Alabama.

High School News

Senior III Class Dedicates Electric System of Program Clock

It is traditional of all high schools for the Senior Class to make some dedication to the school when it graduates. Our class plans to make their gift now so they can enjoy it this year. The clock has been ordered and it will arrive in about two weeks. It will cost $325. The company will accept state warrants which will be one half to be paid by the state. The Senior Class will be responsible for the remaining $162.50.

This clock system contains a large clock, a small clock, and three bells. The large clock is five feet and six inches high and will be placed in the main hall. The small clock will be installed in the auditorium. At the end of each period the bells ring and a warning bell rings five minutes before the close of the period. The electric clock system is not complete but the Senior Class wishes to install the remaining part of the system at the end of the school year if they are able financially.

Mr. Riddle Visits School

Among the early visitors to our school this year was the state school inspector, Mr. J. I. Riddle. He spent the entire day with us. At chapel he gave a delightful talk. His subject was the following quotation: "Make every occasion a great occasion, for you do not know when fate may be taking your measure for a larger place." We are glad to state that Mr. Riddle was favorably impressed with the improvement made at our school since his last visit.

C. C. H. S. Glee Club

A glee club under the direction of Miss Mary Ellis has been organized. Two meetings have been held Plans are being made for a program at assembly and for an entertainment to which the public will be invited, some time soon. Officers of the club are: Sally Mahan, president; Eloise Jones, vice president; Mary Nell Jones, secretary and treasurer; Hilda Hart, reported; and Helen Moore, librarian; The other members are Pearl Vinson, Mabel Harris, Jane Pitts, Alice Petty, Mary Petty, Dixie Johnson and Grace Plyler.

Senior Class Makes Splendid Payment on Electric Clock

The senior class is to be congratulated. In addition to carrying over a nice cash balance of $34.50 from last year, they have cleared in cash this year, after paying $4.37 for awards, $19.38. This project was made possible through a magazine subscription campaign with the Curtis Publishing Company. Leroy Martin lead with a total of 24 subscriptions, out of the grand total of 47 secured. Leroy will receive a nice reward or bonus for his services. The campaign was managed by Herman Harris and Earl Ellis. The class thanks the public for their loyal support during this contest for new subscriptions.

Football News

The new bath house for the athletic teams of C. C. H. S. was completed last week. Our boys are proud of it for two reasons; they built it themselves under Coach Walker's supervision, and second, they have a good place to take a shower after each practice game. It is in the new gymnasium room. The entire work of tearing down the old bath house changing the pipes, making the concrete, swinging the doors and walling up the sides, was all done by Mr. Walker's manual training classes. The team is proud of their new bath house and hope to show their appreciation by the record of games they are to play this season.

So far they have won one and lost one. They won from Isabella and lost to Selma. The next game is with Marbury high. We understand Marbury has a good team, but we think ours is better. Be sure and see the game on October 2. It will be played on the local field.

The schedule for the rest of the season is as follows:

Marbury, Oct. 2, here.
Frattville, Oct. 9, here.
Centreville, Oct. 16, here.
Plantersville, Oct. 22, there.
Isabella, Oct. 30, here.
Montevallo, Nov. 6, there.
Holtville, Nov. 13, here.
Ramer, Nov. 20, here.

MRS. BREVARD JONES SPEAKS AT DISTRICT CONVENTION

LaFayette, Ala. Sept. 28.—According to an announcement by Mrs. Ira B. Thompson, of Luverne, director of the Fifth District A. F. W. C., Mrs. Brevard Jones of Montgomery has accepted the invitation to be the special speaker at the council meeting of group leaders on Thursday afternoon, October 8th, of the district convention.

Mrs. Jones' address will follow the business meeting of county and district chairmen which begins at three o'clock. It will be on requisites for leadership. The district leaders are looking forward to hearing Mrs. Jones as she is one of the most able women in the state. At present she is chairman of the A. F. W. C. legislation committee.

The Fifth District convention is to be held in LaFayette October 8th and 9th, beginning at three o'clock Thursday afternoon, the 8th, and closing at three the next afternoon. Counties represented in the district are Autauga, Bullock, Butler, Chilton, Coosa, Crenshaw, Elmore, Lee, Lowndes, Macon, Montgomery, Randolph, and Tallapoosa. All affiliated clubs in these counties are expected to send voting delegates for the entire convention, one representative being allowed for each thirty members. Other members of the clubs are invited to attend as guests, especially the session of the second day.—Minnie Sellers.

REVIVAL AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Revival services will begin at the Clanton Baptist Church on Sunday, October 11th. Preaching will be conducted by Rev. J. J. Milford, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Huntsville. Singing will be in charge of Fred Bond, of Birmingham.

Rev. Milford is one of the outstanding Baptist preachers of Alabama. He is vice president of the Southern Baptist Convention. "We should be glad that we are to have the leadership of such a man as Rev. Milford in our revival campaign," said pastor S. J. Ezell, "and we are praying that our people will prepare themselvevs in spirit for a great revival of religion which we need so much."

The public is cordially invited to take note of the time of this meeting and come to every service. The campaign will start on Sunday, October 11, and continue for about ten days.

MT. PLEASANT SUNDAY SCHOOL

Sunday, September 27th, the Sunday school at Mt. Pleasant held a general business meeting for the purpose of electing new officers and teachers for the next six months. Officers elected are: Mr. Wardner Crow, superintendent; Mr. Lee Popwell, assistant superintendent; J. C. Massey, secretary; Gertrude Blalock, assistant secretary. Teachers elected are: Mrs. Jim Foshee, Class No. 1; Mrs. C. N. Eiland, Class No. 2; Mrs. G. H. Massey, Class No. 3; Miss Frances Massey, Class No. 4; Mr. Lee Popwell, Class No. 5; Mr. Johnnie Miner, Class No. 6.

In addition to the general business meeting Class No. 5, known as the young people division, elected and appointed new officers and committees. Officers elected are: Miss Jessie Lee Price, president; Gertrude Blalock, vice president; Mayme Logan, secretary and treasurer; Gertrude Blalock, reported and corresponding secretary. Committees named are: Social Committee, Elizabeth Stanley, chairman, Ila Massey, Myrtice Logan. Absentee Committee, J. C. Massey, chairman, Dick Massey, Vester Oakes. New Member Committee, Grady Miner, chairman, Harvey Melton, Mrs. Iran Jones.

The Young Peoples Class is launching a very unique contest. Beginning next Sunday, October 4th, there will be a check-up on who attends Sunday school regularly and those who don't. It has been decided that the absentees during the next quarter must entertain those who have attended regularly.

We wish to invite everyone in this community to attend Sunday school next Sunday and on throughout the contest. If there are any who do not belong to a Sunday school class, we especially invite you to come and help us make our school a success.

Last Sunday we had quite a few visitors from Liberty Hill. We were glad to have you, and will be glad to have you or any other visitors meet with us any time you can.

George Young of Chicago, Ill., was in Clanton for the week end.

Attorney Felix Smith, of Rockford, was a visitor to Clanton Monday in the interest of Coosa County's tax case with the State Tax Commission.

S. S. MEET WILL BE AT NEW SALEM

The executive committee of the Chilton County Associational Sunday School Convention announces that an all day meeting will be held at New Salem Baptist church near Thorsby the first Sunday in October, which will be the 4th of that month. As yet no program has been arranged, but this preliminary announcement is made in order that all Sunday schools in the Chilton County Association may arrange to send delegates. However, the committee is in position to state that the program will be one out of the ordinary and will be of particular interest to all. It will not be dry, commonplace and uninteresting as is usual with such gatherings, but something will be happening all the time that will command the rapt attention of those in attendance.

The good people of New Salem have very graciously accpeted the task of caring for the convention, and now it behooves the other churches of the association to do their part. Dinner is promised all delegates and others actually interested in Sunday school work, of course, the old time free-for-all dinner on the ground is no longer expected of any community. All superintendents please keep this in mind and don't fail to have as many from your school as possible present.

DR. HULL PREDICTS ARMAGEDDON

The World Probably Will Not End Soon, but the Return of the Messiah Is Not Far Distant, Declares Marion McH. Hull, Atlanta Bible Scholar, in the Following Interview. He sees Fulfillment of the Prophecies in Wars and Pestilence, and a Sign of Armageddon in the Jewish Migration to Palestine.

(The Atlanta Journal)

(Continued from last week)

"Jesus said there would be wars and rumors of wars, and nation rising against nation, and kingdom against kingdom," Dr. Hull continued. "Ever since Jesus left there have been wars and rumors of wars, but the greatest war of all history is in the recent past. Under the leadership of President Wilson our country entered that war to end war, but it has not ended war. President Wilson was a Christian man, but he had evidently not studied this portion of the Bible as he should, or he would have known that peace would not be brought about in any such way. The war to end war did not end war. There are more men under arms in Europe today than at the time of the World War; and if you take into consideration the number of men in the Reserve Officers Corps there are many, many times more men in training for war in this country than at any time in its history. I have been told that there are fifteen thousand chemists studying deadly explosives and gases alone. Bombs have been made, three of which could destroy New York City, and such advances have been made in aeronautics that we have the airplanes and the men to take these deadly weapons, and drop them.

"There is no question but that there will be at least one more war," Dr. Hull predicted. "That war will center in Palestine. The League of Nations is a league of Gentile Nations. There is not a Jew in it. At least one more war will be fought, and it will center against the Jewish people in Palestine, with the League of Gentile Nations as the attacking forces. But then the Lord Jesus Christ shall fight for them, and deliver them from the power of the Anti-Christ at the battle of Armageddon. How much the late World War will be surpassed by the horrors of this struggle, the powers of man cannot foretell.

"To me the most striking sign of the times, and one which indicates an early return of the Lord and end of this age, is the way the nations are preparing for the fulfillment of the prophecy that the beast will rule the world with such mighty hand that no one will be able to buy or sell unless they have his mark on their foreheads or in their hands. This is found in the thirteenth chapter of Revelation, sixteenth and seventeenth verses. Both in Europe and in America the world is being prepared for this. In these last days in Europe monarchies have been destroyed, and in their place have arisen dictatorships. Mussolini rules Italy with an iron hand. He is the government; and he enforces the law that he promulgates. Other dictators have less power, but the same spirit. The nations of Europe are being trained to obey one man. In this country it is working around in a different way. Mergers are taking place, so that the business of the world is being concentrated. The automobile business, for example, is practically in the hands of three men, and one of these controls a large proportion of it. The independent merchant is becoming a thing of the past. The dry goods business of America is largely in the hands of a few men in New York. The grocery business through chain stores is concentrating in the hands of a small group. The past three or four years in almost every great city there have been mergers of banks so that the money power of the world is concentrated in the hands of a small group. Do you not see the significance of this? Do you not see the tendency? How easy it will be for a small group to be formed which will conduct all the business of the world, and eventually for one man to be the head of that group. And that is exactly what the Scripture says will happen, and it is happening.

"One other major sign of the times is the Jew," Dr. Hull added. "There is only one way to explain the Jew; and the Jew can be explained in one word—God. God chose that people; He has a place for them. He told them that if they rejected Him He would scatter them among the nations; and this He has done. But He told them that He would bring them back again, and give them that land that He gave Abraham in perpetuity. He has scattered them. They have accumulated vast quantities of wealth; in fact, about three-fourths of the wealth of the world is in the hands of the Jews; and now, through a British mandate, the privilege of going back to Palestine has been given them, and over 15,000,000 have gone back and settled them, as their national home. That story is one of the most fascinating in history. Over forty colonies have been organized; a land that was barren and desolate, under the hand of men who have never seen a blade of grass grow, has begun to blossom like the rose. A great Hebrew university was opened five or six years ago, north of Jerusalem. The Hebrew language, which has been dead 2,000 years, has been revived and is being taught to 25,000 children in the schools of Palestine. Their capacity for business has been applied and the cities are models. The potential wealth of the Dead Sea in minerals is more than the total wealth of the balance of the world, and a concession has recently been given to a Jew and a Scotchman.

"There are many other prophecies which were to be fulfilled before the end of the age, but let me say that there has been no prophecy which had to be fulfilled which has not been fulfilled that would prevent the Lord from coming back at any moment. We are expecting Him soon; just when we do not know.

"But that suggests to me one other thing which is probably the most striking evidence of all," Dr. Hull concluded. "Before Jesus came the first time there was an expectancy throughout the then-known world as evidenced by the visit of the magii. During the last two decades there has been a growing attitude on the part of Christians everywhere to expect Him soon. Increasing thousands every year are looking for Him to come back. He said: 'Watch, therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour when the Son of Man shall come. It may be at evening or at midnight, or at the cock-crow, or in the morning; but be ye also ready'."

EASTERN SINGING SOCIETY

The Eastern Singing Society met at Cane Creek last Sunday afternoon. This society is composed of Mineral Springs, Pleasant Hill and Cane Creek. Each place was well represented, as well as other places of the county. The house was called to order by Chairman W. L. Sanders, one song and then prayer was offered by Posey M. Cleckler. Directors for the afternoon were: W. L. Sanders, Posey M. Cleckler, Andrew Blow. F. J. Little, Enoch C. Traywick, J. H. Driver, Lawson Lowery, Miss Virgie Cost, Miss Lillie Mae Weldon. Organists for the afternoon were: Miss Lillie Mae Weldon.

After one hour of good singing, officers were elected for the next year: Mr. Posey M. Cleckler, chairman; Mr. W. L. Sanders, vice chairman; Enoch C. Traywick, Secretary.

Everybody seemed to enjoy the service. Remember the society meets at Mineral Springs next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. If you are later than 2 you will miss part of the singing. It will start strictly at 2 o'clock.

This society will use three Sundays out of each month—the 1st, 2nd and 4th afternoon of each. On the third Sunday afternoon we expect to be with some of our neighboring societies. We expect you to help us.

The Eastern Society expects you at any and all times.

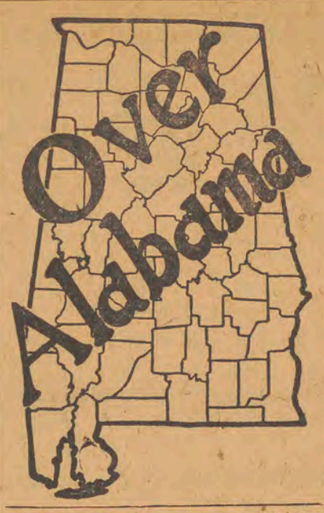
TO PREVENT DIPHTHERIA

Prof. Quinn, principal of the Clanton Grammar School directs the attention of the patrons of the school to the fact that preventive shots for diphtheria are now being given students of the school free of charge.

He further says that any child who is not in school now, but will be old enough to enter school next year, may also have the treatment free. Any who may be interested or concerned about this important matter should communicate with Mr. Quinn for full details.

M. G. Conway of North Chilton was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

See the Horse that is to be given away at our store. Inquire for information.—Farmers Hardware Co., Clanton, Alabama.



H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

666
LIQUID OR TABLETS
Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.
666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Phone One-One-One
or Write
The James Sign Shop
CLANTON, ALA.
Outdoor
Painted Display Advertising

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic
West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Joe Slatsky, Jr., has been appointed postmaster at Brookside, Ala.

An infection caused by his stepping on a rake Sept. 4 resulted in the death of Charles Edwin Sparks, 9, Tarrant City.

Federal dry agents arrested 4 persons in raids that extended over Montgomery, Autauga, Coosa and Crenshaw Counties.

D. O. Parker, lumber dealer, was elected commissioner of public affairs and finance at Tuscaloosa in the annual city election.

Plans for painting the names of Alabama towns on the roofs of school buildings are under way by the state aviation commission.

More than 50 Chambers of Commerce have appointed delegates to the United States Good Roads Convention in Birmingham Oct. 12-15.

Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, has returned from Montreal where he attended the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association.

The cotton gin at Brown's Ferry in Limestone County was destroyed by fire recently. The gin was a total wreck, the loss amounting to $10,000.

The International Relations Club, Florence State Teachers College, recently chose Miss Elizabeth Chaffin, of Sheffield, as president for 1931-32.

The parole of John Wilson, Jefferson County negro, has been revoked by Governor B. M. Miller because he "threatened the lives of three white people."

Members of Alabama's National Guard received approximately $50,000 for salaries for the three months ending Aug. 31. Over 2,800 men shared in this payroll.

Capt. L. G. Smith, state highway director, said approximately 50 employes of the State Highway Department had been served notice of their discharge since Sept. 15.

Representative Amzi Barber has attacked the constitutionality of a bill introduced in the legislature by himself, in legal proceedings filed in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Gov. B. M. Miller has announced that a fact finding committee authorized by the last legislature to study the state government may be named within the next few days.

A man was killed and five persons were injured, one seriously, when a truck and an automobile were in a collission on the Montgomery Highway a mile north of Pelham, Ala.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has announced that 11 hearings set at Birmingham for Oct. 2 would be held at the new courthouse and not at city hall, as scheduled.

Allen and Edward Northington, brothers and former officers of the First National Bank of Prattville, have begun serving a four-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

The Marengo County Farm Bureau, joined by business and professional men, have begun a movement to have federal and state authorities investigate the low prices on cotton seed.

For the second time within a year a clemency petition for J. B. Lassiter, Birmingham banker now serving a prison sentence for false entry, has been declined by the governor of Alabama.

Foolish flying in Alabama during the past six weeks has taken the life of one person—a 19 year old girl—and left eight persons injured, according to Capt. Phillip Roll, state director of aeronautics.

Dr. S. D. Motley, president of the Ensley Civitan Club, has appointed an athletic committee to investigate the possibilities of promoting amateur wrestling and boxing programs in the Ensley district each week.

An estranged wife's testimony has put Jim Franklin, 30, in jail for a five-year-old murder. Franklin, absent from Tuscaloosa County for more than a year, has been arrested for murder in connection with the Christmas Day slaying of Charlie Parker, 23, in 1926. Hunters found the body hidden under leaves near Bib., 12 miles from Tuscaloosa.

Willie Peterson, 38-year-old Woodlawn negro, was being held in Kilby prison, after Miss Nell Williams pointed him out on the street as the slayer of her sister, Augusta, and a friend, Miss Jennie Wood, near Leeds the night of Aug. 4.

Southern fish and game commissioners attending the convention of the International Association of Fish, Game and Conservation Commissioners at Hot Springs, Ark., formed the Association of Southern Game and Fish Commissioners, with I. T. Quinn, of Alabama, as president.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 4

THE MACEDONIAN CALL

GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:36-16:15; Romans 15:18-21.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Takes the Gospel to Other Lands.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Takes the Gospel to Europe.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Christianity Came to Europe.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Took Paul to Europe.

I. Finding an Assistant for Paul (Acts 15:35-16:5).

1. Contention over John Mark (vv. 36-41).

a. Paul's proposal (v. 36). This was to revisit the scenes of their missionary endeavor to find out what progress the believers were making in their Christian life.

b. Determination of Barnabas (v. 37). This was to take with them John Mark. Mark was Barnabas' nephew (Col. 4:10).

c. Paul's opposition (v. 38). He was suspicious of Mark because of his desertion on the first journey (Acts 13:13).

d. Their separation (vv. 39-41). Their contention was so sharp that they separated. Paul's leadership under God in the evangelization of the world presumably entitles him to a clearer understanding of Mark. Mark should have another chance, but Paul's very sternness brought him to his senses. God overruled this incident to the wider extension of the work. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus. Paul chose Silas.

2. Finding Timothy (16:1-5).

a. The place (v. 1). It was the very place where Paul on his first journey had endured cruel stoning. The conversion of this young man may be regarded as fruitage of his testimony at that time.

b. His parentage (v. 1). His mother was a believing Jewess and his father a Greek.

c. His character (v. 2). He had a good reputation in the church at Lystra and Iconium.

d. His circumcision (v. 3). Timothy had not been circumcised, doubtless because his father was a Gentile. In order to avoid offense among the Jews, Paul circumcised him.

e. The ministry of Paul and Timothy through the cities (vv. 4, 5). They went through the cities and delivered the decrees which had been ordained at the Jerusalem council (Acts 15:19-24).

II. Forbidden to Preach the Word in Asia (16:6-8).

The inclination of Paul was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the word, but contrary to this inclination they were hurried along. We have here a fine example of divine guidance. The Holy Spirit is just as active and faithful in closing as in opening doors.

III. The Call to Macedonia (vv. 9-12).

The time had now come for the gospel to begin its conquest of another continent. The crossing of the gospel from Asia to Europe determined the entire history of the Church.

1. The vision (v. 9). Being hemmed in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help. This made clear to him the meaning of the closed doors.

2. The advance (vv. 10-12). As soon as the divine way was known, they moved forward. Visions must be quickly translated into aggressive action, or they are blotted from our skies.

IV. The First Convert in Europe (vv. 13-15).

The devout people were accustomed to worship at the riverside. To a humble gathering of this kind Paul came and preached. Lydia, a business woman from Thyatira, believed his message and was baptized. The steps in her conversion are worthy of note for they are typical

1. Atendance at the place of worship (v. 13).

2. Listened to the preaching of the word of God (vv. 13, 14). The instrument used in the conversation of sinners is the word of God (Romans 10:17).

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14).

4. She was baptized (v. 15). Everyone whose heart the Lord opens desires to confess him in baptism.

5. Her household believed (v. 15), and immediately proffered hospitality to those who had brought blessing to them.

V. Preaching the Gospel Where Christ Was Not Named (Rom. 15:18-21). This was Paul's missionary program. As the apostle to the Gentiles, his work was to be on an independent basis.

Upon Your Knees

A marble cutter, with chisel and hammer, was changing a stone into a statue. A preached looking on, said: "I wish I could deal such clanging blows on stony hearts." The workman made answer: "Maybe you could, if you worked like me, upon your knees."—Contributed by Verta M. Naylor.

A Consistent Life

A constant life honors God and yourself.—John Timothy Stone.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30

That's What They Say!

You won't need a new hat for fall if you let us clean your spring felt. The styles haven't changed. We'll make your old hat look like new—Clean it, reblock it. You'll thus get practically a new hat for only cleaning costs—75c. New Band, 50c.

PHONE 119
Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Company
CLANTON, ALABAMA

BOOKER WASHINGTON ASS'N

The Booker Washington Memorial Home is now under construction and the general public is being asked to come to the call of the officials in helping to keep the work moving on. The officials are requesting the Christian, fraternal, civic and social organizations to make a donation at once toward the work.

The officials wish to thank the following for their donations: Montgomery, Messrs. W. H. Newton, C. C. Clark, T. J. Littlejohn, L. Hill, Clinton Chapel, Mrs. E. R. Burton; Verbena, Messrs. S. Gibson, Shady Grove Baptist church, Mrs. B. B. Comer; Thorsby, Messrs. C. M. Gray, Thorsby Hardware Company, E. W. Butler, Mrs. T. J. Butler; Clanton, Messrs. A. L. Robinson, A. H. Randall, J. Littlejohn; Coopers, Cooper Produce Company, Cooper Mercantile Company; Mt. Creek, Joanna Baptist church; Wadsworth, Mr. Wm. Jackson; Marbury, Messrs L. Johnson; Jemison, J. M. Langston, D. L. Langston, C. J. Glass; Birmingham, Famous theatre, Gulf Oil Company, R. J. Ward; Coosada Clifford Cleveland, Mrs. Clark; Elmore, Mrs. E. W. Cowling, T. M. Hammond: Spigeners, Mr. A. C. Rodgers; Ft. Deposit, C. P. Powell, U. Caterbury; Clanton, James Sign Shop.

Make all orders payable to the Booker Washington Association 111 one-half, Monroe St., Montgomery, Alabama.

Phonographs of all kinds repaired and parts furnished. Prices reasonable. See G. W. Moore, next to Carter Electric Shop, Clanton, Alabama.

UNITY ASSOCIATION

The Unity Baptist association will meet in regular session at Bethseda Baptist church next Tuesday and Wednesday, October 6 and 7, 1931.

It is urged that all churches in the Association have represtatives at this meeting.—J. Z. Mims, Moderator.

Mr. J. R. Broadhead is ill at his home.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PERMANENT PARDON

Notice is hereby given by the undersigned, Pate Easterling, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, in April of 1930, for manufacturing liquor, and possessing still, and sentenced to a term of a year and a day to 13 months, and who has been out on parole since September 1st, 1931, on a 60-days parole, will make application to the Honorable State Board of Pardons for a permanent pardon from the remainder of this sentence.—(Signed)—Pate Easterling. 10-1-2t-pd.

DEMABEL'S Beauty Salon
FINGER WAVES
Wet—35c
Dry—50c
Marcel 75c
Haircut 25c
"Look Your Best"

J. B. Hain, President; E. M. Cothran, Vice President;
J. H. Burton, Treasurer, W. B. Christenberry, Secretary.
Selma Compress Co.
SELMA, ALABAMA
OWNED BY FARMERS FOR FARMERS
ELECTRIC HIGH DENSITY PRESS
Bonded Warehouse—Sprinkler System
We offer you efficient service in the handling and sale of your cotton.
Our Government licensed classer and weighers will see that your interest from a grade, staple and weight standpoint is protected at all times.
Our charges are in line, our modernly equipped warehouse affords a very low insurance rate.
Owned By Farmers
We are a designated depository for Alabama Farm Bureau cotton.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

Mrs. H. L. Walker, Mrs. E. L. Pate and Mrs. Grover Bice and children spent Friday in Montgomery shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walker, Mrs. E. L. Pate and H. L. Collins spent Sunday afternoon with relatives near Wetumpka.

The reception given by the Ladies Guild of Thorsby at the Thorsby Institute last Friday night was a very interesting affair to a good many people, who nearly filled the auditorium.

A program had been prepared in which Mrs. Gerald made an address of welcome, as president of the guild. Mr. Norton gave a brief account of the early days of the school. Mr. Butler said that he was asked to talk about four minutes and did it. Miss Jenkins gave a graphic description of her vacation to Europe, the ocean voyage and places, things and people she saw, which was very interesting.

The object of the reception was to enable newcomers to meet socially, Thorsby institute students and their parents, officials of the school, alumni, and others who are helping to make Thorsby Institute what it is. All new students wore tags bearing their name, and there was a committee to help meet folks. Also twenty young ladies were drafted to serve the refreshments.

Next Sunday at the Congregational church in Sunday school, opening at 9:45 a.m., there will be promotion day exercises. At 11 there will be preaching by the pastor, followed by communion services and reception of members. The Christian Endeavor society meeting at 6:30 p.m. and at 7:15 p.m. an illustrated lecture by Rev. Each, entitled, "The lure of Alaska." A collection will be taken to meet expenses, anything more will be used for missionary work.

Rev. Each went to Union church last Sunday afternoon and preached at night. This church is about seven miles east of Mt. Creek.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. C. M. Williams Thursday afternoon of this week. All Thorsby ladies are invited.

Christian Endeavor meeting last Sunday night was made very interesting. Miss Odell Rowe was leader. Some Japanese dolls had been received from Miss Katheryn Perry, a former teacher at Thorsby Institute, but now teaching in a mission school in Japan. These dolls were daintily dressed in the best fashion now prevailing in that country, and were accompanied by a set of furniture in miniature, very neatly made and beautifully finished with Lacquer and metal trimmings. They were so small and yet so perfect, they were greatly admired.

Harry Peterson and family were visitors at the homes of Nels and C. C. Peterson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howard had as dinner guests last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Howard. We are pleased to learn that Edward has his new house well under construction near his parents' home.

Mr. N. Laurell, instructor in manual arts in Phillips High school, Birmingham, spent the week end with his family in Thorsby.

Oscar Bean, who has been working in Cincinnatti for several months, is spending a few days with his family in Thorsby.

New Bulk Turnip Seed and Onion Sets at Thorsby Drug Company, Thorsby, Ala.

Thorsby stood for awhile Tuesday morning in grave danger of losing an old landmark, best known as the J. F. Peterson house which was seen to be on fire near the chimney. Many were attracted to the scene by the noise made by those first on the ground. Adolphus Gentry, a near neighbor, assumed leadership, organized a bucket brigade, ascended to the roof and took charge of it, using the water as it came to hand.

Conditions were very favorable for a quick hot fire. The roof was covered with heart shingles, thoroughly dry, a stiff breeze fanned the flames, which before they were under control had eaten a big hole in the roof.

A large crowd gathered in a few minutes, buckets and tubs were used by many willing hands to carry water from two good wells nearby, and the fire was soon under control.

The house is now occupied by Mr. Claud Billingsley and his family, except for three rooms, reserved for the use of Mrs. Holcomb, mother of the owners of the place and a woman companion.

Messrs. Mack Gray, Relius Franklin and Bill Blood went to Montgomery Friday to see Auburn and Birmingham Southern play football.

Mr. John Dorminey of Union Grove has leased the W. H. Townsend place. We understand that he is a son of the late Thomas Dorminey and that his wife is a daughter of Tommy Martin of Thorsby.

On Tuesday of last week Circle No. 2 of the W. M. S. met with Mrs. Tanzy Robinson and quilted two quilts, one for the orphans home, and the other for the Baptist Mission home at New Orleans. We feel the day was well spent and enjoyed.

Mrs. M. A. Barnes is spending a few days with Mrs. M. J. Prim before returning to her home.

W. H. Raybon and son, Roy, made a trip to Montevallo Sunday.

Mrs. C. A. Meade has been in Montgomery for the past week taking treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Ekblad and Astrid spent Sunday in Montgomery.

Mrs. H. V. Thompson returned to her home from Birmingham after spending a 2 weeks vacation. Mr. Thompson accompanied her.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan and children of Wylam spent Saturday with Mrs. Morgan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg.

Mrs. A. P. Villadsen and children from Lincoln, are spending the week with her mother, Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

Mr. John Martin and Miss Emma Jones of Wetumpka visied Miss Jennie Robinson.

The Guild refreshment committee wishes to thank all those who so willingly and generously helped with the refreshments. We especially wish to thank the Thorsby Hardware Company for the donation of all the napkins and the use of the glasses, and the Thorsby Ice Company for the ice. Never before have we served 200 guests so quickly and with so little confusion. Many thanks to you all. —Mrs. Charlie Howard.

Mrs. B. M. Gray, Mrs. U. U. Jackson and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Baker of Hackleburg spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gray.

Mrs. Baker of Hackleburg spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gray.

Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway, Mrs. Relius Franklin and Peggy, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Mack Gray spent Friday in Birmingham.

Venora Wilson of Crane Hill is a new boarding student at Thorsby Institute.

The Queen Esther Sunday school class elected as officers for the coming year: Grace Smith, president; Elwyn Robinson, vice president; Carrie Smith, secretary; Anna Fae Price, treasurer.

The Troth Seekers Sunday school class elected E. W. Butler as teacher for the coming year. They also elected the following officers: Miss Thoroman, president; Miss McKee, vice president; Miss Edith Johnson secretary and treasurer.

New Bulk Turnip Seed and Onion Sets at Thorsby Drug Company, Thorsby, Ala.

Milton Diefenderfer, of Clanton, was the guest of Jack Peterson Saturday and Sunday.

SHELBY COUNTY OFFICIALS RESCIND ACTION TO DISCONTINUE WORK OF COUNTY AGENT, WELFARE WORK AND HEALTH UNIT

At the September meeting of the Board of Commisioners of Shelby County, the board voted to discontinue the work of the County Agent, Welfare Worker and the Health Department, same to become effective October 1.

At the request of a group of progressive citizens the Commissioners met at a called meeting Tuesday of last week and some 500 citizens of Shelby County met with them. After some two hours discussion, a motion was made petitioning the Commissioners to work out some plan to continue the work.

The motion was put to a vote and some 500 voted for the motion and two against it. It was said that one of those who voted against it did not pay any taxes and in fact, could not vote legally.

A committee was named to meet with the Commissioners and help work out means of continuing the work and after a short commitee meeting the Commissioners decided to continue the work of County Agent, the Welfare Worker and the Health Department, and to add a Home Demonstration Agent.

It seems that the meeting was similar to the one held here last September, when some five or six hundred assembled at the call of the Commissioners Court to discuss the continuance of County Agency work.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

THOUSAND DISASTERS RECEIVED RED CROSS AID IN 50 YEARS

American Society to Celebrate Its Birth Year With Nation-wide Observance

Tornadoes, floods, forest fires and other calamities and upheavals of nature have visited the United States more than one thousand times in the last half century.

All of these were of severe intensity, causing loss of life and great property damage. Minor catastrophes were not counted in this list of disasters, which has been made public by the American Red Cross, in connection with the celebration this year of its fiftieth birthday.

It was on the evening of May 21, 1881, in the modest home of Miss Clara Barton in Washington, D. C., that the American Association of the Red Cross was first formed. Before the year was out, and before, indeed, the United States Government had officially moved to approve the Treaty of Geneva, adding this nation to the company of thirty-two others adhering to the treaty to protect wounded in warfare. Miss Barton had plunged the small society into a disaster relief task.

First Red Cross Unit

This was in the north woods of Michigan, where forest fires swept the homestead farms of pioneering families. Miss Barton, as president of the Red Cross, had organized a branch in Dansville, New York, where she was sojourning. This little group immediatly raised money, food, clothing and other supplies and sent them to the forest fire victims. In Rochester and Syracuse, New York, nearby, word spread of this charitable enterprise and Red Cross auxiliaries were organized there to help. So began the disaster relief work of the Red Cross fifty years ago. In the intervening years, millions of men, women and children have been aided. Thousands of homes have been restored. Thousands of persons, overwhelmed by floods, tornadoes, and fires until all they possessed had been wiped away, have been rehabilitated and prosperity and happiness again smiled upon them.

This year has been dedicated by the Red Cross and its chapters in 3,500 communities to commemoration of the events which led to the birth of the society in the United States.

President Hoover Speaks

The celebration of the anniversary was inaugurated in Washington at a dinner, attended by many distinguished men and women, at which Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes presided, and President Hoover, who is the president of the American Red Cross, was the chief speaker. Judge Max Huber of Geneva, Switzerland, the president of the International Committee of the Red Cross, in which fifty seven nations are joined in a Red Cross brotherhood, also was a speaker, as were Chairman John Barton Payne of the American Red Cross, and Miss Mabel T. Boardman, secretary, and veteran leader of the society.

The Red Cross standard, which flies all around the world where mercy is needed, was first introduced as an ideal in our modern civilization in Geneva in 1864, when the international Red Cross convention, afterward to be known as the Treaty of Geneva, was signed by twelve countries agreeing that on the battlefield the wounded should be given aid by doctors, nurses and others, who should wear the sign of the Red Cross, and be treated as neutrals in the warfare.

Two Americans attended this first convention, the American Minister George C. Fogg, and Charles S. P Bowles, representative in Europe of the United States Sanitary Commission, a volunteer organization of sympathizers with the North in our Civil War. Facts they gave resulted in adoption of some of the American ideas.

Returning to the United States, Fogg and Bowles sought recognition of the Geneva Treaty, but the Grant administration took no interest. Under Hayes, the same lethargy was encountered.

Clara Barton Founder

But there had emerged from the Civil War period a middle-aged woman who had seen much service on the battle fields around Washington. This was Clara Barton. Ill health caused her to make a trip to Europe in 1869. There she became interested in the Red Cross idea, and joined a unit which saw service in the Franco-Prussian war. Upon her return home, she launched an active campaign for the treaty, but met the same opposition as her predecessors. However, President Garfield, when he came into office, recognized the merits of the movement, and when death by assassination removed him, his successor, President Arthur, sought approval by the U. S. Senate of the treaty. Thus was consummated a seventeen-year fight in this nation for a humanitarian ideal. Clara Barton was recognized as the society's founder and was its president for twenty-three years. She died in 1912 at the age of 90 years.

It is not generally thought of, but the flag so familiar in every civilized nation as the emblem of the Red Cross, had a simple derivation. Because the originator of the movement, Henri Dunant, was a Swiss, and the first treaty to protect wounded in battle was drafted and signed in Switzerland, the flag of that Republic—a white cross upon a red background—was reversed, and the Red Cross came into being.

Mr. E. C. Powell of Decatur is spending a while in Clanton.

Non-Jury Circuit Court and Grand Jury Here Monday and Tuesday

The following cases were disposed of by Judge Smoot Monday and Tuesday in the non-jury term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, criminal division:

Walter Kelley, assault with weapon. Nol prosed.

Joe Farmer, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated. Forfeiture and continued.

Clyde Matthews, violating prohibition law. Nol prosed.

Will Bohannon, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for the county, 20 days for fine and 72 days for cost, with 4 months for additional punishment.

Bessie Bohannon, violaing prohibition law. Nol prosed.

Dan Jackson, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for county 20 days for fine and 61 days for cost.

Willie Pilgreen, fraudulent check. Continued.

John Kelley, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50.

Homer Ratliff, disturbing religious worship. Continued.

Jim Gennings, alias, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50.

Elijah Thomas, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment not guilty.

Richard Palmer, recyless driving. Nol prosed.

Harry Weissbuck, reckless driving. Nol prosed.

Namon Oden, petit larceny. Plead guilty. Fined $5. Sentenced to hard labor for county 10 days for fine and 45 days for cost.

G. W. Cobern, maintaining Ins. P. Continued.

Gordeon Howard, driving automobile while intoxicated. Withdrawn.

Albert Rucker, violating prohibition law. Forfeiture and alias.

S. D. McCary, driving motor vehicle without license tag. Plead guilty. Fined $25. Sentenced to hard labor for the county 20 days for fine and 33 days for cost.

John Mims, abusive, indecent, and obscene language. Continued.

Henry Wilson, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for the county 20 days for fine and 65 days for cost.

Miles B. Arant, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Gordson Hudson, violating prohibition law. Continued.

C. E. Faulkner, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Jack Dickerson, assault and battery. Nol prosed.

Robert E. Waites, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated. Nol prosed.

Jim Dykes, assault and battery. Nol prosed.

Robert E. Waites, abusive, indecent and obscene lauguage. Plead guilty. Fined $10.

Buster Roebuck, abusive, indecent, and obscene lauguage. Continued.

Otto Roebuck, abusive, indecent, and obscene language. Continued.

Garner Smith, assault and battery. Nol prosed.

Perry Johnson, assault and battery. Nol prosed.

Barney Littlefield, et al, defaulting bond. Forfeiture set aside.

Elijah Thomas, et al, defaulting bond. Forfeiture set aside.

Vernon Clark, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment not guilty.

Albert Rucker, violating prohibition law. Forfeiture and alias.

Arthur Gibson, issuing bad check. Continued.

Jackson Cleckler, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for the county 20 days for fine and 68 days for cost.

James Gennings, alias et al, defaulting bond. Forfeiture set aside.

Lum Gill, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Jack Tyus, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Willie Pilgreen, et al, defaulting bond. Forfeiture made final for $100.

Joe Cooper, assault and battery. Plead guilty. Fined $5.

Charley Henry, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated. Continued.

John Henry, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Will Giles, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $15.

Aline Hurt, abusive, indecent, and obscene language. Nol prosed.

Lee Simpson, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Herman Stone, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for the county 20 days for fine and 69 days for cost.

Quinton W. Branton, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Clarence Hawkins, assault and battery. Nol prosed.

Tom Hughes, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Brack Pearson, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Jim Caton, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for county 20 days for fine and 73 days for cost, with 4 months additional punishment.

Retherford Varner, violating prohition law. Continued.

James Chisholm, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Annie M. Chisholm, violating prohition law. Continued.

Arnold Dooley, assault and battery. Continued.

Norman Roberts, assault and battery. Nol prosed.

Norman Roberts, defacing public property. Nol prosed.

F. D. Long, reckless driving. Continued.

Meadie Bohannon, assault and battery. Plead guilty. Fined $5. Sentenced to hard labor for the county 10 days for fine and 36 days for cost.

Curtis Giles, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Ellis Foshee, violating prohibition law. Affidavit amended to charge public drunkenness by consent. Plead guilty and fined $20.

Flora Thornton, assault and battery. Nol prosed.

S. D. McCary, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Jim Varner, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Tom Boyd, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for the county 20 days for fine and 75 days for cost.

Wallace Jackson, assault and battery Continued.

Herbert Lucas, violating prohibition law. Transferred to juvenile court.

Mack Neighbors, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for county 20 days for fine and 79 days for cost.

Hasteen Lucas, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $50.

Jasper Lucas, violating prohibition law. Transferred to juvenile court.

J. C. Jones, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $50.

P. D. Williams, violating prohibition law. Nol prosed.

Powell Sullivan, violating prohibition law. Continued.

F. A. Shanks, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50.

Ernest Baker, violating prohibition law. Continued.

Horace Mims, driving motor vehicle without license tag. Continued.

Dennis Williams, selling mortgaged property. Nol prosed.

Lude Williams, reckless driving. Nol prosed.

James Evans, reckless driving. Nol prosed.

William King, reckless draving. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $25. Sentenced to hard labor for county 20 days for fine and 39 days for cost.

Carl Sammons, disturbing religious worship. Continued.

Pohn Norred, petit larceny. Nol prosed.

Grady Taylor, trading W. L. Continued.

Grady Taylor, trading W. L. Continued.

Lois Winston, violating prohibition law. Forfeiture and alias.

Willie Vinson, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $50. Sentenced to hard labor for county 20 days for fine and 68 days for cost.

Jim. M. McCormick, violating prohibition law. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $100. Sentenced to hard labor for county 30 days for fine and 92 days for cost.

Marcus Bert, violating prohibition law. Nol prosed.

Robert Ziegler, assault and battery. Trial and judgment guilty. Fined $10. Sentenced to hard labor for county 10 days for fine and 50 days for cost.

Wilbur F. White, petit larceny. Continued.

Thomas Holtzclaw, violating prohibton law. Not guilty.

Dixie Wilson, fraudulent check. Nol prosed.

Alcey Payton, violating prohibition law. Nol prosed.

Buster Roebuck, assault and battery. Continued.

Richard I. Barry, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $100.

Esco Culp, violating prohibition law. Plead guilty. Fined $50.

Buel Hawkins, assault and battery. Plead guilty. Fined $10.

ARTHUR FRANKLIN SHOOTS HIMSELF

Suicide Is Verdict Of Coroner In Death Of Young Man Last Tuesday Night

Robert Arthur Franklin, age 31 years, shot himself about eight o'clock Monday night. The weapon used was a pistol, and the bullet went entirely through his body near the heart. The tragedy occurred in a pasture on the place of Henry Burnett on the north side of Clanton. Young Franklin lived with Ed Kelly, a tenant on the Burnett place. He had been with Mr. Kelly for about three years.

No explanation of why the suicide was committed is available. It was a total shock and surprise to all friends nad acquaintances of the man.

Coroner Mell Martin was called to the scene a few minutes after the shooting was found out by the Kelly family. After surveying all the circumstances the opinion of Mr. Martin was that it was a case of suicide.

Arthur Franklin was the son of Pink Franklin. He was unmarried. The funeral was held at Shiloh Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Buford Lawrence. Burial was in charge of Martin.

MRS. MARY LOUISE CHILDRESS

Mrs. Mary Louise Childress, age 68 years, widow of the late A. F. Childress, died Tuesday night at the home of her son-in-law, Davis Cleckler, at Thorsby. Burial was at New Salem Wednesday.

Mrs. Childress was born in Talladega County, the daughter of D. Riggins. Her husband, the late A. F. Childress, was during his lifetime one of the most substantial citizens of the county. Hermie Childress, widely known farmer, of Loxley, in Baldwin County, is one of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Childress. Other members of this family are well known.

DAVID LONG KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Donald David Long, age 24, was killed in an automobile accident on the highway near Mt. Creek last Friday. He was in his own car, but was not driving. The car turned over, breaking his neck and crushing his chest. He died en route to the hospital in Clanton.

Long was a clerk for the Woodward Iron Co., in Birmingham. He was born in Loraine, Ohio. The body was taken in charge by Johns of Birmingham, and buried in Elmwood cemetery.

Friends of Mrs. G. L. Phillips sympathize with her in the recent death of her brother, Howard Lamar, which occurred at his home in Auburn Monday night, September 28.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince and son, Wilbur, visited Birmingham recently.

The many friends of Mrs. W. W. Fox will be glad to know that she is rapidly recovering from a recent illness.

See the Horse that is to be given away at our store. Inquire for information.—Farmers Hardware Co., Clanton, Alabama.

WADESONIAN

PROGRAMS

Friday and Saturday

OCTOBER 2ND and 3RD

Helen Twelvetrees, In

"THE CAT SREEPS"—All Talking

Serial—"Spell of the Circus"—All Talking

Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday

OCTOBER 5TH, 6TH, and 7TH

Joe Cook, In

"RAIN OR SHINE

The Laugh Riot of the Year

COMEDY—All Talking

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Alabama, as Second Class Mail Matter, under Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

Another lesson of the great war is that helping the underdog merely places a new dog on top.—Manila Bulletin.

Fly Around With The Wife—One of our subscribers wants to know what the big idea of Lindy is in flying around the world when other aviators have shown that it can be done. As we understand, this is something new. It is going to be a demonstration that a man can fly around and take his wife along.—Yakima Daily Republic.

Criminal Categories—A New Jersey judge has devised a new scientific system for classifying crime. If these criminologists work at it long enough it may be possible some day to tag all criminals simply as good, bad or indifferent.—New York Sun.

All Great Britain now wants to economize, and when Mahatma Gandhi gets over there he can show them something economical in the way of dress.

Floyd Gibbons, tumultous radio speaker, is helping fight the forest fires in the West. He ought to be able to blow 'em out.

Speaking in Florida, Senator Pat Harrison blamed the Smoot-Hawley tariff for our economic difficulties. But what caused them before the tariff went into effect?

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

Day by day, in every way, the arguments of the free traders to the effect that the Smoot-Hawley tariff has stifled foreign trade and that it is responsible for the depression, are refuted by the facts. For example, figures furnished the other day by the Department of Commerce indicate that Uncle Sam had an unfavorable trade balance in August for the first time since 1926. In other words, the commodities exported during the month were valued at $165,000,000, while our imports totaled $165,000,000. How does this square with the argument of the free traders that our tariff is so high that foreign nations cannot sell to us? A big balance of trade, they have declared, would be fatal to Uncle Sam's foreign commerce. If this is true then the internationalists ought to be satisfied with the figures for August. For even in the months when our exports exceed our imports to a considerable degree there is no such favorable trade balance as the figures would indicate, on account of our "invisible exports" which include the money spent by tourists abroad and the money sent to the other continents by aliens in America sending a part of their earings back to the folks at home.

It is difficult to analyze the significance of the unfavorable trade balance in August due to the fact that the nature of the imports are not at hand. If the greater part of the imports consists of raw materials, it might mean that business is about to take a turn for better in the United States. If they consist mostly of finished goods it would indicate that our tariff does not yet equalize the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. But at any rate the figures ought to give the free traders a thrill even if the total figures are not as large as we might want them, because an unfavorable trade balance for Uncle Sam is the dream and desire of every internationalist.

Of course most of the arguments as to the crippling of our foreign trade by the present tariff law is pure nonsense. As everybody knows, or should know, a great percentage of our imports come in duty free. And the figures for the calendar year 1930 show that our dutiable imports declined only 33 per cent while our imports coming in free declined 41 per cent. Now if the new tariff were crippling our trade, wouldn't the commodities on which a tariff is paid decline most? As a matter of fact our imports have fallen off in a considerable degree because our people are no longer, in hard times buying the luxuries from abroad which they enjoyed in more prosperous times. And our exports have declined because the depression is world-wide and other nations are unable to buy so much from us, because of hard times. When times get better in the United States we will buy more luxuries from England, France and Germany, and will buy more raw materials from South America and the Orient. The way to get better times is certainly not to open our markets to cheap labor competition from Europe when ninety-five per cent of our market is at home.

As a matter of fact, while our foreign trade was declining 24.8 per cent in 1930 over 1929, Australia's foreign trade was falling more than 30 per cent, Brazil's more than 36 per cent, Canada's more than 27 per cent and Japan's, 25.9 per cent. And none of these countries are governed by the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill. It is to be remembered too that the decline is not so great as it appears on the surface. Our foreign trade is estimated in dollar value and not in tonnage. Dollar value of commodities has shrunk a great deal since the peak in 1929 so that the decrease in the actual tonnage of our foreign trade is not so great. This is especially true because of the great fall in prices of many of our chief imports, such as rubber, coffee and silk, and of our chief exports, as cotton.

For example, in 1930 we imported 58.3 per cent less crude rubber in dollar value but only 3.8 per cent in tonnage; 38.5 per cent less silk in dollar value but only 15.3 less in volume; 30.8 per cent less coffee in dollar value and actually 7.9 per cent more in tonnage. We exported 35.6 per cent less cotton in dollar value but only 12.3 per cent in tonnage, and so on. As a matter of fact, then, figuring on the basis of actual goods bought and sold abroad the decrease due to the depression is not as great as might be imagined by glancing at the reports. And certainly nobody blames the new tariff law for the world-wide decline in prices.

We know one thing right now; we are in favor of a five-day week for radio sopranos.

The average man doesn't know much about "short term credits" and "long term credits." The system he has the most experience with is "a dollar down and fifty cents a week the rest of your life."

We have to go through two or three depressions before we learn how to save money and get along. But by that time we are generally too old to profit by what we have learned.

Fair Exchange—Now that a Chicago expert has gone to show the Russians how to plan cities, Russia might send somebody to show Chicago how to collect taxes.—Lorain (O.) Journal.

It seems that that sea serpent sighted by a returning fisherman off the coast of Massachusetts was only fifty feet long. In the days of real drinking the boys used to throw those small ones back in.—New York Evening Post.

The International Brotherhood of Magicians has just closed a three-days convention at Columbus, Ohio. Not one of them, it was said, could make his hotel bill vanish at the proper time.—Charlotte News.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

Not long since I stepped into the room where a child was dying from blood poison. It had a little pimple on its face. This became infected and the child had to die. It was sad beyond description to see this little one going away on the account of poison in the blood. We are wondering in these strange times what is the trouble with our American life. May I not venture to say that we are suffering with a developing case of blood poison? People are starving because we have produced too much to eat. They are going about half clad because we have produced too much cotton. They are going about barefooted because we have too many shoes, and they are sleeping in doorways and in parks because we have too many houses. This is a strange muddle into which we have fallen of late. The circulating blood in all American veins has become infected by the poison of exploitation and greed, and we are a sick nation. We have soon got to improve in health, or there will be a rebellion.

I have passed for months a certain place where the owner has a half built house. Some time last winter he decided that he would build, and gathered material and put up the frame of a building. Then he laid down his tools and today that house is still about half done. Weeds and rubbish have hid out the foundation, and all the traveler can see is the top frame of a deserted building. The world is crowded with half completed things. There are those who have their farms half paid for. There are those who make about half enough food stuff to feed the family. There are those who are about half educated. The young man decided to quit school when he was in the eighth grade, and now he is out for life on a half schedule. Many a house is about half done and yet the folks are living in it. We have a disposition to try out a half done job and see if we can get by with it. When you see a half done thing, you may kniw that it will never be what it should be. If a thing is worth doing at all, it is worth doing well, and if it should be done well, it is best to push the job until it is complete.

I like to walk through a cemetery and read the inscriptions on the tomb stones. If you will make a journey of that kind, you will be surprised to find how many good people have died. Many, Many of them devoted parents and loyal church members. All of them were unusual in life elements and now they are "asleep in Jesus." I never go through a cemetery when I do not say little and think much. We all know that the inscription on a tombstone may be just a scrap of a truth. Wonder why people never put such things as these on tombstones: "He cursed every day that he lived." "He was an old tight-wad." "He growled over his grub like a bull dog." "He killed himself sucking a bottle." "He was as dishonest as the days were long." "For thirty years his life was impure." "She was great in the use of paints and lip stick." "She had rather dance than go to church any day." "She was a great night rider." "She had mad fits and flew into tantrums." "She played cards with skill." "She deceived her husband." "She was often at picture show, never at church." These statements would have just as much truth in them for the dead in many cases, as the little verse that you see carved on the head stone. It is best to forget some things, and so we put the best in marble.

Speaking of inscriptions on tomb stones, I saw one in a cemetery in Barbour County, that was true to life. The man buried in the grave was a drunkard. He would come home drunk nearly every Saturday night, and he would beat and curse his wife. In one of his drunken sprees he told his wife that he wanted her to have a demijohn carved out of marble, and set this at the head of his grave when he died for a tomb stone. Not many months after that request, this man died drunk, and true to his request the wife had this done. That large flask is now adorning his grave with a true message of his life. If every man who dies from whiskey, and the workings of whiskey, should have a flask carved into his tombstone, some firm would be able to do a landslide business. The death list from whiskey is bad enough as it is, but if we lift our prohibition laws, then we will have a regulation among us that will "plow under every third man" in American life. It may be that we have too many folks. If so, open saloons and we can soon "plow them under."

I was standing on the highway and heard a tremendous noise. I looked just down the way and an empty mule wagon was approaching. It went rattling by with more noise than a thrashing machine. Just behind that wagon was another team approaching. The wagon was loaded with a bale of cotton and all I could hear was the clatter of the mule's feet on the pavement. The wagon went by silently because it was loaded. When you hear a noisy, boisterous fellow in the community, in a gathering of any kind, you will be safe to consider him an "empty wagon." There is not much to folks who make lots of noise. That man who moves quietly, with reserve, without show, he is the loaded man, and the man who is worth something to his community. It is better to talk little and do much.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Running Fits—Well, to begin with, I believe I'll see if I can spring a new one on any of you. Have any of my readers ever seen a chicken with running fits? No? I heard one of my chicks squealing like all get-out one day this week. I rushed out to see what had him, and the little fellow was running 'round and 'round the doorsteps and squealing for all he was worth. I could see no reason for it, as there seemed to be nothing after him, so I think he must have had a running fit. Ponder over that a bit.

Who'll Win The Golf Cup?—Nearly every afternoon these days I happen around down by the golf course, and of late I have been watching the brethren in their play-off for the local championship. And, believe me, those fellows really get a kick out of it. And lots of good jokes are sprung as they go about their game. One afternoon last week one of the fellows asked what kind of a cup was to be given to the winner—another golfer told him not to let that bother his game any, as it would very probably be a shaving cup, any way.

A Costly Smack—A few nights ago some guy and his sweetie were out motoring in the autumn moonlight, when he decided a little smack was in order, and proceeded about the business of cuddling the sweetie up to collect the smack. The old bus decided one good smack deserved another, so the bus smacked into the highway retaining wall. From all reports it was a pretty costly smack, and now the smacker is trying to figure out which smack was to blame for his cost. The first smack caused the second — the first smack cost him nothing, but the second did. Here's hoping the first smack was worth what the second cost, otherwise he lost on the venture.

That Center Line—In passing to and fro on the state highway I am quite sure you have noticed a line in the center. In some places it is black, and in others it is yellow. I will not insult your intelligence by asking if you know what that line is for—I'm quite sure you do—but evidently there are folks who don't know that little thing. If they do, I'd like to know why they don't use it for that purpose. It is there to mark off your safe territory, wherein you may drive your car in safety. But there are drivers who don't pay any attention to it—in fact, they seem to dare the other drivers to take their part of the road. That's dangerous—and foolish! Not long ago I rode to a nearby city with a fellow, and I believe he is one of the worst at this daring game I ever saw. On the way he drove on the left all the way, except when we were meeting another car. He knew the road pretty well, so I decided that side of the pavement must be smoother or something. But when we started back he sailed out on the left side again. When we got back, I asked him why he drove on the wrong side all the time, but he didn't know. I believe that's the way with the most of these careless ones, and that's all it is too—just carelessness. It's the same distance to where you're going, and lots safer. Stay on the RIGHT side of the line—that bit of advice has a double meaning, too. And maybe it'll save you a wreck some time.

Our Banks—Though times may be tight, and the economic outlook dark, it should be a source of SOME comfort, at least, to know that right here among us we have two of the best banks to be found anywhere. And not only right here in Clanton, but throughout Chilton County we have financial institutions of which we may all be proud. The peoples Savings Bank and The First National of Clanton, Peoples Bank of Jemison, Bank of Maplesville, and Bank of Verbena—five of them, all in good shape, speak for themselves that Chilton County's financial condition is above the average for a county the size of Chilton. Recently, newspapers throughout Alabama commented on the comparative status of affairs in our county and that in our sister county, Autauga, in which there was not one single bank operating. Papers of Autauga led the questioning into the cause of this big difference, and other papers took the cue, Chilton County coming in for much favorable and widespread advertising. There's a reason.

"To Him Who Hath—"—Just why the Alabama Power Company should be relieved of a big slice of its taxes, without a compensating cut in its income is a bit hard to understand. That the people of Chilton, Coosa and other counties will be forced to bear the extra burden which this will cause goes without saying. And the fact that this extra burden comes at this time, just when the people are, for the most part, forced to the limit to hold their own and pay their usual taxes and other obligations makes the burden more bitter to bear. But, aside from how bitter the burden may be, this question is inevitable: "Why and how do they get that way?" Alabama Power Company is a great institution, and one of which all Alabamians are proud. It has done much to advertise the State and its resources. It has furnished employment to many people, and spent lots of money, all of which has been very helpful. But I fail to see where this or any other of their good points gives cause to relieve them of their just and reasonable obligations. We all, as well as the Power Company, live and draw our incomes locally, yet, so far, I have heard nothing of a move to have anybody else's tax burden eased. If the tax commission, or anyone else, can explain why the tax cut should be allowed, I imagine it would make interesting reading for the most of us. Verily, "To him who hath shall be given, and to him who hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath." The peg certainly fits the hole, and it makes a mighty tight fit.

Hoping For The Best—One of the most disgusting things I can think of is to see or hear of something which tends to show that times may be better soon, only to hear some leather-lunged member of the Gripers Union pipe up with the idea that there's a catch somewhere, and that there's no good to be found in anything any more. That's the biggest reason things are as bad as they are now. One day last week cotton eased over the 6-cent mark and somebody commented on the fact, adding that maybe that was a sign that things in general had taken turn for the better—some old moss-back immediately 'lowed as how that wasn't a sign of any good, but just a catch to get farmers to start selling and then they'd run the price down again. No matter how true that may be, where is the good in telling us about it—rubbing it in, so to speak—just when our hopes were rising. You'd think some folks enjoyed being gouged—the deeper the happier they seem to be. They absolutely refuse to hope for better times, to say nothing of pulling for them. What a life!

Chuckles—Ordinarily I like to hear anyone chuckle—that is, emit a kind of happy laugh, which goes to show that he's at peace with things in general, and is just bubbling over with happiness. But I heard a chuckle one day last week which didn't sound good. It came from a cotton buyer, and you'd never guess the reason. The news came out that cotton had dropped in price and that buyer chuckled "Hee, hee." And I had to drink a qquart of ice water and sit under a big fan for an hour or two to cool off.

More Glimpses—Uncle Tom Ogletree with somebody's shoes in his hand; Robert Allred coming from Sunday School; Dr. Edgar tees off for a round of golf; Emmett Powell in town—glad to see the old boy; Uncle Jack Gentry passes by—one farmer who doesn't raise cotton; DeWitt Easterling lugging a 5-gallon can—out of gas somewhere down the street; Revs. Ezell and Haskew doing the pump-handle act in front of the post office; Mr. Ben Sessions and "Leapin' Lena" coming in off the mail route; Chief Foshee whistling at a passing car—he didn't stop; Miles Arant with somebody's watch—it's already stopped; somebody announcing court is now in session—I'll mosey along home.—Man in the Moon.

THE CINDER PILE

(By The Sweeper)

Back to the cotton situation: Looks like a good many of the farmers of this county are going to try helping themselves a little. Just take a look around and you can see a good many bales of the fleecy staple being carried back home. Hold onto it boys if you can, and maybe things will pick up later and you will get a good price for it. The Sweeper wishes it was possible for every farmer in this county to hold every pound of cotton he has until he can get a decent price for it.

With the passage of a complete cotton ban for 1932 in Louisiana and South Carolina, and a partial ban or acreage limit in Texas, it will possibly follow that the other major cotton producing states will pass some kind of cotton regulartory laws before another season. The Sweeper has been informed that Governor Miller was not very responsive to the delegation of farmers who called on him at Montgomery several days ago to persuade him to ask for some kind of cotton legislation. Gov. Miller should express himself one way or another on the matter definitely. If the majority of the farmers of Alabama, as voiced through the various farm organizations, want a cotton law passed, then we think the governor should ask for it, and that the legislature should pass such a law.

From all reports and indications, those Legionaires certainly had them a time at the national convention. Also the vote of the convention on the beer question shows pretty well the trend of opinion on that subject the coutry over. Most every one feels that the Volstead act as it is endeavored to be enforced is more or less a failure and shoul! be so modified as to allcw for either light wines and beer or provide a better means of enforcement.

Personally, The Sweeper does not wish to enter into any argument on the prohibition question. We only take what we see and hear as a criterion of public opinion and try to determine the outcome. And in this connection, we think that sooner or later there will be some kind of modification of the present liquor laws of this country—popular opinion will force it. We are not now, and never have been in favor of open liquor traffic and hope that such a condition will never exist in our country again. However we do think that under the present method, enforcement is costing this government money entirely out of proportion to results obtained. Neither do we believe that a modification of the Volstead act to legalize light wines and beer would prove the panacea for our prohibition troubles.

As long as rum-running is as large a "business" as it is today among the racketeers, and until the people are educated out of their love for disobedience and law breaking, there will be difficulty in enforcing any kind of prohibition law—regardless of any modification.

The Board of Deacons or whoever is responsible for the new dress which has been recently applied to the First Baptist Church of Clanton, are to be commended for their efforts to make the edifice attractive and appear well kept. It is hard to realize how much has been added to the appearance of this building merely by the application of a little paint. There are a number of residences and business houses in Clanton the owners of which could do well to have painted at this time. With the low price of labor and material, there should not be a house left in the city without a coat of fresh paint to help weather the coming winter.

See the "boss" looking over this way, so guess I better get to sweepin'.—The Sweeper.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of September 27, 1906

An addition to the rear of Kanter's store is being built by Pate Wilson, bossed by Alex G. Dake.

A new livery stable is being built by P. D. Wilson on Seventh Street. Miss Rena Rembert has just completed a neat dwelling in East Clanton.

The Banner will move into its new home right away.

The cost of the election of Hon. B. B. Comer as Governor of Alabama was $8,499.96.

Wheeler Foshee died at Belle Sumter last Thursday morning. He was 26 years old and the son of Adline and N. W. Foshee of Clanton.

T. C. Marcus has been appointed a Justice of the Peace for Beat 4.

H. Kanjutzky has purchased the dwelling house of Marion Gore and will move into it soon.

Married this week: R. M. Porter, Jr., and Miss Leila Brewer; Henry Irwin and Miss Allie Moore; J. W. Huckaby and Miss Bessie Devaughn; J. P. Jackson and Miss Beatrice Deloach; A. J. Hayes and Miss Mary A. Latham.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

More About Connatser

The sports page of the Cleveland Plain Dealer last Friday added another chapter to the laurels of Broadus Connatser, Clanton boy, who is now a member of the Cleveland American baseball club. Besides a fine picture of the young man, the sports writer gave him a nice little bonquet in telling of his work in the game last Thursday. In the heading of the article he says Connatser is a fielding star, and continues: Bruce Connatser, the first baseman, besides contributing a hit in the first inning attack on Whitehill, handled fifteen fielding chances faultlessly. One of them, his stop of Stone's wicked smash in the eighth, was a beauty.

Will Be Home Soon

Broadus (they call him Bruce in baseball) finished the season with Cleveland Sunday. He has gone to Terra Haute and other places where he made friends in the Three Eye League last year, where he will visit around for a while before returning home. He will be here most any day now, and all of us will be glad to see him.

Big Sam Edwards

I ran into my friend, Big Sam Edwards, on the corner Tuesday. As usual, he started to razzing me about politics, and the chief bone of his contention was what he termed this Republican prosperity. He talked so loud and fast and long I thought I would not get in a word. When he finally stopped to come up for air I shot this one at him: You just tell me which is the worse or better, Hoover prosperity, or Miller economy. That shot got him. Before he recovered I got away.

To Vote On County Agent

From the Commissioners Court Monday I learn that the people of Chilton County will be asked to vote on Tuesday, October 3rd on the qquestion of whether or not they want the work of the County Farm Demonstration Agent continued in this county. Now that places another important matter squarely up to the farmers. The verdict of the majority of those who vote on the proposition will determine the matter, and the court will act accordingly. They put the county agent on because a majority of the voters voted for the work.

What Is The Work Worth?

The work of the County Agent in this county since it was put on has been in the hands of Mr. C. E. Stapp. He is recognized as one among the very best county agents in Alabama. He has worked hard for the betterment of our farmers. I do not believe a man could be found who would or could have done more or better work than he has done. If Stapp has not made the county agent work worth something to our farmers, no one could have done it. I personally believe his work has been worth untold sums to our farmers. I believe every farmer who has availed himself of the advantages the county agent offered will want the work continued. I believe it would be a very great mistake to discontinue the work.

A Birmingham Policeman

Croell Kicker, a Chilton County boy, who has been on the police force in Birmingham for many years, was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. He is a fine fellow, fine looking, and has lots of friends in Clanton and Chilton County. If the police ever get me in Birmingham, I am sure I shall be glad to claim my acquaintance with Mr. Kicker.

The Big Tax Racket

I am sure you have heard about the big tax racket that has arisen over the manner in which the Alabama Public Service Commission has assessed the property of the Alabama Power Company in Chilton and Coosa counties. The storm has centered over the action of the commission in making the power company assessment at 45 per cent of the record value of the property, whereas the law says that all property shall be assessed at 60 per cent of its value. The question, therefore, arises, how can the tax commission have the authority to arbitrarily change the provisions of the law of Alabama?

Two Wrongs Do Not Make Right

I understand that the tax commission says they changed the power company assessment to 45 per cent of the value because they estimated that generally property in Alabama was being given in by the owners at about 45 per cent of its value, in violation of the law. Therefore, we would infer that the tax commsision feels justified in violating the law because they think somebody else has done so. The executive department of our government should be concerned with seeing that everybody obeys the law, rather than that everybidy violates the law. Two wrongs do not make a right.

Suppose He Had A Chance

Came by the corner Tuesday on my way from lunch. There on the sidewalk with his back to the wall sat a little boy. He was very much engaged at something, paying no attention to folks passing by. His face was buried behind a big paper box lid. I stopped and found that he was drawing pencil pictures on the board. Pictures of people. I stopped a friend and directed his attention to the boy. We watched him draw a couple of sketches. As we walked away, my friend said suppose that boy had a chance at an education and an opportunity to develop his talents. Wouldn't he be something? Suppose he had a chance. As I thought of that expression the conclusion came to me that a boy as young as he who can draw pictures like that has already got all the chance he needs. What means most to him is for somebody to make him realize the opportunity that is his.

New Tax Officers

Tom Rockett bade farewell to the office of Tax Collector yesterday, having completed ten years of service in that position. He goes out of office with a record behind him that is worthy and honorable. His successor, Mr. Culp, comes upon the official scene with every indication that he will serve the people well. He is a man of fine qualities. Some days ago Mr. Akins Collins took over the office of Tax Assessor from the hands of Mr. Sam Pate, who with Mr. Rockett, has been in the office for ten years. Mr. Collins has already put in about a month of work at the courthouse, and has shown that he is on to the business of dealing with the public in a courteous and pleasant manner. As we say good by to Tom and Sam, we say hello to Will and Akins, all of them men of whom Chilton County should be proud.

There would be a lot more unemployment in Russia if it were not for the fact that anybody over there can get a job spreading propaganda.

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO

DALLAS COMPRESS CO.

Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).

Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.

Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop.

Dallas Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered Druggist

We have moved back to Masonic Building

THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

MT. PLEASANT JUNIOR HIGH

Mt. Pleasant Jr. High will open Wednesday, October 7th. All patrons and friends of the school are invited. Mr. Stapp, county farm agent, will be there to make a talk.

Each child attending this school will please bring all old adapted text books on opening morning. Both time and money may be saved by exchanging these books.

The faculty this year consists of R. B. Johnson, Jemison, principal, and Jr. High instructor; Mrs. M. A. Wright, Thorsby, sixth grade; Miss Celia Baldwin, Mt. Creek, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Lera Bean, Clanton, primary instructor.

School Meeting

There will be a school meeting at Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School next Friday night, October 2,. 7:30 p. m. All trustees and patrons are urged to be present, as several matters of importance are to be discussed.—Robert B. Johnson, prin.

NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Saturday, October 31, will be "Father and Mother's Day" for students at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. All parents of Auburn students are invited by President Knapp to be in Auburn that day.

The Progressive Farmer, a conservative and also a progressive farm paper published at Birmingham, favors a federal act reducing cotton acreage next year to two-thirds of the 1931 acreage; and, if necessary, a 15 per cent reduction in 1933 from the 1932 acreage.

A group of prominent Alabamians met at Montgomery on September 23 and issued a statement in which they recommended cotton production the next two years on a basis of half of 1931 production. Reason: Present supply is sufficient for two years, they said.

Writing in a recent issue of the Scientific American, Peter A. Carmichael said: "In a series of experiments directed by the University of North Carolina the past year, and still in progress, it has been found that the entire cotton plant is capable of utilization in the manufacture of rayon. Lint cotton is a highly desirable source of cellulose, the basic material from which rayon is produced, but because of its cost, the use of it in the rayon industry at present is comparative slight.

More women over 75 years of age are living in the United States than man,, although the total male population is greater. Census bureau statistics of September 10 showed 997,444 women within five years of the four-score mark as against 915,752 men. The male population of 62,-137,080 outnumber the female by 1,499,114. Increasing also was the age 65 to 74 category, bearing out the contentions of the public health service that the life span is lengthening.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

WE APPRECIATE OUR FRIENDS

In the sickness and death of our precious little son, we have sustained a heavy burden and a great loss in our home. To those who were so kind and thoughtful in helping us through this crisis, we send this word of appreciation. We are especially grateful to Dr. Dawson and Dr. Geo. Blue, of Montgomery, who worked so fathfully to save our baby's life. We owe much, indeed, to Miss Snead and Miss Purcell, and the other nurses in St. Margaret's Hospital, for their faithful service and tender sympathy during our two weeks there. Then, to our many faithful friends in and around Verbena let us say that you have drawn us to you by your abundant sympathy and love. To each and all, we pray that our gracious Father in Heaven may richly bless you, and that Heaven's peace and happiness attend you both here and in eternity. Sincerely yours.—Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Metcalf.

ALABAMA COTTON PLAN IS PROPOSED

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 28.—Following the action of the Texas legislature in refusing t ossuspend by law cotton production in 1932 a group of prominent Alabamians met in Montgomery on September 23 and adopted suggestions and recommendations on cotton for the consideration of the people of the state.

Careful application of the regular farm and home program as promoted by the agricultural forces, banks, newspapers, and others was the first recommendation.

Next they said that farmers themselves must cut cost of production, improve marketing facilities, adjust production to normal demands, and improve the farm home and rural social life.

"Above all," they continued, "every real friend of agriculture in Alabama should put forth every effort to strengthen the farmers' organization."

For immediate action they recommend pooling of 1931 cotton with the Farm Bureau Cotton Association in order that farmers may get money on it and yet retain their equities in it.

They declared that there is in sight ample cotton for two years, based on the present rate of consumption. This being true, they advised that production annually for the next two years be reduced to half of the 1931 production.

The meeting was attended by Professor L. N. Duncan, director of Extension Service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn; Director M. J. Funchess, of the experiment station; Commissioner Seth P. Storrs; J. L. Edwards, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau; F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician; Grover C. Hall, editor the Advertiser; C. M Stanley, editor Alabama Journal; Dr. J. B. Hobdy; R. E. Cammack; J. T. High; Emmett Sizemore; R. G. Arnold; E. L. Deal; J. A. Beaty; Senator Charles B. Teasley; W. L. Randolph; L. O. Brackeen; and Harry Houghton.

CARD OF THANKS

Just want to thank the people at Pleasant Valley Church for the nice pounding they gave me last Sunday It included everything, almost, in the grocery line. Flour galore; everything to go with it, even chicken. We appreciate it very highly.—J. D Hughes.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Probate Court:

To Mrs. Lula Cato, John W. Reinhardt, Mollie Rogers, Harrison Reinhardt, Mrs. Alice Cornett, Mrs. Minnie Bates: You are hereby notified that J. C. Rogers, administrator of the estate of May B. Potts, has this day filed his accounts and vouchers, evidences and statements, for the final settlement of his said administration of the estate of Mae E. Potts, and that the 5th day of October, has been appointed by the Court for hearing and making said settlement at which time you can appear in said Court and contest the same if you think proper.

Given under my hand this the 12th day of September, 1931.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

8-17-3t-ch.

4-H Club Explained

In this story C. B. Smith, Chief, Office of Cooperative Extension Work, United States Department of Agriculture, answers the important question: "What is Farm Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club Work?"

Who Is In Charge

Boys' and girls' club work is a publicly supoprted and directed educational enterprise of the United States Department of Agriculture, state agriculture colleges, and county governments cooperating. It is a part of the national cooperative extension organization which seeks by practical methods to teach farm men and women and boys and girls the best ways of farming and home making. 4-H club work is designed to teach through doing and is so organized as to teach better practices in agriculture and home economics, and the finer things of rural life, while at the same time developing wholesome, industrious, public-spirited boys and girls.

Why Become Member

Membership in 4-H clubs is voluntary. One of the essentials of membership is that each boy and girl taking up the work shall learn and demonstrate some better practice in agriculture or home economics under the guidance of a competent leader, keep a record of this work, make a public exhibit, and report on it to the county extension agent.

In summer, county, district, state and sometimes regional camps of about a week's duration are held. Usually once a year from 250 to 2,500 outstanding representatives of the clubs are brought to their state agricultural college for a week's instruction and inspiration. At these camps, matters that make for character, appreciation of nature, pride in rural life and accomplishments are emphasized.

What Work Teaches

In club work involving poultry dairying, beef cattle, sheep, hogs, and sometimes various field crops, club members are taught matters of finance, marketing, exhibiting demonstrating cooperation, and like matters. They are associated with bankers, breeders, college teachers, merchants, and the public in worthwhile enterprises and taught the ethics of business. Through club work, rural cooperation is taught and rural leadership developed.

How 4-H'ers Learn

Some of the typical demonstrations carried on by 4-H club members are concerned with the growing of corn,, truck and garden crops and cotton; feeding and management of farm animals; making household furishings and garments; selection of ready-to-wear clothing for different types of individuals and for different occasions; canning fruits, vegetables, and meats; preparation of foods and planning and serving meals; improvement of home interiors; and improvement of home grounds.

Clubs Hold Meetings

Members of 4-H clubs are associated in groups of 5 to 50 or more. These clubs are conducted in accordance with parliamentary practices. The club program usually flows from and centers about the work each boy or girl is doing at his or her own home. The program is enriched by demonstrations, exhibits, songs, games, yells, music, and social activities. Tours about the county to study livestock, farm crops, home improvements, and the like, are often made a part of the club activities.

Who May Join

The club age is 10 to 20 years, with stress placed on the years 12 to 18. Any rural boy or girl within the age who is able to equip himself or herself to carry on a demonstration of some better farming or home making activity, may become a member of a 4-H club. Approximately 840,000 farm boys and girls are enrolled in 4-H clubs. The aim is to so develop boys' and girls' club work as to enroll and guide at some time during these ages at least half of the 11,000,000 boys and girls of the rural districts for an average period of at least three years in club work.

What The 4-H Means

The emblem of 4-H club work is the four-leaf clover, with an "H" inscribed on each leaf. It signifies the equal development of the head, the hand, the heart, and the health of each club member. The mind, or head, of the boy or girl must be trained to think, plan, and reason; the heart to be cooperative, so that all may work together; the health must be improved, if necessary, and kept good for efficiency and enjoyment; and the hands must be trained to be skillful. This idea is expressed in the pledge of each club member, as follows:

The Club Pledge

I pledge, my head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, and my health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country.

Build For Future

The ultimate objectives of 4-H club work are a prosperous, capable, and contented rural people, men and women who find joy and satisfaction in growing crops and animals, the plants of the field and the woods, the wild life of forest and stream, the winds, the rain, and the soil; and the development of a cultured, wholesome life on the farms and in rural communities, with interest extending outside the community into the affairs of State and Government.

Who Starts Clubs

Boys' and girls' clubs are usually organized by the county agricultural agents, and home demonstration agents, now located in nearly every county in the United States, giving their whole time to 4-H club work. These are all public officials, usually paid in part from federal, state, and county funds, and administratively directed by the extension director of the state agricultural college. The work is often carried on in cooperation with local organizations of farmers, particularly the local farm bureau. Headquarters of the county agents are usually at the county seat or leading, centrally located town of the county. These agents are always glad to consider all matters relating to agriculture and rural betterment and will be interested in cooperating with scout officials, farmers' organizations, and all other public agencies and associations in promoting the best things in rural life.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

The University of Alabama Blackfrairs, dramatic company, will appear four times at the University during the current season, Director T. Earle Johnson states. Two plays will be produced each semester.

The publication will include: A. A. Milness's "A Perfect Alibi;" Geo. Bernard Show's "Candida;" Philip Barry's "Hotel Universe;" and Luigi Pirandello's "Right You Are (If you think your are)."

Real inter-school competition will mark the work of Alabama State high school debating league this year, according to Dr. W. C. Blasingame of the Bureau of Community Service, University of Alabama Extension Division and director of the league.

Dr. Blassingame announced that more than 2,000 high school students representing approximately 200 high schools would participate in this year's debate question, unemployment insurance.

Dr. George I. Adams, professor and head of the department of geology, University of Alabama, will attend the New Orleans meeting of the American Association for the advancement of science which meets in January. Dr. Adams is member of the reginnal Gulf Coast Committee.

With the appointment of Joe Sharpe, Mobile, as cadet colonel of the University of Alabama Reserve Officers Training Corp Regiment, captain of the Alabama Crimson Tide will command the corps of cadets for the second consecutive year. Charles "Foots" Clements, star tackle, headed the military corps last year.

CENTRAL SINGERS MET AT FRIENDSHIP

Two months ago someone asked: "How was the singing Sunday afternoon?" The reply came: "I have never yet been to Friendship when the singing was anything but good."

We are sorry to report that this custom was broken last Sunday afternoon. The Central Singing Society met at this place, but the singing was aboslutely punk. What the trouble was we are unable to say, unless it was due to a combination of things. The books were new, and nearly every director persisted in using the kind of book that there was only about eight or ten in the house like; and too, the cool weather made everybody feel lazy. Whatever the trouble was, we hope the condition is soon remedied.

The society meets next Sunday afternoon at Cherstnut Creek, Coopers. All singers and lovers of music have a cordial invitation to attend.

JEMISON FARM NEWS

The farmers of Providence community are interested in the evening school being conducted there. The busy cotton picking season has caused the attendance not to be as large as it otherwise might be. However, it has averaged from 18 to 20 men

The "Live at Home Program" should come first in their farming plans. Some of the men will plant vetch and all of them are interested in terracing. A number of men will set out strawberries in February. The farmers with brood sows are making definite plans to have grazing crops for hogs.

WEST CHILTON

We welcomed the first winter breeze Sunday morning; a pleasant change from the sweltering heat of the September sun.

Singing at Macedonia Sunday afternoon; Prof. Veazey in charge.

Mr. A. A. Jackson's article last week was real striking, and contained much food for thought. No, the farmer need not look for relief by legislation. The present crop will soon be gone from the growers, while legislation is getting ready to do. Too slow, no hope there. The divine program is the only hope. Man has had thousands of years experience with human government; now see where we are.

Walter Veazy and family have moved down near Cox.

Rev. Dyer's daughter of Tuscaloosa was a recent visitor in this part.

On the third Sunday some of our people motored to the Mountain Springs Singing Convention, viz: Ross Waldrop and wife, Mrs. Belle Hubbard and daughter, Mrs. Jones and daughter. They came back all jubilant over the fine singing, also a fine sermon by a Birmingham minister.

Macedonia has again called Rev. Lawrence to the pastorate. The Sunday school elected J. C. Veazey superintendent, Miss Emarene Rasberry, secretary.

The singing at Union Springs the third Sunday was reported largely attended.

Mrs. Cummings and son of Louisiana, en route from Gorgas, visited at W. R. Redding's last week.

A great crop of syrup is being produced here, but as a cash crop it is almost worthless.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA
Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service
Flowers for all Occasions

ADDING MACHINE PAPER

Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c

The Union-Banner
PHONE 63

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Mullins Academy, Beat 1	Oct. 5	Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17
Jemison, Beat 2	Oct. 6	Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19
Mars Hill, Beat 2	Oct. 7	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
		Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.
AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

CLOSING SCHOOLS SEEN MENACE AS SALARIES ARE UNPAID

Outlook Gloomy In At Least 30 Counties of the State, Department Says

Montgomery, Ala. — Closing of schools within 30 or 60 days is the gloomy outlook in at least 30 counties in the state, attaches of the State Department of Education stated, unless funds for operating expenses and teachers' salaries become available soon.

In a number of counties the teachers are still due their salaries for one or two months of the last scholastic year. However loyal the teachers may be, they cannot go on without salaries, it is pointed out, any more than their landladies can continue to pay rent and buy food unless board and room charges are met.

During the week a large number of county and city school superintendents, principals and members of boards of education have visited the State Department of Education, seeking a solution of their dilemma.

The situation is particularly acute in Lamar and Coosa Counties, the superintendents have said.

No assurances of relief could be given by the State Department of Education, which has no money. Members are now advising county officials to explain the situation to school patrons, and do the best they can.

BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Mrs. W. C. Wilson made a business trip to Montgomery Thursday of last week.

Mr. Marney Culp of Little Rock, Arkansas, spent Friday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Culp.

Miss Nettie Mason and Loucile Pattillo motored to Montgomery Saturday and spent the day shopping.

Messrs. J. C. Vinson and E. E. Overstreet went over to Wetumpka and spent the day, returning home Sunday afternoon, accompanied by Mr. Vinson's mother, who will spend some time with helatives in our town.

Mrs. Sallie Herrod of Little Rock, Arkansas, is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Culp and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mills.

Mrs. J. C. Hughes motored to Clanton Monday.

Mrs. J. J. Traywick spent Monday in Montgomery on business.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Golson of Prattville were Sunday guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baxter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Patrick and Miss Willie Jean motored to Tuscaloosa Sunday and spent the day with their daughter and sister, Miss Inez, who is a student at the University.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Apperson visited friends at Fairview Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Arney Powell is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baxter.

Y. W. A. OF BAPTIST CHURCH TO HOLD INITIATION TONIGHT

The Y. W. A. of the Clanton Baptist Church will hold a very important meeting tonight at 6:15 at the church. An initiation program will be conducted and all new members will be initiatied. All girls over seventeen wishing to join our organization with the high ideals of Y. W. A., please be at the church tonight, and you will receive a hearty welcome and initiation into our organization.

Mrs. Glenn Boyd of Selma spent last Thursday with Mrs. Faulkenberry.

$6.95 13 PLATE and up

a new low price for Willard Batteries

Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging All Makes of Batteries

We will allow you One Dollar for your old battery.

Bates Auto Shop

On the Highway

Willard STORAGE BATTERIES

For Greater Service and Satisfaction from Any Make of Battery Use Willard Service Regularly

STANTON NEWS

Mr. Luther Little was here Friday attending to business.

Mr. Thomas (Turkey) Bowman of Birmingham spent the week end here with relatives.

Mrs. M. A. Woolley left Thursday for Charlotte, N. C., to visit her son, Staff Sargent Maurice W. Woolley.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anders of Birmingham visited Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell Sunday.

Boone Ruddick and family of Birmingham visited his mother Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Virginia Wooolley and Mrs. W. H. Stuart were shopping in Clanton Monday.

LaGrange Rasberry of Birmingham is visiting relatives here this week.

WHO WILL WIN THE WORLD SERIES?

Who will win the World Series? That's the question uppermost in the minds of all followers of the national pastime right at this time. On paper, it would appear that the St. Louis Cardinals, Natoinal League champions for 1931, will have an easy time winning out over the Athletics, Philadelphia's wonder team of the American League. Comparative stastics of the two teams give the Cards a nice margin to work on. Another thing, the Athletics will be trying to set a record—to win three World Series in a row, something that has never been done.

In the first place, as a whole, the Cardinal infield boasts a better defensive average, together with a stronger attack with the willow. To offfset this, Connie Mack appears to have the edge in the outfield. Too, the Athletics are said to have one of the greatest sets of pitchers ever gotten together. Grove, Earnshaw, Walberg, and Rommell, to say nothing of Mahaffey, who has had a great season, form a staff of pitchers capable of stopping nearly any batting attack, especially in a short series.

So, after all, it is very much a question of backing your own ears and judgment when it comes to picking the winner.

Several smart baseball heads and sports writers have already formed the opinion that the Cards will win. Yet there are just as many who, in the words of the sports editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, are asking what the Cards expect to use in lieu of raw material in the way of base hits with which to manufacture scores, pointing out that we must remember that "you can't steal first base."

Inasmuch as everybody else seems to be making predictions as to the outcome of the series, and picking the winner, we will too. Although we'll be pulling for "Gabby" Street and his Cards, what little we can gather makes us believe that Mr. Mack will break another record and smash through for his third World's Championship in a row.

ENTERPRISE SCHOOL TO OPEN

The Enterprise Junior High School will open next Wednesday morning, October 7, at 8 o'clock. All parents and pupils are requested to be present and help start the school in a big way. Pupils are asked to bring all books that are now used in schools. There will be some one to buy all extra books.—H. A. Harris.

DISTRICT WOMENS CLUBS TO MEET

Fifth District Assembly Will Be At LaFayette, Ala., October 8-9

Lafayette, Ala., Sept. 14.—At a recent call meeting of the Lafayette Study Club definite plans were made for the annual convention of the fifth district of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs to be entertained in Lafayette October 8 and 9.

The program which will be of decided interest and value to club women begins at three o'clock Thursday afternoon and closes at three o'clock Friday afternoon. The convention is to be opened with a business meeting of county and district chairmen followed by an address by a prominent speaker. At six o'clock dinner will be served all guests. Immediately after dinner a cantata will be presented. Later in the evening a reception is to be given. Almost all of Friday's session, which begins at nine o'clock and ends at three, will be devoted to business. At the noon hour all are to attend a luncheon.

The local committees for the October convention are as follows: arrangements, Mrs. D. T. Tatum, Mrs. G. H. Hollingsworth, Mrs. R. S. Willingham, Mrs. G. R. Bawling, Mrs. Henry Tucker, and Miss Minnie Sellers; program, Misses Miriam Siler and Ada Causey; credentials, Mrs. H. D. Agnew and Mrs. L. W. Spratling; reception, Miss Ada Causey; refreshments, Mrs. Myrtis Jenkins and Mrs. M. W. Allen; cantata, Miss Miriam Siler and Mrs. Frank Barrow.

The officers of the Lafayette Club for this year are Mrs. H. D. Huguley, president; Mrs. R. S. Willingham, vice president; Mrs. Miriam Siler, secretary-treasurer.

AUTO LICENSES DUE OCT. FIRST

Inspector Simpson Gives Some Gentle Reminders On the Subject

The first day of October will bring around to us again that more or less unwelcome time when we shall be called upon to buy new license tags for our tin lizzies of various types, vintages, and horsepowers. But regardless of the various and sundry other specifications which have to enter into the contract, the biggest item is the money that it takes to buy tags. This year the farmer who has to buy a tag will have to set aside a bale of cotton, seed and all, for that purpose.

License Inspector, H. M. Simpson, comes out this week with some reminders about automobile license tags, which it may be well to consider at this time, as follows:

1. New automobile licenses are due October the first.

2. November 14th is the last day on which cars may be operated without new license tags.

3. Do not operate your car after September 30th, unless you intend to buy a new license tag. If you operate your car after September 30th, you automatically become liable for a year's license. You can not run your car until November 14th, then put it up and escape paying the license.

4. When you buy a new car, you have three days after the purchase in which to get a license tag. If you buy a used car, you must get license tag before you operate it at all.

5. All business licenses for the State and County are due October the first, and delinquent November the first.

Mr. Simpson gives out these reminders in order that the public may know the provisions of the license law, and be governed accordingly. Get your licenses and you will not have to worry about the license inspector. If you don't get your licenses, anything might happen.

OAK HILL

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon with a large attendance. The singing was good and enjoyed by all present. This was evidenced by the interest shown throughout the two hours of almost continuous singing.

Mr. B. L. Cobb and his class from Center Hill; C. W. Scott from Moss Hill; L. R. Cobb of Oak Grove; all representing the cooperative singing society, were with us and did their part in making the singing the great success that it was.

Vice President A. H. Glasscock opened the services in regular form after which the following directors were called and directed from two to four songs each: Akins I. Collins, A. H. Glasscock, Marvin Campbell, Claudie Scott, C. W. Scott, E. L. Glasscock, with A. H. Glasscock directing the second time. Those who accompanied the directors at the organ were Misses Emma Campbell, Gyula Collins, Jessie Dorminey and Ruby Smith.

After the announcements were made the society adjourned to meet with the Thorsby class at the Baptist Church in Thorsby next Sunday afternoon. Everybody is invited, whether you sing or not, your presence will be appreciated. It will be time to elect officers also!

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

A SPLENDID PIANO—Mahogany case on which a large amount has been paid. Will sell for small balance due, on very easy terms rather than bring it back to our store.—Address, Credit Manager, E. E. Forbes & Sons Piano Company, 205 Dexter Avenue, Montgomery, Ala. 1-2tc

FOR SALE OR TRADE—120 acres of land, 11 miles from Clanton; 30 acres in cultivation; 2 houses; good spring. Write what you have. —R. K. Roebuck, Rt. 2, Maplesville, Ala. 9-24-2tch.

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B. M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

WANTED TO TRADE—A subscription to The Union-Banner for a load of grate wood or a load of lightwood knots. If you have more of either of these than you have cash, and want The Union-Banner, we might get up a trade. Ask T. E. Wyatt at The Union-Banner office.

FOR SALE—One cane mill and copper evaporator, at bargain.—Bank of Thorsby, Thorsby, Ala. 1tc.

FOR RENT OR SALE—One five-room house with bath, electric lights, good garage, 2 blocks from high school.—See W. W. Fox, Clanton, Alabama. 1-2tc

LOST—Blue kid purse containing pair ladies blue kid gloves, room key and cosmetics. Lost last Friday night. Reward if returned to Union-Banner. 1pd.

72-YEAR OLD CITIZEN REPORTS LIFE'S WORK

Mr. L. B. Broadhead of near Maplesville was in Clanton attending to some business matters Tuesday of this week. While in town, as he usually does on his visist here, Mr. Broadhead called on The Union-Banner, and began telling us about how much cotton he could pick, etc. Further conversation with Mr. Broadhead revealed:

"When I was 12 years old I could and did pick 200 pounds of cotton in a day. I am now 72 years old, my birthday being on the 7th of last August, and since I became big enough to pick cotton, I have picked a total of 317 bales of cotton. Of this amount, 20 bales were picked by moonlight.

"I have drawn enough shingles in my lifetime to cover ten miles of the cement highway. I have worn out eleven drawing knives. While this was being done, I have done all other work that is usually connected with a farm, and I believe I have done as much of it as any ordinary man.

"I have been married three times, have raised nine children to maturity and educated them. I can neither read nor write myself. I also raised four of my younger brothers and sisters who were left for me to care for. I now have four little girls born by my third wife which I hope to rear and educate.

"I have challenged and been challenged several times by men who thought they could do more work than I could, but I do not remember now that I ever lost in a single contest.

"I want the people to know that I am not bragging about what I have done. I am not trying to blow my horn, but I feel that my life may be an example to someone else and may help them to make their life really count for something in the world. If a fellow really works there will be a way for him and his family to live and they will not go hungry very much."

IN MEMORIAM

With hearts full of sorrow, we, the members of Thorsby Lodge No. 759 A. F. & A. M., offer a tribute of love and respect to the memory of our beloved brother, E. F. Mead, who passed from our midst on the 30th day of August, 1932.

Brother Mead served our lodge for many years as secretary, and after resigning that position he was elected treasurer where he served until about a year before his demise.

Brother Mead will not only be missed by the members of our society, but by all who knew him.

Therefore, be it resolved:

That we think with loving remembrance of his many years of service in our lodge work.

That an expression of sympathy be extended to his family.

That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our lodge, and that they be published in each of our county papers.

That the lodge be draped in mourning for thirty days.—W. H. Wilson, M. E. Willis, Committee.

McCRARY-HESTER

The marriage of Mr. E. C. McCrary and Miss Margaret Hester was an event of interest in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Monday, September 13th. They are spending several days in Clanton on a visit to Mrs. McCrary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hester.

Mr. O. D. Grooms of Valdosta, Georgia, spent a few days last week with relatives at Mulberry.

CLOSES YEAR AT FRIENDSHIP

The services Saturday night and Sunday brought to a close the year's work of Rev. J. Robert Bean at Friendship Church. Three sermons were preached—one Saturday night, one at 11 and one at 7:30 Sunday evening.

The year's work of Rev. Bean has been very satisfactory. There have been eight additions to the church—four by baptism and four by letter. Two letters of dismission have been granted, leaving a net gain of six members.

At this time there appears to be no dissension among the membership of the church, but everything is running smoothly, and the indications are that next year's work will be even more gratifying than the past one.

However, there is still a lack of interest among some of the members who live near the church. It is hoped that they will soon awake to the sense of their duty and join in and help carry their part of the load. During the coming year, if every member will discharge his and her duty even just half as well as the pastor, the hedges and by-ways around Friendship will be literally turned upside down, and the effects for good will be lasting.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

There is a touch of real fall weather, and that should make each of us feel more like attending church. Wish that I could be each of the fifteen hundred people in Clanton next Sunday. There would be crowded churches. If I were you, I would be in the church of my choice next Sunday. As you are you, where will you be? I hear the lamentation of the Master: "Where are the nine?"

Sunday schcool at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m. There are strange faces in almost every service on Sunday. Last Sunday a doctor from Texas worshipped with us. If you are a stranger in Clanton, we will be so glad to have you in our church, and if you are not a stranger in Clanton, and yet a stranger at the Methodist Church, we will be glad to have you. We have a welcome for all. If you will let us, we will do thee good.

Sunday night service at 7:30. Remember that month of October is "Pay-up Month" with us. Six more weeks and the conference year will be over.

MEETING AT ISABELLA

The Isabella chapter of the F. F. A. met September 23. The meeting was called to order by the president, after which a program committee and a social committee were elected. The program committee was as follows: Luther Mims, Chairman; R. C. Veazey, S. L. Broadhead, Clifford Manning, Crit Deramus. The social committee is Clifford Manning, chairman; Sidney Griffin, Hannon Owen, Homer Morgan, J. P. Poole.

A plan for the next year was also adopted. It was to construct a shower bath for the school. To sponsor a Father and Son banquet. Each boy to repair the farm tools at his home, to improve the school grounds to visit nearby chapters, to send delegates to the state F. F. A. Convention, to take an educational tour next summer, to keep the agricultural building in good shape and to maintain the F. F. A. news in the local newspapers.

We are going to strive to carry this plan out to perfection.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

COOSA AND CHILTON TAX CASES AROUSE RESENTMENT

The people of Alabama have known for some time that the utilities of this state are not paying their just share of the cost of government in the state, and have repeatedly demanded an adjustment of this public account, just as the citizens of Coosa and Chilton counties are now demanding an adjustment in those counties; but they have never known, nor do they now know, the full extent of these taxation injustices in this state. That these injustices and oppressions may be more extensive than the average citizen may think seems to be fairly well indicated by this Coosa and Chilton incident which has provoked public wrath and resulted in the calling of a monster mass meeting to formally protest against the wholesale reductions in the power company's assessment in that jurisdiction.

The present state administration will not be able to escape responsibility for this record, and it is not unlikely that the people of those counties will demand an accounting from Governor Miller and his appointees for they made this record and ought to be able to throw some light on the subject.

Governor Miller has had much to say of economy in the public service; he has had much to say about keeping tax levies down to a minimum; but what good will the people of the state get out of this preachment if the governor permits men under his control, and in office by his appointment, to shift the tax load from powerful corporate interests to the shoulders of farmers, home owners, merchants and other taxpayers? Small taxpayers have been hard hit in these times; they need relief, and we submit that the governor of this state and his subordinates ought to consider the interests of these taxpayers while they are talking about economies and lowered cost of government.

The various units of the power trust in this country are more prosperous than merchants, more prosperous than any other group of business men or industries, and there is no reason why they should be singled out for special favors in the matter of taxation in this state or in any state of the Union.

On the contrary, these power units should be required to meet their just obligations to the governments which afford them protection and which they constantly use for their own benefit. Nobody desires to tax these utilities out of existence; but everybody would like to see them meet their just obligations to the public they serve, not only in the matter of taxes, but in rates, service and other matters also, and we think the people of these states are not going to halt until they force these powerful combinations of capital to meet their obligations in decent and adequate fashion.—Montgomery Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson spent the week end in Maplesville with their children, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hampton and Mr. Theron Watson. They all motored to Tuscaloosa Sunday and spent the day with relatives.

See the Horse that is to be given away at our store. Inquire for information. — Farmers Hardware Co., Clanton, Alabama.

Phonographs of all kinds repaired and parts furnished. Prices reasonable. See G. W. Moore, next to Carter Electric Shop, Clanton, Alabama.

On Guard!

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 4TH TO 10TH

Thoughtful people throughout the United States will again observe Fire Prevention Week, as suggested by the President in his annual proclamation.

This year October 4th ushers it in. Commercial, civic, social and other organizations will hold appropriate meetings. Millions of school children will take part.

You can make a definite contribution to Fire Prevention Week by increasing your efforts to safeguard your own home and business.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has always been an active factor in Fire Prevention Week—through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and other organizations, and through its local agents in all states.

The purpose of Fire Prevention Week is not only to reduce the fire waste, but to save human lives. In doing that, further reductions in the average cost of insurance will be justified—a cost that has consistently declined for many years.

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS

85 John Street, NEW YORK

CHICAGO, 222 West Adams Street • • SAN FRANCISCO, Merchants Exchange Bldg.

A National Organization of Stock Fire Insurance Companies Established in 1866

These Companies are represented by Capable Agents in your community

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 — THE — ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXIX.—TEN PAGES — CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1931 — NUMBER 24

TEACHERS WANT SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Resolution Is Addressed to Governor Miller Asking For School Relief

The Teachers Institute of Chilton County passed the following resolutions asking Governor Miller to call a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of bringing relief to the schools of the State:

Whereas, the financial situation confronting our county and state with special reference to the schools is such as to arouse keenest concern of all good citizens, and

Whereas, the officials charged with the administration of our laws, and especially the administration of the schools of this county and state are laboring against insurmountable obstacles, and

Whereas, it is known to the teachers of this county that funds for payment of salaries may be delayed as consequence of the general depicted condition of the State Treasury and slow movement of taxes, and

Whereas, the ills enumerated are beyond the power of the County Board of Education of this county to remedy;

Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the teachers of Chilton County in institute assembled, this the 6th day of October, 1931, having confidence in the State of Alabama to ultimately meet its obligations and in the County Board of Education to protect the interests of the teachers of the county to the fullest extent of its limitations, hereby pledge our highest allegiance to the County Board of Education in this trying hour, and our continued loyalty to and confidence in the State of Alabama, and further that we will cooperate to the fullest extent with the County Board of Education in carrying on the schools of our county this school year just as far as it is possible to do so.

Be it further resolved, that in view of the fact that the teachers of the elementary and secondary schools seem to have been made the burden bearers of the deficiencies of the other departments of the State government to the extent that four or five million dollars of consitutional funds have been divested to other uses, we as citizens and servants of the State respectfully demand that these funds prescribed by the Constitution to be placed the earliest possible date from income of the State and that continued divensions of these funds be stopped immediately and that further diversions of these funds be made by legal enactment, a felony.

Be it further resolved, that we respectfully call attention to the pre-election pledges of both branches of the State government of Alabama, promising that the schools would be amply taken care of. We rightfully demand the fulfilment of those pledges and promises.

We insist that the great State of Alabama, with all of its marvelous resources, it is fully able to meet all the financial demands that the public schools make opon it.

Be it further resolved, that His Excellency, B. M. Miller, Governor of Alabama, is hereby urged to call the Legislature into special session immediately for the specific purpose of saving the schools of the State.

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the county papers, and to the Governor of Alabama.

Respectfully submitted. — Chilton County Teachers Association.

35 CENTS BROUGHT 30 DOLLARS

A few weeks ago The Union-Banner carried a little six-line want adv. in our classified column. It cost the man 35 cents, and the adv. was the cause of him selling a $30 article.

People over the county have lots of articles of various kinds that other people need and would be glad to buy. By putting a description of such articles in our classified column, very likely a buyer would be found. The cost is trival compared with the results. Look around over your place and see what you have that you do not need but which might be turned into a little extra cash. You know a little cash would come in mighty handy these hard times.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brand are the proud parents of a new baby girl, which the stork presented them last Saturday morning at a Birmingham hospital.

HOME COMING DAY

Next Sunday, October 11th, is "Home Coming Day" at the Methodist Church in Clanton. We urge that every Methodist in the city make no other plans, but to be in your place at 11 a. m. We have a membership of 380 members, and for one time in the year, let's all be at church at the same time. The subject for the day will be one that should appeal to old and young: "The Art of Growing Older." We want the young people present, we want the older people present. If you have a car, phone some one who has none, and offer to help bring the family to church. Let's make next Sunday a great day in our church life.

Sunday school meets at 9:45 a. m. There will be no preaching Sunday night. Our people are urged to worship with the Baptists. They begin a ten-days meeting Sunday, and we want to cooperate with them for a great revival for Clanton.

We want our friends to worship with us on "Home Coming Day." We will have special music, a special message, and a warm welcome.

PLAN TO SUE THE POWER COMPANY

Action May be Started About Alabama Mills Company Investments

In response to a call issued by W. A. Reynolds, a group of stockholders of Alabama Mills Company met at the courthouse last Saturday afternoon. It was decided by those present that the holders of Alabama Mills Company stock would be asked to join in an effort to institute legal proceedings against Alabama Power Company to recover the money that was paid for mill stock or to secure dividends on the stock.

It is said that no local stockholder has ever received any dividends on his mill stock. Several stockholders have expressed the belief that the Alabama Power Company is responsible for the selling of cotton mill stock. It has been pointed out that many buyers of mill stock did so upon the sole recommendation and assurance of Alabama Power Company that it would be a good proposition. Since they have never received any dividends, they argue that the power company is legally responsible and should either see that the stockholders get dividends or their money back.

It is said that a suit will be filed against the Power Company in this matter. All stockholders of Alabama Mills Company are asked to pay in fifty cents a share for establishing a fund to pay expenses of the law suit.

At the meeting last Saturday a committee was named to present the plan to every local stockholder. This committee is composed of J. T. Thompson, C. D. Duke, Walter Popwell, W. A. Reynolds. Anyone interested in this matter can get full information from either member of this committee.

TOMMIE DEASON'S BARN BURNED

Mr. Tommie Deason, well known farmer of the Shiloh community, sustained a heavy loss one night last week when his barn was burned. He lost two cows, one mule, a large quantity of fodder and oats, and all of his plow tools and farming implements.

Mr. Deason was awakened before daybreak one morning by the ringing of his telephone. When he answered it was one of his neighbors calling his attention to the fire, which Mr. Deason himself had not yet discovered. It was too late to rescue anything.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. Deason have started a movement to get up a public subscription of money and other things to help him repair his heavy loss.

MRS. JULIA DANIEL DIED

Mrs. Julia Daniel, age 57 years, died at her home near Lomax early Monday morning.

She is survived by her husband, Rev. J. T. Daniel; one son, H. G. Daniel; one daughter, Mrs. Elma Hester, of Birmingham; four sisters and four brothers.

Funeral services were held from Robinson Chapel Baptist church on Tuesday at 11 o'clock. Burial was in the Robinson cemetery, Spigener of Clanton in Charge.

Mrs. Daniel was a sister of Postmaster W. M. Bean and Prof. W. T. Bean.

BUTLER DID NOT EXPLAIN TAX REDUCTION MATTER

Head of State Tax Commission Did Not Come to Clanton Meeting Last Saturday, Although he was Invited by the County Commissioners to be Present.

In response to the call of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, a representative gathering of citizens came to the mass meeting at the courthouse last Saturday afternoon to make protest to the State Tax Commission about the assessment of Alabama Power Company property in the county at 45 per cent of its value, instead of 60 per cent, as required by law.

The meeting was presided over by Judge L. H. Reynolds, and several speakers discussed the matter under question. Representative Kelly, of Talladega, made the principal speech of the meeting. He related how he had sought, as a member of the legislature, to have a full investigation of the power company's business made. He charged that the investigation that was finally made by a committee of the legislature was nothing but a white-wash proposition under the control and influence of lawyers and representatives of the power company.

A sweeping denunciation of the Alabama Power Company was made by Representative Kelly, when he charged that the company through its attorneys and lobbyists, is laying plans to get a strangle hold on the government of Alabama as the L. & N. Railroad had twenty-five years ago before it was broken up by Governor Comer.

Representative Felix Smith, of Coosa County, was present and made a speech. He told his hearers about the proceedings which have been put through in Montgomery on behalf of Chilton and Coosa Counties, to get the Tax Commission to have a re-hearing on the Alabama Power Company assessments in the two counties. Mr. Smith stated that the Tax Commission had agreed to have a re-hearing of the case on October 22, after Judge Jones of the Montgomery Circuit had set the date of Mandamus proceedings for October 19th.

The Resolution

The following resolution was offered by W. G. Culp, after being read by Judge Reynolds and discussed briefly by different ones, it was unanimously adopted by the meeting:

We, the citizens and tax payers of Chilton County, Alabama, in mass meeting assembled on this the 3rd day of October, 1931, vigorously protesting the manner in which the tax payers of the county were unjustly discriminated against and in favor of the Alabama Power Company, hereby declare the cause which impel them:

Chilton and Coosa Counties were endowed by nature with many valuable rights, among which were sites for hydro-electric plants on the Coosa River, and early in 1912, Lock 12, what was later dedicated as Lay Dam, was constructed at a sum estimated to be $10,000,000.00. Early in 1922 another plant dedicated as Mitchell Dam was constructed at a point seventeen miles below Lay Dam, at an estimated sum of $10,000,000.00. From these hydroelectric plants, great tower lines radiate in all directions to supply electricity to approximately 300 cities and towns in the State of Alabama, and a great part of this power is exported to foreign states.

These valuable power sites were given to the Power Company for a nominal consideration, and many citizens residing in the Eastern part of our county were forced to give up their homes, at a mere fraction of their real worth, in order to make way for the water impounded by these dams. For ten years the properties of the Power Company were tax-free. During this depression, there has been no substantial decrease in the earnings of the Alabama Power Company, and according to the figures given out for the year ending August 31, 1931, the total earnings amounted to $10,346,744.00. The properties of the Alabama Power Company in the State of Alabama are estimated to be worth in excess of $150,000,000.00, and on this enormus sum, they have been permitted to sell stocks and bonds and to collect and enjoy rates for power purposes.

In contrast, picture, if you please, the tax payers of the county, nearly all of whom are farmers, cotton selling for approximately five cents per pound, their homes, farms and equipment mortgaged, the usual tax burdens and others to meet, no wages, no fixed incomes, no money with which to pay their taxes and other obligations.

The people of the county have been a friend and neighbor to the Alabama Power Company during more than twenty years of existence. They gladly sacrificed their homes and farms for progress, they have subscribed liberally to each issue of stock offered by the Power Company, and many times to the hurt of our local institutions. In the near past, at the behest of the Alabama Power Company, an as a further demonstration of our unbounded faith, the leading citizens of our county, in a short duration of two days, subscribed $162,000.00 for stock in the Alabama Mills Company. So far theer has been no return in principal or interest to the people of the county Our officials have liberally supported, cooperated with and backed to the limit all of the Alabama Power Company's undertakings in the county and elsewhere.

According to the undisputed figures on file with the officials of the State of Alabama, the Alabama Power Company's properties in Chilton County are valued at more than $11,000,000.00, but for taxing purposes this value has been reduced to $4,659,788.00. During the last year the tax authorities saw fit to still further reduce this assessment approximately $1,000,000.00, and during this year another reduction of more than $1,500,000.00 was allowed. According to the figures, the State Taxing Authorities have granted to the Alabama Power Company, in the last three months, an illegal and unauthorized exemption from taxation on properties valued at $18,921,414.00 and donated $378,428.28 in taxes to them justly due and owing the State of Alabama and the counties in which the property is situated.

Be it, therefore, resolved, that, we vigorously protest any contemplated reduction of the taxes of the Alabama Power Company and insist and urgently appeal to the Tax Commissioner of Alabama that the properties of the Alabama Power Company in Chilton County and elsewhere be assessed at sixty (60) per cent of its fair and reasonable market value as all other properties in each county is assessed. We deeply deplore any movement which singles out the Alabama Power Company and donates to them $378,428.00 of taxes justly due the State of Alabama and the several counties, and give them a reduction in their taxes and refuse to consider just claims of other tax payers sorely in need thereof.

Be it further resolved, that we endorse the movement instituted by our county officials to cause the property of this company to be legally assessed for taxes as other property is so assessed.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS OF ALABAMA MILLS CO.

You are hereby urged to attend a meeting of stockholders of Alabama Mills Co., to be held at the Courthouse in Clanton next Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Matters of much importance to every stockholder will be considered, and if you are a stockholder you should be present.

W. A. REYNOLDS.

AUBREY TAYLOR IS HONORED AT AUBURN

Mr. Aubrey Taylor, student at Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, was at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Taylor, in Clanton, for the past week end. He had with him his friend, Mr. Clinton McCord, of Piedmont, also a student at Auburn.

The many friends of Aubrey Taylor have learned with great interest of a signal honor that has been conferred upon him by fellow-students at Auburn. He is one of only two members of the Theta Epsilion Omega Fraternity who have this year been elected as members of the honorary council of that fraternity. Selection by the fraternity of its members of the honorary council is made from among students who have attained exceptionally high rating in their college work.

We congratulate Mr. Taylor upon this worthy distinction he has won for himself.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING TUESDAY

South-East Alabama Doctors Gathered For Conference and Barbecue

The second meeting of the Southeast division of the Alabama Medical Society was held at the courthouse in Clanton Tuesday. The business meeting and formal program was at the courthouse from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

More than twenty physicians from the southeastern division of the State were present, in addition to the members of the local society. On the reception committee were the following Clanton doctors: J. P. Hayes, N. S. Johnson, V. J. Gragg, and T. J. Marcus.

The entertainment committee was composed of S. C. Wood, C. N. Parnell, Arthur Johnson, R. B. McNeill, P. T. Hinlke, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stapp.

The meeting was opened at 10 o'clock, with prayer by Rev. D. W. Haskew, after which the following program was carried out:

Welcome address by J. Lee Smith, mayor of Clanton. Response by Dr. W. A. Lewis, of Enterprise.

Dr. W. W. Harper of Selma read a paper on "The Diagnosis of Acute Abdominal Conditions of Infancy."

"Pernicious Anemae" was discussed by Dr. Fred Wilkerson, of Montgomery.

Dr. M. Y. Dabney of Birmingham discussed "Recent Advances in Gynecology."

Dr. Harold Watkins, of Montgomery, read a paper on "Atelectosis."

A short talk was made by Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, of Montgomery.

Thorough discussion was given each of the talks and papers of the program.

After the session at the courthouse, the meeting adjourned to the Masonic Hall, where a barbecue had been prepared by the entertainment committee.

Dr. Hooper of Selma offered a resolution of thanks for the splendid entertainment given the visitors by the physicians of Clanton. After comment byp Dr. Trumper of Montgomery the resolution was adopted.

The following named doctors registered at the meeting: T. J. Marcus, Clanton; G. W. Williamson, Hartford; C. R. Bennett, Eufaula; E. H. Downs, Billingsley; J. Harold Watkins, Montgomery; J. K. Haygood, Union Springs; Lee F. Turlington, Birmingham; Gilbert F. Douglas, Birmingham; J. M. Watkins, Troy; Seale Harris, Birmingham; M. Y. Dabney, Birmingham; M. T. Davidson, Birmingham; J. P. Hayes, Clanton; Fred Wilkerson, Montgomery; W. W. Harper, Selma; W. E. Prescott, Birmingham; Douglas L. Cannon, Montgomery; J. N. Baker, Montgomery; W. E. Prescott, Jr., Birmingham; Clarence Weil, Montgomery; A. Trumper, Montgomery; J. Earl Gowan, Clanton; V. J. Gragg, Clanton; C. O. Lawrence, Calera; J. J. Dubose, Maplesville, H. G. Franklin, Thorsby; B. B. Warren, Deatsville; J. P. Crumpton, Clanton.

REVIVAL SERVICES STARTS NEXT SUNDAY MORNING

Revival services at the Clanton Baptist church begin next Sunday morning and will continue for ten days. The preaching will be done by Dr. J. J. Milford, of Huntsville. Fred Bond, of Birmingham, will conduct the singing.

The public is cordially invited to attend this series of meetings.

CHILTON COUNTY S. S. MEETING AT NEW SALEM HELD

Eighteen Schools Represented at Convention on Last Sunday

The first Sunday School Convention of the schools of the Chilton County Association since its division from the Unity Association was held at New Salem Church last Sunday. The meeting was well attended and was a decided success from start to finish. The committee promised an interesting meeting, different from the ordinary beaten path of such conventions, and this promise was made good. Prof. W. M. Devaughn was there with his quartet and presented several sacred numbers between the different items on the program. These numbers were very greatly enjoyed by the delegates and all others present.

The meeting was opened shortly after 10 o'clock by the county superintendent, Mr. Howard Oden of Mulberry. After a few introductory remarks by Mr. Oden Rev. B. Lawrence, moderator of the Chilton County Association was called upon to make a short talk. At this time Mr. Davis Cooper, head of the Sunday school work at Montgomery, came in, and Rev. Lawrence turned the platform over to Mr. Cooper who was on the program to speak in the morning. Mr. Cooper spoke for twenty or thirty minutes on the general needs and plans of Sunday school work. Rev. Zac Y. Appleton, pastor at New Salem and Collins Chapel, then took charge and preached a very interesting sermon, which brought the meeting up to the noon hour.

At 1:15 the house was called to order again with a song, and Mr. Johnnie E. Miner led the devotional. The roll of the churches was called and delegates from these places reported the condition of their schools. The following Sunday schools were represented: Bethsalem, Cane Creek, Collins Chapel, Friendship, Highland, Liberty Hill, Maple Springs, Mineral Springs, Mulberry, New Salem, Pates Chapel, Pleasant Grove No. 1, Poplar Springs, Refuge, Sardis, Thorsby, and Mt. Pleasant. All delegates reported their schools on the upward trend.

It was then decided that the different schools be grouped and that a group superintendent be appointed for each district. A committee was appointed to do this grouping, and the result was as follows: No. 1, Donald Merchant—Cane Creek, Center Hill, Collins Chapel, Jemison, Macedonia No. 2, Mineral Springs, New Salem, Oak Grove, Providence, Thorsby, Union Grove, and Pleasant Hill. No. 2, S. J. M. Webb—Free Springs, Macedonia No. 1, Mars Hill, Mulberry, New Cedron, Pates Chapel, Pilgrims Rest, Pleasant Grove No. 1, Pleasant Grove No. 2, Sardis and Union Springs. No. 3, J. E. Miner—Bethsalem, Chestnut Creek, Corinth, Friendship, Highland, Liberty Hill, Maple Springs, Poplar Springs, Refuge, Shiloh and Mt. Pleasant.

It was decided that, according to the state plan, a county-wide convention be held annually, and that a monthly meeting be held in each district by the superintendents, teachers, and other leaders of the schools of each district. A more complete program will be worked out by Mr. Oden and the other officers in the near future.

A round table discussion of the plans and needs of the Sunday schools was opened with a fine talk by Rev. Lawrence and followed with remarks by Prof. Earl Thomas, Mr. Charlie Wilkins and Mr. Davis Cooper. Mrs. Davis Cooper was called upon to speak, and she came forward with a short but very pointed and interesting talk. This brought the program to a close, and the dismission prayer was offered by Prof. I. J. Quinn.—T. E. Wyatt, Secretary.

FOUR ARRESTED LAST WEEK

The office of Sheriff W. H. Gillespie reports four arrests during the past week. Two were for assault and battery, and two were for violating the prohibition law.

Justice of the peace T. W. Bryan, and his constable, Mr. Nivens, report the arrest Sunday afternoon of one man for purgery. He was released on bond.

WANTED TO EXCHANGE

A farmer wants to exchange syrup and peas for seventh grade school books. If you are interested, see Mrs. Stapp.

BAPTIST MOVEMENT GATHERS MOMENTUM

The movement among Southern Baptists, launched at their convention in Birmingham last May, to Raise during 1932, $40,000,000 with which to meet outstanding obligations and to take care of current needs of their local churches and all their denominational enterprises, is gathering momentum from day to day, according to information received from the headquarters of the Promotion Committee of Southern Baptists in Knoxville, Tennessee. Of this amount, $31,000,000 will be used for the local church expenses, it is proposed, and the remainder, $9,000,000, will go to the missionary, educational, and benevolent causes of the denomination.

In all the Southern states a promotion committee has been elected. In Alabama Dr. J. R. Hobbs, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Birmingham, is chariman of the committee and Dr. L. E. Barton, secretary of the Executive Board of the State Baptist Convention, is general director. Dr. Barton is visiting the associations at the present time and reports much progress in the local organizations, looking to the Every-member Convass for, funds, November 29 through December 6. It is hoped that all the Baptist churches will be ready to make the canvass at that time.

IN MEMORY OF REV. A. D. HUETT

(By Members of Concord Church)

Rev. A. D. Huett, pastor of Concord Baptist Church at Dargin, died August 27, 1931, at the age of 25 years. He resided in Birmingham and had been a student of Howard College for three years. Funeral services were held at Clanton Baptist Church Saturday, August 29, at 2:00 p. m., and the last respects of his great host of friends were paid to him. The remains were laid at rest in Samaria Cemetery near Clanton.

We deeply sympathize with the bereaved ones for we know what it means to have loved him and then have to give him up. His place can never be filled in the hearts of his many, many friends. He was a true shepherd to his people, and at no time was he too busy or in too great a hurry to help and encourage those who asked his advice.

Since he has been associated with our church, having assisted in three revivals and serving as pastor for a year, more than fifty additions have been made to our church.

He had a magnetic influence over the young people and they also loved him greatly. Though the burden seems too heavy to bear, we must trust in Him who doeth all things for the best.

Rev. Huett was like sunshine to a burdened heart. His ever-present smile was known and loved by all who knew him. It seemed to radiate the spirit of Christ. He was a great speaker and every sermon was a divinely-inspired message to the hearts of his listeners. He was unexcelled in the delivery of God's word. His Christ-like influence commanded the most profound attention from his audience always. His whole heart and life was wrapped up in his great work, the ministry. To win souls for his Master was his great aim for life. He was preparing himself for this great life work at the time of his death. His fellow-students and the professors of Howard College testify to his wonderful personality, character, ambition and ambition and preserverance.

It is hard to understand why he was taken while so young and it seemed that his work was just begun. His future looked so bright and with his great influence and ambitions, his life would have meant so much for Christ. But no saint dies too young, and the all-knowing omnipotent God has great things for him to do above.

And yet he is not dead to us. His life will live on in our hearts and his influence will ever be a source of comfort and an inspiration to help us live closer to our Master.—Alabama Baptist.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES

The Progressive Farmer, a conservative and also a progressive farm paper published at Birmingham, favors a federal act reducing cotton acreage next year to two-thirds of the 1931 acreage; and, if necessary, a 15 per cent reduction in 1933 from the 1932 acreag.e

The proposal of Governor Huey Long of Louisiana for a cotton production holiday was decisively rejected by the Texas legislature, thereby killing the proposition from a national standpoint. Without Texas, where a third of the cotton is produced, a cotton holiday would not be effective. That state expects, however a substantial reduction in the avreage next year.

Sweets in liquid form are being sold by Alabama farmers this fall. They have both sorghum and sugar cane syrup for sop'n' at home, plus enough for their urban friends. The Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn is helping them to sell it.

HAYNES NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McShinty spent last week end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jackson and son, C. E., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith of Evergreen.

Quite a number attended preaching at Mrs. C. H. Roy's Sunday evening. We were glad to see so many out, and invite them back every first Sunday evening.

Betsy Jones spent Saturday night with Mildred Herrod.

Mrs. A. W. McShinty is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith.

Dr. and Mrs. John Eiland and children, Mr. Jemmie Deramus, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Boone and daughter, Mildred, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roy.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Billingsley spent Saturday night with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Traywick.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Billingsley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Jones.

Misses Sara and Lanella Gaines and Mr. O. O. Jones motored to Clanton Monday.

Miss Ruth Deramus was dinner guest of Misses Sara and Margaret Jones.

Mrs. W. H. and Miss Mary Lou Gaines spent last Saturday in Montgomery.

Miss Evelyn Deramus spent last Wednesday night with Ruth Deramus.

Miss Zula Parnell, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. N. Gaines, left Saturday for Montgomery.

Mrs. Laura Boone returned to her home in Verbena Sunday after spending a while with Mrs. C. H. Roy.

Mrs. E. B. Gaines spent Sunday with Mrs. O. O. Jones.

Mrs. G. C. Traywick attended the Sunday school convention at Jones Sunday afternoon.

HELP FOR WAR ORPHANS

It was brought to the attention of the American Legion at the meeting Monday night that a recent enactment of the State Legislature makes a generous offer to orphans of World War soldiers in helping them to secure an education.

The law provides that the State Department of Education may offer scholarships of $150 in value to any boy or girl between 16 and 21 years of age, whose father was killed in the World War or died in the service from any cause.

These scholarships may be used in any State institution of learning. The attention of the public is directed to this provision of our State law, with the hope that any boy or girl who is entitled to this help may be reminded of it and brought to avail himself or herself of this privilege.

Officials of the American Legion or the Legion Auxiliary can furnish full details to anyone intertested.

Set of 6 knives and 6 forks (wooden handles) at Fox's for 99c.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and
diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered
Druggist

We have moved back to
Masonic Building

THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Benson, Beat 3	Oct. 8	Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20
Verbena, Beat 5	Oct. 9	Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21
Mountain Creek, Beat 5	Oct. 10	Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22
Enterprise, Beat 6	Oct. 12	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Kincheon, Beat 6	Oct. 13	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Maplesville, Beat 7	Oct. 14	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19	Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.
AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 11

PAUL IN PHILIPPI

GOLDEN TEXT—Rejoice in the Lord alway: and again I say, Rejoice.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:16-40; Phil. 4:4-9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in Prison.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in Prison.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Jailer Led Captive.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Initial Victories in Europe.

I. Paul and Silas in Jail (vv. 16-26).

1. The occasion (vv. 16-24). As the missionaries went out from day to day to the place of prayer they were accosted by a young woman possessed by a spirit of divination. She was owned by a syndicate of men who derived large gain from her soothsaying. Her utterances as she followed the missionaries became a great annoyance to Paul who in the name of Jesus Christ commanded the evil spirit to come out of her. The evil spirit immediately obeyed Paul's command. When the demon was cast out the supernatural power of the maid was gone. Therefore, the source of revenue was at an end, and this so exasperated her owners that they brought Paul and Silas before the magistrates on a false charge.

Without any opportunity to defend themselves, Paul and Silas were stripped and beaten by the angry mob and then remanded to jail where they were made fast by stocks.

2. Their behavior in jail (v. 25). They prayed and sang hymns to God. It seems quite natural that they should pray under such circumstances, but to sing hymns is astonishing to all who have not come into the possession of the grace of God in Jesus Christ. Even with their backs lacerated and smarting, with their feet fast in the stocks, compelling the most painful attitude in the dungeon darkness of the inner prison with extreme uncertainty before them, their hearts went up to God in gratitude.

3. Their deliverance (v. 26). The Lord wrought deliverance by sending a great earthquakes which opened the prison doors and removed the chains from off their hands. The earthquake cannot be explained on natural grounds. Earthquakes do not throw bolted doors open and unclasp fetters from men's hands.

II. The Conversion of the Jailer (vv. 27-34).

The jailor's sympathy did not go out very far for the prisoners, for as soon as they were made secure he went to sleep. Being suddenly aroused from slumber by the earthquake, he was about to kill himself, whereupon Paul assured him that the prisoners were all safe. What he had heard of their preaching, and now what he experienced caused him to come as a humble inquirer after salvation. He was convicted of sin and felt the need of a Savior. Paul clearly pointed out the way to be saved. He said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." The word "believe" means "to trust and fully obey." The following facts prove that the jailor was saved:

1. Transformation from brutality to tenderness (v. 33). He who a little while ago could with impunity lay on the cruel lashes is now disposed to dress the wounds of the prisoners.

2. Confession of Christ in baptism (v. 33). Those who have experienced the saving grace of God are willing to confess their faith in Christ under all circumstances.

3. He set meat before them (v. 34).

4. His whole household was baptized (v. 33). When a man's family is willing to follow him, you may be sure that his conversion is genuine.

III. The Magistrates Humbled (vv. 35-40).

1. The prisoners ordered released (vv. 35, 36). The earthquake brought fear upon the magistrates and thus moved them to release the prisoners.

2. Paul's refusal to go (v. 37). The ground of his refusal was that their rights as Roman citizens had been violated. They demanded public vindication. The magistrates were guilty of serious offense. Paul was willing to suffer for Christ's sake, but he used the occasion to show them that persecuting men who preached the gospel was an offense against the law of God and man.

3. Brought out of prison by the officers (vv. 38, 39).

4. Returned to the house of Lydia (v. 40). Upon their public vindication, Paul and Silas left the prison and entered the house of Lydia. After ministering comfort to the brethren, they took their departure.

IV. Always Rejoicing (Phil. 4:4-9). The presence of the Lord Jesus Christ gives such peace that singing God's praises is possible even in prison.

The Pastor Says:

Never tell a young person that anything cannot be done. God may have been waiting for centuries for somebody ignorant enough of the impossible to do that thing.—John Andrew Holmes.

Read Your Bible

Read your Bible, make it the first morning business of your life to understand some portion of it clearly, and your daily business to obey it in all that you do understand.—Ruskin.

Pop corn poppers, all sizes, at Fox's.

"I want to tell you — that red-blood cells are the very foundation of sturdy health" — worth knowing:

—let's pause a moment to give those vital red cells the consideration they deserve. They mean so much for better health and happiness.

If your blood count is low why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

S.S.S.
Builds Sturdy Health

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO
DALLAS COMPRESS CO.
Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).
Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interrior cotton market in the State.
Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale.
Ample space for storing this year's crop.
Dallas Compress Co.
SELMA, ALABAMA

ADDING MACHINE PAPER
Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c
The Union-Banner
PHONE 63

OLD TIME SINGING

Remember our annual Christian Harmony Singing Convention at Alpine Church, west of Pletcher, next Sunday, October 11. We hope for a great day of praise for the Lord and invite everybody to come and be with us.—J. N. Scott.

CLASSING OF COTTON STIMULATES POOLING

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 5.—Final classing service now being rendered by the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association at 31 points in the State is proving to be a big stimulus in the pooling of cotton, according to J. A. Beaty, acting general manager.

Farmers carry a sample to these classing offices and get a final report on grade, weight, and staple the day they deliver," Beaty said. "This is proving attractive since growers recognize the advantage of seeing their cotton classed." This classing service at 31 points also enables growers to draw immediately a draft on the Association for the full authorized advance.

In counties where classers are not located members are delivering to warehouses designated by the association or to railroad platforms and drawing on the association a draft for the flat advance which is brought up to a full advance as soon as the cotton can be classed. The full advance on cotton in the annual pool is within one cent per pound of the value at the time of delivery. The grower retains an equity in the cotton and places himself in position to take advantage of any improvement in the price.

Mr. Beaty said that growers are being attracted to cooperative marketing this year more than ever before due to the fact that they are realizing that the association is in position to give fair and impartial classing and allow the full premiums being paid by the mills for superior cotton.

ICE CREAM SUPPER, CONCORD

There will be an ice cream supper at Concord Church, two and one-half miles north of Billingsley, next Saturday night, October 10. Come and bring your friends with you. The proceeds from this supper will go for the benefit of Concord Church.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

For the fifth time in six years, Kappa Nu fraternity has been awarded the Pan-Hellenic scholarship cup. The award was made for the 1930-1931 session. Zeta Beta Tau was second and Delta Chi third.

Jack Dunn, Gadsden, was elected head cheer leader of the University of Alabama by the student body. He will lead the organized cheering section at all athletic contests, and will receive a letter in athletics at the end of the season.

Assistant cheer leaders include Byron Lowman, Tuscaloosa; Ernest Planck, Mobile; and James Waddell, Tuscaloosa.

The department of aeronautical engineering at the University of Alabama has taken possession of new quarters in the building formerly occupied by the post office and supply store. The structure was erected several years ago and is modern in every respect. The building will be used as an aeronautical shop.

Sixty-three students at the University of Alabama were elected to membership in Blackfriars dramatic society, T. Earle Johnson, director, announces. These students were elected on the basis of dramatic ability displayed in try-outs.

Seven social fraternities at the University of Alabama have adopted the house-mother plan. The house-mother acts as official chaperone at all fraternity functions.

German Remedy Stops 30 - Year Constipation

"For 30 years I had a bad stomach and constipation. Souring food from stomach choked me. Since taking Adlerika I am a new woman. Constipation is a thing of the past." —Alice Burns.

Most remedies reach only lower bowel. That is why you must take them often. But this simple German remedy, Adlerika, washes out BOTH upper and lower bowel. It brings out all gas and rids you of poison you would never believe was in your system. Even the FIRST dose will surpsise you.—Upchurch Drug Co.

No. 17 Galvanized coal hod. Special for 49c at Fox's.

WANTED

Listing on all Farm Property for sale in Chilton County. Prefer property as near Clanton as possible. If you have property for sale see or write

J. E. POPWELL

HAYS BUILDING, CLANTON, or
101-104 EXCHANGE BUILDING, BIRMINGHAM.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

I, W. H. Gillespie, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1931, an election will be held at the several polling places in Chilton County, Alabama, for a vote by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, in the manner and form and places as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, namely:

"Article XX-B. Section 1. The State is authorized to engage in the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges in the State of Alabama. To this end and for these purposes, the State is authorized to appropriate funds and for construction purposes only the State is authorized also to issue and sell interest-bearing negotiable State bonds in addition to those already authorized and sold under Article XX and XX-A, as amendments to the Constitution of 1901, in an amount not to exceed the sum of twenty-five million ($25,000,000.00), to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series, maturing at such times as may be provided by law, and all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not greater than six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall be sold at a price not less than par value thereof.

Section 2. The State Highway Commission or Highway Department shall locate, construct and maintain highways, bridges and State trunk roads so as to connect each county seat with the county seat of the adjoining county by the most direct or most feasible route by a permanent road, having due regard for the public welfare, and shall connect the county seats of the several border counties at or near the state line with a public highway in the border states. Provided, that in counties which are divided into two or more judicial divisions in each of which regular terms of the circuit court are held, the places where said terms of court are held, shall likewise be connected with each other.

Section 3. The proceeds of said bonds shall be used for construction and|or surfacing of roads and construction and|or repairing bridges, but not for maintenance or discharging of contract debts, liability or obligations existing prior to the adoption of this amendment.

Section 4. Eighteen million four hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($18,425,000.00) of the proceeds of said bonds shall be set aside by the Governor and apportioned in amounts of two hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($275,000.00) to each of the respective counties of the State which must be expended by the State Highway Department in each of said counties for construction, which shall include hard surfacing, of existing and also new public roads and bridges therein. The remaining proceeds of said bonds shall be used for the construction, which shall include surfacing, of existing, or new highways and constructing or repairing bridges in the State.

Section 5. The proceeds of such bonds shall be kept separate and apart from all other funds and no part of the same shall ever be used in honoring a warrant not legally drawn against such proceeds.

Section 6. There is hereby levied and every distributor, retail dealer or storer shall pay an excise tax of one cent per gallon upon the selling, distributing or withdrawing from storage for any use gasoline, provided, however, that the excise tax is not levied upon the sale of gasoline in interstate commerce, and provided further that where this excise tax shall have been paid by a distributor or by a retail dealer or storer such payment shall be sufficient, the intention being that this tax shall not be paid but once. The terms 'distributor,' 'retail dealer,' 'storer,' 'selling,' 'distributing,' 'withdrawing' and 'gasoline' are used as the same are used in existing gasoline excise tax laws of the State and shall be so construed, and all rights, duties, liabilities, penalties, powers and methods pertaining to the collection of gasoline excise taxes under such existing laws of the State shall apply to the collection, payment and accounting for the within excise tax, provided, the Legislature may limit, extend or further define the same. The excise tax of one cent herein levied shall be in addition to the excise gasoline taxes provided by existing laws of the State, but this section shall not be construed in any way as limiting the power of the Legislature to increase or decrease this or any other gasoline tax.

Section 7. The one cent excise tax hereinbefore levied shall be used first to create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and the interest on the bonds herein authorized, and, second, by the State for the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges of this State.

Section 8. The bonds herein authorized when issued shall be a direct obligation of the State, and for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest thereon the full faith and credit of the State is hereby irrevocably pledged and such bonds shall be exempt forever from taxes of every kind.

Section 9. The bonds herein authorized shall be issued and sold in the same manner by a Bond Commission as set forth, defined and prescribed in Article 5 of Chapter 32, Code of Alabama, 1923.

Section 10. That House Bill No. 1204 by Mr. Tunstall, if and when passed by both houses of he Legislature of Alabama of 1931 and approved by the Governor and being, "A bill to be entitled an act to impose, for the use and purpose of surviving, preserving, maintaining, constructing and regulating the use of public roads and bridges in the State of Alabama, an excise tax on all persons, companies, agencies, corporations, and associations who sell, distribute, store or draw from storage for any purpose whatsoever, gasoline or any other liquid motor fuel or devices or any substitute therefor within the State of Alabama; providing for the collection of such excise tax and the payment of same into the State Treasury; providing for the enforcement of this act and fixing a penalty for the violation of the provisions hereof; providing that the said excise tax so imposed shall be in addition to all other excise tax now imposed by law; and, providing that freight agents or railroads and all agents of all transportation companies operating within the State of Alabama and who ransport motor fuels shall report to the State Tax Commission all shipments of gasoline or any substitut therefor, received at any of their stations within the State," be and the same is hereby ratified, confirmed and validated and made constitutional as a law, and such ratification, confirmation, validation and constitutionally as a law, shall, according to the terms thereof when finally passed, inn the manner aforesaid, take effect and be effective on the day of the passage of said bill by both houses of the Legislature of Alabama of 1931, and approved by the Governor, as fully as if said bill was set out in words and figures herein.".

This, the first day of October, 1931.

W. H. GILLESPIE,
10-1-4t-ch. Sheriff Chilton County, Ala.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at
Farmers Hardware Co.

PARTY ON TRIP TO MIAMI

A caravan of automobiles from Clanton Motors, headed for the Shackleford place in Miami, Florida, left Clanton at two o'clock last Sunday morning. The party was in charge of Hardy Hurt, and consisted of the following drivers, each in command of a motor vehicle:

Foster Miller, Arthur Burnett, Dick Kemp, Paul Marcus, Stanley Nivens, R. J. Jones, Macy Jones, Chick Fiquett, Charles Simpson.

When the boys have delivered their charges to the proper place in Miami, they will all return together on a Ford truck.

Itchy Toes

Hand Ringworm, Athlete's Foot

Why suffer from the queer skin disease causing severe itching of toes and feet, cracking, peeling skin, blisters, Ringworm, Trench Foot or Crotch Itch, when you can avoid infection and quickly heal your skin with Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm? Based on the famous English Hospital formula, discovered by a leading London skin specialist, Dr. Nixon's Nixoderm acts with amazing speed, because designed for this particular skin disease. Nixoderm is guaranteed. It must stop itch and quickly heal your skin or the small cost will be refunded.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

Locals

Misses Sue Sharp, Ethel Cagle and Florene Ogletree of Mitchell Dam spent Monday with friends in Clanton.

Prof. P. L. Williams of Lawley Route 1 was in Clanton Monday and Tuesday attending the teachers institute. Mr. Williams is teaching this year at Shoults schoolhouse near Lawley. For the past three years he has been doing junior high school work in Bibb Connty. Previous to that he taught ten years in Calhoun County. Prof. Williams was raised in Clay County, near Goodwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam E. Smith and children of Birmingham were in Clanton Saturday and Sunday. They attended the funeral of Mrs. Luther Foshee at the Baptist Church Saturday afternoon.

Mr. C. H. Cooper of Maplesville Route 1 was in Clanton Monday attending to some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Wyatt and daughter spent last Thursday in Montgomery visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jeff Mims of Jasper spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives here and at Providence in Beat 16.

If you want a stove or range see W. W. Fox.

Dr. A. F. Harman, state superintendent of education at Montgomery, thinks that the people of Alabama will have to resort to more fees to keep their schools running as long as they should. Present conditions require fees, he said.

Jesse Sam Gowan has gone back to school at the Atlanta Dental College. He has this year and next to finish his course in dentistry.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Newton of Mitchell Dam were in Clanton Monday night to attend the meetings of the American Legion and the Auxiliary.

Prof. J. P. Montgomery, of Jemison, attended the American Legion meeting in Clanton Monday night.

Daddy Fox is building a nice ten-cent counter at his store. He will have it packed full of dime bargains in the next day or two. Will tell you more about it next week. In the meatime, it would pay you to visit his store and see what he has got fresh on his mind. The old Fox is always up to new tricks.

Mr. George Lamar of Washington, D. C., was the guest of his sister, Mrs. G. L. Phillips, last week.

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade will return Friday from Stafford Springs, Mississippi, after an absence of two weeks.

See our new 10-cent counter for many nice bargains.

Howard Lamar, Jr., of Jacksonville, Florida, was a visitor to Mrs. G. L. Phillips last week.

Mrs. Annie Cole of Birmingham is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. L. Phillips, this week.

Mesdames Lake Dunkin, Ned Duke and Albert Smith of Prattville were visitors to Clanton last week.

Messrs. Jesse Sam Gowan, Joe Earl Gowan, John Ponder Lawrence and Julian Evans spent last Thursday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hudgins of Aliceville left Tuesday for Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Powers of Lay Dam were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stapp Sunday.

Mrs. W. C. Robinson went to Bessemer and Ensley Tuesday to make arrangements for removing two stocks of goods to her store in Clanton. She will open Friday of this week with a great sale of merchandise.

Joe Earl Gowan was a visitor to Birmingham last Sunday.

Jesse Baker went to Montgomery on business Tuesday.

SINGING AT WALNUT CREEK NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Central Singing Society meets at Walnut Creek next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. Bring both Stamps and Henson books. We hope to have a supply of the Henson books on hand next Sunday afternoon.

The society met at Chestnut Creek last Sunday afternoon. The secretary was not present on account of having to attend the Sunday School Convention at New Salem, but reports from some singers who were there indicate that the singing was rather dry. There seems to have been plenty of listeners, but the singers were scattering, according to reports.

There must be some effort put forth to get more life into our singing. The main trouble is new books; and I would suggest that communities get together in groups at night and practice up on the new songs. No class can do good singing without some practice, and the place to practice is in a small crowd where plenty of time can be given to learn each song.

Carbide and lava tips can be bought at Fox's.

LEGION ENDORSES THE COUNTY AGENT

At the regular monthly meeting of Chilton County Post of the American Legion, held at the courthouse Monday night, the matter of continuing the work of the County Agent in Chilton County was a very interesting subject to the Legionaires.

When the question of the election on the County Agent to be held on November 3 was explained, and a number of other talks made concerning the work of the County Agent in our county, the meeting unanimously adopted a resolution declaring in favor of continuing the services of the County Agent, and requesting the Court of County Commissioners to continue to appropriate the money necessary out of the county funds to carry on the work.

The resolution not only endorsed the work and requested the Commissioners to continue it, but made an appeal to every man and woman in the county to get busy and bring the importance of the matter to the attention of the people and seek to get every citizen of the county to vote in favor of the work on November 3.

Following is a copy of the resolution which was adopted:

In view of the fact that an election has been called in Chilton County for November 3 to determine whether or not the majority of the voters of Chilton County want the work of the County Agent to be continued, we, the members of Chilton County Post No. 6 of the American Legion, in regular session, hereby go on record as favoring the continuation of the County Agent work, and appeal to our citizenship to vote for the continuation of the work at the election on November 3.

We believe the farmers of our county have been greatly benefitted by the work of our county agent, and further, that they have great need for the help that can and will be available to them through the continuation of the work in the future; that our county is able to furnish the farmers with the advantages of having a county agent; and that it would be a serious mistake to cut off this source of help from our farmers at this time.

UNION GROVE

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. at this place is just fine. The Sunday school just keeps growing, and we want to keep it that way.

Next Saturday night, Sunday at eleven o'clock, and Sunday night, are our regular preaching times. We invite everybody to attend these services. Preaching by the pastor, Rev. J. Robert Bean.

B. Y. P. U. Sunday night at 6:30, and preaching at 7:30.

The United Singing Society will meet here Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. All singers and listeners are invited to attend.

GRAND JURY REPORT

State of Alabama, Chilton County: Circuit Court of said County and State.

To Honorable Geo. F. Smoot, as Judge of said Court.

The grand jury impaneled for the July term of said Court, after receiving your Honor's able and instructive charge, entered upon its investigations of the matters that came before it and herewith submits the following report:

During its investigation 33 cases and 50 witnesses have been examined and 28 true bills are herewith returned.

We have examined the fee book of the Probate Judge and find it neatly kept and correct in so far as we are able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various county officials and find that they are ample for the protection of the public, and on our examination of the Sheriff's account with the State for feeding prisoners we find it being kept in accordance with the law. We find on our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education that his books, records and papers are being kept neatly and in accordance with the law in so far as we were able to ascertain.

The grand jury inspected the county jail and find that it is being repaired and that it is not being used during the progress of the repairs for keeping prisoners. The prisoners of the county are being kept in the Montgomery County jail. On our inspection of the almshouse we found 21 inmates, of which 10 were women and 11 men, all of them being cared for as well as the present arrangements will permit.

We recommend to the proper authorities that provision be made to lock the doors to the auditorium of the courthouse and that it be kept locked at night.

Sheriff Gillespie and his deputies were most courteous to us during our investigation and rendered us valuable assistance in the dispatch of the business before us, all of which we greatly appreciate.

The grand jury wishes especially to thank your Honor for the very able charge given us when we were first empaneled. It has been most helpful to us throughout all our investigations.

Now having complied to the best of our ability with your Honor's charge, we respectfully ask that we be dismissed until such time as your Honor may see fit and think proper to have us again convened.

This September 30, 1931.

F. J. CALLEN,
Foreman.

State of Alabama, Chilton County: To the Honorable Judge of Probate and Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County, Alabama:

I. J. Z. Mims, clerk of Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, as per order of the Honorable Geo. F. Smoot, Judge of 19th Judicial Circuit of Alabama, hereby certify unto your Honorable body that the above and foregoing is a true, complete and exact copy of the report of the grand jury of the Chilton County, Alabama, duly and legally impaneled for the July term, 1931, of the Circuit Court of said County, filed in this office on this September 30th, 1931.

Witness my hand this 30th day of September, 1931.

J. Z. MIMS,
Clerk of Circuit Court, Chilton County, Alabama.

BACK AGAIN

I want my friends and former customers to know that I will be open for business again next Saturday, with a full line of ripe apples, bananas, other fruits and candy. I will be located next door below the postoffice. Come to see me when you are in Clanton. Thank you.

JOHN GORE
CLANTON, ALABAMA

GULF Venom KILLS Flies and Mosquitoes Roaches, Ants Moths, Bed-Bugs

Childbirth Left Her Thin, Worn, Nervous

"After the birth of my baby, I was thin, nervous and run-down. From the first bottle of Vinol, I improved. It gave me new strength and I gained weight."—Mrs. M. Gunstone.

Vinol supplies just the elements of iron, lime and cod liver peptone needed by thin, weak, nervous women, and men. Even the FIRST bottle builds up strength, makes new red blood, peps up appetite and brings sound sleep. Get a bottle of Vinol today!—Upchurch Drug Co.

Phone One-One-One
or Write
The James Sign Shop
CLANTON, ALA.
Outdoor
Painted Display Advertising

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic
West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

666
LIQUID OR TABLETS
Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.
666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

Feed your Chickens
And They Will Feed You

Your hens have an easy job. Their job is to put eggs together. One yolk, one white, and one shell. But every part must be there just when it's needed and in the right proportion.

A Hen Can't Lay Half An Egg

Nature gives the hen yolks the day she is hatched. The developing of these yolks into finished eggs is where man helps or hinders the work that nature has started. He helps or hinders in the manufacture of the egg by the scratch and laying mash he feeds the hen.

Purina Laying Chows

Are properly balanced to help in the egg-making, and there's a feed for every condition. Whether you have home-grown grain or not, we have a feed to fit your need.

Our stocks are always fresh and low in price because we buy only in large quantities for your benefit.

THESE PRICES ARE LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE
Purina Laying Mash $2.10
Purina Scratch Feed 1.75
WE ALSO HAVE A CARLOAD OF SHORTS, FLOUR
Huegely's Shorts, 17 per cent protein $1.20
Huegely's Flour, 24 lb. bag 50c
This is a high grade flour at a low price.

We are now offering dairy feed for $1.25 and up.
We pay the highest cash price for POULTRY and EGGS.

J. L. RUFFIN
CLANTON ALABAMA

Profitable feeds for livestock and poultry. They lower your cost of production and make you more profits.

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES
Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at
The James Sign Shop
Clanton, Alabama

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Alabama, as Second Class Mail Matter, under Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 63 PEOPLES PHONE

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

With financial difficulties in Europe seemingly multiplying, we will doubtless hear a great deal more during the next few months about debt cancellation and the wiping out of reparations payments. There will be a veritable flood of propaganda in the United States and we will be told once more that Uncle Sam is the world's greatest Shylock, if he does not cancel these debts and let Mr. American Taxpayer foot the bill. We will be informed that Europe is about to totter over the abyss and that only the cancellation of the debts will save her.

Well, how about it anyhow? Do the international debts form the one big obstacle to recovery from the depression? There is room for more than serious doubt on the subject. It is not to be forgotten that England, France, and Italy have collected from Germany all the money they have paid on the debts they have discharged to the United States. And in the case of France and Italy, these two nations have collected much more than enough; France something like ninety millions more a year. So it is difficult to see where these countries have been drained to pay their honest obligations to Uncle Sam.

And as for Germany, although that nation's finances are now in a serious plight, let it be remembered that the Reich has borrowed from Uncle Sam more than enough money to pay the reparations which it has sent to the victorious allied nations. Much of the borrowed money, indeed, has gone into public improvements, many of which were not needed and were only made because the money could be had so easily.

Just what is the matter, then, aside from the general deflation following the World War? The matter has to do in part with armaments. In spite of the terrible sufferings encountered in the World War, Europe is not yet satisfied to take the road to peace. The victories nations having imposed on the defeated ones a peace which is burdensome and in some instances unjust, are fearful lest the peace cannot be maintained, and are arming to the limit, while the defeated nations are only waiting for the opportunity to revise the peace treaties. Everywhere there is talk of peace, but nowhere, among the former enemies, any real desire for peace. As the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel recently put it:

"Nearly thirteen years have gone by since the armistice was signed. That should have afforded the wrangling nations of the Old World ample time to adjust their disputes and to establish cooperation and mutual confidence. They have had the League, to which they have invited us to adhere as a member. But what have they done with the League? They have made the Locarno and Kellogg-Briand treaties and a network of pacts one with another, 'to prevent war.' Yet their aggregate armament exceeds that of 1914 (the year in which the World War broke out) and the war feeling still prevails.

"By their continuance of the pre-war philosophy as the motivation of their political behavior, the European nations have depressed industry and commerce the world around, and they have seriously impaired their own credit. Among the chief advocates of war debt cancellation just now are certain prominent bankers. It is fair, therefore, to stress this point: No wise banker would grant more time, much less grant more credit, to an individual debtor who had thus wasted his substance. And nations are but groups of individuals."

Measured with the money which is spent for armament, the part of the budget payment is small indeed in comparison. What is needed therefore is real arms revision, if this can be brought about. It cannot, of course, be brought about, until there is a genuine desire for peace in Europe. The biggest step in this direction would be an economic and political agreement between France and Germany. Whether this can be brought about is indeed doubtful, but until it is brought about, there is little chance for real peace and real arms reduction in Europe. A genuine agreement between France and Germany would immediately stabilize the continent, because it would dominate the continent for years to come.

All this talk of debt cancellation is beside the point. If the international financiers and European politicians want real relief from present intolerable conditions let them pay less attention to debt cancellation and more attention to bringing about real peace between France and Germany. This accomplished, the reast will be easy. Until it is accomplished there will be no real stability in Europe.

We used to laugh at those detective yarns in which the super-sleuth could disguise himself so that his best friend wouldn't know him; but now that we have noted what funny things these new Eugenia hats do to the appearance of some of our girl friends we are willing to believe most anything.

One way to help unemployment would be to put everybody who has no work on one of the relief commissions.

Maybe they are Princess Eugenie hats but to us they are all more or less turtle-backs.

60 PER CENT VALUATION

S. R. Butler, Alabama's one-man tax commission, admits that the property of the Alabama Power Company in this state is assessed at not more than 45 per cent appraisal prescribed by law.

Thus Butler is openly failing to perform his sworn duty as tax commissioner. But Butler's critics charge that the power company's assessments in reality total far less than 45 per cent of the porperty's real value.

A brief glance at the data used in the recent hearings in Montgomery shows that the total assessments against the power company of $57,000,000 amount to only 41 per cent of the $139,000,000 valuation allowed by the public service commission as a basis for determining what rates the concern may charge the public in order to get a fair return on its investment.

It is even more significant, it would seem, to note that the assessments total only 33 per cent of the assets listed by the company on its balance sheet for the past fiscal year.

Butler and his aide, Henry T. Knight, defend this admitted under-assessment by saying that property over the whole state is under-assessed. On an average, private property in Alabama is assessed only at 33 per cent of its actual value, they say.

If this is true it merely lays on Butler the task of correcting the under-assessment of not only the property of the utilities, but also all other property not now bearing a 60 per cent tax valuation.

There is this difference between the private property owner and the Alabama Power Company when it comes to having property assessed. The private property owner is under no compulsion to give a fair and honest valuation of his property. Since his neighbor gets by with a 30 per cent assessment, so will he, if he can.

But the Alabama Power Company, in theory, at least, must seek a fairly adequate valuation of its property as a basis for determining what rates it may charge the public for electricty. And then the state tax commission has this valuation at its disposal when it appraises the property for tax purposes.

Auto owners over the state are having a similar experience just now in paying the ad valorem tax on their machies.

The tax assessor springs on them the "Automobile Blue Book," giving fairly accurate values for all cars of whatever models. Then he figures what 60 per cent of this valuation is, and the owner pays taxes on that amount.

Say to him, "Mr. Assessor, private property over the state as a whole is appraised at only 33 per cent of its rightful value, and I want my car assessed at the same rate," and he will laught at you.

But the Alabama Power Company—and other utilities—are making the same plea and are getting by with it.

If the law which prescribes that taxes shall be collected on 60 per cent of the actual property value is unfair, then it should be changed, but until it is changed it should be followed by those charged with the responsibility.—Birmingham Post.

The editorial wisecrackers used to make fun of the Fourth of July orator who waved the flag and made the eagle scream, but in these days of internationalism a little flag waving and eagle screaming might be a good thing.

"One of the most common causes of deafness is trouble in the middle ear," says a doctor. Fortunately, we don't have to worry over that, having only two ears.—Roanoke Times.

To show you the fickleness of fame, William H. Crawford, who was Secretary of the Treasury a hundred years ago, has his picture on a new million dollar bill put out by the U. S. Treasury, and yet he is not as well known by the populace as Brother Crawford in the Amos and Andy repertoire.

Some Swiss historian has written 18,000 words on an ordinary postcard. Now if that had been a Scotchman we wouldn't have been so surprised.

An instance has just been discovered in England of a man who owned an apartment building worth $15,000 who has been drawing the government dole since last January, and whose three sons have been bringing home the dole, too. Well, by the end of the year he ought to be able to buy the apartment house across the street.

According to the Associated Press, Holland is less affected by the depression than other nations. Maybe this is partly due to the fact that the Dutch are supposed not to have very keen imaginations.

If those Southern legislatures really want to cut down the cotton crop next year, why don't they encourage the boll weevil industry?

Over 11,000,000 women were gainfully employed in 1930 according to the census figures and they outnumbered men in professional service. Why says that this is a young man's age?

There are still fifteen farms in the Burough of the Bronx, according to the New York Times. Well, wouldn't you like to see a real Tammany farmer?

A device has been perfected which enables a phonograph record to run for a half hour without stopping. We hope the people in the next apartment don't hear about this.

Latest reports from the southern legislative battlegrounds would indicate that next year the farmers, as usual, will plant as much cotton as they please.

In spite of the depression and the series of crises in Great Britain we note that the directors of the Bank of England met the other day and declared the usual dividend of six per cent.

All European observers agree that prosperity of that continent depends on the getting together of Germany and France. But it depends somewhat on what they get together with.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Is Somebody Waiting on You?—I suppose I might as well start off the old column this week with a little fun. Maybe it will turn out to be "ketchin' " or something like that, and make all of us feel better. I heard this little bit last Saturday, and I thought it was just too good to keep. A man went into a store here in Clanton and was standing around, looking at this and that, when he was approached and asked the usual question, "Is someone waiting on you?" Without seeming to try to be funny the man answered, "Yep, but I'm afraid they'll have to keep on waiting—I don't believe I'll be able to pay 'em this fall." We all got a good laugh out of it. How about you?

Aunt Sallie.—Last Sunday afternoon I took the Madam and our little ones out for a ride, and on the return home we happened to drive by the home of Uncle John Baker, out east of town. I thought I saw somebody I knew sitting peacefully on the porch, and decided to stop and talk with them a while. Sure enough, along with the home folks, there was Aunt Sallie Dupree, a good old pre-Civil War "mammy," and a more interesting person you never met. Aunt Sallie is always happy and talkative. After asking a few questions, I got her really wound up. "Sho', chile," she said, "co'se I can see good. I can see GOOD. See dat man comin' down de road yonder 'bout a quarter of a mile away? (I did.) Well, I can tell you right easy who dat is. See how he is swingin' dat lef' arm? I'd know dat motion anywhere. No, chile, (wagging her head, as white as snow, pretty near), folks now don't know what hard times is like. Me, I've seen real hard times. Folks gallivatin' 'round about hard times now! Shucks! When they get like I've seen 'em, when we skimmed up the dirt in the smoke-house and biled it to get salt, cause they ain't no other way o' gittin' none, dat's whut I calls hard times, and I've seen 'em jist that hard. No, I jest don't know ezackley how old I is. I was a big strippin' 'oman when de war come along. Many's de times I'se rode hoss-back and carried grub to men in de woods, and fed 'em and kep' 'em alive. Now, folks now's got a gravy train 'longside times I'se seen, and don't know it." To talk with Aunt Sallie is very, very interesting. Her never-ending stories of the old days ring true. Her hair is almost pure white, her age is well over the century mark, and yet she can thread a needle with the next one, and her step is fully as spry as any person of fifty you may meet. Does she hobble around? No, Sir! Not Aunt Sallie. And, like me, I believe that you, too, would find tears in your eyes as the good old "mammy" talks on and on of the old days, and I believe you would smile, too, as she chuckles like a contented child at recollection of some funny incident she relates. I thoroughly enjoy listening to Aunt Sallie. And I'm mighty proud to know her.

Begging Your Pardon.—In my little article last week regarding the banks in Chilton County, for some unaccountable reason, I overlooked The Bank of Thorsby. Now just ain't that sump'n? (Apologies to Amos 'n Andy). Now, up there at the head of this article it says I overlook nothing, but I must confess that I overlooked quite a bit when I missed The Bank of Thorsby. Instead of being something to be overlooked, The Bank of Thorsby is one on the very best we have. It ranks with the best of them, and is well able to take its place with financial institutions anywhere. And from the way the officers of The Bank of Thorsby brought the error to attention, they must really believe in their bank, too. Whee! What a roasting I got. Oh, well, anybody who could overlook anything as important as that ought to be roasted. But I am glad to have my errors pointed out to me, and too, I know very well that somebody is reading my comments now, else they wouldn't have found the error. Many thanks for calling attention to the matter. If I'm wrong, I will always be more than glad to make amends. Come to see me any time about anything you may want to correct. And now, that's that.

Our Schools.—Must our schools close and children lose a year in school just because some feather-headed politician gets it in his head to cut down on the Alabama Power Company's taxes? It looks that way. Now we can see the mistake our officials made when they altered our school system; there are enough trucks running every day, and enough money being spent on them to pretty near run the schools, I believe. Here's something I would like to know. Where is the wisdom in having so many fine school buildings, and such a fine transportation system to haul the children back and forth if we have no schools to deliver them to? In other words, we have the children, we have the school buildings, and we have the teachers; but it takes money to keep the three all hitched up so that they can do their work properly; and that's just what we don't have at present. We can't expect teachers to fit themselves for the teaching profession and go out day after day to teach the children when they have no idea when they will get their wages. Wouldn't it be better to have our children attend school, even if they don't have fine buildings to attend it in, rather than miss out altogether?

Something must be done, and that soon. Let us have your voice in the matter.

Busier Than Usual.—As a general rule, I have plenty time to gather glimpses from real life from here, there and everywhere; but this week I'm pretty busy and have not had much time to look about me. Keeping up with my work and rushing around trying to keep posted on the World Series has me busier than usual. So here goes.—Man in the Moon.

Premier Briand proposes an agreement among all nations, including the United States, to keep the peace by force of arms if necessary. Fifteen years ago we fought a war to end wars and now we are expected to go in on a proposition of going to war to prevent war. We doubt whether one would be more successful in accomplishing its purpose than the other.

"Federal Government Troubled About Ducks," says an editorial headline in the Chicago Tribune. And we presume next year it will be troubled with lame ducks.

DEPRESSION AND THE MARKET —

Ninety per cent of everything produced in the United States is consumed in the United States, yet on the plea that foreign trade has been disrupted—involving, after all only 10 per cent of our production—business generally has decreased 25 and 30 per cent.

Those figures should be pasted above the desk and stared at in amazement. They brand the country as the victim of mob hysteria. At a time when, through the practice of individualism, this country had got a corner on most of the world's automobiles, bath tubs, artists, silk stockings, and all that these stand for, the 10 per cent foreign market goes bad and the fingers of distrust grip the internal trade.

What if the whole foreign market was cut off—the whole 10 per cent—which certainly hasn't happened? The result would be troublesome, especially for those few industries which specialize in foreign shipments, such as the lumber industry of the Pacific Northwest; but a 10 per cent reduction of the prosperity of 1928 should not, after all, make any great difference in our national life. That margin could be absorbed, in fact, by the practice of efficiency and the elimination of wastes that crept into the system in the free and easy times. If our own people had been able, psychologically, to ignore foreign trade conditions as they were revealed in the autumn of 1929, the period of deflation would be hardly noticeable at home.

The tragedy is that under the present conditions, with most people who have money hiding in the financial storm cellars, much of the advantage which we won in the days of confidence is being lost to us. We forged ahead of other nations through mass production, mechanical supremacy and the strength given by a sense of density. But a rower cannot rest on his oars without the ones behind him catching up. We are still far ahead—what are we waiting for?—Portland Oregonian.

Clanton is to be congratulated on her automobile body manufacturing plant. The Perry Body Shop is now engaged in the building of four school buses, which when completed will "stack up" with the best work of this kind to be had anywhere. The bodies now under construction have been contracted for by the local county Board of Education and will be ready for delivery on next Monday. Information gleaned by The Sweeper is to the effect that this same concern is also to begin in the near future the building of some fifty bodies for school purposes for another county in this state.

This is the first time in history that the American people have been made pessimistic by bumper crops.

The first big league contest in the World Court between France and Germany came out 8 to 7 in favor of France.

Speaking of getting away from the gold standard, wouldn't William Jennings Bryan be enjoying a few silent chuckles if he were alive today and knew what was going on in the world?

A shark attacks swimmers off the coast of Florida now, according to press reports. The real estate sharks down there, however, have been quiescent for some time.

Some financial experts are advocating restoring prosperity by permitting the manufacture and sale of beer. Well, this might not make us rich, but it would make us feel that way—until the effects wore off on the morning after.

An Arkansas mathematician has trisected an angle with a compass and straight edge. Now if he will just solve the problem of what to do with the surplus cotton we will be getting somewhere.

The Democrats might blame the grasshopper plague on to President Hoover but we are doubtful whether even Pat Harrison would have the heart to charge him with the locusts that are ravaging the wheat fields down in Argentine.

Accordng to the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel, Iceland has only had three murders in sixty years. We were wondering why they didn't make any moving picture dramas with an Icelandic background.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of October 4, 1906

Prof. J. Alex Moore has been appointed president pro-tem. of Girls Institute at Montevallo.

A cyclone last week greatly damaged Mobile and Pensacola and almost completely wiped away Coden and Bayou-la-Batre, famous summer resorts.

At the residence of Mr. Clay Latham on September 26th, A. J. Hayes was married to Miss Mary A. Latham, Rev. W. J. Ruddick officiating.

Judge J. J. Mitchell of Lauderdale County, who edited the Chilton Courier here thirty-five years ago, spent Tuesday night with his nephew, W. M. Adams.

The funeral of Mr. J. J. Thompson will be preached at Mt. Springs the second Sunday in October at 11 a. m., by Rev. Chastain of Morgan in Jefferson County. Mr. Thompson died several months ago.

Mr. Hosea Downs returned to Nashville Tuesday to enter medical college.

Mr. Robert Arledge and sister, Miss Effie, visited friends at Providence last Sunday.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

Tom McKee Back Home

Tom McKee, the only one like him in captivity, has come back to his old home out towards Lay Dam. For the past few years he has been trying his luck out in the neighborhood of Arkansas. He says things got so slow he couldn't make any money, and he decided to come back home where he could peapatch and rest till times get better. When in Clanton Monday he assured me that if the Hoover prosperity and Miller economy get to pinching too tight, he will divide his peas with me. Thank you Tom, don't be surprised if I call on you right away.

Uncle John Gore Back Again

The announcement is made by Uncle John Gore this week that he will be back in the game next Saturday with his fruit store. He will be located next door below the postoffice. Mr. Gore sells apples and bananas and candy through the winter months and runs his farm during the summer. He will be glad for his friends to come to see him when you want to buy some fruit.

The Cotton Mill Stock

At last it appears that the dissatisfaction of local stockholders in Alabama Mills will develop into some kind of an organized effort by the group to get their money back, dividends, or some kind of revenge for what they almost universally agree was a bad investment. Will Reynolds has been talking about doing something for several months. He called a meeting last Saturday and the thing got started. Another meeting is called for next Saturday afternoon, when further plans will be made. As times get harder, more and more is the wish by many that they had back in their pockets or in the bank that good hard cash that was put out on the cotton mill.

The Only Man Who Was Right

One man was talking to me the other day about the cotton mill business, wishing that he had his possum back. I said to him, I guess you remember how Will Robinson got roasted because he refused to put any money into cotton mill stock. Yes, he said, I remember it all right, but I want to say now that Will Robinson was the only one in the whole shooting match that showed good sense and sound judgment.

The Fellow In North Carolina

While Alabama Mills was being organized and built there was a fellow over in North Carolina, the publisher of a textile journal, who kept warning Alabama people that they were getting into a bad proposition. He said the ten mills being built in Alabama and paid for by the people of the State would turn out to be ten white elephants. Another prophet whose warnings were cast aside by an unsuspecting people who had confidence in the representations of those who were backing Alabama Mills.

Will Reynolds Places Blame

W. A. Reynolds, one of the very much irritated holders of Alabama Mills stock, does not hesitate to say that he blames the Alabama Power Company for getting our folks into the thing. Furthermore he believes the power company is legally and normally bound to see that dividends are paid on the stock, or that the money paid for stock is returned to the purchasers. He bases this opinion on what he terms a fact that folks bought Alabama Mills stock solely upon the assurance of the power company that everything would be all right.

Here Is The Big Question

It seems to me that the big question is will it get us anywhere to start a racket? We know very little about the inside dope on Alabama Mills. Personally, I doubt very seriously if there is any legal claim upon the Alabama Power Company for the part they played in getting the people to buy this stock. But they argue this way: We are not getting anything as it is. It will not make matters any worse to start something. I will say this, if we can find anybody who will give us our $150,000 back, let us not refuse to accept it. I believe that is sound advice.

Walker's Cotton Plan

Charley Walker, of Shoults, suggests a plan to correct the cotton situation. He says he believes the states ought to place a heavy tax on every bale of cotton that is produced. In that way he believes the production would be held down so low that the surplus would gradually move out of the way and prices restored to a profitable basis for the grower. Mr. Walker does not grow any cotton. He had two acres planted to cotton this spring. He heard the warnings of the agricultural experts and decided to plow it up and plant the ground in something else. He says now he is glad he did. He has made money out of another crop on that ground. He would have lost on cotton.

Butler Did Not Come

One significant thing about the tax protest meeting last Saturday was the fact that tax commissioner, Butler, did not come, neither did he send a hand. This in spite of the fact that the Commissioners Court had invited him or his representative to be here and explain to our people why the power company property was assessed at 45 per cent instead of 60 per cent. I think the reason he did not come is because he has no justifiable reason with which to explain.

A Foxy Little Rime

Was over at Daddy Fox's store Tuesday. I noticed a hunk of something in the show case. Picked it up and inquired what it was. Here is the answer I got from Mr. Fox: Rosin to tune up your fiddle and your bow; make yourself welcome wherever you go.

When They Come To Town

Don't blame the boys and girls for having a good time and indulging their appetites a little bit when they come to town. If you could have seen the satisfaction with which Prof. Montgomery was eating an ice cream cone as he came up Main Street Tuesday afternoon, you would understand what I mean. Among the many things for which I hate automobiles is the fact that the devilish things have made the world so little that few people are left who can appreciate the good old thrill of coming to town occasionally. About thirty years ago my semi-annual visits to Clanton were a great adventure. I did not get as much thrill out of my trip to Miami this spring as I used to get out of a trip to Clanton on our first bale of cotton after the mortgage was lifted. That meant I was to get a new pair of brass tipped brogans.

Building A Huge Suspension Bridge

(By S. E. Norton)

The Washington Memorial Bridge, described in this article, will be opened for traffic some time this month, and altogether, it is a matter of outstanding importance.

I know of nothing more interesting to write about this week than a great engineering enterprise that is well under way within 90 minutes drive from our temporary home at Kenvil, New Jersey. For more than thirty years the need of a bridge over the Hudson River connecting New Jersey with New York City has been growing increasingly urgent. The opening of the Holland Tunnel under the great river was in some measure a relief from interminable waits of traffic at ferries plying between New York and New Jersey affording the only means of vehicular passage across the river.

Today the life purpose of a man under fifty years old, who as boy and man has been so obsessed with the feasibility of building such a bridge, while engineers have never found a solution of the problem this man, Othmar H. Ammann, born in Switzerland, has spent twenty-eight years in study and practical work in all departments of the art of bridge building, and has been in recent years connected with the management of some of the greatest bridge building projects in the world. He finally selected a site for the bridge and drew his plans in so much detail as to lay them before the authorities of New York and New Jersey, whom he must interest to secure the adoption of his plans. His efforts were successful and the legislatures of the two states most interested, passed the necessary laws and appropriations and Mr. Ammann was given full charge of the construction.

The bridge is of suspension type with a central span two-thirds of a mile long, suspended 200 feet above the surface of the water. This span is supported by steel wire cables carried on gigantic piers or towers, one at either bank of the river. These piers rest on immense concrete foundations, and extending down to solid rock 85 feet below the surface of the river.

The towers rise 650 feet above the surface of the river. They are built of concrete, reinforced with steel, enough of it in each tower to construct two mammoth skyscrapers, then each tower is faced with granite blocks, and surmounted with immense steel castings called saddles, four of them on each tower, 29 feet long and ten feet wide and having a groove in its surface to carry one of the 36 inch cables that carry the bridge. There are four of these cables each 36 inches thick and 5,000 feet long, nearly a mile, each weighing 7,000 tons. They carry a bridge, suspended, span twice as long as any ever built.

To the uninitiated the mounting of these prodigious cables to their lofty perch seems utterly impossible, and yet without them in place there could be no bridge, therefore a way to do it must be found. The answer to the puzzle is short and practicable, divide the load and go often. In order to do this there were preliminary arrangements that took a lot of time and cost a heap of money.

We understand that the bridge towers, not only among the tallest structures in the world, but also that they are the most massive and strongest obelisks ever built, when their height is considered, each of them capable of supporting a weight of 100,000 tons, in addition to its own weight, and the only way the material which goes into their construction is raised is by derricks on top of the structure, the same as we see done building a skyscraper. The only difference in the lift is that the lift is greater. There must always be room at the top of the structure to stand a derrick and operate it.

Since all construction work is by no means on the towers, some arrangements must be made for building the span between them. The first thing to be done is to string a number of wire cables, by two boats, across the river which have a combined strength, for what they are to be used for. These cables are lifted by the derricks and when properly adjusted and anchored, they form a foundation for a footwalk built of planks extending from tower to tower which, when furnished with guard rails, makes a safe platform and passageway for workmen. In fact it was a junior suspension bridge and required several months to build. On completion of the footwalk a guide wire was strung from tower to tower and so adjusted that the sag of it was a guide for the sag of the big cables when completed.

Each of the four great cables is composed of upwards of 25,000 individual wires, 3-16 of an inch in diameter. These were made by a large bridge wire factory in New Jersey, at the rate of 800 tons per month, which required three years to complete their contracts. As delivered at the bridge site, half on either side of the river, it is spliced into 80,000 feet lengths and wound on huge reels which, as needed, is put on an axle so as to roll easily.

This will be a proper place to tell something about the anchorage of these wires at either side of the river. On the New York side the ends of the wires are fastened to a piece of cast iron and imbedded in a mass of concrete and steel beams.

The area occupied by this anchorage on the New York side was about an acre of solid masonry and built for this purpose, and having a thickness that will insure stability for ages. On the New Jersey side the proposition is entirely different, for both the anchorage and the approach of the bridge. For many miles along the New Jersey side of the river there rises abruptly a solid wall of igneous rock, very hard, at the place selected for the bridge. This portion of the rock called Pallisades rises 300 feet above the river and both the bridge approach and the tunnels in which the anchorage is imbedded in masonry, similar to that on the New York side, was blasted out of this rock barrier.

When all is ready what is called "The spinning of the wires" will start. One big reel is set up on each side of the river. The wire is then attached to a mechanism running on a cable which carries it up over the end of its wire anchored and over the top of the tower, across the footwalk across the river, over the second tower and down to the shore, where the end is anchored. It should be stated that this wire carrier is so adjusted that it doubles the wire as it is taken from the reel and actually carries two wires at each trip. Each reel when filled contains 80,000 feet of wire. On the return trip the wire from a reel on that side is attached and two wires carried to the starting place. So the wires are carried two at a trip each way until a reel is emptied when the wire from a new one is spliced, and the operation is continued until two hundred and thirty-seven trips, have located four hundred and seventy-four of these small wires necessary to make what is called a strand, have been carried across.

When a strand has been completed it is made compact by steel bands 36 inches apart throughout its whole length and then lifted by the derricks and placed in a saddle on either tower. Sixty-one of these strands are required to complete each of the four 36-inch cables, which at this stage have little resemblance to a finished cable, but the material is there and must be shaped up. For this operation half a dozen hydraulic jacks are set at short intervals and a squeezing process is applied. Each jack has a capacity for thirty tons pressure, which squeezes the mass of strands into proper shape and makes it to all intents and purposes a solid mass of metal. The cables are then ready for the finishing process to preserve them from the weather. They are first thoroughly washed with gasoline to remove all dirt and grease, then they receive two coats or red lead paint. Next they receive from end to end several layers of steel wire wound on like thread on a spool, each coat being treated with a preparation of lead, called Lead Wool, and over all, numerous coats of durable paint.

By the sag wire in stringing the strands, each cable is given just the proper sag. When all four are finished as described, they are ready for actual construction of the bridge, which of course must be hung from the cables, for this purpose, heavy suspending cables are attached to the big cables sixty feet apart which serve as supports for giant steel girders, beams, across the space between the big cables. These serve as a foundation on which the bridge floor is constructed of reinforced concrete extending from tower to tower and wide nough to accommodate several lines of vehicular traffic in either direction at the same time. Underneath this bridge floor there is another for heavier traffic, cars, busses, trucks, and etc. The structure is not intended for a railroad bridge. Five years is the time it was estimated that it would take to finish or open the bridge for traffic in 1932. Within one year from completion it is estimated that ten million vehicles will have crossed over it, and its capacity will not be reached until thirty million vehicles a year uses it, exclusive of what may patronize the lower deck.

The total length of the structure with its approaches, (which terminate in great arches through the towers) will be nearly two miles, and it is estimated to cost seventy-five million dollars. What a project and what a responsibility! One must not suppose, one must not guess. He must know every step of the way, and always a big margin of safety. To mental equipment one must add actual experience not only of his own but the best that has been developed by the wisdom and experience of others. Every item that goes into the construction of this bridge must be tested to ascertain its tensile, or breaking strength and nothing used that does not indicate at least four times the strength, ever likely to be required of it. A few years ago when a great cantilever bridge being built across the St. Lawrence river at Quebec, was only finished, collapsed and fell into the river, carrying 100 workmen to death, the engineers of the world were shocked and bewildered. Mr. Ammann was the one chosen to investigate and discovered the cause to be a lack of sufficient strength in one element of the structure. Later he was selected as chief engineer in charge of office forces and construction of the great Hell Gate Railroad bridge, over the East River, connecting New England and New York, a twenty million dollar structure, which he successfully completed. He is no amateur.

BROADUS CONNATSER

Returning to his home in Clanton last night from another eminently successful conquest of baseball glory, Broadus Connatser is hailed by his many friends with ever increasing admiration. He played the past season on first base for New Orleans. Besides his perfect field work, his batting was good enough to put him among the top notchers of the Southern League.

Before the Southern League schedule was finished, the sale of the star first baseman to Cleveland of the American League was announced. He immediately joined the Cleveland club at the close of the Southern League schedule, and finished the season on first base for the Indians. With Cleveland his work was marked by the same faultless playing that characterized his efforts all the summer, with plenty of hitting thrown in for good measure.

Connatser is to be congratulated for winning his spurs in the greatest of all athletic contests—the big time, organized baseball. It is almost certain that next season will find this young man in a permanent berth on the Cleveland team.

Birmingham Man Gets Higher Price Per Word For Writing Than George Bernard Shaw

Wins New Automobile for Twenty-Word Slogan at Average to Him of $40 Per Word

ROSS C. Smith, II, of 1432 Milner Crescent, Birmingham, Ala., has topped George Bernard Shaw and other literary lights in the price he receives per word for his writing, it was announced today. He has won a new car for a twenty-word slogan submitted in the national Cremo Twenty Word Cigar Band Statement Contest. The price paid to him per word is around $40.

"An auto a day helps drive depression away" is the slogan which the American Cigar Company seems to be following in its contest for a 20-word statement descriptive of the merits of the Certified Cremo Cigar. Every day, Sunday excepted, until further notice, it is awarding a closed car, allowing a choice of the three leading popularly priced makes, Ford, Chevrolet, or Chrysler's Plymouth. Mr. Smith is the 90th to win an automobile in this contest.

In addition to stimulating the automobile business, the contest's popularity is creating a trail of jobs in its wake. The many thousands of letters which arrive at the company's offices every day are doing their bit toward giving the paper industry a boost. Dozens of extra employees are kept busy all day sorting the contest entries as they come in.

With responses pouring in from all parts of the country, it is pointed out that it is a real distinction to make up a statement that will stand out as a winner in the contest.

PARENT TEACHERS MEETING

The Parent-Teachers Association will meet at the Clanton Grammar School Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The subject under consideration will be the County School Finances. The discussions will deal with facts and not opinions. All who are interested in the school are urged to come.

The Banner and Post 1 year $3.30

HOSPITAL NEWS

Frank Calloway is making progress toward recovery from wounds he received when shot a few weeks ago.

Samuel Martin is in the hospital recovering from an operation a few days ago.

Mrs. H. G. Baker is doing nicely since undergoing an operation.

Jim Powell is in the hospital with a dislocated knee. He was hurt in an automobile accident.

Fletcher Parker was brought to the hospital a few days ago suffering from poisoning. He took poison by mistake, thinking he was taking aspirin. He is doing all right now.

Ralph McClesky, a school boy of Marbury, is in the hospital. He got his leg cut by an accident at school.

Mrs. J. E. Thomas is in the hospital for medical treatment.

Lloyd Robinson has returned to his home at Thorsby.

Farm Leaders Urge Step That Cuts Cost

Asked whether side-dressing will pay this year, prominent farm leaders in all parts of the South have gone on record as regarding it as one of the main essentials for making a profit with cotton and corn under present conditions.

Their replies to the question submitted by the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau indicate that it would be poor economy to omit side-dressing on cotton and corn this season. Such a step they say would mean lower acre yields and higher unit costs of a pound of cotton or a bushel of corn. Since there has been a drastic reduction in the fertilizer customarily used at planting time, they feel it is all the more important that these crops be liberally side-dressed with quick-acting nitrogen.

Dr. Clarence Poe, noted editor of the Progressive Farmer, summarized the whole question as follows:

"I believe every farmer should arrange to do this (side-dress) this year as usual, but so reduce his cotton acreage that his total cotton production will be less than last year. Our cotton farmers can not find relief in low production per acre. We must find it in higher yields per acre but with fewer acres given to cotton and more acres in food, feed, and fertility crops."

Banks Favor Diversification

Emphasis was placed on the strategic position the banker holds through the use of directed credit at a recent meeting of the Alabama bankers' agricultural committee. Alabama is confronted with the problem of over-production of cotton. The committee recommended to banks that credit be extended on the basis of a twenty-five per cent reduction in cotton acreage. The value of growing other crops than cotton was strongly stressed and county outlook meetings are being planned with the thought of bringing about a more balanced agricultural program in the various communities.

A limestone spreader, owned by a bank in Illinois is rented out to farmers for ten cents a ton, and also a phosphate spreader at five cents a ton. The "limestone project" was the principal contribution of the bank to banker-farmer work, during 1930, and was carried on in cooperation with the Farm Bureau. A man trained in the testing of soil, and in the making of soil maps was employed by the bank. The unit maps used covered forty acres, on which 23 surface tests were made at mathematical points. At five other points three tests were made—surface, sub-surface, and sub-soil. The completed map showed, by varying shadings of red, the points which needed limestone. Arrangements were also made by the bank to have limestone shipped in in car lots for sale

DEATH OF MRS. L. E. FOSHEE

Mrs. Luther E. Foshee, who before her marriage was Miss Estelle Webb, of Jemison, died last Friday morning at South Highland Infirmary, in Birmingham. She was 26 years of age, and is survived by her husband and three children, one of which is eight years old, another four, and the third six months old.

Mrs. Foshee was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Webb, of Jemison, both of whom are living. Mr. Webb is a railroad man.

About nine weeks ago Mrs. Foshee was carried to the hospital for an operation for apendicitis. Although in a serious condition immediately after the operation, it was thought that she was well on the way to permanent recovery when the doctors discovered that pus was in her side. A second operation was performed, after which she died.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell at Clanton Baptist Church last Saturday afternoon. Burial was at Clanton cemetery, in charge of Martin.

Death of Mr. Sims

Mr. Henry Thomas Sims, age 60 years, died at his home in Clanton early Tuesday morning. He had been in failing health for many months past, and his passing away was not unexpected.

He is survived by three sons, Rucker Sims, of Tuscumbia; Thomas and Benson Sims, of Clanton; four daughters, Mrs. Loren Smith, Mrs. Joe Higgins, Misses Edith and Imogene Sims, all of Clanton. The wife of Mr. Sims died several years ago. He has two brothers, William Phillip Sims, of Washington, D. C., who is connected with the editorial staff of the Scripps-Howard newspapers; and C. A. Sims, of Montgomery; one sister, Mrs. D. H. Prickett, who lives in Georgia.

Funeral services were held today Thursday, at the home in Clanton, conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell. Interment in Mt. Hebron cemetery at Elmore, Spigener, of Clanton, in charge.

Mr. Sims was for several years connected with the Dixie Construction Company during its operations in Chilton, Coosa Elmore, and Tallapoosa Counties. A few years ago his health began to fail, and he was forced to retire from work with the construction company. He came back to Clanton to rest and live with his children. Since coming back here he has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Loren Smith. For the last year he has been operating a drug store business in Clanton.

Mr. Sims was a man of fine character and good disposition. During his active work which carried him over middle Alabama, he made a wide circle of friends and acqnaintances who loved and admired him very much. All of us are indeed sorry that he has been called from among us.

RESOLUTION OF SMYPATHY

We, the teachers of Chilton County, take this method of expressing our deepest sympathy to our coworkers and friends, Messrs. J. E. and Harlem Daniel, and W. T. Bean, in this hour of gloom, caused by the home-going of their mother and sister, Mrs. Daniel.

We recognize the absence of these teachers during our institute and wish to make this known to them. As a group, we have the deepest feeling with the bereaved ones in this their great loss of this loved one. — Signed: Chilton County Teachers.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us in the death of our nephew, Moody Rucker.—J. R. Rucker, Clara Rucker and son.

Quite a number of Billingsley youngsters attended the S. S. convention at Jones Sunday.

Mrs. Annie Lamar Cole of Birmingham is spending a few days with Mrs. G. L. Phillips in Clanton.

NOTICE OF ANNULLMENT OF ADOPTION

The State of Alabama, Chilton County—In Probate Court:

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in the Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama, by Ernest Edword Porter, which petition alleges that said Ernest Edward Porter was adopted by one D. H. Gentry on or about the 24th day of January, 1931, by filing a declaration of adoption in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, said adoption being made for the purpose of making the said Ernest Edward Porter capable of inheriting from the estate of said D. H. Gentry, and said petition further prays that said adoption be annulled or canceled for grounds as set out in said petition and this Court having made an order that the same be set down for hearing on the 23rd day of October, 1931, and that notice be given by publication in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in Chilton County, Alabama, notice is hereby given that said matter will be heard on the 23rd day of October, 1931, and all parties in interest may appear and contest the same if they deem proper.

This, the 7th day of October, 1931.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.
Chilton County, Ala.

1-ch

WADESONIAN
PROGRAMS

Thursday, October 8th
Special entertainment by
Calera Dramatic Club
"AN OLD FASHIONED MOTHER"
Added features

Friday and Saturday
October 9th and 10th
Geo. O'Brien and Marion Lessing in SEAS BENEATH—All Talking
Serial—"Spell of the Circus"—All Talking

Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday
October 12th, 13th and 14th
Alice White and David Manners in SWEET MAMA—All Talking
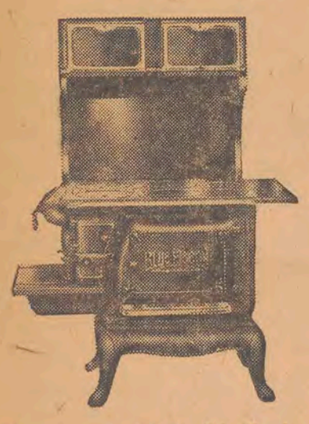
COMEDY—All Talking

IN THE OLD SWIMMING HOLE

The editor and Dr. John T. Endsley, of Fairfield, spent the week end, September 12-13, at the Apperson home place near Maplesville. Part of the time they were in the "ole swimming hole" where the editor disported in the waters when a boy and together they had a great time swimming, diving and ducking each other as long as their physical strength held out.

Tired and hungry after an hour or so of acuatic sports, they returned to the house where Mother Apperson had spread on the table a dinner that would make a dispeptic forget that he ever had stomach trouble, and it is said they did ample justice to the occasion.



While at Maplesville the editor had quite a chat with Hill Foshee, one of the leading merchants of that section, and came away feeling much better after listening to a flow of optimism. Mr. Foshee says he is not suffering much from hard times and this can readily be believed because he is a hustler, preaches and practices a live and let live policy and is popular with the people throughout that section.

Ben Ware and family, of Billingsley, left their plantation for a day with friends at Maplesville and were kept busy shaking hands and talking about families and crops.

Also, Dick Martin, tire and oil dealer at Calera, was visited on trip down and on the return trip.—B. C. Apperson, in the Grocers Journal.

NOW ON DISPLAY

A number of Blue Ribbon and Black Diamond Ranges, that are Slightly used, but look like new—Money Back Guarantee

$24.50 $1 Cash $1 A week

Liberal cash discount if paid out in 60 days

Don't fail to see us when in need of any kind of Furniture.

WE SAVE YOU MONEY

TIFFIN - KLINNER FURNITURE CO.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

USED CAR SPECIALS

One 1928 Model ESSEX—Four door sedan; first class condition; a bargain at $165

One 1928 Model WHIPPET—Light delivery truck; first class condition; a dandy for $85

1928 Essex Coupe $75

1927 Ford Touring $35

1926 Chevrolet Tudor Sedan $40

1927 Chrysler Tudor Sedan $80

These cars are all in good running condition. They can be seen at our place.

BATES

AUTO SHOP

Clanton - - - Alabama

ISABELLA F. F. A. NEWS

The Isabella Future Farmers of America held their weekly meeting Wednesday, September 30. A program was rendered as follows:

"Qualifications for the Future Farmers on Second Degree of the F. F. A.," by Braxton Lecroy. "Qualifications for State Farmer on Third Degree of the F. F. A.," by Marvin Durbin. Houston Deramus, one of our associate members, who is in college, made a short talk. Mr. Thomas made a talk on "The Purpose and Aims of the F. F. A."

Let's all be at the meeting next Wednesday, Future Farmers.

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

A large crowd met at the singing Sunday afternoon. We were indeed glad to have the visiting singers from the various places with us. We had several directors and two quartets were arranged by the class. We extend to all a special invitation to come and be in our singings on every first Sunday afternoon.

We have entered upon the last quarter of the year in our Sunday school and Christian Endeavor. We hope to make this the best of the whole year.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cowart and little daughter spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Buzbee and family of Clanton Route three were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams and family Sunday.

Mr. Hudson Williams spent the past week end at the home of his sister, Mrs. C. H. Herrod, of Haynes.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Seymore of Billingsley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Little and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Williams and family visited their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams.

Mrs. Emma Williams and daughter, Eula Belle, spent Sunday with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Clide Little.

MINERAL SPRINGS NEWS

The Eastern Singing Society met at Mineral Springs Sunday afternoon. A very large crowd attended. The directors for the afternoon were: Posey Cleckler, Lorenza Sanders, Floyd Little, Lawson Lowery, Andrew Blow, Jessie Driver, Enoch Traywick; Misses Vergie Cost, Lillie Mae Weldon. Organists were: Miss Lillie Mae Weldon and Miss Willie Mae Crawford.

We were glad to have the crowd out, and invite them back again. Any singers, or those who are not singers, are welcome any time. Our society is new, and we think good, but nothing has ever been too good but that it could be made better. So, come on, folks, help us out. If you don't believe we can sing just come hear us. The society will meet next Sunday at Pleasant Hill. So, everybody come and help us.

Our B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school both are good, but we want it made better. We want the old folks to come out and help us more. Hard times, we realize, are here, but we can look the old gentleman in the face with a smile and probably turn him back.

Miss Birtilue Gore dined with Miss Gladys Dobbs Sunday.

Misses Versie and Lovie Hilyer, Birtilou Gore, Gladys Dobbs and Maud Retherford took supper with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paschal.

Miss Mildred Dobbs dined with Miss Myrtle Ashcraft Sunday.

Misses Pearline and Jessie Cleckler were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Sammons Sunday.

Everybody attend the singing at Pleasant Hill Sunday, and be back with us every first Sunday.—Sec'y.

HOME OF BEN CLARK BURNED

The home of Ben Clark, just north of Clanton, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday of last week. The building and contents was a total loss. It is thought the blaze started from sparks falling on the roof.

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

FELT SICK AFTER EATING

"None of my food agreed with me—I would frequently taste what I ate, long after my meals, and I did not see a well day for weeks," says Mr. Peter Seeger, 329 S. Elmwood St., Kansas City, Mo. "I began taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal, and kept this up for weeks. Gradually the pain left me and I began to feel better. I ceased to be troubled with gas, and could eat what I liked." FNA-11

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Cotton valued at approximately $40,000 was destroyed by fire at Sulligent.

Jack Dunn, Gadsden, was elected head cheer leader of the University of Alabama by the student body.

Coroner J. Mell returned a verdict of suicide following his investigation into the death of Arthur Franklin, 31 at Clanton.

The eleventh annual meeting of the Alabama Beekeepers Association will be held at the Jefferson Davis Hotel, Montgomery, Nov. 6-7.

R. L. Cooper, 48, mayor of Elba, was found dead in his office and a coroner's jury returned a verdict of death through "accident or suicide."

Col. William P. Screws resigned his commission in the U. S. army following 32 years of active service, and became city commissioner of Montgomery.

The Rev. L. S. Wessinger, Heflin announces the fourth quarterly conference for Iron City, Sunday, Oct. 18. Dr. M. M. Davidson, Anniston, presiding.

Gov. Miller granted paroles during good behavior to 10 state convicts, three of them women, upon the recommendations of the State Pardon Board and trial judges.

A life-size painting of former Gov. William W. Brandon has been presented to the state department of archives and history by Mrs. Robert Barnes, of Eutaw.

The second fatality in Alabama this season from participation in football games was recorded with the death of Cason Nabors, 19, Talladega High School fooball player.

The assessments against property of the Alabama Power Co. in Chilton, Coosa and Elmore Counties have been set aside and a hearing will be held on the matter Oct. 19.

The Department of Agriculture has called upon every Alabama farmer to carry on the work of feed production during the Fall and Winter months to assure an abundant crop for 1932.

According to vital statistics released by Dr. W. D. Hubbard, more than twice as many births as deaths were reported to the Lauderdale County Health Department during August.

Selma oil dealers withdrew all opposition to a plan to levy a one-cent municipal gasoline tax for relief of poverty stricken residents and the tax has been levied by the city council for six months.

Tom Waters, 35, died at a Gadsden hospital following injuries received when he was thrown from a truck loaded with cotton. Two bales of cotton rolled over him, crushing his left leg and left side.

Reorganization of Alabama's state government loomed nearer as Gov. B. M. Miller announced he had secured the Brooking Institute of Washington, D. C., to make a survey starting around Nov. 1.

The board of directors of the Alabama State Baptist Convention in session at Montgomery accepted an invitation of the Opelika Baptist Church to hold the next session, the 108th, in Opelika, Nov. 18-20.

Capt. John G. Murphy, Mobile shipowner, was declared guilty of a charge of conspiring to scuttle the steamship Rose Murphy, owned by him, by a jury in South Alabama Federal District Court.

Preliminary hearing for Noah Sullivan, 35, facing a murder charge in connection with the alleged poison death of Jerry Taylor, at Calver, Ala., was reset for trial Oct. 7 when called in Mobile Inferior Criminal Court.

Gov. Miller has commissioned members of the Jefferson County Commission as delegates to the nineteenth annual convention of the United States Good Roads Association, Inc., to be held at Tutwiler Hotel, Oct. 12 to 15.

Officers investigating the mysterious slugging of Mrs. Frank MacDonald, wife of the pastor of the Woodlawn Baptist Church, arrested a man and placed him in jail on a general holding charge pending further inquiry into the case.

Public health workers from 54 Alabama counties closed their three-day annual session at Montgomery after hearing an address on tubercular control work by Dr. Douglas L. Cannon, administrative assistant of the State Health Department.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has set for hearing at Montgomery on Oct. 14 the petition of the Southeastern Express Company for authority to engage in the transportation of personal baggage between depots and places of business and residences in Alabama.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

NOTICE OF REGISTRATION

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Registrars of Chilton County, Alabama, in accordance with the general Registration Laws of Alabama, as amended by an Act of Legislature of Alabama, approved August 20, 1927, will hold sessions for the purpose of registering all citizens qualified under the law to register, at the following places in said County and on the following dates, to-wit:

Beat 4—Courthouse, Clanton	October 26-31
Beat 15—Pletcher, Ala.	November 16, A. M.
Beat 15—Culp School House	November 16, P. M.
Beat 6—Kincheon	November 17, A. M.
Beat 6—Enterprise	November 17, P. M.
Beat 5—Mountain Creek	November 18, A. M.
Beat 5—Mitchell Dam	November 18, P. M.
Beat 1—Lay Dam	November 19, A. M.
Beat 11—Cane Creek	November 19, P. M.
Beat 12—Mineral Springs	November 20
Beat 13—Providence	November 21
Beat 4—Courthouse, Clanton, Nov. 23, 24, 25, 27, 28
Beat 2—Mars Hill	December 1, A. M.
Beat 14—Macedonia	December 1, P. M.
Beat 8—Stanton	December 2
Beat 7—Maplesville	December 3, A. M.
Beat 3—Benson	December 3, P. M.
Beat 5—Verbena	December 4
Beat 2—Jemison	December 5
Beat 9—Thorsby	December 7
Beat 10—Cooper	December 8
Beat 16—Providence	December 9
Beat 4—Courthouse, Clanton, Dec. 10, 11, 12, 14, 15

NO ONE CAN REGISTER EXCEPT IN HIS OR HER OWN PRECINCT AND AT THE COURTHOUSE IN CLANTON.

This 28th Day of September, 1931.

B. M. KILLINGSWORTH, Chairman,
A. D. MARTIN,
O. O. ROPER,
Registrars of Chilton County, Ala.

MT. PISGAH NEWS

Last Sunday afternoon, October 4th, at 2 o'clock, the singing society met here and was a real success. The president, Mr. Jake Henley, directed one song, then prayer by Mr. G. W. Edwards. Mr. Henley appointed Mrs. Allie Hayes and Mrs. Beulah Henley to arrange the program for the afternoon, while he directed a few other songs.

Directors for the afternoon were: Mr. Jake Henley, Tom Wells, Rev. Ollie Hayes, Cecil Yeargan, Prof. Emmett Wilson, Roy Downs, Miss Birdie Edwards, and Mrs. William Wilkins. Organists for the afternoon were: Miss Birdie Edwards and Mrs. Emmett Wilson. The closing prayer was offered by Rev. Ollie Hayes.

We invite all singers and lovers of music to come and help us every first Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

In the summer Prof. Emmett Wilson taught a very successful singing school at this place and the people here are enthusiastic for a real singing society. We hope the visiting singers will be like Paul when he received the call to go over into Macedonia and help. That you will answer the call and come over to Mt. Pisgah and help our singing society. God gave you the talent, voice, and ability to sing, and I'm sure it is pleasing to Him to use our talents wherever we are needed.

Let's everybody come back next first Sunday and sing praises to God. There never was a time when we needed to thank God and praise Him for His wonderful mercies more than now. We are using the 1931 song books for a while yet.

PARTY FOR WEEK-END

Mr. and Mrs. Frank James entertained a group of friends from Birmingham at their log cabin on Mt. Manning last Saturday night and Sunday. The guests in the party from Birmingham were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Beard, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Vest, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Holt.

KIWANIS-PILOT BULLETIN

Through the courtesy of The James Sign Shop, a space on the big bulletin board near the bus station has been given to the Kiwanis Club and the Pilot Club of Clanton, announcing the time and place of the regular meetings of these clubs. In this way visitors who pass along the highway through Clanton may be informed of the meetings, and attend the clubs if they wish. Visiting Kiwanians and Pilots are invited to stop with us and are always welcome.

J. B. Hain, President; E. M. Cothran, Vice President; J. H. Burton, Treasurer, W. B. Christenberry, Secretary.

Selma Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

OWNED BY FARMERS FOR FARMERS
ELECTRIC HIGH DENSITY PRESS

Bonded Warehouse—Sprinkler System

We offer you efficient service in the handling and sale of your cotton.

Our Government licensed classer and weighers will see that your interest from a grade, staple and weight standpoint is protected at all times.

Our charges are in line, our modernly equipped warehouse affords a very low insurance rate.

Owned By Farmers

We are a designated depository for Alabama Farm Bureau cotton.

PURINA WILL USE COTTON BAGS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—Repaying a courtesy to an old friend, Purina Mills today announced that all poultry feeds made at their Ft. Worth and Nashvivlle plant will be sacked in cotton bags in an effort to help the cotton farmer of the South.

For thirty-six years the cotton planters have helped in the growth of this company by buying especially large orders of horse and mule feed. With today's announcement it was recalled that some of the company's present executives were salesmen in the South and had their first sales training in that section where much of the Company's business originates. The action is an attempt to help the cotton farmer by buying from him at a time when he needs it most.

Commenting on this idea to help the cotton farmer, E. G. Cherbonnier, secretary of the Company, stated today: "A complete and thorough study is being made of cotton sacking with the idea of eventually replacing the burlap bags now used to sack other feeds. If tests under way prove that it is practical to use cotton instead of burlap, many of our other Chows will also be sacked in cotton bags. We are anxious just now to do everything in our power to help the Southern cotton planter, who has always been one of our very best customers.

With Purina Mills plan to use cotton bagging, the Southern cotton farmer has as a customer one of the largest users of material for bag construction in the United States, says J. L. Ruffin, Purina dealer in Clanton. Several million bags are used each year to sack the feed which is shipped from its nine mills in the United States and Canada.

COMMISSIONERS CALL ELECTION ON COUNTY AGENT

Editor Union-Banner:

The Court of County Commissioners have been requested by some citizens and taxpayers of the county to give the voters an opportunity to say whether or not the work now being conducted by the Farm Demonstration Agent shall be continued.

It was at the request of citizens of the county that money was appropriated and Mr. Stapp was employed to carry on this work, and the Commissioners Court in justice to themselves, on account of the unusual conditions now existing, would like to have an expression from the people.

The Court is anxious to be governed by the will of the people in all matters of a public nature, and consequently are making it possible for each voter to express his opinion either for or against the continuation of this work.

On November 3, 1931, a state election has been called to determine whether or not $25,000,000.00 bond shall be issued for road purposes, and each voter will be given a ballot which he may vote for or against the continuation of this work.

We assure the voters that the Commissioners Court will abide by the will of the majority of the voters.

Respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

J. E. COBB,
J. M. MIMS,
J. L. BURNETT,
A. P. VINSON,
Commissioners.

PARENTS-TEACHERS TO MEET ON NEXT TUESDAY

The Chilton County High School Parent-Teacher Association will meet next Tuesday afternoon, October 13 at the high school auditorium, the hour being 3:00 o'clock. Mrs. C. E. Stapp will speak on the "School Fund of the County." An interesting program will be given, and all parents will be urged to attend.—Mrs. L. C. Warr.

Churn Jars, 12½ cents a gallon at Fox's, Clanton, Ala.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PERMANENT PARDON

Notice is hereby given by the undersigned, Pate Easterling, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, in April of 1930, for manufacturing liquor, and possessing still, and sentenced to a term of a year and a day to 13 months, and who has been out on parole since September 1st, 1931, on a 60-days parole, will make application to the Honorable State Board of Pardons for a permanent pardon from the remainder of this sentence.—(Signed)—Pate Easterling. 10-1-2t-pd.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Our Sunday school had a large crowd present Sunday morning, but there could have been a larger attendance, if we could only get them all interested in God's work. We have a splendid force of teachers and a fine superintendent to explain God's work to us. Come and bring some one with you.

Our B. Y. P. U. is progressing nicely. You are welcome to any of our services.

All the members at Poplar Springs are requested to meet at Sunday school next Sunday morning to tend to some special business that will come before the church.

FOOTBALL AT ISABELLA

The Isabella football team will play the Holtville High team at Isabella next Friday afternoon, October 9, at 3:00 o'clock. This is one of the few games to be played on the home field this season, and promises to be a good game. The public is cordially invited to attend.

IMAGINE IT!

Willard Batteries

NOW AS LOW AS

$6.95 13 PLATE and up

Low Prices for Repairing and Recharging All Makes of Batteries

We Will Allow You One Dollar For Your Old Battery

BATES AUTO SHOP

On the Highway :-: Clanton, Ala.

Willard STORAGE BATTERIES

★ For Greater Service and Satisfaction from Any Make of Battery Use Willard Service Regularly ★

J. MELL MARTIN

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA

Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service

Flowers for all Occasions

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

H. L. Collins has been very ill for a week past, and is still not able to return to school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crow and sons of Birmingham were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mims.

Cecil Each spent Sunday with home folks.

Miss Ruth Turner of Powderly spent several days visiting friends in Thorsby.

Mrs. N. Laurell spent Friday on business in Birmingham.

Mrs. W. O. Hamilton of Birmingham visited Mrs. N. Laurell three days last week. She also had as her guests on Tuesday Mrs. Robert Powell, Mrs. Marvin Horn and Mrs. Percy Groves and children, all of Birmingham.

Herbert Reinhardt spent Monday in Columbiana.

Mrs. C. M. Williams and little daughter, Charline, are spending several days with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Adams at Prattville.

Mrs. Clyde Mead, who returned from a Montgomery hospital last week, is so far improved as to be up and about the house.

Congregational church services Sunday were all of unusual interest. Being rally day for the Sunday school brought annual reports from classes and officers, and promotion exercises for sevevral members of the primary department.

Communion services at 11 o'clock brought a fine sermon by Rev. Each from the text "This Do In Remembrance of Me," setting forth how universally this command of Jesus has been observed by Christians of all denominations ever since our Lord himself established the sacrament. Five adult new members were received.

At 7:15 p. m., Rev. Each gave a stereopticon lecture on "The Lure of Alaska." The house was well filled and close attention was given to descriptions and pictures of this great possession of our Uncle Sam. Seldom have we seen more attractive and interesting pictures.

Another landmark in Thorsby was wiped out by fire last Thursday afternoon when the house built and occupied by Mr. A. K. Horn and his family for many years was seen to be in flames about three o'clock in the afternoon. Bob Davenport bought the place some time ago and with his family occupied it. They were all working in the field when the fire broke out. Neighbors rushed in and carried out most of the furniture, but Mr. Davenport says they lost all clothing. Some insurance was carried, but not enough to cover the loss, which was complete. The family are now living in the Anderson house on Michigan Ave., opposite where the old public school building stood.

Mrs. Mary Childress, widow of the late Alfred Childress, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Davis Cleckler, in Thorsby, Tuesday, September 29, aged 69. She leaves besides Mrs. Cleckler, four sons, Herm, Phil, Ben and Clifford. Burial was at New Salem Wednesday.

Mrs. J. T. Daniel, a sister of Mrs. Jim Pate and Mr. W. T. Bean, died at her home in Lomax Monday, October 5th.

Last Saturday night about thirty young people most pleasantly surprised Ella Howard. Games and music were enjoyed.

The eight day clock advertised by Wright, to be given away on certain conditions when it stopped, ran fourteen days after winding, and was won by Nels Petersen, who took it home, as a surprise to his wife.

The Chilton County Baptist Association will meet at Thorsby Baptist Church Wednesday and Thursday, October 14 and 15. Basket dinners will be served by members each day. People of Thorsby are invited to attend the meetings.

Next Sunday will be regular preaching day, morning and evening, at Thorsby Baptist Church.

Thorsby Boy Scouts had a hike and camping out last Friday night, accompanied by Scoutmaster Vinson H. Sutlive.

Mrs. Norwood Johnson and little son, Bryan Wood, have returned to their home after spending two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Ruth Griffin, and brother, Mr. Thomas J. Wyrosdick, in Dothan.

Mr. U. Robinson and J. S. were dinner guests of Mrs. N. Johnson Sunday.

Miss Edna Earl Raybon and Miss Louise Robinson were guests at dinner Sunday with Miss Mabel Johnson.

Mrs. John R. Boyd of Preston, Ga., is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Goddard.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard, Mrs. Burt Higgins, Mrs. W. W. Wilson, Mrs. J. W. McCain, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, attended O. E. S. Middle District Conferenee in Clanton on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson made a trip to Preston, Ga., last week. They were accompanied by Mrs. John R. Boyd on the return trip.

Miss Esther Johnson of Birmingham spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Ekblad, Mr Ragnar Eckblad and sister, Astrid were visitors in the Capital City Sunday.

Messrs. I. S. Gerald and Arnold Soberg of Birmingham were visitors in their respective homes over the week end.

The public school was closed Monday and Tuesday so its teachers could attend Teachers Institute at Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goodgame, Mrs. H. W. Peterson and daughter, Imogene, were dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. Webb Parrish's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Littleton spent Saturday night with Mrs. Littleton's sister, Mrs. George Davis.

New Bulk Turnip Seed and Onion Sets at Thorsby Drug Company, Thorsby, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raybon made a trip over beyond Randolph to see Mr. and Mrs. Ben Raybon Wednesday, and on to Wilton, spending the night with a sister, Mrs. W. H. Edwards, and also Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Raybon, parents of W. H. Raybon.

Mrs. M. A. Barnes left Sunday for her home at Abbeville after an extended visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. P. Villadsen returned to her home after spending several days with her mother, Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

Mr. Henry Robinson spent Sunday and Monday with his mother, Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

The Helen Keller Literary Society of Thorsby Institute had its first business meeting this year last Friday afternoon. The following officers were elected: Gerald Smith, president; Oliver Lyon, vice president; Mildred Jefferies, secretary. As the registration fee of the school includes literary society dues Mr. Butler acts as treasurer of the literary society, so no treasurer was elected.

The first open meeting of the society will be held at 7:30 Saturday night of this week. An interesting program has been prepared to which the public is invited. Admission is ten cents.

Saturday night the boarding department of Thorsby Institute had a picnic suppor on the lawn of the house where the Sutlives are living. Games followed and every one had a good time.

The four officers of last year's Senior Class are freshman this year at Piedmont College, Demorest, Georgia. They are Byron Bean, Eunice Williamson, Kathryn Foss and Ralph Roy. John Adams, also a member of last year's Senior Class, is a freshman at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn.

Miss Jessie Wrath was surprised by a visit from her father and sister Sunday evening. They drove down from Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Davenport spent the week end in Birmingham with their sister.

Mrs. John Billingsley is on the sick list. We hope her a speedy recovery.

Miss Vivian Roebuck of Birmingham, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray.

Mr. Jim Fitzpatrick and daughter, Lillian, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Harper.

New Bulk Turnip Seed and Onion Sets at Thorsby Drug Company, Thorsby, Ala.

Circle No. 1 met with Mrs. Grover Bice Tuesday afternoon, at that time they took up the study of the book, "Stewardship and Missions," led by Miss Mae Wood, the study will be continued with Circle No. 2 next Monday at Mrs. R. W. Scott's with Mrs. J. W. Jones leading. All members of both circles are urged to be present.

Mr. J. G. Billingsley is on the sick list, but we are glad to say she is improving.

The Baptsist Social will meet with Mrs. Harper Thursday afternoon, everybody is cordially invited.

The United Singing Society met at the Thorsby Baptist church Sunday afternoon. Mr. Akins Collins presided. He opened the singing with a song and prayer by A. H. Glasscock.

Directors for the afternoon were: W. G. Culp, Jesse Jones, Chester Wyatt, Marion Easterling, Jasper Oaks, S. V. Miller, E. L. Glasscock, A. H. Glasscock, and Akins Collins. Pianists were Misses Guiula Collins, Miss Jessie Dorminey, Miss Campbell and Mr. Easterling.

We were very fortunate in having a quartet after each director, sung by the Clanton quartet. The quartet was composed of Mr. W. M. Devaughn, Jessie Jones, Archie Devaughn, Elbert Hall and Marion Easterling at the piano.

We were glad to have a large crowd, but I know there were lots others who could have come, and would have enjoyed it. Folks' you don't know what you are missing. So come out next first Sunday afternoon. The quartet has promised to be with us again at that time. The society meets with Union Grove next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

STANTON NEWS

Miss Ruth Gandy of Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Maud Gandy, of Birmingham, and Miss Virgie Gandy of Tuscaloosa are spending their vacation.

Paul Warren, who is a student at A. M. I., at Anniston, spent the week end with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Parnell.

Lee Burks and family of Birmingham are visiting his mother, Mrs. S. C. Rankin.

Henry Schurter and wife of Vredenburg came Sunday for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Schurter.

Mr. Graham and son of Selma, visited John Jones and family Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. M. J. Adams of Sylvania came Saturday to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Cagle.

W. H. Stuart returned Sunday from Tuscaloosa, where he has been employed for the past few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Little, who have been away since school closed have returned.

C. E. Cagle, accompanied by Tom Woolley went to Birmingham last Saturday.

Mrs. J. D. Bethune of Chattanooga, Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gregory and daughter, Mildred, of Ft. Payne, spent the week end in the Cagle home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cagle, Mrs. Connell, Mrs. Ruddick, Mrs. Adams attended the Unity Baptist Association at Bethseda Tuesday.

DR. ANDERSON COMING

Dr. C. C. Anderson, of Montgomery will preach at the Presbyterian Church in Clanton next Sunday at eleven o'clock.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend the services. Dr. Anderson has been here on many occasions in the past, and he is greatly admired by all who have heard his messages.

FINISHING WORK ON NEW JAIL BEGINS

The finishing work on the jail was begun this week. Mr. Gilbert, the foreman, took up his work again Monday morning, after an absence of four weeks while the cell crew was putting in the steel. Work will likely begin next week on finishing the floors, plastering the walls, painting and the like. Mr. Gilbert says that it will require five weeks yet to get the job finished and ready for business.

EAST VIEW NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Lott of Sylacauga spent last week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smith's baby is on the sick list this week. We hope it will be well again soon.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson returned home Monday from Eclectic, where they had been conducting services at Union and Watson churches. They came home with their car loaded with groceries, which they had received in a pounding given by the two churches, which was appreciated by the pastor and his family.

There will be preaching here next Saturday and Sunday. Everybody is invited to come and worship with us.

Come early Saturday, as there is some business to come before the church.

I. G. A. Specials This Week-End

Canned Fruit Sale

PEACHES, I. G. A. Sliced or golden halves, 2 large cans 39c

RIPE APRICOTS, I. G. A., 2 large cans 39c

SLICED PINEAPPLE I. G. A. Fancy Hawaiian, 2 large cans 49c

COFFEE — ALWAYS FRESH
"I" Blend lb. pkg. 29c
"G" Blend lb. pkg. 24c
"A" Blend lb. pkg. 19c

FLORIDA GRAPE FRUIT I. G. A. Fancy 2 large cans 39c

RIPE PEARS Richfield California 2 large cans 39c

MAYONNAISE, I. G. A., large jar 15c

FRUITS FOR SALAD I. G. A. Fancy 2 tall cans 39c

JELLY DESERT I. G. A. Choice of Flavors, 2 pkgs. 15c

CHERRIES, I. G. A. Royal Anne 2 tall cans 39c

GRAPE JUICE, I. G. A., 2 pint bottles ..... 39c Pure Juice of Concord Grapes

ICEBERG LETTUCE Fancy Calif., head .. 10c

FLOUR, I. G. A. Plain or Self Rising 24 lb bag 78c

FLOUR, Duchess Self Rising or Columbia Plain 24 lb bag 65c

SLICED BACON, Sunlight Rindless, lb. 25c

At All ICA Stores

Sick or Feel Badly?

If you do not need medical attention badly enough to call your physician, come to your registered pharmacist, who has had 20 years experience. Back in old location, next door to Donald Merchant.

Thorsby Drug Co.

Only Registered Pharmacist Between Calera and Clanton

Legion Auxiliary Enjoyed Banquet

Mrs. J. T. Rowell, State President of Auxiliary, Was Honor Guest Here Monday Night

The Clanton Post of the American Legion Auxiliary was host at a banquet at the Clanton Methodist Church Monday night, at which Mrs. J. T. Rowell, of Selma, State President of the Auxiliary, was honor guest. Under direction of Mrs. Percy Pitts, local post president, a delightful dinner had been prepared, and was enjoyed by a large group of auxiliary members, together with several prominent Legion and Auxiliary personages from Selma, and a representation of Legion members from the local Chilton County Post.

Mrs. Pitts acted as toastmaster. The principal feature on the program was an address by State Auxiliary President, Mrs. Rowell. The speaker presented the subject of Auxiliary plans and objectives in a very charming manner. Her outline of the aims of the organization was such as to challenge the very best efforts of every Auxiliary and Legion member.

Following the address of Mrs. Rowell, short talks were made by several other members and visitors Among them were Mayor James T. Rowell, of Selma, better known perhaps among Legion and Auxiliary members as "the husband of Mrs. Rowell." Other visitors from Selma were Mr. and Mrs. Catesby Jones, and Mr. Max Goldsmith.

It was a delightful evening for everybody, and will go down on the record as another one of the very successful accomplishments of the American Legion Auxiliary to put Clanton and Chilton County on the map of activity in ex-service men and women's work.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

I, W. H. Gillespie, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 10th day of November, 1931 an election will be held at the several polling places in Chilton County, Alabama, for a vote by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, in the manner and form and places as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, namely:

"ARTICLE XXI. Section 219 of the present Constitution is hereby annulled and set aside and hereafter the Legislature of Alabama may provide for the assessment, levy and collection of a tax upon inheritances and for the levying of estate taxes not to exceed in the aggregate the amounts which may by any law of the United States be allowed to be credited against or deducted from any similar tax upon inheritances or taxes on estates assessed or levied by the United States on the same subject. The Legislature shall have the power to levy such inheritance or estate taxes in the State of Alabama only so long as and during the time an inheritance or estate tax is enforced by the United States against Alabama inheritances or estates, and shall only be exercised or enforced to the extent of absorbing the amount of any deduction or credit which may be permitted by the laws of the United States now existing or hereafter enacted to be claimed by reason thereof as deduction or credit against such similar tax of the United States applicable to Alabama inheritances or estates."

This, the first day of October, 1931.
W. H. GILLESPIE.
10-8-4ch. Sheriff Chilton County, Ala.

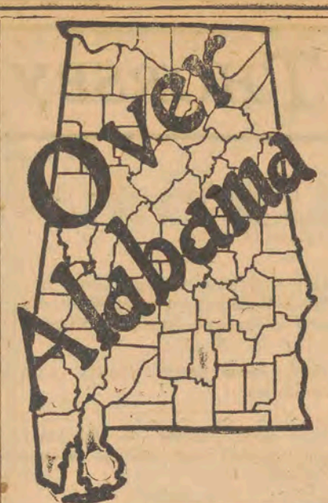
Mesdames G. O. Foshee and Arthur Willis were shopping in Montgomery Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Milstead are spending this week in Tuscaloosa and Birmingham.

BASKET BALL ORGANIZATION

An arrangement is being formed among the junior high schools of the county, whereby each school will be enlisted in a basket ball association. Competitive games will be played between the different schools during the season. At the close of the inter-school contests a county tournament will be held in Clanton.

This movement has the backing of athletic directors of the various schools, and promises to develop into an arrangement of very great interest to the schools and the public. More information will be given about it as teh plans and further formulated.



Mr. George Lamar, attorney and counselor at law, Washington, D. C., brother of Mrs. G. C. Phillips, was with her Friday and Saturday of the past week, on his return from Auburn, where he was called at the death of his brother, Mr. Howard Lamar.

Mr. Henry Lamar and wife of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mr. Howard Lamar, Jr., of Manchester, Georgia, with their sister, Mrs. Alma Lamar, of Auburn, spent a few hours with Mrs. Phillips. They were on a busi- Mrs. Phillips last week. They were on a business trip to Birmingham.

NURSES GRADUATE

Misses Ovee Payne and Elsie Lee Logan, student nurses at Central Alabama Hospital, were given their graduating certificates Wednesday night.

Appropriate exercises for the occasion were held at Clanton Methodist Church.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Joe Slatsky, Jr., has been appointed postmaster at Brookside, Ala.

An infection caused by his stepping on a rake Sept. 4 resulted in the death of Charles Edwin Sparks, 9, Tarrant City.

Federal dry agents arrested 4 persons in raids that extended over Montgomery, Autauga, Coosa and Crenshaw Counties.

D. O. Parker, lumber dealer, was elected commissioner of public affairs and finance at Tuscaloosa in the annual city election.

Plans for painting the names of Alabama towns on the roofs of school buildings are under way by the state aviation commission.

More than 50 Chambers of Commerce have appointed delegates to the United States Good Roads Convention in Birmingham Oct. 12-15.

Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, has returned from Montreal where he attended the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association.

The cotton gin at Brown's Ferry in Limestone County was destroyed by fire recently. The gin was a total wreck, the loss amounting to $10,000.

The International Relations Club, Florence State Teachers College, recently chose Miss Elizabeth Chaffin, of Sheffield, as president for 1931-32.

The parole of John Wilson, Jefferson County negro, has been revoked by Governor B. M. Miller because he "threatened the lives of three white people."

Members of Alabama's National Guard received approximately $50,000 for salaries for the three months ending Aug. 31. Over 2,800 men shared in this payroll.

Capt. L. G. Smith, state highway director, said approximately 50 employes of the State Highway Department had been served notice of their discharge since Sept. 15.

Representative Amzi Barber has attacked the constitutionality of a bill introduced in the legislature by himself, in legal proceedings filed in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Gov. B. M. Miller has announced that a fact finding committee authorized by the last legislature to study the state government may be named within the next few days.

A man was killed and five persons were injured, one seriously, when a truck and an automobile were in a collision on the Montgomery Highway a mile north of Pelham, Ala.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has announced that 11 hearings set at Birmingham for Oct. 2 would be held at the new courthouse and not at city hall, as scheduled.

Allen and Edward Northington, brothers and former officers of the First National Bank of Prattville, have begun serving a four-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

The Marengo County Farm Bureau, joined by business and professional men, have begun a movement to have federal and state authorities investigate the low prices on cotton seed.

For the second time within a year a clemency petition for J. B. Lassiter, Birmingham banker now serving a prison sentence for false entry, has been declined by the governor of Alabama.

Foolish flying in Alabama during the past six weeks has taken the life of one person—a 19 year old girl—and left eight persons injured, according to Capt. Phillip Roll, state director of aeronautics.

Dr. S. D. Motley, president of the Ensley Civitan Club, has appointed an athletic committee to investigate the possibilities of promoting amateur wrestling and boxing programs in the Ensley district each week.

An estranged wife's testimony has put Jim Franklin, 30, in jail for a five-year-old murder. Franklin, absent from Tuscaloosa County for more than a year, has been arrested for murder in connection with the Christmas Day slaying of Charlie Parker, 23, in 1926. Hunters found the body hidden under leaves near Bin., 12 miles from Tuscaloosa.

Willie Peterson, 38-year-old Woodlawn negro, was being held in Kilby prison, after Miss Nell Williams pointed him out on the street as the slayer of her sister, Augusta, and a friend, Miss Jennie Wood, near Leeds the night of Aug. 4.

Southern fish and game commissioners attending the convention of the International Association of Fish, Game and Conservation Commissioners at Hot Springs, Ark., formed the Association of Southern Game and Fish Commissioners, with I. T. Quinn, of Alabama, as president.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

We Are Never Undersold —

Our Prices are Absolutely the Very Lowest to be Had. You will find our Stock to be New, Clean & Up to Date at all Times

Men's Suits

POSITIVELY THE GREATEST SUIT SALE YOU HAVE EVER SEEN. OUR MENS SUITS ARE DIVIDED IN THREE LOTS

LOT NO. 1

Consists of about 100 Mens and Young Mens Suits in sizes up to 44. New goods, wool, and new patterns, for $5.00

LOT NO. 2

Consists of 200 Young Mens Suits in values up to $20.00, in all new colors, wide bottom, and good make. Positively all-wool material Going for $7.50

LOT NO. 3

Consists of 200 mens high grade suits. Some made by famous tailors, and our Famous K Brand clothes, values up to $25.00, in all-wool hard finish worsted material for $10

Don't let this Opportunity slip by You. You do not get a Chance at such Outstanding Values as these every Day.

Miscellany

COMPARE THE VALUES BELOW. REMEMBER THAT "WE ARE NEVER UNDERSOLD." WE HAVE OTHER BARGAINS TOO

One lot of children's bloomers	9c
Work sox, per pair	7c
Good bath towels 25c value for	15c
Good dress goods, all colors, per yard	5c
Heavy play cloth, fast colors	10c
Fast color prints	10c
Children's unionsuits	25c
Men's heavy weight unionsuits all sizes	69c
Mens heavy weight work shirts sizes 14½ to 17, for	48c
66 x 80 Wool blankets, in color plaids for	$1.95
One lot children's shoes, sizes from 7 to 2 for	98c
81 x 90 Krinkled bed spreads all colors for	50c

Ladies' Coats and Hats for your Fall and Winter Dress now on Display — and they are awful Cheap. It will pay you to see these Wonderful Values we are offering before you buy. We are Never Undersold

CLANTON, THE LEADER MANAGER, M. LANDE ALABAMA

LUCKY STRIKE—CAMEL—CHESTERFIELD

Cigarettes

pkg 15c carton of 10 pkgs $1.49

TAX PAID

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

PACKER'S LABEL

PEAS 3 No 2 cans 25c

QUAKER OATS 2 pkgs 17c

RED RIPE TOMATOES 4 No 2 cans 25c

BEST GRADE WHITE MEAT lb 10c

STOKELEY'S Sauerkraut No. 2½ can 9c

O.K. Soap Five 16 Oz. Cakes 22c

EVAPORATED Apples or Apricots 2 lbs 25c

EVAPORATED PEACHES lb 10c

PRUNES Santa Clara 3 Pounds 18c

WHEAT Mello 2 Pkgs 25c

SUNNYFIELD—PLAIN OR SELF-RISING

FLOUR 24-lb Bag 65c
48-lb Bag $1.29 12 lbs 35c

RAINBOW

FLOUR 24-lb Bag 45c
48-lb Bag 89c

VAN CAMP'S TOMATO SOUP Can 5c

VAN CAMP'S, LIBBY'S OR CAMPBELL'S Tomato Juice 3 Cans 25c

COFFEE 8 O'clock lb 19c

LARD Compound 8 lb Pail 69c
IN BULK—POUND 7½c

Sugar 10-lb paper bag 49c

Kerosene Oil gallon 13c

Stop Fishing And Do More Working

J. T. Childress, in speaking to a group of evening school farmers at Providence, advised them to give up a part of their fishing and spend that time on an acre of strawberries. He said it never gets too wet to pull out weeds from a strawberry patch, and that it was more profitable to do that than to go fishing or to town after every rain. He likes geese and uses them, but the geese will get only the grass and sometimes they need some help. Geese will not eat weeds. He pulls out the weeds himself. His neighbors, who are his friends, call him the old gander, however, he does not mind especially as long as he nets $500.00 per acre like he did last year. He had $1,000 on his two acres after paying for all picking, crates, and fertilizer. He told the farmers that if they are the kind who would be discouraged at a bad strawberry year then, not to start as there are bad strawberry years. Last year 1930 was a bad year on account of the drouth, he only cleared $200.00 per acre.

Mr. Childress has made a fine success of farming. He has his place paid for with a pretty new painted home, and runs himself. He not only believes in a live at home program, but practices it. He used strawberries and a little cotton for his cash crops. He is one of the pioneer strawberry growers in this section. He uses his influence in the promotion of better agriculture in his section and has perhaps given away more strawberry plants than any man in this section.

He believes in strawberries, but they are for the man who will stay ahead of the grass, won't fish or loaf too much and will stay with the crop through lean years as well as the fat ones.—By J. P. Montgomery.

MEETING OF PILOT CLUB

The Pilot Club of Clanton will hold its regular stated meeting at the Methodist Church next Tuesday night at 7:30.

CHILTON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

The Chilton County Missionary Baptist Association will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday and Thursday of next week at the Baptist church in Thorsby.

Miss Nellie Sumner spent the week end here.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

OUTBREAK OF RATS FORESEEN

An epidemic of rats may be expected in the southern states next winter, due to the large amounts of food and feed that will be stored on farms. This warning is issued by Roy Moore, leader of rodent control for the United States Biological Survey in Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana. Increased numbers of rats already have been noted in some localities and with the unusually favorable conditions for rats that will prevail on farms during the coming winter rat depredations in the towns as well as on farms may be much more severe than they have been in recent years.

In order to offset the favorable conditions brought about by the harvesting of a big feed crop and to discourage rats from accumulating and multiplying, farmers and planters everywhere should put their premises in the best possible condition before harvest. Corn cribs and storage houses should be made rat proof by whatever means may be most practicable, and all places that may afford shelter to rats should be removed or repaired in so far as possible. The most effective and the only permanent way of controlling rats is to eliminate conditions that provide easy food and safe shelter. Farmers' Bulletin No. 1638, "Rat Proofing Buildings and Premises" may be obtained from County Agent Stapp or by writing to Leader Rodent Control, A. & M. College, Mississippi.

The rat is the worst animal pest in the world.

From its home among filth it visits dwellings and storage rooms to polute and destroy human food.

It carries bubonic plague and many other diseases fatal to man, and has been responsible for more untimely deaths among human beings than all the wars of history.

In the United States rats each year destroy crops and other property valued at over $200,000,000.

This destruction is equivalent to the gross earnings of an army of over 200,000 men.

On many a farm if the grain eaten and wasted by rats could be sold the proceeds would more than pay all the farmers' taxes.

SINGLE VARIETY OF COTTON IS STARTED

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 7.—A story of how the Coates Bend community in Etowah County has become the first single variety cotton community in Alabama is told by J. C. Lowery, agronomist for the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Last spring 57 farmers of this community agreed to plant seed of the same variety. They selected the D. P. L. 4-8 variety which was recommended to them by County Agent L. L. Self, who followed recommendations of the Experiment Station at Auburn. These farmers planted 1,859 acres, all using seed of this variety.

In the summer they arranged with a gin to do all their ginning; and this gin agreed not to gin any other cotton. This arragement was made to keep the seed pure for planting next year.

To promote the work these farmers have organized the Coates Bend cotton improvement association, of which C. C. Miller is president, and W. C. Baskin is secretary. Three other farmers serve as trustees.

"There are several advantages to having only one variety of cotton in a community," said Mr. Lowery. "In the first place, these farmers have the best variety now known for that section of Alabama. It is a leader in yields per acre and the staple is around one inch in length. The percentage of seed cotton that is lint is high.

"Lint of this variety sells at a premium over shorter staple; and the seed also are worth more. Furthermore the single-variety plan helps the community to establish a preferred reputation for the cotton produced."

NEW FACTS ABOUT COTTONSEED MEAL

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 7. — New methods for feeding hogs, horses, aid mules rations including cottonseed meal are being recommended by F. W. Gist, extension animal husbandman of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, and by county demonstration agents.

In feeding hogs a bi-hopper self-feeder is used. This is a new method of feeding hogs and excellent results have been obtained. One of the two hoppers should contain a protein ration made by mixing one sack of cottonseed meal with one sack of tankage. The other hopper should contain a grain ration such as corn, one of the grain sorghums, barley, or wheat. It is not necessary to grind either of these grains for hogs.

More cottonseed meal may be fed to horses and mules when idle than when at work, Mr. Burns said. This is due to energy requirements.

One ration recommended by him for idle work animals is 3 pounds of cottonseed meal and 12 ounces of cottonseed hulls for each 1,000-pound animal. Another is corn and cob meal 5 pounds, cottonseed mean 1 pound, and hay 12 pounds. The third is cottonseed meal 3 pounds, hay 6 pounds, an cottonsee hulls 6 pouns.

Several rations for horses and mules doing light work asd also heavy work were recommended. The maximum cottonseed meal in these rations is two pounds per day per 1,000-pound animal.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A new superduty of 15 per cent, sharply affecting American exporters, was imposed on September 25 by the Italian Government to balance a budget that has meen running at a deficit of $14,000,000 monthly. It applied to only a small proportion of Italy's import trade.

Late in September three of America's greatest corporations reduced wages 10 per cent. Another made a reduction of 10 to 20 per cent. The U. S. Steel Corporation, Bethlehem Corporation, and General Motors Corporation made 10 per cent reductions. The other corporation was Youngston Sheet and Tube Co. The two steel corporations named produce omre than half of American steel and employ 200,000 workers.

The present price of crude rubber is aproximately 5 cents a pound. The New York Times says that "it is the lowest on record and so far below the cost of production for numerous plantations that it is expected that cultivation of the commodity will be abandoned by more than enough growers to bring the supply down to the demand level."

In the South and East where cotton letterheads were introduced as a novelty a few months ago more than three million yards of cloth are now being consumed this way. A bale of cotton weighing 500 pounds will produce 40,000 letterheads of ordinary size. Railways in the South have adopted cotton menu cards. Posters printed on cotton and applied to billboards will withstand the elements and last for months.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor estimated in September that the total number of unemployed persons in the United States were 5,600,000 with industrial unemployment increasing steadily since last May. From July to September the increase was 350,000. Thirteen cities show unemployment increasing, better conditions are to be found in ten, and no change was reported by one city.

DAIRYMEN MUST CUT COSTS FOR PROFITS

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 7.—With prices of dairy products low and no indications of any substantial advances in the near future, F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, says that "it is absolutely necessary for dairymen to reduce their costs to the minimum in order to show profits."

He announced a program which, if followed, will solve the problem of profits under present conditions of the dairy industry. It follows:

1. Profitable dairying depends primarily on the number of pounds of milk produced to each unit of man labor.
2. The most effective way to make the man labor porfitable is to have cows that give high yields of milk.
3. The easiest way to average a high yield for all cows is not to have cows that give low yields.
4. The way not to have cows that give low yields is to get rid of such cows promptly.
5. With only good cows left, they must be fed propertly.
6. The best way to improve the herd is with purebred bulls.

"High-producing cows," said Mr. Burns, "are essential because the operating margin is narrower than it has been."

By working with county agents, farmers of Alabama are making progress wth dairy cows as a part of general farming. These as well as commercial dairymen, said Mr. Burns, need to follow the program announced above.

Sheep growers and those engaged in the wool trade have decided to observe the week beginning November 9 as National Wool Week. The aim is to promote the use of wool in many ways in which it is consumed.

Movement of the Alabama cotton crop from fields to gins and into trade continues slow, according to reports from over the state received at Auburn. Farmers are very reluctant to gin and sell at present prices. The Farm Bureau Cotton Association at Montgomery offers an opportunity to pool, draw an advance, and retain an equity.

DEMABEL'S Beauty Salon

FINGER WAVES
Wet—35c
Dry—50c
Marcel 75c
Haircut 25c
"Look Your Best"

NOTED DIRECTOR HAS NEVER HEARD OWN ORCHESTRA ON THE AIR

B. A. Rolfe, director of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, is a man unique among millions, for he is probably the only radio listener in the country who has never heard the Lucky Strike Orchestra on the radio.

This unusual fact was disclosed recently in a conference of executives responsible for the presentation of the Lucky Strike programs. Throughout more than three years in which this program has been on the air, Rolfe has maintained an unbroken record of continuous attendance. Naturally, being in the studio during the actual broadcasts it would have been a physical impossibility for him to have heard the Lucky Strike Orchestra unless he turned over the baton to a substitute.

On the other hand, practically every one of the fifty odd members of the orchestra has, at one time or another, been absent from at least one program and, as a result, had an oportunity to listen-in.

FARMING PROGRAM GETS ENDORSEMENT

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 5.—Alabama's "farming for profit" program calling for a 50 per cent cut in cotton acreage for the next two years, the pooling of all cotton on hand with the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association, the growing of ample supplies of food and feed, and the building of a stronger farmers' organization, has met with enthusiastic approval at recent meetings held here and in Birmingham of county agents and farm bureau officials of the 67 counties.

It is expected that county-wide and community meetings will be held in the counties between now and planting time next spring in order to fully acquaint farmers with the economic situation and emphasize the necessity of the cotton acreage cut, the growing of food and feed, and other points in the program.

Bankers, merchants, and others interested in agriculture are expected to give cooperation in the Alabama program and will attend the county meetings. Leading farmers, through their county farm bureaus, county farm and home demonstration agents, and teaihers of vocational agriculture, will unite in sponsoring the program.

The county farm bureau workers agreed to begin immediately active promotion of the plank in the program calling for cotton pooling. In this way it was pointed out farmers may receive a substantial cash advance to use in meeting their obligations and at the same time retain an interest in their cotton in order that they will be in position to take advantage of any improvement in price which might come about as result of an acreage cut or a brighter world outlook.

BUREAU EXPECTING MEMBERSHIP GAINS

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 5.—With the close of the membership year of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation on November 1 only a few weeks off, preparations are being made here and throughout the state for the renewal of memberships and the additional members to the rolls.

Reports show that in a large number of counties membership committees have already been appointed and are ready to begin their work. These committees consist of from 6 to 10 of the best farmers of the county.

An increase in membership is expected this year, according to reports received in the state office from many of the counties. Baldwin County, with H. H. Starnes as manager, is expected to give Cullman, which has been in first place in regard to membership for many years, a strong race.

According to the latest reports from J. S. Hyatt, manager of the Cullman Counay Farm Bureau, the membership in that county now stands at 1,714.

Other counties expected to show large memberships are Pike, Etowah, Dallas, Randolph, Blount, Jefferson, Tuscaloosa, Perry, Hale, Conecuh, Chilton, Butler, Shelby, and others.

The insurance feature of the membership is expected to be a strong drawing card, every member of the Farm Bureau Federation, who is in good health and insurable, being given a small life insurance policy.

Membership in all of the farm bureau organizations in Alabama now totals more than 35,000.

A good pole axe already on the handle. All for $1.00 at Fox's.

Now we're getting

ACTION!

Genuine Goodrich Tires

As low as $4.98 each ($4.80 in pairs)

MAYBE you're hanging on to your money. But if you hang on to your tire dollars any longer, they're going to shrink on you!

Look at these prices! $4.98 for the Ford and Chevrolet size. Other sizes low in proportion. Yet these prices bring you genuine Goodrich Cavaliers, with the name Goodrich on the sidewall—backed by the Goodrich guarantee and our guarantee.

Talk about action! People are deciding when they can get tire values like these, it's time to quit talking "depression" and get the super-safety, super-value of new Goodrich Cavaliers. The tire that is 26% better by actual test. 26% more traction. 26% more sidewall protection. 26% more mileage. And the handsomest tire you ever put on your car!

Cavaliers 4 ply		Super Cavaliers 6 full plies
4.40-21	$4.98	4.50-21	$ 8.75
4.50-20	5.60	5.25-20	12.20
4.50-21	5.69	5.25-21	12.95
4.75-19	6.65	5.50-20	13.70
4.75-20	6.75	6.00-18	14.60
5.00-19	6.98	6.00-19	14.90
5.00-20	7.10	6.00-20	15.20
5.00-21	7.35	6.00-21	15.60
5.25-21	8.57	6.50-20	17.25
5.50-19	8.90	7.00-20	19.50

26% better

Goodrich Cavaliers

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc.

Clanton, Alabama

Clean up Clean out Sale Continues

Mens Overalls, good quality, per pair only	69c
Boys Overalls, good quality, per pair only	48c
Mens heavy full cut Work Shirts, each only	48c
Mens Fancy Hose, the pair only	9c
Sheeting, fair quality, 36-inches wide, per yard only	5c
Good Outing, per yard only	8c

We are selling clean, up-to-date merchandise at prices below what they cost us. We have no bankrupt stock to offer you. So come where you can choose from a first-class stock and get what you want and NOT be disappointed. We are not thinking of making money. We want to dispose of merchandise so we can pay our bills. Therefore, we are making a sacrifice just the same as you and everybody else has been forced to do.

Don't fail to visit our Store and buy goods cheap. We give you a few prices in this adv. Hundreds of other bargains here as good or better than these.

8-oz. Feather-Proof Ticking, per yard only	18c
Ladies $4 to $5 Shoes, now only	$2.95
Mens $4.95 to $6 Shoes, now only	$3.45
Mens Solid Leather Work Shoes, only	$1.79
Good quality 10c Chambray, per yard now, only	5c

THE CLANTON CASH STORE Jesse Baker O. D. Deloach

BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Rev. E. E. Stoddard delivered two very interesting sermons at the M. E. church Sunday.

We are sorry to know that Bernice, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benard Durden is seriously ill with fever. We hope her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Upton, Miss Gregory, Mr. Washington, all of Billingsley High faculty, made a business trip to Marbury Saturday.

Mr. H. A. Askins spent Saturday in Prattville attending to business.

Miss Mary Collier spent the week end in Prattvlle with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fuest Collier.

Mrs. Wallace Foshee of Fairview spent Wednesday with her aunt, Mrs. Ben Nummy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Headley and son Marion of Fairview and Otto Apperson of Jacksonville, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Apperson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vinson spent the week end with Mrs. Vinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Jackson at Independence.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

FOR SALE—One 5-room house, garage, grist mill house, store house, and 2 acres of land, on the Clanton-Billingsley road. Will sell at a bargain. See or write J. S. Chasteen, 1342, 48 St., Wylam, Ala. 10-102p

FOR SALE—I have for sale or trade, a 390-acre farm, one large 7-room ante-bellum home, and 4 tenant houses. Land almost level, good pasture. 1 mile from cement highway. Going at a bargain.—W. A. Reynolds.

NOTICE—Will take your cotton at 7 cents on the latest model Electric Refrigerator. — Jesse French Sons, Inc., Montgomery, Ala. 10-10-3tch.

FURNITURE FOR SALE

Brass Knob Bead Stead and Springs	$7.00
One Refrigerator	$5.00
Large Rocking Chair	$2.00
One Dresser	$3.00
Kitchen Cabinet	$5.00
Small Vulcan Steel Beam Plow	$1.50
Ledbetter Planter	$3.00
One Heating Stove	$4.00

May Be Seen At Old Thornton Hotel West of Railroad

A SPLENDID PIANO—Mahogany case on which a large amount has been paid. Will sell for small balance due, on very easy terms rather than bring it back to our store.—Address, Credit Manager, E. E. Forbes & Sons Piano Company, 205 Dexter Avenue, Montgomery, Ala. 1-2tc

WELL DIGGING—And all kinds of well work. Guaranteed to please. Prices very reasonable.—B. M. Connell, Clanton, R 5. tf.

FOR RENT OR SALE—One five-room house with bath, electric lights, good garage, 2 blocks from high school.—See W. W. Fox, Clanton, Alabama. 1-2tc

STRAY MULE—Dark brown mare mule, weight about 800 pounds, taken up Sunday morning, Sept. 27. Owner can get same by paying expenses.—Obie Collins, Clanton Rt 3. 1tpd.

PIANOS — We have twenty-two Player Pianos which sold for $595.00 and $695.00. We will sell these instruments for $225.00, and allow you 8 cents for your cotton. Write Jesse French Sons, Inc., Montgomery, Ala. 10-10-3tc.

Teachers Institute Held At High School

The school teachers of Chilton County concluded a very interesting and profitable institute session Tuesday at noon, held at the Chilton County High School building in Clanton. There were 143 teachers in attendance. Only two teachers of the county were absent, the Daniel boys, who were kept away by the death of their mother.

In addition to the school administration leaders of the county educational organization, Mr. W. L. Spencer, representing the State Department of Education, was present. Mr. Spencer is director of the department of secondary education in Alabama.

The outstanding feature of the whole program was an address by Mr. Spencer on the value of the school to the community. The speaker impressed the teachers with the forceful manner in which he presented a great many valuable thoughts that will be lasting in the minds of his hearers. He implored the teachers of our schools to hold their balance and presence of mind during the important period of transition through which we are now passing. He stated that history is always made in times of transition, and predicted that the coming year would witness the rise of some great leader to direct the return of conditions to stability and peace of mind in the world.

County Superintendent Lawrence spoke to the teachers, giving many important facts about our local school situation in the county. He gave figures on enumeration as follows: White school children in the county, 7,367; colored, 1,343. Enrollment statistics quoted showed for white high schools, 1,296; white elementary schools, 4,697; colored high schools, 92; colored elementary, 1,031.

Mr. Lawrence discussed objectives of the school administration in the county, among the most important of which was the program to provide equal opportunities for every school child in the county. He stated that the five accredited high schools of the county now make it possible for every child in the county to stay at home and secure a high school education.

Coming down to the important matter of school finances, the superintendent gave some figures that tell a sad story. He said the state owes Chilton County schools $17,000 from last year. Another sum of $74,647.06 of this year's state funds, he said, is now due the county, with no promise or assurance from the state that it will be paid.

The county funds, he said, will be about $72,000. A loss of $2,000 in school funds, he said, was caused by failure of the county to continue the child welfare worker in conjunction with school attendance work. The county funds are further shortened this year by the sum of $5,280, occasioned by the reduction in property assessments of Alabama Power Company in the county last year. Next year, he stated, we will have to take another deduction of $9,996 if the State Tax Commission does not restore the million and a half dollars taken off the power company assessments in the county this year.

Generalizing on the school situation, Mr. Lawrence declared that the schools must be sold to the public. He declared that the schools have never been provided for on a par with other public interests. He recalled that every politician in Alabama last year declared that he would stand firmly for the interests of the public schools, and charged that the ultimate effect has been a most deplorable failure on the part of the political leaders to carry out their pledges.

Out of his appreciation of the economic stringency of the present times, Mr. Lawrence reminded the teachers to be careful that they do not ask parents of school children to buy and provide things that are not necessary. But he also hinted to the parents that certain provisions are necessary, and ought to be provided, even at a sacrifice in some instances.

Departmental conferences were held for the elementary grade teachers in charge of Miss Madge Scarborough, and for the high school grade teachers in charge of Mr. Spencer.

In the elementary conferences discussions were led by Miss Ethel Mize, Miss Bess Thomas. Teachers who took part in the discussion in the primary conferences were Miss Frances O'Neal, Miss Mary Clements, Mrs. J. S. McNeill, Miss Sara Pollard, Mrs. Barney Burnett.

Officers of the Chilton County Educational Association were elected as follows: W. T. Bean, president; W. C. Dubose, vice president; I. J. Quinn secretary and treasurer.

Resolutions were adopted approving the work of the county farm demonstration agent in Chilton County. Another resolution calls upon Governor Miller to convene legislature and provide relief for the public schools. A third resolution expresses the sympathy of the teachers to the Daniels family in their recent bereavement.

Favor County Agent

The Chilton County Teachers Association unanimously Endorsed the County Agent's continuation in office by the following resolution:

Whereas, the voters of Chilton County are to say on November 3 whether the work of the county agent will be continued or not.

The present County Farm Demonstration Agent, C. E. Stapp, having performed untiringly every duty and obligation that has fallen upon him, we, the teachers of Chilton County in institute assembled, this the 6th day of October, 1931, having faith and confidence in the further continuation in C. E. Stapp's work in an educational way to the schools of Chilton County, thereby,

Be it resolved, that we, the teachers of Chilton County, appeal to the citizenship of the county for their continued cooperation in building up and sustaining the agricultural assets of our great county.

Be it further resolved, that the qualified voters go to the polls on November 3, and approve of the continuation of the County Agent's most valuable services. — Respectfully submitted, Chilton County Teachers Association.

CALERA DRAMATIC CLUB

The Calera Dramatic Club will present a stage play at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton tonight, Thursday, October 8th, beginning at eight o'clock. Proceeds will be used for a fund to assist poor children to buy school books. The Calera Dramatic Club is composed of local talent of young men and young ladies of Calera.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

Cap sho is one sight. Tother day when us wuz restin' in de cotton patch, he say Remus, bleve I'll go fishin'. He put off he pick sack, got him a pole, an' went to de crick out in de woods a piece.

'Bout night he come back and say Remus, I shore had one time. I got out to de crick and it is gone dry. I went up de san' bar and found a little hole of water that won't dried up. While I was fixin' to fish I look one way and see a big rattle snake. I look tother way and see he pilot. I look tother way and see a big moccasin. I look tother way and see de king snake. I tell you, Remus, I wuz in a peck of fixes all at one time. Dem snakes wuz every one comin' to de hole to git water

Here dey come and here I wuz. I plum forgot all 'bout fishin'. I had snakes on my mind. I jest tuck my fishin' pole and went to killin' snakes. I made a crack shot at de rattler fust and got him. As fast as de others cum in reach, I got 'em wid my pole. I never fished a lick. I woulda been back sooner, he say, Remus, but I jest won't able. I had to take time to git my nerves steddy again.

I say Cap I hates to pick dis good fer nuthin cotton, 'specially by myself; but I shore am glad you went fishin' stid of sendin' me.

Den Cap say Remus les quit and go home and feed de hosses. Us done enuff today. When us gits to de house Cap stop at de well to git a drink. He say Remus, go on in de crib and git some corn and give de hosses.

Now, jes lissen to dis. I went in de crib. When I reaches up on de corn pile and picks up a few years, a big head and a wide mouf pokes up right at my hand. Bless my soul if it won't a rattle snake right there in de corn crib.

I call Cap. He come and see what I see. He say Remus, what us goin' to do? I say Cap, what I gwine to do is git out of dis crib quick. Cap say he ain't. He say no one snake ain't gwine to bluff him since he done kilt four big uns a while ago.

Cap sho am one sight. I bet he is de champeen corn raiser and snake killer uv de whole world.

Martin And Sons Making Additions

Will Remodel Funeral Home And Better Facilities To be Added

The announcement was made by J. Mell Martin Tuesday that he has contracted for extensive work of improving and remodeling of the building occupied by the firm of J. Mell Martin and Sons, funeral directors, of Clanton.

"When our plans are completed, we will be better equipped than we have ever been, to render complete and satisfactory funeral service," said Mr. Martin. "Our building will be gone over from start to finish and everything placed in first class shape. Year after year our patronage has been increasing, until we find that we no longer have the sufficient arrangements to take care of. Hence our decision to make the improvements, which we have outlined."

At the same time of making this announcement, Mr. Martin also stated that his firm has bought out the funeral supply department of Mullins and Moore, and that Mullins and Moore will not be engaged in the funeral business in the future.

STOP JAY WALK

Chief of Police Asks Aid of Citizens For Safety Of Children

Chief of Police, J. R. Hardy, is requesting the citizens of Clanton and those who come here on occasion, to cooperate with him in breaking up the practice of jay walking.

Jay walking is the term that is given to the custom of careless pedestrains cutting diagonally across street intersections from one corner to another.

Chief Hardy points out that there are safety zones at street crossings, where pedestrians have the protection of stop signs for automobiles, and that when crossing streets people should be careful to stay within the safety zone.

There are many school children who walk through the business section of town to and fram school every day. Mr. Hardy is careful of their safety, particularly in crossing the highway. He appeals to grown people to refrain from careless crossing of the streets, and points out that thereby the importance of safety first can be better impressed upon the children.

This is a good idea, and we commend it to every one who has occasion to walk along our streets. Let us help Mr. Hardy as he requests, and thereby we can serve the important interest of protecting our children from accident and injury.

UTOPIAN SOCIETY NEWS

The Utopian Literary Society of Isabella High School met in the English department on Monday. The meeting was called to order by Marvin Durbin. Officers were elected as follows:

President, Marvin Durbin; vice president, Elizabeth Mims; Secretary and treasurer, Ruby Deshazo; Sargent at arms, J. P. Pool.

The following program committee was appointed by the president:

Elizabeth Mims, Chairman; Tommie Rutker, Lorene Lecroy, Mildred Durbin, S. L. Broadhead, Miss Williams.

It was decided that Utopian would still be the name of the society, and that red and white would be the colors.

The society presented its program in a chapel exercise on Thursday, October 1st. The meeting was called to order by the president. After devotion by Braxton Terry, the following program was presented:

Song—Assembly.

After announcements business was called for. The former secretary having quit school, Myrtle Durbin was elected to take her place.

The report of critic, Miss Williams.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Miss Della Williams spent the week end in Verbena with relatives.

Urence Atchison, negro, died at the hospital Saturday.

We Bought Cheap We Will Sell CHEAP

our store reopens on Friday, Oct. 9th

with a larger stock of goods. We were able to buy these goods dirt cheap and we are going to sell them that way

Clean Up-to-Date

merchandise going at unheard of prices. You will have to see it before you can appreciate such business

Robinson Department Store

Clanton

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXIX.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1931 NUMBER 25

STAPP'S STATEMENT ON WORK

Reminds the Voters That It Is Not His Own Personal Interest At Stake

On November the 3rd, the voters of the county will be asked to cast their vote for or against the continuation of county agency work in the county. This is not a political question, but a civic question in which every citizen should take a part.

Chilton County is purely an agricultural county. Anything that affects agricultural interests in the county either directly or indirectly affects every citizen of the county.

In this week's issue of both papers you will find a brief summary of part of my activities since coming to this county four years ago. If you believe the work has been of value, I will appreciate it if you will pass this issue of the papers on to some one who may not be taking either of the county papers.

If you are against the continuance of the work, I will appreciate it if you will be fair enough to take time to find the referred to summary of my work as well as what many of our good progressive people say and read same carefully. I haven't the least doubt that if you will give thirty minutes conscientious thought to the value of the work, but that you will say that the work I have done is worth many times what I may have been paid for same. Surely you must admit that the farmers of the county are in greater need of help than they have been in the past.

I have worked hard for the progress and development of Chilton County and at all times tried to make a desirable citizen.

It is not for my own personal interest that I want to see the County Agency Work continued in Chilton County. It is because I know the farmers need it. I will get a job somewhere else if my services are discontinued here. But if the work is voted down it means that the farmers will be denied the help that is available to them through a county agent.

This is a very important question and I urge the voters to think seriously about it before you vote on November 3rd.—C. E. Stapp.

JERSEY CATTLE SENT TO ANNISTON MONDAY

Under direction of County Agent C. E. Stapp, seven head of Jersey cattle were sent from Clanton Monday to be exhibited at the state showing of live stock. The animals sent were selected at the Jersey show recently held in Clanton. There were five heifers belonging to J. P. Culp, Chester Messer, Howard Martin, Clyde Popwell, and James Dennis; two bulls belonging to Ralph Mims and Clyde Popwell.

Thursday of this week Mr. Stapp will carry the boys judging team and other members of the Jersey club to Anniston to compete in judging with other boys from different counties. The boy winning high place in the state for judging ability will be given a trip to the International Livestock Show in Chicago.

The seven animals were carried to Anniston on a truck. J. D. Collins, Jr. went with them, and will take care of them while they are in Anniston this week.

REV. D. S. MARTIN HERE

Rev. D. S. Martin, of Equality, is in Clanton for a few days visit with his son, J. Mell Martin. While here he attended the annual meeting of the Chilton County Baptist Association at Thorsby. Mr. Martin comes here for a few days every year. He has many freinds who are always glad to see him.

SPECIAL SERVICE FOR OLD FOLKS FRIDAY

Dr. J. J. Milford, who is preaching at the revival services at Clanton Baptist Church this week, has announced that he will hold a special service for old folks on Friday morning at ten o'clock.

The invitation to take part in this special service is extended not only to the old folks of Clanton, but the entire county as well. Everyone who knows of an old person who would like to attend is urged to see that such a one has a way to get here. Then too, in addition to the old folks, the invitation is generally extended to everyone of every age.

We urge the people of the entire county to take notice of this announcement and help to make this service a great occasion.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPALS MEETING

All junior high school principals and athletic coaches are requested to meet at the courthouse next Saturday afternoon, October 17th, at 2:00 o'clock. The purpose of this meeting is to organize a county junior high school league. There are 10 junior high schools in Chilton County, which justifies all efforts of building up an athletic league which in turn would help school boys and school girls develop the idea of fair play and good sportsmanship. Not only will it be effective in this way, but will create a better school spirit and promote a keener interest in school and all school activities which results in better attendance and better work.

Remember the time and be there ready to offer any idea or suggestion that will aid in the organizing of this league.—R. B. Johnson.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We had a splendid service last Sunday morning. Three people joined the church—J. G. Newton, Mrs. J. G. Newton and Virgil Newton. With pleasure we welcome this excellent family into our church life.

Next Sunday our Sunday school meets at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m. The leagues meet at 6:45 p. m., but we will have no night service. Our people are urged to attend the meeting in progress at the Baptist Church.

The pastor leaves next Monday to attend the Ecumenical Conference in Atlanta, but will be back on the following Friday.

What about being in your place at your church next Sunday? Break that bad habit of yours that keeps you away. You need the church more than the church needs you.

Mill Stockholders Will Push Law Suit

Meeting Saturday Organized To Employ Lawyers To Start Cause

A number of stockholders of Alabama Mills Company met at the courthouse in Clanton last Saturday afternoon and laid the initial plans for starting a suit to either get dividends on their investments or try to recover of the Alabama Power Company the money that was paid in for Alabama Mills stock. The stockholders claim that they would not have invested their money in this stock had the proposition not been fostered by the Alabama Power Company.

The meeting Saturday afternoon was presided over by W. A. Reynolds, and a committee was appointed to collect funds from stockholders in order that a suit be instigated. This committee is composed of G. O. Foshee, W. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Gertrude Calloway and T. E. Wyatt. The latter was chosen as secretary-treasurer.

A number have already signed the petitions and some have already paid in the amount pledged. Stockholders are asked to pay into this fund fifty cents on every share of the stock which they hold. Any stockholder wishing to take part in the suit is asked to see one of this committee at an early date.

Connection is being worked out between the committee here and stockholders of the other nine mills over the state. The aid of the citizens interested in all other mills will be sought by the stockholders of the Clanton mill, in their effort to bring about some kind of adjustment of the matter.

Prof. Luther E. Little and Prof. Ralph Grant of Isabella were visitors to Clanton Tuesday.

VOTERS REGISTER

The attention of the people of Chilton County is called to advertisement in this paper setting out the dates and places where the Board of Registrars will be for the purpose of registering all parties who are entitled to register and become qualified voters.

There are doubtless many who by virtue of age and other reasons have become entitled to register. If you know of anyone, call it to his or her attention, and insist upon all attending to this important duty.

Look up the advertisement of the Registrars and bear in mind the date when they will be in your precinct.

WANT TO LOCATE UNEMPLOYED EX-SOLDIERS

The Chilton County Post of the American Legion, is seeking to find out the names and addresses of all ex-service men in Chilton County who are at present unemployed.

Anyone who may know of such soldiers will confer a great favor by sending the name and address of the person to officals of the Legion. Communication may be mailed to Post Commander, R. D. Woodson, Lay Dam, Clanton, or Post Adjutant, A. L. Robinson, Clanton.

This matter is very important, and the Legion hopes to have the prompt cooperation of the public in working it out quickly.

FIRE THREATENED PINEDALE SCHOOLHOUSE

It was reported Monday morning that the schoolhouse at Pinedale came very near being destroyed by fire Sunday night. People returning from church services noticed that the school building was on fire. By very prompt work they were able to get the blaze stopped before very much damage was done. No insurance.

The fire seemed to have caught in the outside wall of the building near the ground, and was rapidly eating its way towards the roof.

It has been intimated that the house was set on fire by some incendiary. Investigation will be made, according to Supt. Lawrence.

KIWANIS CLUB ENDORSES FARM DEMONSTRATION AGENT

Clanton Service Club Wants County Agent Continued Here To Help In Continued Advancement of Farming Methods In Chilton County

To the People of Chilton County:

In view of the fact that you are called upon to express yourselves by ballot on November 3rd, as to whether or not the County Farm Demonstration Agent shall be continued, we ask the privilege of expressing our opinion on this important question.

This Club has always maintained as one of its major objectives to help the farmers of the county to understand their farm problems and to reach a satisfactory solution of the same. In carrying out this program we have always had the faithful cooperation of the County Agent. We feel that without him we could not have approached our purposes in this respect with effectiveness. And we believe the farmers of the county can not hope to fully and effectively carry on their program of improved farm methods without the aid that can come to them only through the County Farm Agent.

We are proud of the advances that have been made in the business of farming in Chilton County in the past three years. We believe that the Farm Demonstration Agent has been the source of much of the information and inspiration that has enabled our farmers to make such progress.

Every farmer who has used the advice and help of the County Agent knows of his value, and we do not feel that they will need any urging to vote for the continuation of the work. We urge those who have not availed themselves of the help of the County Agent to vote for his continuation in our county, then get busy and use him, thereby taking advantage of the best thing available to you in shaping your business policies towards a profitable basis in the future.

We, therefore, give the County Farm Demonstration Agent our full endorsement, and urge the voters of Chilton County to go to the polls on November 3rd and vote in favor of continuing his services.

This resolution adopted by the Kiwanis Club of Clanton, at its meeting Thursday, October 8, 1931, and ordered printed in the newspapers of Chilton County.

FAVORS KEEPING COUNTY AGENT

Jemison Farmer Writes Of Importance Of County Demonstration Agent

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words in regard to the work of the County agent in Chilton county.

I think it would be a backward step to do away with the county agent. Have you ever stopped to think just how much good the county agent has done this county? To come down to the real value, it is unestimable, however, it is estimated that Mr. Stapp has saved the County more than twenty thousand dollars ($20,000.00) on fertilizer alone, saying nothing of the good he has done with poultry cars, terracing, club work, dairying and numerous other things.

The county is only paying Mr. Stapp $1,200 a year, and if the tax should be lowered (of which it won't be affected one cent) the average farmer, who pays not more than $50 tax, would pay only 3c less tax a year. Is that enough to hurt anyone? No, however, your taxes won't be lewered one penny.

Now the thing to do is go to the polls on November 3rd, and vote for the continuance of the County Agent in Chilton County. I commend the County Commissioners for cutting Mr. Stapp's wages, not that he wasn't doing good work,-but because nearly everybody else has had to take a cut, especially the farmer, and no telling what it would be, or would have been had it not been for our faithful county agent.

This is about the third time our farmers organizations have been knocked at. Now let's go to the polls on November 3rd, and put this thing over so strongly until the knockers won't be able to rise up any more.—Thank you, W. N. Thomas, Jemison, Ala.

Walnut Creek Singing Was Better Than Two Meetings Previously Held

The singing society met at Walnut Creek last Sunday afternoon, and the singing was a very interesting one. The last two—at Friendship and Chestnut Creek—were described as "punk" and "dry." We are glad to report that the one at Walnut Creek last Sunday afternoon may be truthfully described in the one word "excellent." The class was small, but there were plenty to do good singing, and they were in the notion. People can sing when they try. When there is a failure, as was the case the two meetings previous to last Sunday afternoon, it is due to nothing more nor less than the lack of effort. I had much rather commend a good thing than condemn a bad one, so I will say to those at Walnut Creek that your singing Sunday afternoon was simply fine.

There are several prominent members of the society, however, who are usually of late very conspicuous by their absence from the singings. They only meet when the singing is at their home church. At Walnut Creek there was not a single member of the committee present. Now, folks, this is not right. There is an old adage that if you want a thing half done, depend on the other fellow to do it; and if you want it done, do it yourself. So don't depend on the other fellow doing your singing and his too, but come on to the meetings every Sunday afternoon and tote your end of the pole.

The society meets next Sunday afternoon at Refuge, and there will be a supply of Morris-Henson books for sale. Come along and bring a quarter if you haven't already bought one of these books. Of course, bring your Stamps books too, for they will both be used. But the main thing is, be there. The crowd at Refuge is usually small, but let's not let that be the case next Sunday afternoon. We hope to see every member of the committee present as well as a good representation from every church in the society. If you will do this, and come asking God to guide and direct you, we will have another good singing.

FRIDGE INDICTED IN COOSA SHOOTING

Rockford, Ala., Oct. 8.—Charles Fridge, Federal undercover agent connected with the prohibition bureau out of Montgomery was indicted by the Coosa County grand jury today for assault with intent to murder in the shooting of Frank Calloway, Chilton County farmer in this county last September 12.

Fridge is at liberty under a $1,000 bond which he made to Coosa County officers shortly after the shooting.

In all probability the case will be transferred for trial to the Federal court, which has jurisdiction over such cases.

A charge of bird shot was fired at close range into Calloway's back and in a statement dictated by the wounded man it was alleged that "the Federal undercover man shot him in the back and then clubbed him over the head with the butt of a shotgun." The Chilton County man is still under treatment at a Clanton hospital.

Some time before the shooting of Calloway the officers had found a still in that vicinity, it was reported.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE YEAR CLOSES LAST OF OCTOBER

October 31st brings to a close this year's work of the Peoples Telephone Company. Therefore, a meeting of the phoneholders will be held at the courthouse in Clanton on Saturday afternoon, October 31, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. Everybody interested in the company is urged to be present at this meeting. New officers for the coming year will be elected, and other business attended to. Phoneholders pleace take notice and bear the date of the meeting in mind.—O. R. Robinson.

Fire Chief Requests Traffic Observance

Wants Automobiles Kept Out Of the Way Of Fire Fighters

Loren Smith, chief of the Clanton Fire Department, again issues a very timely warning to autoists concerning their behavior when a fire is being attended by the firemen and fire engine.

Under such conditions automobiles are not supposed to come within the block where the fire is or where the fire engine is being operated. To do so makes the operations of the fire department seriously handicapped.

Last Monday when the fire was being fought at the home of Judge Reynolds, automobiles crowded in all over the place, making a congestion of traffic that might easily have caused serious delay.

It would be well for the people of the town to take heed to the warning of Mr. Smith and keep their cars entirely out of the region close to a fire.

CHILTON ASSOCIATION MEETS AT THORSBY BAPTIST 14 - 15

Wednesday morning, the Chilton County Baptist Association convened in annual session at the Thorsby Baptist church. Rev. B. Lawrence of Clanton, the moderator, presided over the session. The session will run through today (Thursday).

COTTON REPORT

According to report of R. J. Jones, cotton census enumerator for Chilton County, there were 7,874 bales of cotton ginned in Chilton County from the crop of 1931, prior to October 1, as compared with 8,316 bales ginned prior to October 1 last year.

WHAT ABOUT STAPP?

The most important question that has confronted the people of Chilton County in a long time is: What shall we do about the County Agent?

You ought to be interested in this big question. If you are not, we hope you will get interested.

First turn to page 9 of this paper and read the summary of what Mr. Stapp has done since he has been in the work here.

Then there are many other things about the County Agency work you should consider in making up your mind how to vote on this question.

Above all, let us not be blind to the best interests of our farmers.

TRANSFER ASKED IN FRIDGE CASE

Chilton Will Defend Agent Indicted For Shooting Of Frank Calloway

A petition requesting that the case of the State of Alabama against C. F. Fridge, Federal prohibition agent, in the Coosa Circuit Court, which alleges that Agent Fridge fired with murderous intent on Frank Calloway during a still raid about two weeks ago, be transferred to the United States District Court, was drawn yesterday by J. O. Middleton, assistant United States District Attorney.

The petition probably would be filed in the Federal court here today, Mr. Middleton said, and upon the filing of the request the case would automatically be transferred to the Federal Court for a trial of Fridge. The petition sets forth the circumstances surrounding the shooting and asks that Judge Charles B. Kennamer, of the United States District Court, issue an appropriate order to the Coosa Circuit Court, commanding that court to certify the record of the case in that court to the Federal Court.

The order will also enjoin the State Court from proceeding further in the case.

Thus Agent Fridge will be tried in the United States Court for an offense committed against the State. He will be defended by the United States District Attorney and will be prosecuted by Solicitor Hardagree, of the Coosa Circuit Court, and a jury composed of citizens from the several counties in the Montgomery Division of the United States Court will hear the testimony.

Calloway, on the other hand, charged with a felony in connection with the operation of a still, is subject to trial in both the Coosa Circuit and the United States District Court.

In other words if the Coosa Court failed to convict Calloway he might be tried in the Federal Court for the same offense. The United States Supreme Court has held that in committing one offense against the prohibition law the offender has offended both the State and Federal Government and is liable for trial in both courts.

Agent Fridge, however, can be tried only in the Federal Court if the Federal Court orders transfer of the case, for under the Federal Statutes an employe of the government must answer to a Federal Court when he is charged with an offense committed while in the discharge of his duties as an agent of the Federal Government. However, in the case of Agent Fridge, only one law, that of the State of Alabama, has been violated for three is no Federal law against shooting a man unless such act occurs on property under the exclusive control of the United States government.

So Agent Fridge, if and when the case comes to trial, will he prosecuted by the State of Alabama, in a court of the United States, defended by the United States Attorney and subject to the penalty, upon conviction, which the United has prescribed.

Calloway is still in a hospital at Clanton and is believed to be recovering from gunshot wound fired into the lumbar region of the spine. Calloway said that he was shot down as he fled and after having been shot he struggled with the officer and wrested himself free, when the officer struck him on the head with the shotgun, inflicting a severe scalp wound. He said the officer admitted shooting him but refused to say why he shot him.

Fridge has not made any statement. The shooting was investigated by a special agent of the United States Prohibition Bureau and a report on the case has been filed with the bureau.

Fridge was indicted Thursday by a grand jury of Coosa County. He is at liberty under bond of $1,000.

CIRCUIT COURT HERE WEEKS OF 2ND AND 9TH

The circuit court of Chilton County, regular July term, convenes at the court house in Clanton on Monday, November 2nd, according to J. Z. Mims, Circuit Clerk. The civil trial docket will be held Monday thru Thursday of the week beginning on November 2nd. The criminal docket will be taken up on Monday, November 9th, and continue on to the latter part of the week. There will be no grand jury, as this body convened at the non-jury term two weeks ago. A very heavy docket is scheduled in both civil and criminal weeks of court.

State Supt. Harman Answers Brandon

State School Executive Gives Interesting Figures About Schools

In reply to a recent statement by ex-Governor Bill Brandon and an editorial by The Birmingham News, State Superintendent of Education, issues the following statement to the people of Alabama:

The Birmingham News, in an editorial appearing in its issue of Sunday, October 4, attributes to former Governor William W. Brandon a statement "that school taxes are sufficient if their proceeds were well spent and that the financial difficulties of Alabama schools are due largely to the needless overhead expense in the Department of Education at Montgomery," and further, "that much of the money which is sent to the State and then allocated and appropriated to the counties for schools has been wasted through needless supervision by the State Department of Education."

Assuming that the former Governor has been correctly quoted, I, as executive officer of the State Board of Education and head of the public school system of Alabama, chosen for this responsibility by the people of the State, am compelled to challenge the accuracy and the validity of the statements attributed to Judge Brandon. The statements attributed to him and the deductions therefrom by the News are not entitled to the serious consideration of the people of the State unless supported by evidence not appearing in its editorial utterance.

I would not be understood in any sense as questioning the motives of either the genial and popular former Governor or the able and distinguished editor of the News. It is true, as the News avers, that Judge Brandon has spoken eloquently all over Alabama in behalf of education.

In order clearly to appraise the present situation with reference to education in Alabama, it is necessary to maintain a clear distinction between the functions of the State Department of Education and the other administrative units of the Public School System.

The State Board of Education directs the affairs of the State Department of Education. The State Superintendent of Education with his professional and clerical assistants having offices at the Capitol in Montgomery constitute the State Department of Education. Any appraisal of the present financial difficulty of the schools in Alabama should not hold the State Department of Education responsible for more than the expenditures made to maintain that organization. The expenditures necessary for this purpose are but a very small part of the whole cost of education in Alabama.

The assertion attributed to Judge Brandon that the financial difficulties of Alabama schools are due largely to the needless overhead expenses in the Department of Education at Montgomery is pecularily surprising in view of the fact that of the total expenditure for education for the year ending June 30, 1930, amounting to $28,537,569, only $207,551 was spent for the maintenance of the State Department of Education. Of this latter amount $37,581 was obtained from Federal and benevolent sources, leaving a net cost to the State of only $169,970. This net cost to the State of the overhead expense of the State Department of Education, which includes all expenditures for administration and supervision by the State Department of Education, is less than six-tenths of one per cent of the total expenditure for education.

According to the Birmingham News, Judge Brandon attributes the financial difficulties of the State at this time largely to this needless overhead expense of less than $170,000. As a matter of fact this amount, if the entire department were abolished, would run the schools of the State of Alabama less than nine hours.

In the foregoing statements no consideration whatever is given to the fact that the Division of Schoolhouse Planning of the State Department of Education renders services to the tax payers of the State conservatively estimated at more than $80,000 nanually. Nor is consideration given to the fact that the teachers of the State paid the sum of $16,648 for services rendered by the department in the issuance of their certificates. Judge Brandon apparently does not realize that to abolish the supervisory force of the Division of Vocational Education alone would make it impossible for the State to avail itself of a fund amounting to $240,102 per year from the Federal government. The stipulation of the Federal government in releasing this amount is that it shall be expended under trained supervision.

Unfortunately the editor of the News does not define or specify "the frills and furbelows of education" that should be eliminated in order to reduce the expense bill for education in Alabama. However, in the absence of concrete evidence to the contrary, the State Department of Education denies responsibility for any unnecessary expense of the kind complained of. If, by "frills and furbelows," he means such courses as public school music, art, manual training, etc., we might explain that the Department of Education does not maintain supervision over such types of work, even though instruction in some of these subjects has been provided in the city school systems of Alabama over a long period of years.

The public school system of Alabama is administered by the State Board of Education, by sixty-seven county boards of education, by forty-six city boards of education, and by the boards of trustees of the three major institutions of higher learning. In addition to the services rendered to the public elementary and high schools through the State Department of Education, the State Board of Education directs the administration of the state teachers colleges, the Agricultural and Mechanical Institute for Negroes and the Alabama School of Trades. The county and city boards of education and other boards of control are charged by law with responsibility for the expenditure of the sum of money necessary to maintain our public school system. These moneys are not expended by nor for the State Department of Education. The State Department of Education does not control the expenditure of public school funds: it does supervise the administration of State appropriations to the end that they shall be legally disbursed and to the further end that the State may get the largest possible return on its education investments.

The State Superintendent of Education is ever willing and ready to give information to the public relative to the functioning of the Department of Education and other administrative units in the public school system.

Before Baby Comes

Turn the months of waiting into ease and comfort

Save yourself needless suffering. Guard against "caking." Mother's Friend will help you. It greatly relieves the pain and nervousness due to the distention and stretching of the skin and tissues, often preventing abdominal disfigurement. First prescribed by a doctor. Now time-tested for 60 years. Highly recommended by users, many doctors and nurses. Mother's Friend is applied externally. It may be secured from any druggist in the inexpensive $1.25 size. For your own sake and that of your dear baby's do try it. Mail coupon now for—

Free trial sample and helpful booklet

The Bradfield Co., Adanta, Ga.
Please send me FREE and post paid (under plain wrappers) your 24-page illustrated book in colors, "Things to Know Before Baby Comes," and a trial sample of Mother's Friend. (B)

Name .....
Street
or R. F. D. .....
City ..... State .....

TAX NOTICE

Collector's and Assessor's Round

WE WILL ATTEND AT THE FOLLOWING TIMES AND PLACES FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING THE STATE AND COUNTY TAXES FOR CHILTON COUNTY FOR THE YEAR 1931 AND ASSESSING TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1932.

Shoults, Beat 7	Oct. 15	Robinson's Store, Beat 12	Oct. 23
Stanton, Beat 8	Oct. 16	Providence, Beat 13	Oct. 26
Riderville, Beat 8	Oct. 17	Macedonia, Beat 14	Oct. 27
Thorsby, Beat 9	Oct. 19	Pletcher, Beat 15	Oct. 28
Coopers, Beat 10	Oct. 20	Culp Schoolhouse, Beat 15	Oct. 29
Cane Creek, Beat 11	Oct. 21	Providence, Beat 16	Oct. 30
Mineral Springs, Beat 12	Oct. 22	Clanton, Beat 4	Oct. 31

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct to attend in Person on the day of the appointment in your Precinct and then and there render to the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the 1st day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31st, 1931.

W. G. CULP, Tax Collector.
AKINS I. COLLINS, Tax Assessor.

Improved Uniform International

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 18

PAUL IN THESSALONICA AND BEREA

GOLDEN TEXT—Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 17:1-15; I Thess. 2:1-12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How We Ought to Hear.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Two Kinds of Hearers.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Two Kinds of Hearers.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Winning through Love.

I. Paul Preaching in Thessalonica (17:1-10).

1. His method (vv. 1, 2). He observed the divine order, to the Jew first, and was exceedingly anxious for his kinsmen in the flesh, but when they proved themselves unworthy, he turned to the Gentiles.

2. His message (v. 3). It was that Jesus is the Christ. In order to prove that Jesus is the Christ, he expounded unto them the Scriptures. Concerning Christ he set forth three propositions:

a. That Christ must needs have suffered (v. 3). The suffering Christ was not welcomed by the Jews. They had explained away such positive assertions as are set forth in Isaiah 53. They were looking for a Messiah of a different type. This is common today in our churches and Sunday schools. The cross is an offense.

b. "Risen again from the dead" (v. 3). This he also proved by the Scriptures.

c. "That this Jesus whom I preach unto you is Christ" (v. 3). He declared that the historic Jesus whom he had proclaimed had suffered and risen from the dead. Therefore, he is the predicted Messiah.

3. The attitude of the Jews toward his preaching (vv. 4-10). While some Jews believed and many Greeks, the envy of certain Jews was so aroused at Paul's success that they gathered together the worthless fellows of the town and set on foot a riot. They said, "These have turned the world upside down." It is true that the gospel is revolutionary, but not treason to right government. They turned the preaching of Paul into a specious lie. He preached the kingship of Jesus (v. 7). Jesus is most assuredly coming to reign on this earth.

II. The Character of Paul's Ministry at Thessalonica (I Thess. 2:1-12).

In this section we have exhibited the temper of the apostolic ministry. It becomes an ideal for such as would follow in his wake.

1. It was courageous (vv. 1, 2). In spite of shameful persecution, Paul persisted in his ministry, demonstrating his devotion to the Lord.

2. Honest and guileless (vv. 3, 4). He had no ulterior motive. As one sent of God, he faithfully ministered unto them.

3. Without flattering words (v. 5). Regardless of the difficulty of his positions, the prominence of the persons faced, he never resorted to flattery.

4. Without a cloak of covetousness (v. 5). The impelling force of his life was devotion to God and interest in lost men. Opportunity for personal gain he waived aside.

5. He did not seek glory from man (v. 6), his supreme aim being to honor God.

6. He was gentle and affectionate (vv. 7, 8). So vitally did he enter into the lives of the people that he displayed gentleness, even as a nursing mother with her children.

7. Unselfish (v. 9). In order that his motive be not questioned he labored night and day for his support.

8. Irreproachable and blameless (v. 10). He did not claim to be faultless, but he boldly challenged them as to his blamelessness.

9. His lofty aim (vv. 11, 12). It was that they would walk worthy of God in keeping with their high calling.

III. Paul Preaching in Berea (Acts 17:10-15).

1. His method (v. 10). He entered the Jewish synagogue and preached Christ unto them.

2. The reception of the gospel by the Bereans (vv. 11, 12). It was with gladness of heart. The message was just as new to these Jews and just as counter to their way of thinking as it was to the Thessalonian Jews, but they had a more noble disposition. Two things are said of them:

a. They received the message gladly.

b. They searched the Scriptures daily for the truthfulness of the message which they had heard.

3. The wicked action of the Jews (vv. 13-15). Wicked Jews from Thessalonica followed the missionaries and stirred up the people against them, making it necessary for them again to flee.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

Dr. Julius B. Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, will address an assembly of the University of Alabama school of commerce at 11 a. m., Wednesday, November 4. Dr. Klein, who is recognized as spokesman for the Hoover administration in matters pertaining to commerce, is coming to the University to confer regarding the retail management practice survey.

On Sunday afternoon, more than 100 girls were received into the membership of the Y. W. C. A. at the University at the annual recognition service. Miss Eunice Brunson, Mobile, president, presided.

Douglas McMullen of Schenoctady, N. Y., a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Alabama, has been awarded a scholarship in the Feagin School of Dramatic Art in New York City. He will leave for that city immediately to begin his work. McMullen will take courses in acting, voice, and pantomine.

The library of the Alabama State Geological Survey at the University of Alabama, said to be one of the best in the South in the field of science, will reopen to students. Books and magazines are being catalogued, and reading space will be provided. Miss Winnie McGlamery, graduate of John Hopkins, is librarian.

Miss Oleta Lewis of Citronelle, the first woman student in banking at the University of Alabama, has been awarded the scholarship granted annually by the American Banking Association. The scholarship is given to a student making a study of banking.

Sin

Sin sprang into life, and I saw myself a dead man. It is remarkable that Christianity is the only religion that produces this effect. There is no word in any non Christian language for sin as moral evil.—D. M. Panton.

Sticking to the Finish

Character is developed by fighting a plan through to success and triumphing over obstacles. Anyone can start, but only a person with character will stick to the finish.—Watchword.

Mr. Howard Parrish left Monday to accept a job in Birmingham.

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO

DALLAS COMPRESS CO.

Cheapest Insurance (27½ cents a year per $100.00).

Our cheap freight rate to port makes Selma the best interior cotton market in the State.

Commission for selling and rendering account sale, 25 cents per bale. Ample space for storing this year's crop.

Dallas Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

ADDING MACHINE PAPER

Single roll 15c Two rolls 25c

The Union-Banner

PHONE 63

OUR BIGGEST AND OUR BEST TASK

DR. L. E. BARTON PRESENTS PLAN OF BAPTISTS IN ALABAMA

It is reported from Baptist headquarters in Montgomery that plans for the new promotion work and Every-Member Canvass are going forward steadily. State, district, association, and church committees have been or are being appointed so as to complete the organization for the distribution of literature among the church members and the forming and training of committees to be ready for Every-Member Canvass, November 30-December 6.

Dr. W. P. Wilks is chairman or director fo the Eastern District, in which this county is located. At the district meeting in Alexander City various reasons and arguments for accomplishing this big task were offered and discussed. The magnitude of the undertaking was duly emphasized. It was said by one speaker that he could not favor a proposition that was impossible, nor could he favor an undertaking that was unreasonable; neither could he be enthusiastic for a task that is not difficult. He urged that this is not impossible because it is God's work. God can bring it to pass through his servants. Also that it is not unreasonable because the Baptist people, with purpose of heart and sacrificial service, can do it. Third, that it is challenging and glorious because of its difficulty. It will take our full strength and cooperation.

Another reason assigned was that it is scriptural. It is according to I Cor. 16:2, which says: "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." That describes weekly, systematic, adequate, and universal giving by the people of God. Baptists must fight out their financial battles as all other battles according to Scripture, if it takes a thousand years. Nobody needs to apologize for this undertaking. The word of the Lord is back of it. The plan will care for the home work of the churches and for the missionary and benevolent causes which the denomination supports. This is intensely scriptural. The Apostle Paul said: "They that preach the gospel shall live of the gospel." The New Testament plan is that the gospel shall be preached among all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. Another good reason for doing the task is the financial depression. Instead of being an excuse for not doing it, the financial conditions constitute a prime reason for its accomplishment. Many have suffered serious losses and cannot give as much as formerly. Therefore the greater necessity for enlisting a larger constituency. Then, to be honest and frank, it will help people spiritually to make a sacrifice and give to the Lord's work out of their poverty. Moreover, most people are spending for the things that they really want. They are playing and enjoying themselves much in the same way as formerly. Why spend money for that which profiteth not? Why put money into "bags with holes in them" as the prophet said? Why should God's people not learn to make his cause first and their luxuries and pleasures second, or cut them out altogether? The churches need to do this task for their own temporal and spiritual welfare.

Rev. James Ivey, pastor of Wetumpka Baptist Church, is publicity man for the Eastern District. He will help to inform the churches. Literature will be sent from the headquarters' office in Montgomery to church directors as soon as they are appointed. The directors will get this into the hands of the members promptly so that the people will be informed and understand the worthiness of the promotion movement. A handbook has been prepared by the general committee on literature and will be ready for distribution by the time this article appears in print. Church should secure copies of this book, and, under the leadership of the pastor and church director, it should be taught to all the departments and organizations of the church.

Baptists have gone in to teach the scriptural doctrine of missions and stewardship, and better church efficiency at home, and more adequate support of missionary and benevolent causes thoughout the earth. Nor will they cease till victory crowns their efforts.

We Handle Acton RED ASH

COAL

Every Lump Guaranteed

Terms will be Strictly

CASH

This Winter

R. L. BAKER

PLEASANT HILL NEWS

The Eastern Singing Society met at Pleasant Hill Sunday afternoon. A very large crowd attended. Directors for the afternoon were: Posey Cleckler, Lorenza Sanders, Floyd Little, Jesse Driver, Enoch Traywick, Lawson Lowery, Andrew Blow, Miss Lillie Mae Weldon, Willie Mae Crawford and Vergia Cost. Organists were: Miss Mattie Driver, Willie Mae Crawford and Lillie Mae Weldon. The society will meet next Sunday afternoon at Mt. Zion, so everybody come and help us. Our prayer meeting and Sunday school both are good, but we want it made better. We need more of the old folks to come and help us out. Rev. Willie Dyer from Randolp will preach for us Saturday night and Sunday. We hope to have a large crowd out to hear him. Don't forget the singing at Mt. Zion Sunday and be back with us every second Sunday.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

HOW TO SELECT GOOD SEED CORN IS TOLD

Selection of a supply of good seed corn for 1932 is an important October job for every Alabama farmer. Careful selection on the farm will give a corn that is superior to varieties grown in some other sections under different soil and climatic conditions. Selection should be done both before and after harvest. Before harvesting go through the field and select seed ears, keeping in mind the following points:

1. Select for vigorous stalks as shown by superiority over surrounding stalks. Do not select stalks that are good because of extra space or other favorable conditions. Select stalks of medium height that do not break.

2. Select for two or more ears per stalk and preferably with ears turning down. Use both ears from a stalk.

3. Select ears with shucks extending well over tips.

4. Select ears from stalks which are free from disease. It is necessary to select many more ears than will be needed for planting for these should be re-selected after harvesting. In this last selection the following points should be kept in mind: (a) Select ears having smooth, hard, dense, heavy, and relatively large grains. (b) Select long, heavy ears, with not too many rows of kernels. (c) The shuck and cob should be clean and show no discoloratoin. (d) Preferably the ears should be well filled out. This character, however, is of minor importance.

5. Store seed corn so that it will be protected from mice and insects.

COTTON CROP SECOND LARGEST ON RECORD

Alabama Crop Forecast At 1,385,000 Bales

Indications on October 1 were that the United States is this year producing 16,283,000 bales of cotton, the second largest crop ever produced in this country. The record crop was in 1926, when 17,977,000 bales were produced.

The forecast for Alabama is 1,385,000 bales, which is not quite as large as the crop harvested last year, which was 1,473,000 bales, but will be larger than the crop of 1929, and slightly less than the crop of 1926, reports F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician.

The condition on which the Department of Agriculture forecast was made was 69 per cent of normal for the United States and 68 per cent for Alabama. The average yield per acre indicated for the United States this year is 190.5 pounds and for Alabama 196 pounds.

The indicated production by states follow:

Virginia, 39,000 bales; North Carolina, 730,000; South Carolina, 929,000; Georgia, 1,350,000; Florida, 36,000; Missouri, 246,000; Tennessee, 536,000; Alabama, 1,385,000; Mississippi, 1,740,000; Louisiana, 850,000; Texas, 5,100,000; Oklahoma, 1,195,000; Arkansas, 1,750,000; New Mexico, 94,000; Arizona, 123,000; California, 174,000; all others states, 7,000; lower California, 32,000.

The Federal land bank of Louisville, Ky., handled 50 per cent more farms during the first seven months of 1931 than during 1931, and the sales were made upon a more satisfactory basis, according to the president of the bank. The majority of them were made to bona fide farmers who will operate them.

Final figures made public by the U. S. Treasury showed income tax collections of $267,600 in September, a reduction of $231,000,000 from the same month of a year ago. For the quarter the income tax receipts were $313,837,100, a drop of $241,000,000. Total government receipts amounted to $588,675,700, a decrease of $244,000,000 while expenditures were $968,671,500, an increase of $191,000,000.

DEMABEL'S Beauty Salon

PHONE 150

Hair Cut 25c
Finger Wave 50c
Marcel 75c

Hand-tinted Christmas Cards now ready

Snapshot and Photo Tinting in oil and water colors

THE COTTON PLAN

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your good paper to say a few words in regard to the cotton plan, as the cotton is just about out of the poor farmers' hands. I feel like it would be a mistake not to allow any cotton at all for 1932, but on the other hand give the farmer a chance. Let every farmer raise as much cotton as he wants to but only allow him to to put so much on the market each year for a while. I will say let the farmer put 400 pounds of lint cotton on the market to each member of the family. For instance, a family of 5, let them put 2,000 pounds of lint cotton on the market, and if he raises more than that, make him keep the surplus at home, and let this be the farmer only, not the man who has the farming done.

As this is all that I have to say at this time, I will close by wishing everybody good luck.—Marvin Hilyer, Clanton, Ala., Route 5.

It is reported that President Hoover has given his general approval of a plan for a six-hour working day which is being put into effect among chemical plants allied through the manufacturing chemists' association.

For the United States as a whole, Iowa State College at Ames thinks that the demand for horses and mules will decline 4 or 5 per cent during the next 10 or 15 years, while the demand for beef cattle will remain practically as at present and the demand for dairy products may increase.

Practical consolidation of four great eastern railroads is to be effected through a plan recently announced. The consolidation means the realignment of 50,000 miles of railroad worth nearly ten billion dollars. The railroads are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and Chesapeake and Ohio.

STATE BURNED NINETY COLONIES OF BEES

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 12.—The Alabama Department of Agriculture borned 90 colonies of bees infected with American Fool Brood and three shipments of bees shipped into the state in violation of the Alabama bee law during the past year, according to the annual report of Thomas Atchison, apiary inspector.

Mr. Atchison inspected 23,780 colonies in 521 apiaries and found 27 apiaries infected with diseases. "I found the source of infection and burned the infected colonies," he said.

4,000 SCALES, PUMPS, MEASURES CONDEMNED

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 12.—Over 4,000 scales, pumps, and measures were condemned and 32 lots of gasolene and kerosene were suspended from sale in Alabama during the past year, reports H. S. Holloway, chief of the Weights and Measures Division of the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries in his annual report to Seth P. Storrs, commissioner.

Mr. Holloway reported that of the 45,636 scales, gas and oil pumps and liquid and dry measures inspected, 41,547 were found to be correct and 4,089 incorrect. Of the 8,806 samples of gasoline and kerosene collected and tested 8,774 were correct in grade and 32 were off grade. The incorrect scales, pumps and measures were condemned and the off-grade lots of gasoline and kerosene were suspended from sale.

FROM S. M. EDWARDS

Editor Union-Banner:

I notice that the Commissioners Court again wants to know what the people think of the county farm demonstration agent. I think that should be a question for the farmers to settle, for it is purely a farm question. The farmer is better qualified to say whether Mr. Stapp is of valuable service to him or not.

This question came up twelve months ago in one of those famous mass meetings. Mr. Stapp received the endorsement of every farmer present in the meeting. Of course we did not expect the chicken feed and seed dealers to endorse Mr. Stapp, simply because he helps the farmer to sell his surplus chickens at a much better price than the speculator will give him. He also helps them to get their seed, and sees that they get the best. He helps with our terrace problems.

The county agent is doing a great deal for the youth of our county, by instilling in their minds the value of pure bred stock, soil building, and many other valuable things. Of course, Mr. Stapp can not help us unless we will give him a chance to help us. I have not used him to the extent that I should have, but that is my fault when I have not called on him. He has offered his services to me, and that is as far as he can go. I see him giving valuable assistance to others, and whether I ever call on him or not, he is worth many times what the county puts out on him to the farmers of Chilton County.

And now a few words to the speculator who lives from the labor of the farmers. If you are not satisfied with Mr. Stapp helping the farmers, and you feel that you are not getting what you would if you could get him out of the way, you just quit the speculating game and go to farming, and I will guarantee you that you will welcome any assistance you can get under this "Hoover Prosperity."

And now here comes Miller with that stiff handled broom asking us to vote another twenty-five million dollars of bonds on our shoulders, notwithstanding we are already crushed to the ground and in bankruptcy. I hope to see this bond issue beaten the worst of anything that has ever been offered to the voters.

Let Governor Miller get hold of the right end of that stiff handled broom and cut his own salary, and then cut the salary of every other officer down to the constable. The officers are getting too much of our tax money in salaries. They are the only set of people who are expecting their same salaries, fees, per cent, etc. Whether the old farmers can get it for them this time is very doubtful. He has carried his burdens about to the end of his ability.

History tells us that depression has been the cause of all revolutions. If these times continue, God only knows what will be next.

Farmers, go to the polls and vote for your own interests. Don't listen to some fellow who is interested only in his own behalf.—S. M. Edwards, Thorsby, Ala., October 12, 1931.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

I, W. H. Gillespie, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 10th day of November, 1931 an election will be held at the several polling places in Chilton County, Alabama, for a vote by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, in the manner and form and places as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, namely:

"ARTICLE XXI. Section 219 of the present Constitution is hereby annulled and set aside and hereafter the Legislature of Alabama may provide for the assessment, levy and collection of a tax upon inheritances and for the levying of estate taxes not to exceed in the aggregate the amounts which may by any law of the United States be allowed to be credited against or deducted from any similar tax upon inheritances or taxes on estates assessed or levied by the United States on the same subject. The Legislature shall have the power to levy such inheritance or estate taxes in the State of Alabama only so long as and during the time an inheritance or estate tax is enforced by the United States against Alabama inheritances or estates, and shall only be exercised or enforced to the extent of absorbing the amount of any deduction or credit which may be permitted by the laws of the United States now existing or hereafter enacted to be claimed by reason thereof as deduction or credit against such similar tax of the United States applicable to Alabama inheritances or estates."

This, the first day of October, 1931.

W. H. GILLESPIE,
Sheriff Chilton County, Ala.

10-8-4ch.

Saturday, October 31st, is the day to get shaped up for squirrel hunting. You can do this best at our sale that day on guns and shells. Wait and save money.—Clanton Building Supply Co.

"Some Railroad Facts"

(An Editorial Reprinted by Permission From The South Bend News-Times.)

"Taxes paid by highway freight carriers in the form of gasoline excises and license fees are expended chiefly for what?

For maintaining the highways over which these freight carriers pass and for constructing new ones.

Taxes paid by the railroads—they average nearly $1,600 yearly for every mile of track—go for what? Maintenance of the railroad lines? Not at all. Maintenance of the governments that maintain highway freight lines for competition with the railroads.

Maintaining a mile of railroad for a year costs about $3,500. Who pays that? The taxpayers? Oh, no; the taxpayers pay for maintaining the roadbed for the motor trucks; the railroads pay for their own maintenance and also for a share of the maintenance of their competitors.

Part of the revenue of the railroads comes from hauling the mails. The Federal Government is subsidizing a competitive form of mail transport, the airmail, by paying 105 times as much per pound as it pays the railroads.

Why should anybody care whether the people kill the railroads by supporting fine highways for freight transport and restricting the railroads in their operations, preventing them from operating on the highways?

Because it is not good for the people to have railroads in a perilous financial position and likely to default on their bonds. But some one answers, few people own railroad bonds. Quite true; but the life insurance companies own them, and many people have bought life insurance policies and expect the companies to be ready to pay death claims in full and to meet cash surrender and loan demands.

Many savings banks, especially the large eastern mutuals, are heavy investors in railroad securities.

Federal state aid for roads at the rate of $125,000,000 a year comes out of the pockets of the taxpayers, much of it from the railroads; and is used for building up a competitor to the railroad—the highway freight and passenger line.

Is the whole thing unfair and dangerous? It is unfair and economically perilous. It is suicidal. Let it alone a few years, and the railroads will be whipped.

Can anything be done? Certainly something can be done. That is what we have a Congress for, and a President to advise and suggest."

The Management of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has been impressed with the clear statements contained in the above reproduced editorial concerning the operation of American Railroads. It hopes that every reader of this newspaper, every law maker, and every newspaper editor will read this editorial carefully and digest the facts contained therein.

THE OLD RELIABLE L&N LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R. L-5

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

STATEMENT

Of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of The Union-Banner, Published Weekly at Clanton, Alabama, for October 1, 1931.

State of Alabama, County of Chilton, ss:

Before me, a notary public, in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared W. M. Wyatt, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Editor of The Union Banner and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publishers, editor, and business manager, are: Publishers, W. M., and T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.; Editor, W. M. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.; business manager, T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

That the owners are W. M. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.; and T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

W. M. WYATT, Editor.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 10 day of October, 1931.

M. D. FOSHEE,
Notary Public.

COMMUNITY COTTON PICKING

Rev. Zac Appleton reports that the people of Collins Chapel gathered at the farm of Volley Littleton Tuesday, October 6th, for a community cotton picking. There were about 50 people present. Three bales of cotton were picked.

The occasion was to help Mr. Littleton, who was behind with his harvesting on account of the serious illness of his son, James Osmond, who has been in a Montgomery hospital for several weeks.

In this connection Rev. Appleton said that Mr. Littleton and his family had requested him to express for them their thanks and appreciation for the kindness of their neighbors and friends.

Judge Reynolds went to Birmingham last Tuesday to attend the United States Good Roads Association that was being held there.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

When in Need of Medicine Ask Your Registered Druggist

We have moved back to Masonic Building

THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

NEWS FROM PELHAM

Mrs. B. M. Maddox visited her sister, Mrs. P. M. Moore, in Clanton last week, and reported an enjoyable time.

Mr. B. M. Maddox and two daughters, Miss Bessie, and Mrs. Louise Yeager, and husband, and niece, Miss Gladys Maddox, attended the singing at Helena last Tuesday night and reported a nice time.

Mr. and Mrs. Tennyson gave a little party last Thursday night. Those present were Mr. Robert Dennis of Pelham, Miss Bertie Mae Chamberlain of Cottage Hill and Mrs. B. M. Maddox and family of Pelham. Every one was full of laughter over the riddles that were told.

Mr. Joe Lee Griffin of Tarrant, accompanied by Mr. Fred Langford of Pelham, called on Mr. Maddox last Friday night to demonstrate a radio, and the good music was greatly enjoyed I am sure.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Maddox and family entertained a number of their friends last Saturday night by giving an old time candy pulling and peanut parching, which everyone enjoyed. Just before departing, several popular songs were rendered by the group. Those present were Miss Ruby, Lena and Don Busby, Mr. Robert Dennis, Miss Bertie Mae Chamberlain, Mr. Frank Silery, Mr. and Mrs. Tennyson and four sons, Clarence, Lonnie, Presley and Clyde.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

"The Best INVESTMENT I Ever Made"

ONLY $10 DOWN

24 months to pay the balance!

All of the resources of nature that this company works with were provided for man and his happiness, and nothing that the company can do with them is worth anything unless it can serve the human unit and serve it right. This the company attempts always to do.

THAT'S what you'll hear from the owners of these efficient, silent General Electric refrigerators, whose health and happiness returns have made an amazingly profitable showing! Foods are better, dispositions happier, health surer! And these are REAL profit points! Then, too, the investment is a safe, permanent one. G. E.'s principle of simplified electric refrigeration assures enduring service; simple, economical, quiet operation, with minimum attention. Now is the time to install a G. E. in YOUR KITCHEN on these remarkably reasonable terms:—

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

ALABAMA'S LARGEST
HILL'S
FOOD DISTRIBUTORS

SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK-END
Friday & Saturday

Lard Pure Hog lb 10c
BRING YOUR BUCKET

Lard Compound 6 lb pail 52c

Lard Compound 45-lb can $3.60

Bacon sliced lb 21c

Flour Split Silk 24-lb bag 49c
(Plain or Self Rising)
Per Barrel $3.75

White Meat best quality per lb 9½c

Meat Salt Butts per lb 7½c

Soap O.K. 5 1-lb bars 22c

Washing Powder 3 boxes for 10c

Sugar 10-lbs 49c

Shorts Best grade 100-lbs $1.25

Matches 10 large boxes 25c

Coffee Best Grade 7-lb ground $1.00
Guaranteed to please or money back

RICE Blue Rose 5-lb 25c

Apples Evaporated per pound 12½c

Peaches Evaporated per pound 10c

Prunes medium size lb 6c

Bring Us Your Chickens and Eggs
We Pay the HIGHEST CASH PRICES

ALABAMA'S LARGEST
HILL'S
FOOD DISTRIBUTORS
Clanton, alA.

Jury Term Circuit Court November 2

First Week Will Be Trial Of Cases On the Civil Docket

Monday, November 2, 1931

W. E. Baker, vs., Alabama Machinery & Supply Co., ejectment.

Ida J. Bradford, vs., Evelyn W. Christ, suit on contract.

The H. C. Whitmer Co., a corp., vs., W. C. Mims, et als., account.

International Projector Cor., vs., Earle Thomas, note.

W. B. Giles, vs., J. L. and Ervin Crawford, damage.

Bankers Bond Co., a corp., vs., W. M. Polk, notes.

Benson Paint & Varnish Co., vs., P. G. Marcus, etc., account.

S. M. & R. Co., Inc., a corp., vs., Mrs. W. C. Robinson, account.

Ellis Rhodes, vs., D. C. and J. Hance Alred, account.

R. Moates, vs., Farmers Gin & Warehouse Co., etc., detinue or damage.

Tuesday, November 3, 1931

Edward Rogers, etc., vs., L. & N. R. R. Co., and W. A. Geiger, damage.

J. E. Rogers, vs., L. & N. R. R. Co., and W. A. Geiger, damage.

J. E. Rogers, vs., L. & N. R. R. Co., and W. A. Geiger, damage.

Lorene Messer, vs., Langley Bus Co., etc., damage.

George McCain, vs., Farmers Gin & Warehouse Co., etc., detinue or damage.

E. Robinson, vs., Farmers Gin & Warehouse Co., etc., detinue or damage.

Lue Langston, vs., Southern Railway Co., a corp.

J. R. Peek, vs., J. L. and Ervin Crawford, damage.

Mrs. Ida J. Bradford, vs., Mrs. Evelyn W. Christ, damage.

Lee Edwards, vs., Dr. E. G. Hyman, damage.

Consumer's Roofing Co., a corp., vs., J. Freddie Dennis, account.

Central Alabama Hospital, a corp., vs., Capital Coaches, a corp., account.

Taylor Wholesale Co., etc., vs., Estate of D. I. Deramus, etc., note.

Cleve Adams, vs., W. E. Smith, damage.

J. D. Cleckler, vs., J. S. Williams, appeal from J. C.

J. A. Maddox, et als., vs., A. L. Giles, note.

Wednesday, November 4, 1931

John Sparks, vs., W. L. Mikiel & Southern Natural Gas Co., damage.

Arley Sparks, a minor, etc., vs., W. L. Mikiel & Southern Natural Gas Co., damage.

Wampold Loeb Shoe Co., etc., vs., W. C. Robinson, etc., account.

N. C. Peterson, et als., vs., Drennen Motor Car Co., a corp., damage.

Tiffin-Klinner, a partnership, etc., vs., J. M. Wright, damage.

Burnice Hubbard, vs., J. M. Wright, damage.

K. V. Klinner, vs., J. M. Wright, damage.

Mrs. Francis D. Edwards, vs., Lee Edwards, et als., contest of will of J. W. Edwards.

Plosser Knecht Flour & Grain Co., vs., S. J. Reynolds, note.

Alabama Machinery & Supply Co., a corp., vs., John Rockett, doing business, etc., account.

C. W. Beggs Sons & Co., vs., G. W. Moore, doing business, etc, account.

Prometheus Electric Cor., a body corp., vs., J. E. Edgar, note.

W. I. Mullins, vs., Tom C. Cleckler, et als., account.

J. A. Maddox and A. D. Maddox, etc., vs., Grady Sawyers and D. Y. Johnston, note.

Thursday, November 5, 1931

A. C. Smith, vs., J. D. Ray and M. F. Blankenship, etc., claim suit.

J. N. Scott, vs., J. E. and S. A. Lovett, appeal from J. P. C.

The J. R. Watkins Co., a corp., vs., J. P. Parrish, et als., account.

F. L. Headley, vs., W. G. Blow, note.

J. M. Johnson, vs., E. E. Plier, damage.

The H. C. Whitmer Co., vs., W. A. Jones, et als., account.

Alice Lee, vs., W. A. Sellers, damage.

Annie Gross, vs., W. A. Sellers, damage.

C. E. Lee, vs., W. A. Sellers, damage.

The John Deere Plow Co., vs., N. O. and W. Buster Roebuck, note.

Southern Holding Co., a corp., vs., H. H. Webb, note.

J. P. Lawrence, vs., Eric Hart, detinue.

Moore & Handley Hardware Co., vs., Eric Hart, doing business, etc., account.

Nehi Bottling Co., vs., Mrs. A. S. Boyd, damage.

B. M. Inzer, vs., Mrs. A. S. Boyd, damage.

Craddock-Terry Company, a corp., etc., vs., H. H. Hays, account.

QUARTERLY MEETING

The Quarterly Meeting of the Chilton County W. M. U. will be held with Liberty Hill Baptist Church on October 22. So be ready with your reports and be there.—Mrs. W. H. Raybon, sec'y-treas.

3 GUNMEN SOUGHT FOR KILLING FLORIDA ATT'Y

Brooksville, Fla., Oct. 13.—A hunt for three gunmen who assissinated Herbert Smithson, 36, city attorney, in front of the Tangerine Hotel last night extended to all parts of the state today.

A coroners' jury impaneled soon after the killing met today under the supervision of County Judge John Whitehurst and recessed until next Tuesday before hearing witnesses.

Sheriff William D. Cobb said officers were working on several theories and all would be developed for presentation to the grand jury. He would not say whether a motive had been determined or if clues had been obtained to the identity of the gunmen.

Funeral was held for Smithson today in charge of American Legion post of which he was commander. The body will be sent tomorrow to Talladega, Ala., Mrs. Smithson's home, for burial.

Smithson, before going to Florida, was an attorney in Bessemer.

JUDGE MATT D. WIGGINS DIES IN JURY ROOM

Decatur, Ala., Oct. 13.—While testifying before the Morgan County grand jury this morning, Matt D. Wiggins, probate judge, slumped forward in his chair and was dead before physicians could be called.

Judge Wiggins had been in ill health for some weeks and had been under treatment in a hospital.

A few minutes after being called to the grand jury room, Judge Wiggins was seen to slump in his chair. A physician was called and said he apparently had died from a heart attack.

It was understood the grand jury was making a routine check of county bonds preparatory to adjourning today.

Bob Connell was in Clanton Monday. He suggested that if the folks in town would burn pine knots for fuel this winter it would give many farmers a chance to make a few dollars by supplying them.

POWER CRAZY

By Wickes Waboldt in The Birmingham Age-Herald

How much power can you stand? How much force can be placed in your hands without making a fool of you?

There are fellows who as pedestrians are courteous, but riding a bicycle they are cocky; driving an automobile, they are overbearing; behind the wheel of a five-ton truck, they are absolutely tyrannical.

In every walk of life you find the person who cannot stand power. He hasn't the mind, or perhaps I had better say, hasn't the experience, he hasn't the development to know how to use power, how to appreciate the responsibilities and obligations that go with power. The possession of power drives him crazy.

Smetimes a good workman is turned into a complete jackass by being elevated to foreman. Sometimes a clerk is ruined beyond redemption by being given a managership.

One of the nicest chaps I ever knew was utterly spoiled because his firm made him buyer. He was fine as a subordinate, but the moment he was given authority his head was turned; his whole character was altered. Eventually he was discharged, but he had been ruined, for he wasn't satisfied ever again to be subordinate. And he didn't have balance enough to be an executive.

All over this country voters ruin men by elevating them to executive posts. A chap who has admirably filled a minor position and won a host of friends in the capacity, decides to run for mayor. His popularity wins him the ofice. But as soon as he gets the reins of government in his hands he goes power crazy. Overnight he becomes an intolerable despot. Nobody can do anything with him. He believes that he is infallible. He gets the idea into his head that he is the great I am. He rides roughshod over everybody. He regards the city as his personal property, and the citizens as his to do with as he pleases.

Great care and thought should be exercised in the matter of raising anyone to a position of power.

One reason the rich man is supposed to have no more chance of getting into heaven than the camel has of galloping through the eye of a needle, is that riches are power—and power is likely to damn the souls of those who get it.

"The world is mine," the man with power is apt to believe—and he tries to eat it like an oyster. The more power he gets the crazier he gets. Look at the kaiser of Germany. He wrecked his kingdom, deposed himself and nearly wrecked the world because he went power crazy.

The monarchy is the most effective form of government, but its great weakness, its great condemning weakness, is that it lays the people subject to the atrocities of rulers who may go power crazy.

Big persons, spiritually and mentally big, are liable to go cuckoo if given too much power. Little persons are liable to go cuckoo if given any power.

CONCORD-BILLINGSLEY

The ice cream supper which was held here last Saturday was a great success and well attended. We wish to thank everyone who attended for their presence, cooperation, and nice behavior.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Tindol had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Powell of Selma, Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Billinsley, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Chastine, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Williams, and Miss Edna Sims.

Mr. Tobe Missiltine of Birmingham spent the past week end with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cowart and his mother of Coosa County spent the past week end with Mrs. Cowart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shaw.

Miss Virginia Little was the Saturday night guest of her sister, Mrs. Horace Williams.

Mrs. Jackson Culver and little daughter, Mary Francis, visited Mrs. Dennis Misseltine, who is very sick, Sunday.

Miss Bessie Williams dined at the home of Mrs. Clide Little Sunday.

Mr. J. P. Williams and daughters, Jettie and Mary Evylin, took dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Williams Sunday.

Remember next Sunday is our regular preaching day. We invite you to come and bring your friend. Come in time for Sunday school, too.

ISABELLA SCHOOL NEWS

The Senior High Assembly of Isabella held its regular meeting October 12th. After business was disposed of the following program was rendered:

Song, assembly.

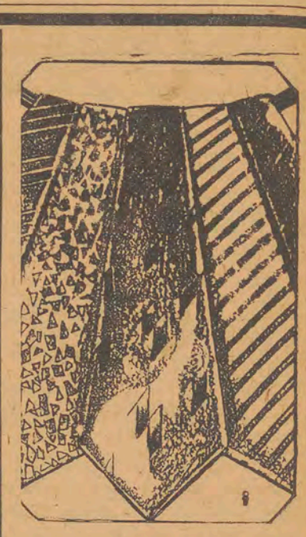
Devotional, Gertie Mae Owens.

"Some High School Ideals," Mildred Durbin.

"History of the Drama," Lorene Lecroy.

Adjournment.

The assembly is still progressing nicely and doing some splendid work, largely due to the good cooperation of the pupils and teachers. The duties of the members of the assembly are as follows:



1. Keep the rooms clean.
2. Keep paper off the campus.
3. Protect the school property.
4. Beautify the campus.
5. Encourage pupils to do better work, and see that there is no loitering of the pupils.

Mr. E. Davenport of Robertsdale, in Baldwin county, was in Clanton last Saturday. He attended the cotton mill stock meeting.

ENOCH DRIVER DIED

Enoch Driver, age 71 years, died Monday morning at the home of his son, J. L. Driver, in Shiloh community. He was buried Tuesday at Bethel. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Tucker and Rev. Davis. Burial arrangements were in charge of Martin & Sons.

Mrs. Latham Ellis, of Birmingham, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mell Martin, the past week.

TIES

Play an important part in making you look your best. Let us keep yours spotless and wrinkle free.

3 Ties - 30c
12 Ties - 1.00

CALL 119

CLANTON LAUNDRY AND CLEANING CO.
Clanton, Ala.

$10,000
ACCIDENT POLICY FOR $1.00

is now being offered regular subscribers of The Atlanta Journal. No physical examination. Age limit 15 to 65 years. Every day traffic and pedestrian accidents become more numerous. You owe it to yourself and family to secure this protection at once. Simply use the blank below.

OUR ORDER BLANK
$10,000.00 TRAVEL ACCIDENT INSURANCE POLICY
The Atlanta Journal

In consideration of my receiving a $10,000.00 Federalized Readers Service Accident Policy, I hereby subscribe for (or renew my subscription to) The Atlanta Journal daily and Sunday for a period of one year for which I agree to pay the regular authorized carrier at the rate of 20 cents per week (Mail subscription payable in advance $9.50 per year). See mail blank below; also, in addition to the above regular subscription price I am enclosing $1.00 registration fee for above policy. I understand that if I should at any time before one year from date of signing of this agreement discontinue the paper herein subscribed for, The Atlanta Journal reserves the right to cancel the above mentioned policy without further notice or rebate to me.

Age..... Name.....
Give name to whom policy is to be issued.

Address .....
Give Street No., Town and State

Name of Beneficiary .....

Relationship .....

Are you now a subscriber? .....
Please answer "Yes or No."

Give number and date of previous Policy, if any .....

Shall we start delivery of The Journal to above address? .....

.....

Note: Fill out the following blank if paper is to be delivered by mail.

To The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.:

I am enclosing herewith check or money order for $10.50 to cover subscription to The Atlanta Journal for one year, and the $10,000.00 Travel Accident and Pedestrian Policy.

Name .....

P. O. Address .....

Mens SERGE SUITS

Good quality 12-oz. all wool serge, will give extra good wear. All sizes $12.50

36-inch Broadcloth

Good quality in white and colors. While 200 yards lasts, per yard 10c

10-cent CHAMBRY

We have a good assortment in solid colors and stripes. For the next few days, per yard 5c

Boys Sheep Lined Coats

Real good quality leatherette coats, sheep lined collar, sizes 10 to 18. Special for $3.50

You Never Had Such An Opportunity Before

You have never had such opportunity to buy merchandise so cheap in your life. We are just listing a few of the many hundred items we have at real low prices. Make our store your headquarters for your merchandise buying, where quality counts.

LARGE SIZE

School Tablets

We have the 100-page ruff tablet and slick tablet, also note books. A 12-inch rule free with each purchase.

3 for 10c

MENS 75c DRESS SHIRTS

Our 69c and 75c shirts, white, and all sizes, reduced to

50c Each

36-INCH OUTING

The best buy you have ever seen —plaids, stripes, solids, in any amount

10c a yard

36-INCH

Sea Island Sheeting

We offer our trade 1,000 yards of this material for Friday and Saturday while it lasts, limit 20 yards to a customer

5c a yard

CHICAGO SALES COMPANY

Clanton, Ala.

Heavy quality Play Cloth

Just received new shipment of this good quality cloth for dresses, shirts, and childrens clothes. Nice patterns, fast colors, yard 10c

Mens Lined Jumpers

High stepper quality, fleece lined, in sizes 38 to 44, reduced to special price of $1.39

Childrens wool Sweaters

Big assortment of coats aid pull-over sweaters, some all wool, some part wool, all sizes $1.00

Childrens winter SHOES

Good shoes to sell cheap, elk upper, and rubber sole, will give good wear, sizes 8 to 2, only $1.00

A GREAT NATION-WIDE INDUSTRY

(By S. E. Norton)

Having gathered and packed our belongings on a bright September morning we boarded a trolley car for the first stage of a 400 mile trip to Brooklyn, Michigan. The trolley took us to Westfield, a station on the New York Central R. R. in the heart of the great grape growing section along the shore of Lake Erie. As we approached the station at Westfield we saw a sign on a large building reading "Welch Grape Juice Factory," and thought at once we might get some material here for our next letter, since many people, even the noted W. J. Bryan, are interested in grape juice. While waiting at the station for our train, we met a Mr. E. P. Harrison, whom we found was in some way connected with the office of the Welch plant. Being an intelligent young man, not averse to talk, we proceeded to "pump" him for information which we knew would be of interest to our readers. We soon had the base for description of a large and growing industry.

In 1869 the father of the Mr. Welch who is now president of the Welch Company, had twelve bottles of grape juice (unfermented) to be used at communion services in the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Vineland, N. J., where he then resided. This proved so satisfactory to himself and others of their church members that he conceived the idea of making and bottling unfermented grape juice for sacremental purposes commercially. Naturally, a conscientious man would seek only the best material obtainable for this purpose, and in 1889, being unable to secure in the Vineland section enough grapes of the quality desired to meet the needs of his rapidly growing business, he moved to Westfield, N. Y., where, in the midst of the great Chautauqua-Erie grape belt, he could supply his needs. Every product of the soil grows in abundance and perfection under conditions where nature's laboratories are best equipped for their particular needs, and here on the low lying sandy plains about three miles wide between Lake Erie and a ridge of sand hills at the back which protect it from chilling winds and early frosts, and stretching for sixty miles along the northerly border of Chautauqua County, New York and Erie County, Pa., that most delicious of all grapes, the Concord, grows and ripens to perfection under autumn skies. At St. Catherines, Ontario, just across Lake Erie and at Lawton in the great Michigan fruit belt, there are other smaller sections of the same general character, and at these places and at North East in this section, there are other Welch Grape Juice factories. If we correctly understood Mr. Harrison there are 36,000 acres of Concord grape vineyards in this section alone, which with the other mentioned, produce annually about 180,000 tons of grapes, of which about 60,000 tons are used for grape juice, the balance being marketed while in baskets.

When Mr. Welch entered this field the growers were getting $10 per ton, since then the average price has risen to $45, and last season, owing to a combination of circumstances, rose to the almost prohibitive price of $131 per ton, or upwards of 6c per pound to the grower.

We obtained from Mr. Harrison a very clear idea of the process employed in making and preparing grape juice for market, which we feel sure will be of interest to our readers.

In the first place, only the best of Concord grapes, grown under favorable conditions, are considered suitable for this purpose, as quality in the product is of first importance. Crates holding 25 pounds each of the grapes in bunches are used in the vineyard. The bunches are carefully cut from the vines and laid, not thrown, in the crates, which are then hauled to the factory in trucks or spring wagons, having a cover to protect the fruit from sun, rain or dust. On arrival at the factory they are washed by spraying with water at the rate of 35 tons per hour. This is done by built conveyers, and in no case are the grapes handled by any person. From the sprayer they are conveyed to picking machines which take the grapes carefully from the stems, which are passed on out and burned, while the grapes roll down tubes to kettles and subjected to heat which cracks the skin and releases the red coloring matter and rich aroma lying between the skin and pulp. All metal used in handling the grapes or juice is aluminum. From the kettles the mass is conveyed to the great hydraulic presses, where, in suitable quantities, it is run into strong cylinders made of slate set upright with small spaces between. Heavy cotton cloth is first put in the cylinder, and when sufficient pulp has been run in the cloth is folded over the top of the mass externally as cheese is prepared for the press. The plunger of the press is gently lowered and sufficient pressure applied to extract every drop of juice, but so uniform is the pressure that not a seed is broken. From the presses the juice is run into pasteurizing kettles and then into five-gallon glass bottles called carboys, sealed and left for months to settle and separate the gritty acid crystale called argols; which is in reality cream of tartar, the base of all good baking powder. After this the juice is syphoned from the carboys, a process which does not disturb the precipitated sediments at the bottom. It is then bottled in one or another of the various sizes of commercial packages, pasteurized once more, labeled and packed for shipment. These bottles contain nothing but the pure juice of the best Concord grapes, pasteurized to prevent fermentation, and comes to the purchaser in all its richness and flavor so well known all over the world.

Nature perfected the juice of the grapes within the globule by sunny days and cool nights of this favored section. Of this we had good evidence, as after leaving the station at Westfield—we passed hundreds of acres of well kept vineyards heavily loaded with great bunches of the purple fruit in which the harvest was just beginning.

Saturday, October 31st, is the day to get shaped up for squirrel hunting. You can do this best at our sale that day on guns and shells. Wait and save money.—Clanton Building Supply Co.

REMARKABLE CLUBBING OFFER
CLOSES OCTOBER 31

The Union-Banner, Weekly, one year
The Birmingham Post, Daily, one year
BOTH FOR $3.30

Here is an opportunity to procure your favorite local paper and a progressive independent daily newspaper at a very special price.

The Price of The Post alone is $3.50

The Union-Banner gives you all of the local news interestingly told. The Birmingham Post prints all the news of the state, nation and world and all the special features of metropolitan dailies.

Send all orders to
The UNION-BANNER
Clanton, Ala.

6c for Cotton

Friday and Saturday I will allow 6 cents a pound for all cotton applied on accounts.

R. W. LOWE

South Clanton, Alabama

Validity of Gasoline Tax Is Questioned

Montgomery Firm Files Action Claiming Levy Is Unconstitutional

Montgomery, Oct. 13.—Validity of the one-cent gasoline tax, passed as an emergency measure by the recent Legislature, again is under fire.

A suit changing the law is invalid on the ground that it conflicts with two sections of the constitution was filed in Montgomery Chancery Court Monday by the Woco Pep Company of Montgomery, naming S. R. Butler, state tax commissioner, and A. B. Tucker, chief clerk in the gasoline tax department.

The plaintiff contends that the law violates section 70 of the consiution, which prohibits passing a revenue measure after the forty-fifth legislative day and also that it conflicts with section 45 of the constitution.

The further contention is made that he tax is in violation of the 14th amendment of the federal constitution, which provides "no state shall make or enforce any law which abridges the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law."

The Supreme Court, in an advisory opinion has ruled that as a police measure the tax is valid.

The tax as finally approved provides that until October 1st, 1932, the revenue derived shall go to the State Highway Department for the maintenance and repair of roads and bridges, and after that date for two years shall be divided equally among the 67 counties of the State. The county provision was made in an amendment, which the bill of complaint declares is illegal.

Two Commit Suicide On The Same Day

Man and Woman In Elmore County Take Own Lives With Guns

Eclectic, Ala., Oct. 13.—Funeral plans were being completed here tonight for a man whom "neighborly gossip" drove to his death at the age of 23 years.

At the same time that Mrs. Helen Lloyd ended her life last night at her home near Wetumpka, a like tragedy was being enacted not 30 miles away, when Lloyd Jones, 23, of Eclectic, placed his baby on a bed, left his wife crying, went outdoors and shot himself through the heart.

The shooting took place just 24 hours after a reconciliation between Jones and his young wife, from whom he had been estranged. Mrs. Jones blamed "malicious gossip" for the act.

Returning home last night, Jones found his wife in tears over gossip she had heard. Their 7-months old baby was crying and Jones tried to rock him to sleep. A few moments later he put the baby on the bed, remarking to Mrs. Jones, "I can't stand to hear you cry like that."

He left the room and the shot followed. Mrs. Jones found her husband with a bullet through his heart. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. Funeral will be held this afternoon.

Prof. Montgomery, Mrs. Montgomery and Miss Leacy Newell, of Jemison, were visitors to Clanton Monday.

SNIDER CHILD DIED

Albert Gordon Snider, the two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Snider died Tuesday morning. Burial was at Walnut Creek Wednesday, in charge of Martin.

MRS. MANDY BOOZIER DIED

Mrs. Mandy Boozier, age 75 years, died Tuesday afternoon at her home in Mt. Pisgah community. Burial was at Mt. Pisgah Wednesday, with Martin in charge. Mrs. Boozier was the wife of Jake Boozier, who died September 24th this year.

SIX ARRESTS DURING WEEK

The office of Sheriff Gillespie reports six arrests for the past week. Of these, two were for grand larceny in connection with the theft of an automobile; one for violating the prohibition law; one for public drunkenness; two were arrested in this county for Coosa county authorities on charges of manufacturing liquor.

JACK HAYES BACK

As we go to press we learn that Jack Hayes, of the Washington baseball club, is back home for the winter. Jack says he has been staying with his aunt, where he can get good old Southern cooking. He looks it, too. We're glad to have "Jackie" with us again.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Minor were visitors to Clanton Tuesday.

You get the most Value for the least Cost in Telephone service

Of all the things you buy there is none that gives so much for so little as telephone service.

Many times during the day or week or month, in the ordinary affairs of life and in emergencies you see evidence of the value of the telephone and realize the indispensable part it plays in every business and social activity.

Men transact a great part of their business over it. Women use it constantly to save steps and time in social and household duties. In an increasing number of ways, it adds to the comfort and security of family life.

Subscribers who look back over the month and consider what the telephone has meant to them are quick to appreciate its unequalled value and low price.

They realize that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE and Telegraph Company
(Incorporated)

WADESONIAN
PROGRAMS

Friday and Saturday
OCTOBER 16TH and 17TH
"WESTWARD BOUND"
Serial—"Spell of the Circus"—All Talking

Mondany and Tuesday
OCTOBER 19TH and 20TH
"AFRICA SPEAKS"
Added features

Thursday
OCTOBER 22ND
"OTHER TOMORROW"
COMEDY—All Talking

The UNION-BANNER

Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama

W. M. WYATT and T. E. WYATT
Publishers and Proprietors

Entered April 15, 1913, at Clanton, Alabama, as Second Class Mail Matter, under Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

One Year	$1.50
Eight Months	1.00
Six Months	.75
Four Months	.50

(All Subscriptions Payable in Advance)

BELL PHONE 68 PEOPLES PHONE

The German and French premiers had a very satisfactory meeting in Berlin and we sincerely hope they didn't spend too much time whetting their political knives for their proposed visits to the United States.

The foreign correspondents tell us that little Prince Michael of Roumania passed his third grade examinations with an average of 98.7 per cent. Pretty good, but then maybe, in grading the papers, his teachers acted on the time honored theory that the king can do no wrong.

MORAL ECHOES

(By D. W. Haskew)

Not long since I was talking to a man, who could not look you in the eye, on the question of prohibition, and if he is correct in his ideals then there is no such thing as civilization. He said: "The prohibition laws are a failure. They are back of this depression and they are back of this crime wave." That man did not have enough to feed himself and family for two weeks, and yet he stood on the street corner and spouted "wisdom." Henry Ford is authority on the question of what is good for business. He was asked what he thought of prohibition. Listen to his own words: "Liquor never did anybody any good. I am against it in every form. I would not have a laborer who drinks. He can neither drink on or off duty. We can not afford to risk machinery that costs thousands of dollars, and priceless human lives, to a worker who poisons himself, even if he does his drinking outside of working hours. I do not want a man working for me if he has the smell of liquor on his breath, or if he is known to frequent bootleg joints." Mr. Ford has said in another interview. "No industrial leader with any sense will allow booze in his shop. We can not have liquor and automobiles. Gasoline and liquor do no mix." That sounds to me that when a man is found who argues against prohibition that some good spirit should put a tag on his back, "born by mistake."

There were six blind men carried to inspect an elephant over in India. When near the huge animal they were let go, and each one was asked to describe him by what he touched. One ran against his squirming snout and he said: "Jumbo is like a snake." One ran against the ear of the elephant and he said: "He is like a big fan." One struck the elephant's tusk and he screamed: "He is like a spear." One walked into his side and he declared that Jumbo was "a big wall." One struck against his leg and said: "He is just like a tree." The last man got hold of the elephant's tail and he said: "Jumbo is one long rope." They were all right and they were all wrong. When men are blinded on the question of morals, and run into the Jumbo of whiskey, they set up a howl about what is doing and how it isggo a howl about what whiskey is doing and how it is affecting the world. One says: "It is a tree to climb to a good time." Another affirms that it is "a big wall to support our government." Another says "it is a strong rope to support our civilization and liberty." Open your moral eyes, and you will see that whiskey is an elephant to trample down and destroy everything that steps into its path.

I know a Florida town where a mayor was to be elected. Two men were in the race for the place. One was a nice clean church member, the other was a member of the church, but he had the bad habit of drinking. The man who was owned by a bad habit was elected. This man had his "private bootlegger," and he would sit in judgment on Monday morning as mayor of the town, while his breath was foul with evidence of broken laws. It is needless to say that the dignity of the mayor's office in that town was in the dust. It is needless to say that the better class of people in that city thought that he should be impeached because he did not observe the laws that he was sworn to enforce. Stop and think.

I was pastor in a town where the whiskey business was allowed to run its course under cover. No one dared to take a stand against the evil because of conditions among the bootleggers, and because of conditions among the law enforcement. A young man was led into the awful habit of drinking because of his tendency and because of the easy run to be had. One afternoon while under the influence of this stuff, he jumped into a car and went dashing down the street, and ran over a little girl as she was crossing the street. There was a stop sign there for all travelers, but what does a drunk man care for signs. He is making use of his personal liberty, and no one else has a right to anything. It was a sad funeral. A poor mother was bereaved of her little darling, and all because men allowed rum to run free. I may be mistaken in my interpretation of what is going to take place at the judgment, but I am quite sure that some of us, and some of our law enforcement, will have the stain of innocent blood on our hands when we are before the final bar.

The story goes that a crazy man escaped from the assylum, carrying a pair of pliers with him. He wandered into the woods, and came across a huge rattle snake. The reptile was stretched upon the ground, full length, and before it had time to coil, or make plans to strike, the demented man leaped forward and seized the snake just back of its head. The mouth of the snake flew open, and the crazy man yanked out the poisonous fangs of the serpent with his pliers, and then wound it around his neck and went on his way. These fellows crying for "Modification," they think that they can yank out the poisonous tooth of whiskey. They think that they will be spectacular to walk into the presence of sane folks with modified drinking. Whiskey is a rattle snake, and fangs or no fangs, I do not want the reptile around me. If I must have whiskey or rattle snakes, give me the snakes every time. I know what to do to a rattle snake when he pokes his nose into my business.

BAD BUT COULD BE WORSE

Yes, times are hard, compared with the soft times we have just passed thsough, but they could be worse. With cotton selling at twenty-odd dollars a bale, and one-fourth of the people out of work, things look rather smoky. But listen to this:

Doctor Robinson brought in to The Union-Banner Monday morning a due bill which he and his father received for a bale of cotton at Jemison on February 26, 1895. The due bill, which was for the entire bale of cotton, called for the sum of $11.47. It was issued by I. N. Langston (per J.) to W. R. Robinson.

In seference to the due bill, Dr. Robinson said: "Don't know how come me to still have the thing, but guess the amount was so small that my father never went back to Jemison to get it cashed. I want you to write up an article about it to show the people that times have been hard before now—and people lived through it too. We are still having it pretty easy now: the only thoruble is that just before this depression, people lived too high and too fast. That's what makes it seem so tuff now. So, tell everybody to cheer up—times are not half so hard as folks try to make it seem."

W. R. Robinson and Doctor Robinson were operating a gin near the present home of J. L. Gore, and they got pay for their ginning by taking one-fifteenth of the cotton as toll. Seed were selling at 6 cents a bushel, and down.

Doctor Robinson is right, and The Union-Banner is glad to pass the idea on to our readers. You know, nothing is either good or bad except as compared with something else. So it is with present conditions. They are not bad except as compared with flourishing times; and to compare the present with 1895, we are not in a panic but are having good business. Let's get the idea that we are prosperous and we will be. "As a man thinketh, so is he."

The Silver Lining—This period of economic depression will not have been in vain if it arouses the American taxpayer to a militant attitude toward excessive taxation and prompts him to join property-owner divisions of realty boards and take other effective steps to combat high taxes.

A period of tight financial pinching seems to have been necessary to awaken the taxpayer to fight for his own interests against burdensome and unnecessarily high taxes.

The next quarter of a century should see a complete evolutionary change for the better in the taxing system in this country.—Pasadena Star-News.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

One of the proposals we are reading a great deal about nowadays, for repairing the ravages of the world-wide depression, is an international economic conference. This conference, it has been suggested, could do many things. For one thing, it is said, it could settle the questions of international debts and reparations. Then again it could bring about an agreement for a lowering of tariffs, and might reach some sort of an agreement for reallocating the gold of the world. All of these proposals are decidedly interesting from the American standpoint and deserve close scrutiny.

In the first place, any scaling down of the German reparations would be expected to bring an equal scaling down of the allied debts. Through this process the task of paying for the World War would be taken from the shoulders of the Germans and placed squarely on the shoulders of the people of the United States. We doubt whether this would be very popular in the United States, no matter how highly it might be acclaimed in Europe and in international circles here In the war settlements Uncle Sam demanded and accepted no reparations from Germany. He was willing to wipe out the slate clean in order that the world might get a good start. He even cancelled most of the debt owing nim from the allied nations excepting the part which contracted after the signing of the Armistice. It is hard to see therefore why he should be especially interested in reparations. The allied nations could have followed the same course that Uncle Sam did at the ilose of the war and if this had been done there would not be so many international problems today. At any rate, whether this would have been just or practicable at the time it is hard to see why Uncle Sam should be made to bear the burden of the war now.

Any lowering of the tariff would of course affect the United States more than any other nation for the reason that the highest wages are paid in America and the highest standard of living maintained here. It will be difficult therefore to convince the American people that it will help us out of the slough of depression to open our markets to the cheap labor products of Europe and the Orient. Then there is the matter of the redistribution of gold. There is no doubt that Uncle Sam has a big share of the world's supply of the precious metal. But he did not seek it and our bankers have at times sought to discourage the flow of gold to America. The yellow metal did not come here in such quantities because of our favorable trade balances and our debt payments. A great deal of it flowed to America because European investors were panicky about conditions in their own countries and wanted a safe depository for their savings. Of course if an international conference could remedy this situation it would be done by some sacrifice on the part of the United States for the benefit of Europe.

Internationalists tell us that we ought to make these sacrifices because such action will restore world trade and make us prosperous again. But most Americans know that over ninety per cent of what we produce is consumed in America and that less than five per cent of our total trade is foreign trade which would be affected by any new international sacrifices on our part.

President Hoover well said recently that "recovery of the world now rests and awaits in no small degree upon our own country, the United States of America. Some individuals may have lost their nerve and faith, but the real American people are digging themselves out with industry and courage." All of which is true, and it is those who have lost faith in America and its resources and enterprise who will be proposing to settle the depression by international conference. As one New York financier, who has a nationalist vision, said recently: "The trouble has been that our mental energies were dissipated in hectic jumps over huge georgraphical areas. We cannot adjust the troubles of 90 per cent of the human race and do a good job in getting our own dificulties met in a constructive way." Our efforts to restore prosperity must begin at home.

The MAN in the MOON

Looks Over All—
Overlooks None.

Judge McCord's Lectures—From time to time I listen to Judge Leon McCord's lectures, by radio. Judge McCord lectures to the Big Brothers Bible Class every Sunday morning in the Paramount Theatre, at Montgomery, and these lectures are broadcast by Station WSFA. These are real worth-while lectures, and if you haven't been listening in on them, try it next Sunday. I don't know what his subject will be, but you can rest assured it will be a good one, at least he hasn't delivered a weak talk so far when I was listening. The members of the Big Brothers Bible Class know him as a real leader—a man among men—and I believe you will like his lectures, too.

Helping Ourselves—It is nothing but a sign of weakness when we are forever asking somebody to help us. Remember the saying—"The gods help those who help themselves"—and truer words were never spoken. Farmers have the solution to their big problem right with them. Here's the way one farmer has it all doped out—he says: "If I raise cotton next year I will do so with no hope of realizing a profit from it, so why raise it? On the other hand, if I raise something else for a money crop I will at least have HOPE of a profit, and if things should turn out that I do not realize a profit, I can't possibly do worse than I have done with cotton for the last two years. So, next year, I expect to raise all my feedstuffs at home—that will keep me from having anything along that line to buy. Then, with a strawberry patch, a good garden, a potato patch, a cane patch, and other things along that line, I ought to be able to realize enough cash to buy such family needs as I cannot raise. And then, when cotton comes back into its own, where I can raise it at a profit, I will do so." I believe that's a wise man, and that others will do well to follow his example. He is exercising his ability to think for himself, and let his experience teach him something. He's using his "think tank." You can do likewise—and be well paid for it.

Auto License Tags—If our State Tax Commision wants to get big-hearted and cut taxes, why don't they cut the price on automobile license plates. They might do that as easily as they can give the Alabama Power Company a few thousand. For a Ford, the charge for the plate, besides the real tax, is $11.75, with other cars in proportion. That is too much, and always has been! Now, with the price of everything else at a low level, why is it that it has never occurred to the tax commission to cut that, too? It's a poor rule that don't work both ways. I am informed that in some states the charge for license tags is only $1.00 per set—just enough to cover the actual cost of manufacture. Now, let's reason a bit. Alabama makes her own license plates with convict labor, I am told. In Alabama, cars are required to carry only one plate—that couldn't possibly cost more than $1.00, including cost of distribution, raw materials, and everything. Allow the probate judge 50 cents for issuing the plates. Let's give the costs a wide margin to work in, and allow all expenses to total $1.75 per car—that leaves from $10.00 on up for—what? Highway building and upkeep? We are forever being dogged with special gasoline taxes to take care of that. What goes with the $10.00 or more per car? Your guess is as good as the next one. They could split it with us, at least. What about it?

Tell Them Now—Have you ever attended a funeral and seen people crowd around the bier, telling of the many fine traits he or she possessed? I have. Not long ago I went to a funeral, and true to type, nearly everybody who passed to take a last glance at the departed one had a few good words to say for him. I wondered, at the time, just how many of those people had ever had a good word for that man during his lifetime, when he could know how they felt toward him, and enjoy their esteem. Chances are not one had ever done so—too often this is the case. Many times I have attended funerals where Rev. F. A. Gibson was in charge. He has a little poem he always recites — something about giving the roses while he lives, not after he is dead. He never fails to recite that little poem, and what a wealth of advice it carries. Why is it a person is never considered great until after he is gone?

This "Pepper" Martin—In the recent world series baseball games, a young man by the name of Martin, John "Pepper" Martin, of the St. Louis Cardinals, created such a furore in the baseball world that one reporter went so far as to call the Cardinals a one-man team. I thought that just a bit unfair to the other great players of his club. It is true that he, almost single-handed, drove in enough runs during the first five games to beat the Philadelphia Athletics. But, just to show how fickle Dame Fortune is, just as Mr. Martin was on the threshold of setting a bunch of new records, the fickle dame clamped down on him at the very heighth of his glory, and, outside of a few circus catches in the field, this Mr. Martin was unable to show anything out of the ordinary. Nope! I couldn't call the Cards a one-man team with such pitchers as Hallahan and Grimes on it. Any way, I'm glad the Cards won. Hurrah, for "Gabby" Street and his Cards.

No News—No news is good news, so 'tis said. All right. With the baseball season over, football games coming a week between, no wars to read about, and the like, news is scarce. Gone again.—Man in the Moon.

Of course that German scientist who extracted albumen from coal was using egg coal.—Columbus (O.) State Journal.

Well, they can raise the rail rates if they want to. We would prefer to walk anyhow.

If Governor Huey Long wants to cut down the cotton crop next year why doesn't he import an army of those trained Dakota grasshoppers?

The only kind of business that seems to be doing much just now is monkey business.

A group of us were standing on the corner. Ernest Moore came up with his arm in a sling, explaining that he sneezed Sunday and threw his shoulder out of place. A questioning look from one to the other brought forth the statement from Ed Wagoner that he kicked at a cat a while back and broke two of his ribs (not the cat's ribs). I think this should be in the believe it or not column.

Gilbert says he expects to eat Christmas dinner in the Chilton County jail. I wonder if he means he will still be working on it at that time or something else.

PLAIN BILL'S PLAIN TALK ABOUT SCHOOLS

The Birmingham News carried Sunday a "strong" editorial headed "Some Plain Words From Plain Bill," meaning of course "Plain Bill" Brandon, one time governor of Alabama.

It seems that Plain Bill has discovered what is wrong with our schools and in a speech delivered a week or more ago, he gave the world the benefit of his discovery. He said, according to the News that the financial difficulties of Alabama Schools are due largely to the needless overhead expense in the State Department of Education.

One wonders just how much Judge Brandon really knows about the school system of Alabama. Just how much supervision is needed and just how much supervision is a "needless waste of money."

The plain truth is, and Judge Brandon ought to know it, the salaries of several of the supervisors are paid from without the state, by the General Education Board and similar agencies. If these supervisors were cut off and their work stopped, the people of Alabama would never know the difference so far as saving money goes, Plain Bill to the contrary.

Other supervisors are paid by the state, it is true. But who qualified Judge Brandon to say that this supervision is a "needless waste of money?" How does he know that? How about the overhead expense of the Alabama Power Company? They employ supervisors under various names; who will tell the Alabama Power Company that it wastes money on "needless supervision?"

School work is the most important work in which the people of Alabama are engaged. It is more important than the work of the Alabama Power Company. The work of the State Department of Education was planned by men who know something about school work, more perhaps than Judge Brandon and the Birmingham News know. If it is important for a business organization to have supervisors to see that the money spent is wisely spent, how much more important is it to have competent supervision of our schools not so much for the money spent, but for the service that is rendered.

Our teachers are better trained today, perhaps, than any teachers who ever worked in the schools of Alabama. But even these well trained teachers can do better work if they have competent supervision and advice.

The plain truth is, and this ought to answer every word of criticism of our school system uttered by the Birmingham News and Judge Brandon, if the whole State Department of Education were abolished and all supervision work given up, the money saved would run the schools of Alabama for only a few days.

Some more plain words of plain truth are these: The financial difficulties of Alabama schools are not due to the needless overhead of the State Department of Education, they are due to the failure of those who are in authority to keep inviolate the trust fund created by the Legislature, only for the support of schools. Money collected for schools has been used for other purposes and the State Department of Education is not responsible for that.—Shelby County Reporter.

According to a prominent New York scientist the Piltdown man marks the dawn of the human race. And a lot of local prognosticators are willing to predict that the present depression marks the sunset.

A Mount Vernon dentist tells the Lawrence County Record that the only thing left to do with this country is to try and get the Indians drunk again and give it back to them. —Kansas City Times.

American Justice—A visitor from Siam says the American custom of hanging juries seemed barbarous to him until he compared the evidence and the verdict in a few cases. —Ashland (Ky.) Daily Independent.

An Australian breeder, it is said, has developed a lamb without wool. Here's a hint for our Southern farmers. They might be able to produce a plant without cotton.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Indian farmer was fined a dollar and costs for sowing wheat on Sunday. Well, with the price where it is, sowing wheat could hardly be called a work of necessity, although it might come under charitable enterprises.

Kentucky finds it has a law that fixes the penalty at ten years if one fires at a man from ambush and misses, but only five years if the victim is hit. Nothing like keeping up the fine old standards of marksmanship. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

25 YEARS AGO

News Items as published in The Union and in The Banner, Issues of October 11, 1906

We are having a cool spell following a siege of stormy and rainy weather.

There are over one hundred on roll in the Clanton school. L. J. Thompson is principal.

The people of some beats are calling for an election on stock law.

A letter from Shoults, signed by Charles Walker, says: "I have not voted a democrat ticket in 20 years, but I will not vote for a drunkard for any office."

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Dupree of Blocton were visitors here last week.

Edgar McKee of Chattanooga is visiting relatives here.

Miss Mattie Ware of Jemison visited Clanton Thursday.

Married—J. R. Mims and Miss Lettie Henley; Clyde Atchison and Miss Sallie Crumpton.

Rolifee Bates is a candidate for Sheriff of Chilton County.

Mrs. Pearl Wilson of Birmingham spent Sunday with the family of W. H. Sartor.

O. E. Wilson, son of Wash Wilson, is now a medical student at Memphis.

I. E. Sarber, the well-digger, of Thorsby, has moved to Elmore.

Charley Eiland is lecturing for the Chilton County Division of the F. E. and C. U. of A.

Rev. W. W. Robinson is pastor of Salem Baptist Church, and H. B. Glenn is clerk.

J. P. VanDerveer is Sachem of Waxahatchie Tribe, No. 9, I. O. R. M., and J. E. Robinson is Chief of Records.

The Man on the Corner

Some Sights He Saw—
and Some He Saw Not.

I am greatly concerned about the question of continuing the work of the County Farm Demonstration Agent in Chilton County. The people of the county will vote on that question November 3. I think that will be a good time for the farm people of the county to cast a vote in favor of their own interests. They have been voting for everything and everybody else in the past. It looks to me like they ought to begin voting for themselves by authorizing the Commissioners Court to keep the County Agent.

One cent of every $25 you pay in taxes goes to pay for the County Agent. Cutting out the County Agent will not reduce your taxes one penny. You will continue to pay the same taxes, and the money that now goes to the County Agent will go for something else. I do not believe it can be spent for anything that will be worth as much to the people of the county as it is in the County Agent work.

The 4-H Club Work alone is worth more than the County Agent costs the people of Chilton County. It provides education, encouragement and inspiration for our boys and girls toward better things on our farms and in rural life. That has been proven by the work that our County Agent has done here during the past four years.

We are and will continue to be mostly dependent upon agriculture and livestock farming for our sustenance. We need all the help possible to adjust our farming to meet new conditions which face us. The wise farmer will not only vote to keep the County Agent, but will make more use of his advice and help in the future than he has in the past.

I believe our County Agent is the most valuable officer the county has. His work directly helps and materially benefits more people than does the work of any other public officer we have. I urge you to read on down to the bottom of this column.

ABOUT THE COUNTY FARM AGENT

This newspaper is not in the farming business, but, like most everybody else in this part of the country, we are dependent upon the farmers for our living. Therefore, we feel that we may justly claim an interest in the welfare of the farmer. Further, we feel that we have a right to support such measures as we honestly feel are the best for the farmers.

Consequently, at this time we feel it is our duty, our right, and or privilege to say that we believe the farmers of Chilton County ought to continue to have the services of the County Farm Demonstration Agent when they need it and want it.

We know there are some farmers who have never used the County Agent and do not know or care about what help he might be able to give them. What we need is not to dispense with the County Agent, but to keep him, and try to get all the farmers to use him in making their farm methods and business more profitable.

If we were running a farm, we believe we could use the County Agent to our own advantage and profit in many ways. We know that many farmers have done so, and we are convinced that any farmer who will may do so. Then why get rid of him? Do not our farmers need the best advice now that they can get? Has there ever been a time when farmers were in greater need of a competent and trustworthy guiding hand? What farmer is there now who feels that he can safely paddle his own canoe and let the rest of the world go by? There may be a few who have that assurance within themselves, but they are the exception and not the rule. Even they could perhaps come out better in the end if they had some advice now and then from the County Agent.

We believe the business man or merchant who places himself in opposition to the County Agent is treading on dangerous ground. The County Agent is for the farmer. His only business and only purpose is to help the farmer. There are already too many farmers who are prone to say and feel that the man in town is against the farmer. We need to overcome that false notion. But we can not overcome it if some of our merchants and business men are going to oppose things that are of as vital interest and supreme importance to the farmer as is the work of the County Agent.

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton has labored incessantly toward the goal of building up good feeling between the man in the country and the man in town. That is a commendable objective. We regret that some among us are disposed to take an attitude of opposition toward the County Agent that is going to react with a bad taste in the mouth of some farmers toward the whole town population in general. But we would remind the people out in the country that by far the most of us folks in town are with you and for you, and we want to help you. That is why we are for keeping the County Agent.

Farmers and others who know the truth, know that the County Agent is the most potential and valuable servant and helper of the farmers. May we ask what other competent, trained, and experienced man is there to whom the farmer can look for advice and help?

Is there a politician or an office holder who is able and willing to take the time and trouble to come out to your farm and help you out on something about which you need assistance? Is there a banker who will or can do it? Is there a merchant who will or can do it? Is there a school teacher who will or can do it? We ask you farmers to think about this.

You farmers in this county have been tearing your shirts in every political campaign for the last forty years trying to help some politician get into office. What has it been worth to you in the conduct of your farming business. If you need some safe, sound, practical demonstrations or advice about your farming business, try to get your politician friend whom you have helped to put into office to come out and spend a day on your farm helping you, and see how you come out.

However, you need not blame the politician or office holder for not helping you, because it is not his business to help you run your farm. It is the business of the County Agent to help you, and he will do it. He has been doing it and will keep on doing it.

It appears to us that if the farmers don't vote to keep the County Agent, and then continue to make use of his services more and more, they are very foolish and blind to their own interests.

COMMISSIONERS CALL ELECTION ON COUNTY AGENT

Editor Union-Banner:

The Court of County Commissioners have been requested by some citizens and taxpayers of the county to give the voters an opportunity to say whether or not the work now being conducted by the Farm Demonstration Agent shall be continued.

It was at the request of citizens of the county that money was appropriated and Mr. Stapp was employed to carry on this work, and the Commissioners Court in justice to themselves, on account of the unusual conditions now existing, would like to have an expression from the people.

The Court is anxious to be governed by the will of the people in all matters of a public nature, and consequently are making it possible for each voter to express his opinion either for or against the continuation of this work.

On November 3, 1931, a state election has been called to determine whether or not $25,000,000.00 bond shall be issued for road purposes, and each voter will be given a ballot which he may vote for or against the continuation of this work.

We assure the voters that the Commissioners Court will abide by the will of the majority of the voters.

Respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

J. E. COBB,
J. M. MIMS,
J. L. BURNETT,
A. P. VINSON,
Commissioners.

New Prices on Batteries

Moco, 13-plate, 12 months Guarantee, $4.95
Exide, 13-plate, 12 months Guarantee $6.95

SERVICE BATTERIES FOR ALL CARS
Batteries Repaired and Recharged

Calloway Garage
CLANTON, ALABAMA

J. MELL MARTIN
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
CLANTON Both Phones ALABAMA
Funeral Supplies—Ambulance Service
Flowers for all Occasions

QUARTERLY W. M. U. MEETING

The quarterly meeting of Unity W. M. U. will meet at Marbury Baptist Church, October 21, beginning at ten o'clock. Theme "Stewardship."

10:00 a. m.—W. M. U. hymn; watchword and prayer.
watchword and prayer. Devotional, "Stewardship of Opportunity, Influence, and Money," Superintendent.
10:25—Business session.
11:00—Special music, Marbury.
11:05—Inspirational address on "Stewardship of Opportunity," Rev. 3:8, Rev. A. S. Bentley, Billingsley.
(1) "Through Every Member Canvass," Mrs. S. J. Ezell. (2) "Through Four Month's Tithing Campaign," by Associational Stewardship Chairman, Mrs. H. Dickinson.
12:00—Round table discussion on what our Association can do to promote both these great plans.

Afternoon Session

1:30—Song, "O Zion Haste." Devotional, "Lovest Thou Me," Jno. 22, Young People's Leader, Mrs. G. C. Traywick.
2:00—Talks on "Stewardsh Opportunity." (1) "Throu pon Campaign," White C man, Mrs. J. C. Hughes. Roll Call," Personal S man, Mrs. Dewey Eub
2:30—Business sessi of officers for 1932. committees.
3:15—Closing hym

Mr. and Mrs. Chr gomery spent Sun with Mrs. G. L. Phi

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF DAY TO HEAR PETITION FOR SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR MAINTENANCE AND EDUCATION OF MINORS

State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Probate Court:
In the matter of the petition of Lois Sims, guardian of Tommie Lee Sims and T. C. Sims, Jr., to sell real estate for maintenance and education of said minors:
Notice is hereby given that on the 9th day of October, 1931, Lois Sims, guardian of Tommie Lee Sims and T. C. Sims, Jr., filed her petition in said court seeking the sale of the hereinafter described real estate of said minors, for the purpose of the maintenance and education of said minors and that said hearing will be had in said court on the 30th day of October, 1931, and all persons in interest may appear and contest the same if they deem proper. Said real estate being described as follows:
Lot Number Thirteen (13) and Fourteen (14) in Block "B" in Park Place as shown by plat of record in the office of Judge of Probate of Chilton County, in deed book 132, page 455, said Park Place being a sub-division of the Town of Jemison, Alabama, said property being situated in Chilton County, Alabama.
This the 9th day of October, 1931.
L. H. REYNOLDS,
10-15-3t-ch. Judge of Probate.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Walter Sparrow, who was convicted in the circuit court of Chilton County for first degree murder on December 8th, 1916, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, and who is now serving his term at Camp N., Tyler, Ala., will make application to the Hon. S... Pardons for pardon or
10-15-2c

PAINTS ...
VARNISHES
...cas
...urposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at
James Sign Shop
Clanton, Alabama

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. Norton, Manager)

There will be a song service at the Congregational Church next Sunday night, October 18th, following the Christian Endeavor meeting.

Rev. and Mrs. Each and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCain were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard last Friday.

Mrs. Each, with daughter, Alta, and son, William, with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Petersen left early Monday morning for Crestview, Florida. They were planning to return Tuesday night.

Miss Marguerite Davison and Mrs. E. W. Butler left last Friday for a week's trip to attend meetings at Wadley, Roanoke, and LaGrange, Ga., where they will pick up Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Jenkins, who will accompany them to attend a district association meeting of Christian churches at Pisgah, Alabama.

Willie Scott, of Montgomery and Mattie Scott of Birmingham, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, of Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke of Mobile spent Monday and Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Piper.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mead, with Miss Era Robinson, and Robert Bean spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Harry Thompson of Birmingham came home for the week end.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid social will be held this week, Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. C. R. Foss. A cordial invitation is extended to the ladies of Thorsby and even men are welcome if they go.

Misses Helen C. Jenkins and Lois Leech visited in Birmingham and Tuscaloosa Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

New Bulk Turnip Seed and Onion Sets at Thorsby Drug Company, Thorsby, Ala.

Mr. N. Laurell and daughter, Mrs. Love, spent the week end with home folks in Thorsby. Both are employed in Birmingham.

Miss Celia Baldwin of Mountain Creek, who is teaching at Mount Pleasant school, is making her home with Mrs. Anna Villadsen in Thorsby, and going to and from her work with Mrs. Astro Wright, who is also teaching in the same school.

Mr. John Littleton is reported very ill at his home near Collins Chapel.

Mrs. Martha Primm had as her guests Sunday her grandson, Dan Primm, of Ensley, and her son, Tom Primm, from near Tuskegee.

Mrs. H. M. Gerald and daughter, Mary Ella, were visitors to friends in Birmingham Monday and Tuesday of this week.

In October it is the custom of the Congregational Sunday school to review the year that has passed. As we look back over our records, the A. T. Clark Class is forcibly reminded that death has taken three well-loved members of our fellowship during the year, and we take this opportunity to express our united sympathy.

Resolved, that in the death of Brother J. C. Primm, Brother E. L. Thornberg, and Sister A. M. Williams the class has sustained a heavy loss.

Resolved, that we extend to the families of our departed members our heartfelt sympathy; that a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the bereaved families, and to each of the county papers for publication. —Martha B. Goddard, Secretary; Marian Fairbank, Teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Davenport and Mrs. Ben Davenpuort spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

New Bulk Turnip Seed and Onion Sets at Thorsby Drug Company, Thorsby, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davenport were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Davenport and Mr. and Mrs. Willis.

The Y. W. A. will meet with Miss Jessie Martin Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Miss Elizabeth Leslie of Ensley spent the week end in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Scott of Birmingham spent the week end with ...eir parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cannat-

...therine Hackett spent the week ... with Juanita Connatser.

...r. and Mrs. W. W. Fox visited ...sby Sunday.

...rs. A. J. Robinson and children, ...rt and Florene, of Jemison ... the week end with her daugh- ... Mrs. Reilous Franklin.

Dr. Clements of Birmingham visited Thorsby Sunday.

The Womans Auxiliary club of Cedar Grove Church is to give a box supper Saturday evening at 7 o'clock for the benefit of the church. everybody is invited to come and help make this a success. A cake for the prettiest girl and a cake for the ugliest man.

Everybody that is interested in the cemetery at Cedar Grove please come with proper tools Thursday morning, October 22, and help give it a cleaning up.

Mr. and Mrs. Reilous Franklin and daughter, Peggy Mims, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mims in Clanton.

Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway, Mrs. Mack Gray and Miss Vivian Roebuck spent Tuesday with Mrs. Reilous Franklin.

Mrs. Reilous Franklin, Mrs. Mack Gray and Miss Vivian Roebuck spent Thursday in Clanton with Mrs. Spurgeon Calolway.

The Hellen Keller Literary Society gave its first public program last Saturday night under the direction of Miss Onita Klingelhoefer, assisted by Miss Thoroman, who was in charge of the musical numbers. The general theme was "Rain and the Rainbow." This was carried out in the poems, essays, umbralla drill, Girls' Glee Club, etc., and made an interesting program. The next open program will be the night of November 7, and will be an operetta, entitled "Christina of Greenland."

The Christian Endeavor met at 6:30 last Sunday evening at the Congregational Church. A special patriotic program had been planned by the leader, Mrs. Carrie Smith. The topic being "What does it mean to be a good citizen?"

The society is moving along nicely with the new officers who were installed October 4. We expect big things to be worked out by the society this year. The public is cordially invited to attend our prayer meetings held each Sunday evening at 6:30.

The Christian Endeavor is sending two delegates, Mrs. Carrie Smith and Miss Lorena Primm, to the District Meeting to be held at Milbrook Saturday and Sunday, October 17-18.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends who were so faithful and good to us during the illness and death of our dea wife and mother. To Drs. Wood and Mastin for the faithful services and words of kindness. To the Spigner forces for their prompt service and sympathy, also to the teachers of the county and all others for their floral offerings and kind expressions.
May the good Lord bless everyone who had part in this sad affliction.—J. T. Daniel and children.

Miss Erin Danforth, of Birmingham, spent Saturday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Danforth.

Don't fail to come to our 1-cent sale October 15-16-17—bigger than ever. — Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Ala.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO SELL LANDS FOR DIVISION BY ADMINISTRATOR

State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Probate Court:
In the matter of the estate of Erik Sundin, deceased, and application of A. E. Reagan, administrator, to sell lands for division among heirs:
To Johan Ferdinand Norgren, living in the United States, residence unknown; Karl Vilhelm Norgren, living in the United States, residence unknown; Fredrik Hugo Norgren, residing in the Parish of Grinstad in the Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Elsa Maria Linnea Eriksson, Parish of Erikstad, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Anna Viola Eriksson, Parish of Erikstad, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Ebba Lovisa Eriksson, Parish of Erikstad, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Anders Wilhelm Stefansson, Parish of Holm, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Maria Kistrina Karlsson, Parish of Or, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Elsa Emilia Sandberg, Parish of Skallerud, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Fredrik Stefanssen Karlsson, residing in the United States, residence unknown; Karl Hugo Stefansson, Parish of Or, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Johan Oskar Stefansson, Parish of Or, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Ester Linnea Stafansson, Parish of Or, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Olga Johanna Stefansson, Parish of Or, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Anna Torborg Stefansson, Parish of Or, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Gustaf Bertil Stefansson, Parish of Or, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Lisa Kajsa Karlsson, Parish of Animskog, Province of Alvsborg, Kingdom of Sweden; Oscar Jergensen, 1719 Glenwood Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn; Karl Sundin, Parish of Grinstad, Province of Albsborg, Kingdom of Sweden:
Take notice, and you are hereby notified that A. E. Reagan, administrator of the estate of Erik Sundin, has filed his petition in writing and under oath in said court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described below, for the purpose of making an equitable division upon the grounds that the same cannot be equitably divided among the heirs and devisees of said estate, and Oscar Jergensen, one of the adult heirs has filed his written consent and that the 14th day of November, 1931, has been appointed the day for the hearing of said petition and all parties in interest may appear and contest the same if they deem proper; said lands being described as follows:
Northwest quarter (NW¼) of the southwest quarter (SW¼) of the Southeast quarter (SE¼) of Section 1, Township 22, Range 13, containing ten acres more or less.
Witness my hand this the 9th day of October, 1931.
L. H. REYNOLDS,
10-15-3t-ch. Judge of Probate.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Cotton valued at approximately $10,000 was destroyed by fire at Sulligent.

Jack Dunn, Gadsden, was elected head cheer leader of the University of Alabama by the student body.

Coroner J. Mell returned a verdict of suicide following his investigation into the death of Arthur Franklin, 31 at Clanton.

The eleventh annual meeting of the Alabama Beekeepers Association will be held at the Jefferson Davis Hotel, Montgomery, Nov. 6-7.

R. L. Cooper, 48, mayor of Elba, was found dead in his office and a coroner's jury returned a verdict of death through "accident or suicide."

Col. William P. Screws resigned his commission in the U. S. army following 32 years of active service, and became city commissioner of Montgomery.

The Rev. L. S. Wessinger, Heflin, announces the fourth quarterly conference for Iron City, Sunday, Oct. 18, Dr. M. M. Davidson, Anniston, presiding.

Gov. Miller granted paroles during good behavior to 10 state convicts, three of them women, upon the recommendations of the State Pardon Board and trial judges.

A life-size painting of former Gov. William W. Brandon has been presented to the state department of archives and history by Mrs. Robert Barnes, of Eutaw.

The second fatality in Alabama this season from participation in football games was recorded with the death of Cason Nabors, 19, Talladega High School football player.

The assessments against property of the Alabama Power Co. in Chilton, Coosa and Elmore Counties have been set aside and a hearing will be held on the matter Oct. 19.

The Department of Agriculture has called upon every Alabama farmer to carry on the work of feed production during the Fall and Winter months to assure an abundant crop for 1932.

According to vital statistics released by Dr. W. D. Hubbard, more than twice as many births as deaths were reported to the Lauderdale County Health Department during August.

Selma oil dealers withdrew all opposition to a plan to levy a one-cent municipal gasoline tax for relief of poverty-stricken residents and the tax has been levied by the city council for six months.

Tom Waters, 35, died at a Gadsden hospital following injuries received when he was thrown from a truck loaded with cotton. Two bales of cotton rolled over him, crushing his left leg and left side.

Reorganization of Alabama's state government loomed nearer as Gov. B. M. Miller announced he had secured the Brooking Institute of Washington, D. C., to make a survey starting around Nov. 1.

The board of directors of the Alabama State Baptist Convention in session at Montgomery accepted an invitation of the Opelika Baptist Church to hold the next session, the 108th, in Opelika, Nov. 18-20.

Capt. John G. Murphy, Mobile shipowner, was declared guilty of a charge of conspiring to scuttle the steamship Rose Murphy, owned by him, by a jury in South Alabama Federal District Court.

Preliminary hearing for Noah Sullivan, 35, facing a murder charge in connection with the alleged poison death of Jerry Taylor, at Calver, Ala., was reset for trial Oct. 7 when called in Mobile Inferior Criminal Court.

Gov. Miller has commissioned members of the Jefferson County Commission as delegates to the nineteenth annual convention of the United States Good Roads Association, Inc., to be held at Tutwiler Hotel, Oct. 12 to 15.

Officers investigating the mysterious slugging of Mrs. Frank MacDonald, wife of the pastor of the Woodlawn Baptist Church, arrested a man and placed him in jail on a general holding charge pending further inquiry into the case.

Public health workers from 54 Alabama counties closed their three-day annual session at Montgomery after hearing an address on tubercular control work by Dr. Douglas L. Cannon, administrative assistant of the State Health Department.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has set for hearing at Montgomery on Oct. 14 the petition of the Southeastern Express Company for authority to engage in the transportation of personal baggage between depots and places of business and residences in Alabama.

BEN CLARK THANKS PEOPLE

The family of Mr. Ben Clark, near Clanton, asks The Union-Banner to express to the people around here their thanks for the things given them following their recent loss by fire. The people around have been mighty thoughtful of the family, Mr. Clark says, and he and his family sincerely thank each and every one who has helped them in any way.

Mr. White, representing the Woco Pep Company of Tuscaloosa, is spending this week in Clanton.

Mrs. H. C. McDonald and daughter, Mrs. C. Majure, of Birmingham, were guests of Mrs. Renfroe Mullins Monday.

High grade merchandise at low cost at the Robinson Department Store, Clanton.

UNITED SINGING SOCIETY

The United Singing Society will meet with Collins Chapel Church on next Sunday, October 18th, 1931 at two o'clock sharp. The society did not meet at this place last month on account of the convention which was held at Verbena. So we expect to have some real good singing provided we can encourage the people to come.
The election of new officers will take place at this time. We extend to the public a cordial invitation. If you can't sing your presence will greatly be appreciated, because you are always welcome at Collins Chapel. The Morris-Henson Books will be used.
I wish to say that the United Singing Society will meet at this place Thursday night, October 15, 1931, for the purpose of practicing. So we extend a cordial invitation to come and help us out. We especially invite the Central Singers to come and be with us, and not only the Central singers but singers and lovers of music from all parts of the county.

SINGING AT STANTON

There will be a singing at the school building at Stanton next Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. All singers and lovers of music are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Thompson and son, Tom, Jr., of Selma, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lonz Parrish during the past week.

See the bargains offered at Robinson Department Store in Clanton.

Don't fail to come to our 1-cent sale October 15-16-17—bigger than ever. — Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Ala.

Wait! Our big sale on guns and shells comes off on Saturday, October 31st. Don't buy until then, when you can get lowest prices.—Clanton Building Supply Co.

I. G. A. Specials
This Week-End
Canned Fruit Sale

PEACHES, I. G. A. Sliced or golden halves, 2 large cans 39c

SLICED PINEAPPLE I. G. A. Fancy Hawaiian, 2 large cans ... 49c

FLORIDA GRAPE FRUIT I. G. A. Fancy 2 large cans 39c

VANILLA WAFERS, NBC, large package 10c

MALT SYRUP I. G. A., can 39c

BAKING POWDER Rumford's, lb. can 25c

PANCAKE FLOUR I. G. A., 2 pkgs. 19c

TABLE SYRUP Quart can 22c
Bonita Georgia Blend

COFFEE — ALWAYS FRESH
"I" Blend lb. pkg. 29c
"G" Blend lb. pkg. 24c
"A" Blend lb. pkg. 19c

RICE KRISPIES Kellogg's, pkg. 10c

DRIED PEACHES or PRUNES, Choice Calfornia, lb. 10c

BANANAS, Yellow Ripe, lb. 5c

SLICED BACON, Sunlight Rindless, lb. 25c

FLOUR, I. G. A. Plain or Self Rising 24 lb bag 78c

FLOUR, Duchess Self Rising or Columbia Plain 24 lb bag 65c

At All IGA Stores

STANTON NEWS

Mr. ant Mrs. Charles Crison of Leeds, Ala., visited their uncle, Mr. M. E. Dinsmore, Sunday.

R. H. Schurter transacted business in Clanton Saturday.

Mrs. Sallie Gray and daughter of Clanton spent Monday with Mrs. Jennie Gandy and family.

Emmett Hoff has returned from Moblie, where he has been attending Federal Court.

Mr. and Mrs. White and Mrs. Lumby of Felix visited John Jones and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Little spent the week end in Birmingham.

Mrs. Connell left Saturday for Mt. Creek on a visit to relatives.

Miss Virginia Woolley left Tuesday evening for Washington, D. C., for an extended visit with her sister, Margaret A. Woolley. Mrs. W. H. Stuart and T. C. Woolley accompanied her as far as Birmingham. She will stop at Charlottee, N. C., to see her mother and brother, Maurice.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stuart, accompanied by T. C. Woolley spent Saturday in Tuscaloosa.

School opened here last week with all the teachers attending the institute Monday and Tuesday at Clanton. Classes met and enrollment was perfected Wednesday with Mrs. Chambers in charge of the first grade, Miss Logan the second and third. The three remaining teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Little and Mr. W. H. Stuart, are doing departmental work in the fourth and upper grades through junior II. To date 178 pupils have enrolled as compared with about 140 the second week of last year.

A community singing is announced for here next Sunday at 2:00 p.m. at the school house. Everyone is invited to be present and hear some real good singing.

OLD TIME SINGING

I have been requested to announce that we will have singing at Freeman Schoolhouse in the Harp and Harmony books the fourth Sunday, in the afternoon, commencing at 1 o'clock. We invite everybody in the county to come that can possibly do so. We want your help. Bring both old books.—J. N. Scott.

ISABELLA HOME ECONOMICS

The home economics Senior II and III girls of Isabella High School met in the history room Wednesday, September 16, to organize a home economics club. The officers elected were as follows: president, Lorene Lecroy; vice president, Pauline Durbin; secretary and treasurer, Ruth Oden; reporter, Elizabeth Mims; social committee, Myrtle Durbin, chairman, Louise Cox, Gertie Mae Owens; program committee, Pauline Durbin, chairman, Mildred Durbin, Carolyne Calfee.

On October 7th, the club met for a business meeting. Business was as follows:

Aims for the year were: 1. Get an electric iron for the home economic department. 2. Make home more modern and attractive. 3. Have some well planned parties. 4. Arrange for a mother-daughter banquet. 5. Start a flower garden.

The constitution, song, and creed was read and adopted. The meeting was adjourned.

The home economics club had a party Friday night, carrying out one of their aims. Each girl invited a boy. The games were very interesting throughout the evening, and everyone thought the party a success.

The physical education class is showing great improvements in their physical work. They are planning to present a musical pageant sometime soon which will illustrate their Educational and Physical Training.

SHILOH SINGING

The singing society meets at this place Sunday afternoon, October 18, at 2:00 o'clock. We invite all visitors to come and help us.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mr. H. T. Sims requests us to express to the people of Clanton their heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses shown them and Mr. Sims during his recent illness, death, and burial.

WHO LOST HER HAT?

Last Sunday afternoon at the singing at Walnut Creek some lady left her hat in a car parked there. The owner of the hat may get it by calling at the Union-Banner office, describing it, and paying for this advertisement.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chestnut of Birmingham spent a short time in Clanton Sunday. Mr. Chestnut is manager of The American Bakeries Company.

H. C. JUNKERMAN
DENTIST
THORSBY, ALABAMA

DR. ARTHUR JOHNSON
Diseases and surgery of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses.
Office Hours: 8 to 12
CLANTON, ALA.

NEW CLASS ORGANIZED AT FRIENDSHIP S. S.

At Friendship last Sunday morning a new class was organized. It will be known as the Intermediate Class, and is composed of young boys and girls from about fifteen years to twenty-two or twenty-three. Mr. Aubrey Gore was chosen as teacher for the new class. This makes a total of four classes now in the school.

The members of the school met last Sunday morning at 9:30 and had thirty minutes of singing before Sunday school. This plan will be followed until further notice. The interest in the Sunday school and church work has been picking up for the past month or so. The younger people are taking a great deal of interest in the work, and this causes others to enlist and help.

The superintendent, Mr. Cleve Wyatt, as well as the other officers and teachers, invite everybody in the community to take part in the Sunday school. The school needs you and you need the scheel; both will be benefitted by your presence.

YOUNG PEOPLE RALLY

The Young People's Rally will be held at the Maplespille Baptist church on October 18, at 2 p.m.

The Program is as follows:

Theme, "A Call to Christian Youth."

Opening Hymn, "Loyalty to Christ."

Prayer.

Roll called and minutes read.

Recognize those who have reached the standard of Excellency thus far this year.

Announcements.

Devotion by Clanton.

"You Who are Young," by Billingsley.

Special song by Indian Grave G. A. and introduction talk by Mrs. G. C. Traywick.

"Tither's League Campaign," by Mrs. Hattie Dickerson.

Tithing story by Grace Ezell.

Youth roll call by Mrs. Dewey Eubanks.

Octagon coupon campaign, by Mrs. J. C. Hughes.

Presentation of Stewardship Declamation contest by Mrs. Hattie Dickerson.

Closing remarks by young people leader.

Closing song and prayer.

SEES BRIGHTER DAY IN COTTON PROBLEM

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 12.—Faint rays of sunshine which stand an even chance of growing brighter are seen across the far horizon of the present dark and dismal cotton price situation by J. A. Beaty, acting manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association.

"Reports from different sections of the cotton belt show that we are now witnessing the greatest cotton holding movement in our history," he said in an interview here.

Urging growers to pool their holdings and place themselves in position to take advantage of any improvement in price, he said that "the holding movement and certainty of acreage reduction next year should give us a more active and higher market after the peak of the movement to market is passed.

"There is no question in my mind but that this holding movement will have an important effect sooner or later, even though indications are for a sagging market until prices reach a level at which the speculative and consuming trade is willing to take more coton than the South is willing to sell," he continued. "This time may not be far off, in view of current low prices. When it is reached spot offerings will dry up, and those who need cotton, or who have committments to fill, may not have an easy time obtaining the cotton which they must have. This is the history of all previous holding movements. In every one of these prices have advanced as soon as the peak of the movement to market has passed, and have been higher during the second half of the season than during the first."

PERCY M. PITTS
Attorney-at-Law
Wilson Building
CLANTON, ALABAMA

» » PAINFUL » WEAK CONDITION

"I was weak and could not do my work," writes Mrs. C. O. Sutton, of Elizabeth, Ind. "I had pains in my back and side. It seemed like when I would get up, I would drag around to do my work, and had bad headache. My mother told me to try Cardui. She had taken it herself, and had found it a good medicine. I took several bottles of Cardui and it helped me very much." FN-12

» CARDUI HELPS WOMEN

GRADY REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
Office Opposite Court House
Clanton, Ala.

STATE NEWS PARAGRAPHED

A Resume Of The More Important Events Of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

J. Hicks Davis, a volunteer fireman, dropped dead in Tuscumbia while directing traffic at a small fire.

Nearly a million persons—951,311 to be exact—reside in the counties comprising the trading area of Birmingham.

Headed by Mrs. Bertha Miller, instructor, a party of 50 students in art attended the Italian art exhibit in Birmingham.

Montgomery County voters voted two to one for a one-cent gasoline tax to assure a nine months school term in the county.

Thirty-four of Alabama's 67 counties have formed Roosevelt-for-President clubs, Warren S. Reese, Jr., state manager, said.

Fire of undetermined origin caused damage of approximately $10,000 to buildings in Austinville community, south of Decatur.

Congressman Lister Hill, Montgomery, was speaker at the Clay-Randolph Counties conference, Order of the Eastern Star, in Ashland.

Dr. Julius B. Klein, assistant secretary of Commerce, will address an assembly of the University of Alabama school of commerce Nov. 4.

The Rev. B. F. Stuckey, pastor of Central Baptist Church, Tarrant City, suffered a fractured hip when he fell while getting into an automobile.

Miss Irma Gaines, of Heflin, suffered a fractured jawbone and other injuries when two automobiles were in collision on the Bankhead Highway.

An unidentified white man was slain near Lincoln and three companions escaped when the four men attempted to rob the Yates filling station.

Mrs. Myrtle M. Morgan has been named postmistress at Honoraville, Ala., and Miss Lucy C. Thompson has been named postmistress at Mexia, Ala.

A survey of Chickasaw Creek, Mobile County, Alabama, has been authorized by Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers under the river and harbor act.

Four prisoners confined in the Mobile County jail were discovered in the act of attempting to saw their way out by the forces of Sheriff W. H. Holcombe.

The Alabama-Florida Cooperative Peanut Association has authorized advances of $25 a ton on No. 1 Spanish peanuts and $18 a ton on No. 1 runner peanuts.

The Alabama Museum of Natural History at the University of Alabama, has just received a gift of 2,500 flints and artifacts from Western Kentucky and immediate vicinity.

A man giving his name as Jess Ray was being held in Jefferson County jail following his arrest by deputies investigating the stabbing of Herman Storey, 21, Adamsville.

Federal inspectors, under supervision of U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the state livestock sanitary board, have begun the inspection of Pickens County cattle for tuberculosis.

Trucks bearing a Georgia license may haul cotton bought in that state and sold delivered to an Alabama city without purchasing an Alabama license, the attorney general's department has ruled.

L. G. Smith, director of the state highway department, announced the closing of the third and fourth division offices of the department in Montgomery and Selma "in the interests of economy."

Commander J. C. Conner, of Huntsville, announced that Thomas M. Owen, Jr., former Florentine, department historian of the department of the American Legion, has been appointed editor of the Alabama Legionnaire.

Lieut. James E. Adams, 36, Huntington, Long Island, N. Y., and Pvt. Fred Applewhite, 22, Bolton, Miss., were burned to death as their plane crashed into a high tension wire in attempting to land at Maxwille Field, Montgomery, army air school.

Because he uses an oil burning lamp in his home at Camden which hasn't any electric lights, Gov. B. M. Miller was presented a George and Martha Washington lamp by Mrs. Pete Beddow, Birmingham, to use when the governor returns to private life.

Gov. Miller assured L. L. Moseley, Dothan, president of the Alabama Education Association that teachers warrants for the opening month of public schools would be issued on time and that they would be cashed "as soon as the money reaches the treasury."

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

NOTICE OF REGISTRATION

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Registrars of Chilton County, Alabama, in accordance with the general Registration Laws of Alabama, as amended by an Act of Legislature of Alabama, approved August 20, 1927, will hold sessions for the purpose of registering all citizens qualified under the law to register, at the following places in said County and on the following dates, to-wit:

Beat 4—Courthouse, Clanton	October 26-31
Beat 15—Pletcher, Ala.	November 16, A. M.
Beat 15—Culp School House	November 16, P. M.
Beat 6—Kincheon	November 17, A. M.
Beat 6—Enterprise	November 17, P. M.
Beat 5—Mountain Creek	November 18, A. M.
Beat 5—Mitchell Dam	November 18, P. M.
Beat 1—Lay Dam	November 19, A. M.
Beat 11—Cane Creek	November 19, P. M.
Beat 12—Mineral Springs	November 20
Beat 13—Providence	November 21
Beat 4—Courthouse, Clanton, Nov. 23, 24, 25, 27, 28
Beat 2—Mars Hill	December 1, A. M.
Beat 14—Macedonia	December 1, P. M.
Beat 8—Stanton	December 2
Beat 7—Maplesville	December 3, A. M.
Beat 3—Benson	December 3, P. M.
Beat 5—Verbena	December 4
Beat 2—Jemison	December 5
Beat 9—Thorsby	December 7
Beat 10—Cooper	December 8
Beat 16—Providence	December 9
Beat 4—Courthouse, Clanton, Dec. 10, 11, 12, 14, 15

NO ONE CAN REGISTER EXCEPT IN HIS OR HER OWN PRECINCT AND AT THE COURTHOUSE IN CLANTON.

This 28th Day of September, 1931.

B. M. KILLINGSWORTH, Chairman,
A. D. MARTIN,
O. O. ROPER,
Registrars of Chilton County, Ala.

FIRE WAS AT THE HOME OF JUDGE REYNOLDS

The home of Judge L. H. Reynolds caught on fire just after noon Monday. At the sound of the alarm the city fire department responded promptly and located the blaze just under the roof. It had not broken through into the rooms or outside the roof.

The water was promptly applied, and the fire was stopped before it had done much damage. However the water thoroughly drenched everything, doing considerable damage to wall paper and inside finishing.

This is another instance where the effectiveness of the city fire engine and the promptness of the fire department saved many times the cost of the firefighting equipment. Without this not only the home of Judge Reynolds, but also the homes of Omar and Claud Reynolds, and probably Mr. Lande would have been consumed.

ISABELLA JR. III CLASS

We are entering into our sixth week of study, and hope to make it the best week yet spent in this school term.

The Jr. III Class is rather large in number. Each member is greatly interested in the welfare of the class. The class was asked a question something like this, "What is the mission of this class?

It is our mission to satisfactorily complete the work outlined in our course of study, and any other outside references given us by our instructors.

It is our motive to complete our school work in the way to be most beneficiary in our future careers, whatever they may be.

We are in school for the purpose of preparing to fill a better position in life and to do our part of the world's work more efficiently, as well as to become better citizens.

Any constructice criticism from any authority will be apreciated.

(A word to our teachers)

If a task we fail to do,
Give us a chance, we'll be loyal and true.
There's so many lessons to get too,
It's not our aim to neglect you.

Give us a word of encouragemer...
And a smile of kindness,
Not a thing else we'll do the re...
Now just put it to a test,
And see if we aren't real guests.

Joe Bowles of Swift Creek ca... to Clanton Tuesday to sell his cott...

Bargains galore at Rob... son Department Store in Cla... ton.

Selma Compress Co.

SELMA, ALABAMA

OWNED BY FARMERS FOR FARMERS

ELECTRIC HIGH DENSITY PRESS

Bonded Warehouse—Sprinkler System

We charge no commission for selling your cotton, and give you a government licensed grade and staple on same.

Owned By Farmers

We are a designated depository for Alabama Farm Bureau cotton.

JEMISON HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Miss Mary Ellis of Clanton organized a Glee Club of students of Jemison High School, September 30. The total enrollment is thirteen. They elected officers as follows: president, Sara Glasscock; vice president, Eleanor Merrell, secretary-treasurer, Lera Glasscock and librarian, Sara Crim. The class is already showing progress and hopes to accomplish a great number of things in the fu... pla... in...

...Sartor, son of Wash Wilson, is now ...udent at Memphis.

...er, the well-digger, of Thorsby, ...o Elmore.

...land is lecturing for the Chilton ...ion of the F. E. and C. U. of A.

...W. Robinson is pastor of Salem ...ch, and H. B. Glenn is clerk.

...Derveer is Sachem of Waxa... ...e, No. 9, I. O. R. M., and J. E. ... Chief of Records.

BOOKER WASHINGTON ASS'N

Since the building is now under construction, the officials of the Association are requesting a donation from all Christian, civic and fraternal organizations of all denominations at once. Even two dollars from each will help push the work to a success and will be a blessing to the race.

The organizations wishes to thank ... following for their donations: ... your farming b... Bank, Chilton County News, ...cian friend whom ...kett, Mrs. Madge Scarbo... into office to come ...on; Jemison Hardware, your farm helping ... Jemison; W. H. Heath, come out. ...M. Tomlin, P. H. ...

However, you need ... Tan-Kar Oil Co, Hon. ...cian or office holder for ...ontgomery. We need cause it is not his busin... your farm. It is the bus... Make all orders Agent to help you, and he ... Booker Washington been doing it and will kee... 1292, Montgomery,

It appears to us that if ... vote to keep the County ... continue to make use of his ... more, they are very foolish ... own interests.

Post 1 year $3.30

NOTICE OF ELECTION

I, W. H. Gillespie, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1931, an election will be held at the several polling places in Chilton County, Alabama, for a vote by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, in the manner and form and places as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, namely:

"Article XX-B. Section 1. The State is authorized to engage in the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges in the State of Alabama. To this end and for these purposes, the State is authorized to appropriate funds and for construction purposes only the State is authorized also to issue and sell interest-bearing negotiable State bonds in addition to those already authorized and sold under Article XX and XX-A, as amendments to the Constitution of 1901, in an amount not to exceed the sum of twenty-five million ($25,000,000.00), to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series, maturing at such times as may be provided by law, and all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not greater than six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall be sold at a price not less than par value thereof.

Section 2. The State Highway Commission or Highway Department shall locate, construct and maintain highways, bridges and State trunk roads so as to connect each county seat with the county seat of the adjoining county by the most direct or most feasible route by a permanent road, having due regard for the public welfare, and shall connect the county seats of the several border counties at or near the state line with a public highway in the border states. Provided, that in counties which are divided into two or more judicial divisions in each of which regular terms of the circuit court are held, the places where said terms of court are held, shall likewise be connected with each other.

Section 3. The proceeds of said bonds shall be used for construction and/or surfacing of roads and construction and/or repairing bridges, but not for maintenance or discharging of contract debts, liability or obligations existing prior to the adoption of this amendment.

Section 4. Eighteen million four hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($18,425,000.00) of the proceeds of said bonds shall be set aside by the Governor and apportioned in amounts of two hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($275,000.00) to each of the respective counties of the State which must be expended by the State Highway Department in each of said counties for construction, which shall include hard surfacing, of existing and also new public roads and bridges therein. The remaining proceeds of said bonds shall be used for the construction, which shall include surfacing, of existing, or new highways and constructing or repairing bridges in the State.

Section 5. The proceeds of such bonds shall be kept separate and apart from all other funds and no part of the same shall ever be used in honoring a warrant not legally drawn against such proceeds.

Section 6. There is hereby levied and every distributor, retail dealer or storer shall pay an excise tax of one cent per gallon upon the selling, distributing or withdrawing from storage for any use gasoline, provided, however, that the excise tax is not levied upon the sale of gasoline in interstate commerce, and provided further that where this excise tax shall have been paid by a distributor or by a retail dealer or storer such payment shall be sufficient, the intention being that this tax shall not be paid but once. The terms 'distributor,' 'retail dealer,' 'storer,' 'selling,' 'distributing,' 'withdrawing' and 'gasoline' are used as the same are used in existing gasoine excise tax laws of the State and shall be so construed, and all rights, duties, liabilities, penalties, powers and methods pertaining to the collection of gasoline excise taxes under such existing laws of the State shall apply to the collection, payment and accounting for the within excise tax, provided, the Legislature may limit, extend or further define the same. The excise tax of one cent herein levied shall be in addition to the excise gasoline taxes provided by existing laws of the State, but this section shall not be construed in any way as limiting the power of the Legislature to increase or decrease this or any other gasoline tax.

Section 7. The one cent excise tax hereinbefore levied shall be used first to create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and the interest on the bonds herein authorized, and, second, by the State for the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges of this State.

Section 8. The bonds herein authorized when issued shall be a direct obligation of the State, and for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest thereon the full faith and credit of the State is hereby irrevocably pledged and such bonds shall be exempt forever from taxes of every kind.

Section 9. The bonds herein authorized shall be issued and sold in the same manner by a Bond Commission as set forth, defined and prescribed in Article 5 of Chapter 32, Code of Alabama, 1923.

Section 10. That House Bill No. 1204 by Mr. Tunstall, if and when passed by both houses of the Legislature of Alabama of 1931 and approved by the Governor and being, "A bill to be entitled an act to impose, for the use and purpose of surviving, preserving, maintaining, constructing and regulating the use of public roads and bridges in the State of Alabama, an excise tax on all persons, companies, agencies, corporations, and associations who sell, distribute, store or draw from storage for any purpose whatsoever, gasoline or any other liquid motor fuel or devices or any substitute therefor within the State of Alabama; providing for the collection of such excise tax and the payment of same into the State Treasury; providing for the enforcement of this act and fixing a penalty for the violation of the provisions hereof; providing that the said excise tax so imposed shall be in addition to all other excise tax now imposed by law; and, providing that freight agents or railroads and all agents of all transportation companies operating within the State of Alabama and who ransport motor fuels shall report to the State Tax Commission all shipments of gasoline or any substitute therefor, received at any of their stations within the State." be and the same is hereby ratified, confirmed and validated and made constitutional as a law, and such ratification, confirmation, validation and constitutionally as a law, shall, according to the terms thereof when finally passed, inn the manner aforesaid, take effect and be effective on the day of the passage of said bill by both houses of the Legislature of Alabama of 1931, and approved by the Governor, as fully as if said bill was set out in words and figures herein.".

This, the first day of October, 1931.

W. H. GILLESPIE,
Sheriff Chilton County, Ala.

10-1-4t-ch.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING

Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated

MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE

See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.

W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE

Phone - 29

Hubert Farley—at
Farmers Hardware Co.

WHEN GENERAL BURGOYNE SURRENDERED

One hundred and fifty-four years ago, on the 17th of October, occurred the surrender of General Burgoyne and his British army at Saratoga, New York. It happened in the year 1777, before our present national government was formally established. As it was one of the critical turning points that decided the success of the Revolution, it is worth thinking about in any year. Next year it will be doubly worth recalling, in honor of the man we celebrate in 1932, on the two hundredth anniversary of his birth — George Washington.

As to the significance of the surrender and the battle of Saratoga, the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge has put the case in a single striking line: "The Revolution had been saved at Trenton; it was established at Saratoga."

Every good American remembers something of what the school history books taught him about Burgoyne and Saratoga, but it has taken the careful searchings of more recent historians to see that event as the great hinge on which our entire national history turned. It has been left for such authorities as Lodge, for example, to make clear George Washington's part in the winning of that pivotal victory.

Our textbooks taught us that Saratoga was fought in the heart of New York State, while Washingon was watching Howe at Philadelphia, the assumption being that Saratoga was a stroke of good fortune by which he benefitted but in which he played no personal part.

The United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission points out that Washington saw in a flash the danger of Burgoyne's thrust toward the Hudson River, and did his utmost to block it. Washington knew that once the British had command of the Hudson, they would cut the evolutionary States in two. In that case the war might be lost. Like a hawk he watched the army of Howe at the southern end of the Hudson, and must have been overjoyed when he saw it strike for Philadelphia, instead of moving up the river to connect with Burgoyne. It was Washington's part to pin Howe where he was, in Philadelphia. But it was not Washington's part to allow Burgoyne to capture the north without resistance.

Mr. Rucker Sims of Gadsden was a visitor to Clanton last week.

Squirrel season opens November 1st. Don't buy your shells and guns until Saturday, October 31st, when we will have some eye-opening specials for you in this line.—Clanton Building Supply Co.

Lucas PAINTS and VARNISHES

Purposely Made For Every Purpose
For Sale at

The James Sign Shop

Clanton, Alabama

Voters Read This

SOME ACTIVITIES OF COUNTY AGENT C. E. STAPP SINCE COMING TO CHILTON COUNTY FOUR YEARS AGO

1. Opened up office headquarters for farmers of the county with radio market service.
2. Daily report shows office activities as follows: 566 days spent in office. A total of 24,697 callers at office seeking various information. 4,187 telephone calls seeking information. 6,640 individual letters written from the office. 133 circular letters of current information have been written and 110,621 copies mailed out. 686 days spent in field work. 2,645 requested farm visits made. 1,320 meetings held at which timely subjects were discussed and recommendations of the Experiment Station given. A total of 24,603 farmers and farm boys attended the above meetings. 204 school and other miscellaneous meetings with an attendance of 21,655 men, women, and children, have been attended, assisted and addressed.
3. Advised with farmers in setting up the third largest and most active county farm bureau in the State.
4. Arranged for the installation of a cream station at the Farm Bureau Office at Clanton, where farmers who do not have enough cream to ship can bring their small amounts of cream and get cash for same.
5. Arranged for and assisted in running poultry cars regularly during the shipping seasons, enabling farmers to get highest market price for their poultry. With better market for poultry has come noticeable growth in poultry industry in the county. With the growth in poultry industry has come many calls on the agent for information about brooding, housing, treatment of and against diseases, feeding, culling for best results. 188 meetings pertaining to better methods of handling poultry have been held by the county agent.
6. The Agent has worked annually with about 300 of our farm boys in their club work. He has arranged annual club camps for these boys at which most inspiring programs were participated in by the boys. The expenses of the last camp being borne entirely by Mr. Stapp.
7. Mr. Stapp's work with the Purebred Jersey Club has been outstanding. This was demonstrated at the Jersey Show held in Clanton the 19th of September. A total of 97 meetings have been held in interest of better cattle.
8. Mr. Stapp has assisted the boy and girl scouts in their program.
9. One terracing school has been held and 143 meetings held at each one of which several farmers have learned to operate the terracing level, also obtained latest information on terrace building for the prevention of soil washing.
10. One hundred and seventy meetings pertaining to soil building, reduction of fertilizer and more economical use of fertilizers have been held. The estimated value of this work alone the past four years amounts to more than $20,000.
11. Mr. Stapp has worked closely with the Thorsby, Clanton and Jemison strawberry associations in their educational and marketing work. Mr. L. G. Posey, of Jemison, gives an interesting example of the value of this work with the strawberry growers, while he was a member of the Thorsby Association. At the request of the farmers in the Clanton, Jemison and Maplesville territories, Mr. Stapp aided in the setting up of the Berry Growers' Association. $70,445 worth of strawberries were shipped through the Clanton and Jemison Associations this year.
12. At the request of Mr. Stapp, the Alabama Experiment Station sent Mr. Taylor to the county to do experimental work on fertilizing berries. The data obtained here by Mr. Taylor the past two years indicates that with one more year's work he will be able to make definite fertilizer recommendations for fertilizer that will mean a saving of thousands of dollars to the berry growers, and at the same time more and better berries.
13. Mr. Stapp is now sponsoring a move that will result in carlot shipments from the county of dewberries, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes and possibly other crops as is done in case of strawberries.
14. Mr. Stapp has stressed the "Live At Home Program," including a good garden and good home orchard on every farm. He has given 101 demonstrations in pruning, spraying, and general care of fruit trees.

Mr. Stapp states: "During my stay in Chilton County I have tried to make a desirable citizen. What money I have received for work here has either been spent or donated to worthy causes in the county."

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. NELLIE MONCRIEF

On September 27 the spirit of God visited Fitz Hill Hospital and took away the sweet spirit of Mrs. Nellie Moncrief, and infant baby.

Oh, how we all do miss her, for she was loved by all who knew her. She was a devoted wife and mother. We know she is sweetly resting with Jesus, and loved ones, and we'll meet her again some day. There is a vacant place in that home that can never be filled, and that place is mother's. She always wore a smile for everyone, and always seemed happy, but we know she is much happier now, even though it leaves us broken hearted.

No more on earth we'll see Dear Nell, but we know there was rejoicing in heaven when Jesus whispered, come home. Nellie was 42 years of age, and was a member of New Hope Church, where she was laid to rest.

She leaves to mourn her loss a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Spear, a husband, W. D. Moncrief; six children, Pinton, Bygie, Mildred, Franklin, Floyd Earl and Ruth; seven brothers, and three sisters. Rev. Jim Thomas conducted the funeral services, with Difly in charge.

FROM BASEBALL TO GOLF

Broadus Connatser was busy last Tuesday morning shining up his golfing equipment, preparatory to taking his daily round on the course this winter.

Golf ought to come pretty natural to a guy who is as handy with a baseball bat as Connatser.

"Well," he said, as he brushed the dust off his implements, "a fellow has to keep up some form of exercise, and I am glad Clanton has a golf course, which will serve the purpose fine."

Locals

Mr. Leon Pierce of Enterprise, Alabama, was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trotter of Martin Dam spent several days the past week with Mr. and Mrs. John C. Page.

Grover Harris, Jr., of the University of Alabama, spent the past week end at home with his father, Grover C. Harris, of South Clanton.

Prof. H. A. Harris, who has been sick for several weeks, is better. He was able to attend to his school duties as principal at Enterprise, last week.

Mr. Bronson Ruffin of the University of Alabama, spent the past week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ruffin, in Clanton.

Mr. Frank Calloway is rapidly improving at the Central Alabama Hospital.

Mrs. A. L. Brooks of Birmingham was the guest of Miss French Evans last week.

Miss Evelyn Tanner of Birmingham was a visitor to Clanton last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reedie Taylor announcec the arrival of a baby girl at Central Alabama Hospital last Friday morning, October 7th, upon which they are receiving the hearty congratulations of their many friends.

The Perry Body Shop of Clanton delivered four school bus bodies to the County Board of Education last week.

Mr. Early Wilson of Montgomery is visiting in Clanton this week.

Don't kill squirrels before November 1st, and don't buy your guns and shells until Saturday, October 31st. Prices will be right that day at Clanton Building Supply Co.

Miss Mary Comer of Anniston, a senior at the University, was elected chairman of the School of Home Economics at the school's first convention Monday.

Miss Nellie Sumner of Alabama College, Montevallo, was at home last week.

Thicker After Dining—"I suppose the mosquitoes were thick out where you spent the summer."

"No, long and slim."—Boston Transcript.

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Crumpton spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Briggs Crumpton, at Greensboro.

Mrs. L. C. Duncan, and daughter, Betsy Ann, spent the past week end with relatives and friends in Clanton.

Mack Bates, of Montgomery, visited relatives at his old home place near Providence, Beat 16, last Sunday.

Mrs. Virgil Crombell, after a month's visit with Mrs. J. Q. Wade, returned to her home in Montgomery Sunday.

Mr. Clarence K. Evans of Corinth, Mississippi, was the week end guest of his mother, Mrs. G. T. Evans.

Mr. Howard Parrish has returned to Clanton to accept a position with Mack Messer who is in the produce business in this city.

Miss French Evans has returned home after an absence of three months spent in Birmingham with relatives.

Mrs. Annie Lamar Cole, after several days' visit with her sister, Mrs. G. L. Phillips, returned to her home in Birmingham Saturday.

Mr. Wallace Jones of Birmingham was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Willie Phillips Jones, last week.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade returned home Friday after a two week's visit at Stafford Springs, Mississippi.

Mr. Arthur Johnson, Jr., of the University of Alabama spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harris of Birmingham spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris.

Mrs. B. T. Thomas of McCalla, Ala., was here a few days ago visiting relatives. Mrs. Thomas is the widow of the late Ben Thomas, and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Grant. Mrs. Thomas was here on account of the illness of her mother who is in the Central Alabama Hospital for treatment.

Mr. Rother Harris of Birmingham spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris.

Mrs. Dick Hayes and little daughter of Lay Dam were visitors to Clanton, Saturday.

MORE PROPHECIES

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please permit me to say a few words in regard to the signs of the times or point out a few scriptures that are applicable to the end of this age or dispensation.

First, I learn that all prophecy has a figurehead. For instance, we take the old city of Babylon, that is the figurehead of spiritual Babylon, and Jerusalem the figurehead of the church or the kingdom of heaven. We see in Matthew, 11 chapter, 12 verse, Jesus says "And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffereth violence and the violent take it by force." Isaiah says "Their webs shall not become garments, neither shall they cover themselves with their works. Their works are works of iniquity and the act of violence is in their hands." Jeremiah says "For thus hath the Lord of Hosts said, hew ye down trees and cast a mount against Jerusalem. This is the city to be visited. She is wholly oppression in the midst of her, as a fountain casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her wickness, violence and spoil is heard in her. Before me continually is grief and wounds.

"Be thou instructed, O Jerusalem, lest my soul depart from thee; lest I make the desolated land not inhabited."

Ezekiel says "Violence is risen up into a rod of wickedness, none of them shall remain, nor of their multitude neither shall there be wailing for them the time is come, the day draweth near; let not the buyer rejoice, nor the seller mourn, for wrath is upon all the multitude; for the seller shall not return to that which is sold. So we see the kingdom of heaven was taken by violence operated by vile people, and has been for nearly 28 generations.

It is called Babylon. It is full of extertioners and deceivers; but I thank God it's about seen its day. How are we to know? By reading the signs of the times, we find in the book of Nahum, says: "For the Lord hath turned away the excellency of Jacob, as the excellency of Israel for the emptiers have emptied them out, and marred their vine branches. The shield of his mighty men is made red, the violent men are in scarlet, the chariots shall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation; the chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways; they shall seem like torches; they shall run like the lightnings.

So we see this prophecy has reference to the cars and he says it will be in the last days or the end of this age, or just before the coming of that great and notable day of the Lord. Paul says "For that day shall not come except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed the son of perdition. We must fall away from parties and creeds. Jesus says he that doeth the will of my father the same is my mother, my brother, and my sister. Yes, we go about trying to establish our righteousness when we haven't submitted ourselves to the righteusness of God, claiming to have the holy ghost, yet can't interpret prophecy.

Peter says "For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man." But holy men of God spake as they were moved, by the holy-ghost. If a man had the holy ghost he surely could interpret prophecy of things to come for the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy. If a man don't know anything about prophecy he don't know anything about the holy ghost. It is a stranger to him. With best respect to all.—J. H. Jackson.

The Banner and The Post, $3.30.

Phone One-One-One
or Write
The James Sign Shop
CLANTON, ALA.
Outdoor
Painted Display Advertising

DR. E. R. ODOM
and
MRS. E. R. ODOM
Chiropractic
West End - Clanton
Office Hours 12-3 and 6-9 p. m.
5-1-32

OMAR L. REYNOLDS
Attorney-at-Law
OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE
Clanton, Ala.

666
LIQUID OR TABLETS
Relieves a Headache or Neuralgia in 30 minutes, checks a Cold the first day, and checks Malaria in three days.
666 Salve for Baby's Cold.

Dr. J. P. CRUMPTON
DENTIST
Office Over Robinson Dept. Store
CLANTON, ALA.

INDIAN GRAVE NEWS

Miss Winnie Carter, Mr. W. M. Deramus and little Huston Carter motored to Clanton on business Saturday afternoon.

Mr. John Gaines and Mrs. Viola Lee motored to Mrs. Hathcock's last Monday, near Enterprise.

Mr. Lewis Deramus was the dinner guest of Mr. H. H. Golson Sunday.

Mr. O. O. Jones spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. Will Gaines.

Mr. W. M. Deramus and Mr. Huston Hill motored to Prattville on business Friday.

Mr. Comer Rucker and wife spent the week end with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Fannie Golson.

Mr. H. H. Golson and family and Mr. Lewis Deramus went to White Pond Saturday afternoon to play ball. They will give them a game this Saturday near Hayens.

Misses Mary Lou, Ethel and Mr. William Gaines were visitors at Big Springs Sunday.

Miss Winnie Carter visited Mrs. J. Bob Deramus Monday.

Mrs. E. B. Gaines visited Miss Winnie Carter Thursday afternoon.

ANOTHER NEW WRINKLE

Tom Ogletree says the Clanton Shoe Shop, where he works, has installed a device for cementing soles on shoes, whereby the shoe shop will be able to offer shoe repair service in competition with the new idea of buying shoe soles and gluing them on for yourself.

You should see the savings to be had at Robinson Department Store in Clanton.

Mr. H. G. Boyd of Selma was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

Mrs. L. E. Diefenderfer, Miss Helen Diefenderfer, and Miss Ruth Prince were visitors to Montgomery last Friday.

A party composed of Misses Alice Polk, Vivian Gray, Messrs Mack Wyatt and G. C. Roe motored to Athens Sunday to visit Miss Corine Polk, who is attending Athens College.

CLASSIFIED ADVS.

LOST OR STRAYED—One light red Cur dog, male, left my place a month ago; last seen around Clanton; answers to "Tobby." Collar with my name. Liberal reward.—L. T. Kendrick, Thorsby, Ala. 10-15-2tpd.

FOR SALE—One small electric stove and one coal laundry heater, cheap. Call at Union-Banner office. 10-152p

LOST — Small Bruen wrist watch, white gold with black onyx; black ribbon band; $5.00 reward if returned to Mrs. Grady Heflin, Clanton, Ala. 10-15-2t-ch.

LOST—One white gold broach pin, with topaz set, lost between laundry and Elmore's, or between laundry and my home, Tuesday afternoon. Liberal reward. Lillian Thompson, at Clanton Laundry. 1p

FOR SALE — Westinghouse electric range, or will trade for good oil stove. Phone 137-J, Clanton. 1-pd

FOR SALE—At bargain; one power cane mill with Ford motor, and belt, and one 10-foot copper pan, $125.00. Also one small saw mill with two saws, $100.00. One large 2-story shed 70 x 70, $125.00. One 20-inch grist mill, $25.00. All located one-half mile east of Lomax.—J. H. Jackson, Clanton, Ala., Rte 1. 10-15-2tpd.

FOR SALE—One 5-room house, garage, grist mill house, store house, and 2 acres of land, on the Clanton-Billingsley road. Will sell at a bargain. See or write J. S. Chasteen, 1342, 48 St., Wylam, Ala. 10-102p

STOVEWOOD — Will trade a subscription to The Union-Banner a year for a $1.50 load of stovewood. New subscriber preferred. — T. E. Wyatt.

FOR SALE—I have for sale or trade, a 390-acre farm, one large 7-room ante-bellum home, and 4 tenant houses. Land almost level, good pasture. 1 mile from cement highway. Going at a bargain.—W. A. Reynolds.

NOTICE—Will take your cotton at 7 cents on the latest model Electric Refrigerator. — Jesse French Sons, Inc., Montgomery, Ala. 10-10-3tch.

PIANOS — We have twenty-two Player Pianos which sold for $595.00 and $695.00. We will sell these instruments for $225.00, and allow you 8 cents for your cotton. Write Jesse French Sons, Inc., Montgomery, Ala. 10-10-3tc.

FOR SALE—8-tube cabinet Apex Radio, electric, practically new. Priced $35, cash. Apply at Banner office.

Don't kill squirrels before November 1st, and don't buy your guns and shells until Saturday, October 31st. Prices will be right that day at Clanton Building Supply Co.

PRICE OF COTTON RISES 37 POINTS

$2 A Bale Gains Follow Farm Board's Plan To Hold 7,000,000 Bales

New Orleans, Oct. 13.—Cotton values gained nearly $2 a bale net in trading today on the local exchange as traders responded bullishly to the plan to keep 7,000,000 bales off the market for at least a year, shaped here yesterday by the Federal Farm Board, Southern bankers, and the American Cotton Cooperative Association.

Opening strong, contracts for all future deliveries quickly moved up out of the five-cent class, and December, the most active month, rallied to 6.39 as compared with 5.91 at the previous close Saturday.

At the best, values were quoted about $2.50 a bale over Saturday's. The higher levels attracted profit-taking and this, with some selling by ring traders in sympathy with weaker stocks, reduced the gains, but the close was steady at net advances of 34 to 37 points.

Spot quotations gained 35 points on the day, with middling quoted at six cents a pound.

Gov. Miller, of Alabama, in Birmingham for the convention of the United States Good Roads Association, today said he "did not care to comment" on a plan perfected at a conference here to keep at least 7,000,000 bales of cotton off the market this year.

SPANISH REJECT CATHOLISM AS STATE RELIGION

Age-Old Church Influence On Government Ended By Republicans

Madrid, Oct. 13.—The centuries-old influence of the Catholic church on the government of Spain was formally ended Tuesday night when the constitutional assembly, laying the framework of the new republic, declared that there is no state religion.

Breaking away from the monarcical practice of the past, the Republican leaders rejected Catholicism as the official state religion and hinted that the outcome of their policy would be the immediate dissolution of Jesuit and other church organizations and the nationalization of their property. The catholic orders are accused of threatening the security of the state.

Although a forgone conclusion, the 277 to 41 vote of the assembly accepting the constitutional clause on religion was an historic incident in a nation which is profoundly Catholic and which has, in the past, been strongly influenced by the church.

"It is the triumph of the theory that the nation is able to be Catholic, but the state is obliged to be neutral in religion, accepting no specific faith," said one deputy in the long debate which preceded approval of the article.

The Catholic deputies had vigorously opposed acceptance of the article, but it had been known since the overthrow of the manarchy last April that the government was determined to complete separation of the church and state. The Republicans had deplored the influence of the clergy, which favored ex-King Alfonso, on the people, and also the concentration of vast amounts of property in the hands of the church leaders.

EDISON NEARING STATE OF COMA

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 12.—The stupor which has closed over Thomas A. Edison became more pronounced today as the aged inventor neared a state of coma which his physicians said would precede death.

Mr. Edison, said Dr. Hubert S. Howe, is "definitely failing from day to day, but it is a very gradual loss."

The inventor's usual attempt to smile when Mrs. Edison has entered the sick room was missing this morning and Howe said the inventor made no effort to signify either by tonal or physical expression that he recognized the physician.

"Mr. Edison's condition was practically unchanged this afternoon. He sat up for two and a half hours during the day and is now in bed asleep. No immediate crisis is feared," said a statement at 4 p. m., from his son, Charles Edison.

It was explained that the sick man was moved to a pillow-filled chair to afford a change of position and assist in his circulation.

During a 72-hour period ending this morning the physician said Mr. Edison's only nourishment had been six teaspoonfuls of stewed pears. He has taken no fluids in a week.

Many visitors were passing through Clanton, stopping over for a few minutes Monday on their way to the United States Good Roads Association meeting in Birmingham Tuesday of this week.

The new Shell filling station at the crossing of Third Avenue and the Highway is being erected this week.

A. H. Glasscock, the mail man on Route 2 from Jemison was in Clanton Wednesday morning.

WALNUT CREEK NEWS

We failed to send in our items for the past week or two, but we are still working for the best interest of our church and community.

The interest in our Sunday school is very good, however, there is always room for improvement. We had a total attendance of 83 Sunday, with a good number of visitors besides. We hope to continue to have this good attendance.

The regular preaching services were held here Saturday and Sunday at eleven o'clock, by the pastor. We were very glad to have with us Saturday Bro. J. H. Limbrick, a former pastor, and would have been glad for him to have preached for us, but he begged off. The church voted on a delegate to the Annual Conference, which is to be held at Notasulga on Macon Circuit, November 4-6, 1931. The votes will be counted from all the churches on next Saturday, October 17, at the fourth quarterly conference to be held here, and it will then be known who the delegate will be.

We hope that all the churches will be well represented, and it is very necessary that they are, especially the official members. There will be preaching at the eleven o'clock hour next Saturday, and the conference will be held in the afternoon. The regular services will be held on Sunday.

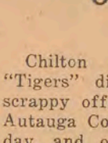
We are very proud of the fact that the singing at this place was very good last Sunday afternoon. We are always glad when the time comes for the society to meet with us and the visitors are always welcome.

Sunday night noted the beginning of a contest in our Christian Endeavor society. The men and boys on one side and the women and girls on the other. The men put on the program last Sunday night. Their topic being, "What is Expected of Us as Good Citizens?" The men presented a very interesting program and had a good number of listeners, besides the regular members.

The topic which the women have for discussion next Sunday is, "How To Answer Wet Arguments." As a general rule the women are strict prohibitionists, so we invite all who can to come out and hear them defend prohibition at that time.

Mrs. Bill Coggins and Mrs. Reese Baker are working on a fact-finding commission and are to make a report Sunday night. Everybody come.

Chilton High Tied With Autauga 0-0



Another Game Here Friday With Bibb County High Of Centreville

Chilton County High School's "Tigers" displayed anything but a scrappy offense in their game with Autauga County High here last Friday, and only succeeded in tieing the Autaugans, 0-0.

When Chilton resorted to running and line plays they gained consistently, but for some unaccountable reason, on several occasions with victory in their grasp had they continued this style of play, they went to the air, and therein lies the story of the scoreless tie. Time after time Chilton was in the shadow of the Autauga goal posts, but each time trials at passing took the oval away from them. A little better field generalship and picking of plays should have given Chilton an easy victory, as the Autauga offense failed in every style of play, and the Chilton goal was never in much danger.

The locals take on Bibb County High, from Centreville, here next Friday afternoon. A good game is expected. Come!

SICK HEADACHE From Constipation

HERE is a purely vegetable medicine which has benefited thousands of men, women and children, and which you should try when troubled with constipation, indigestion, or biliousness. Mr. H. H. Rogillio, of Lake Charles, La., writes: "When I let myself get constipated, I feel dull and sluggish and all out of sorts, not equal to my work. When one has this feeling it is time to take something before he feels worse. I certainly have found Black-Draught quick to relieve. I used to have severe sick headaches and suffer a great deal. I found this came from constipation, and that Black-Draught would correct it. That is why I began using THEDFORD'S FNA-18

Black-Draught

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Price were in Clanton Tuesday.

W. W. Fox wants to buy chestnuts, and will pay the highest market price for them. If you have any to sell, see him at once.

Hunter Frazier and H. G. Boyd of Selma were visitors to Clanton Monday.

Mrs. Lena Mae Hancock of Birmingham visited relatives here last week end.

NEWS FROM HAYNES

A large crowd attended the B. Y. P. U. Association at Big Springs Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Wyatt and children of Billingsley spent Sunday with Mrs. A. G. Wyatt.

Mrs. O. O. Jones spent Sunday with Mrs. C. H. Roy.

Mrs. W. H. Gaines and daughters, Ethel and Ruth, and Sara Jones spent Saturday in Montgomery.

Mr. George Jackson of Selma spent a while Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jackson.

Miss Roberta Weaver spent last week end with Miss Lorene Wright. Miss Linnie Mae Golson spent Sunday with Miss Betsy Jones.

Misses Margaret Jones and Betsy, and Ruth and Evelyn Deramus attended preaching at Vida Thursday night.

Miss Pearl Johnson spent Thursday night with Miss Margaret Jones.

Rev. Tom Deramus is spending a few days with friends and relatives here.

Miss Sara Jones spent Friday night with Misses Mary and Ethel Gaines.

Robinson Department Store is offering bargains. See them.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Parrish of Birmingham were visitors to Clanton Tuesday.

SLEEPY FEELING AFTER MEALS DUE TO POISON

A dopey, tired feeling is ALWAYS a sign that waste food matter stays too long in the bowels. It ferments and forms gas. It breeds germs. It is sure to poison heart, kidneys, and brain.

Adlerika washes out BOTH upper and lower bowel. It brings out poisons which cause gas, nervousness and a dopey, sleepy feeling. It contains no harmful drugs. Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful cleansing effect of this German doctor's simple remedy. Upchurch Drug Company, Clanton, Ala.

A card from Lamar Calloway tells us that he is back at Duke University in Durham, N. C., after several weeks of study at New York. While in New York he was with his brother, Dr. Raymond Calloway.

Mr. Julian Evans is spending this week in Birmingham.

Wallace Jones spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. Willie Phillips Jones.

C. N. Kicker and E. L. Balderson, of Birmingham, were visitors to Clanton. Mr. Kicker, a former resident of Chilton County, is pay roll clerk of the Birmingham Police Department, a position he has held for several years. Mr. Balderson is manager of the the National Biscuit Company.

Mrs. H. C. McDonald of Wetumpka spent Monday as the guest of Mrs. W. I. Mullins.

Yes! Clanton Cash Store's Big Clean Out SALE Is Still Going On

Look for the Sign on Front of Our Store

Bright, clean, new goods at less than cost. We pay 1c above market for cotton on account or in trade. - -:-

CLANTON CASH STORE

Compare These Prices

and see our Quality

Convince Yourself That We Always Lead

Our Stock Is New and Complete, and Therefore We Can Give You the Lowest Prices

DRESS GOODS — Good grade in all colors and new designs — 5c yard

WORK SHOES — The very best Work Shoe to be had — $1.95 pair

DRESS SHIRTS — 200 Mens Dress Shirts new stock in all sizes and colors — only 48c

Every Day Oxfords — 100 pairs of black gun metal or patent low heel lace oxfords in all sizes while they last — For Only $1.25 pair

Ladies Dress Oxfords — 500 pairs of slippers in low or high heels. Patent or kid. Well trimmed. Values up to $3.50 — For Only $1.98 pair

Feather Ticking — 8-ounce feather-proof Ticking now — Special 16c

UNDERWEAR — Mens heavy weight ribbed union suits — only 69c

MENS PANTS — Good heavy weight 22-inch bottoms all sizes — only 98c

Cheviots— Good heavy grade in solid blue or fancy patterns. Good for every day shirts and dresses. Special per yard 10c

Outing— This is a good heavy quality outing, and we have it in all colors. The special price now per yard is 8c

Childrens Shoes — One lot in patent leather or gun metal all sizes — only 98c

SWEATERS — Be sure to see these wonderful sweaters selling for — 98c to $2.48

ODD COATS — 500 mens tailor made odd coats. Values up to $10 to go at — $2.50–$3.50–$4.50

For Your Pocket Book's Sake See Us Before You Buy

WE ALWAYS LEAD — THE LEADER MANAGER, M. LANDE — WE ALWAYS LEAD

Chilton County the Heart of Alabama

ESTABLISHED 1903 THE ESTABLISHED 1892

UNION-BANNER

CLANTON Alabama Watch It Grow!

VOLUME XXXIX.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1931 NUMBER 26

POWER COMPANY SANTA CLAUS FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Public Utilities Bear Bulk Of Tax Burden In Two Counties

The citizens and property owners of Chilton and Coosa Counties, where officials are raising such a racket about tax assessments of the Alabama Power Company are luckier than the citizens of other counties in Alabama who do not have a predominant percentage of their taxes paid by public utilities, or outsiders. In many counties of Alabama the farmer, merchant, town and city home owner and small business man pays the great majority of the taxes, but not so in these two fortunate counties.

Chilton County in 1930 had property assessments of $14,403,354. Of this amount the public utilities such as the Alabama Power Company, L. & N. Railroad, telephone and telegraph companies, were assessed $8,740,466 or 60.1 per cent. In other words the farmers and others were assessed 39.9 per cent. And to carry it further, the utilities paid nearly two-thirds of the taxes of that county. Of the total assessments in that county, the Alabama Power Company was taxed on $6,325,830 in 1930. Of course the L. & N. Railroad bore the brunt of the balance, or nearly $2,000,000, because the L. & N. splits Chilton County through and through.

Coosa County, where it is asserted farm lands are assessed at less than $5 an acre, fares well at the hands of the 'copperations,' that is, those who live outside the county but pay the taxes to keep the schools running. The total tax values of Coosa County in 1930 were $7,407,580. Of this amount the public utilities which include the railroads, the power companies, and the telegraph and telephone companies are assessed at $4,938,620. In other words the utilities are assessed 66.6 per cent of all property in the county in 1930, and of course paid taxes accordingly. Of the amount assessed in Coosa County, the Alabama Power Company was assessed $4,524,214 in 1930. Or to carry it further, the Alabama Power Co., paid more than half of the property taxes of Coosa County on the 1930 basis.

When the Alabama State Tax Commission raised the assessment of the Alabama Power Company this year approximately $1,000,000 but re-allocated the total assessments so that these two counties lost in the assessments, a great howl was raised because Coosa and Chilton have been used to the Alabama Power Company paying the majority of all taxes they receive into their county treasuries and they object to a re-allocation where other counties may get a certain part of it.

But the story of the small amount of taxes paid by citizens of Chilton and Coosa compared to those paid by the public utilities, is not the whole story. The farm owners and property owners of Chilton and Coosa, outside of the public utilities are through paying taxes when they go to the tax collector of those counties and pay the amount they are assessed. But that is not true of the public utilities.

The Alabama Power Company, the L. & N. Railroad and the other public utilities pay the heavy end of the property taxes in Coosa and Chilton. But that is not the end to their interest in these two counties. They pay a percentage of their receipts into an educational trust fund that is divided among the counties and these two counties profit. They pay franchise taxes and license taxes and other taxes which go into the general fund of the State is appropriated for education and Chilton and Coosa get their part of this.

Chilton and Coosa will have a hearing on their request that their State Tax Commission reopen its decision taking some of their values and giving them to other counties. The hearing will be held this week and an interesting resume of tax data will be brought before the commission.—By Atticus Mullin, in The Montgomery Advertiser.

PREACHING AT FRIENDSHIP

Singing next Sunday morning at Friendship begins at 9:30 o'clock. Sunday school at 10; preaching at 11 by the pastor, Rev. Bean. Also preaching Saturday night and again Sunday night, beginning at 7 o'clock. Everybody invited to attend these services.

BILLINGSLEY

Rev. S. A. Bentley preached a very interesting sermon at the Baptist Church Sunday.

Our town was doubly saddened by the deaths of Mr. Jim Williams and Mr. W. E. Misseldine. We take this opportunity to extend our deepes sympathy to the bereaved families of these, our departed friends.

Rev. Gipson conducted Mr. Misseldine's funeral at Billingsley Sunday at 10:00 o'clock, with Mell Martin in charge.

Rev. S. A. Bentley had charge of Mr. Williams funeral at New Cedron Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. J. C. Vinson spent last week end with home folks in Billingsley. Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Marlor of Tuscaloosa spent last week end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Marlar.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Apperson motored to Jacksonville, Ala., where they were guests of their sons, Henry, Milton, and Otto, who are students at State Teachers College.

Misses Mary Collins and Ann Turk spent the week end with their respective parents in Prattville.

Mrs. Bazel Thompson is spending this week with her aunt, Mrs. W. A. Gandy.

Billingsley teachers and truck drivers attended the county institute in Prattville Friday.

We are glad to know that Misses Burnice Durden continues to improve.

Mrs. A. F. Apperson was called to the bed side of her sick mother last Sunday.

PHONE MEETING HERE OCT. 31

Directors Say That Only This One Meeting Will Be Held

The annual meeting of the Peoples Telephone Company will be held at the courthouse in Clanton on Saturday afternoon, October 31st at 2:30 o'clock. Everybody interested in the company is urged to attend this meeting, as it will determine what will be done the coming year. If you want the central office to operate, be at this meeting. If the prospects are sufficient to justify it, the operation of the central will be continued; if not it will be stopped.

For the benefit of the phoneholders, we will state that there have been quite a few applications for the job as operator. There are, in our estimation, some good reliable men who have applied for the job, and their offers are very reasonable, considering the hard times. We believe that it can be operated on the same revenue as was collected last year, and as good or better service given.

Remember, that we are going to do our "do" at this one meeting. If you have any suggestions to offer, do not wait, for this is the only chance that will be given. We are not going to call another meeting.—O. R. Robinson, Chm., J. M. Robinson, Lee Popwell, E. H. Mims, T. E. Wyatt, Directors.

A FUNNY PROTRUSION

Mr. J. H. Jackson of Lomax brought to The Union-Banner Saturday a funny looking egg plant. It was a natural-looking fruit except that on one side there was a peculiar growth or protrusion resembling a man's nose, only it is longer. The growth seems to be of the same material as the rest of the fruit and is the same color on the outside.

Mr. Jackson stated that this was the only one that he had gathered this year that was deformed in any way.

VOTERS REGISTER

The attention of the people of Chilton County is called to advertisement in this paper setting out the dates and places where the Board of Registrars will be for the purpose of registering all parties who are entitled to register and become qualified voters.

There are doubtless many who by virtue of age and other reasons have become entitled to register. If you know of anyone, call it to his or her attention, and insist upon all attending to this important duty.

Look up the advertisement of the Registrars and bear in mind the date when they will be your precinct.

Alabama Legion Commander Approves State Bond Issue

Points Out That Road Building Program Offers Most Effective Means For Giving Employment To The Many Who Are Out Of A Job

The surveys the Post Commanders have made on the approximate number of unemployed ex-service men in the State of Alabama is much worse than I anticipated. With approximately 70,000 ex-service men in the state, nearly 14,000 are out of work entirely, or have only temporary employment, and the sad thing about it is that most of these men are married and have families.

In accordence with the appeal of the National Executive Commitee of the American Legion to all State Commanders to cooperate with the Legion in helping to solve the unemployment crisis existing in this country, I have given the matter of unemployment in the State of Alabama practically my full time and study for the past several weeks. It is apparent that, despite the fact numerous committees have met and discussed the question pro and con, the newspapers of the state have discussed editorilly the question of unemployment pro and ion, and all the civic bodies and charity organizations in the state have given it the best of their time and thought, no immediate solution offering tangible relief in the form of a job for the unemployed has been offered. It strikes me that in this crisis the American Legion can temonstrate its ability to meet situations of an unusual character.

Our job as soldiers and sailors in 1917 and 1918 was to fight and die, if need be. Our job in this crisis is to fight that men ant children may live. Every ex-service man in this state, regardless of whether he is a member of the American Legion or out, is ready to put his shoolder to any wheel whose turning will bring unemployment relief.

The average man with a family does not want charity. What he wants is a job. As I have said, I have given this matter close study and I have not found any solution offered that will create a number of jobs except one. If the highway bond issue for good roads in this state is voted successfully on November 3, it will make immediately available to the State Highway Department approximately $40,000,000, $25,000,000 of which will be state highway funds for paving; a thousand miles of soad contract fon paving can be let between November and next Spring, at the rate of 200 miles each month. This program will put at least $20,000,000 in circulation and provide jobs for at least 10,000 men in Alabama. Practically every bit of highway paving material used will be furnished by Alabama industries, plants, mines, and quarries. Investigation shows that in a mile of paved road, the following Alabama products are used: 13 bales of Cotton, 416 tons of coal, 3,300 barrels of Cement, 66,000 K. W. H. Electric Power, 15 tons of reinforcing Steel, 10,500 pounds of chemicals 360 tons of sand, 1,530 tons of gravel or slag.

If we can get this paving program started, it will mean that every one of the plants and industries, quarries and mines that manufacture and produce the foregoing materials, will put men to work. With 200 miles of paving contracts each month, based on 10 miles of paving per contract, would put approximately 1,500 men to work each month in the actual construction of roads.

An analysis of the tonnage carried by the Alabama railroads in this program made for me by one of the railroad transportation experts, shows that a total tonnage of 719,000 tons of freight will be hauled each month by the railroads in the state. This will mean approximately 14,000 cars and will mean, of course, hundreds of railroad men will have to be put to work to handle this volume increase. Of most importance to me however, are the statistics provided by the American Association of State Highway Officials which shows that 75 per cent of all moneys spent on highways goes to labor. 75 per cent of $20,000,000 is $15,000,000 which will be put in circulation in the state.

I appreciate the fact that some people of this state may criticise the American Legion for endorsing this highway bond issue. My only answer is that I have the full and hearty endorsement of Howard Savage, Chairman of the Legion National Unemployment Committee and the wholehearted endorsement of Henry L. Stephens, National Commander of the American Legion. We are not concerned with partisan politics nor political opinions. We are concerned with the question of putting men to work that their children might be fed. Your survey of the unemployment situation among the ex-service men was deemed by me as sufficent cause for endorsing this bond issue but I also have the added incentive that the percentage of unemployed among other classes of our citizens is undoubtedly higher.

Therefore, as State Commander of the Department of Alabama of the American Legion, I hereby endorse fully and without any reservation the highway bond issue for good roads, to be voted on November 3, and I call on every Post Commander in this state to call a special meeting of their Post and by formal resolution call on every ex-service man in their community, regardless of whether they are members of the Legion or not, to work for and vote for the highway bond issue as the one immediate means of putting men back to work in this state.

JAMES CONNER,
State Commander.

Union Grove Farmers Endorse Work Of County Farm Demonstration Agent

A large representative group of Union Grove farmers met at their school house last Saturday evening and unanimously endorsed the county agency work and the work of C. E. Stapp, as county agent.

It was an enthusiastic gathering of farmers, all interested in seeing the farmers come out on November 3rd, and vote an overwhelming majority in favor of county agency work.

Mr. Horace Chandler stated that the information that he had received on making a pasture has been worth his part of the cost of a county agent for a lifetime.

Mr. Eugene Thresh stated that the people who had used the county agent, attended some of his meetings, and kept up with his recommendations, appreaciated the real value of his services.

Mr. C. R. Foss stat... as a ... tir... h...

Caval... Motor Co., Alabama

BEAT 13

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to express myself in regard to the County Agent. In my way of thinking, we need a county agent at this time more than ever before. We will all have to admit that Mr. Stapp has been a help to Chilton County in many different ways. In fact I don't know of any other county officer that would be missed by the farmers of this county as would the County Farm Agent.

First, he has been a help to Chilton County by arranging to have poultry cars sent through the county which enabled the farmers to obtain a much better price for their poultry than they could have gotten otherwise. He has also urged the farmers to build up their land by sowing vetch and Austrian peas.

Mr. Stapp, by cooperating with ...e farm bureau has saved the farm... of this county lots of money on ...ilizer, seeds, etc.

...r County Agent has also been ...p to the people of the county ...ving established a cream station ...nton, whereby the people who ...t have enough cream to ship ...ell to this cream station and ...r checks immediately.

...r me, I am for Mr. Stapp, ...ink the voters should think ... matter seriously before go... ...e polls and casting their ...

D. HARRELL.

INDIAN GRAVE

Mrs. Minney Billingsley prepared at her home Sunday afternoon an old fashioned wedding supper for her son, Bela, and a number of friends. The table was set for only eight. After supper the bride and groom and guests went to the B. Y. P. U., and after the program spent the night at the home of his mother.

Mrs. J. C. Traywick and the G. A. girls of this community attended the G. A. Girls' Association at Maplesville Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Odis Collins was dinner guest Sunday of Mr. Grady Billingsley. Mrs. Maggie Alston of Miami, Fla., is visiting her sisters, Mrs. H. H. Golson and Mrs. Fannie Golson.

Mr. Lewis Deramus motored to White Pond Saturday afternoon on business.

Mr. J. Bob Deramus and Mr. J. B. Deramus were visitors at the ball game near Haynes between White Pond and Haynes

Miss Minney Carter and Mr. Wm. Deramus visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Bob Deramus Monday.

Mrs. O. O. Jones visited Mrs. C. H. Roy Sunday.

Mr. H. H. Golson and Mrs. Maggie Alston spent the week end with Mr. Comer Rucker, near Booth.

Mr. Will Gaines visited Mr. W. N. Deramus Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Hallet Lee motored to Clanton Monday afternoon.

Wm. J. and Hugh Headley of Pinedale were in Clanton Tuesday.

Charlie Bowles of Thorsby was in Clanton Wednesday morning.

ALABAMA GETS HIGHWAY FUND

Government Sets Aside Over Two Millions For Roads In State

Washington, Oct. 16.—To aid states in planning 1932 highway construction, Secretary Hyde had today apportioned the $125,000,000 authorized by congress for federal roads nearly three months in advance of the usual time. (Alabama has received $331,729 of her apportionment of $2,589,898 and $2,250,169 are yet available).

The last congress increased the regular federal aid fund from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000 and established an emergency fund of $80,000,000 to relieve unemployment.

The states used virtually all of the $80,000,000 this year, undertaking the greatest highway construction program in history. They now must repay the emergency advance through reductions from regular allotments. One-fifth was deducted on next year's funds. Two and a half per cent also was withheld for administration purposes.

The net apportionment available for new projects, which may be obligated now, is $105,875,000.

At the peak of this year's construction more than 155,000 were employed on federal aid highways. Mileage under construction as of September 30 totaled 14,314 involving a total cost of $344,072,068. The total approved for construction calls for 1,373 miles costing $29,779,361. The balance of federal aid funds available for New York is $25,517,828.

The bureau of public roads has indicated its willingness to accept policies designed to increase employment and protect labor next year, such as those fixing a fair minimum wage scale, giving preference to local unskilled help and citizens of the state in which the work is being done, and restricting working hours to afford continuous employment.

WHAT ABOUT STAPP?

The most important question that has confronted the people of Chilton County in a long time is: What shall we do about the County Agent?

You ought to be interested in this big question. If you are not, we hope you will get interested.

First turn to page 2 of this paper and read the summary of what Mr. Stapp has done since he has been in the work here.

Then there are many other things about the County Agency work you should consider in making up your mind how to vote on this question.

Above all, let us not be blind to the best interests of our farmers.

CHILTON COUNTY BOYS HONORED AT DISTRICT FAIR

Members Of Jersey Calf Club Who Went To Anniston Last Week

Ten members of the Chilton County Jersey Calf Club went with County Agent C. E. Stapp to the district fair at Anniston Thursday and Friday of last week. Chester Messer, Quinton Kelley, and James Dennis formed the judging team representing Chilton county in the cattle judging contest held there. The Chilton County team scored third place in the contest.

Chester Messer made the high score for our team, and was third high boy in the contest. On one class of mature cows judged Quinton Kelley tied the score of the high boy in the contest, but fell short on one class of young cattle

In the showman's contest in which 25 boys competed for the gold medal offered by the American Jersey Cattle Club, James Dennis of this county came out winner, and is the proud possessor of the medal.

Groups of five animals from each county competed for the prize offered for the best county exhibit. The Chilton county exhibit won second place in this contest.

The two-year-old bull owned by Ralph Mims won the championship over all the young bull exhibits, and very nearly won the grand championship of the bull show, but lost to an old bull from Talladega County.

The little bull calf owned by Clyde Popwell won second place in his age class. A young heifer owned by Clyde Popwell won second place in her age class. A little heifer owned by James Dennis won fourth place in a class of 18 calves her age.

Heifers owned by J. P. Culp, Howard Martin, and Chester Messer won fourth, fifth nad sixth places in their respective classes.

The boys returned home very enthusiastic and more detemined to do better next year, said Mr. Stapp, as he concluded his report of the trip.

REVIVAL SERVICES CLOSED LAST NIGHT

The ten-day revival campaign at the Clanton Baptist Church came to a close Wednesday night. From every standpoint the meeting has been a great success. The preaching that has been done by Dr. J. J. Milford is the best that has been heard from an evangelist here for a long time. He is indeed a powerful messenger of the Gospel.

The singing was extra good. A local choir directed by Fred Bond, of Birmingham, added much to the spirit of the meeting. The Junior Choir which was organized by Mr. Bond was one of the most interesting musical features of the meetings.

Many have united with the church and become professed followers of Jesus Christ under the powerful appeals of the evangelist, Dr. Milford.

NEW DRUG STORE FOR THORSBY

Varney Wyatt Will Open New Business On Saturday This Week

Announcement is made in this issue of The Union-Banner concerning the opening of the Wyatt Drug Company at Thorsby next Saturday, with a special bargain day festival that will be of great interest to the people of the surrounding community.

The proprietor of the new place is Mr. Varney E. Wyatt, well-known drug store man, formerly of Clanton. Mr. Wyatt worked in drug stores in Clanton for several years. Recently he has been on the road representing a wholesale drug business in this territory.

The decision of this young man to open a drug business in Thorsby is hailed with hearty acclaim by his many friends throughout this section.

His business will occupy a commanding location in the new stucco building on the highway. He will handle a full line of everything that is usually found in a first class drug store. The prescription department will be in charge of a registered pharmacist.

Mr. Wyatt invites his friends to come to see him and patronize his store. It goes without saying that those who trade with him will be recipients of a full measure of cordiality from the proprietor.

TIMBER DURABILITY INDEPENDENT OF SEASON

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 19.—The season of cutting does not affect the durability of timber, says Colonel Page S. Bunker, State Forester of Alabama. Most changes in the wood formerly attributed to the time of year during which it is cut have been found to be due instead to the rate of drying or seasoning.

The portion of the wood most affected is the sapwood, since this is the part that is really living and contains the greater amount of moisture. Timber felled during the winter dries much more slowly and evenly due to the cooler temperatures prevailing during that time of the year. During the warm season, however, the drying out of the sapwood is apt to proceed at a rapid and irregular rate with the result that the shrinkage may not be uniform in all directions. This causes splitting and checking of the material.

Winter cutting is also accompanied by less danger of sap rot, since the causative fungus does not spread during the cooler times of the year. If logs cut in the summer, however, are seasoned under the same conditions as those cut in the winter there will be no discernible differences in the properties of the timber.

COLLINS CHAPEL NEWS

The United Singing Society met at Collins Chapel Church last Thursday night and practiced the new songs.

The health of this community is not so good.

We are all praying that little James Littleton will soon recover.

Mrs. Jodie Cox is still improving.

We hope to see Mr. John Littleton well again soon.

Miss Winnie Kate Robinson of Union Grove spent the week end with Miss Eunice Murrah.

Miss Florence Cofer of Pleasant Grove spent Sunday with Miss Myrtle Willis.

The Thorsby B. Y. P. U. rendered a great program Sunday night at the church.

Our pastor brought us a great message Sunday at 11:00 o'clock.

We invite each and every one to come to our church each third Sunday.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely.

A surprise party was enjoyed very much at Mildred and Margaret Smith's Saturday night, October 17.

Miss Margaret Smith spent Sunday with Miss Eunice Murrah.

Wait! Our big sale on guns and shells comes off on Saturday, October 31st. Don't buy until then, when you can get lowest prices.—Clanton Building Supply Co.

Watch next week's paper for prices.

Dr. S. C. WOOD
Surgery & Diseases of Women
Office over Upchurch Drug Co.
Bell Phone 143
Clanton, Ala.

RADIO AND ELECTRIC SERVICE
Phone - 29
Hubert Farley—at
Farmers Hardware Co.

CAR WASHING, POLISHING GREASING
Woco Pep and Tiolene Motor Oil
Your Patronage always Appreciated
MARTIN WOCO PEP STATION
Clanton, Ala.

REAL ESTATE
See me if you are interested in buying or selling real estate. I have several houses and lots will trade for Alabama Mills Stock. Also farm land for sale or trade. Cash or terms.
W. A. CROWSON
Clanton, Ala.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

I, W. H. Gillespie, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1931, an election will be held at the several polling places in Chilton County, Alabama, for a vote by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, in the manner and form and places as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, namely:

"Article XX-B. Section 1. The State is authorized to engage in the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges in the State of Alabama. To this end and for these purposes, the State is authorized to appropriate funds and for construction purposes only the State is authorized also to issue and sell interest-bearing negotiable State bonds in addition to those already authorized and sold under Article XX and XX-A, as amendments to the Constitution of 1901, in an amount not to exceed the sum of twenty-five million ($25,000,000.00), to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series, maturing at such times as may be provided by law, and all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not greater than six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall be sold at a price not less than par value thereof.

Section 2. The State Highway Commission or Highway Department shall locate, construct and maintain highways, bridges and State trunk roads so as to connect each county seat with the county seat of the adjoining county by the most direct or most feasible route by a permanent road, having due regard for the public welfare, and shall connect the county seats of the several border counties at or near the state line with a public highway in the border states. Provided, that in counties which are divided into two or more judicial divisions in each of which regular terms of the circuit court are held, the places where said terms of court are held, shall likewise be connected with each other.

Section 3. The proceeds of said bonds shall be used for construction and/or surfacing of roads and construction and/or repairing bridges, but not for maintenance or discharging of contract debts, liability or obligations existing prior to the adoption of this amendment.

Section 4. Eighteen million four hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($18,425,000.00) of the proceeds of said bonds shall be set aside by the Governor and apportioned in amounts of two hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($275,000.00) to each of the respective counties of the State which must be expended by the State Highway Department in each of said counties for construction, which shall include hard surfacing, of existing and also new public roads and bridges therein. The remaining proceeds of said bonds shall be used for the construction, which shall include surfacing, of existing, or new highways and constructing or repairing bridges in the State.

Section 5. The proceeds of such bonds shall be kept separate and apart from all other funds and no part of the same shall ever be used in honoring a warrant not legally drawn against such proceeds.

Section 6. There is hereby levied and every distributor, retail dealer or storer shall pay an excise tax of one cent per gallon upon the selling, distributing or withdrawing from storage for any use gasoline, provided, however, that the excise tax is not levied upon the sale of gasoline in interstate commerce, and provided further that where this excise tax shall have been paid by a distributor or by a retail dealer or storer such payment shall be sufficient, the intention being that this tax shall not be paid but once. The terms 'distributor,' 'retail dealer,' 'storer,' 'selling,' 'distributing,' 'withdrawing' and 'gasoline' are used as the same are used in existing gasoine excise tax laws of the State and shall be so construed, and all rights, duties, liabilities, penalties, powers and methods pertaining to the collection of gasoline excise taxes under such existing laws of the State shall apply to the collection, payment and accounting for the within excise tax, provided, the Legislature may limit, extend or further define the same. The excise tax of one cent herein levied shall be in addition to the excise gasoline taxes provided by existing laws of the State, but this section shall not be construed in any way as limiting the power of the Legislature to increase or decrease this or any other gasoline tax.

Section 7. The one cent excise tax hereinbefore levied shall be used first to create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and the interest on the bonds herein authorized, and, second, by the State for the construction, improvement, repair and maintenance of public roads, highways and bridges of this State.

Section 8. The bonds herein authorized when issued shall be a direct obligation of the State, and for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest thereon the full faith and credit of the State is hereby irrevocably pledged and such bonds shall be exempt forever from taxes of every kind.

Section 9. The bonds herein authorized shall be issued and sold in the same manner by a Bond Commission as set forth, defined and prescribed in Article 5 of Chapter 32, Code of Alabama, 1923.

Section 10. That House Bill No. 1204 by Mr. Tunstall, if and when passed by both houses of he Legislature of Alabama of 1931 and approved by the Governor and being, "A bill to be entitled an act to impose, for the use and purpose of surviving, preserving, maintaining, constructing and regulating the use of public roads and bridges in the State of Alabama, an excise tax on all persons, companies, agencies, corporations, and associations who sell, distribute, store or draw from storage for any purpose whatsoever, gasoline or any other liquid motor fuel or devices or any substitute therefor within the State of Alabama; providing for the collection of such excise tax and the payment of same into the State Treasury; providing for the enforcement of this act and fixing a penalty for the violation of the provisions hereof; providing that the said excise tax so imposed shall be in addition to all other excise tax now imposed by law; and, providing that freight agents or railroads and all agents of all transportation companies operating within the State of Alabama and who ransport motor fuels shall report to the State Tax Commission all shipments of gasoline or any substitute therefor, received at any of their stations within the State." be and the same is hereby ratified, confirmed and validated and made constitutional as a law, and such ratification, confirmation, validation and constitutionally as a law, shall, according to the terms thereof when finally passed, inn the manner aforesaid, take effect and be effective on the day of the passage of said bill by both houses of the Legislature of Alabama of 1931, and approved by the Governor, as fully as if said bill was set out in words and figures herein.".

This, the first day of October, 1931.

W. H. GILLESPIE,
10-1-4t-ch. Sheriff Chilton County, Ala.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Walter Sparrow, who was convicted in the circuit court of Chilton County for first degree murder on December 8th, 1916, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, and who is now serving his term at Camp N., Tyler, Ala., will make application to the Hon. State Board of Pardons for pardon or Parole.—WALTER SPARROW. 10-15-2p

PREACHING AT JEMISON

There will be preaching at the home of J. W. Beasley at Jemison Sunday, November 1st, and Saturday night before. Also preaching Sunday night. Everybody invited.—C. J. Moates, Clanton R 5. 2t

High grade merchandise at low cost at the Robinson Department Store, Clanton.

ONE DOSE GERMAN REMEDY ENDS GAS

"I was sick and nervous with indigestion and stomach gas. One dose of Adlerika helped. I eat anything now and sleep good."—Henry Dodd.

You can't get rid of indigestion or gas by just doctoring the stomach. For gas stays in the UPPER bowel. Adlerika reaches BOTH upper and lower bowel, washing out poisons which cause gas, nervousness and bad sleep. Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect of this German Doctor's remedy.—Upchurch Drug Company.

Voters Read This

SOME ACTIVITIES OF COUNTY AGENT C. E. STAPP SINCE COMING TO CHILTON COUNTY FOUR YEARS AGO

1. Opened up office headquarters for farmers of the county with radio market service.
2. Daily report shows office activities as follows: 566 days spent in office. A total of 24,697 callers at office seeking various information. 4,187 telephone calls seeking information. 6,640 individual letters written from the office. 133 circular letters of current information have been written and 110,621 copies mailed out. 686 days spent in field work. 2,645 requested farm visits made. 1,320 meetings held at which timely subjects were discussed and recommendations of the Experiment Station given. A total of 24,603 farmers and farm boys attended the above meetings. 204 school and other miscellaneous meetings with an attendance of 21,655 men, women, and children, have been attended, assisted and addressed.
3. Advised with farmers in setting up the third largest and most active county farm bureau in the State.
4. Arranged for the installation of a cream station at the Farm Bureau Office at Clanton, where farmers who do not have enough cream to ship can bring their small amounts of cream and get cash for same.
5. Arranged for and assisted in running poultry cars regularly during the shipping seasons, enabling farmers to get highest market price for their poultry. With better market for poultry has come noticeable growth in poultry industry in the county. With the growth in poultry industry has come many calls on the agent for information about brooding, housing, treatment of and against diseases, feeding, culling for best results. 188 meetings pertaining to better methods of handling poultry have been held by the county agent.
6. The Agent has worked annually with about 300 of our farm boys in their club work. He has arranged annual club camps for these boys at which most inspiring programs were participated in by the boys. The expenses of the last camp being borne entirely by Mr. Stapp.
7. Mr. Stapp's work with the Purebred Jersey Club has been outstanding. This was demonstrated at the Jersey Show held in Clanton the 19th of September. A total of 97 meetings have been held in interest of better cattle.
8. Mr. Stapp has assisted the boy and girl scouts in their program.
9. One terracing school has been held and 143 meetings held at each one of which several farmers have learned to operate the terracing level, also obtained latest information on terrace building for the prevention of soil washing.
10. One hundred and seventy meetings pertaining to soil building, reduction of fertilizer and more economical use of fertilizers have been held. The estimated value of this work alone the past four years amounts to more than $20,000.
11. Mr. Stapp has worked closely with the Thorsby, Clanton and Jemison strawberry associations in their educational and marketing work. Mr. L. G. Posey, of Jemison, gives an interesting example of the value of this work with the strawberry growers, while he was a member of the Thorsby Association. At the request of the farmers in the Clanton, Jemison and Maplesville territories, Mr. Stapp aided in the setting up of the Berry Growers' Association. $70,445 worth of strawberries were shipped through the Clanton and Jemison Associations this year.
12. At the request of Mr. Stapp, the Alabama Experiment Station sent Mr. Taylor to the county to do experimental work on fertilizing berries. The data obtained here by Mr. Taylor the past two years indicates that with one more year's work he will be able to make definite fertilizer recommendations for fertilizer that will mean a saving of thousands of dollars to the berry growers, and at the same time more and better berries.
13. Mr. Stapp is now sponsoring a move that will result in carlot shipments from the county of dewberries, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes and possibly other crops as is done in case of strawberries.
14. Mr. Stapp has stressed the "Live At Home Program," including a good garden and good home orchard on every farm. He has given 101 demonstrations in pruning, spraying, and general care of fruit trees.

Mr. Stapp states: "During my stay in Chilton County I have tried to make a desirable citizen. What money I have received for work here has either been spent or donated to worthy causes in the county."

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF DAY TO HEAR PETITION FOR SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR MAINTENANCE AND EDUCATION OF MINORS

State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Probate Court:

In the matter of the petition of Lois Sims, guardian of Tommie Lee Sims and T. C. Sims, Jr., to sell real estate for maintenance and education of said minors:

Notice is hereby given that on the 9th day of October, 1931, Lois Sims, guardian of Tommie Lee Sims and T. C. Sims, Jr., filed her petition in said court seeking the sale of the hereinafter described real estate of said minors, for the purpose of the maintenance and education of said minors and that a hearing will be had in said court on the ... day of October, 1931, and all persons interest may appear and contest the ... they deem proper. Said real estate be described as follows:

Lot Number Thirteen (13) and ... (14) in Block "B" in Park Place ... by plat of record in the office of Probate of Chilton County, in deed ... page 456, said Park Place being ... sion of the Town of Jemison, Alab... property being situated in Chilto... Alabama.

This the 9th day of October, 19... L. H. RE...
10-15-3t-ch. Judge o...

See the bargains o... Robinson Department ... Clanton.

Dr. Arthur Johnson has returned to Clanton.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade is spending this week in Wetumpka.

... P. Hayes and daughter, F... ...ment last Friday ... Bir...

...r Your Pocket Boo...

WE ALWAYS LEAD

THE ...

STATEFOOD CROP MUCH LARGER THAN LAST YEAR

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 19.—Alabama is this year producing over 17,000,000 more bushels of corn, over 1,000,000 more bushels of sweet potatoes, 878,000 more bushels of peanuts, a half million more gallons of syrup, 2,000,000 more pounds of pecans, and 34,000 more tons of tame hay than last year, according to the October 1 crop report by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician.

With a total production of 46,983,000 bushels of corn in prospect this year compared with 29,505,000 bushels last year, Alabama farmers are producing sufficient corn for farm needs if properly distributed, says Mr. Gist.

Sweet potatoes are producing an average of 72 bushels per acre or a total crop of 7,488,000 bushels.

Peanuts promise 560 pounds or 22.4 bushels per acre. This indicates a total crop of 6,182,000 bushels compared with 5,304,000 last year.

Farmers are promised a production of 4,910,000 gallons of syrup, which is about half a million gallons more than harvested last year.

The aggregate production of pecans promises to be about 4,500,000 pounds compared with 2,500,000 last year and 1,500,000 in 1929.

Indications are that tame hays will produce an average of 1,800 pounds, or 90 per cent of a ton per acre. This raises the prospective crop to 617,000 tons compared with 583,000 a month ago and 452,000 last year.

There is no substitute for S.S.S.

Secure S.S.S. from your own druggist . . . with few exceptions druggists are ethical and conscientious, and will not offer a substitute.

No medicine has the same formula as this time-tested Blood Tonic * * * nor does any other concern gather the same roots with their own trained collectors and extract the active medicinal principles, unchanged, in their original fresh state—this is the secret of S.S.S. . . . there is no substitute.

S.S.S. restores the appetite and builds up the red-blood-cells

TAKE S.S.S. as a tonic and notice how much better you will "feel" . . . it has effect in aiding Nature to build red-blood-cells and creating an appetite for food. These two things working together aid the human body in its struggle for health.

S.S.S. has been time-tested for generations . . . millions of people approve its value . . . it makes for better health and happiness.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today? . . . the larger size represents a price saving.

Builds Health

Wanted to Buy CORN
Shelled and in the Ear

I have several well-bred Gilts I will trade for Milch Cows

L. H. REYNOLDS
Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 ACCIDENT POLICY FOR $1.00

is now being offered regular subscribers of The Atlanta Journal. No physical examination. Age limit 15 to 65 years. Every day traffic and pedestrian accidents become more numerous. You owe it to yourself and family to secure this protection at once. Simply use the blank below.

OUR ORDER BLANK
$10,000.00 TRAVEL ACCIDENT INSURANCE POLICY
The Atlanta Journal

In consideration of my receiving a $10,000.00 Federalized Readers Service Accident Policy, I hereby subscribe for (or renew my subscription to) The Atlanta Journal daily and Sunday for a period of one year for which I agree to pay the regular authorized carrier at the rate of 20 cents per week (Mail subscription payable in advance $9.50 per year). See mail blank below; also, in addition to the above regular subscription price I am enclosing $1.00 registration fee for above policy. I understand that if I should at any time before one year from date of signing of this agreement discontinue the paper herein subscribed for, The Atlanta Journal reserves the right to cancel the above mentioned policy without further notice or rebate to me.

Age..... Name.....
Give name to whom policy is to be issued.
Address .....
Give Street No., Town and State
Name of Beneficiary .....
Relationship .....
Are you now a subscriber? .....
Please answer "Yes or No."
Give number and date of previous Policy, if any .....
Shall we start delivery of The Journal to above address? .....

Note: Fill out the following blank if paper is to be delivered by mail.

To The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.:

I am enclosing herewith check or money order for $10.50 to ...over subscription to The Atlanta Journal for one year, and the ...10,000.00 Travel Accident and Pedestrian Policy.

...me .....
...O. Address .....

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by C. E. Stapp, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County.

FARMERS MAY SAVE AUSTRIAN PEA SEED

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 19.—It is a known fact that seed of Austrian winter peas can be produced and saved in Alabama. J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, said that farmers in eight counties produced and saved last spring 15,000 to 25,000 pounds of seed per county. The average yield of seed in the supervised tests was 582 pounds per acre. Some made as high as 1,500 pounds per acre.

"The principal difficulties experienced thus far in seed production," said Mr. Lowery, "are, first, heavy rainfull about blooming time, causing the vines to bed down badly resulting in a loss of the seed; second, damage from aphids or plant lice; third, appearance of worms which may not only damage the Austrian winter peas but spread to other crops where they cause serious damage.

"Farmers will do well to try seed production on a small scale over a period of several years. Keep in mind that it is still in the trial stage with results so far somewhat erratic. There is little chance of loss because the crop can be turned for soil building if seed production is a failure. The farmer should make up his mind not to be disappointed should seed production fail one season but determine to try over a period of several years."

Fairly "thin" land is preferred for seed production because vines will not bed down as much as they will on good land. If in the spring plants become infested with worms or if they are not producing seed the crop should be turned immediately. If seed are being produced let the vines die and then rake them with an ordinary hay rake. Mowing before raking is not necessary. An ordinary threshing machine is used to thresh them, all of the concaves being replaced with smooth boards.

DEMABEL'S Beauty Salon

PHONE 150

Hair Cut 25c
Finger Wave 50c
Marcel 75c

Hand-tinted Christmas Cards now ready

Snapshot and Photo Tinting in oil and water colors

NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Commerce and Finance, commenting on the present conditions, said "they are, fortunately, as yet mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, and faith, of sympathy and of charity—no man need seriously despair. And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this widespread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity."

A new form of liver extract, which cures secondary anemia in dogs, has been developed at the University of Rochester School of Medicine. Secondary anemia is a common human affliction. Its cause differs radically from that of pernicious anemia, but it is usually accompanied by great phyisical weakness or mental lassitude.

Production of natural gas in the United States totaled almost 2,000,000 million cubic feet in 1930. This was an increase of 1.3 per cent over 1929. About one-tenth of this gas was consumed in Mexico and in Canada. At the end of the year the natural gas industry had 5,448,000 customers in the United States.

Increased activity of the textile industry during the last summer over a year ago was reported by the Alabama Economic Review, published by the Bureau of Economic Research and the Department of Agricultural Economics of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn. Alabama showed bigger gains than any other state, although all states reporting, excepting Tennessee, gained over the previous year.

Total production and consumption of hydro-electricity in Alabama in July and August of this year showed an increase over the same months in 1930, as shown by the Alabama Economic Review published by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn.

SELF FEED THE BROOD SOW AND PIGS AND SAVE LABOR

(By Prof. W. B. Krueck)

The fall pig crop is often neglected due to the fact that the farmer is busy harvesting his crops. Recent work at the Government Experiment Station at Beltsville, Maryland, has suggested a solution of this problem for the farmer.

Brood sows and pigs were self fed. After the pigs were ten days of age, sows and pigs were placed on self feeders with splendid results. Not only did the pigs gain more rapidly up to weaning time, but they produced these gains much more economically than where they were hand fed.

According to the government trials, it took 441 pounds of feed to produce 100 pounds of pork on pigs up to weaning time where the brood sows and pigs were on self feeders. In the same trials it took 603 pounds of feed to produce 100 pounds of pork on the pigs up to weaning time where they were hand fed. The pigs on the self feeder also gained about 30 per cent more rapidly than did those that were being hand fed.

For best results the mixture in the self feeder should contain about 18 per cent protein. This will result in maximum gains on the pigs and maximum milk production on the part of the brood sows. In case some sows do not maintain their body weight while being self fed in this way it may be desirable to feed a few ears of corn to those sows which seem to be losing flesh. By practicing the system of self feeding a farmer can continue to harvest his crops and at the same time promote rapid growth and development on his fall pigs.

By promoting rapid growth and building up vigor and vitality in the pig at the present time, it will be able to withstand cold weather much more efficiently and will be ready to go on the market much earlier in the spring. Best results will, of course, be obtained where a variety of proteins and minerals is furnished along with farm grains to properly balance the ration of the pig.

EXTENSION COURSE FOR CHILTON BEGINS OCT. 24

Jacksonville, Ala., Oct. 20.—An anncuncement has been made by A. C. Shelton, director of extension for the State Teachers College that the extension course will begin in Chilton County Saturday, October 24, at 10:00 a. m. The first meeting will be held at the court house in Clanton and it is expected that arrangements may be made for two classes, one to be held in Clanton every two weeks and the other in Jemison. Thirty-four people completed the extension course offered by the State Teachers College in Chilton County last year.

NEWS-AGE-HERALD OFFER NEARING CLOSE

The Birmingham News and Age-Herald big bargain offer is drawing to a close. This was a special October offer, made to rural and star route box holders, with a special bargain price of $2.19 for a year's subscription to either The News or Age-Herald daily only, or $3.19 for The News or Age-Herald daily and Sunday. This offer is meeting with an enthusiastic response.

"We are indeed gratified at the response to this offer," The News-Age-Herald states. "In order that people living on rural and star routes may have the advantages of a big deally newspaper, the same as those living in larger towns and cities, believing that such a paper gives them informative and educational advantages for which they are anxious, we have during the past few years, made a similar bargain offer, but never before have the results been so gratifying. It looks as if every one wants the News or Age-Herald, and is rushing in the subscription before the expiration of the offer. This, of course, is the wise thing to do. There is only a short time left, and those who postpone mailing their subscription may put it iff until it is too late. Our advice to those who have not already mailed the subscription is 'do it now.' Your neighbor has mailed his subscription and you and your family will enjoy The News or Age-Herald, with its excellent news columns, entertaining and instructive editorial features, the work of the highest paid writers and artists in the world, the farm and society departments, the market news, sports news, and many other features, just as much as he will. You are just as progressive as he is, so don't let him get ahead of you!

"Parents find that The News or Age-Herald not only serve to keep them abreast with state and world events, but that their children are also helped from a general informative standpoint, and from the standpoint of laying a foundation for the better understanding of school studies.

"This special bargain offer is positively only to rural and star route box holders, and those living in towns where no News-Age-Herald carrier delivery is maintained."

NAPOLEON S. JOHNSON
M. D.
Obstetrics and diseases of children
Office Hours—9 to 12

State 4-H Health Champion Named

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 19. — Nell Moore, blonde 16-year-old 4-H club girl of Bullock County, is the 1931 health champion of Alabama. She was highest scoring girl to enter the final state contest held in Montgomery, October 10. Ten girls selected at the semi-final contest held at the time of the State Short Course in Auburn in June, entered the final contest and were declared by the examining committee to be in excellent physical condition.

Results of the contest are as follows: First, Nell Moore, Bullock County; second, Nell Loflin, Pike County; third, Violet Braidfoot, Franklin County; fourth, Mabel Caley, Dallas County; fifth, Helen Baker, Tallapoosa County; sixth, Annie Merle Bledsoe, Geneva County, and Hazel Holt, Lee County; seventh, Martha Billings, Pickens County and Lois Ellison, Talladega County; eighth, Lois Lanier, Elmore County.

Good food habits, good rest habits, and good habits of personal hygiene have been largely responsible for the splendid condition of the ten girls, examining physicians said.

Nell Moore has been in 4-H club work six years. She has completed projects in foods, clothing, home improvement, canning and gardening. Her work was done under the supervision of Mrs. Mabel Feagin, Bullock County home demonstration agent. As a state champion she will represent Alabama at the national 4-H club health contest to be held in Chicago at the time of the National 4-H Club Congress in December.

Examinations of the contestants were made by Dr. A. H. Graham, director field training station public health service; Dr. Chalmers Webster, state dental director; Dr. C. C. Fargason, Tallapoosa County health officer; Dr. A. R. Shelamer, Bullock County health officer; Dr. O. L. Chason, Lee County health officer. Miss Bess Fleming of Auburn was in charge of the contest.

The contest was sponsored by the Extension Service of Auburn and the State Department of Health cooperating. Thirty-two counties participated in the contest this year.

RECORD TRUCK CROP SHIPPED FROM STATE

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 19.—Alabama farmers this year shipped 9,625 cars of truck crops, breaking an all-time record by 1,400 cars, reports the market division of the department of agriculture.

Truck crops shipped from the state this year includes 4,674 cars of Irish potatoes, 1,155 cars of cabbage, 1,148 strawberries, 811 watermelons, 578 green corns, 456 cucumbers, 400 sweet potatoes, 224 of peaches, 80 beans, 48 of mixed vegetables, 43 pears, and 9 of apples.

The previous high mark in truck crop shipments from the state was made in 1926 when 8,220 cars were shipped.

Statistics show that in 1920, 3,315 cars moved from the state; in 1921, 4,198; 1922, 7,838; 1923, 5,501; 1924, 8,070; 1925, 6,888; 1926, 8,220; 1927, 8,031; 1928, 7,370; 1929, 8,840; and 1930, 6,766.

DR. W. L. PARRISH
Veterinarian
Bell Phone 3101—Peoples Phone
CLANTON, ALA.

When in Need of Medicine
Ask Your Registered
Druggist

We have moved back to
Masonic Building

THORSBY DRUG COMPANY
Thorsby, Alabama

NOTICE OF ELECTION

I, W. H. Gillespie, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 10th day of November, 1931 an election will be held at the several polling places in Chilton County, Alabama, for a vote by the qualified electors of Chilton County, Alabama, in the manner and form and places as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, namely:

"ARTICLE XXI. Section 219 of the present Constitution is hereby annulled and set aside and hereafter the Legislature of Alabama may provide for the assesament, levy and collection of a tax upon inheritances and for the levying of estate taxes not to exceed in the aggregate the amounts which may by any law of the United States be allowed to be credited against or deducted from any similar tax upon inheritances or taxes on estates assessed or levied by the United States on the same subject. The Legislature shall have the power to levy such inheritance or estate taxes in the State of Alabama only so long as and during the time an inheritance or estate tax is enforced by the United States against Alabama inheritances or estates, and shall only be exercised or enforced to the extent of absorbing the amount of any deduction or credit which may be permitted by the laws of the United States now existing or hereafter enacted to be claimed by reason thereof as deduction or credit against such similar tax of the United States applicable to Alabama inheritances or estates."

This, the first day of October, 1931.

W. H. GILLESPIE,
Sheriff Chilton County, Ala.

10-8-4ch.

Saturday, October 31st, is the day to get shaped up for squirrel hunting. You can do this best at our sale that day on guns and shells. Wait and save money.—Clanton Building Supply Co.

Watch next week's paper for prices.

Here's your quick-action opportunity

Genuine Goodrich Tires

